Adrian, Minn., June 2.—Late last evening the body of Ferdinand Looks, a German laborer, was found on the prairie about six miles northeast of this city in Larkin township. The circumstances surrounding the case are such as lead to the belief that Looks was murdered. He was last seen here on Dec. 18, 1893, when he left here in company with a man named John Mohling, who had the reputation of being a gambler. The pair borrowed a team and drove in the direction of where the body was found at about 10 a. m. Mohling returned the team during the afternoon and left that evening on the train, claiming he was going to Omaha. Neither of the men have been seen here since until Looks' body was found by a laborer crossing the prairie last evening. The body was quite badly decomposed, but easily recognized. It was lying by the butt of an old hay stack, covered with two horse blankets and hay from the stack. It has probably been placed there from the position found in. It had evidently been there for some months. Looks had on a good suit of heavy German clothing, overcoat, overshoes, fur cap, heavy woolen underwear and a pair of gloves. Coroner Plotts was summoned with the county attorney, Freeman, Dr. C. C. May, your correspondent and others of this city, visited the place, which was somewhat out of the way on vacant land, perhaps a quarter of a mile from the Merkel road. On examination the skull was found to be fractured near the right ear. Otherwise the body did not appear to be mutilated in any way. In the pockets were found a memorandum or diary with Looks' name in it. It also contained papers and letters. In a cigar case was found Looks' picture, taken in Germany, with his wife, and other photographs, papers and addresses. No money was found except a few coins. His watch and chain were missing. On cutting away the shirts to examine the body a buckskin bag was found securely fastened about the neck by a strong cord and in it was $400 in United States bank notes. If robbery had been the motive, the murderer had overlooked a nice little wad. John Mohling, or Jack, as he was known at the saloons he most frequented, was the last man seen with Looks, and as Looks was in the habit of showing large sums of money for a laboring man, Mohling courted his acquaintance and the two were much together. Looks was known to have had between $600 and $700 about him only a few days before his disappearance.

Reverses Rulings.

Washington, June 2.—Judge Lamoraux, commissioner of the general land office, commenting on Judge Nelson's recent decision in the Weyerhauser timber cases at Duluth, said to your correspondent: "This decision is, of course, an entire reversal of the holdings of the interior department for a series of years. Here it has been held that a power of attorney issued in blank on land to be thereafter located by soldiers' additional certificates was not good and that the entry must be made by the soldier in person and for his own benefit. I still think this sound law and good sense. Although the rule was established years before I had any connection with the department, I hope we may have a ruling on it by the supreme court, and for that reason I hope these cases may be appealed.

The Colonel Declines.

Fulton, Ill., June 2.—Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge has declined the invitation to deliver the oration here July 4, writing that urgent business at Washington and the great distance to Fulton prevents his accepting. Rev. W. B. Norton, Methodist, says those inviting Col. Breckinridge have been wise enough to see that the plan to have the noted Kentuckian as orator could not have been carried out without meeting determined opposition.

Kicked by a Horse.

Winnebago City, Minn., June 2.—While Mrs. Charles Crist of Westford, and her two-year-old child were returning to their home from this city one of the traces unhooked. On getting out of her buggy to fasten it Mrs. Crist was kicked. Four ribs were broken and internal injuries sustained, from which recovery is very doubtful. The team then ran at full speed for a mile, when they were stopped by some workmen. The child in the buggy escaped without a scratch.

Roumanians Coming.

San Francisco, June 2.—The Call says that S. J. Kline, a Roumanian, is concluding negotiations for the purchase of 200,000 acres of land belonging to the Mitchell estate in Merced county, and that if the deal is carried through 14,000 Roumanians will settle in California as colonists. These Roumanians are of German descent and live in Bessarabia. They are dissatisfied with the arrangement whereby Bessarabia was ceded to Russia and want to get away from Russian rule.

International Exposition.

New York, June 2.—A cable dispatch says that the international exposition was opened to-day at Lemburg, Poland. There are twenty-six buildings devoted to fisheries, horticulture, liberal arts, electricity, mining, agriculture and kindred pursuits. The American pavillion is not yet completed, but will be one of the finest on the grounds.

Three People Drowned.

Buffalo, Iowa, June 2.—By the capsizing of a sail boat to-day a pleasure party of several persons were thrown into the Mississippi and Mrs. H. H. Hoppens and her two children drowned. The others were saved with difficulty.

Out of Coal.

Eldora, Iowa, June 2.—The effects of the coal strike are felt here. The Clay Manufacturing company has shut down for want of fuel. Unless a supply is secured the tile works will close this week. The electric light plant and other factories are still running, but have a small supply.

Captured at Last.

Ashland, Wis., June 2.—Desperado Sullivan has been captured. Deputy Sheriff Cause, of Bayfield county, has brought him to Ashland to receive sentence. He has eluded the officers for several months.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCHEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arr'v Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth, Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.25 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.5 a. m.	7.40 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables, or information apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston [illegible]

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Deputy Sheriff Lesey was doing business in town last Friday.

Edward Giste went down to Crookston on business last Saturday.

S. O. Sundet, of Crookston, was in town on business yesterday.

The ladies of the M. E. Church give a social at the church this evening.

H. A. Libby, formerly of this place, is a candidate for attorney general of North Dakota.

S. M. Dainard is building a small addition to his dwelling.

The village school will close for the year next Friday night.

Willie Stranahan went down to Perley last Friday to visit his brother.

Levi Stranahan came up from Perley today and will visit his parents a few days.

S. M. Dainard went over to Fosston today to look after his artesian well contract.

Several of the boys from here took in a dance at Thief River Falls last Saturday night.

J. J. Wyre and wife and F. F. Hunt and wife, of Red Lake Falls, were in town a short time today.

Geo. F. Kunz, special agent of the Phoenix Insurance Co., is in town today adjusting the Dainard loss.

Dan Patterson is building a sail boat. He expects to go to Red Lake in about two weeks with a party of friends.

Mrs. M. R. Percell arrived today from Fond Du Lac Wis. and will visit her sister Mrs. H. J. Freeman for a few weeks.

Our Rainy Lake party have been heard from at Red Lake agency. Messrs. Aimer, Cavanaugh, Sandmoen and Brandly were all together there leaving a week ago Sunday.

Albert Wickstrom, of Bray, was in town last week. We learn that Mr. Wickstrom is a candidate for the Peoples party nomination for county commissioner.

The country is getting very dry and rain is badly needed to insure good crops. While crops in many places are yet damaged unless we have some rain soon the grain will be very backward.

The senate is still pounding away on the tariff bill but is making very slow progress. It is safe to state that by the time the bill is finished every trust of any account will be perfectly satisfied and also heavily protected. As for the people they don't amount to anything anyway.

Leonard Holmes and wife, Miss Lizzie Zarracher, and Messrs Post, Patterson, Sorsoleil, Freeman, Ives, Rapp, Emil Brink, John Stranahan, E. M. Hoff, and A. D. Wishard went up to Thief River Falls last Sunday and took in the excursion up the river on the steamer Viking.

Will we celebrate the 4th of July here? It is high time this question was settled definately as we must get at work if we decide on celebrating. To settle the question let all citizens interested meet at this office next Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Receiver K. O. Gigstad sold S. M. Hoff's stock of hardware last Friday at auction. F. E. Hunt of Red Lake Falls, Sever Ness and Fred Eikhoff of this place being bidders. The stock was sold to Fred Eikhoff at 40 cents on a dollar. Mr. Eikhoff states that he is yet undecided what he will do with the stock.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press in its infinate wisdom has at last found out what is the matter with the country. It gravely states in a recent editorial that we are burdened with an inflated currency in fact that the country has more money than it can find use for. This is according to the Press, good republican doctrine.

The Peoples party congressional convention has been called to meet at Moorhead on July 17th. The various counties in the district are entitled to 100 delegates of which Polk county is entitled to 22 the largest delegation in the district. This will give our county a prominent place and if we are wise we will give a solid delegation to Hon. E. E. Lommen, as it would make him a sure winner in the convention.

Andrew Berg wears a four by nine smile all on account of a boy which arrived last Monday night. Mother and child are doing nicely and Andrew with proper care, expects to be able to attend the next meeting of the council.

The wages of a common laborer are now below the wages of a common horse. When the horse is improperly cared for the humane society arrests and punishes its owner, but when the laborer is compelled to suffer from cold and hunger he is arrested and punished as a vagrant.—Free Trader.

Every idle workingman is a living protest against the present order. Think of a free nation in which the wealth is controlled by an idle few while the great masses—the creators of the wealth—are rotting in rags and suffering the pangs of want! Nice state of affairs, is it not?—The Co-operative Commonwealth.

It is true the income tax is the entering wedge. The men who are profiting by unjust conditions make no mistake when they concentrate their force at that point. The fight between men and money is already on. It can only end in the people securing justice or becoming slaves. The rule of the money monarchs can only be kept up by doing away with universal sufferage.—Star and Kansan.

When bonds were issued made payable in greenbacks congress decided that they must be paid in gold. When bonds were issued made payable in "coin" congress decided that "coin" meant gold coin. When "treasury notes" were issue which were expressly marked payable in "coin" and which the law said should be paid in gold or silver coin at the option of the secretary of the treasury, Grover decided that they must be paid in gold or silver coin at the option of the holders of the notes. Great is Grover and greater is Wall street his master.—Beacon.

In 1860 it required $2.00 per capita of population to pay the government's expenses. In 1880 it cost $5.34; in 1890 $5.07, and in 1893, $5.73 per capita. Allowing for interest on the public debt, and pensions, both due to the rebellion, the per capita expense is now nearly 100 per cent greater than in 1860. Can anyone give any good reason for this, and especially for the increase of 66 cents per capita in three years. As a matter of fact, as population increase the per capita cost of running the government should be less and would be under economical and honest conditions.—Farm Stock and Home.

Honest money is that which, compared with the general price of products remains about the same from year to year. With such a money the creditor always gets his just dues and the debtor is not required to pay more than he received. Judged by this standard gold is the most dishonest money that ever cursed any country because it requires the debtor to pay many times as much as his debt would have called for years ago when our national debt was created. Both inflation and contraction are wrong but a contracted currency is by far the worst for the country. While the inflation of currency takes something from a few creditors who as a rule are amply able to stand the loss, contraction robs the masses of the people who create wealth by their labor, of the means of subsistence, as we find it in millions of homes throughout our broad land today.—Missouri World.

Annual Alliance Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Polk county Farmers Alliance will be held at the court house in Crookston on Wednesday the 27th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the election of officers and the transaction of any other business for the good of the alliance. Each local alliance is entitled to send three delegates and the officers of local alliances are hereby requested to call meetings at an early date and elect delegates.

The meeting will be an interesting one, among other things the Stillwater twine question will be discussed and full information given in regard to terms, etc.

E. E. Lommen, President
J. D. Knuteson, Secretary.

Bray, June 2nd 1894

Editor Spectator:

I noticed a communication in your paper sometime ago in regard to the county commissionership for this district. The writer was right. This part of the district has never had any representation and it is about time it had. And further I believe we have in our town the man who would secure the largest vote of any man in this part of the district, Mr. Albert Wickstrom. Mr. Wickstrom has been a Peoples party man since its organization and has done considerable good work for the party and I think is entitled to recognition. He has held several township offices with credit to himself and the township and I am fully convinced that he would make us an honest and efficient officer.

Charley Englund.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

NO. 3 North and West		NO. 4 South and East
7 15 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 50 am
8 20 p m	Minneapolis	9 55 am
1 35 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire.

Peoples Party Co. Convention.

Pursuant to the resolutions of the peoples party county central committee of Polk county Minnesota, notice is hereby given that a county convention of the of the peoples party of said county will be held at the court house in the city of Crookston in said county on the 28th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to place in nomination candidates for the following offices viz: County auditor, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds, county attorney, clerk of court, judge of probate, superintendent of schools, county surveyor, court commissioner, and county commissioners for the second and fourth commissioners districts and to elect delegates to the state convention of the peoples party to be held at Minneapolis Minnesota on or about the 10th day of July 1894 and to elect delegates to the peoples party congressional convention in and for the 7th congressional district of Minnesota, and to the peoples party legislative convention in and for the 51st legislative district of Minnesota which two last conventions are hereafter to be called; and to appoint a new peoples party county committee and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each election precinct in said county and one delegate for fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Ignatius Donnelly for governor at the general election in 1892. The several towns and villages in this vicinity are entitled to the following number of delegates in said convention viz:

Black River	1
Bray	1
Emardville	1
Gervais	2
Gorden	2
North	2
Numedal	1
Polk Center	1
River Falls	[illegible]
Rocksbury	2
St. Hilaire	1
Sanders	2
Wyandotte	1

The total vote in the county will be 135.

The towns and villages which may have been detached from other towns since the last general election will vote with the towns from which they were detatched in the election of delegates. We would urge the populists of each town to see that their town is represented at the convention with the full number of delegates to which it is entitled. Proxies will not be [illegible] except [illegible] the delegate [illegible] The committees of the several towns, cities and villages are requested to give public notice of the time when and the place where the caucuses are to be held for the election of delegates by posting at least three notices thereof in three of the most public places in the precinct at least ten days before the caucus is to be held.

At the several caucuses in each town or ward the voters present shall elect a peoples party town or ward committee of three members and report their names and post office address to the chairman of the county committee. Only legal voters who believe in the principles and the platform of the peoples party, both state and national, and who agree to vote for the peoples party candidates that may be nominated by the several peoples party conventions are elegable to vote in the caucus or to be elected delegates.

Dated this 11th day May 1894.

A. R. HOLSTON, Sec. Co. Com.
C. U. WEBBER, Chairman Co. Com.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S. W. ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson Paul Avelson A. G. Asmundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall's Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

To get control of the material interests of the masses the power of the gold bugs is being exerted as never before. By the demonetization of silver and contracting the money circulation they have cheapened labor and the products until they are below the profit line. This evil has been augmented by increasing the interest on money. Before demonetization one bushel of grain would pay more debt than two will now. To that extent legislation has increased the gold bug's power over the farmer and reduced the business of merchants. With this evidence before them, that the deplorable financial condition of the country is the result of purchased legislation against the masses and in favor of the classes it is strange that men refuse to shake off their party shackles and assist in turning the rascals out.—National Republican.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to.

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS.

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston, Minn., April 21 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 12 1894, viz:

John Freeman HD 12631 for the S. W. ¼ Sec. 28 Tp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Albin, H. A. Johnson, Charlie Erickson C. Christianson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co Minn.

HUGH THOMPSON Register

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 21 1894

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 12 1894, viz:

John Albin HD 13.9 for the SE ¼ Sec. 1 Tp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Freeman, H. A. Johnson, C. the Erickson, C. Christianson all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

We have been selling Beggs' Remedies for about five years and Beggs' Diarrhœa Balsam gives us the best satisfaction of any remedy we have ever sold.—Evans and Boschert, Chanute, Kan.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggist.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's ware house.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent

I have derived a great benefit from Beggs. Blood Purifier and Blood Maker and will take great pleasure in recommending it to all I meet.—Chas Hill, Aberdeen, O. —for sale by J. [illegible]son Druggest.

I have been troubled for several years with scrofula, caused by impure blood, but could get no relief until lately. Our druggist recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood maker so highly that I decided to try it and have up to the present time, used five bottles and find it to be all that it is recommended.—Orrin Stone, Otsego Wis.—For sale by J. L. Johnson, Druggist.

I have recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Cherry Cough Syrup several times and must say that I have been surprised and more than pleased at results following use of same. I am not in habit of endorsing patent medicines, but can say truthfully, Beggs' medicines are all that is claimed for them.—Tesah Jones, M. D., Wintersville, Mo.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

My wife had the worst case of Dandruff I ever saw and had tried three or four other remedies, and two bottles of Beggs' Hair Renewer proved all claimed for it.—E. P. Dunagan, Gainsville, Ga.—For sale by J. L. Johnson, Druggist.

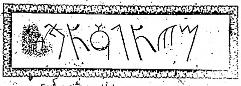
I am getting better since I began the use of Beggs, Blood Purifier and Blood Maker.—B. H. Williams, Chenango, Texas.—for sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

State of Minnesota, County of Polk } ss
District Court 14th Judicial District.
In the matter of the assignment of Sever M. Hoff Insolvent

Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to the order of said court all of the property belonging to said estate, except book accounts and notes, will be sold on Friday June [illegible] 1894 at 1 o'clock p. m. at the front door of the post office in the village of St. Hilaire in said county [illegible] day.

K. O. Gigstad,
Assignee.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

ARE YOU A HUNTER?
Send Postal Card for Illustrated Catalogue of

Winchester
Repeating Rifles
44 WINCHESTER MODEL 1873
Repeating Shot Guns
Ammunition
—TO—
WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS COMPANY
NEW HAVEN, CONN.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其猖世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JUNE 6 1894.

KATIE GOT STRUCK ON THE STAGE.

Arrah, Mrs. Ryan, no wondher Oi'm cryin;
'Tis throuble Oi'm havin av late.
How kin Oi be aisy whin Oi'm almosth druv crazy
Along o' me big daughther Kate?
Sure, the way she is actin is fairly disthractin:
She's caught the t'eatrical rage.
As Oi'm a lone widder, there's no livin wid her
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She's at the t'eayter till midnight or later;
Comes home wid a tough lookin beau;
She says he's a "supe" in an operay troop—
That dat is Oi'm sure Oi don't know.
He tells her that yet she will be a soubrette,
Though the colleen is not yet av age.
She will be an actor—Oi've losth me charackter
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

Och, nobody knows how she uses me clothes
A-makin thim into costhoums.
From mornin till night me poor house is a sight
Wid her scene settin in all the rooms.
Her fayther's old britches she cuts an she stitches
To get herslf up loike a "page."
Och, murther, thim pages! They drisses outrageous,
But she says it's sthoyle on the stage.

She schares me to death wid the scenes from "Macbeth,"
Whin Oi'm afther a-goin to shleep,
For thin she comes walkin and awfully talkin,
Till the chills up me backbone do creep.
She makes such a pother wid the "ghost of me father,"
And tells me, "Avaunt, quit her soicht!"
Until, saints presarve us, I do be that narvous,
Oi can't shleep a wink all the noight.

She says she will shine in the very front line
And dance in the calcium's glare,
While all the old beaux in the baldheaded rows
Through their operay glasses will stare.
She says her new tights is "clean out ov sight,"
And that she will be "all the rage."
All the girls in our alley are dancing the ballay
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She wance ran away wid an operay bouffay;
Got sthranded in Kalamazoo.
It took ivry cint I had saved for the rint
To pay her way home—now, that's thruel
But sthill the poor child, she is perfectly wild:
Oi t'ink Oi will buy her a cage
And lock her up in it till that blissid minute
Whin Katie gets sick av the stage.
—Willard Holcomb in Buffalo Express.

A Night Fright.

With one fearful, tearing wrench I awoke from sweet unconsciousness to a sense of painful alertness.

I listened, but could hear nothing. There was a heavy, sudden stillness in the air that pressed upon my brain like the fumes of a drug. It seemed as though the silence itself was deafening.

I half rose from my bed and listened again breathless. Still the same awful quiet, as though the machinery of the whole universe had ceased working. I looked slowly around the room in the faint sunlight. It was my room, but how changed! I could not tell what the change was. I only knew that some awful metamorphosis had given every object visible the appearance of death—absolute death!

Had the world come to an end? Or was it simply I who was dead? No, this was not death, not my death, for I could feel now the bursting throb of my own heart.

The stillness of everything became more appalling, more terrible from the fact that I knew not what it was nor whence it came. I tried to shriek for help!

Not a sound would leave my lips!

Another moment and I should go mad, if —ah, what a thought!—if I were not mad already. This, then, was the meaning of it all. I was mad!

With a sudden leap I sprang into the middle of the room and gazed about to meet what might in my madness come to me.

Then I saw what caused the horrible hallucination. The solemn stillness, the strange quiet, the ghastly loneliness, were all explained. Three joyous, hasty steps, a few quick turns of the wrist, and all was righted. With lightened heart, my brain free from the overwhelming strain, I went back to bed relieved and happy.

My clock had stopped.—New York World.

Hard to Wear.

Aunt Fanny was reading to the children. The czar of Russia had been threatened with assassination. She explained the situation, telling them why it was that a great emperor must live in constant dread of such a fate, making a little patriotic sermon in favor of the man who was "first in the hearts of his countrymen" and ending with the quotation, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

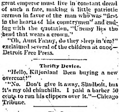
"Oh, Aunt Fanny, do they sleep in 'em?" exclaimed several of the children at once.—Detroit Free Press.

Thrifty Device.

"Hello, Kiljordan! Been buying a new overcoat?"

"No. Don't give it away, Shadbolt, but it's my old chinchilla. I paid a barber 50 cents to run his clippers over it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Sum.



He—Then what did you marry me for?

She—Mamma figured it up at the time and said it was for about a million and a half.—Life.

Agony.

The music ceased; the curtain rose;
I did not heed the play,
But gazed upon her lovely face—
She sat two seats away.
Her cheeks like tinted apple bloom,
Her teeth like gleaming pearls,
Her eyes as blue as summer skies,
A wealth of golden curls.

And as I gazed upon her face
There came a look of pain.
Like cloudy shadow o'er the land
It passed, then came again.
I saw the teardrops in her eyes,
The rose tint fade away,
And that fair cheek grow deathly pale
In speechless agony.

She turned and touched her escort's arm,
Then slowly went away.
My heart beat fast with sympathy;
I did not heed the play.
He soon returned and took his seat;
I gazed in great surprise.
He read the question I would ask
Flash from my eager eyes.

And as the music died away
His lips this answer bore:
"My sister's feet are number five,
Her shoes are number four."
—Boston Globe.

A BIG PLACE.

A Determined Looking Buffalo Man Makes a Startling Discovery.

A determined looking man came striding into the editorial room. He held a bit of paper between the thumb and first finger of his right hand. "I am looking for the man who takes care of the statistics," he said sternly.

The figure manipulator was at his desk, and the determined looking man was escorted thither by the office boy. The man took a long look at the bit of paper he held in his hand and then asked, "What is the population of the city of Buffalo?"

The statistician told him that it was in the neighborhood of 325,000.

"Huh!" grunted the visitor expressively. Then he took another look at the bit of paper and asked, "Are the officers of the Buffalo Street Railway company reliable men?"

"That is their reputation," answered the man at the desk.

"If they put out figures, them figures is likely to be all straight and right?"

"Certainly."

This seemed to be the determined looking man's cue. He danced around the room for awhile uttering strange sounds, and then he shouted, "You fellows that make figures is all a passel of fools!"

"How so?" asked the statistician mildly.

"How so? Why, because you are. You say the population of Buffalo is a measly 325,000. I kin prove that the population of Buffalo is 'way up in the millions. You folks is always talkin about boomin the town an all that, an when you git a chanst you jist lay right down like a lot of chickens with the pip an let figgers what some other man made go for right with you."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that I have here in my hand the report of the street railway. It says they carried 49,435,511 people last year, an I want to know if that there don't prove that the population of Buffalo is 40,535,511? That's what it does, an you chumps sit aroun an say it's only 325,000."

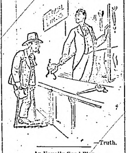
"But, my dear sir," started the statistician, "you are laboring under"—

"I ain't laborin under nothin of the sort," broke in the determined looking man. "I got the figgers here, an I kin prove what I say."

"But," began the statistician again. The determined looking man would not let him continue. "Don't but me," he shouted. "It's as plain as the nose on your face. If the folks wasn't here, the street railway couldn't carry them, could it? That's the population of this town, an don't you forget it! London or none of the rest of them villages is in it. Three hundred an twenty-five thousand! You make me tired. Forty millions is the correct figger, an you want to get a move on an let the people know about it. We are livin in the metropolis of the world. I got the figgers to show for it, an I'm the only one that's onto it. Tell the people about it, an when it comes time I hain't got no objections to their buildin a monument for me for makin the great news known."

And while the statistician was catching his breath the determined looking man borrowed a few old papers and disappeared.—Buffalo Express.

Taking Him Down a Peg.



—Truth.

An Equally Good Plan.

A clergyman who owns a farm found his plowman sitting on his plow resting his horses. Quote the clergyman:

"John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a scythe here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are resting a short time?"

"Yes, sir," said John, "and wadn't it be weel for you tae hae a tub o' taties in the puolpit, an when folks were singing to peel them awhile to be ready for the pan?"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Misunderstanding.

Sapsmith (terribly agitated)—Oh, that is awful! And will the poor fellah never be able to see again?

Steele—See again? What are you talking about?

"Why, haven't you just told me that Bertie Hyroller had his eyes shot out this mawning?"

"Naw! I said he had his ice yacht out this morning."—Puck.

A Case of Necessity.

Young Husband—I think I shall have to go out tonight, my dear. I have an appointment.

Young Wife—Oh, Tom, what is it?

Young Husband—An appointment with my tailor, love. He is to call here tonight to collect his bill.—Life.

Rather a Surprise.

Fair Visitor—I should like to see the editor of the woman's page.

Office Boy—Dere he is over dere; de fat man in his shirt sleeves, with de clay pipe in his mout'.—Brooklyn Eagle.

His Hobby.

The Office Boy—Mr. Jenkins has been in to collect his bill.

Mr. Short—Has he? Confound Jenkins! That's a fad of his—trying to collect bills.—Puck.

American Winters.

Teacher—When does the winter season begin?

Observing Boy—It generally begins about spring.—Good News.

And Biteth Like the Deuce.

Teacher—What is it, Harry, that stings like an adder?

Harry—The end of a leather strap.—Truth.

Jealous.

He—Why did she break it off?

She—Her dog Fido got too fond of him.—Brooklyn Life.

Signs of Spring.

Now climbs the warm sun higher,
And shouts the candidate;
A poet strings his lyre;
A liar digs for bait.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Won at Last.

Titled Suitor—If you marry me, you will be a duchess.

American Heiress—I am too good an American to be won by a title.

"You shall live at court if you wish."

"That would be tiresome."

"Or you may be mistress of one of the finest castles in England."

"It cannot be nearly so handsome nor so comfortable as my father's palace on the Hudson."

"We have good servants."

"I am yours!"—Puck.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendrikka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1891, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages, on page 571 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars dated June 1st 1891 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter (NW ¼) and lots three (3) and four (4) of Section numbered three (3) in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four (44) containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

Heartless.

Beneath the shade of the primeval forest where the air was heavy with the perfume of the wild flowers and sonant with the notes of birds whom nature taught to sing, he wooed the Indian maiden.

She gazed anxiously into his eager face.

"And why," she asked, "dost thou not seek in marriage one of the damsels of your own race who are white like the lily?"

An exclamation of impatience escaped him.

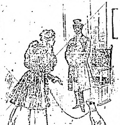
"Away with them!" he cried. "They have no hearts!"

For a moment she was silent.

"Oh, yes," she said at last. "Now you speak of it, I remember having read that a great many of them are hollow chested."

The throstle which poured forth its melody from a neighboring thicket made a last supreme effort and flew away.—Truth.

A Suggestion.



Mrs. F.—It's almost impossible to keep this blanket on Jack. He is so uneasy I don't know what to do with him.

Mr. F.—Why don't you button it onto his pants?—Life.

Held Up.

"This highway business is getting so bad that something must be done soon," said the stout man as he looked over his fresh paper and read of another holdup. "Why, just the other day my daughter was going home about 6 o'clock when she was stopped by a man who said he wanted her money. She just yelled as loud as she could and ran. There was no one in sight or hearing, but the fellow evidently got scared and quit, and she got home all right."

"That was terrible!" said the lean man with the serious face.

"It was for a fact," said the stout man.

"Not a circumstance to a case I saw the other day," said the lean man, as if he did not care if the subject were dropped right here or not.

"What's that?" said the stout man.

"Fact. Not half as bad as one I saw the other day."

"What was it?" asked the stout man as he gave began to listen.

"Well, I hate to tell it, but if you insist on the story I guess I'll have to tell it briefly. It happened in the presence of at least 25 people, and I am sorry to say I was one of them. A little girl not over 5 years of age was held up and 10 cents and a child's car ticket taken from her, and never a one to offer an objection."

"Why didn't you get up and do something?" asked the stout man indignantly.

"It was none of my affair," said the lean man carelessly.

"Where was this?" blurted the stout man growing fierce.

"Oh, on a street car. The little girl's mother held her up so the conductor could take the fare."

The stout man collapsed, and the lean man continued to look as if he was not in any way interested in the case.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

To Be Continued.

Mrs. Honeymoon (to bridegroom in railway train)—Do you love me?

Old Party (confidentially, from other seat, to bridegroom)—She's asked you that 47 times already. I get out here, but I'll leave the score with this gentleman by the window.—Tit-Bits.

Signs of Spring.

"Isn't it pleasant," said one railway passenger to another, "to see all these signs of spring?"

"Yes, and there are so many of them, too. We haven't passed a single barn that didn't have a patent medicine ad. on it."—Washington Star.

Judging by Sound.

"The family across the way is quite unfortunate," said a woman to her neighbor. "One of the sons is a paranoiac, and the other is a kleptomaniac."

"Dear me! They must be very rich."—Detroit Free Press.

We Americans.

"Who was that distinguished looking fellow you were just bowing to, Mabel?"

"That! Oh, that was one of father's clerks."

"Really! I thought he was a gentleman."—Life.

Signs of Spring.

Visitor—Johnnie, what is that awful noise in your back yard?

Rev. Amen's Youngest—That's pa practicing his vacation cough.—Hallo.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks al ways on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

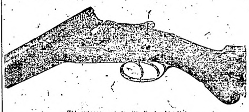
Manager.

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 4—List $—

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN LULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N. Y.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

A GREAT SNAP

THE

FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR. PRICE'S CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Fre
from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Male "housekeepers" are numerous in Maine factory villages.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

The crater of Popocatapetl is three miles in circumference.

Shiloh's Cure
Is sold on a guarantee. It cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. 25cts; 50cts. & $1.00.

In the United States there are 270,300 telephones.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The issue of £1 notes in England was prohibited in 1826.

OH, MY HEAD
Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

In France there are special railway cars for carrying bicycles.

Never Buy Whiskey for Medicinal purposes unless you know the bottlers under celebrated names are spurious, cheap articles, whose bottlers cannot afford to have their names on the labels.

Uncle Sam's Morgan Whiskey is bottled by the oldest and largest firm in the line in the Northwest and the favor with which it has been received is the best proof of its superior quality. Ask your druggist or retail dealer for it.

A sleepless child may be soothed to sleep by gently rubbing its hand or face one way and singing at the same time some low, monotonous song.

W. H. Griffin, Jackson, Mich., writes: "Suffered with Catarrh for fifteen years. Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by druggists, 75c.

Fasts of from thirty to forty days are of common occurrence among the religious fanatics of India.

To make animals unconscious before slaughtering is considered humane in Switzerland.

Only 9 per cent of surgical operations in amputation are fatal.

Borneo produces tobacco, pepper and coffee.

A Bargain for
Out-of-Town
Customers.

$15 SUIT
—FOR—$10.00

We have set aside two small lines of All-Wool Single-Breasted Sack Suits, in Medium Light Color, to sell to our out-of-town trade for $10.00!

We will submit samples of the cloth of these Suits to order from. Cash must accompany each order.

If these Suits are found deficient in any particular, goods can be returned and cash will be refunded.

Please mention this paper.

The Boston
St. Paul

Corner Third and Robert Streets,
BOWLBY & CO. ST. PAUL, MINN.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE
WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 18 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

RUPTURE
PERMANENTLY CURED OR NO PAY.
Financial Reference:
FIRST NATIONAL BANK.
We refer you to 3,800 patients.
No Operation. No Detention from Business.
Written guarantee to absolutely Cure all kinds of Rupture of either sex without use of knife, from one to five weeks, no matter how long standing. Examination Free. Send for Circular.
THE O. E. MILLER CO. Suit 516 Guaranty Loan Bldg., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

500 SALESMEN WANTED.
The oldest and largest Nursery in the Northwest. If you wish profitable work apply at once for particulars. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

N. W. N. U. No. 23—1894.

A MOTHER'S PLANS.

Moral: "You May Bring a Horse to Water," Etc.

I am invited down to Bulkeley on purpose—I am perfectly aware of the fact—and I go, because I know I can manage the situation. No one ever called me a "nice girl," but they have often said I am clever and even spiteful. I am.

He is an only son, I am an only daughter. He has money and position. So have I. That makes all the difference. It would not be of the slightest advantage to either of us that we should marry, and yet there is an imbecile desire on the part of our respective parents that Algernon Bulkeley and I should hit it off together.

Algernon and I played together as children. I am two years his senior, though he doesn't know it. I am thoroughly acquainted with his character, but he knows absolutely nothing of mine. He considers me charming, but eccentric; pretty, but not "smart," and he hasn't the slightest intention of proposing. I am the standing dish on the sideboard—always there, and never cut. Algernon knows I don't want to be cut and respects me accordingly. He and I are the best of friends and he is stolidly delighted when I accept his mother's frequent invitations to Bulkeley.

I have been there at least half a dozen times this season. Why should I not? It is a charming place—it will never be mine—the air is good, and revives my faded roses; I meet nice people there, and I occasionally do a little flirtation on my own account, Algernon looking tamely on. His father is devoted to me and his mother loves me like the daughter-in-law I never shall be.

Algernon is a young man of heavy, doughlike consistency, with the air of a gentleman. He has a bad figure, but he is faultlessly dressed. He has settled opinions on politics, the wheat crop and the tariff. He does everything decently and in order, and never mixes his wines. I respect, but as for loving him—

No girl could, I think—no offense to Algernon. His mother loves him so jealously and keeps such a strict watch on his tardy affections and pulls them up by the roots so often that it is no wonder that at the age of twenty-nine Algernon is still a bachelor. Only to me does she allow a free hand, but should he tend, by so much as the flicker of an eyelid, to any other woman, she notes it and makes his life a burden to him.

Algernon naturally prefers a quiet life, and is careful to give her no cause for umbrage as regards other girls, but he distinctly discourages her plans for me by a carefully studied system of neglect in public. The cold shoulder which Algernon heaves at me at breakfast, lunch and dinner is quite unmistakable. His programme never alters. On Saturday night he hardly addresses a syllable to me. On Sunday he goes on a long bicycle ride, and comes home to supper hungry and sleepy. On Monday morning he breaks through the ice of his reserve—the end is so near—and takes me a solemn walk round the garden. Then he talks twenty to the dozen—and all about himself.

Oddly enough, this adamantine young gentleman has a heart of the softest, and it has been touched several times, as I happen to know. Once in Homburg and once in New Orleans, where there is a girl he writes to. Then there is a girl in Chicago who sends him her photograph once a year. These are safe distances. Then, in town, Algernon has a good time. He is like Tony Lumpkin, too shy to cope with women of the world and his social successes have been chiefly among young ladies one knows by name rather than reputation. No, that's unfair—Algernon has too great a sense of his own dignity to—I, only mean that Bohemian tea tables know him best, where he meets people who are not quite Bulkeley "form."

If his mother only knew! She watches us promenading among the roses, and hope springs anew in her withered heart, and she expects great things. Algernon and I know better.

There was a second-rate sort of musical girl, with a banjo, staying at Bulkeley the last time I was there. It may be taken for granted that she was not eligible or Mrs. Bulkeley would not have had her there. I don't think I could have brooked a rival near the throne, even though I did not intend to ascend it myself. But Algernon took no particular notice of her. She spent most of her time up stairs with a headache and only came down in the evenings to play for us. She had pretty eyes, but that was all.

On that particular Sunday morning Algernon went on a bicycle ride as usual, Miss Wakelyn to her room with a headache and a cargo of peaches, and I to the high garden with Mrs. Bulkeley. I lay down on the grass a little way behind her and lazily surveyed her massive profile, which her son, unluckily, had inherited. She sat there, idly gazing straight before her. Poor woman, she was wondering if I was wondering where Algernon was. Not I! I had a most amusing novel.

"Where is Algernon?" she asked at last, fretfully.

I answered cheerfully: "Out on his beloved bicycle, I fancy." As I spoke I distinctly saw two figures walk slowly by the brink of the toy lake. One was very like Algernon, the other—no, Miss Wakelyn was lying down.

"Algernon is profoundly cynical, don't you think, Aloysia?" murmured his mother presently. "His views, if you once get at them, on men and manners are—"

"Most entertaining," I replied. I was thinking of my book just then, and I had come to the conclusion that it couldn't have been Algernon I had seen.

"Algernon is like his father. William was the most self-contained and secretive of men till I married him. I brought him out. I wish some woman would do the same for Algernon."

"You never give any woman the chance," I thought, and slowly raised my eyes from my book. Good heavens! that was Algernon and Miss Wakelyn; and she was "drawing him out" with a vengeance!

They entered an arbor on my left and sat down—the cold shoulder wasn't in it!

"My boy will make his wife very happy when he does make up his mind," Mrs. Bulkeley continued, wistfully. "That time seems to be fast approaching. You and he have always got on so well. Algernon and Aloysia—both beginning with A. L. It is a strange coincidence."

What of that! The other girl's name was Alice. I was getting rather angry.

"Algernon is not a flirt," his mother continued.

"No!" I said, for just then her son stooped and kissed Miss Wakelyn, and even at that distance I could tell it was the first time he had ever kissed a woman in his life.

"I don't think he could flirt, do you? He would think it beneath his dignity to trifle with a girl's affections."

Then it was probable that the scrupulous Algernon would in a very few moments approach and present her with a daughter-in-law. He evidently meant business. Somehow, I had never contemplated Algernon marrying anybody but myself—and certainly not myself. In fact, I had never considered it seriously, but now I felt that Algernon had violated the tacit convention between us. He might have proposed, and trusted me to refuse him! I ought to have been allowed to march out with the honors of war. I felt deeply defrauded, and began to cast about for a revenge. I soon found it. I have mentioned before that I was not a nice girl.

"Oh, do you think so, dear Mrs. Bulkeley?" I said sneeringly. "Of course he never flirted with me"—she sighed—"but then he knows me too well"—she sighed again. "Still, I must say I have seen dear Algernon——"

"Moved?" she said, excitedly.

"Moved is a strong word," I replied, mildly; "but—these quiet men are always the worst."

"Aloysia, you frighten me!"

I meant to. I began forthwith to make things warm for Algernon. I mentioned the girl in Homburg—I'm not sure it wasn't Cannes, but I wasn't quite sure, so I made it Homburg.

"Then there was Miss—Miss—I forget her name."

Mrs. Bulkeley, with the light of battle beaming in her eye, did not allow me to forget it for long. Eagerly did she drink in all the details necessary for her son's discomfiture—she had thought him foolishly, idiotically immaculate! He would never hear the last of it, nor would Miss Wakelyn. A troop of cosmopolitan ghosts all ready to claim the faithless Algernon, who had given them hostages—that was the image I evoked. Oh, it was too funny! But the Chicago girl was the best "draw." I told her how Miss Valence had once pulled Algernon's hair and called him Ally at a picnic before my very eyes. It is true he was only sixteen at the time, but I omitted, like a true artist, to mention that.

I was determined that Algernon and the girl who shammed headaches to meet him on the sly—I couldn't do such a mean thing as that!—should rue the day they treated me unfairly. Mrs. Bulkeley had a way of pegging away at a grievance that had often annoyed me—and they would have to live with her! They would have Homburg for breakfast, New Orleans for tea, and Chicago girl for dinner every day, and I hoped they would enjoy it.

I suppose I should have gone on forever playing Algernon's Leporello to an attentive parent, if I had not seen the pair advancing toward us, hand in hand, with the rays of the sunset, gilding her white dress and his curly red hair, to meet the plentiful crop of dragon's teeth that I had sown for him.

I got up gently and strolled back for my third volume. I think I said before I was not a nice girl, and now you know. I am not.—Black and White.

ABOUT BEER KEGS

They Are Handled as the Baggage-Smasher Handles Trunks.

It takes a long while for a beer keg to wear out. It has a tough constitution and is protected from internal decay by a coat of pure and hard pitch. The pitch used on the modern keg is much superior to that formerly used. It is clear, tasteless and tough. An empty beer keg will stand a great many hard knocks before the pitch scales off. The kegs wear out, when they do wear, externally. They are wet and dry alternately and this promotes decay. Then they get a great deal of unnecessary banging around between the time they leave the brewery and are back again. Everybody, from the driver and railroad and steamboat hands down to the barkeepers, seems to think the kegs are indestructible. A whole car load of empty kegs is frequently thrown from the car down to the ground. A single empty keg is often thrown fifteen feet. It really isn't necessary to make the kegs as heavy, so far as the keeping of the beer is concerned. They began by being made heavy in the old days. The brewers then deemed it absolutely requisite to make them that way to withstand the pressure of the beer. The very fact that they were made heavy and clumsy subjected them to rough handling. Now they have to be made heavy and extra material has to be put into the heads and staves simply because of this handling and not from any danger on account of the internal pressure of the beer. It is not the breakage or decay of the kegs that bothers the brewers. It is the frequent and entirely unnecessary loss of the kegs. You would be surprised to hear the number of kegs and half-barrels a big brewery will lose in a year. It runs into the thousands at times. No ordinary precautions can check this loss. Charging for the keg and giving a rebate would accomplish something in that direction, but there is too much lively competition in the business for any one to dare such an experiment.

"I don't think there are many brewers in this country who would stoop low enough to erase brands and use another brewer's kegs," said a brewer, "but it has been done, even to the extent of putting new heads in the stolen kegs. A quarter-barrel is worth $2.50, and it doesn't look to me that it would pay for a man to steal such a petty thing as that. What becomes of the beer kegs then? Just try to think and tell me if you have ever been at a boating or yachting resort in this country where you did not see one or two or perhaps a score of beer kegs bobbing on the waves as buoys to mark a course or as moorings for boats. That means thousands of beer kegs, only a few of which have been bought from the brewer. They bob upon the waves for a year or two and then become water-logged and sink, to be replaced by fresh kegs. I've got a suspicion that the Italians are to blame for the disappearance of many of our kegs. Then occasionally in the summer we hear of lager beer kegs being used for making home brews with root beer extracts. This is an illegitimate use for the kegs, and I'm puzzled to understand how anybody that would make or drink root beer could ever get hold of a beer keg except by swiping it from a saloon alley at night."

His Earnest Wish.

Oltope—I wish I was a barrel.

Hirfriend—Why? Can't you hold enough?

Oldtope—Yes; there's no trouble about that. The advantage is that no matter how often the barrel is filled or how full, its head never gets any bigger.—Detroit Free Press.

Signalling through hose has been accomplished by the New York city fire department.

THE HIGHEST AWARD.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder Receives It.

(Chicago Tribune.)

For leavening power, keeping qualities, purity and general excellence, the world's fair jury decided that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder had no equal. On each of its claims it was awarded a first prize or a diploma. All the baking powders entered for prizes were subjected to a most exhaustive examination, and the jury was the best equipped to make the decision of any ever got together. Their verdict was supported by the testimony of Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States department of Agriculture at Washington. Dr. Wiley is an expert on food products and the highest authority on such matters in America. This verdict settles a long debated question as to which among the many baking powders is the best.

Queer String of Accidents.

At the corner of the Rue de Sezeland the Rue Basse du Rampart, Paris, the other afternoon a private carriage, an ordinary Parisian fiacre, and a washerwoman's wagon barred the way. The drivers of these vehicles were indulging in the Parisian form of billingsgate, when the horses became very restive, and the one attached to the fiacre dashed away and started toward the opera. The wheels struck the pavement, the driver was thrown out and crushed under the wheels. A little further on a man who chanced to be passing was run into and badly hurt. Meanwhile, a young servant girl who was leaning out of a fifth story window to see what was going on below, suddenly fell forward, the window bar having broken, and was instantly killed on the pavement. The horse was still running madly on. Two policemen rushed forward to stop him. One of them fell, kicked by the horse; the other was knocked down by the carriage. Turning suddenly into the Rue Cammartin, the animal dashed against one of the great wagons of the Bon Marche, and in the collision tore off a wheel of the fiacre. A little further on he upset another large goods wagon, and immediately after broke the shafts and lantern of another fiacre. The horse was finally stopped by two men.—London Telegraph.

A Factory Club House.

It is claimed that the finest club house for factory girls in the world "belongs to Dr. Warner's Coraline" factory at Bridgeport, Conn., where 1,600 women and girls are employed all the year. The Seaside Institute, as it is called, is open free of expense to all the girls in the factory. There is a night school, with class instruction in college branches, choral work, the domestic arts, business methods and physical development. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 500, and from time to time lectures, concerts and special entertainments are provided. In connection with the circulating library there is a reading room abundantly supplied with current literature. There are six marble baths, and a well kept restaurant, where foods are served at actual cost. These benefits naturally attract a very nice class of labor. Girls who might otherwise take up clerical work learn to stitch corsets, weave coraline, make garters, coraline dress stays, etc.

Safeguards in the Bank of England.

The safeguards adopted by the Bank of England to prevent that institution from being robbed are about as thorough and complete as human ingenuity and mechanism can devise. Its outer doors are so finely balanced that a clerk by pressing a knob under his desk can close them instantly, and they cannot be opened again except by special process. The bullion department is nightly submerged in several feet of water by the action of machinery, and in some of the banks the bullion department is connected with the manager's sleeping apartments, so that an entrance cannot be effected without setting off an alarm near this person's head. If a dishonest official during the day or night should take even one from a pile of a thousand sovereigns, the whole pile would instantly sink and a pool of water take its place, besides letting every one in the office know of the theft.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Should Be Called Queen Alexandrina.

It is probable that most of her majesty's loyal subjects know the queen only by her royal title, Victoria, and that such of the remainder of them as are aware that she bears another name and that that is Alexandrina, believe that the latter is the second and therefore, in some sense, the inferior name. The well informed, however, know that the queen's names are Alexandrina Victoria, and a sentence or two in a letter of her father, the duke of Kent, written a couple of months after her christening, and sold a few days since in Paris, may account for the choice of the second as the principal name. "Her first name," the duke wrote, "is Alexandrina; Victoria, by which name she is always called at home, is her last, being that of her dear mother. The first she bears after her god-father, the emperor of Russia."—St. James Gazette.

The Wiser Course.

Young Barrister (to colleague)—Lawyer Grob called me an ass just now; ought I to challenge him or send him a summons?

Colleague—You had better challenge him, for if you take the case into court he is capable of proving his statement.—Fremdenblatt.

The railway commissioners of Victoria claim that they have effected a saving of fully $50,000 by placing women in charge of railway stations.

That Tired Feeling
"I was troubled with diabetes and tried several doctors and different medicines without avail. After taking three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I had a good appetite, and was free from that tired feeling. I honestly believe if it had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla I would have been dead some time since.
J. S. WATHIRE, Deedsville, Indiana.
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Sold by all druggists.

Distinct and Indistinct Vision.

The mechanism of distinct and indistinct vision has been understood only since 1876. The sensitive parts of the retina are little rods and cones forming a layer by themselves. In 1876, Boll discovered that in frogs kept in the dark the rods of the retina were colored a dark purple; but on exposure to light the color faded, becoming first yellow and then white. Since that time physiologists have been carefully investigating visual purple and visual yellow. Just outside the layer of rods and cones are the dark cells which render the greatest part of the interior of the eye almost black. In the dark, these cells send little filaments between the rods and discharge a liquid which colors the rods alone. When the rods are thus colored, the eye is extremely sensitive, so that a bright light is dazzling and painful and obscures distinct vision. This is the reason why we cannot see distinctly when we come suddenly from the dark into a full light. In a few seconds, however, the color is bleached to a yellow and the difficulty passes away. When, on the other hand, when we pass from a bright light into the dark, the retina has lost its sensibility from disappearance of the visual purple, and we cannot see at all until the purple is reproduced, as it is in the absence of light. This difference is not due to dilatation of the pupil in the dark and contraction under the influence of light, as is popularly supposed, for a person does not see better in the dark when the pupil has been fully dilated by belladonna.

In the little area of distinct vision there is never any visual purple. This area we always use with sufficient light for minute details of objects, making then the greatest use of the mechanism of accommodation. The area outside of this is used for indistinct vision, and as the color is then yellow instead of purple, it is only moderately sensitive. To express the conditions in a few words, the minute area for distinct vision is used by day, and the area for indistinct vision, with its visual purple, is used by night.—From The Eye as an Optical Instrument, by Dr. Austin Flint, in The Popular Science Monthly.

Seeing a Cataract in One's Own Eye.

A correspondent of a scientific journal describes a simple method which enables a patent to see a cataract in his own eye and note its growth and development probably better than any oculist can observe it for him. The cause of cataract is the gradual deposition of oxalate of lime in the substance of the crystalline lens. It occurs at first in small spots or streaks, sometimes in one part and sometimes in another, gradually increasing until it penetrates the whole of the lens, causing blindness. The remedy is to remove the lens, and after its removal the patient needs a substitute in the form of highly magnifying spectacles. The method advocated to enable a patient to follow the progress of the disease is to use a piece of card—a visiting card will do—and a needle. Pierce a clean, round hole near the middle of the card and hold the card up to the light, close to the eye, looking preferably in the direction of a piece of blue sky. With the card near to the eye the observer will not see the small hole pierced by the needle, but a comparatively large, faintly illuminated field, with his cataract projected upon it. He is, in fact, regarding the shadow cast by his cataract on the retina at the back of the eye. With a small puncture in the card the shadow so thrown is comparatively sharp. But with a normal eye an evenly illuminated field or clean disk will be seen. The correspondent states that there is in this way no difficulty in mapping out the deposition of foreign matter, and so arriving at an opinion as to whether it is advisable to have an operation or not. As an evidence of his faith in his own prescription, he has made drawings at intervals during the last three years of cataract which is slowly developing in one of his eyes. He further says that no oculist he has met with is acquainted with this method, and there may consequently be some advantage in making it public.

Marking Track Defects.

There are now in use many devices for marking defects in the roadbed or rails of a railway, and of these not the least ingenious is that employed in the state railroads of Bavaria. The instrument used, which is placed under the car, is so adjusted as to be exceedingly sensitive to jars or percussion, and is fitted with a receptacle containing a red and blue liquid. The apparatus works automatically, and its action is based on the fact that every depression or break in a line of track causes a shock of greater or less intensity in a car passing over it. Whenever a shock exceeds a certain degree of intensity a squirting device is brought into operation, and the colored liquid is projected over the roadbed, leaving a tell-tale mark of from 1 to 7 feet in length, according to the nature of the flaw.

Old Shoes in a New Light.

A French savant has invented a new science which he terms scarpology, whereby he proposes to diagnosticate mental qualities from the appearance of the shoes worn by the subject. He claims that shoes that have been worn are full of faithful indications as to lack of energy, fickleness, bad temper, or the opposite qualities, as the case may be. If the sole and heel of a shoe after two months' wear are equally worn, the owner is an energetic business man, an employe that can be relied on, a good wife or an excellent mother. If the outside edge is most worn, the owner is adventurous to rashness and of a bold and persistent turn of mind. Wear of the inside edge indicates irresolution and weakness in man and modesty in woman.

A Witty Answer.

It was a witty answer by which a hero whom Bismarck was commissioned by the emperor to decorate with the Iron Cross of the First Class discomfited the chancellor's attempt to chaff him.

"I am authorized," said Bismarck, with that liking for playing jokes which has been so strong throughout his career—"I am authorized to offer you a hundred thalers instead of the cross."

"How much is the cross worth?" asked the soldier.

"Three thalers."

"Very well, then, highness; I take the cross and ninety-seven thalers."

Bismarck was so much surprised and pleased by the ready shrewdness of the answer that he gave the man both the cross and the money.

THE ORANG IN HIS NATIVE HOME.

Scenes Witnessed in Borneo, Where These Animals Are Most Plentiful.

The great island of Borneo is the home of the orang, and one of the most noticeable features of the landscape is the nests of the orang, which are scattered about thickly among the tall trees. From their number one might get a greatly exaggerated impression of the plentifulness of the species, unless it were understood how and for what purpose these roosting places were constructed. The apes are greatly annoyed by flies, from which they are able to protect the front part of their bodies with their hands, but they cannot keep the vicious insects from biting them in the rear, and so they gather a quantity of leaves and branches and make them into couches to repose against among the boughs.

A protection of this sort serves very well for awhile, but presently its material begins to decompose, and the decaying leaves attract the flies which the orang is so anxious to get rid of. Then he is obliged to make another nest of fresh stuff, and so he may require a dozen of them in the course of the year. Inasmuch as he does not take the trouble to remove the old ones they remain to adorn the tree top in which he swings about. Orangs have a very curious method of fighting. In their conflicts among themselves, which are frequent, their effort is always to seize the fingers of their adversaries and bite them.

It is owing to this method of battle that it is almost impossible to procure a skin which does not lack some of the fingers. If defending itself against a man, the orang will always attempt to grasp the arms of his human opponent, so as to chew off his fingers. For this purpose its jaws are excellently adapted, being enormously powerful and equipped with huge incisors.

To protect itself from the rain, the orang crooks its arm over its head. The hair on the orang's upper arm points downward, while on the upper arm it points upward, the apparent purpose being to shed the rain like a thatch when the attitude thus described is assumed.

A Costly Girdle.

The most famous "jewel," as it may be called, in New York society, is the "stomacher" belonging to Mrs. John Jacob Astor. This is a superb combination of gems arranged in the form of a girdle, or pointed front piece, to be worn over a lace dress front, or for an ornament to the front of a decollette corsage. It is very large, and is composed of the finest gems obtainable in the world. It was the wedding gift of Mr. Astor to his bride, and was selected with more than ordinary taste, or it could never have been worn in public. But so well are the gems blended, and so perfectly do they harmonize with a fall of white lace that young Mrs. Astor looks "perfectly sweet" when she has it on, although her friends say that she wore it for the first time with many misgivings for fear it would look like a grand display of wealth. Its cost was not far from $1,000,000.—New York Journal.

A Wife for the Khedive.

It is rumored that her highness Princess Eminch, the mother of the khedive, thinks it time that her son, who will be twenty in July, should be settled for life. She proposes, therefore, to pay a visit before long to Constantinople with a view to negotiating a marriage with one of the daughters of the sultan. So far as is known his majesty Abdul-Hamid has only one girl who would be a suitable parti for his chief vassal. This is the Sultana Naime, who was born in 1876. No one, not even Pierre Loti himself, has ever ventured to describe the physical and moral attributes of the ladies of the Turkish royal family, but it is said that they are well educated and intelligent.

Tip From Texas.

Good breeding demands that when you are about to depart do so at once, gracefully and politely, without dallying. Don't say, "It's about time I was going," and then settle back and talk on aimlessly for another ten minutes. Some people have just such a tiresome habit. They will even rise and stand about the room, keeping their host also standing, and then by an effort succeed in getting as far as the hall, when a new thought strikes them. They brighten up visibly and stand for some few minutes longer, saying nothing of importance, but keeping every one in a nervous, restless state. After the door is opened the prolonged leave-taking begins and everybody in general is invited to call. What a relief when the door is finally closed.—Timpson Times.

Free as Air.

Although long and obstinately obstructed, free as air become the bowels when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used to relieve and regulate them. Not that the great laxative operates unduly upon them. Quite the contrary. Neither does it cause griping. In both these particulars it is preferable to a violent cathartic. Use the Bitters for malarial and rheumatic ailments, kidney trouble, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness.

It costs about $1,750 per shot to fire one of Krupp's 130-ton steel guns. The gun costs $195,000, and it can only be fired, at the most, sixty times. The gun has a range of fifteen miles, and the projectiles weigh 2,000 pounds.

Arizona Indians brand cattle by shooting arrows at the beasts, to the points of which are affixed steel brands with a knife edge. When the wound heals it leaves a scar which looks as though burnt with a branding iron.

A porcupine, the first to be seen in the vicinity of Saratoga Springs for years, was killed there last week.

Almost 75 per cent of the men manning the British mercantile marine are foreigners.

CURES OTHERS
A TERRIBLE CASE OF DROPSY CURED.
JNO. MALLON, Esq., No. 31 McLean St., Mt. Adams, Cincinnati, O., writes: "I took sick with dropsy, lost my appetite, could not sleep, became feverish; always thirsty, lost all strength, stomach became painful, breath short and had to give up work. The best physicians in Cincinnati, failed to help me. My limbs and body were swollen to enormous size, and I was suffering terrible agony. The doctors all said I could not get well again, that I was liable to drop dead at any moment. My wife sent for the priest, to prepare me for death. While waiting for death, I remembered reading of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and thought I would try it as a last hope. When I had taken three bottles, I was almost well. The swelling entirely disappeared and I was soon able to resume work. My health is better now than it has been in twenty-five years."

JOHN MALLON, ESQ.
WHY NOT YOU?

PARISIANS FOND OF PICNICKING

Carefully Planned and Decorously Enjoyed Outings of the Bourgeois.

The Parisian bourgeoise is seen at his best when engaged in picnicking, says a writer in the New York Tribune. His eagerness to enjoy himself is tempered by his good sense of dignity as head of the family. The preparations have generally been made long in advance, and the relatives and best friends invited. Then, equipped with huge baskets containing the provisions and red wine, the whole party set forth, pater and mater familias in the van and the entire band of children, relatives and servants bringing up the rear. They submit to the discomfort of carrying the heavy baskets, of trudging through the dusty streets and roads, and of being jostled and hustled in overcrowded public conveyances without a murmur, determined at all costs to enjoy themselves. Finally, when they have reached their destination, generally a shady tree in one of the bois around Paris, they establish themselves on the grass. The men take off their coats, the women their bonnets and hats, and after having enjoyed the good things which they have brought with them, they pass the remainder of the day, the men smoking and chatting, the women in gossiping and the younger members of the party in flirting and in games. There is none of that heavy drinking that constitutes the invariable accompaniment of picnics among the lower classes in Germany and England. Everything is quiet and decorous, the comical feature of the whole affair being the endeavor of the worthy paterfamilias to lay aside for the nonce all his bourgeois and city manners and instincts and to assume a bucolic role. Then in the evening there is the homeward journey, the women laden with wild flowers, the men carrying the empty hampers and baskets and everybody dusty and tired, but eminently contented. This is the holiday of probably three-fourths of the Parisian population and it is a holiday to which they look forward through the entire month, and in some cases even through the whole year.

Boring 8,000 Feet Through Rock.

The deepest borehole of the earth is the one at Poroschowitz, in the Rybnik district, upper Silisia. It has been carried to a depth of something beyond 2,000 metres (about 6,700 feet), and the diameter of the tube at the bottom is seven centimeters. Boring to such a depth, and, moreover, through solid rock, was almost impossible prior to the invention of the Mannesmann tube; the greater strength of this tube, as compared with others, makes it possible to use tubes of thinner gauge. It is expected that a final depth of yet another 500 metres (some 1,670 feet) can be reached, and a number of interesting observations on temperature, etc., will be made.—Engineering.

KNOWLEDGE
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.
Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

IF YOU WANT TO FEEL A PERFECT CURE PROMPTLY, OF LUMBAGO,
ST. JACOBS OIL WILL DO IT AS NOTHING ELSE CAN DO.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.
$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 10 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits.
FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.
OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

MEDICINE SENT FREE BY MAIL TO MEN UNTIL CURED of Vital Exhaustion, Weakness, Varicocele, Losses, etc. We send medicine free by mail until CURED. No matter how severe the case. Thousands cured here in Chicago and elsewhere. Remedy sent in plain package. When cured we charge you not more than $5. Write us today.
HOME REMEDY CO. Chicago, Ill.

WANTED SALESMEN on salary, $100 to $150 per month, to sell California wines. Send 1 postage stamp for full particulars. SAN FRANCISCO WINE CO., rooms 20 and 21 Ware Block, Omaha, Neb.

Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators.
Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

Minn Hist. Socie

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1894. NUMBER 45

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

The cruiser Minneapolis, on her first trip proves very speedy.

Senator Morgan introduces a bill forbidding the formation of trusts in imported articles.

Members of the sugar trust are subpenaed by the senate "investigating" committee.

Congressman Kiefer draws a bill for the creation of a national board of arbitration to deal with wage disputes.

Every senator it is announced will be called before the committee investigating the operations of the sugar trust.

Representative Houk, of Tennessee, has introduced a bill to reimburse the soldiers of the rebellion or their heirs for the average annual difference between gold and the value of the paper currency in which they are paid.

People in Print.

William Walter Phelps is seriously ill at New York.

The sultan of Turkey has conferred the order of the Medjidieh on Prof. Max Muller.

Patrick Walsh, the new senator from Georgia, is the busiest letter writer in that body.

Pat Carter of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is said to have invented a flying machine that will actually fly.

The khedive of Egypt will move on France by way of Marseilles June 20. A war scare in England is probable.

The emperor of Austria has started for Budapest in deference to Count Hedervary's desire that his majesty show himself to the people.

Julia Ward Howe received only $5 for her famous "Battle Hymn of the Republic." It was first printed in the Atlantic Monthly.

The princess of Wales and Miss Annie Patterson of Dublin are the only honorary musical doctors in the United Kingdom.

Lieut. Waethe, of the German army, is about to found a peculiar colony on some idyllic South sea island. Its members must all promise to eat no meat and wear no clothes.

G. W. Wilson, capitalist and an old resident of Chicago, died suddenly at San Jose, Cal., of heart disease at the residence of his son-in-law, Frank Coykendall. He was the inventor of the Wilson sewing machine.

Maj. von Wissmann, the famous German African explorer, has arrived in Naples from India in poor health. It was his intention to go around the world, spending some time in America. It is now possible that he will not come to this country.

Paul Bourget, the French novelist, who has just been elected to the French academy, enjoys one unusual distinction. He spent four months in this country, and yet felt incompetent, upon his return home, to tell an interviewer all about America.

Ex-Gov. Rodman M. Price of New Jersey, died at his residence, Oakdale, Bergen county, N. J. He was a participant in raising the American flag by Commodore G. G. Sloat at Monterey, Cal., July 7, 1846, and also a member of the constitutional convention held at Monterey, Cal., September, 1849. He was formerly an officer of the United States navy.

Unfortunate Events.

Mrs. Samuel Smith was killed by a bull at Peru, Ind.

Rachel Fossner, 18 years old, was killed at New York by leaping from a burning tenement fire.

Frank Schroeder aged 2, accidentally set himself on fire at Lyons, Ia., and was burned to death.

The Laconia car works at Laconia, N. H., burned. Loss $100,000. Several other buildings were destroyed.

Walter Ralston, a snake charmer, was nearly killed by a python at Galesburg, Ill. He finally killed the snake.

John Schroeder's 2-year-old son was burned to death at Clinton Iowa, while playing with matches.

R. E. Crenshaw, contractor Robert McConnell, laborer, were killed by a premature dynamite blast on the Hot Springs railroad, Arkansas.

A work train was wrecked on the Bluff Line at Alton, Ill., Engineer Lynch was killed and seven persons injured.

The tug A. J. Hoole was run down and sunk in New York harbor by the steamer Mauar. A fireman was drowned.

John Louden, while insane from grippe, locked himself in a barn at Ransom, S. D. and set fire to the building. He perished in the flames.

Several business houses at St. Johns, N. B., burned. Two hundred men from the British warship Blake helped fight the flames. The loss is $283,000.

The farm and well machinery plant of R. R. Howell & Co., of Minneapolis, was completely gutted by fire, entailing a loss of $130,000. The insurance is small.

Bertha Thornton, a daughter of a farmer living a few miles north of St. Joseph, Mo., while horseback riding was thrown. Her foot caught in the stirrup and she was dragged some 200 yards and killed.

Sins and Sinners.

H. R. Woods, a Cripple Creek, Colo., business man, was kidnaped by striking miners.

Leonard W. Marsh of Kansas City shot his wife and daughter, but their lives were saved by their corsets.

Charles Shields was fined $400 at Arcola, Ill., for selling liquor without a license.

Several wagon loads of gambling-house furniture, captured at Muncie, Ind., in a police raid, was burned by the police.

In a quarrel in a saloon at Peoria, George McDonald shot and fatally injured Joseph Spotwood. Both are colored.

John T. Hiler, who was convicted of bigamy in Bloomington, was taken to the Joliet penitentiary, where he will remain a year.

The body of a man with his skull crushed was found hanging to the limb of a tree near Okean, Ark. He was undoubtedly murdered.

The shortage of C. B. McCloy, the missing bookkeeper and collection agent of the Second National Bank of Bay City, Mich., is placed at $6,150.

Albert Krelee, 33 years old, shot himself at Menominee, Mich., and then jumped into the river and was drowned. Illness drove him to suicide.

Benjamin W. Thornhill, secretary of the New Era Building and Loan association of St. Louis, surrendered himself to the police voluntarily confessing himself to be short $10,000.

Three poaching crab vessels were captured by a Maryland police boat. Several hundred shots were exchanged, one of the poaching vessels being riddled with bullets.

The New York police think they have in their custody the man who on the night of Memorial day strangled Minnie Weldt. The name of the prisoner is Paul Jacobi.

Henry Scott, colored, of Rock Island, Ill., met his wife, with whom he had been quarreling all day, and stabbed her, inflicting a dozen wounds, from which she will die. Scott escaped.

Andy Johnson, "the Pineville terror," has killed his last man, having been shot and instantly killed at Pineville, Ky., where he was a policeman. A dance was given at Pineville, and Johnson and Jim Horn quarreled over a woman. Both used their guns and both died instantly.

Perry Cox shot and dangerously wounded William Goodnight in a courtroom at Tipton, Ind. Mr. Cox's daughter had sued Goodnight for slander, and the latter, while on the witness stand, made some statements injurious to the girl's reputation.

From Foreign Shores.

Prince Bismarck is suffering from neuralgia, but is able to ride out daily.

The upper house of the Austrial reichsrath has adopted the commercial convention with Russia.

Mr. Gladstone's eyesight is improving steadily, and he is now able to discern small objects with the aid of glasses.

Insurgents in Corea have achieved a considerable amount of success and are now threatening to attack Seoul, the capital.

The French schooner Jacmel was burned at sea. Her crew, with the exception of the second mate, was rescued by the steamship Donau.

Munn, Royer & Co., Quebec dry goods agents, have assigned. Liabilities, $24,000. Frechon & Co., church ornaments, Montreal, have also assigned. Liabilities, $40,000.

The London Times says that Prince Esterhazy, acting for the Austrian government, has arranged to buy the colt Matchbox at the close of the season for the Austrian imperial stud.

At Vancouver, B. C., owing to floods, the Canadian Pacific railroad has stopped selling tickets, all trains being canceled. Yesterday passengers were brought down by steamer from Yale to Westminster, thence by electric cars to Vancouver.

The shortage of the deposed manager of the Banco Provincial of Buenos Ayres, Mariana Marenco, it is now charged, will exceed $2,000,000 in currency. Marenco has disappeared, and there are rumors that he has committed suicide, but these reports are unconfirmed.

Senor Marenco, manager of the Provincial bank of Buenos Ayres has committed suicide. Irregularities had previously been discovered in his accounts of $1,300,000. Senor Marenco occupied a high social position, and the announcement of his wrong doing and suicide caused a sensation.

A dispatch received by the state department from La Libertad announces that the revolutionists in Salvador have triumphed completely, and that President Ezeta has gone on board a German steamer all ready to leave La Libertad. The brother of the president has been dead three weeks. This fact has been kept a secret.

Miscellaneous Items.

Pullman employes at St. Louis decided not to strike.

Socialism is on the rapid increase in Germany.

The fourth annual convention of the Mattoon district Christian league met at Marshall, Ill.

Frank Parmalee has been sued at Omaha, Neb., for $50,000 damages for breach of promise.

Emmet Seymour is on trial at Anamosa, Iowa, for the murder of George Fifield, his father-in-law.

Premier Dupuy of France secures a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies.

Howard Gould and a party of friends have sailed for Europe on the steam yacht Atlanta.

Wilton M. Busnee, a young attorney, died at Baltimore, Md., in the city hospital from opium poisoning.

The result of the French Derby race causes such dissatisfaction that the winning horse and its jockey are mobbed.

James W. Keith has sued Levi Todd at Shelbyville, Ind., for $3,000 damages for alienating his wife's affections. Todd is a city councilman.

Joseph N. Carter Republican, defeated O. P. Bonney, Democrat, for supreme judge in the Fourth Judicial District of Illinois. His majority is estimated at 2,000.

The receivers of the Northern Pacific Railroad have unanimously resolved to accept the loan of $1,000,000 offered the reorganization committee of the bondholders for the prompt payment of the first mortgage coupon due July 1.

Henry Clews suggests the adoption of an international currency by England, France, Germany and the United States, which would obviate the necessity of shipping gold in payment of balances.

The Lake Erie & Western and the Muncie Belt Railroad companies are at war at Muncie Ind., and are tearing up railroad crossings. The Lake Erie people made a raid and damaged a crossing about $500. The Muncie Belt Line will guard their property day and night until the case now in court is decided.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, June 5. — In the senate Mr. West spoke in favor of the tariff bill. Mr. Allison (Rep., Iowa) followed Mr Vest with an elaborate speech on the sugar schedule. It was, he said, by far, the most important provision of the bill. It afforded one-third of the revenue produced by the bill. Mr. Allison declared that according to numerous authorities sugar could be refined cheaper here than in Germany and some other European countries. The schedule practically would prohibit the importation of refined sugars. It was not a schedule for protection, but for prohibition. Mr. Jones (Dem.) followed with a detailed explanation of the sugar schedule. After some sparring Mr. Harris succeeded in affecting an arrangement by which all the amendments to the sugar schedule should be voted on to-morrow. In accordance with the notice he served last Saturday he stated that unless some agreement could be reached for facilitating the disposition of the measure he would be compelled to ask the senate to sit longer and later. He asked that unanimous consent be given to vote on all the sugar amendments at an early hour to-morrow. Mr. Hoar suggested that it was too much to ask the senate to vote without debate on all the amendments offered to the sugar schedule. He suggested that a vote be taken on the amendments to the bounty paragraph at 1 o'clock, and that then the debate on the other amendments be under the ten-minute rule with the understanding that the entire schedule be disposed of tomorrow. This was finally agreed to.

The galleries of the house were unusually well filled and on the floor there was a goodly array of occupied desks during the early part of the day. As the afternoon wore on the attendance thinned out, and when adjournment came there was not a half-hundred members on the floor. The state bank tax bill was discussed during the day.

Washington, June 7.—The Cox amendment for the total repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state banks was defeated in the house by 102 to 170. A viva voce vote on the Brawley bill was then taken and the bill defeated. The vote on Mr. Cox's amendment was as follows:

Ayes—Abbott, Alexander, Arnold, Bailey, Bankhead, Bell, Black (Ga.), Bland, Boatner, Bower (N. C.), Branch, Breckinridge (Ky.), Bunn, Cabaniss, Campbell, Catchings, Clark (Mo.), Cobb (Ala.), Cockrell, Cooper (Fla.), Cooper (Ind.), Cooper (Tex.), Cox, Crain, Crawford, Culberson, Cummings, Davey, Dearmond, Denson, Dinsmore, Edmunds, Ellis (Kan.), English (Cal.), Enle, Epes, Fithien, Fyan, Geary, Gorman, Grady, Hall (Mo.), Harter, Heard, Henderson (N. C.), Hutchinson, Izlar, Jones, Kyle, Latimer, Lawson, Lester, Livingston, Maddox, Maguire, Mallory, Marshall, McCulloch, McDearmon, McLaurin, McMillin, McRae, Meredith, Money, Montgomery, Morgan, Moses, Neill, Oates, Ogden, O'Neill (Mo.), Paschal, Painter, Patterson, Pendleton (Tex.), Price, Richardson (Tenn.), Robbins, Russell (Ga.), Sayers, Shell, Snodgrass, Stallings, Stockdale, Stone (Ky.), Strait, Swanson, Talbert, Tate, Terry, Tracey, Tucker, Turner (Ga.), Turner (Va.), Turpin, Washington, Wheeler (Ala.), Williams (Miss.), Wilson (W. Va.), Wise, Woodard, Speaker Crisp—102.

Noes — Adams (Pa.), Aldrich, Apsley, Babcock, Baker (Kan.), Baker (N. H.), Baldwin, Barthouldt, Bartlett, Barwig, Belden, Bell (Colo.), Bingham, Blair, Bowers (Cal.), Bretz, Binkler, Broderick, Brookshire, Brosius, Brown, Bryan, Bynum, Cannon (Cal.), Cannon (Ill.), Capehart, Causey, Chickering, Clancy, Cobb (Mo.), Cockran, Coffeen, Conn, Coombs, Cooper (Wis.), Cornish, Cusins, Covert, Curtis (Kan.), Dalzell, Daniels, Davis, Dingley, Dolliver, Doolittle, Draper, Dunn, Dunphy, Durburrow, Ellis (Or.), Erdman, Everett, Fielder, Forman, Funston, Geissenheimer, Gillet (N. Y.), Gillett (Mass.), Goldseir, Griffin, Hager, Grout, Grow, Hainer (Neb.), Haines, Hall (Minn.), Hammond, Hare, Harmer, Harris, Hartman, Haugen, Hayes, Hendrix, Hepburn, Hermann, Hicks, Hitt, Holman, Hooker (N. Y.), Hopkins (Penn.), Houck, Hudson, Hulick, Hull, Hunter, Ikert, Johnson (N. D.), Johnson (Ind.), Kem, Keifer, Lacey, Lane, Lapham, Layton, Linton, Loudenslager, Lucas, Lynch, Magner, Mason, Marsh, Martin (Ind.), Marvin (N. Y.), McCall, McCleary (Minn.), McDonnold, McEterrick, McGann, McKaig, McKeighan, McNagny, Meikeljohn, Mercer, Murray, Northway, O'Neill (Mass.), Payne, Pearson, Pence, Pendleton (W. Va.), Perkins, Phillips, Pickler, Pigott, Post, Powers, Quigg, Ray, Rayner, Reed, Reilly, Reyburn, Richards, Richardson (Mich.), Ritchie, Robinson (Pa.), Rusk, Ryan, Settle, Shaw, Sibley, Sickles, Sype, Smith, Sorg, Sperry, Springer, Stevens, W. A. Stone, C. W. Stone, Sweet, Talbot, Tarsney, Tawney, Taylor (Ind.), Taylor (Tenn.), Thomas, Updegraff, Van Voorhis (Ohio), Walker, Warger, Warner, Waugh, Weadock, Wheeler (Ill.), Williams (Ill.), Wilson (Ohio), Wilson (Wash.), Wolverton, Woomer, Wright (Mass.)—172.

The affirmative vote was entirely Democratic. The negative was cast by 88 Republicans, 75 Democrats and 9 Populists. A viva voce vote on the bill was taken and the bill was defeated.

When the senate took up consideration of the tariff bill Mr. Jones asked leave to withdraw the compromise amendment of the tobacco schedule which made the rate on leaf wrapper and unstemmed $1.50 and $2.25 respectively, and restore the house amendment, in which the rates are $1 and $1.25 respectively. The move was a surprise to senators on both sides, as by agreement the compromise paragraph was adopted pro forma, with the understanding that the subject shall be considered later. The other Jones amendments to the tobacco schedule were then adopted, and the senate passed to the schedule of agricultural products and provisions.

Washington, June 8.—Mr. Harris, pursuant to an agreement reached after consultation with some of the Republican leaders, sprang a surprise on many of the senators to-day in the shape of a proposition to proceed with schedules G (agricultural products), H (spirits, wines and other beverages), I (cottons) and J (flax, hemp and jute), under the five minute rule. This would have carried the senate to schedule K (wool and woolens) under fast marching orders. It seemed at first as if there would be no objections. Mr. Harris stated that after consultation on both sides of the senate he indulged the hope that this agreement would be reached. If it was, he said, it would put an end to all controversy about night sessions. While the matter was being informally discussed Mr. Quay (Rep., Pa.) sauntered into the chamber. He asked what it all meant. On being told that it was a request for unanimous consent to limit debate, he said emphatically, "I object." Having thus abruptly smashed the proposed truce, he walked into the marble room. Then the senate proceeded with debate on the bill. A vote was had on the finance committee amendment fixing the rate on cut meal at 15 per cent, and excluding it from the reciprocity provision of the paragraphs. It was adopted and Mr. Allison moved to strike out the reciprocity paragraphs. It was defeated by a strict party vote—24 to 32.

The house had the Indian appropriation bill under consideration to-day. The main feature of the debate was an attack on Catholic churches made by Mr. Linton of Michigan, in which he argued against the contract Indian schools, saying that under this system the largest share of the appropriation for educating the Indians went to the Catholic Indian schools. The other point of interest was the debate on the location of the Indian supply warehouse, the New York delegation protesting against the abandonment of the warehouse at New York for one at Chicago. This gave rise to a spirited debate between the champions of the two cities. A resolution was adopted before the adjournment calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the enforcement of the immigration laws and another authorizing the committee on immigration to visit Ellis Island for the purpose of studying the operation of the laws.

Washington, June 9.—Mr. Washburn (Rep., Minn.) suggested that debate on the agricultural schedule was proceeding slowly, and that for the remainder of the schedule the five-minute rule be applied. The Democrats accepted the proposition graciously and it was agreed to by unanimous consent. Mr. Quay, who objected yesterday, was not present. The consideration of the pending paragraph, imposing 20 per cent on buckwheat, corn, wheat, cornmeal, flour, rye, etc., was then resumed and Mr. Pettigrew (Rep., S. D.) moved as a substitute the McKinley specific rates; lost—24 to 33. In the next paragraph the house placed a duty of 25 per cent on barley and 35 per cent on barley malt. Mr. Jones offered the finance committee's amendment to increase the rates to 30 and 40 per cent respectively. Mr. Washburn offered as a substitute for these rates an amendment restoring the McKinley rates—barley, 30c; barley malt, 45c; pearled and hulled barley, 2c per pound. The finance committee amendment was adopted without amendment. Amendments looking to the restoration of the present rates on dairy products were lost.

The day's proceedings in the house were enlivened by Mr. Walker (Rep., Mass.) complaining of the poor ventilation of the house and the incapacity of the architect of the capitol, and by Mr. Weadock's (Dem., Mich.) reply to the attack of Mr. Linto on the Catholic church.

Washington, June 11.—The session of the senate was marked by quite lively discussions, the main point at issue being the time alleged by Mr. Vest to be consumed by the Republicans. Although the senate was operating under the five-minute rule, the Republicans did not find it difficult to discuss each paragraph and each amendment as long as they desired, and the debate which followed the first paragraph taken up was condemned by the Democrats in severe terms. It was asserted that the Republicans were abusing the good faith of the agreement. However, during the day considerable progress was made on the bill. The agricultural schedule, which has been hanging fire for several days, was finally disposed of, and schedule H (spirits, wines and liquors) was entered upon. The feature of the consideration of the bill was the withdrawal in many instances of the Jones compromise amendments, allowing the committee amendments of the original house provisions to stand.

It is expected in both sides of the senate chamber that the woolen schedule will be reached during the present week in the consideration of the tariff bill. This schedule will develop one of the most important debates connected with the bill. Next to the duty on sugar, free wool has attracted more attention than any other item in the bill, and there can be no doubt that many Republican senators will make speeches vigorously assailing the Democratic position.

The house was busy with District of Columbia business.

Prohibition Colony.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 11.—Rev. A. B. Smart of this city, well known in temperance and prohibition circles in this state, has recently contracted for 20,000 acres of land in Hamlin county, between Estelline and Castlewood. He will organize there a temperance colony. No land will be sold except to professing Christians, and every deed will contain a provision which voids the deed to the land if liquor of any kind is sold as a beverage on the land. Mr. Smart some years ago organized a similar colony at Wessington springs, this state, and it is said that the influence of that colony has made and kept Jerauld county a prohibition county.

Coxey Released.

Washington, June 11.—Coxey, Browne and Jones were this morning released from jail. They were met at the door of the jail by Oklahoma Sam driving four horses attached to Coxey's phaeton. The four proceeded to the National hotel where they shook hands with the clerk and a few friends who happened to be present. After spending a quarter of an hour in the hotel they started for the Coxey camp in Bladensburg.

A Farmer Homeless.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 11. — William Webeck, a farmer living a few miles outside the city limits, lost his house and contents by fire late last night. He has a wife and large family of children who are now practically homeless.

Coxeyites at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 11.—Last evening a company of thirty commonwealers arrived by freight on the Great Northern from the West and immediately went into camp on the banks of the Red river.

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

A BATTLE BETWEEN DEPUTIES AND A MOB OF MINERS.

One Man Is Killed, Two Are Mortally Woundedand Another Seriously Injured—Four Men Possibly Murdered by Strikers.

Pekin, Ill., June 7—There was a bloody battle at Little's coal mine, five miles down the Illinois river from Pekin, today. Word was received here this morning that 500 miners from west of the river were about to attack the mine. Sheriff Frederick swore in a posse and set out for the scene. The strikers assembled at Bentonville and crossed the Illinois by ferries. There were about 400 men and some women. The sheriff and posse remonstrated with the mob in vain. The leader of the strikers, with a revolver in each hand, cried out "follow me," and the crowd charged on the mine. The two Littles and their two sons and a colored man retreated to the tower above the shaft, and opened fire on the attacking party, some of whom crowds retreated. The air shaft was kept closed.

The killed are John Jackson, a colored miner at Little's, and Ed Bloom, one of the strikers.

The wounded are Ed Little and Peter Little, of the besieged, the former shot in the breast, probably fatally; the latter in the arm. Half a dozen others were slightly hurt.

There were a number of miners in the shaft who, it is feared, are suffocated. Among them are Gus Moritz, Fred Moritz and John Rockey. The sheriff and posse have returned from the scene unable to cope with the mob. Pekin is wild with excitement.

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 7.—There will be no battle between the fortified union miners on Bull Hill and the army of deputy sheriffs who are now encomped on Beaver creek, less than five miles from Bull Hill, unless a treacherous move is made by one side or the other. The aspect of affairs was decidedly warlike until a short while ago. Although the deputies cut all the telegraph wires between this city and Midland the miners were quickly informed by their scout of the advance of the sheriff's force and prepared for battle. They were willing to submit to the militia, but declared they would never be arrested until the troops arrived. The deputies decided not to act until the militia arrives.

Columbus, Ohio, June 7. — Gov. McKinley has just ordered out a force of 1,200 militiamen to the scene of the strike in Eastern Ohio. All of the command of the Fourteenth regiment and the Eighth regiment, and several companies of the Seventeenth regiment have been ordered out. The Fourteenth regiment will leave on a special train tonight for Eastern Ohio. The scenes of the trouble are in Belmont and Guernsey counties.

McKeesport, Pa., June 7.—Notwithstanding that the mayor and chief of police claim to be able to control the riotous element here, it remains evident that what the crowd wishes to do is done without molestation from officers. The town to-day has been under practical control of an unorganized mob who have destroyed a large amount of property.

Brazil, Ind., June 7.—To-day a crowd of angry miners blockaded No. 1 Vandalia west-bound freight east of here and stoned the trainmen. The engineer, William Barr, was struck in the head by a heavy stone and instantly killed. Brakeman Harshman was hit in the back and badly hurt. The strikers continued throwing stones until every window in the caboose and engine was broken. The excitement is intense. Officers are in hot pursuit of the strikers.

Belleaire, Ohio, June 8.—Soldiers were ordered to McLainsville, Ohio, the strikers having stopped two coal trains. A report has been received from Mineral Siding that a fight occurred between miners and a squad of militia, and that several men were killed and several wounded. It has been impossible to confirm this report as yet. Sheriff Ward and a large force of deputies armed with Winchesters and several hundred rounds of ammunition left Ironton on a special train for Lick Creek Bridge, the point at which the Norfolk & Western track walkers were attacked last night and where trouble is reported again.

Denver, Colo., June 8.—The militia, under Brig. Gen. Brooks, 800 strong, made a forced march to Cripple Creek from Midland to-day, none too soon to prevent a clash between the miners and the deputies. The town is still intensely excited. The presence of the militia does not bring any relief. The deputies want none of their aid and the strikers stand ready for a scrimmage at the drop of the hat.

Shelburn, Ind., June 8.—About 1 o'clock this morning several drunken men approached the picket line around the ninety militiamen stationed at Farmersburg, and taunted the guard. One man attempted to pass the line and was brought to a halt. The intruder hurled a brick at the guard and the latter opened fire. This was the signal for a general fusillade of stones and firing by the guards. Forty or fifty shots were fired in quick succession. Col. Ebel of Terre Haute, in command of the three companies, called to arms all his men, but they were unable to run down the attacking party, not one being found.

Brazil, Ind., June 8.—A crowd of 300 miners last night tore the rails out of the six coal cars which were captured on the Evansville & Terre Haute yesterday and dumped the coal out on the track. White United States Marshal Hawkins was on the scene the miners kept quiet. The depredations were committed immediately after he left.

Washington, June 8.—The mine workers' strike is virtually ended as far as this section is concerned, and the miners will probably resume work Monday, as they have no grievances, and only quit work in order to help the movement along.

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 9.—The excellent conduct of the state troops acting upon the politic order of Gen. Brooks has greatly tempered the intense animosity the strikers felt toward each other and the chances for a conflict are more remote than at any time since the forces arrived. The militia from its opposition between the two armies moved so as to prevent either side making an attack, and they have executed the orders in such a politic manner that they won the regard of both sides. Several times the deputies began an advance, but were cut off by the troops. At one time Gen. Brooks rode down the front of the deputies and his bearing and words were of such a nature that he shook hands with the sheriff's forces, and when he departed the men gave him three cheers.

Charleston, W. Va., June 9.—To-day Gov. MacCorkle received a telegram from the sheriff of Marshall county stating that 200 strikers had taken possession of a Baltimore & Ohio coal train at Bogg's Run, near Wheeling, and asked for troops. The dispatch stated that the men had refused to surrender the train, declaring they would hold it in spite of the sheriff or militia. The telegram also stated the number of miners about the train was constantly increasing. The governor ordered several companies to the scene.

Uniontown, Pa., June 11.—The truce is ended and again the armed deputies in the coke region have made a killing. One striker killed in his boots, two others dying and a fourth shot through is the result of the battle this morning at Lemont. There were six deputies on one hand and a mob of strikers on the other. Unbiased testimony is to the effect that the mob not only provoked, but compelled the deputies to fire on them, after the strikers had compelled them to retreat and had fired several shots at them. The circumstances leading up to this latest of the many tragedies of the coke region were developing since yesterday afternoon. Four American workmen, John Deloney, Oliver Atleby, John Britt and James Furlough, who live at Leisenring, have been working at the Frick Coke company's Valley works for some time. They came to New Haven yesterday afternoon where they were to take the Leisenring electric road for home, where they have not been for a month. As soon as they alighted from the train at New Haven they were surrounded by a mob of several hundred strikers. The strikers first beat the four men and then put tags on them, bearing the inscription "Black Legs," also covering them with chalk marks. They then marched their prisoners to all the works on the line from New Haven south, holding them up as decorated samples of "scabs" for the revilings and abuse of strikers everywhere. The four prisoners were submitted to all manner of insults and indignities to such an extent that many of the more rational strikers protested that it was cruel and cowardly for so many men to assault four helpless fellows in that way. The Frick Coke company was informed of the perilous position of their workmen. Field Deputy Matt Allen and six men were sent to New Haven on the next train. They were assaulted by the mob and a fight ensued, with the above result. The four workmen cannot be found, and it is feared that they have been murdered for revenge.

New Philadelphia, Ohio, June 11.—Miners burned over 100 feet of trestle on the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling railroad at Coshen, three miles south of here. They threatened to kill two bridge guards who ran here and alarmed the operator.

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—Gov. Altgeld received a telegram from Col. Bayle at Pana, saying the First regiment had arrived there at 6:30 a. m.; everything quiet and no trouble at hand, the miners being over-awed by the presence of so many troops.

Ottumwa, Iowa, June 11.—The coal operators, at the request of the miners, agreed to take back all on the scale of 1893 except those who committed violence. This insures all the mines in Iowa running by Wednesday.

Columbus, Ohio, June 11—A conference between operators and striking miners began here to-day. A committee was appointed to arrange a scale.

SENATORS AND SUGAR.

The Committee Runs Foul of Another Contumacious Witness.

Washington, June 11.—Charles Chapman, of the New York brokerage firm of Moore & Schleick, was before the senate investigating committee again, to-day. He had previously declined to answer questions concerning the firm's handling of sugar stock and asked for time to consult counsel. He saw Judge Shellabarger of this city last night and obtained a written opinion from him as to his legal rights. This opinion is supposed to have been to the effect that he could not be compelled to answer. The question whether his firm had bought and sold sugar stocks for or in the interest of any senator was put in various forms so as to cover every month since February, but the invariable response was a refusal to answer. The witness then, at the committee's request, read the statute providing for the punishment of witnesses who should decline to answer questions put by congressional committees, but after reading it persisted in his refusal to answer questions. Senator Allen then went through the list of senators alphabetically, asking in each case if the senator named had speculated, and the witness each time refused to answer. Without pressing the matter the committee excused Mr. Chapman, but decided to lay his case before the senate and have it certified to the district attorney as was done with Correspondents Edwards and Shriver.

French Rioters.

Trinidad, Colo., June 11.—At the Socrt mines yesterday a party of women, wives of the strikers, stationed themselves at the opening of the mine and attempted by abusive language and throwing stones to prevent the men from going to work. A Mexican miner was dumped in the mud and pounded with stones. A man was with the women urging them on. He was placed under arrest with two of the most vicious of the women and lodged in jail. This ended the riot and there has been no trouble since.

Yachtsmen Drowned.

Victoria, B. C., June 11.—During a violent squall yesterday the yacht Star was overturned and three yachtsmen, names unknown, were drowned. The British ship Harrowdale went on the rocks at McNulty point, and is still there in a very dangerous position.

Stole a Letter.

Frankfort, Ky., June 11.—J. H. Crittenden, mail carrier, son of Gen. Crittenden and a grandson of John J. Crittenden, has been arrested for stealing a letter containing money.

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

BAD ACCIDENT ON THE CANADIAN PACIFIC ROAD.

All but Three Cars of a Passenger Train Go Through a Burning Brige—Two People Are Killed and Several Others Are Injured.

Winnipeg, Man., June 11.—A bad accident occurred yesterday to the west-bound express, due here this morning. The accident occurred at the crossing of Mattawa river, about fifteen miles west of Fort William. Fires had destroyed the trestle work underneath the bridge, and when in the center of the structure it gave way and the engine and four cars piled into the river. The diner, one first-class car and the sleeper remained on the track.

The wrecked cars soon took fire from the burning bridge and almost the entire train was burned. The train was not a very heavy one, but it is feared other deaths have occurred besides those reported. As far as can be learned here the dead and injured are:

Dead—Mrs. Barker, drowned; first-class passenger en route to Elkhorn, Man., from Ontario. Express Messenger "Murt" Brown of Toronto; missing, and believed to be at the bottom of the river.

Injured—Fireman Whitehead; may not recover. Engineer Elmes, slightly injured. Mrs. Bickie of Middeville, Mich., en route to Red Deer.

Several others were slightly injured. The train was in charge of Conductor Dawson, and was running at a very high speed when the accident occurred. The body of Mrs. Barker was found some distance down the river. All the mail matter, including that from Montreal and Toronto, posted on Thursday, was burned, as was also express matter and baggage.

LUMBER IS LICKED UP.

A Costly Blaze Occurs in the Yards at Dubuque.

Dubuque, June 11.—Sparks from the locomotive of a Chicago Great Western passenger train set fire to a pile of sawdust in Lesure's lumber yard. The wind from the east blew the flames across a crescent of sloughs from Sixth street to Eleventh, lined with lumber. Lesure's mill and yard and such of the Standard Lumber company's yard as was in the path of the flames went first. Then the Dubuque Top Buggy company's vacant frame factory went and when the Knapp-Stout company's yards became a mass of flames, telegrams for assistance were sent to Freeport, Galena, Clinton and other towns. The Knapp-Stout company's yards ended at the paper mill, separated from the yard by a pond on the south, and from Carr, Ryder & Engler's yard by a street on the north. The pond and the mill, which later proved a fire wall, prevented the flames from spreading further north. The Lesure company loses $75,000 on the mill, which employed 225 men, and $75,000 on the yard. Insurance, $90,000; some in non-board companies. The Knapp-Stout company's loss is $225,000; insurance, $185,000; all in board companies. The Standard Lumber company's loss is $75,000; fully insured. Twenty-five million feet of lumber were burned. The other losses bring the total up to $475,000.

GOVERNMENT WHEAT FIGURES.

A Very Good Showing Is Made by Minnesota.

Washington, June 11.—The report of June 1, consolidated from the returns of the correspondents of the agricultural department, makes the acreage of winter wheat sown compared with that which was harvested last year 99 per cent, being a decrease of 1 per cent. There is an increase of acreage as compared with 1893 in but ten states, the principal part of which was made in Kansas and Illinois. The percentages of spring wheat acreage of the principal states are: Minnesota, 87; Nebraska, 81; South Dakota 85; North Dakota, 90. The average percentage of acreage for both spring and winter wheat for the whole country is 93.3, making a total area of 33,000,000 acres. The conditions of spring wheat gives an average for the entire country of 88 per cent, and for the principal spring wheat states as follows. Wisconsin, 96; Minnesota, 99; Iowa, 90; Nebraska, 44; South Dakota, 79; North Dakota, 97; Washington, 89; Oregon, 96. The preliminary report places the average of oats at nearly one point less than last year. The general average for the whole country is 99.1. The peach crop commercially considered is practically a failure. The condition of apples is rather better than that of peaches. No fruit is expected in the Piedmont and Ohio valley districts and but little in the Missouri belt. Prospects are brighter in the mountain and Pacific states.

Murderer Caught.

Pueblo, Colo., June 11.—Tom Smith, alias Charles Ofeal, was taken last night to Texarkana county, Ark., for the murder of Ben Biddle at Allene March 10, last. After the murder Smith made his escape, but Biddle's brother started a search for him and had spent everything he had, when Chief Moses received word that Smith was probably in this county. He was found working on a ranch at Vireland and was arrested. The brother of the dead man arrived for the prisoner and took him back for trial.

Packing Plant Burned.

Menomonie, Wis., June 11.—The extensive stock yards and buildings connected with the packing department of the Knapp, Stout & Co. company of this city were entirely destroyed by fire today. There being a strong wind the fire department could not control the blaze. The loss will reach several thousand dollars; partially insured.

Happy, Happy Iselin!

Providence, R. I., June 11.—Miss Hope Goddard, daughter of Col. William Goddard of this city and heir to $20,000,000, was married to E. Oliver Iselin, son of the late millionaire banker of New York. Nearly 300 guests were present.

Mrs. Lease for Congresswoman.

Topeka, Kan., June 11.—It is rumored here to-day that Mrs. Lease will be nominated by the Prohibitionists for congressman at large from Kansas. It is also expected that this nomination will be indorsed by the Populists.

German Is Abolished.

St. Paul, June 11.—At a meeting of the school board decisive action was taken abolishing instruction in German in all grades under those of the high school. President Willrich was the only one to advocate a continuance of the study.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arr'v Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:5 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ... ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps Time Tables or ... full information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn. or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the
SPECTATOR
from now until December 1st, 1894, for 25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Rapp & Post received a carload of salt last Monday.

A. D. Wishard went down to Crookston last Friday.

C. G. Rapp made a business trip to Crookston last week.

J. E. Morrissey, of Crookston, was doing business in town last Monday.

Mrs. Gunnis of Mallory is visiting her daughter Mrs. E. H. Aimer.

A peoples party caucus has been called to meet next Saturday night.

J. A. Dainard drove several head of fat cattle to Crookston last Friday.

E. M. Hoff and wife visited friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

Rev. James Moody and wife returned home today from the southern part of the state.

Oscar Olson, of Fosston, spent several hours in town last Monday visiting relatives.

Miss Lizzie Zarracher finished her term of school here last Friday and left for her home at Crookston.

The Gun club had a friendly shoot last Monday. There is some talk of another match with the Crookston team.

E. J. Holmes and wife are expected to return from Goodhue county in a few days.

Levi Stranahan left last Monday for Perley to resume his work as station agent.

J. L. Johnson and wife, Carl Johnson and wife and B. E. Barkee and wife were at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

We had a very welcome rain last Saturday noon which did the crops a great deal of good. The dose could be repeated with profit.

The M. E. Social last Wednesday evening was well attended and about twenty dollars was cleared.

Messrs, Gahen and Junken and Misses McDougal and Ihlsing, of Thief River Falls, attended the social here last Wednesday evening.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

The peoples party voters of Black River township held a caucus last Saturday night and elected Swan Anderson as delegate to the county convention.

Henry Norland, of Rocksbury, is we understand a candidate for the peoples party nomination for county commissioner. Mr. Norland will we understand go down to the convention with a good support. He is a practical bridge builder and his friends think that he would prove a valuable man on the board.

Laurits Larson, of Sanders, informs us that the peoples party voters of that township held a caucus last Saturday evening and elected Andrew Welo and A. W. Lind as delegates to the convention. The caucus instructed their delegates to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Andrew Welo for county commissioner and also instructed them to vote for Andrew Steenerson for sheriff.

Titled foreigners of slender means have formed a syndicate for the capture of American heiresses. The net proceeds of each conquest are divided up among the members of the association and thus a large number of worthy men are saved from starvation, the only effort required being a frantic courtship now and then. It is more fun than roulette and four times as profitable.—Tribune.

W. J. Hilligoss and Fred and Harry Silver returned from Rainy Lake this morning. They started about two weeks ago, going from Red Lake in a canoe. The trip was taken in this manner for the purpose of exploring the country along the streams, and proved very interesting. The boys claim that there is no doubt about there being gold all through that region and the only question seems to be whether or not it can be mined in quantities to pay for operating. The stamp mill is under course of construction and will soon be in operation. Each of the gentlemen express themselves as much pleased with the trip, and may conclude to try their hand at gold mining in the near future.—Crookston Times.

LIAR HOLSTON.

A. R. Holston, county attorney and publisher of the Crookston Tribune, prints over a column of gibberings meant to be a severe roast on H. E. Ives. Holston, as everybody knows, is consumed with an ambition to represent this district in congress. He has probably heard that the sugar trust and other monopolies are paying a good price for congressmen and has determined to get there, thinking that his pickings would be fatter than he can possibly work out of the county attorneys office. A careful perusal of Holston's article shows only a couple of statements of any account. He first states that H. E. Ives first attended the Peoples party county convention at Crookston two years ago without credentials. The following statement from J. C. Dahl will settle this falsehood. Mr. Dahl is well known and comment is unnecessary.

I hereby certify that H. E. Ives was elected as a delegate from St. Hilaire to the Peoples party convention at Crookston in 1892 and that his credentials were signed by the Peoples party committee for this village—J. C. Dahl and Andrew Hall.

Signed, J. C. Dahl.

He next states that H. E. Ives while a delegate to the convention at Moorhead helped to defeat Andrew Steenerson for congress. Mr. Steenerson was satisfied with the work done and has never made such a statement we feel sure. Holston was there and did all he could to prevent a Polk county man from getting the nomination. It is a burning shame that this man Holston has not the authority to state who shall be members of the Peoples party. As it is at present men are in the party who think that the party would thrive better and do more for honest reform if he were out of it, and are even audacious enough to work against him for congress. He states that this time he is alive to the situation and proposes to "die with his boots on." This is perfectly proper. Men of your character Holston, usually do die with their boots on. You can do so if you want to, we have no objection whatever.

This man Holston has been county attorney for nearly four years, elected on a reform ticket. During this time nearly every grand jury has considered whether they would indict him for some violation of the laws. All kinds of stories have been circulated that he would sell out any interest of the county providing he got his price and some are mean enough to say that he sells out very cheap. Stories have been current at Crookston that Holston has even levied blackmail on the houses of ill-fame of that city. One story is to the effect that two years ago while a candidate for district judge, he approached the proprietoress of one of the disreputable houses of Crookston and stated that he was a candidate for district judge and was in need of money and that it would be to her interest to help him out to the extent of fifty dollars, as he was sure of being county attorney if he failed to be nominated for judge.

It is rumored that he makes regular monthly trips to East Grand Forks to collect hush money from the disreputable houses in that city, and that while gambling was done there the prominent houses paid him a monthly percentage. Whether these stories are all true or not we are not in position to state. The old saw "a lot of smoke indicates at at least a small fire," is applicable in this case. These are a few of the stories that are continually in circulation about this man and for this reason we are opposed to him receiving the nomination for congress. The Peoples' party cannot afford to nominate any man unless he be above reproach.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1894.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows, On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1894.

M. E. Bjerk.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 29th day of June 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m, at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson.
Village Recorder.

Taken up, on the premises of the undersigned one sorrel pony, one brown horse, one gray horse and one bay colt. Owner can have same by paying costs.

Herman Nelson
Sec 5 River Falls Tp.

Peoples Party Co. Convention.

Pursuant to the resolutions of the peoples party county central committee of Polk county Minnesota, notice is hereby given that a county convention of the of the peoples party of said county will be held at the court house in the city of Crookston in said county on the 28th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to place in nomination candidates for the following offices viz: County auditor, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds, county attorney, clerk of court, judge of probate, superintendent of schools, county surveyor, court commissioner, and county commissioners for the second and fourth commissioners districts and to elect delegates to the state convention of the peoples party to be held at Minneapolis Minnesota on or about the 11th day of July 1894 and to elect delegates to the peoples party congressional convention in and for the 7th congressional district of Minnesota, and to the peoples party legislative convention in and for the 51st legislative district of Minnesota which two last conventions are hereafter to be called; and to appoint a new peoples party county committee and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each election precinct in said county and one delegate for fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Ignatius Donnelly for governor at the general election in 1892. The several towns and villages in this vicinity are entitled to the following number of delegates in said convention viz:

Black River 1
Bray 1
Euardville 1
Gervais 1
Gordea 1
North 1
Numedal 1
Polk Center 1
River Falls 1
Rocksbury 2
St. Hilaire 1
Sanders 2
Wyandotte 1

The total vote in the county will be 178.

The towns and villages which may have been detatched from other towns since the last general election will vote with the towns from which they were detatched in the election of delegates. We would urge the populists of each town to see that their town is represented at the convention with the full number of delegates to which it is entitled. Proxies will not be recognized except where the delegate and his proxy both are legal voters residing in the same town or election precinct. The committees of the several towns, cities and villages are requested to give public notice of the time when and the place where the caucuses ... for the election of delegates by posting at least three ... notices in three of the most public places in the precinct at least ten days before the caucus is to be held.

At the several caucuses in each town or ward the voters present shall elect a peoples party town or ward committee of three members and report their names and post office address to the chairman of the county committee. Only legal voters who believe in the principles and the platform of the peoples party, both state and national, and who agree to vote for the peoples party candidates that may be nominated by the several peoples party conventions are eligible to vote in the caucus or to be elected delegates.

Dated this 11th day May 1894.

A. R. HOLSTON, Sec Co. Com.
C. C. WEBSER, Chairman Co. Com.

Annual Alliance Meeting,

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Polk county Farmers Alliance will be held at the court house in Crookston on Wednesday the 27th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the election of officers and the transaction of any other business for the good of the alliance. Each local alliance is entitled to send three delegates and the officers of local alliances are hereby requested to call meetings at an early date and elect delegates.

The meeting will be an interesting one, among other things the Stillwater twine question will be discussed and full information given in regard to terms, etc.

E. E. Lommen, President
J. D. Knutesen, Secretary

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the call of the Polk county central committee a caucus of the peoples party voters residing in the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, will be held at the Spectator office on the 16th day of June 1894 at 7:30 o'clock p. m, for the purpose of electing one delegate to the peoples party county convention to be held in Crookston on the 28th day of June 1894, and for the purpose of electing a peoples party committee of three members for the ensuing two years. Only peoples party voters will be allowed to take part in the caucus. All peoples party voters are requested to attend and all voters who believe in peoples party principles and wish to unite with the party in the future are cordially invited to attend.

Dated this 11th day of June. 1894,

J. C. Dahl
H. E. Ives
Committee.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the Village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned Fred Eikhoff hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1893,

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows; On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten (10) of Block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1893.

Fred Eikhoff.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 29th day of June 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.
First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.
LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily Daily
NO. 3 North and West NO 4 South and East
7.45 p m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 10.35 am
8.20 p m ".........Minneapolis........ 9.55 am
7.25 a m ....Barnesville.......... 1.40 pm
7.25 am Ar......Crookston......De 10.50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY.
9.00 am De.........Crookston.........Ar 6.00 pm
11.00 am Ar......St. Hilaire......De 4.00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm, Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at, Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W 1/4 Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall's Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

We have been selling Beggs' Remedies for about five years and Beggs' Diarrhœa Balsam gives us the best satisfaction of any remedy we have ever sold.—Evans and Boschert, Chanute, Kan.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggist.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent.

I have derived a great benefit from Beggs. Blood Purifier and Blood Maker and will take great pleasure in recommending it to all I meet.—Chas Hill, Aberdeen, O. —for sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

I have been troubled for several years with scrofula, caused by impure blood, but could get no relief until lately. Our druggist recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood maker so highly that I decided to try it and have up to the present time, used five bottles and find it to be all that it is recommended. —Orrin Stone, Otsego Wis,—For sale by J. L. Johnson. Druggist.

I have recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Cherry Cough Syrup several times and must say that I have been surprised and more than pleased at results following use of same. I am not in habit of endorsing patent medicines, but can say truthfully, Beggs' medicines are all that is claimed for them.—Tesah Jones, M. D., Wintersville, Mo.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

My wife had the worst case of Dandruff I ever saw and had tried three or four other remedies, and two bottles of Beggs' Hair Renewer proved all claimed for it.—E. P. Dunigan, Gainsville, Ga.—For sale by J. L. Johnson, Druggist.

I am getting better since I began the use of Beggs, Blood Purifier and Blood Maker.—B. H. Williams, Chenango, Texas.—for sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

When the Physician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign-something like this:

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

ARE YOU A HUNTER?
Send Postal Card for Illustrated Catalogue of

Winchester
Repeating Rifles

Repeating Shot Guns
Ammunition
—TO—
WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS COMPANY,
NEW HAVEN, CONN.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED

OR A TURK NAMED

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at the PostOffice at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JUNE 31 1891

"COLD, AIN'T IT?"

The morning was a cold one—that I knew beyond a doubt,
So I made my preparations before I started out,
Put on my warmest ulster and turned up its collar rare,
Then in overshoes and mittens sought the keen and frosty air.

First I met was Uncle Dan'l, man of color, old and grave;
And he greeted me politely, then this information gave—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Then came Jenkins—he's a farmer—riding on a load of hay,
Swathed in felts and shawls and mufflers, yet he found a voice to say—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Pretty little widow Collyer, going up to Smith's for milk,
Paused just long enough to murmur from beneath her hood of silk—
"Cold, ain't it?"

The stamp clerk from his window gave to me a pleasant smile,
As he handed me my letter, piping out in perfect style—
"Cold, ain't it?"

My barber while he shaved me, my grocery keeper, too,
Indeed every one that knew me kept the fact held up to view—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Soon I began to ponder and discovered with surprise
That my neighbors must be thinking me all foolish or otherwise
With their—"Cold, ain't it?"

Why, I knew beyond denial that it was a frosty day,
But they must have thought I didn't when they hastened all to say—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Still they recognized my wisdom and the knowledge I had got,
When they told me it was frosty and, then asked me if 'twas not,
With their—"Cold, ain't it?"

—Boston Globe.

She Preferred the Burglars.

"The fact is," said old Mrs. Peterby to Mrs. Yerger, "I had the narrowest escape from being ruined you ever heard of."

"How was it?" asked Mrs. Yerger, growing interested.

"Well, you know I sold our house and lot last month and had the money ready to deposit in the Fidelity bank the next morning, which was the very day of its failure."

"Yes, I read about it."

"I slept with my money under my pillow," continued Mrs. Peterby, "and the next morning when I got ready to start for the bank the money was gone."

"Where had it gone to?"

"Some burglars had taken it during the night, and next day the bank burst up. Did you ever hear of such a remarkable piece of good luck?"

"I don't see where the luck comes in. You lost your cash all the same."

"Yes, but they caught the burglars, and on condition of my not prosecuting they returned me 50 cents on the dollar. The bank only panned out 15. There's no use talking, but between banks and burglars I'll take my chances with the burglar every time."—Texas Siftings.

Raison d'Etre.

The king was sore distraught. There was anger in his royal heart.

"What, ho!" he roared. "Why failed the keen edge of my battleax in today's conflict?"

The knight of the kitchen table bowed him low.

"Your majesty," he rejoined, "it is reported that her highness the princess royal complained much of her corns upon yester e'en and does not today."

The monarch swallowed his resentment, contenting himself with once more placing himself upon record as touching the subject of the interference of women in the affairs of state.—Detroit Tribune.

The Great Brotherhood.

Beggar—Cahn't you give me a nickel, sir? I am nigh starving.

Brouson—It is very evident you don't know me. I'm a Wall street man.

Beggar—Pardon me, sir. If I'd a-known, I wouldn't 'a' spoke. But I'll make up for it, sir. Here's a quarter, if it'll help you.—Harper's Bazar.

Business Dull.

Tramp—Business is very dull, mum.

Farmer's Wife—Business is dull, is it? I'd just like to know what business you are in.

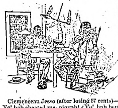
Tramp—I'm a professional scarecrow, mum, but nobody seems to need my services this time of year.—New York Weekly.

Perils of Modern Society.

"Elleyne is so delicate and sensitive in her æsthetic tastes."

"Yes, indeed. The other day she went to a pink breakfast and afterward to a lilac luncheon and a yellow tea. The poor girl is sick abed still."—Chicago Record.

A Point of Honor.



Clemenceau Jesso (after losing 57 cents)—Yo' hab cheated me, niggah! Yo' hab bein stackin dem cyards, an as a gemman I demand sahtisfaction!

Napoleon Chippo—Name yo' weppins, niggah! Name yo' weppins!

Clemenceau Jesso (drawing forth his loaded dice)—Dese yere dice am my weppins, niggah! Jes' shake me fo' half an hour wiv dese yere dice—dat is, if yo' calls yo'self a gemman!—Truth.

The Idea!

Mrs. Wickwire—Why, Norah, there is nothing of this lobster but the shell.

Norah—Sure, mem, you didn't think Oi would cuke it widout cleanin it?—Indianapolis Journal.

Vindicating Her Name.

"Mrs. Grit has a constitution like iron."

"What makes you think so?"

"Her husband has been troubled with dyspepsia for 18 years."—New York Press.

Much Improved.

"Has Vassar improved your daughter, Parslow?"

"Oh, yes. Maud is quite a manly girl now."—Harper's Bazar.

Glad to Hear It.

Cholly—I drank a little whisky last night, and it affected my brain.

She—Did it? That's encouraging!—Truth.

A Ready Reckoner.

"Does this road lead to Evansville?" I asked of an old darky lounging at the door of his cabin.

"I reckon it do, sah."

"Is it far?"

"I reckon it am."

"Can I reach it by sundown?"

"I reckon, so yuse early 'nuff."

"Could you tell me how many miles it is to Evansville?"

"I reckon I could, sah."

"How many?"

"I reckon I dunno."

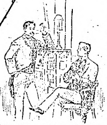
"But you said you could tell me."

"I reckon I could if I knowed."

"See here," I said angrily, "I believe you're next to a fool."

"I reckon yuse right, sah," answered the fellow, with a grin that made me want to dismount and kick him.—Detroit Free Press.

Must Be So.



Ralph—Suppose a fellow's best girl gets mad when he asks for a kiss?

Curtis—Take it without asking.

Ralph—Suppose she gets mad then?

Curtis—Then he's got some other fellow's girl.—Brooklyn Life.

A Sad Plight.

A very diffident young man, who is struggling with his first faint signs of a mustache and lovesickness, went down to the quiet little village of Berlin, on the Camden and Atlantic railroad, on Sunday. His visit to a certain fair one was so pleasant that the evening hours wore away with astonishing rapidity. He came to his senses at an hour long past the movement of the last train for the city. The fair one's family made him comfortable for the night, and he passed into dreamland full of happiness.

When the family awoke the next morning, it was thrown into consternation. Burglars had invaded the house during the night and carried off a lot of things. The diffident young man was awakened by the confusion, and vainly he searched for his trousers. Cold perspiration broke out upon him, and he sat down upon the bed and wailed inwardly. He managed to acquaint his sweetheart's relatives of his predicament, but as paterfamilias was the only man in the family, and he weighs close to 300 pounds, the trouble was only accentuated. There is not a pair of trousers on sale in Berlin, and the unfortunate lovelorn youth was compelled to remain a prisoner in his room while his sweetheart came to the city, got a pair of trousers at his home and took them down at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.—Philadelphia Record.

In Reserve.

The passionate pleadings of the foreign nobleman were lost upon her.

"No," she repeated, "there is little in a name."

She spurned his suit.

"Oh, why"——

He pressed his hand to his brow.

——"reject me thus hastily? Thou hast not heard the half of mine."

Drawing from his bosom several pages of typewritten manuscript, he bade her read.—Detroit Tribune.

Realism.

First Actor—Look here. Talk about your realism on the stage. Why, I once played the part of Old Moore in "The Robbers," with the result that the entire audience were bathed in tears.

Second Actor—Why, my dear fellow, that is nothing. Our company recently gave in a country place a performance of "The Robbers," which was so true to life that the inhabitants missed several articles the following day.—Tit-Bits.

Pinning Him Down.

She—Why didn't you come around last night?

He—I didn't get through at the office until so late that I hadn't time to go home to dress, and I didn't like to call in my business suit.

She—Why not? Don't you mean business?—Detroit Free Press.

Inconsolable.

Dear Friend—Try to console yourself, my dear. Remember that your late husband was very, very old, and he left you a fortune, you know.

Young Widow—Yes, but it was on—on condition that I should nev—never marry again. Boo, hoo, hoo!—New York Weekly.

Great Danger.

Kitty—Willis Norton met a girl on the steamer, and before they got to the other side he was engaged to her. What do you think of that?

Tom—It only goes to show that not all of the perils of ocean travel have been eliminated yet.—Life.

The Walking Stick Fad.

Joe—You girls have queer fads now.

Katie—What, for instance?

Joe—Well, I saw Miss Fanny Desakel walking with a stick yesterday.

Katie (eagerly)—Who was it? That odious Mr. Hisbake?—Detroit Free Press.

One of the Passions.

Tommers—James informs me that he has a passion for work.

Mummer—Well, I guess that's about right, although it's a little too strong a word to describe an ordinary dislike.—Chicago Record.

Better Still.

Bunker (at the ball)—Say, do you know that you have been in the conservatory half an hour with one girl.

Hill—That's nothing! I expect to be in her father's office tomorrow for two hours.—Puck.

The Voice of Experience.

"Appearances are very deceptive," remarked the tenor.

"Yes," replied the prima donna, "especially farewell appearances."—Washington Star.

A Good Guess.

Professor—All natural products are divided into three parts. Mr. Thompson, where do you place sugar?

Mr. Thompson—Into the coffee.—Hallo.

Hard Labor.

Yeast—You have a girl to do the heavy work in your house, I suppose?

Crimsonbeak—No; my wife makes all her own bread.—Yonkers Statesman.

An Exchange of Courtesies.

Maud—I'm engaged to four men.

Eleanor—Yes, three of them told me about it when they proposed to me.—Chicago Record.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1890 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Laudbeck and Hendricka J. Laudbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1888 and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1888, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages, on page 571 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars dated June 1st 1888 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1893, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option so provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter (NW ¼) and lots three (3) and four (4) of Section numbered three (3) in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four (44) containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 24 A. D. 1891.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S. land Office

Crookston Minn, May 20 1891.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Bibson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 11939 dated March 15 1881 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 154 R. 45 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 27th day of July 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

Wm. Anglim, Receiver.

Detactful.

The pages of amusing literature are stocked with the sayings of honest and untactful people. The following incidents have, moreover, the merit of being strictly true:

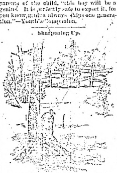
A lady who had studied an elementary treatise of astrology one day took it upon her to "cast the horoscope" of a boarding house acquaintance.

"Let me see," she began after taking down the day of the "subject's" birth, "you are in Aries. Aries is intellect. Why, no!" she suddenly exclaimed, looking up, as the full force of the definition struck her, "there must be some mistake. You can't be in Aries!"

Another innocently frank person was admiring the baby grandson of a famous man.

"Now," said she encouragingly to the parents of the child, "this boy will be a genius. It is perfectly safe to expect it, for you know genius always skips one generation."—Youth's Companion.

Sharpening Up.



Northerner—That hog must be bothered with fleas, from the way he scratches himself.

Southerner—Fleas nuthin! That's a razor back hog, sah, an' he's just stroppin his self.—Life.

A Sensitive Point.

The Widow Cawverly had an important case in court. She knew that if she should win her condition thereafter would be one of financial ease, and she had accordingly employed the most effective lawyer in the county. When the case came to trial, the shrewd lawyer saw that his road to success lay through the emotions of the jurymen.

"Gentlemen," said he, "look at this poor woman. Is she not enough to excite the pity of any beholder? Decrepitude has impaired her, and age is fast spreading its blight upon her once fair face. She"——

"You stop right where you are!" exclaimed the widow. "I need the money that might come out of this case, but I'll be hanged if you shall stand up there and call me old."

The lawyer hastened to her side and said: "Why, madam, I must talk that way or lose the case."

"I don't care if you do have to talk that way, you shan't. I'd rather lose the whole thing than be called old. I am just as good looking as I ever was, and I want you to understand that fact. Decrepit, indeed! I'll bet I could gather you up and throw you over a 10 rail fence right now. If you want to talk about the law there is in the case, go ahead, but if you call me old again we'll fight, that's all."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Suicidal Marriage.

He was engaged to the girl, but he would not carry out the contract, though he refused to give her up.

She had coaxed him at first to give up his foolish notion, but he wouldn't have it, and finally she kicked out of the traces.

"Why don't you stop fooling," she said, "and marry me?"

"My dear," he pleaded, "marriage in my case would be suicide."

"Suicide? What do you mean?"

"I mean that I am so poor I could not hire a cook."

"Well," she urged bravely, "what of that? I am strong and well and can do the cooking until you are rich enough to hire a cook."

"I know that, my dear love," he murmured, taking her face in his hands, "it is your cooking that I am afraid of." And young love's dream was split wide open.—Detroit Free Press.

An Explanatory Epitaph.

Signs of Spring.

Visitor—Johnnie, what is that awful noise in your back yard?

Rev. Amen's Youngest—That's pa practicing his vacation cough.—Hallo.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & GO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

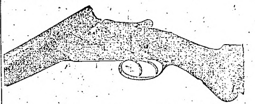
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N. Y.

A GREAT SNAP

THE

FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

Hood's is Good

"I have been troubled with that tired feeling, also loss of appetite. I could not sleep at night, my face broke out in pimples, and I had headache almost continually. Last April I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and now my troubles are all gone. I gave Hood's Sarsaparilla to my baby, not yet eight months old, for sores on his body, and it cured him." Mrs. W. J. Roach, Kilbourne, Illinois.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills are especially prepared to be taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c. per box.

LEFT IN CHARGE.

The Boy Was Satisfied That the Child Would Grow Up to Be a Bruiser.

A woman left a baby carriage and a sleeping child outside of a store on Grand River avenue the other day while she went in to make a purchase says the Detroit Free Press. On coming out she walked off up the avenue, forgetting all about the child, and it was twenty minutes before she came running back to find a ragged urchin in full charge.

"My blessed baby!" gasped the woman as she sprang forward.

"Yes'm," replied the boy. "Purty cute young'un, he is. Me'n him's bin gittin' along together like two brothers."

"Why, bless his heart, he's wide awake."

"Yes'm—been awake for ten minute. When he woke up he snivelled a leetle, but I yelled at him and he shet up. I purtended I was goin' to put a head on him, but of course I wouldn't punch a kid like him."

"Dear me, but how absent-minded I was!" exclaimed the woman.

"Yes you was," replied the boy, "but wimmin is most all that way. Say: this kid is goin' to be purty sassy when he grows up."

"Why, what do you mean?

"He stuck up his nose at me, and when I put my fist down and told him to smell of it and go to the hospital for three months he jist said: "Humph!" and stuck it up higher 'n ever Yes, he's goin' to make a fighter, he is."

"Well, you can run along," said the woman as she handed him a nickel.

"Thankey' ma'am. I see a kid in a keeridge on the next block below, and I'll go down and make up faces and square off at him and see if he's got any sand. Your kid is O. K.—bound to lick Corbett if nothin' don't stop him from growin' upwards.

Diamonds in the United States.

Diamonds occur in the United in two regions. One extending along the southern base of the Allegheny mountains from Virginia to Georgia; the other on the western side of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade ranges in Northern California and Southern Oregon. The mineralogical condition in these two remote regions are very similar, and the discoveries made in them are very much alike. The formation in the diamond bearing localities of the United States are very like those of Brazil and India, and very unlike those of South Africa, where the great diamond fields of the world lie.

Spoke at Last.

The cruel injustice wounded her to the quick, but she repressed the words of protest that rose to her lips. She was patient. Suddenly, however, the storm that had been gathering in her heart broke in an uncontrollable tempest. She shrieked aloud. "Play ball!" she yelled. She had paid fifty cents admission, and, while she was disposed to endure much in silence, when the centerfielder walked in to make a kick to the umpire she rebelled.

THE MEXICAN RODEO.

ANNUAL ROUND-UP IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Old Spanish Customs Are Rigidly Adhered to by the Descendants of First Settlers—Indian and Mexican Vaqueros in Charge of the Branding.

An old-time Mexican rodeo, or round-up, of cattle is still to be seen in the distinctively Mexican settlements of Southern California, but, of course, on not so grand a scale as in the primitive days when the ranches were much more extensive than they are now. In those days Mexican and Indian vaqueros were employed in great numbers and whose daily occupation was merely to ride around over the vast estates and graze the cattle, or rather to keep track of them so that they may not stray upon another rancher's land. But, as a rancher usually had from one to seven leagues of land, his cattle had sufficient stamping ground.

The rodeo is held in the spring of the year for the purpose of branding and claiming the calves of the season, selecting beef cattle for the market and that each neighboring rancher may select his own and drive him home. The San Juan Capistrano valley is the most distinctively Mexican settlement in Southern California.

The rodeo usually lasts a week, sometimes much longer. It begins at a stated ranch and is continued throughout that cattle district until each ranch has had its rodeo—the word properly meaning "the place where cattle are gathered." It is sometimes on the style of a progressive euchre party in its nomadic rounds. For example, the "Jueces del Campo" decides that the rodeo shall begin at the ranch of Senor Avila, and then he designates each succeeding ranch in the district, ending with that of Senor Arrillaga, where the final fandango takes place. Each ranch has a corral, located on a plain, from 100 to 200 feet square, formed by driving timbers in the earth, standing closely together, leaving them six or eight feet in height, just beyond the jumping powers of the cattle. In less wooded sections, like the San Juan valley, the corral is formed by stones, covered by cactus brush; some are adobe walls, surmounted with a fence of cattle heads, retaining the horns set upright, one upon another, forming a veritable bulwark. The vaqueros, who have been out herding the cattle, drive them to the corral, where they enter a gate at one corner, and when all have passed in the gate is closed, leaving only a small opening for one to pass out at a time. In order to induce the cattle to enter one of them has been lassoed and tied to a stake in the center of the corral, as if he were to be offered up as a sacrifice. In a short time he begins to paw and bellow, and the herd rush in to see what is the matter.

When grown cattle are to be branded, they must first be lassoed, says the Philadelphia Times. They are stampeded; the herdsmen start in full chase, yelling as if chasing Indians. One of them throws the lasso over the horns, others at the feet, and at a signal cry each stops his horse short, bracing himself backward, and in a moment the loop becomes taut and the animal is ensnared. If either misses his aim he is the subject of ridicule. The horses are specially trained to stand firm on their hindmost feet, when the rider presses the flank with his legs, which he does at the moment of throwing the loop. This firm stand of the horse brings the bovine up with a short turn and sometimes throws him head over heels, or heels over head. The horses' flanks are protected from the cattle by leathern armor. The herdsmen have thick wooden stirrups and leathern armor for the legs. The lasso is made firm to a ring in the saddle girth and after having thrown it the rider has only to keep his seat and hold on to the pommel of the side, which is made very high for that purpose—the horse does the rest.

After each vaquero has "weeded" out his cattle they are driven to that particular ranch, and on the morrow the same ceremony is gone through with at the next ranch, and so on throughout the cattle circuit.

At the conclusion of each day's rodeo and slaughter there is a "big feed." A long table runs the entire length of the adobe building, containing the hottest of Mexican dishes (Chili peppers being the predominating flavor) and a variety of native wines, distilled on the premises and mellowed by age—pure as the red grape juice can make it. It is noticeable to Americanos that condiments are not to be found on Mexican tables. The dishes are seasoned by the culinary artist, and it is considered a reflection upon his ability to add seasoning to a dish. But these dishes are invariably hot enough for the Americanos.

These rodeos are usually feasts—everyone in the neighborhood attending and many of them make the circuit. The senor of the ranch entertains all who come, and of course without charge. There are twenty or thirty herdsmen, each with three or four horses, and the proprietor of each ranch in the district, with his sons and perhaps their friends. This, in addition to the populace of the neighborhood, makes a good-sized crowd. But there is plenty for all and it is the pride of the Mexican hidalgo to count his guests by the hundred.

In the late afternoon the young senors and senoritas begin to flock in. There is to be a fandango—a free-for-all dance. They have an opportunity to dance their national cachuca and La Jota to the sweet tones of the violin, guitar and harp And thus ends the day's round-up.

FLESH-REDUCING

Has Become a Craze With the Corpulent in England.

The hygienic craze has permeated society to quite an incredible extent. It has become almost a point of honor with us all to be slim, says the London World. I have thought the whole matter out, and, having watched the various patients of the two great doctors who have made corpulence their special study, I have come to the conclusion that you must in this case, as in all others, make your choice between two evils. It is a question now of face or figure. That the very stoutest people can decrease their size by following strict dietetic rules cannot be doubted, since a duke has lost 17 inches of girth and a lady lost two or three stones in weight in two or three months, but I am sure of one thing.

I am sure it ages the patient, and I would recommend any lady of middle age and fair proportions to leave the cure alone. It is only young people just beginning to grow stout who really benefit by it. If the stretched skin is no longer filled out it must fall into a wrinkle, and these are distressingly ugly. Shall I give you the diet, which nearly everybody has tried, or is trying now, and which both the great doctors recommend, with variations? Here it is, copied from a diet card:

"11—Sip a tumbler of hot water.

"1:30—Ten ounces of lean meat or fowl or game, six ounces of stewed fruit.

"4:30—Tea as at breakfast, and one or two special biscuits.

"8 p. m.—Four ounces boiled fish, four to six ounces lean meat, six ounces stewed fruit."

And you may have brandy or whisky and soda when you go to bed. At lunch or dinner you may have any vegetables that grow above ground—not roots; and you may drink brandy or whisky or dry Moselle, as advised. One doctor recommends particular Moselle; one doctor recommends a particular biscuit; and if one doctor is more fashionable because he numbers royalties among his patrons the other charges four instead of twenty-five guineas. Both allow you to drink at meal times, which is something of a concession. I have heard many people say that not to drink at meal times is in itself a cure for stoutness. Several people, among them a very pretty, smart woman (she is a well-known countess), rave about the lady doctor in Grosvenor street, and declare that their faces as well as their figures have been improved by a system of electrical massage. Everybody recommends exercise, and it is wonderful to see how many people do walk nowadays.

ROYAL Always Leads.

The Highest Award
has always been given
Royal Baking Powder
Wherever Exhibited.

The official examination made under the direction of the Chemical Division of the U. S. Agricultural Department shows that of the baking powders tested the ROYAL is the purest, most perfectly compounded and

20 per cent. higher in leavening strength than any competitor exhibited at the World's Columbian Fair.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

IMMORTAL LOVE.

Count August Blumarck was a colonel in an Austrian regiment for some years stationed in Venice. He was young and full of fire and ardor.

He had not long joined his regiment when he became acquainted with Guiammetta, a beautiful young Venetian lady, belonging to a family of extremely anti-Austrian tendencies and of high rank.

Their country they believed to be most brutally oppressed and hated the invaders, not only as a nation but as individuals, having no willingness to treat with respect or to endure the acquaintance of any of those even most remotely allied to them.

How, then, were they to receive, as a suitor for the hand of one of the fairest daughters of their ancient race, a member of an invading regiment not only, but an officer of high rank, a nobleman of family ancient as their own! and one offensively Austrian in habit and personal traits.

When the count laid his suit before the father of his idol he has so carried away by his passion that he hesitated not to leave the service of his own country, to abandon it as a habitation, and to remain permanently in Venice, only as an Austrian in name.

But even this did not satisfy the father. He was angered even by his Count August's suit and his answer was, that even if he were willing to adhere firmly to Venice and to fight her battles against his own nation, he could never make himself anything but an Austrian. It was impossible for him to accept the suit or to acknowledge him as a son-in-law. He must, therefore, give him a firm, though he was willing it should be a civil dismissal.

The poor youth was overwhelmed at this result, though it really was no more than he had expected. He deemed all hope forever dead; but he had no conception of the strength and firmness of woman's love. Guiammetta, despite the influence of education, did not conceive the lover worthy of rejection merely because he was an Austrian. Guiammetta should once more attend the chapel where she was wont to offer her prayers, but this time with a purpose more important than hearing the mass.

She accordingly sallied forth as usual to prayers, and with the avowed purpose of hearing mass. Her lover was to meet her, and the marriage service was to be performed. Her father, supposing his dismissal final, and, not dreaming that his daughter or her lover, Austrian as he was, would dare to disobey, made no objection, and Guiammetta set out.

Her plan, however met with unexpected obstacles to its fulfillment. On her way she encountered a party of friends whom she had not met for a long time.

They insisted on her accompanying them; and, since she was unable to offer any better excuse than her intention of going to mass, she was quite forced to accept their invitation.

And while she was going with them, bell, book, and priest waited. The lover grew impatient. He had no idea of the cause of her delay, which each moment grew insupportable. Fear intimated one cause after another, each of which was more agonizing than the last and he grew continually less able to bear the intense excitement under which he was laboring.

Finally his anxiety triumphed over all bounds. He wildly rushed away to the home of the father, and, demanding to see him, threatened him with the wrath of the Austrian government if he did not instantly produce his daughter. His impetuosity revealed the plot, or, at least, gave rise to suspicions that became certainties. The father drove him from the door as if he were a dangerous madman, and without vouchsafing him any information in regard to Guiammetta.

The next morning while the disconsolate lover was roaming like a real madman about the city street, unable to hear anything about Guiammetta, or to find her in any of the places she had frequented, a gondola inclosed her in its funereal form and conveyed her to the main shore whence a close carriage, receiving her and her attendants, soon deposited them at the gates of a convent at a few miles distant. Here she was kept in profound secrecy until she had passed through her novitiate and became a nun.

And then, after this ordeal had passed and all seemed lost, the Count von Blumarck in some way discovered where she was, and aided by a servant of the hapless Guiammetta, he got speech of her, and claiming her as his betrothed wife, gained her consent to flee with him to Greece, where they could be married without hindrance.

All the necessary arrangements were made by the aid of the servant, and made with such secrecy that no suspicion was aroused. The night appointed for flight came, the signal had been given, and the lover waited beneath the window. Guiammetta raised the sash, upon the sill, and prepared to drop into the hands of the count, who stood beneath. Just then the night watchman, passing, saw that something was wrong.

He fired, and just as Guiammetta dropped from the window. The shot killed her instantly; the last breath of her sad heart was exhaled upon the breast of her lover. He, to, was wounded, and merciful result, so badly that he died before he could be brought to punishment, which for his crime would have been indeed a fearful one.

The lovers were not divided in death, which was more merciful to them than life had been, and held in it diviner promises of fruition.

The window at which this happened is barred and there grows over it a ghastly green moss, hideous to the sight and an emblem of decay. No flowers bloom nor shrubs grow beneath it—nothing but weeds and one tall mournful cypress.

Filly at the Lunch Counter.

"Well, I've seen many an old free lunch beat come in here and eat a week's meal at one swoop, but that beats anything I ever laid my eyes on!" E. B. Smith, who keeps a restaurant at Park and Fayette streets, uttered these words when Christian Rosenbrock's pretty yearling filly Brightly followed her owner into the saloon, made for the lunch counter and ate up all the lettuce, spring onions and radishes in sight. The filly didn't stop until she struck a plate of Limburger cheese sandwiches, where she drew the line at once. Mr. Rosenbrock had been driving through the city on his way to the Gentlemen's Driving Park, with the filly tied behind his wagon. She got loose, and the first intimation anybody had of the fact was when the trotter dashed through the lattice door and into the house for refreshments.—Baltimore Sun.

TREASURE SEEKERS IN MEXICO.

Excavators at Work Looking for $20,000,000 Buried by Bandits.

The discovery of a few scattering gold coins by a party of treasure seekers near Toluca, Mexico, has added new zest to the search for the millions in gold said to be buried on the Hacienda of Julpa, and for which several large parties are now excavating under military protection. The amount buried is said to be $20,000,000. That amount, according to local traditions, was concealed by bandits many years ago, being the products of many innumerable robberies. The treasure is believed to consist of gold and silver as well as jewels. The former possessor, says a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was Cristobal Nava, the leader of a band of 300 desperadoes, who was put to death in a horrible manner by his followers. They chained him by the neck and left him to starve in one of the caves where they were wont to rendezvous. Pedro Altamirano succeeded him by the unanimous vote of the bandits. This leader, at the outbreak of the war for national independence, induced his followers to abandon, at any rate for the time, their evil courses and fight for their country. The idea was hailed with patriotic enthusiasm and carried into effect. Before commencing their new enterprise they buried their treasures in the ground, intending to recover it upon the coming of peace. Most of them were killed in the battles which followed. The whereabouts of the treasure was communicated to members of their families, but was lost. It was not all put in one place, and search will be made for it at other points from this time on until the booty is finally secured. No more conflicts have occurred between the contesting searchers for the treasure, as the state troops are regularly quartered on the scene of activity.

The official reports show that no baking powder received an award over the Royal at the Chicago World's Fair.

The judge of awards on baking powder, Dr. H. W. Wiley, writes that the claim of another company to having received the highest award is false; that no such award was given to it.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at every fair, wherever exhibited in competition with others.

Some Historical Lies.

There was probably no such man as Romulus. The first historian who mentions him lived at a distance of time so great as to throw extreme discredit on the story as told by him.

Alexander the Great did not weep for other worlds to conquer. There is reason to suspect that his army met with a serious reverse in India, a fact that induced him to retrace his steps.

The crew of Le Vengeur, the famous French ship sunk by an English man-of-war, did not cry, "Vive la Republique?" They bawled for help, and the English boats were sent to their assistance.

The immense burning glasses with which Archimedes burned the ships of the besiegers of Syracuse at ten miles distance were never manufactured, and it is now known that they could not have existed.

Pitt did not use the expression: "The atrocious crime of being a young man." The words were used by Dr. Johnson, who was not present but wrote a report of the speech from an abstract given him of the hearer.

Vinegar will not split rock; so Hannibal could not thus have made his way through the Alps. Nor will it dissolve pearls; so that story of Cleopatra drinking pearls melted in vinegar must have been a fiction.

Worshipers are not crushed by hundreds under the wheels of the car of the Juggernaut. The car has not been taken out of the temple for many years and such deaths as formerly occurred were exceptional or accidental.—Philadelphia Press.

New Falstaffs.

When Sir John Falstaff, "Old Jack," is snubbed by his once boon companion Prince Hal, as "gray-haired iniquity," he vows in the play to "purge and live cleanly." This purging has at last been done for him by the modern rehabilitators of history. After his rehabilitation of King Henry VIII., who was himself a kind of Falstaff, and of Richard III., it is not surprising that that fat sack of lies and cowardice Sir John, should be transformed into a hero. Verdi, it appears is partly responsible for it, the Falstaff of his last opera having been so much better a knight than the old Eastcheap blowhard of Shakspeare, that the tailors who retailor the personages of history saw at once their chance to put Jack into a new suit. They identified the poet's figment with a real Sir John, who, they declare, was born at Caistercastle, Norfolk, in 1377, went to France as a squire, at 16, distinguished himself as a brave soldier and founded colleges. He ran away from Joan of Arc, at Orleans, however, and the shame of this one action, surviving all his other fame, caused Shakspeare to paint his immortal caricature. Unfortunately for the theory, we are afraid this Caistercastle Falstaff, is no other than our old friend, Sir John Fastolfe, who has before this been confused with Falstaff against Shakspeare's own testimony.

Ancient.

Gaily the troubadour played the guitar at the castle gate.

The lady fair leaned from her window and listened.

"I don't mind—"

She mused to herself when the music had ceased.

"—whether the marriage is stylish or not, but I'm dead afraid of these bicycles built for two."

Saying which she closed the blinds and returned to her apartment above the moat.

Information Wanted.

Traveler (from Podunk)—Is this here th' bureau of information?

Railroad Clerk—It is.

Traveler—Well, about six hours ago a feller took my watch and satchel around th' corner to git my name engraved on 'em, so they wouldn't git lost, an' I wanter know if the engravers of this ere town are all out on strike.—New York Weekly.

In public business men experiment with theories at which they would hoot in private affairs.

The wise man is not afraid of a hearty laugh.

BIG FEET A CHARM.

The Woman Possessing Them Is Generally Lovable.

A fallacy which has survived the demise of many a tradition less worthy of credence is that small extremeties signify high breeding. In the lower walks of life small feet are to be seen on many who have no pretentions to a pedigree, while among the caste of Vere de Vere, that stock joke of the funny man, a No. 6 shoe is by no means unknown. Small feet and hands are not hereditary.

They are the gift of nature, like a Cupid's bow mouth, golden hair, and dimples, but their possessor is usually as proud thereof as though she were their creator, while the luckless owner of big feet is just as painfully ashamed of her excess of pedal development.

Of the big souled girl however, it may often be written (with apologies for the pun) that she is—

One large of soul, of genius uncopfined,
Born to delight, instruct and mend mankind.

Conscious of what cannot accurately be defined as short-coming in this matter of beauty makes her anxious to please and to win affection by other means than a charm of person. She is usually a capital companion by reason of her sympathetic insight into your moods, unselfish, generous kindhearted and void of vanity. At the same time she is keenly sensitive and apt to take offence when no unkindness is intended. Envy and jealousy are her chief faults, and she is sometimes guilty of a little uncharitableness toward the pretty wearer of the No. 2 slipper, which bears about the same relation to her own ample foot-gear as a thimble to a three-decker.

Much may be done to obviate the ungainliness of big feet. It is a curious fact that the girl whose —feet beneath her petticoat

Like little mice steal in and out,
As if they feared the light, pays the most attention to the cut and fit of her boots and shoes, her more liberally endowed sister is conspicuously careless in this respect, and goes about in cheap, clumsy, ready-made boots, sometimes partly buttonless or, worn down at the heel. Though feet may not be beautiful, they need not necessarily be hideous. Well-made boots will cover a multitude of ugliness and if neat and properly fitting, will go far toward atoning for an extra inch or two. And though the average man is never insensible to the charm of a tiny foot, he is not repelled by the sight of a large one if it be smartly and appropriately shod.

Horrors to Come With the Next War.

Various experiments with the new rifles which have recently taken place in Germany have demonstrated in a very conclusive manner that another war would be practically one of annihilation. A well known French writer, in an article which he devotes to the subject, to-day says that the battlefield would at the termination of the engagement be covered with two or three hundred thousand corpses all crushed and broken, and would be nothing but a vast charnel-house. No one would be left to bury the dead, and pestilence would in its turn sweep away the country people. Pointing the moral, he adds that the man—emperor, king or president of a republic—who, under these conditions, would expose the human race to such a fate would be the greatest criminal that the world had ever seen. It is tolerably plain that the horrors and the butchery which a war would entail are becoming more and more recognized, and that the terrible vista thus opened out is exercising a sobering effect on those who were formerly wont to discuss various eventualities with a light heart:—London Telegraph.

The Horrors

Of indigestion, when it takes a long lease of the stomach, are unsurpassed by any described by the most sensational writer of ghost stories. Unlike this latter kind, they are real and not imaginary. Heartburn, wind on the stomach, heart palpitation, extreme nervousness are only a few of them. Dispossess this unwelcome tenant with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which banishes also malaria, constipation and biliousness.

There is no need of telling the average taxpayer that the average senator smokes expensive cigars.

Never Buy Whiskey for Medicinal purposes unless you know the bottlers under celebrated names are spurious, cheap articles, whose bottlers cannot afford to have their names on the labels.

Uncle Sam's Morgan Whiskey is bottled by the oldest and largest firm in the line in the Northwest and the favor with which it has been received is the best proof of its superior quality. Ask your druggist or retail dealer for it.

It is to be hoped that you are not the fellow that would rather give a rich man a dollar than lend a poor one a dime.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Philosophy smiles when told that Prof. Tyndall was the first man to ever attempt to produce an artificial rainbow.

MOTHERS

and those soon to become mothers, should know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its tortures, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

Mrs. Dora A. Guthrie, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, or at least it proved so with me. I never suffered as little with any of my children as I did with my last, and she is the healthiest we've got. Have induced several to try 'Favorite Prescription,' and it has proved good for them."

FREE!

THIS KNIFE! Fine Steel. Keen as a razor. Good, strong handle. Mailed free in exchange for 25 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee Wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine Premiums. WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, O.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

W. N. U. No. 24—1894.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Acrobatic.

The beetle encountered the worm on the gravel walk in the dewy morn.

"What's this," asked the former, "about you having turned?" Is it true?"

The worm laughed lightly.

"True?" he repeated. "Well I should hasten to cackle. Just watch me do the double back somersault."

The beetle perceived at a glance that the rumor which had come to his ears were undoubtedly founded upon facts.

Compass Plant of the Western Plains.

Among the many wonders of the Western plains nothing strikes the traveler of a scientific turn of mind with more surprise than the "compass plant." The leaves of this singular plant are magnetic, and its petals point constantly to the north. These wonderful prairie guides have on numerous occasions proved to be of inestimable benefit to travelers who had strayed away from their camp and companions and found themselves lost on the plains.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Servants are not the only ones that see life through a keyhole.

It is only the rich who can afford the luxury of cheap dollars.

Shiloh's Cure
Is sold on a guarantee. It cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. 25cts., 50cts., & $1.00.

It takes something besides creed to make a Christian.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The only sure way of saving $100 is to save 100 cents.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

There seems to be more old doctors than aged patients.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators.
Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

EARHUFF
ORGANS

The Only Absolutely House and Dust Proof Organ On the Market.

Artistic designs, good workmanship, best Hand rubbed finish. Every Organ Guaranteed. If not handled by your dealer write to factory for prices. Address,
J. G. EARHUFF, ORGAN CO.
NORTH ST. PAUL. MINN.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION.

BINDING TWINE.

We have arranged for 15,000 tons or 150 carloads of Binding Twine. Don't fail to write us for prices. Our No. 147, a 575-page Catalogue Now Out. Sent, express paid, on receipt of 15 cents. Reduced Prices. Also, send names and postoffice address of 17 farmers and receive free our Grocery Price List every 2 weeks.
T. M. ROBERTS' Supply House, Minneapolis.

THE St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1894. NUMBER 46

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

A bill fixing the salaries of railway postal clerks is passed by the senate.

Representatives of commercial bodies meet in Washington and endorse the proposed railroad pooling bill.

Canada has apologized for drunken soldiers tearing down the stars and stripes at St. Thomas, and will punish them.

The clerk of the committee on naval affairs, of which Senator McPherson is chairman, says the trouble with which the senator is suffering is an enlargement of the vein about the heart. The senator is at his home in Jersey City.

The report of the overturning of a boat belonging to the coast survey steamer Patterson at Tongas Narrow, Alaska, resulting in the drowning of three men, is discredited at Washington. The coast survey authorities are quite hopeful that all members of its parties are safe.

People in Print.

Mrs. Hannah Ward, aged 81, and Mrs. Eliza Ross, aged 87, died at East Tawas, Mich.

Senator McPherson is suffering from an enlargement of the veins leading to the heart.

Cyrus W. Field, recently consul to Brunswick, Germany, died in New York of consumption.

W. W. Story, aged seventy-five, is at Rome, writing a series of magazine articles.

Gen. George S. Greene, who graduated seventy-one years ago, is the oldest West Pointer.

William K. Vanderbilt, Levi P. Morton and Theodore A. Havemeyer all have chicken farms.

Lewis J. Craver, superintendent of public schools at Columbus, Neb., died of paralysis while visiting at Tiffin, Ohio.

Robert C. Winthrop of Boston, aged eighty-six years, is the oldest living ex-speaker of the national house of representatives.

Samuel Hutchison of Prescott, Wash., who is claimed to be the tallest man on the Pacific coast, stands 7 feet 2 1-2 inches in height.

Mrs. Lois Tritton, who was the last slave sold at auction in New Haven, Conn. (in 1825), is dead at the age of 95.

Rev. Edwin P. Walters, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church at Lafayette, Ind., is dead, after a brief illness.

Prof. Bell firmly believes that it will be possible some day to see from New York to Washington as easily as one can convey the sound of the voice that distance.

Lady Burton possesses a necklace of human bones, given by the king of Dahomey to Sir Richard Burton when he made her brigadier general of his corps of Amazons.

Unfortunate Events.

A wheat elevator at Greenville, Ill., burned. Loss $18,000.

Carl Stamapt, a boy, was killed at Defiance, Ohio, by falling into a vat of boiling water.

Ex-state representative Bond of Pankle, La., was killed by a negro on Bayou des Galizes.

One man was killed and two others injured in a train collision at Woodward, Alabama.

The palatial Cincinnati & Pomeroy packet Sunshine struck an obstruction in the Kanawha river and sank.

Will Christman was struck by a freight train and badly injured near Freeport, Ill.

The Ellis & Lessing nail mill at Pottstown, Pa., burned. Loss, $100,000.

James Sloutervik of Mason City, Ia., was instantly killed by being thrown from a wagon.

J. Wilkinson, a conductor on the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern, was killed at Joliet by the explosion of an oil tank.

Forest fires destroyed a great deal of property in the upper peninsula of Michigan.

Philip De Good aged 70 dropped dead while climbing a fence on his farm at Delaware, Ohio. The cause is unknown.

At Newton, Mass., Fire Chief Bixby, responding to a fire alarm, was thrown from his wagon and killed. His driver was fatally injured.

Edward Verbeke was found dead beside the track of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific at Moline, Ill. He had evidently been killed by a train.

The Walnut river in Kansas is out of its banks and enormous damage has been done to crops, fences, bridges and railway tracks. Many buildings are in danger of being swept away.

At Reading, Pa., William Weber, aged twenty-six shot and killed Justice Clemmer, his father-in-law, an old man of sixty-one to-night in a quarrel arising out of Weber's domestic affairs.

The Keystone Implement Company's works and the Buford & George Manufacturing Company's plant at Kansas City, Mo., have been destroyed by fire. The companies manufactured and dealt in farming implements. The total loss is $310,000; insurance, $160,000.

Sins and Sinners.

The body of Christian Miller was found in the river at Defiance, Ohio. He had drowned himself.

Five farm hands at Dixon, Ill., indulged in a fight, and two of them will die as a result.

Two masked men held up officials of the Missouri Pacific at Fort Gibson, Ind. T., and looted the office.

Martin Graham committed suicide at Avilla, Ill., by shooting himself. He was despondent because of ill-health.

Louis Matheny, accused of murdering Policeman Cashin at Oakland, Cal., was acquitted.

George Hankins was shot and killed by a man named Mullinix at Marion, Ky.

Emmet Seymour was sentenced for life at Anamosa, Iowa, for killing his father-in-law, George Fifield.

Dr. W. S. Saunders has been arrested at Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of forgery.

For shooting a man who refused to marry her daughter, Mrs. Jane Shattuck of San Francisco, Cal., was sentenced for life.

A fight occurred at Claremoore, Ind. T., between four desperadoes and several citizens. One desperado was wounded.

Mrs. George Zimmerman committed suicide at Decatur, Ill., by taking poison. She was married six weeks ago and her husband is a rich farmer.

E. C. Beeman formerly a conductor on the Monon, was killed and thrown from a train near La Fayette, Ind., by unknown parties.

Adam Yeager was killed by lightning at Lawrence Kansas. He stepped under a tree and was killed by the shock when the lightning struck the tree.

Andy Sharpe of Roseville, Barron county, Ky., has fled the country, charged with poisoning his wife. They had only been married four months.

Michael Reddington committed suicide at Omaha, Neb., by shooting himself. He owned $20,000 worth of property he could not rent or sell and became despondent.

Lee and Ernest Crawford, aged 14 and 12 years respectively, were arrested at Marengo, Ill., charged with an attempt to wreck an Illinois Central passenger train.

Walter G. Young, ticket and passenger agent of the Santa Fe at St. Joseph, Mo., committed suicide by taking poison. His accounts are straight and the cause is not known.

City Marshal Clawson of Lexington, Ill., has been arrested, charged with murderous assault upon Henry Paul, whom he knocked down and kicked, causing internal injuries that may prove fatal.

Mrs. Dalton, widow of Bill Dalton, the notorious outlaw, has admitted that her husband was the leader of the Longview bank robbery. The other members of the gang, she says, were Tom Littleton, Jim Wallace and Charles White, alias Jim Jones. Mrs. Dalton has been arrested for receiving stolen property.

From Foreign Shores.

The British house of lords passed a bill which is declared to be a step toward protection.

The American yachts Visitor and Leroy Brooks, seized for violating Canadian fishing laws, have been released on bond.

A dispatch from Rio Grande Do Sul, Brazil, states that government troops have defeated the insurgents near Belotas.

A dispatch from Vienna says that an explosion occurred in a dynamite factory at Steinbruch, near Buda-Pesth, killing several persons and injuring a large number of others.

The Scotch Mine Owners' association is officially warned that 70,000 miners will strike June 24 if the association carried its intention of reducing wages by one shilling a day.

Ex. Premier Stambuloff, paying a farewell visit to Prince Ferdinand, was hooted by the populace as he drove to and from the palace. The police prevented the people from taking more violent measures.

An American named Eugene Corbett was remanded at the Guildhall, charged with forging an order on the Bank of Scotland for a check book. The prisoner maintained that he had been duped, and that he believed the signature to be genuine.

The publishers of P. J. Tynan's book, "The Irish National Invincibles and Their Times," have informed the St. James Gazette, contrary to the statement of that newspaper Tynan is very much alive, and the publishers are prepared to prove this fact.

A dispatch from Assumption, Paraguay, says: Dr. Juan G. Gonzales has been expelled, and has gone to Buenos Ayres. Senor Maringo has formed a cabinet hostile to Decoudi's candidacy for the presidency. It is probable that Senor Egungaiza will be elected president.

Miscellaneous Items.

Mrs. Lease will be nominated for congress in Kansas.

Several persons were bitten by a mad dog at Dallas, Tex.

Troops sent to Pekin, Ill., after the recent riot, have been recalled.

The American Railway union and the Knights of Labor decide to affiliate.

The corner stone of the memorial building at Newark, Ohio, has been laid and dedicated.

A receiver is asked at Indianapolis for the Guaranty Life and Accident association.

Receivers of the Northern Pacific will ask permission of the court to borrow $1,000,000 to meet interest coupons.

Andrew Carnegie and Henry Phipps, Jr., will give to Pittsburg a telescope containing the largest lens in the world.

It is believed a result of the big labor convention in St. Louis will be a general union of all the orders.

Convinced that they cannot coerce Western lines, the Eastern railroads will abolish through rates.

Officers were elected by the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum, in session at Detroit. C. W. Hazzard of Monongahela, Pa., was chosen regent.

On account of the coal famine the Gallen mills at Clyde, N. Y., will shut down. The Cato plow works have been closed for lack of coal.

The Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern shops shut down at Paducah, Ky., throwing over 300 men out of work. Fourteen trains have been taken off the road. Scarcity of coal and falling off of business are the cause.

Articles of incorporation of the Harlan, Sioux City & Northern road have been filed in Shelby county, Iowa. The company proposes to build a road from Harlan north to connect with the road running from Sioux City to Chicago.

Jo Happy Ling of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, registered under the act of May, 1892, but failed to register under the act of December, 1893. Judge Shira at Dubuque decided the first registration was sufficient.

Mrs. Jerry Brown of Broadland, Ill., gave birth to three children, two girls and a boy. The girls weighed eight pounds each, while the boy tipped the beam at seven pounds. All are alive and doing well.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, June 12.—The brakes were taken off in the senate to-day and more progress was made with the tariff bill than during any previous three weeks of the consideration of the measure. Three schedules—spirits and wines, cotton and flax, jute and hemp manufactures, from paragraph 237 to 277 inclusive, comprising nineteen pages of the bill, were disposed of. The entire cotton schedule, ten pages of the bill, was finished in thirty minutes. The Republicans made no opposition to the amendments proposed to this schedule, maintaining that the rates, though reduced, were so arranged as to make the cotton schedule the most "scientific" ever prepared. Bags made of burlap for grain and cotton bagging were placed on the free list. The collar and cuff paragraph, providing for a duty of 30 cents per dozen pieces and 30 per cent advalorem, white shirts and other articles composed wholly or in part of linen, carry a duty of 50 per cent, provoked considerable discussion and more or less amusement. To-morrow the woolen schedule will be taken up. Mr. Quay gave notice just before adjournment that he would, when this schedule was reached to-morrow, resume the speech he was delivering four weeks ago.

There was an air of languid listlessness apparent in the house to-day, and it was evident that the members were not in a working humor. While several bills were considered no action was reached on any of them on account of a lack of quorum.

Washington, June 13.—The senate today passed three Northwestern bills. Senator Washburn secured action by unanimous consent on the bill for the relief of E. Douglass, late Indian agent at White Earth. The bill gives Douglass something like $600. Senator Davis secured the passage of a bill to correct the military record of Elisha Bassett. Senator Hansbrough got action on his bill changing the time for the terms of the United States courts in North Dakota. The court will meet at Bismarck on the First Tuesday in March, at Fargo on the third Tuesday in May, at Grand Forks on the second Tuesday in November, at Devils Lake on the first Tuesday in July. Both district and circuit courts will meet at those times, but only one jury will be called. The fees of the court officers are fixed at the rates now paid in Oregon.

The absolute blockade of the tariff bill in the senate to-day was in marked contrast with the wonderful progress made yesterday. Not a cog was turned. The entire eight hours were devoted to set speeches, preliminary to the consideration of the wool schedule.

Two hours were consumed to-day in the house over a bill reported by Mr. Outhwaite setting aside $100,000 from the fund belonging to the estates of deceased colored soldiers of the civil war for the purpose of erecting in the District of Columbia a national home for aged and infirm colored people. The bill was passed. The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, but the house adjourned without completing its consideration.

Washington, June 14.—In the senate speeches were made by Senators Sherman, Hansbrough, Mitchell, Stewart, Shoup and Dubois against the wool schedule. All declared that free wool would mean the ruination of the sheep industry in America. Mr Harris, in charge of the tariff bill, called the attention to the slow progress being made with the bill, two days having already been consumed in general debate on the wool schedule. He then made a request for unanimous consent that the wool schedule be proceeded with under the five-minute rule to-morrow after Mr. Aldrich, who desired to speak, had finished. The request developed the fact that Mr. Lodge, Mr. Chandler, Mr. Platt, Mr. Teller and others desired to address the senate on the general subject of the schedule, and Mr. Harris, with reluctance, said that he was compelled to respect the requests of these senators, and would, therefore, postpone his request to proceed under the five-minute rule until to-morrow.

The Indian appropriation bill was taken up in the house. Delegate Flynn of Oklahoma obtained the adoption of an amendment waiving the restrictions to the sale of lands owned in severalty by Indians over twenty-one years old, so far as applies to the citizen band of Pottawattomies, except when such Indians are residents of Oklahoma. An amendment was offered by Mr. Holman increasing the appropriation for support and civilization of the Apaches, Kiowas, Comanches, Wichitas and affiliated tribes on reservations from $90,000 to $100,000. Adopted.

Washington, June 15.—An amendment to the Indian bill by Mr. Pickler appropriating $5,000 for artesian wells at Pine Ridge, Rosebud and Standing Rock agencies was agreed to. The old sectarian question in connection with Indian schools was raised by Mr. Gear, who offered an amendment providing: "It is hereby declared that it is the purpose of this act that no money herein appropriated shall be paid for education in sectarian schools, and the secretary of the interior is hereby authorized and required to make all needful rules and regulations to prevent the use of said funds in sectarian schools." A point of order was made against this amendment by Mr. Tracey on the ground that it changed existing law and the chair sustained the point.

The senate discussed the wool schedule all day. Mr. Harris, in charge of the bill, said that unless a vote is taken to-morrow night sessions will begin.

Washington, June 16.—The first vote on the wool schedule was taken upon Mr. Teller's motion to restore the McKinley rates on wool. Lost—29 to 37, a party vote, Stewart voting yea and Peffer and the other Populists nay. Senator Power offered an amendment changing the McKinley rate of 11 cents to 7 cents and the McKinley rate of 12 cents to 8 cents. There were no changes from the previous vote, the amendment being defeated—29 to 37. Mr. Peffer voted with the Democrats. On Mr. Peffer's amendment as modified by himself the vote resulted, yeas 33, nays 35. Mr. Hill refrained from voting, and Messrs. Allen of Nebraska, Peffer, Kyle and Stewart voted aye. An amendment was then sent to the clerk's desk and read, increasing from 15 per cent, as it now is in the bill, to 30 per cent the duty on wool in the form of stubbing waste, mungo, shoddy, noils or other waste product. The vice president announced that it was offered by Mr. Sherman. Lost—29 to 34. Mr. Peffer then offered an amendment to place all articles of manufactures composed wholly or in part of wool, hair of the goat, camel or alpaca on the free list. This amendment has not yet been voted upon.

The Indian appropriation bill was again considered in the house. The section of the bill providing for the sale of certain state bonds credited to the Indian trust fund was struck out on a point of order after a sharp debate.

Washington, June 18.—The fight over the woolen schedule has ended, and that schedule, as well as the following schedule (silk and silk goods) has been disposed of. The Republicans had been fighting for certain modifications of the woolen schedule, and were partially successful. They succeeded in having the rates on woolen and worsted yarns valued at over 40 cents per pound increased from 35 to 40 per cent ad valorem, and the dividing line on women's and children's dress goods decreased from $1 to 50 cents, a duty of 40 per cent being imposed on goods valued at less than 50 cents per pound, and 50 per cent where of greater value. This latter modification is the one, it is understood, that Mr. Quay was fighting for. As soon as it was decided Mr. Quay's long speech suddenly terminated.

Senator Harris says that the tariff bill will pass the senate by next Saturday. When Senator Aldrich, the leader of the opposition to the bill, was asked what he thought of Mr. Harris' prediction, expressed the opinion that should it not be entirely realized, it would come near it. "I think," he said, "that by next Saturday night we shall be on the fag end of the bill." Both declined to state whether there had been any negotiations for an agreement as to the time for the final vote between the leaders on the respective sides of the chamber. It is known, however, that the situation has been canvassed more or less in the numerous conferences which have taken place between Senators Cockrell, Harris and Jones on the Democratic side and Senators Aldrich and Allison on the Republican.

The house was busy with District of Columbia business.

Republican League.

Chicago, June 18.—Great preparations are making for the national Republican league convention which meets at Denver the 26th inst. Ex-President Harrison, Gov. McKinley and ex-Speaker Reed have been invited, and the delegates from their respective states are bringing every pressure to bear upon them to accompany their special trains. Senators Carson, Lodge and Jones will probably attend. Among the prominent speakers who have accepted invitations are Gen. Alger, Gen. D. H. Hastings, Whitelaw Reid, John C. Spooner, John M. Thurston, A. B. Cummings and Frank J. Cannon. Special trains will be run from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Nashville, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha and Des Moines.

Didn't Break Up the Meeting.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 18.—M. Grigsby returned last evening from Yankton, where it was said he broke up an old soldiers' encampment with one of his Populist speeches. He said he was amazed when he saw the report that he had broken up the encampment. He says there is not a syllable of truth in the statement. He states that he was to speak on Thursday, the last day of the encampment, but owing to the non-arrival of other speakers, he consented to speak Wednesday evening. Being the last speaker there the soldiers had nothing to do but go home. He was engaged to speak at the next encampment to be held in Scotland by the same association before he left Yankton.

Sentences at Glenwood.

Glenwood, Minn., June 18.—The district court has adjourned. The grand jury found indictments against A. H. Hildebrand, T. Callahan and J. Manning, saloonkeepers, for selling liquor to minors. Their cases will be tried at the next term. Judge Brown sentenced the following to the state prison: Martin Iverson, three and one-half years, grand larceny; Lewis Suckdorff, two and one-half years, grand larceny; Erick Swenson, one and one-half years, burglary; Carl Quist, two years, assault; Nels Olsen, two and one-half years, grand larceny; Anton Anderson and John Quist, one year, criminal knowledge of Amanda Monson, who is under sixteen years of age.

The Vigilant on the Other Side

Glasgow, June 18.—The Vigilant let go her anchor in Gareck bay at 3:45 yesterday afternoon. Capt. caLnder Jeffrey, commander of the yacht, reported that he had a fine passage and good weather throughout. The average distance covered per day was 204 1-2 miles.

A Poisoned Well.

Portland, Ind., June 18.—A rumor has reached here that there has been a wholesale attempt at poisoning at Farmland, and that Lena Healy, a school teacher, and twenty-six pupils are affected. Some one is supposed to have put poison in the well.

Made His Escape.

Buenos Ayres, June 18.—Don Juan Gonzales, who, by the recent coup d'etat in Paraguay, was driven from the presidency and who was afterward expelled from the country, has arrived here. He says he considers that the present situation in Paraguay is untenable.

He Was Too Particular.

Appleton, Wis., June 18.—J. G. Beneteau, twenty years old, committed suicide in the county jail last night by shooting. He had been arrested for threatening the life of Nettie Feldhoven, a pretty laundress, who refused to marry him.

Complicated in Peru.

Lima, Peru, June 18.—The political situation here is badly complicated, and is causing much anxiety. Those who are closely watching the course of events fear there will be a revolutionary outbreak before long.

Captured by Danes.

Brussels, June 18.—A newspaper of this city announces that the Danish soldiers have captured Raschid, ex-governor of Stanley Falls, and Rumaliza, the Arab chief who fled after the recent defeat of the Arabs.

PLOT OF ANARCHISTS.

TO BLOW UP SEVERAL GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

The Police Are Informed of the Plans of a Gang of Anarchists in Coxey's Camp to Cause a Big Explosion.

Washington, June 18.—A newspaper here will publish to-morrow an exposure of a plot which had for its object the destruction of the capitol and perhaps other government buildings which have been slowly developing for several weeks. The secret service and police authorities, however, have been kept informed of the movements of the plotters, and would have been able to thwart them had their machinations approached actual violence. Only once, says the newspaper, about three weeks ago, when the channel of information was unexpectedly interrupted, were the federal and district authorities really alarmed. They did not know at what moment an attempt might be made to explode bombs in the capitol, the treasury building, the White House and war and navy buildings. But as the days passed and nothing was done the authorities, who had redoubled their vigilance, restored the line of communication with the nest of anarchists, and were able again to shadow every conspirator and to keep fully informed of anarchistic movements both here and elsewhere. According to the story the plot was formed at the Coxey camp while marching to the capitol, and reports of its existance came from various points—Omaha, Chicago and Pittsburg, among them. The prime mover in the anarchistic plot—that is the Washington end of it—was Honore Jackson. He came from Chicago and is still in the city. In Chicago he had been a disturber for years. At the time of the Haymarket riot he narrowly escaped being arrested as a principal conspirator and was shadowed by the detectives for a long time after that most memorable affair. Jackson is a half-breed of unknown tribal origin. He was one of Louis Riel's lieutenants in the Canadian rebellion some years ago. The man has done some newspaper work, and has frequently passed himself off as a reporter for a Chicago paper. The informant in the case has kept in touch with the conspirators and given the names of those engaged in the plot, together with the other facts, to the police.

W. W. PHELPS DEAD.

The Statesman and Diplomate Passes Away.

Englewood, N. J., June 18.—William Walter Phelps died yesterday morning at 1:50. He was born in New York city on Aug. 24, 1839. He graduated from Yale in 1860 and from Columbia law school in 1863. He soon became attorney for several railroads and other corporations. The death of his father in 1869 and his inheritance of a large estate compelled him to withdraw from active practice and to devote his time to the management of his property. Mr. Phelps in 1872 was elected to congress from the Fifth New Jersey district, where his home was situated. Mr. Phelps resigned, but was almost immediately re-elected to congress and served continually through the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth congresses. President Harrison appointed Mr. Phelps minister to Germany, a position which he filled with great dignity and to the satisfaction of his countrymen, irrespective of party. On his return from Germany Mr. Phelps was honored by the appointment of lay judge of the court of appeals, Gov. Werts appointing him.

STATESMAN'S SUICIDE.

Ex-Congressman Bayne, of Pennsylvania Shoots Himself.

Washington, June 18.—Ex-Representative Thomas M. Bayne of Pittsburg committed suicide at his home on Mississippi avenue, in the fashionable part of the city, by shooting himself through the heart. It is supposed that ill health and possibly financial reverses caused the deed. Mr. Bayne was one of the best known Republican politicians in Pennsylvania, and was on the ways and means committee in the last congress in which he served. Mr. Bayne resigned his seat in congress on account of ill health, and has since been out of active politics. He belonged to the branch of the party of which Senator Quay is the head. Deceased had been long suffering of consumption, accompanied by fits of depression. He committed the deed during the temporary absence of the nurse and after an exhaustive hemorrhage. Mrs. Bayne was in Philadelphia and was at once notified.

Want Revenge.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 18.—A private dispatch received here from Cripple Creek states that the Bull Hill miners are already forming a vigilance committee to rid the camp of the men who are not to their liking. If this is kept up there is liable to be a lively conflict. The indignation of the people is also raised over the fact that several men who recently went to the camp as deputies have received threatening letters. A quiet systematic effort is being made to discover the rioters, and should they be apprehended, they will receive rough treatment.

The Lover Came Not.

Lincoln, Neb., June 18.—Nettie Coddington, nineteen years old, committed suicide last evening because her lover refused to respond to a message to come and see her. The girl sent a second message and was prepared to shoot him down if he came. He did not come and she swallowed morphine.

A Stolen Wheel.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 18.—A young man who has gone by the name of Granby, and says he recently arrived from England, was locked up here today for trying to sell a bicycle which was stolen from G. A. Allen at Menomonie, Wis. The prisoner came from Menomonie to Eau Claire on the wheel. It was worth $150.

Recovering From the Flood.

Washington, June 18.—Dispatches received at the postoffice department today announce that the Northern Pacific railway, of which practical suspension of service was caused by the floods, will commence running through trains from St. Paul to Portland to-morrow via Missoula, Mont.; Wallace, Idaho; Teko and Spokane, Wash. It is expected that the main line will be in readiness for resumption of all business within a week, and the Great Northern road will be in condition to resume through train service within two weeks.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, June 18.—Wheat—July, 57c; September, 60c. Corn—July, 40 1-2c; September, 40 5-8c. Oats—July, 39 1-8c; September, 30c.

Minneapolis, June 18.—Wheat — June closed at 59 3-4c; July opened at 59 7-8c; highest, 60c; lowest, 59 1-2c; closing, 59 3-4c; September opened at 57 7-8c; highest, 58c; lowest, 57 5-8c; closing, 57 3-4c. On track—No. 1 hard, 62c; No. 1 Northern, 61c; No. 2 Northern, 59 1-4c.

St. Paul, June 18.—Hogs 5c lower; the bulk arrived late, but yards will clear to packers at about $4.40a4.55. Cattle—Prime steers, $3.25a3.50; good steers, $3a3.25; prime cows, $2.50a2.75; good cows, $2.25a2.50; common to fair cows, $1.25a2.25; light veal calves, $3a3.75; heavy calves, $2a3; stockers, $1.75a2.50; feeders, $2.25a3; bulls, $1.50a2.15.

Chicago, June 18.—Cattle—Prime to extra native steers, $4.80a5; medium, $4.25a4.65; others, $3.75a3.95; Texans, $2.60a3.90. Hogs—Rough heavy, $4.25a4.50; packers and mixed, $4.65a4.75; prime heavy and butcher weights, $4.80a4.85; assorted light, $4.65a4.70.

SHORT, VERY MUCH SO.

The President and Cashier of an Iowa Bank.

Hampton, Iowa, June 18.—Investigation by the state auditor and state bank examiner develops a shortage of about $75,000 of the president and cashier of the Citizens' State bank. They have turned over sufficient property to the bank so that the stockholders and depositors will be fully protected, excepting that some parties who hold individual notes of Mr. Clemmer, the cashier, will get practically nothing. Money invested in and loaned to a Dakota insurance company and other Dakota speculations are the principal reasons assigned for the trouble. The president and cashier have resigned and their successors elected and the affairs of the bank will go on without interruption.

A Famous Painter Dead.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., June 18.—William Hart, a noted landscape painter who for many years has been prominent in the art world, died at his residence on Chester Hill, this city, to-day. Mr. Hart was born seventy-two years ago in Scotland, coming to America in his youth where he entered the trade of carriage painting. It was while pursuing this vocation at Albany, N. Y., that Mr. Hart's art work challenged attention in the painting of bits of landscape on the panels of old Broadway stages then being built at Albany. So rapidly did the young man's artistic ability assert itself that he soon quit carriage painting and entered the art world. For years his studio has been located in the Y. M. C. A. building at Twenty-third street, New York.

Crispi Shot at.

Rome, June 18.—An attempt to assassinate Premier Crispi was made yesterday. The premier was driving in his closed carriage to the chamber of deputies. As he was turning from the Via Gregoriana into the Via Capolecaz a man who was loitering on the sidewalk put his hand to his breast, drew a revolver, dashed into the street and ran at the carriage. He then lifted his pistol, took a short aim at the premier and fired. Sig. Crispi, who was uninjured, promptly sprang from his carriage with the intention of seizing the would-be assassin. The latter, however, was almost immediately seized by a number of people attracted to the spot by the report of the pistol.

Laid by the Emperor.

Berlin, June 18.—The foundation stone of the new Protestant cathedral which is to replace the old Dom church was laid yesterday with imposing ceremonies by Emperor William. A large crowd of people were present. The empress and the imperial children, together with a number of royal personages, the German and Prussian ministers, and a number of general and civil officials attended the ceremony. The court chaplain delivered the oration.

Something of a Blow.

Evansville, Ill., June 18.—This morning a cyclone passed over the northern part of this county, totally destroying the house of James Merrick, twisting trees eight inches in diameter into splinters and destroying other property. Henry Ferguson and son, who were driving in a wagon, were caught by the cyclone and carried nearly one-half a mile, injuring both. The storm lasted about twenty minutes.

Forbes Is Missing.

St. Paul, June 18.—Henry Forbes, who has been acting as agent for the Scandia Steamship Company of St. Paul, is missing, and it is charged that he has absconded with about $300 of the firm's money. The Scandia Steamship company opened offices in St. Paul at No. 195 East Third street, June 1, and put Forbes in charge as Northwestern agent for the concern.

Did the Dancing Bring the Rain?

Black River Falls, Wis., June 18.—The Indians held their rain dance Thursday all day, and were rewarded by an excellent thunder shower early the next morning. They are rejoicing over the result of their effort, as it is a wonderful help to the blueberry crop, and also to their corn crops out on the sand.

Twenty-Six Men Drowned.

Odessa, June 18.—News of a collision in the Sea of Azov between the Greek bark Egyptus and the Russian steamer Maroussia have been received. Both vessels sank. Four of the crew of the Egyptus and twenty-two of the crew of the Maroussia, including all the officers, were drowned.

Grand Stand Fell.

Perry, Okla., June 18.—During a base ball game near here yesterday morning between an Indian nine and a nine from this city, the grand stand gave way and 500 people went down in a heap. Many were injured, a little daughter of A. C. Potter, fatally.

Violating the Law.

Washington, June 18.—The treasury officials are in almost daily receipt of information showing that the law of Aug. 2, 1886, as to the sale of oleomargarine, is being violated by dealers in all parts of the country. These violations consist principally in selling oleomargarine at retail in packages not properly marked and branded, and in offering it for sale after it has been removed from the original stamped packages. Steps are being taken by the officials to punish every violation of this act that they may discover.

A LATE CONVENTION

MINNESOTA DEMOCRATS WILL MEET IN SEPTEMBER.

The State Central Committee Decides to Hold the Convention Sept. 5 in St. Paul and Arranges for Eight Hundred Delegates.

St. Paul, June 15.—The Democratic state central committee, held a meeting at the Ryan hotel and decided to hold the Democratic state convention in St. Paul on Sept. 5. The apportionment is similar to that of two years ago and makes a total of 790 delegates. The committeemen present were: Chairman F. W. M. Cutcheon, Secretary P. J. Smalley, D. Aberle, Daniel W. Lawler, proxy for Crawford Livingston, and J. J. McCafferty, proxy for C. A. Moody, Sauk Rapids, all of Ramsey county; F. G. Winston, Titus Marck and F. G. Winston also held a proxy for Lars M. Rand, all of Hennepin. Chairman Cutcheon also held a proxy from George A. Du Toit of Chaska. The county committeemen present were Owen Auston of Hastings, John Coleman of Anoka, R. O. Craig of Janesville, E. T. Champlin, proxy for John C. Wise of Mankato; M. Mullen, New Ulm; C. D'Autremont of Duluth, proxy for Morris Thomas, and James E. O'Brien of Crookston.

The absentees were: Chris H. Heffron of Rochester, James D. Sheedy of Austin, J. M. Spicer of Willmar, James Manning of Worthington, Dr. Werner Hemstead of Brainerd, Charles Cater of Herman and H. C. Stivers of Brainerd.

Aitkin	3	Martin	6
Anoka	8	Meeker	9
Becker	5	Mille Lacs	3
Beltrami	2	Morrison	12
Benton	5	Mower	11
Big Stone	5	Murray	6
Blue Earth	18	Nicollet	8
Brown	9	Nobles	6
Carlton	5	Norman	3
Carver	12	Olmsted	15
Cass	4	Otter Tail	11
Chippewa	5	Pine	5
Chisago	4	Pipe Stone	4
Clay	5	Polk	11
Cook	2	Pope	3
Cottonwood	3	Ramsey	84
Crow Wing	6	Redwood	6
Dakota	13	Renville	8
Lac qui Parle	4	Rice	14
Dodge	6	Rock	4
Douglas	5	St. Louis	23
Faribault	6	Scott	11
Fillmore	11	Sherburne	4
Freeborn	7	Sibley	10
Goodhue	12	Stearns	31
Grant	4	Steele	10
Hennepin	101	Stevens	5
Houston	10	Swift	7
Hubbard	3	Todd	9
Isanti	3	Traverse	4
Itasca	6	Wabasha	13
Jackson	7	Wadena	4
Kennebec	2	Waseca	9
Kandiyohi	4	Washington	13
Kittson	4	Watonwan	4
Lake	3	Wilkin	4
Le Sueur	14	Winona	25
Lincoln	4	Wright	4
Lyons	5	Yellow Medicine	4
McLeod	12
Marshall	4	Total	790

The committee next took up the report of the subcommittee, consisting of Messrs Cutcheon, Winston, Mulen, Heffron and Smalley, which was appointed to prepare a plan for party organization. It was determined to print the report of the subcommittee and send a copy to each of the committeemen, notifying them that it will be acted up at the next meeting. Secretary P. J. Smalley was elected committeeman at large in place of Hon. Lewis Baker. The committee then adjourned to meet at the Hotel Ryan on Aug. 1.

HORRIBLE BUTCHERY.

A Man Kills His Family and Commits Suicide.

Camden, N. J., June 15.—At Crampbill, a small village on the outskirts of Camden, some time early this morning Johann Kauffmann arose from his bed and with some sharp instrument, probably a razor, cut the throats of his wife and three children. Then, washing the blood from his person, he dressed himself neatly and committed suicide by hanging. Late in the afternoon the five dead bodies were found. The family consisted of father and mother, a baby girl about a month old and boy twins. Kauffmann was very poor and his failure to secure a permanent position and consequent suffering from the actual necessities of life probably caused insanity. He was about fifty years of age, but his wife was not over twenty-two.

A Boy Drowned.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 15.—The five-year-old son of J. W. Bailey, brakeman Wisconsin Central, was drowned to-day in the Chippewa river. The little boy with his uncle had been floating upon an improvised raft. It went to pieces and the little fellow went into the river. His uncle jumped in after him. The water was deep and with clothes on and no assistance the uncle not only failed to rescue the boy, but himself went to the bottom and was dragged out almost lifeless. The boy's body was not recovered.

Captured the Deputies.

Monongahela City, Pa, June 15.—A train of ten loaded coal cars, accompanied by forty armed deputies, left Manown yesterday for Pittsburg, but when it reached here it was surrounded by strikers and the cars uncoupled. The railroad officials then ordered the train sidetracked, and the deputies marched back to Manown. A crowd of strikers is now gathering about the works and trouble is expected.

Fifty Harvesters Drowned.

Castle Bar Island, Ireland, June 15.—A passenger boat returning to Westport quay from Achil Island, having on board eighty harvesters, who were to be shipped to Scotland from Westport capsized, and fifty lost their lives. Eighteen bodies have already been recovered but the exact number of persons saved is not known.

Rumored Betrothal.

Paris, June 15.—A rumor is current in this city that the duke of Orleans, the eldest son of the Compte de Paris, is betrothed to the Princess Henrietta of Flanders, eldest daughter of the count of Flanders.

Bought a Castle.

Dublin, June 15.—Thomas Nevins has bought for £4,000 from the earl of Fingall Killon castle, near Tara, in County Meath. The purchase is subject to the approval of the land court.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH CARS TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv. Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	5.12 p. m.	7.55 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton, Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or full information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Bennett Malberg, of Excel, was in town last Monday.

A. D. Wishard was in town a short time last Monday.

Albert Wickstrom, of Bray, was a visitor in town today.

Peter Englestad, town clerk of Rocksbury, was doing business in town today.

E. M. Hoff is doing business in Marshall county this week.

Mrs. H. J. Freeman went down to Crookston today for a short visit.

Wild strawberries are ripe and plentiful but are rather small this season,

H. J. Freeman and family visited at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

County Commissioner Demers was in town on business last Friday.

James Meehan, of Thief River Falls, was in town a short time today.

Street Commissioner Harris has a crew of men at work on the muskeg road this week.

Traveling men were numerous in town today, fully a dozen being in sight at one time.

Wm. Double and Chas. Wesler, two dry goods salesmen, were doing business in town today.

Mrs. E. J. Kellogg, of Stephen, arrived today and will visit her parents a couple of weeks.

Mrs. C. G. Rapp returned from Goodhue county last Friday where she has been visiting friends for the past month

Emil J. Holmes and wife returned from Cannon Falls last Friday. They will remain until fall,

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

S. J. Johnson, state agent for the Phoenix Insurance Company, was looking over the town today from an insurance point of view.

Fred Eikhoff having sold out his saloon business will, we understand, stock up his hardware store and go into business here in the near future.

Charley Brink got mixed up in a dog fight last week and was severely bitten in his right hand. Charley will go shy on dog fights in the future,

Michael Jeffers, otherwise known as the "sage of Gervais town," was in town on Monday in the interest of the county division scheme,

We learn that P. O. Hagglund, of River Falls, has entered the free for all, and will be a candidate for the people's party nomination for county commissioner.

The peoples party caucus in the town of Rocksbury last Saturday resulted in the selection of Henry Norland and P. P. Wold as delegates to the convention at Crookston.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the East Grand Forks Fair and Driving Association. They expect to have a big time over there on July 4th and have an excellent program prepared. If some subscriber pays up his subscription ye editor may be able to realize on the ticket.

County Attorney Holston was in town a short time last Monday. He was evidently fixing up his political fences in this locality. They are in very bad condition and it will take more than a short visit to get any support for Holston in this part of the country,

P. G. Paradis, of Red Lake Falls, was here yesterday and completed the purchase of the stock and saloon business of Fred Eikhoff. He will take possession July 1st. Mr. Paradis is a young man of good appearance and will undoubtedly do well here.

Edward Gistie will be married this evening at the residence of the bride,s parents to Miss Lizzie Dainard, Rev. Willet officiating. Mr. Gistie has been a resident of this village for the past four years and has won the respect and confidence of all who has had business dealings with him. He is a young man of exceptional merit and is sure of success. The bride, Miss Lizzie Dainard, has won the confidence and esteem of a large circle of friends who will unite in wishing the happy couple a successful life.

Bray Minn., June 18 1894.

We had a good rain last Thursday but some more is needed to insure a good crop.

Mr. Charley England visited friends at Warren last week.

Messrs. Albert Wickstrom, P. A. Erickson, C. A. Lindquist and A. E. Anderson was attending court at Grand Forks N. D. last Saturday.

Our town has bought an F. C. Austin road machine which was approved last week to our satisfaction.

Miss Hilda C. Monson died of typhoid fever at her parents home near Euclid last Wednesday. The deceased was sixteen years old. The remains were taken to the Black River cemetery on Thursday for burial,

Mr. Swan Anderson, of Black River has been up in this neighborhood talking county division but the farmers in this locality does not seem to like the idea of burdening themselves with any heavier taxes than they now have. Perhaps Mr. Anderson would explain the matter in print so that we all could find out just how cheaply he could run the new county. I hope that Mr. Anderson has no special reason to work for the division, but only for our general benefit.

A Subscriber.

I believe I have found a method of growing two good crops from one season's plowing and seeding. I am sowing a field today with one and one-half bushels barley and one-half bushel winter rye to the acre. I expect to harvest this summer 30 bushels barley to the acre and next July 25 bushels of rye I have never sown grain this way before Only by accident I got rye mixed with some seed a year ago and in the stubble which I did not plow last Fall. Wherever there was a seed of rye I find the biggest kind of stools, some roots having 75 heads of extra length. I have forty acres good rye this year which is now in head and stands four feet high. The advantage of mixing the seed is in saving work and having the stubble for protection and holding snow. I have been asked if stock will hurt it, I think not if not too many head to the square yard. I will guarantee it will not hurt your stock.—Fertile Cor. Crookston Times.

Sooner or later there must be acquiescence in the declaration of the South Dakota Populists in favor of the assessment of mortgages to the holders thereof and the exemption of a like amount from the assessment of the mortgagor. It has long been a cause of complaint among farmers and small householders that they are compelled to pay assessments upon what they owe as well as upon what they own; and as mortgages draw a heavy rate of interest the result has been to impose upon them a double burden. Our present system is defective in this respect, and must be changed in order to conform to the principles of justice.—St. Paul Globe,

The end of the trial of the men accused of robbing Great Northern freight cars was announced in yesterday's Times and the result is only another chapter added to the volume of evidence proving the inefficiency of the county attorney. Of the six men on trial only the three who were foolish enough to confess, were convicted. This is the regular order of things in this county lately and it is becoming a well established principle that the man who wants to go to jail has got to plead guilty or his ambition will not be realized.—Crookston Times.

The various townships in this vicinity have nearly all either elected delegates or will this week, for the peoples party convention at Crookston next week. It is almost certain that this section of the county will be represented by a full delegation. This is a good showing and fully demonstrates that the party is in good shape for the coming fight, Considerable interest is being shown and the best men have been selected as delegates, The sentiment is decisive that only good, capable, honest men shall be chosen to represent the party.

An exchange suggests as an experiment in the restriction of immigration the passage of an act providing that no alien shall be permitted to land unless he shall produce a certificate to his good character from the United States consul nearest his home in Europe, prove that he has $100 on his arrival here, and that he can read and write in some language. It is estimated that this would reduce immigration by one-half, and that it is probable in view of the kind of accessions that we are catching about this time.

Prendergast Mayor Harrison's murder, will not be hanged this year. His trial has been postponed till the September term of court, and will then take place before Judge Chetlain, who has all along manifested such a tender compassion for the assassin as to stretch the law to its utmost in the endeavor to save him from the gallows. Hanging is played out in Chicago.

The peoples party caucus for the village of St. Hilaire was held last Saturday evening and H. E. Ives was elected delegate to the convention. J. C. Dahl, Peter Hall and H. E. Ives were elected committee men for the ensuing two years.

Peoples Party Co. Convention.

Pursuant to the resolutions of the peoples party county central committee of Polk county Minnesota, notice is hereby given that a county convention of the of the peoples party of said county will be held at the court house in the city of Crookston in said county on the 28th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to place in nomination candidates for the following offices viz: County auditor, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds, county attorney, clerk of court, judge of probate, superintendent of schools, county surveyor, court commissioner, and county commissioners for the second and fourth commissioners districts and to elect delegates to the state convention of the peoples party to be held at Minneapolis Minnesota on or about the 10th day of July 1894 and to elect delegates to the peoples party congressional convention in and for the 7th congressional district of Minnesota, and to the peoples party legislative convention in and for the 51st legislative district of Minnesota which two last conventions are hereafter to be called; and to appoint a new peoples party county committee and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each election precinct in said county and one delegate for fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Ignatius Donnelly for governor at the general election in 1892. The several towns and villages in this vicinity are entitled to the following number of delegates in said convention viz:

Black River	1
Bray	1
Emardville	1
Gervais	2
Gordon	2
North	1
Numedal	1
Polk Center	1
River Falls	2
Rocksbury	2
St. Hilaire	1
Sanders	2
Wyandotte	1

The total vote in the county will be 1?8.

The towns and villages which may have been detached from other towns since the last general election will vote with the towns from which they were detached in the election of delegates. We would urge the populists of each town to see that their town is represented at the convention with the full number of delegates to which it is entitled. Proxies will not be recognized except where the delegate and his proxie both are legal voters residing in the same town or election precinct. The committees of the several towns, cities and villages are requested to give public notice of the time when and the place where the caucuses are to be held for the election of delegates by posting at least three notices thereof in three of the most public places in the precinct at least ten days before the caucus is to be held.

At the several caucuses in each town or ward the voters present shall elect a peoples party town or ward committee of three members and report their names and post office address to the chairman of the county committee. Only legal voters who believe in the principles and the platform of the peoples party, both state and national, and who agree to vote for the peoples party candidates that may be nominated by the several peoples party conventions are elicable to vote in the caucus or to be elected delegates.

Dated this 14th day May 1894.

A. R. HOLSTON
Sec Co. Com.

C. U. WEISER.
Chairman Co. Com.

Annual Alliance Meeting,

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Polk county Farmers Alliance will be held at the court house in Crookston on Wednesday the 27th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the election of officers and the transaction of any other business for the good of the alliance. Each local alliance is entitled to send three delegates and the officers of local alliances are hereby requested to call meetings at an early date and elect delegates.

The meeting will be an interesting one, among other things the Stillwater twine question will be discussed and full information given in regard to terms, etc.

E. E. Lommen
President

J. D. Knuteson
Secretary

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the Village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1893,

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten (10) of Block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1893.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 5th day of July 1894 at 8 o'clock p m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson.
Village Recorder.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1894.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows, On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1894.

M. E. Bjerk,

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 29th day of June 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894,

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to;

Office in Drug Store

THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE

WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.

Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 1 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m "	Minneapolis	9 55 am
4 25 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De. 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register, or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall's Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

We have been selling Beggs' Remidies for about five years and Beggs' Diarrhœa Balsam gives us the best satisfaction of any remedy we have ever sold.—Evans and Boschert, Chanute, Kan.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggist.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent.

I have derived a great benefit from Beggs. Blood Purifier and Blood Maker and will take great pleasure in recommending it to all I meet.—Chas Hill, Aberdeen, O. —for sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

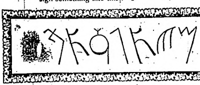
I have been troubled for several years with scrofula, caused by impure blood, but could get no relief until lately. Our druggist recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood maker so highly that I decided to try it and have up to the present time, used five bottles and find it to be all that it is recommended.—Orrin Stone, Otsego Wis.—For sale by J. L. Johnson, Druggist.

I have recommended Beggs' Blood Purifier and Cherry Cough Syru several times and must say that I have been surprised and more than pleased at results following use of same. I am not in habit of endorsing patent medicines, but can say truthfully, Beggs' medicines are all that is claimed for them.—Tesah Jones, M. D., Wintersville, Mo.—For sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

My wife had the worst case of Dandruff I ever saw and had tried three or four other remedies, and two bottles of Beggs' Hair Renewer proved all claimed for it.—E. P. Dunagan, Gainsville, Ga.—For sale by J. L. Johnson, Druggist.

I am getting better since I began the use of Beggs. Blood Purifier and Blood Maker.—B. H. Williams, Chenango, Texas.—for sale by J. L. Johnson Druggest.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

ARE YOU A HUNTER?

Send Postal Card for illustrated Catalogue of

Winchester Repeating Rifles

Repeating Shot Guns Ammunition

.44 WINCHESTER MODEL 1873

—TO—

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS COMPA

NEW HAVEN, CONN.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandis

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]

OR A TURK NAMED
کاکا جو قلر سودی کی

Or any man of any name or of any natior get better things to wear at our store and at prices than anywhere else. Professional gossi longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel a

Below Zero Pric

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
not in Advance. $2 00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JUNE 20 1894

"COLD, AIN'T IT!"

The morning was a cold one—that I knew beyond a doubt,
So I made my preparations before I started out.
Put on my warmest ulster and turned up its collar rare,
Then in overshoes and mittens sought the keen and frosty air.

First I met was Uncle Dan'l, man of color, old and gray,
And he greeted me politely, then this information gave—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Then came Jenkins—he's a farmer—riding on a load of hay,
Swathed in felts and shawls and mufflers, yet he found a voice to say—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Pretty little widow Collyer, going up to Smith's for milk,
Paused just long enough to murmur from beneath her hood of silk—
"Cold, ain't it?"

The stamp clerk from his window gave to me a pleasant smile,
As he handed me my letter, piping out in parrot style—
"Cold, ain't it?"

My barber while he shaved me, my groc'ry keeper, too,
Indeed ev'ry one that knew me kept the fact held up to view—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Soon I began to ponder and discovered with surprise
That my neighbors must be thinking me all foolish or all wise
With their—"Cold, ain't it?"

Why, I knew beyond denial that it was a frosty day,
But they must have thought I didn't when they hastened all to say—
"Cold, ain't it?"

Still they recognized my wisdom and the knowledge I had got
When they told me it was frosty and then asked me if 'twas not,
With their—"Cold, ain't it?"

—Boston Globe.

She Preferred the Burglars.

"The fact is," said old Mrs. Peterby to Mrs. Yerger, "I had the narrowest escape from being ruined you ever heard of."

"How was it?" asked Mrs. Yerger, growing interested.

"Well, you know I sold our house and lot last month and had the money ready to deposit in the Fidelity bank the next morning, which was the very day of its failure."

"Yes, I read about it."

"I slept with my money under my pillow," continued Mrs. Peterby, "and the next morning when I got ready to start for the bank the money was gone."

"Where had it gone to?"

"Some burglars had taken it during the night, and next day the bank burst up. Did you ever hear of such a remarkable piece of luck?"

"I don't see where the luck comes in. You lost your cash all the same."

"Yes, but they caught the burglars, and on condition of my not prosecuting they returned me 50 cents on the dollar. The bank only panned out 15. There's no use talking, but between banks and burglars I'll take my chances with the burglar every time."—Texas Siftings.

Raison d'Etre.

The king was sore distraught. There was anger in his royal heart.

"What, ho!" he roared. "Why failed the keen edge of my battleax in today's conflict?"

The knight of the kitchen table bowed him low.

"Your majesty," he rejoined, "it is reported that her highness the princess royal complained much of her corns upon yester e'en and does not today."

The monarch swallowed his resentment, contenting himself with once more placing himself upon record as touching the subject of the interference of women in the affairs of state.—Detroit Tribune.

The Great Brotherhood.

Beggar—Cahn't you give me a nickel, sir? I am nigh starving.

Bronson—It is very evident you don't know me. I'm a Wall street man.

Beggar—Pardon me, sir. If I'd a-known, I wouldn't 'a' spoke. But I'll make up for it, sir. Here's a quarter, if it'll help you.—Harper's Bazar.

Business Dull.

Tramp—Business is very dull, mum.

Farmer's Wife—Business is dull, is it? I'd just like to know what business you are in.

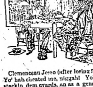
Tramp—I'm a professional scarecrow, mum, but nobody seems to need my services this time of year.—New York Weekly.

Perils of Modern Society.

"Elleyne is so delicate and sensitive in her æsthetic tastes."

"Yes, indeed. The other day she went to a pink breakfast and afterward to a lilac luncheon and a yellow tea. The poor girl is sick abed still."—Chicago Record.

A Point of Honor.



Clemenceau Jesso (after losing 57 cents)—Yo' hab cheated me, niggah! Yo' hab ben stackin dem cyards, an as a gemman I demand sahtisfaction!

Napoleon Chippo—Name yo' weppins, niggah! Name yo' weppins!

Clemenceau Jesso (drawing forth his loaded dice)—Dese yere dice am my weppins, niggah! Jes' shake me fo' half an hour wiv dese yere dice—dat is, if yo' calls yo'self a gemman!—Truth.

The Ideal

Mrs. Wickwire—Why, Norah, there is nothing of this lobster but the shell.

Norah—Sure, mem, you didn't think Oi would cuke it widout cleanin it?—Indianapolis Journal.

Vindicating Her Name.

"Mrs. Grit has a constitution like iron."

"What makes you think so?"

"Her husband has been troubled with dyspepsia for 18 years."—New York Press.

Much Improved.

"Has Vassar improved your daughter, Parslow?"

"Oh, yes. Maud is quite a manly girl now."—Harper's Bazar.

Glad to Hear It.

Cholly—I drunk a little whisky last night and it affected my brain.

She—Did it! That's encouraging!—Truth.

A Ready Reckoner.

"Does this road lead to Evansville!" I asked of an old darky lounging at the door of his cabin.

"I reckon it do, sah."

"Is it far?"

"I reckon it am."

"Can I reach it by sundown?"

"I reckon, so yuse early 'nuff."

"Could you tell me how many miles it is to Evansville?"

"I reckon I could, sah."

"How many?"

"I reckon I dunno."

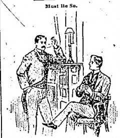
"But you said you could tell me."

"I reckon I could if I knowed."

"See here," I said angrily, "I believe you're next to a fool."

"I reckon yuse right, sah," answered the fellow, with a grin that made me want to dismount and kick him.—Detroit Free Press.

Must Be So.



Ralph—Suppose a fellow's best girl gets mad when he asks for a kiss?

Curtis—Take it without asking.

Ralph—Suppose she gets mad then?

Curtis—Then he's got some other fellow's girl.—Brooklyn Life.

A Sad Plight.

A very diffident young man, who is struggling with his first faint signs of a mustache and lovesickness, went down to the quiet little village of Berlin, on the Camden and Atlantic railroad, on Sunday. His visit to a certain fair one was so pleasant that the evening hours wore away with astonishing rapidity. He came to his senses at an hour long past the movement of the last train for the city. The fair one's family made him comfortable for the night, and he passed into dreamland full of happiness.

When the family awoke the next morning, it was thrown into consternation. Burglars had invaded the house during the night and carried off a lot of things. The diffident young man was awakened by the confusion, and vainly he searched for his trousers. Cold perspiration broke out upon him, and he sat down upon the bed and wailed inwardly. He managed to acquaint his sweetheart's relatives of his predicament, but, as paterfamilias was the only man in the family, and he weighs close to 300 pounds, the trouble was only accentuated. There is not a pair of trousers on sale in Berlin, and the unfortunate lovelorn youth was compelled to remain a prisoner in his room while his sweetheart came to the city, got a pair of trousers at his home and took them down at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.—Philadelphia Record.

In Reserve.

The passionate pleadings of the foreign nobleman were lost upon her.

"No," she repeated, "there is little in a name."

She spurned his suit.

"Oh, why"——

He pressed his hand to his brow.

——"reject me thus hastily? Thou hast not heard the half of mine."

Drawing from his bosom several pages of typewritten manuscript, he bade her read.—Detroit Tribune.

Realism.

First Actor—Look here. Talk about your realism on the stage. Why, I once played the part of Old Moore in "The Robbers," with the result that the entire audience were bathed in tears.

Second Actor—Why, my dear fellow, that is nothing. Our company recently gave in a country place a performance of "The Robbers," which was so true to life that the inhabitants missed several articles the following day.—Tit-Bits.

Pinning Him Down.

She—Why didn't you come around last night?

He—I didn't get through at the office until so late that I hadn't time to go home to dress, and I didn't like to call in my business suit.

She—Why not? Don't you mean business?—Detroit Free Press.

Inconsolable.

Dear Friend—Try to console yourself, my dear. Remember that your late husband was very, very old, and he left you a fortune, you know.

Young Widow—Yes, but it was on—on condition that I should nev—never marry again. Boo, hoo, hoo!—New York Weekly.

Great Danger.

Kitty—Willis Norton met a girl on the steamer, and before they got to the other side he was engaged to her. What do you think of that?

Tom—It only goes to show that not all of the perils of ocean travel have been eliminated yet.—Life.

The Walking Stick Fad.

Joe—You girls have queer fads now.

Katie—What, for instance?

Joe—Well, I saw Miss Fanny Desakel walking with a stick yesterday.

Katie (eagerly)—Who was it? That odious Mr. Hisbake?—Detroit Free Press.

One of the Passions.

Tommers—James informs me that he has a passion for work.

Mummer—Well, I guess that's 'bout right, although it's a little too strong a word to describe an ordinary dislike.—Chicago Record.

Better Still.

Bunker (at the ball)—Say, do you know that you have been in the conservatory half an hour with one girl.

Hill—That's nothing! I expect to be in her father's office tomorrow for two hours.—Puck.

The Voice of Experience.

"Appearances are very deceptive," remarked the tenor.

"Yes," replied the prima donna, "especially farewell appearances."—Washington Star.

A Good Guess.

Professor—All natural products are divided into three parts. Mr. Thompson, where do you place sugar?

Mr. Thompson—Into the coffee.—Hallo.

Hard Labor.

Yeast—You have a girl to do the heavy work in your house, I suppose?

Crimsonbeak—No; my wife makes all her own bread.—Yonkers Statesman.

An Exchange of Courtesies.

Maud—I'm engaged to four men.

Eleanor—Yes, three of them told me about it when they proposed to me.—Chicago Record.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893 and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz:

The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office
Crookston Minn. May 29 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Bdsson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14139 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 16 Tp 151 R. 42 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of July 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alledged abandonment.

Wm, Anglim, Receiver.

Untactful.

The pages of amusing literature are stocked with the sayings of honest and untactful people. The following incidents have, moreover, the merit of being strictly true:

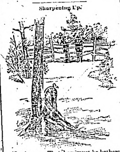
A lady who had studied an elementary treatise of astrology one day took it upon her to "cast the horoscope" of a boarding house acquaintance.

"Let me see," she began after taking down the day of the "subject's" birth, "you are in Aries. Aries is intellect. Why, no!" she suddenly exclaimed, looking up, as the full force of the definition struck her. "there must be some mistake. You can't be in Aries!"

Another innocently frank person was admiring the baby grandson of a famous man.

"Now," said she encouragingly to the parents of the child, "this boy will be a genius. It is perfectly safe to expect it, for you know genius always skips one generation."—Youth's Companion.

Sharpening Up.



Northerner—That hog must be bothered with fleas, from the way he scratches himself.

Southerner—Fleas nuthin! That's a razor back hog, sah, and he's just stroppin himself.—Life.

A Sensitive Point.

The Widow Grangely had an important case in court. She knew that if she should win her condition thereafter would be one of financial ease, and she had accordingly employed the most effective lawyer in the county. When the case came to trial, the shrewd lawyer saw that his road to success lay through the emotions of the jurymen.

"Gentlemen," said he, "look at this poor woman. Is she not enough to excite the pity of any beholder? Decrepitude has impaired her, and age is fast spreading its blight upon her once fair face. She"——

"You stop right where you are!" exclaimed the widow. "I need the money that might come out of this case, but I'll be hanged if you shall stand up there and call me old."

The lawyer hastened to her side and said: "Why, madam, I must talk that way or lose the case."

"I don't care if you do have to talk that way, you shan't. I'd rather lose the whole thing than be called old. I am just as good looking as I ever was, and I want you to understand that fact. Decrepit, indeed! I'll bet I could gather you up and throw you over a 10 rail fence right now. If you want to talk about the law there is in the case, go ahead, but if you call me old again we'll fight, that's all."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Suicidal Marriage.

He was engaged to the girl, but he would not carry out the contract, though he refused to give her up.

She had coaxed him at first to give up his foolish notion, but he wouldn't have it, and finally she kicked out of the traces.

"Why don't you stop fooling," she said, "and marry me?"

"My dear," he pleaded, "marriage in my case would be suicide."

"Suicide? What do you mean?"

"I mean that I am so poor I could not hire a cook."

"Well," she urged bravely, "what of that? I am strong and well and can do the cooking until you are rich enough to hire a cook."

"I know that, my dear love," he murmured, taking her face in his hands, "it is your cooking that I am afraid of." And young love's dream was split wide open.—Detroit Free Press.

An Explanatory Epitaph.

Signs of Spring.

Visitor—Johnnie, what is that awful noise in your back yard?

Rev. Amen's Youngest—That's pa practicing his vacation cough.—Hallo.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE
HIGHEST MARKET PRICES
FOR
All kinds of
CATTLE.
Cord wood, Hay, Oats,
Barley and flax.
Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

Reserved For
THE
ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN
FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY
TOBACCO AND CIGARS.
STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS
Lunch Counter
Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.
BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.
Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.Y.

A GREAT SNAP

THE
FARM STOCK AND HOME
Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper
ONE YEAR
AND THE
SPECTATOR
UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY
60 CENTS.
THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.
If you want to save money do your trading with
HALL BROS.
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Groceries
Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

"I feel it a Duty

To tell the world that Hood's Sarsaparilla has saved my life. I had dizzy spells, nausea and pains in my side, caused by bad condition of my liver and kidneys. Soon after I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla I began to feel better. I took four bottles and I now consider myself a well woman." Mrs. Pauline Rust, Buffalo Iowa. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable. 25c.

MEANT TO AMUSE.

Nedders—What's a bon mot? Slowits—Something you always think of after it's too late to say it.

She—Have you got "The Heavenly Twins?" Clerk—Yes, ma'am. One dollar. She—What, for both?

Botanist—This, Miss Little, is the tobacco plant. Miss Little—How interesting! And when does it begin to bear cigarettes?

An Irish lawyer said to a witness: "You're a nice fellow, ain't you?" Witness replied: "I am, sir, and if I was not on my oath I'd say the same of you."

Husband—I am just in the mood for reading something sensational and startling—something that will make my hair stand on end. Wife—Here is my last milliner's bill.

"I am always moved by the sound of music," said young Phathead, as the clock struck 11. "Let me play something for you!" said Miss Uplate, with sudden eagerness.

Judge—Well, doctor, what is the condition of the burglar's victim? Doctor—One of his wounds is absolutely fatal, but the other two are not dangerous and can be healed.

Editor—What can I do for you, Miss? "Oh, please may I examine your waste basket? I know a man who sends you poems, and whose feelings towards me I should like to ascertain."

Small Boy—How much will you give me if I hit you, pa? Fond Parent—What do you mean, my son? Small Boy—I heard ma tell sister that she struck you for $10 this morning.

Wife—Come, let's go home; it's 11 o'clock, and you know you didn't come home till 1 this morning. Husband—That's just it—you surely can't expect me to come home twice in one day.

Husband, irritably—It isn't a year since you said you believed our marriage was made in heaven, and yet you order me around as if I wasn't anybody. Wife, calmly—Order is heaven's first law.

Sunday School Teacher—Tommy, I was shocked to hear you swearing so dreadfully at that strange boy as I came in. Tommy—I couldn't help it, ma'am. He was making fun of our kind of religion.

Jinks—Have you selected a trade or profession for your boy? Winks—I shall make a plumber of him. "Has he a bent that way?" "He's born for it. Tell him to do a thing immediately and he won't think of it again for a week."

"Did you see Mr. Smifkins this morning?" asked the bookkeeper. "No," replied the publisher, "what did he want?" "He desired us to advance him $5 on his forthcoming work, 'Hints to young men, or how to be a financial success.'"

Mr. De Broker—Well, my son, how did you and the boys come out on your peanut speculation? Small Son—When we got through I owed the other boys fifty cents. "Hum!" "Oh, it's all right now. We reorganized." "Eh?" "Yes. I capitalized at one dollar, gave the other boys half the stock for their debt, and then sold them the other half. So now they owe me fifty cents."

A WOMAN'S SKELETON.

IT EXPLAINED THE MYSTERY OF AN OLD HOUSE.

The Story of the Tragedy of Ellen Kirwan, the Niece of the Fannassys—She Stood Between Them and a Farm, and She Did Not Live Long.

From 1830 to 1837 this city enjoyed a financial boom on the lines of what we now consider the most advanced Western ideas, says the Philadelphia Times. Especially was this the case in building. It was expected that our population would double itself inside of two years, and speculators put up houses to meet the anticipated demand. A man from Baltimore named Sharp was very enterprising. He was believed to have Jacob Ridgway behind him, got the city to widen Eleventh street below Shippen, and intended to build a Ridgway row from Fitzwater to Carpenter, then Tidmarsh on the city plan.

In 1836 he began to build on the west side of Eleventh, below Christian. The houses were of three stories, and were for those days stately mansions. In digging the cellar at the corner of Christian street a chest much decayed was uncovered, and inside were the bones of a human being. On examination these proved to be the remains of a woman, evidently young, with remarkably fine teeth and long brown hair. A fracture in the back of the skull indicated the cause of death. A string of beads, a much-corroded silver bracelet and fragments of an India muslin dress were also brought to light. The ground was the site of a decayed frame house, that had not been inhabited for years. The late James H. Young and Peter Doyle, the bookseller, were persevering local antiquarians, a race now extinct, and they made a close investigation into the matter, securing some of the beads, which were Irish bog oak, bushed in the holes with gold; the bracelet and a lock of the hair two feet long. The bones were lost among the rubbish.

The shadow of the great smash of 1837 hung over the city. Everyone was looking out for themselves and the authorities seem to have neglected the affair altogether. This part of the city was then inhabited mainly by Irish hand-loom weavers, and Mr. Young after diligent inquiry got from some of the old residenters the following information: About 1820 the old blue frame was a farm house having a few acres of land attached, and the inhabitants were a family of newly-arrived Irish emigrants named Fannassy.

They had a great deal of baggage, with several large chests, and were believed to have money, as beyond keeping a few cows, they did no work. They were very unsocial. At first there were two men and a woman; in a few months another female joined them, whom they spoke of as a niece.

She was young and pretty and very lady-like in appearance, while the others were rough and uncouth in looks and manners. It was remarked that she never went out without being attended by the elder Fannassy, and had, moreover, an habitual air of fear and constraint. Her dress was expensive, while her associates were meanly clad.

After being here about eight months the whole family disappeared, leaving behind several articles of furniture and their rent paid three months in advance. For a time there was neighboring gossip, but the Fannassys were forgotten until the finding of the skeleton in the fall of 1836. No one took a warmer interest in the investigation than Peter Ingoldsley, a King county Irishman, who kept a small shop on Christian street, and in 1841 he returned home on a visit, and meeting some friends near Enniskerry came upon traces of the Fannassys, and beyond doubt got to the bottom of the mystery with which they were connected.

Many years before a broken-down gentleman named Kirwan married a Miss Fannassy. Although below him in station, she owned a valuable farm. She died, leaving everything to her husband. At his death by will he gave the farm to his brother for three lives. The Fannassys tried hard to break the will, in vain, but by the second instrument Kirwan left them the estate at the expiration of the three lives, by way of compromise.

Two of the lives terminated suddenly, and the third was Ellen Kirwan, the alleged niece of the Fannassys in America. In 1821 they returned to Ireland, bringing alleged proofs of the death of Ellen Kirwan in Philadelphia, and entered upon their inheritance. But they did not prosper, and inside of fifteen years not one of the name or connection was alive.

The houses on Eleventh street stood ruinous and alone for twenty years, and some of the tenants had very curious records.

Don't Dispute It.

Mrs Green and Mrs. Gray were walking along, chatting in a gossipy way, when a man who had been watching them from across the street suddenly raised his hat and smiled. Said Mrs. Green: "Who was that fool that bowed to you?" Mrs. Gray—That was my husband. Mrs. Green—Oh, I beg your pardon. I didn't—Mrs. Gray—Don't mention it. I wasn't aware that you knew him.—Boston Traveler.

Beauty Transferred.

He—I think that often people, from being a great deal together, come to resemble each other. Don't you believe that beauty is sometimes transferred, as it were, in that way?

She—Well, I don't know. But after you and Miss Maycup took that stroll in the garden last night, some of her rouge was on your cheeks.—Boston Traveler.

Why He Turned Pale.

Wife, with determined air—I want to see that letter. Husband—What letter? "That one you just opened. I know by the handwriting that it is from a woman, and you turned pale when you read it. I will see it! Give it to me, sir!" "Here it is. It's your milliner bill."—Pearson's Weekly.

HELD UP IN A CHURCH.

Travelers All But Sandbagged in Order to Raise a Debt.

We met with a novel experience in our travels in Florida by straying into one of their churches one bright Sabbath morning, says the Washington Star. A handful of natives graced the pews. The sermon over, a gentleman stepped forward and very significantly and emphatically requested no one to leave the church and proceeded to organize a business meeting for the purpose of raising funds to meet a large deficit in the treasury. A very clear statement of their finances was made and the plates passed for contributions. The response not meeting approval, the speaker warmed up to his subject, and the polite request was followed by a pressing demand, which was worded in this fashion: "If we would give generously they would not be forced to lock the doors and call upon us to 'stand and deliver.'" As we had given what we supposed was a liberal donation in the morning collection, we did not feel that we were the parties spoken to, but very soon we became conscious from the glances thrown freely in our direction that it was becoming a personal matter, and the indications were that we were the only tourists in attendance. The gentleman went on to state, as they found us unresponsive, "that almost all of the money used in building this church came from the north of the Mason and Dixon's line, that they kept it cool and ventilated in summer and warm in winter for us, and they wished us to understand that they expected us to support the church," and the plate was again passed. The assurance with which the demand was made provoked us to decided resistance, and to use the mildest expression, the situation became awkward and embarrassing. As we had never been in the building before, and were not likely to be there again, we bore the persecution in silence, wondering what next would happen. When at last we were liberated we could not but comment on the peculiar methods of some localities. There is nothing like travel to find out how "other people do things."

No Baking Powder
Exhibited at the World's Columbian Fair
Tested So High
At the U. S. Gov't Examination
For Strength, Purity and Uniformity
As the Royal.

The official report shows ROYAL BAKING POWDER chemically pure and yielding 160 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder, which was greatly in excess of all others and more than 40 per cent above the average.

Royal is the favorite in every kitchen and has a larger sale than all others combined.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO. 106 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

SHE WAS OVERCOME.

The Surgeon Polysyllabic Verbiage Was Too Much for the Virago.

Tired, after numerous calls to patients, who had broken noses, broken heads or broken hearts, one of Director Beitler's police surgeons was waiting the other day at a street corner in the Fourth ward for a horse-car, says the Philadelphia Press. He is a martyr to cold feet, and, as the car did not arrive, his teeth began to chatter and he entered a near-by dry-goods store and said to the proprietor:

"Good morning, madame. May I wait in this store until my car arrives?"

"Faix, an' Idon't know 'bout that. I don't want sthrange min in me shop. Git out!" said the woman addressed.

"But my feet are cold, and surely, in the name of charity——"

"Then war-r-m thim by walkin'. Git out!"

"Surely madame, you don't think I would steal anything. I could buy your store and all the rickety tenements around you, and have lots of money left over," said the surgeon, warmly.

"Steal, is it?' Faix, but I'm not so shre of that," exclaimed his critic.

Just then the surgeon saw his horse-car coming and he opened fire on the woman as follows:

"You infinitesimal creature of a mundane sphere locked in the depths of your inexhaustibleness, you vassal of an inflammatory oligarchy, whose word is latitudinarianism. Oterque quarterque beati quis onte ora patrum, Trojae sub moenibus altis!"

For once in her life the virago was "floored," and she listened respectfully ti the surgeon's Latin with her mouth open.

"Stay if ye wish, sur," she said at last, in quavering tones, "but don't swear in that way that makes me blood cur-r-dle!"

The surgeon fled. The foman had met her master.

The recent letter from the judge of awards on Baking Powders at the Chicago world's fair, exposing the fraudulent claim of a Chicago house that its baking powder had received the highest award for strength, purity, excellence, etc., is a scathing rebuke to those manufacturers of cheap baking powders who have no regard for the brain, but habitually seek, in their public announcements, to deceive consumers. The judge of awards states that no such award was given to the Chicago concern, and has notified it that it must cease publishing his name in connection with its false statements.

SALT STICKS.

They Go Well With a Bit of Cheese and Also With More Beer.

A queer looking old man, carrying a large basket in one hand and a cane in the other hand, can be seen any day plodding along the German section of the East Side, where he has become a well-known figure. He travels from one saloon to another, selling "salt sticks," which is his means of livelihood. For nearly twenty-five years he has been a conspicuous figure on the East Side, and from the profits derived from selling these "salt sticks" he has been enabled to support a large family. He does a good business because of his genial nature. He always has a kind word for everybody.

This industry of making "salt sticks" is practiced by but a few bakers, who dispose of them to these merchants cheap, and who in turn sell them for 2c a piece, or three for 5c. While the "salt sticks" or salzstange, as the Germans call it, is unknown in the American cafe, it is, and has been for a number of years, quite the thing with the German saloons. There was at one time quite a number of these "salt stick" merchants, but of late they have dwindled down to a few, among them being the old man who was one of the first in the field. The "salt stick" is a long piece of baked dough besprinkled with salt, which, while it makes it very tasty, also makes them very thirsty, thus benefiting the saloon-keeper, whose customers are compelled to satisfy their thirst with more beer. But this does not serve to lessen the popularity of the "salt sticks." German pinochle players while playing their game and drinking their beer, eat them with a relish. No game of cards is complete without them.

They form a very tasty morsel when eaten with a piece of cheese. For this purpose they are cut in half and the cheese placed between them. They are called "salt stick sandwiches," and they are a great appetizer for beer.

Big Waterworks Projects Abroad.

A plan for supplying Paris with water from Lake Neufchatel is under consideration by the municipality. It involves the building of an aqueduct over 300 miles in length and at an estimated cost of 60,000,000. An earlier plan proposed to use Lake Geneva as a source of supply, the estimated cost being $100,000,000. The engineer of the Neufchatel plan proposes to tunnel the Jura Mountains, and to give a head of 394 feet in Paris. One of the greatest engineering works of modern times is the artificial lake impounding the waters of the River Vyrnwy, in Montgomeryshire, to supply Liverpool, sixty-eight miles distant. The lake has a storage capacity of 1,500,000,000 gallons, and power is given to supply water over a certain belt of country on each side of this line. Liverpool is thus placed on an equality as to water suply with Glasgow, which has laid Lock Katrine under contribution, and with Manchester, which is doing the same with Thirlmere.—New York Tribune.

Vain Bounties to French Shipping.

The new French bounty laws which came into force at the beginning of 1893 are not having that anticipated effect on the French shipbuilding industry, nor are they at all increasing French trade. Indeed, it has been expressed at Bordeaux, that, notwithstanding the material assistance given by the French government, merchant shipping is still on the decrease, from year to year. And can it be wondered at that this is so, when the shipping is overstocked to such an extent that many of the great companies are not paying more than 2 per cent on capital, while multitudes of tramps are actually in debt at the buoys at the Tyne and at the Wear. Speaking generally, the only people who are making money out of shipping are the managers by means of their commissions. With hulls and engines that are depreciating at the rate of 10 per cent per annum where does the profit come in, even with 6 per cent dividend?—Philadelphia Record.

When, O When?

"Sh-h-h, child. Young people should be silent when older people are talking."

"Then, when shall young people talk, mamma? Old people are never silent."

Progress of Time.

"What is going to happen when the foreign dukes have married all the American heiresses?"

"The duchesses will come over and marry all the American heirs."—Vogue.

FIGHT FOR AN HEIRESS.

When Miss May returned from her drive she was informed that Howard Fairleigh awaited her in the reception room.

"He has come to bid you good-bye," said Roth, who had followed her up the long flight of marble steps.

"Only that?" said Muriel, lightly.

"Only that; you don't believe it?"

"Do you?"

"Yes; I know the man."

She frowned ever so little and made a movement toward the reception-room.

"We shall see. Meanwhile, Mr. Roth——"

"I may go? Yes, but I shall not go far. See here, Miss May, you think I am doing Farleigh an injustice, but I am not. I'll wager a box of gloves against that rose you wear that things will turn out as I have predicted."

"You can have the rose now, if you wish; it is of no value. For the rest, the stake is not high enough; I would take far heavier odds. I, too, know the man."

Roth drew his breath quickly.

"Suppose I say the rose and its wearer?"

"This is too serious a theme for jesting, sir," said Miss May, flushing.

"I was never more in earnest in my life. You must have seen how well I love you, Muriel—how earnestly I desire you for my wife——"

"What, even now, when you know I am poor?" she interrupted, almost mockingly.

"Now more than ever, for you need a protector. And I have enough for both. Oh, my darling——"

"I take the wager," she said, cutting him short. "You will never claim it;" and with a nod she left him.

Farleigh was restlessly walking the room when she entered it. He seemed ill at ease, and wholly unlike his cool, impassive self.

"At last!" he exclaimed, advancing to meet her. "I feared I should be obliged to go without seeing you."

"And then?" she returned, looking at him with brilliant eyes.

"Have you not heard? I start for the West to-night; this is our last meeting."

She sat down before she answered, motioning him to do the same. Her face was turned from the window, but he saw it had lost color.

"Is not this very sudden?" she asked after a perceptible pause.

"In one way, yes. I knew Travers thought of sending me to Chicago to look after the Brown case, but I hardly expected to go so soon."

She sat quite still, looking at him expectantly. He went on with some constraint:

"So I came to say good-bye, Muriel. I suppose you will have left town long before I return."

"I hardly know—my plans for the future are not definitely arranged. You have heard that I have lost my money?"

"Yes, and I feel for you deeply—deeply." He spoke with feeling. "The misfortune must be an overwhelming one."

"It is not the worst that can befall a woman," said Miss May, and there was no mistaking her meaning.

Fairleigh flushed all over his dark, smooth face.

"I know I am acting like a cad and a villain, Muriel; but what can I do? I am poor. Even if you were willing to take me I can not afford to marry a girl without money. It would not be fair to her. I had hoped to make you mine, for before God, I love you, dear." He essayed to take her hand, but she proudly drew herself away from him. "As things have fallen out, it is better for your sake as well as my own, that our intimacy should end here and now."

She rose from the chair. Her face was white, but there was a haughty fire in her eyes.

"I agree with you, Mr. Fairleigh. No one can doubt the wisdom of your course nor the disinterestedness of your prompt action. You have lost no time. It was yesterday, I believe, that you became acquainted with the fact that I was no longer the rich Miss May—yesterday at the club?"

He could only stare at her for a moment in surprise.

"How—how did you know?" he stammered.

"Mr. Roth also heard the story."

"He has been to you with it already?"

"Yes. News of that sort travels fast."

There was something in Miss May's self-contained manner that embarrassed Fairleigh, man of the world, though he was. With a lower order of women he knew how to deal. Reproaches could be met with explanations, even some sort of defiance. But a lady requires a different treatment. He stood facing her uncomfortably, longing to go, yet dreading the final word.

"It is a pity you did not try to verify the rumor before placing implicit confidence in it." Miss May went on, with a smile she tried to render contemptuous, but could not; her wound was fresh; "for it is not true."

Fairleigh uttered a startled exclamation.

"It was my cousin Lucy's idea. She has always said you were a fortune hunter, but I would not believe it. I had faith in you, Farleigh." Muriel made the above avowal unfalteringly, with the frank fearlessness of a proud woman. "Then Lucy resolved to make use of some one or two club gossips, and told them confidentially that I had lost my money. They repeated the tale even more quickly than she hoped; yesterday it was the talk of the clubs."

A variety of emotions were depicted on Fairleigh's face, none of them of a high order.

"Am I to understand, Miss May," he slowly asked, "that you are still a rich woman?"

"A day or two ago, while shopping, I lost $50—all the money I had with me at the time. Otherwise, my fortune remains intact."

"Then, am I to understand that you have been playing a trick on me?" he demanded.

There was a stern ring in his voice. He was trying to make this girl feel that she had gone much too far with him.

"I never play tricks," haughtily.

There was something in her tone now that warned him. So he smiled and continued:

"Muriel, dear, I didn't mean a trick in the contemptible sense of the word. But you certainly attempted to perpetrate a very clever joke upon me. You have succeeded admirably. But I forgive you."

"Oh, you do?"

"Certainly."

"You are very kind."

"A man must be very indulgent to the woman he loves."

"So you still care for me?"

"Can you doubt it?"

"In view of what has just taken place, yes."

"Muriel, can't you understand that you jested with me, and that I jested in return?"

"Oh, that was it?"

"Yes."

"And you feel that you have triumphed in the matter of jesting?"

"It would seem that I have."

"Oh, you are clever—very clever!"

"Thank you."

But her manner made him feel that he was not making rapid progress toward a reconciliation.

"Muriel," he went on tenderly, "I can not remain more than five minutes. After that, I cannot hope to see you inside of three weeks. Let us make the best use of that time."

He stepped forward, as if to clasp her to his breast, but she retreated, and, by an imperious gesture, restrained him.

"Do not insult me!" she cried.

"Insult you?"

"How could it be otherwise than an insult?"

"But, Muriel—Muriel, I love you."

"Cease mocking me, sir. You forget that a moment or two ago you cast me off—because you thought I was not a rich enough prize."

"Muriel, I swear——"

"No gentleman, sir, uses profanity in the presence of a woman."

He thought now that she was really jesting. But a glance into her cold eyes undeceived him.

"Then, Muriel, you, who have played a joke upon me, are offended because I have dared to retort in kind."

"I am not offended, sir."

"Then, dear, will you kindly define the emotion that does dominate you?"

"Contempt!"

"Don't be cruel. Don't you see, dear, that you're breaking my heart?"

"Oh, some other heiress's money will prove an ample balm."

"Muriel—darling——"

"This interview is becoming very tedious, Mr. Fairleigh. We have both had opportunity to say all that needed to be said. I have another caller who is waiting. Will you oblige me by taking your leave?—a permanent leave!"

Fairleigh gazed penetratively at her, but devined that his case was growing more hopeless every minute.

Still, an heiress is not won every day; it would be well worth his while to try a little longer.

"I am frightfully unfortunate," he persisted. "Muriel, tell me that you have not been jesting at all. Tell me that you are really poor. I have known for months that I loved you, but I have never realized it so much as now, when your caprice is so near to parting us in earnest."

"Cut this short," Mr. Fairleigh. If you persist in staying here against my wishes, why, then, I have a coachman who is a muscular fellow. He never liked you. Believe me it would give him real delight if I were to order him to throw you out of the house."

"Are you threatening me?"

"No; not if an appeal will answer the purpose equally well."

There was a heavy silence. Muriel stood with her hand on the back of the chair, looking straight at the man before her; the flower in her bosom rose and fell quickly; but there was no other sign of mental disturbance. Fairleigh's face had grown gray and cold. He knew that nothing he could now say would regain for him the prize he had lost. And as far as in him lay he loved this woman.

He turned to the door.

"Good-bye, Miss May. I see that I cannot alter your opinion of me——"

He paused, hoping that she would speak some reassuring words, but she did not.

"You will think as kindly of me as you can?" he tamely added.

"Good-bye," she said, and his last hope died as the cold clear tones smote his ear.

For several minutes after he had gone Muriel did not move. Then the color came slowly, steadily back to her face. She took her hand from the chair smiling scornfully as she swayed slightly for a moment. In the next she stood erect, in every way her own mistress again. She loosened the fast fading flower from her dress and passed into the hall.

Roth was waiting there. To him she tossed the rose.

"You have won the wager," she said.

Roth's good plain face was transfigured as he bent to rapturously kiss her hand. The tears rushed to Muriel's eyes and quenched their haughty fire. Fairleigh glancing through the window of the vestibule saw all, and knew the better man had won.

HAIL FORMED BY TORNADOES

The Result of Whirlwinds in the Atmosphere Far Above the Earth.

The fact that hail is formed at an indefinite but, in most cases, a great height above the surface of the earth, and that it is commonly precipitated when storms are raging, has prevented any direct observation of the process of freezing the vapor of the atmosphere into ice pellets or large masses, and what has been decided regarding the phenomena of hailstorms is almost wholly the work of theory and logic. Nevertheless some points are pretty clearly established.

In the first place, hail is the result, as a rule, of whirling or tornado-like storms. There may be no whirling on the surface of the earth, but, according to the Cleveland Leader, it seems certain that in the higher regions of the air, where hail is formed, there is always an atmospheric disturbance resembling what is commonly called a cyclone when it sweeps the ground. A curious indication of the soundness of this conclusion was to be noted Thursday afternoon, when the storm, which wrought such havoc with skylights had passed by. Out over the lake there was a great mass of cloud, very high and dark, which had the form of an oval race track of enormous proportions. It might easily have been fifty miles in length and two thirds that distance in width. The formation of the cloud mass was noticeably such as might have resulted from the violent whirling around a moving center of the whole bulk of cloud vapor. The appearance of the sky was thoroughly in harmony with the accepted theory of the formation of hail. It is believed that the nucleus of a large hailstone is usually a bit of snow or snow-like ice which falls from the snow strata, or level, above the rain level, into the latter, and is caught up with a cloud of raindrops and mists into the higher, freezing regions of the atmosphere by the force of a whirlwind. The rain and water in the form of mist, which clings to the snow nucleus, or touches it as it is, whirled swiftly up into the intense cold, freezes around it as clear and solid ice.

He Wanted Work Badly.

HiFlyer (sarcastically)—Looking for work eh? Well here's a nickel.

Modest Mullins—Now, pard, I'm much obliged for dis nickel; but, see here; if you kin really git me a job as bank president, or railroad king, I'd sooner you'd take back yer money right now an' git me de job.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A woman can do more with tears than she can with the broom-handle.

Never Buy Whiskey for Medicinal purposes unless you know the bottlers under celebrated names are spurious, cheap articles, whose bottlers cannot afford to have their names on the labels.

Uncle Sam's Morgan Whiskey is bottled by the oldest and largest firm in the line in the Northwest and the favor with which it has been received is the best proof of its superior quality. Ask your druggist or retail dealer for it.

He that keeps his bed too late in the morning is seldom a happy man.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

There is such a thing as mistaking a sound stomach for a clear conscience.

OH, MY HEAD

Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

Some people have a religion which is as wholesome as green apples.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

Men with much money seldom tell what they really know about finance.

You can't steal a ride on the train that goes to heaven.

Hidden Shoals Wreck Strong Ships.

The good bark health, with the brave mariner hope at the helm, is drifting on concealed reefs if you are troubled with inactivity of the kidneys. Shift your course by the aid of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will pilot you into the harbor in safety, and save you from Bright's disease, diabetes or dropsy. The Bitters check malaria, rheumatism, dyspepsia and liver complaint.

"Pride goeth before a fall" and a pipe before a fool.

Hegeman's [illegible] with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. [illegible] New Haven, Ct.

The heavier the load the less the wagon rattles.

Shiloh's Cure

Is sold on a guarantee. It cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. 25cts, 50cts, & $1.00.

They never pardon who commit the wrong.—Dryden.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."

Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Some men seem to have been made out of dust that had gravel in it.—Ram's Horn.

CURES OTHERS

To purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, and thereby invigorate the liver and digestive organs, brace up the nerves, and put the system in order generally, "Golden Medical Discovery" has no equal.

DYSPEPSIA IN ITS WORST FORM.

Ervin Dieterly, Esq., of Gettysburgh, Pa., writes: "Only those who have had dyspepsia in its worst forms know what it really can be. What such a case needs I have found in your kindly encouragement, and your 'Golden Medical Discovery.'

Although I can now claim, if any one can, that I have a cast iron stomach, I always keep your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pellets' on hand when settling down from an active summer's vacation, to quiet student life.

E. Dieterly, Esq.

I heartily recommend these medicines to every one whose suffering is of the nature that mine was." Sold everywhere.

WHY NOT YOU?

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE

WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 13 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

500 SALESMEN WANTED.

The oldest and largest Nursery in the Northwest. If you wish profitable work apply at once for particulars. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS. ALL DRUGGISTS

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.
$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits.
FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.
OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. Co.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS

THE
St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1894. NUMBER 47

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

Sixteen custom-house employes have been removed by order of the treasury department.

The senate places logs and lumber on the free list and takes sugar off the free list.

The senate has confirmed the nomination of J. George Wright as Indian agent at Rosebud agency, South Dakota.

The navy department has accepted the proposition of the Dubuque iron works people to have the torpedo boat Ericsson delivered at New York instead of Pensacola.

The house committee on pensions ratified the report of the sub-committee in favor of Representative Bryan's bill to pension widows whose names were taken from the rolls because they had married and whose second husbands have died or been divorced.

Personal Mention.

Lillian Russell is seriously ill in New York.

Andrew Dice, one of the first settlers of Fairbury, Ill., died at Geneseo, Ill., aged 70.

Gen. F. W. Butterfield of Kansas City died at Excelsior Springs, Kas., of chronic diabetes.

The wives of Senators Kyle, Brice, Frye and Hawley dabble in literature. Mrs. Kyle is a regular contributor to the religious papers.

Dr. Olaus Dahl, head of the department of the Scandinavian languages in Yale university, has accepted a similar position in the university of Chicago.

C. G. Galloway, of Chicago claims to be the oldest printer in Illinois. He is eighty-one years of age, and entered upon his "devilship" in 1827 in an Indiana printing office.

Rev. Dr. John R. Paxton of New York has paid a fine of $10 for neglecting to record the certificate of the marriage of Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge and Mrs. Wing, which was celebrated in April 1893.

Mrs. Minerva Merrick Orchardson, a spiritualist, died in Quincy, Ill., leaving her property worth $800,000 to her husband, Charles Orchardson of Chicago. Mr. Orchardson married her a few years ago, though she was eighty-two years old and he was only fifty.

The only lady basso trombonist in Baltimore is said to be Mrs. E. B. Leland, who is a member of the orchestra of the First Baptist Sunday school. Mrs. Leland began the study of the basso trombone some time ago, partially for the benefit of her health, and she has not only made a success of it musically but has expanded her lungs and improved her health generally.

Chicago pioneers erected a flag and tablet over the almost forgotten grave of David Kennison, the last to die of the members of "the Boston tea party." The patriot was buried in the old Chicago cemetery, now a part of Lincoln Park, in 1852, having died at the age of 115 years. A monument bearing a bronze bust of Kennison will be erected over the grave.

Criminal Doings.

Several persons were injured at Norwalk, Ohio, by a trolley car collision.

A schooner is sunk by an iceberg off the Newfoundland coast and twelve lives are lost.

An extensive abatoir and other property in Jersey City are burned, with a loss of $800,000.

Forty-five young pleasure seekers are drowned by the sinking of a boat on a Russian river.

Charles Crittenden, twenty years old, a farmer, was drowned while bathing in a creek at Jeffersonville, Ind.

James P. Seward and wife were thrown from a wagon at Raymond, Ill., and killed.

Thomas Tilton, aged 21, while in an epileptic fit near Bellaire, Ohio, fell in the mud, face downward, and suffocated.

The Shabbona hotel, five barns, and an icehouse burned at Shabbona, Ill.

Fire at Lerna, Ill., destroyed several stores.

A cyclone visits South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska. Two Iowa villages are partially destroyed, with some loss of life.

George Vaugieson was run over and killed by a train at La Porte, Ind.

Henry Batton and William Choate were killed by lightning at Lafayette, Tenn.

A freight train on the Cleveland & St. Louis road jumped the track near Batesville, Ind., and Tom Haley and Michael Cunningham, tramps, were killed.

Six hundred kegs of gunpowder exploded at Ooltewah, a station on the main line of the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia railway, fifteen miles from Chattanoogo. The powder belonged to the Chattanooga Powder company. No lives were lost.

Unfortunate Events.

Bud Smith, the desperado, was killed by the sheriff at Watonga, Ok.

Thirteen suicides were reported at New York on the 19th.

Another member of the Dalton gang is killed in Indian Territory.

Erastus Wiman is sentenced to Sing Sing for five years and six months.

In a quarrel at Leadville, Colo., over 10 cents, William Miles killed George Schinn with a razor.

Two strikers were seriously wounded in a fight with deputies near Birmingham, Ala.

D. S. Conley, defaulting sheriff of Phelps county, Neb., was arrested in Champaign, Ill.

Mrs. Lucy B. Treadwell, aged 65 years, committed suicide at Des Moines Ia., by taking carbolic acid.

Frank Carr was sentenced at Vincennes, Ind., to one year in the penitentiary for robbing railroad cars.

The New Orleans grand jury returned an additional indictment for bribery against Ald. Callahan.

H. L. McDowns was arrested at Geneseo, Ill., charged with swindling banks at Moline, Ill., with bogus checks.

George W. McCormack, a young and brilliant lawyer of Charleston, S. C., committed suicide in New York City by shooting.

John Word, a Southwestern outlaw, was killed near Wichita, Kas., by a deputy marshal. Ward was a member of the Dalton gang.

In a general row in Brenn's saloon in Kampsville, Calhoun county, Ill., John Ritter, James Avery and Clarence Swan were stabbed and several others were severely bruised.

Ida Hedrick died of morphine poisoning at Crawfordsville, Ind. Mollie Packet is under arrest. The girls were rivals for the affections of a young man.

Fred Hasselman, living four miles south of Pearl City, Illinois, shot his sister three times this morning. Her condition is critical. The quarrel arose over the division of their father's property. Hasselman escaped.

Edward DeHart, aged 18, shot and fatally wounded Will Riggs, aged 17, at Pierson, Ill. DeHart has been paying attention to Riggs' sister against the brother's wishes and the latter gave DeHart several severe beatings.

Fred Lampman, night clerk at the Arlington hotel at Findlay, Ohio, was gagged, bound and chloroformed during the night by unknown persons and the safe was then robbed of $500 and the saloon adjoining robbed of an equal amount.

Daniel Gambol, twenty years old, arrived at Moberly, Mo., and strutted about the depot platform flourishing a revolver. He met three policemen and shot Officer Henn in the shoulder. The police opened fire and killed Gambol. His home was in Kentucky.

Lot P. Hosick, ex-probate judge of Guernsey county, Ohio, attempted suicide in a wooded ravine near Cambridge, Ohio, by cutting his throat. He was barely conscious when discovered and taken home, where he lies dying. Financial troubles caused it.

Richard Nagle of St. Louis, who is suspected of having misplaced a switch on the Mobile & Ohio railway, which caused the fatal wreck of a passenger train at Fish Lake the night of June 4, has been held without bail in Monroe county, Ill., where the casualty occurred.

Foreign Gossip.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Crispi, the Italian premier.

The king of Dahomey was educated in France and speaks French fluently. He became a barbarian because he was disappointed in a love affair.

Prime Minister Sagasta of Spain has announced to the senate that if the commercial treaty between Spain and Germany is rejected, the cabinet will resign or the cortes will be dissolved.

Drouth in the Province of Entre Rios, Argentina, has killed 200,000 head of cattle, 150,000 sheep and 20,000 horses, the whole being valued at $3,000,000 in currency.

The political situation in Peru is badly complicated, and is causing much anxiety. Those who are closely watching the course of events fear there will be a revolutionary outbreak before long.

A Brussels newspaper announces that the Danish soldiers have captured Raschid, ex-governor of Stanley Falls, and Rumaliza, the Arab chief, who fled after the recent defeat of the Arabs.

It is reported at Paris that the Italian ambassador in Berlin will be replaced, owing to his strained relations with Emperor William, due to a quarrel between the ambassador and an official, who is a relative of the emperor.

A number of workmen attempted to hold an open air meeting at Vienna recently. The proceedings became disorderly, whereupon the police ordered the crowd to disperse. The order not being obeyed the police attempted to disperse the crowd by force, but the latter resisted and attacked the police, some of whom were injured. The gendarmes finally cleared the square in which the meeting was being held.

Otherwise.

The threatened strike of iron miners on the Gogebic range fizzles.

Passenger rates in the west are becoming demoralized.

Fitzsimmons and Choynsky fight to a draw in Boston.

Merrill Kramier, a dry goods dealer at Memphis, Tenn., has made an assignment.

The coal miner's strike is practically over, thousands of men returning to work.

The state supreme court at Jefferson City, Mo., decided that a failing firm may prefer creditors.

The miners at Lincoln, Ill., rejected an offer of work at the old wages and insist on the Springfield scale.

Nineteen million bushels of wheat in Chicago will be inspected, being under suspicion.

Thirty-nine elevators belonging to the Northern Pacific Elevator company are sold to a Tacoma firm.

Chief of police Kent, of Champaign Ill., has been arrested for whipping a negro afflicted with small-pox.

George Flaig of Fort Wayne, Ind., has sued Drs. Ross and Stutz for $10,000 damages for malpractice upon his wife.

The taking of testimony in the Northern Pacific investigation in Milwaukee is ended. The result is the material strengthening of Receiver Oakes' position.

One hundred and fifty men in the Peach Orchard coal mine of Kentucky have gone out in a "sympathy strike."

The Canadian Pacific is again open to Vancouver, the flood breaks having been repaired.

John A. Logan, Jr., has announced that he will sell all the stock on his famous Oriole stud farm, near Youngstown, Ohio. The Oriole stud comprises over 250 head, and is valued at $150,100. Among the famous horses is the hackney stallion Bonfire one of the purest specimens of the hackney in the world.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, June 19.—In the senate a joint resolution was passed allowing the secretary of war to appoint a commission of engineers to examine and report upon the cost of deepening the harbors of Superior and Duluth.

The tariff bill was laid before the senate, and at the request of Mr. Platt the two paragraphs, 298 and 299, of the silk schedule passed over Saturday, were again passed over to-day, and schedule M, "pulp, paper and books," was taken up. When the coal schedule was reached Mr. Hill and Mr. Peffer jumped to their feet. The New York senator was recognized, and he sent to the clerk's desk an amendment to relegate bituminous coal and shale to the free list, and made a speech in favor of free coal and the redemption of Democratic pledges. Senator Hill said he reserved the right to vote for or against the tariff bill, "when I see what it is as a finality," passionately exclaiming, "God knows what the bill will be like when it passes this senate and comes out of conference! God knows how many more extortions and conclusions will be wrung from the unwilling hands of the committee!" A vote was taken on Mr. Hill's amendment and it was lost—7 to 51. Messrs. Allen, Kyle, Peffer (Populists); Hill and Irby (Democrats); Hansbrough and Washburn (Republicans) voted in favor of the motion. Mr. Hansbrough moved that a proviso be added to the paragraph placing bituminous coal on the dutiable list, to admit coal free of duty to countries imposing no duty on coal exports from the United States. The amendment was laid on the table. Mr. Squire moved to increase the rate on bituminous coal and shale from 40 to 60 cents per ton; was laid on the table. The finance committee's amendment placing a duty of 10 cents on bituminous coal and shale and 15 cents on coal, culm that will pass through a half-inch screen, was then agreed to. Mr. Hill moved to place coke on the free list. The finance committee amendment made it dutiable at 15 per cent. Defeated—4 to 46, and the committee amendment was agreed to.

The Hatch anti-option bill was taken up in the house to-day and Mr. Hatch spoke in its favor.

Washington, June 20.—To-day upon the third trial Maj. Baldwin succeeded in getting through the house his bill providing for the sale of the pine on the White Earth and Red Lake reservations as fast as 100,000 acres shall be surveyed, examined and appraised. There was a slight disposition to objection on the part of a few members, but it faded away when the purpose of the bill was explained. Senator Washburn has promised to press the bill through the senate, and there is every probability that it will become a law at this session of congress. The bill is mandatory in its provisions, providing that the timber shall be sold and the result of the enactment will be to throw upon the market for next winter's cutting a tremendous body of valuable pine. The estimates of this administration have been over more than half a million acres of pine, and the work of the preceding administration was almost as large, although that will probably not be included in the first sales made pending the re-examination which is going on. But the timber estimated by the Douglass force will go on the market at one time in all probability. The bill provides that the sale shall be proclaimed by advertisement for four weeks in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Stillwater, Taylor's Falls, St. Cloud, Brainerd, Crookston and Winona, and a number of Eastern cities, and shall be sold at public auction at the Crookston land office. The lands hall be offered in forty-acre tracts, and in no event shall it be sold for less than its appraised value. The lands remaining unsold after each public offering shall thereafter be subject to private sale for cash at the appraised value at the local land office. As the appraised value of this timber is not less than $3 per thousand, it will be seen that if all that is ready is sold it will make a transaction running up into the millions of dollars.

The house went into committee of the whole to consider the anti-option bill and Mr. Coombs of New York spoke in opposition to the measure. Mr. Aldrich (Rep., R. I.) followed in opposition to the bill. At the conclusion of Mr. Aldrich's remarks there remained but an hour of 5 o'clock, and members were adverse to splitting their speeches up in two installments, but at length Mr. Fletcher (Rep., Minn.) consented to fill in the interval, and presented several letters from grain dealers protesting against the nayes were demanded by Mr. Hill when Mr. Jones offered the committee amendment to strike iron ore from the free list. It was carried—53 to 4, Messrs. Hill, Allen, Peffer and Kyle voting in the negative. Lard was stricken from the free list.

Washington, June 22.—There was a fairly good attendance in the galleries in anticipation of the opening of the income tax debate when Vice President Stevenson called the senate to order. As soon as the clerk had read the first section of the income tax provisions Mr. Hill, who assumed the leadership of the opposition to those provisions, took the floor and delivered a carefully prepared argument against the incorporation of an income tax in the tariff bill. Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) made a somewhat long argument against it, dwelling particularly on its inexpediency in time of peace and its objectionable features as a form of raising revenue for the federal government. Mr. Aldrich moved that the date on which the income tax should cease be Jan. 1 1898. The finance compromise amendment to the house bill, which provided no time limit, fixed the date on which it should cease as Jan. 1, 1900. The amendment was defeated—23 to 39. All the Democrats voted against it, together with Messrs. Dubois, Teller and Mitchell of Oregon, Republicans, and Allen, Kyle and Peffer, Populists. Mr. Hill, who was present, did not vote. The finance committee amendment fixing the time limit during which the tax was to run at Jan. 1, 1900, was then agreed to. Mr. Peffer then offered the amendment of which he gave notice yesterday, to levy a graduated income tax (incomes of $1,000 to be excepted), as follows: One per cent on incomes between $1,000 and $10,000; 2 per cent on incomes between $10,000 and $25,000; 3 per cent on incomes between $25,000 and $50,000; 4 per cent on incomes between $50,000 and $100,000; 5 per cent above $100,000. Defeated.

There was little of interest manifested in the house to-day, and several bills and resolutions were passed. There was some delay in taking up the anti-option bill, and an agreement was entered into extending the time for debate for two hours to-morrow, to be consumed under the five-minute rule, after which Mr. Hatch will be allowed an hour for his closing speech. Speeches were made by Representatives Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio), Wheeler (Dem., Ala.), Stockdale (Dem., Miss.) and Barry (Dem., Ark.) in support of the bill, and by Representatives Covert (Dem., N. Y.), Bartlett (Dem., N. Y.), Quigg (Rep., N. Y.) and Boatner (Dem., La.) in opposition to it. Mr. ePnce (Pop., Colo.) spoke on the silver question.

Washington, June 23.—Immediately on convening to-day the house went into committee of the whole on the anti-option bill. The bill was read by sections for amendments, and Mr. Aldrich of Illinois offered the first amendments, inserting "flour" in the list of agricultural products affected by the bill. The house, by a vote of 81 to 74, adopted an amendment offered by Representative C. W. Stone of Pennsylvania exempting thirty-day options from the provisions of the bill. It was an unexpected defeat. Mr. Hatch and others, amid general confusion, raised the point of no quorum. Mr. Hatch says the amendment, if adopted, will destroy the bill. On a demand for tellers the vote on the Stone amendment was 92 to 92, and is thereby lost by a tie. An amendment was offered by Mr. Lacey (Rep., Iowa) providing that in case a seller described in this act shall in fact be the owner of the property contracted to be sold at the time of the sale, failure to deliver at the time fixed in the contract, when caused by delay in transportation or the fault of the carrier shall be sufficient excuse for the non-payment of the final stamp tax provided for in this act. Adopted. Mr. Hatch was then recognized and was given an hour to close the debate on the bill.

The committee having arisen, the first aye and nay vote being on Mr. Cox's amendment as amended by Mr. Boatner's amendment permitting future delivery sales in due course of business, which was agreed to—11 to 129. Mr. Hartman (Rep., Mont.) offered a resolution to recommit the bill with instructions to report it back with an amendment for free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, ruled out on a point of order. Mr. Boatner (Dem., La.) then moved to recommit the bill with instructions to report a bill limiting the taxation proposed by the bill to transactions between citizens of different states. Lost. The bill then passed—149 to 87.

Senator Washburn says that he does not think the anti-option bill will pass the senate this session. He does not favor including flour in the bill.

When the tariff bill was laid before the senate Mr. Kyle took the floor. He made a general argument in favor of the income tax, dwelling on the decline of farm values in the West and the gradual concentration of wealth in the hands of the few. At the conclusion of Mr. Kyle's speech, Mr. Vest offered four additional amendments to the income tax sections. The most important one was one to reduce the exemption from $4,000 to $3,000, another exempted from the operation of the tax building and loan associations making loans only to their shareholders; another provides that in reckoning the profits of corporations for taxation, actual operating expenses, losses and interest on fixed indebtedness shall be excluded. The bill may be finally completed in the committee of the whole and reported to the senate late this evening.

SIX PEOPLE DROWNED.

Five Pleasure Seekers and a Man Who Rescued a Sixth Are Lost.

Brooklyn, June 25.—A cat boat was capsized by a sudden squall this morning off the Atlantic Yacht club house at the foot of Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn. A pleasure party consisting of six people, two men, two women, a boy and a two-year-old girl, were thrown into the water. The accident was witnessed from the shore and the club's steam launch at once put out to the rescue. The men women and boy sank, however, before assistance could be rendered them. The little girl was saved. As yet their names are not known and nothing was found about the boat to identify them. One of the men had worked heroically to keep the little girl's head above the water, and when she was taken from his grasp, his strength being spent, he sank and drowned before help could reach him.

Cyclone in Indiana.

Valparaiso, Ind., June 25.—A small cyclone passed through north of this city last night, striking Edgewater, a summer resort on Flint lake, demolishing a pavilion belonging to C. H. Dickover, in which were nearly 100 people, several of whom were slightly injured. Water from the lake was thrown about sixty feet, flooding the cottages.

Stabbed His Wife.

La Porte, Ind., June 25.—Peter Mason of this city quarreled with his wife and attempted to kill her with a knife. She received a cut across the abdomen which allowed her intestines to protrude. She bled profusely and is in a very critical condition. After committing the cowardly act Mason attempted to kill himself by taking rat poison, but he took an overdose and will recover.

University Extension.

London, June 25.—The duke of devonshire, chancellor of the University of Cambridge, presided over to-day's session of the international university extension congress. The relation of the financial side of the movement to the state and local authorities was exhaustively discussed.

New Postmaster at Elkhorn.

Washington, June 25.—The president has nominated E. C. Beckwith as postmaster at Elkhorn, Wis.

Mr. Johnson Comes to Grief.

St. James, Minn., June 25.—Fred Johnson was arrested here on the charge of attempting to dispose of a forged promissory note of $200 at the First National of St. James, signed by Gilbert Swenson and Charles Anderson.

They Threw Stones.

Northfield, Minn., June 25.—Kingman, Phillips and Jeffers, who were arrested for shooting and throwing stones at Reynolds' circus train sleepers, have had a hearing and were held to the grand jury in $500 bail. All secured bail.

CARNOT IS KILLED

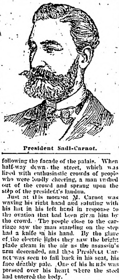
THE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE IS ASSASSINATED.

An Italian Stabs Him to Death While the President Was on His Way to Attend the Opera in Lyons After a Celebration.

Lyons, June 25.—President Carnot was stabbed by an assassin last night and died at 12:45 this morning.

The president was visiting Lyons in connection with the international exhibition. Upon his arrival here he was tendered a reception at the prefecture, after which he visited the exhibition. After spending some time at the exhibition he proceeded to the Palais de Commerce, where a banquet was given in his honor.

At 9:25 last night President Carnot started for the theater, where a gala performance was to be given because of his presence in the city. Several carriages were in the procession, the first one being occupied by the president. M. Carnot's carriage was driven slowly along in front of the Palais de Commerce and then turned into Rue de la Republique, still following the facade of the palais. When half-way down the street, which was lined with enthusiastic crowds of people who were loudly cheering, a man rushed out of the crowd and sprang upon the step of the president's landau.



President Sadi-Carnot.

Just at this moment M. Carnot was waving his right hand and saluting with his hat in his left hand in response to the ovation that had been given him by the crowd. The people close to the carriage saw the man standing on the step had a knife in his hand. By the glare of the electric lights they saw the bright blade gleam in the air as the assassin's arm descended, and then President Carnot was seen to fall back in his seat, his face deathly pale. One of his hands was pressed over his heart where the steel had entered the body.

M. Rivaud, prefect of Lyons, who was seated beside M. Carnot, immediately struck the assassin a blow full in the face and knocked him from the step, thus preventing the man from again stabbing the president, which it was his evident intention to do.

Instantly cries of "The president is assassinated! Death to the assassin!" were heard on every side, and the crowd in the vicinity of the carriage swelled to enormous proportions, every member of it seemingly intent upon killing the assassin. He was grasped by a dozen hands, and his life would have then and there paid the forfeit of his crime had it not been for several sergeants de ville, who seized him and attempted to draw him away from his captors. This was found to be impossible, as the infuriated populace were determined to lynch the man, and the efforts of the sergeants availed nothing beyond saving the man from instant death. Blows were aimed at his face and head over the shoulders of the police, who had by this time received reinforcements, and many of the blows landed fairly. At last the police succeeded in driving the howling mob back a foot or so from their prisoner, but to get the captive through the crowd was a physical impossibility.

In the meantime the news of the attempted murder had spread with lightning-like rapidity, and mounted guards were sent to the aid of the police, who were still struggling to preserve the life of the assassin. With drawn sabres in their hands the guards rode down into the crowd, heedless of whom their horses trampled upon. The crowd gave way before the horses, and at last the center of the mob was reached. Then a cordon was formed around the ten almost exhausted policemen and their captive, and the march to the police station began. Even thus surrounded the prisoner was not safe, for men in the crowd made frantic efforts to reach him. The guards repelled these attacks with the flat side of their swords, while at the same time keeping watchful eyes upon the crowd to prevent the prisoner from being shot. Maledictions were hurled upon the prisoner, and never before was such a wild indignation against a human being seen in this city.

In the meantime physicians were summoned to attend the president, who had almost immediately been conveyed to the prefecture. A careful examination was made of the wound, and the doctors declared that the condition of M. Carnot was hopeless. He lingered until 12:45 this morning, when he died. He was conscious until the last.

The assassin is an Italian named Cesore Giovanni Santo. When questioned by Prefect Lepin at the police station in Rue Moliere, he said he had lived at Cette, department of Herault, for the past six months, and had only come to Lyons yesterday. He gave his age as twenty-two years. His replies were given coolly, but without any sign of bravado. He refused, however, to answer any of the many questions put to him regarding his motive for stabbing the president, declaring that on this subject he would speak only before a tribunal. When he was searched by the police a book was found in one of his pockets in which it was written that he was born in a village

A Royal Kid.

Richmond, Eng., June 25.—The duchess of York, wife of Prince George of Wales, heir presumptive to the throne of the United Kingdom, was safely delivered of a son yesterday. The child will be immediately made a peer, probably receiving the title of the earl of Kent.

Italy's Income Tax.

Rome, June 25.—The chamber of deputies has adopted the first clause of the government's financial report, and then proceeded to discuss the clause increasing the income tax.

HUNG OVER AN ABYSS.

Street Car Passengers Have a Blood-Curdling Experience.

Minneapolis, June 22.—An interurban car, speeding across the Washington avenue bridge this morning met with an accident, and it was by a miracle that it was not hurled over the bridge and all the passengers killed. As it was, everybody received a scare that will keep their nerves on edge for many a day. How close all were to death may be imagined when it is learned that when the car stopped the wheels were within six inches of the edge of the bridge, and the rear platform jutted out several feet over the dizzy height.

It was about 7:20 this morning that car No. 730 reached the Washington avenue bridge on its way to St. Paul. A grinding sound was heard as it was coming down the hill and Conductor James stopped the car and stepped off to see what was the trouble. Nothing was seen and he gave the signal to start. About half way across the hind trucks jumped the track. The rolled along for about twenty feet and then mounted the sidewalk, dragging the rear end of the car toward the side of the bridge. There were about twenty-five passengers on board, two of whom were ladies. All were greatly excited and became frantic. By a common impulse they rushed to the rear platform and hurled themselves in a mass against the conductor, who barred their progress. The wheels crushed through the two-inch sidewalk grinding its way toward the dangerous abyss, and still the conductor stemmed the crowd. Had he let go it would have meant death for himself and many passengers, for the platform was already beyond the edge and had torn a twenty-foot section of the railing from its fastening.

Just as all expected to be hurled to the river below, the car stopped. Motoneer Cravens had reversed the current as soon as the trucks jumped the track, and the momentum was spent, but none too soon. Those on board made a wild scramble to the front and jumped off the car. Several were almost prostrated with fright and were hardly able to stand when they saw that they were safe. The bridge at this point is about 150 feet high. A paving stone was the cause of the accident.

BOYCOTT PULLMANS.

This Will Be Done by the American Railway Union.

Chicago, June 22.—Unless the Pullman company agrees to arbitrate with its men within five days a boycott will be put on its cars wherever the American Railway union is powerful enough to stop them. This is the positive assertion made last night by President Debs and Vice President Howard. At the afternoon session a committee from Pullman announced that they had but $1,300 left in the relief fund, and that they wer being drawn upon for over $300 daily. The committee further asked that the convention take immediate action. A motion was immediately carried levying an assessment of 10 cents per day upon every member of the organization, after which a committee of five was appointed to consider the question of a boycott, to report back to the convention in the morning. This committee will report favorably on a boycott unless Pullman agrees to arbitrate in five days, and President Debs says the report will surely be adopted unanimously.

HER OFFICIAL TRIP.

Cruiser Minneapolis Will Be Most Thoroughly Tested.

Washington, June 22.—The official trial trip of the Minneapolis will take place over the deep sea course from Cape Ann to Cape Porpoise about July 10. As so much in the way of premiums depends upon an accurate report of the performance of the great cruiser, the department has arranged to have eight or nine vessels stationed along the course to note with exactness the speed of the ship and gather data as to the strength of tides and currents for which allowance must be made. Accordingly orders were issued to-day to have the Dolphin, the Vesuvius, the Atlanta, the Iwana, the Fortune, the Leyden, the Fern, the Montgomery and, if possible, the New York report for this duty at Boston before the 10th to Commodore Selfridge, president of the trial board, who will assign the vessels to stations.

Addressed by Satolli.

Washington, June 22.—Mgr. Satolli delivered an address and distributed the diplomas to the graduating class of the Catholic university at the commencement exercises yesterday. The class contained fourteen members, ten of whom received the degree of bachelor of theology and four that of licentiate in theology. Rev. William Kirby of Dubuque, Iowa, delivered the valedictory address to the graduating class, and Rev. Dr. O'Gorman, dean of the university, and Bishop Keane also delivered addresses.

Public Buildings.

Washington, June 22.—A batch of public building bills, the largest of the session, passed the gauntlet of the house public building committee to-day and were favorably reported. They were: For Deadwood, S. D., $100,000; East St. Louis, Ill., $75,000; Indianapolis, $1,250,000; Eau Claire, Wis., $150,000; Clarksville, Tenn., $75,000; Oakland, Cal., $250,000; Eureka, Cal., $50,000; Santa Rosa, Cal., $80,000; Topeka, Kan., $130,000; Ann Arbor, Mich., $75,000; Omaha, $2,000,000.

Firemen Elect Officers.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 22.—The South Dakota Firemen's association ends a two days' meeting here this evening with a grand ball. Frank Furgeson of Canton was elected president, A. A. Grant of Yankton vice president, John Pettiborne of Sioux Falls secretary, Henry Schutz, Jr., of Scotland treasurer, Henry Tuffect of Sioux Falls and Frank Zienert of Yankton delgates to the national meeting at Montreal Aug. 20.

Cyclone Killed Two.

Bangor, S. D., June 22.—A cyclone passed northeast of here yesterday, totally destroying fourteen houses and killing a child of John Samfelt. The rest of the family were dangerously hurt. A man named John Long was also killed. A very heavy rain fell through the county.

Bookkeeper Embezzled.

Springfield, Mass., June 22.—R. C. Kneppee, bookkeeper of the Chicopee National bank, embezzled to the amount of $25,000.

EXCURSIONISTS LOST.

A New York Fishing Party Meets With A Disaster.

New York, June 25.—The tug James D. Nichol with sixty-three excursionists and a crew numbering ten or twelve sank yesterday some three miles off the Highlands. Fifty-four of those on board have been accounted for, but three of these are dead and the rest were probably drowned. The tug left Fifth street and East river at 7:30 in the morning, touched at Pier 3, East river, and then went on to the fishing grounds. She had, it is said, a license to carry fifty passengers, but sixty-three tickets were sold. There was a bar and a lunch counter on board, whose attendants brought, with the crew, the whole number on board up to seventy-five. The tug reached the banks on time, but the fishing was poor and the sea too rough for comfort, and about noon she started back. When about three miles east of the Highlands and about four miles south of Scotland lightship the waves began to break heavily over her starboard rail. To dodge the water and wind the passengers began to run around to the port side and to climb on top of the deck house. The boat careened alarmingly to port and the water swept in over the rail. The terror-stricken men rushed back to starboard and the tug swung deeply down on that side. At the same moment three heavy breakers struck the boat in quick succession. The captain, William Hyatt, stuck to his post and sounded the whistle in a prolonged scream for help. Even as he did so the tug filled with water that poured into her from both sides and sank out of sight in the water. She went down like a stone, carrying many of her passengers with her. The water choked the cry of the whistle, but not before it had been heard and heeded, and several tugs and steamers came to the rescue. Fifty-one passengers were rescued and three bodies recovered. The other people are undoubtedly lost.

DISASTER IN A MINE.

An Explosion in a Colliery Near Cardiff, Wales.

Cardiff, Wales, June 25.—A dispatch from Ponty-Prid, Glamorgan, says that a terrible explosion occurred late Saturday afternoon in the Albion colliery near that place. Nearly 300 miners are buried beneath the debris of the mine. Only seventeen have been rescued. The men who have volunteered to search the colliery have been at work continuously, but no further rescues have been effected. All hope for those still in the pit has been abandoned. The number of the dead will, it is believed, reach 250. It has been ascertained that 268 men and boys descended the shaft, and of this number only seventeen have been saved. A large number of bodies are buried beneath the earth falls, and it has been found impossible as yet to extricate them. Those not killed by the explosion or crushed to death by the falling earth and rock were undoubtedly asphyxiated by the after damp.

The bodies of those recovered who were killed by the actual explosion, which was terrific, were terribly mutilated. In many cases arms and legs were blown completely from the trunks. Limbs from missing bodies have been found in one place. A dozen bodies were found together. The men had evidently been overtaken by the after-damp while endeavoring to make their escape. The scene of the disaster has been visited to-day by thousands of people from the surrounding country. There were recovered last night thirty-six bodies.

MUST QUIT FIGHTING.

Chicago Irishmen Warn the Factions in Ireland.

Chicago, June 25.—The United Irish Societies of Chicago, in annual convention yesterday, expressed their condemnation of the movement to raise funds for the Irish parliamentary party. These resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The Irish parliamentary party remains divided, hostile factions, and continues to humiliate and discourage the friends of Ireland by the malignancy and personal bitterness which characterizes the hopeless struggle which is being carried on between the members of that party.

"Resolved, That it is the judgment of the representatives of the United Irish Societies of Chicago, in convention assembled, that neither of the factions to this pitiable and disgraceful quarrel should receive any aid or encouragement from the friends of Ireland in this country.

Resolved, That we earnestly appeal to the friends of Ireland in this city and throughout the country to refuse to contribute to either of the factions until they have the decency and patriotism to cease abusing each other and to unite in attacking the enemy of their unfortunate and oppressed country. If these factions are determined to destroy each other, and to let the cause of their country be degraded by their conduct, they should look for support, to Ireland's enemies, whose work they are doing, and not to Ireland's friends."

SAT DOWN AND DIED.

Sudden Death of an Old Man at Maple Plain.

Minneapolis, June 25.—Deputy Coroner Nippert was called to Maple Plain yesterday to investigate the death of John Brown. The latter was an old resident of that place, and was found dead by his neighbors yesterday. He had been living alone for the last two months, his wife living with her daughter in Minneapolis. He had been under treatment of a physician for a few days. The night before his death his neighbor heard him chopping wood, but in the morning when one of them happened to be passing the house he saw the old man stretched out on the grass dead. The deputy coroner made an examination of the body, but found nothing to indicate that death had been caused by anything but natural causes. The old man evidently sat down on the bank beside his house and died.

Unsafe Safe.

Albert Lea, Minn., June 25.—The safe of Malmer & Henry was rifled, the thieves getting $60. No arrests.

Not Credited.

San Francisco, June 25.—Advices received here state that the wreck of the schooner James Allen resulted in the loss of forty-one out of a crew of forty-nine. As reliable news was received a few days ago that only two men, the captain and first mate, were drowned, this latest news is not credited here.

Greece Quaking Again.

Athens, June 25.—Earthquakes were felt in various parts of Peloponnesus, the peninsula forming the southern part of Greece.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.25 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.5 a. m.	7.30 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special Information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent.
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Mrs. E. J. Kellogg left for her home at Stephen last Monday,

Dr. Lemieux was in town on professional business yesterday,

J. A. Dainard drove down to Crookston on business last Saturday,

We were favored with a nice rain last Saturday which greatly helped the crops.

Mrs. F. Reynolds, of Argyle, was here visiting her sister Mrs. Peter Hall last Monday,

Edward Gistie and wife have commenced housekeeping over L. K. Kolstad's store.

The River Falls township equalization board met in this village at the post office last Monday.

E. J. Holmes has rented the second story of the Sherwood building where he will live this summer.

The late rains have done wonders for the growing grain and the prospects for a good crop are again looking bright.

The boys in town are organizing a base ball club and will try conclusions with our neighboring towns later in the summer,

We were favored with some choice music by the Thief River Falls band last Sunday when they passed here on their way to Red Lake Falls,

Christopher Sandmoen returned yesterday from his Rainy Lake trip. Evidently by the way the boys are coming back the boom has collapsed.

Rev. Tunheim, Rev. Hegland and Miss Soustad are holding a series of revival meetings here in the interest of the Scandinavian Mission Church.

A republican caucus was held for the village last evening and C. G. Rapp and S. M. Dainard were elected delegates to the county convention at Crookston June 29th,

Elmer H. Stranahan came up last Friday staying here until Monday visiting his parents, He has a new trip now and will be here every month in the future,

C. G. Rapp, H. O. Jackson, E. H. Stranahan, Willie Stranahan, John Stranahan and H. J. Freeman attended the ball game at Red Lake Falls last Sunday.

The peoples party voters of River Falls township held a caucus last Monday evening and elected L. R. Bramsness and P. O. Hagglund as delegates to the county convention.

The village equalization board met at the village hall last Monday and a majority of our citizens went up and had a small kick about their assessment. It is astonishing how poor the average man becomes on assessment time and property shrinks in value at an alarming rate.

Postmaster Hoff informs us that commencing on July 1st the post office department will commence a new money order system. The old postal note will be abolished and only money orders issued. The cheapest will cost three cents and the highest, $100, will cost thirty cents.

The Crookston Tribune is again filled with a lot of trash in which Holston tries in a half crazy sort of way to prove that he has not been levying blackmail on gamblers and disreputable houses. He almost wholly avoids the question but tries to tell a few more lies to distract attention from his disreputable reputation.

We received an interesting letter from R. H. Aimer last week describing his trip to Rainy Lake City. He was well pleased with most of the country through which he passed but says there is not much doing in the gold fields at present the boom having died out, He states that they were two weeks in getting to Rainy Lake City and had a very pleasant trip. He expects to leave there for home this week.

The peoples party of Polk county will hold their county convention at Crookston tomorrow. They will nominate a full county ticket besides electing delegates to the state congressional and legislative conventions. Nearly every town in the county will be represented as considerable interest is being shown. The ticket nominated will undoubtedly be elected and there is sure to be some hard fought battles in the convention. Every township in this vicinity has elected delegates and it is expected that all will be present.

The following letter to Hon. Ignatius Donnelly from the Rocksbury alliance is timely and will be of interest to many who are thinking of using prison twine this season.

Town of Rocksbury June 16 1894

To Hon. Ignatius Donnelly
St. Paul, Minn.

Dear Sir; On the 16th of June 1894 a caucus was held in the town of Rocksbury for the purpose of electing two delegates to represent our town at the people's party county convention to be held in Crookston on the 28th of June next. I had previously written the warden in Stillwater for some information in regard to the prison twine and the conditions for buying the same I got a prompt reply and also a sufficient lot of samples. I brought the matter up and every one present was surprised to learn the decision of the boad of managers, not to sell twine on time in less than car load lots (20,000 pounds) This town would use in the neighborhood of 4,000 pounds and we are willing and anxious to patronize that industry at Stillwater. We are well aware that if that industry at Stillwater is not patronized by the farmers it will probably some day in the legislature be claimed to be a failure and a law be passed to quit twine making. Why could the board not just as well sell 3000 or 4000 or even 1000 pounds of twine on time till next fall at 7 cents, the parties giving a joint note approved by some one of approved commercial standing. We know very well that it is more trouble to send 1000 or 4000 pounds in one shipment but the difference in price is also one-half cent and that seems to us to be sufficient for the extra trouble, This arrangement seems to us to have been dictated by some one hostile to the spirit in which the arrangements were made to make twine at Stillwater. In obedance of the board of manager's promise to meet all legitimate competition, we the farmers of the town of Rocksbury, Polk county assembled for discussing the twine matter propose that the board of managers call another meeting for reconsideration of their last decision and change the limit for ordering twine on time. We for our part would make the following proposals: In carload lots, 6½ cents on time. In lots or shipments less than a carload but not less than 1000 pounds, 7 cents a pound on time. On amounts less than 1000 pounds at 7 cents the cash must in all cases accompany the order. In localities where farming is carried on in a small scale, that selling of twine only on time for carload lots would for many, who may possess a good feeling towards that industry, be a great obstacle in patronizing it, The raising of money to pay cash for twine is at present almost impossible and we do not know where a community can be found that can take a carload.

Whereas the money at present is so scarce that it is a curiosity to see a dollar and as money cannot be borrowed less than 20 or 25 per cent interest or even more and as it would hardly pay to borrow money at such an exorbitant rate at the time as we believe the state can sell 1000 pounds of twine with just as much safety as much safety as a carload to a party,

Therefore, resolved that we under such circumstances are not able to patronize the Stillwater twine this year as readily as we would. And by sending you this letter or resolution we hope that you would have this matter brought up and aired in the Grain Growers convention or elsewhere as you see fit. If this letter does no other good it will let you know the reason why we cannot use the Stillwater twine

Very Respectfully
P. Englestad
Sec'y. Rockstad Alliance.

Boodler Holston claims in the last issue of his smut mill that H. E. Ives offered him $1500 four years ago to support Merriam for Governor and that the offer was refused, Had he stated that the offer was promptly accepted the charge might have been credited, but as no one ever heard of Holston refusing to take a bribe, it needs no answer. He brings Hon. E. E. Lommen into the matter and on his statement we will let the matter rest. Holston is a fairly able liar but has not brains enough to tell one that the people will believe.

Reduced wages, strikes, lock-outs, boycots, riots, closed factories, idle men charity overworked, confusion, contention on all sides! All of which is due to the sadly impaired purchasing power of the mass of our people, due in turn, to the centralization of one-half the wealth of the nation in the hands of 30,000 men, Wicked cause! Deplorable dangerous effect!!—Farm Stock and Home.

Conductor Baker and Engineer Milligan were here yesterday with a steam pile driver and a crew of men. They had been fixing bridges and culverts between here and Shirley. They finished work at noon and returned to Crookston.

It is rumored on the quiet that the village council held a meeting last Monday night, As soon as we can get a ladder we will go up on the jail roof and find out what they did at the meeting.

Peoples Party Co. Convention.

Pursuant to the resolution of the peoples party county central committee of Polk county Minnesota, notice is hereby given that a county convention of the of the peoples party of said county will be held at the court house in the city of Crookston in said county on the 28th day of June 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to place in nomination candidates for the following offices viz: County auditor, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds, county attorney, clerk of court, judge of probate, superintendent of schools, county surveyor, court commissioner, and county commissioners for the second and fourth commissioners districts and to elect delegates to the state convention of the peoples party to be held at Minneapolis Minnesota on or about the 19th day of July 1894 and to elect delegates to the peoples party congressional convention in and for the 7th congressional district of Minnesota, and to the peoples party legislative convention in and for the 51st legislative district of Minnesota which two last conventions are hereafter to be called; and to appoint a new peoples party county committee and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each election precinct in said county and one delegate for fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Ignatius Donnelly for governor at the general election in 1892. The several towns and villages in this vicinity are entitled to the following number of delegates in said convention viz:

Black River	1
Bray	1
Emardville	1
Gervais	2
Gorden	2
North	2
Numedal	1
Polk Center	1
River Falls	2
Rocksbury	2
St. Hilaire	1
Sanders	2
Wyandotte	1

The total vote in the county will be 183.

The towns and villages which may have been detatched from other towns since the last general election will vote with the towns from which they were detatched in the election of delegates. We would urge the populists of each town to see that their town is represented at the convention with the full number of delegates to which it is entitled. Proxies will not be recognized except where the delegate and his proxie both are legal voters residing in the same town or election precinct. The committees of the several towns, cities and villages are requested to give public notice of the time when and the place where the caucuses are to be held for the election of delegates by posting at least three notices thereof in three of the most public places in the precinct at least ten days before the caucus is to be held

At the several caucuses in each town or ward the voters present shall elect a peoples party town or ward committee of three members and report their names and post office address to the chairman of the county committee. Only legal voters who believe in the principles and the platform of the peoples party, both state and national, and who agree to vote for the peobles party candidates that may be nominated by the several peoples party conventions are eligable to vote in the caucus or to be elected delegates.

Dated this 14th day May 1894.

A. R. HOLSTON,
Sec Co. Com.

C. U. WEBSER.
Chairman Co. Com.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the Village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1893,

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten (10) of Block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1893.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 5th day of July 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson.
Village Recorder.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

The Great Northern Ry. will sell excursion tickets July 3rd. and 4th. good to return July 5th at 1⅓ fare for the round trip.

Chicago June 21.—The People's party and its principles were indorsed by the American Railway Union convention today and by a unanimous rising vote the delegates pledged themselves and their constituents to support the people's party in its platform. This action was after a stirring speech by President Debs and a set of resolutions was at once adopted with great enthusiasm. The delegates also declared themselves unanimously in favor of the government ownership of railroads.

It is stated that so many delegates have already received instructions from their constituents regarding the proposed boycott of Pullman cars that the boycott is assured.

Six thousand miners rioting in Pennsylvania, destroying five coal tipples involving a loss of $30,000, setting adrift barges containing many hundred thousand dollars worth of coal, and training cannon in all directions from the heights of the Monongahela at McKeesport ready to fire on sheriff's deputies; 1,200 national guard soldiers ordered out in Ohio by Governor McKinley to protect coal trains; mines at Frostburg Md. defended by the Maryland national guard freight trains stoned by strikers in Indiana, and an engineer instantly killed and a number of other men badly hurt a terrible fight at Peoria Ills. in which strikers blew up an entire mining plant with dynamite, killing three men and wounding [illegible] their way to the Cripple Creek mining district in Colorado—this was the news of one day recently in the progress of our American civil war,—Midway News.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store

THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates,

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. Daily

NO. 3 North and West — NO 4 South and East

7 15 p m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m " ....Minneapolis.......... 9 55 am
4 25 a m ....Barnesville.......... 1 40 am
7 25 am Ar ......Crookston......De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De........Crookston........Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar......St. Hilaire......De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.0 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
[illegible] Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1894.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows, On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear,

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1894.

M. E. Bjerk,

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 29th day of June 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m, at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard,

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894,

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio, July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt., St. Paul, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

ARE YOU A HUNTER?
Send Postal Card for Illustrated Catalogue of

Winchester
Repeating Rifles
Repeating Shot Guns
Ammunition

.44 WINCHESTER MODEL 1873

—TO—

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS COMPANY,
NEW HAVEN, CONN.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]

OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
not in Advance, $2 00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JUNE 27 1894

A BIG PLACE.

A Determined Looking Buffalo Man Makes a Startling Discovery.

A determined looking man came striding into the editorial room. He held a bit of paper between the thumb and first finger of his right hand. "I am looking for the man who takes care of the statistics," he said sternly.

The figure manipulator was at his desk, and the determined looking man was escorted thither by the office boy. The man took a long look at the bit of paper he held in his hand and then asked, "What is the population of the city of Buffalo?"

The statistician told him that it was in the neighborhood of 325,000.

"Huh!" grunted the visitor expressively. Then he took another look at the bit of paper and asked, "Are the officers of the Buffalo Street Railway company reliable men?"

"That is their reputation," answered the man at the desk.

"If they put out figures, them figures is likely to be all straight and right?"

"Certainly."

This seemed to be the determined looking man's cue. He danced around the room for awhile uttering strange sounds, and then he shouted, "You fellows that make figures is all a passel of fools!"

"How so?" asked the statistician mildly.

"How so? Why, because you are. You say the population of Buffalo is a measly 325,000. I kin prove that the population of Buffalo is 'way up in the millions. You folks is always talkin about boomin the town an all that, an when you git a chanst you jist lay right down like a lot of chickens with the pip an let figgers what some other man made go for right with you."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that I have here in my hand the report of the street railway. It says they carried 40,525,511 people last year, an I want to know if that there don't prove that the population of Buffalo is 40,535,511? That's what it does, an you chumps sit aroun an say it's only 325,000."

"But, my dear sir," started the statistician, "you are laboring under"——

"I ain't laborin under nothin of the sort," broke in the determined looking man. "I got the figgers here, an I kin prove what I say."

"But," began the statistician again. The determined looking man would not let him continue. "Don't but me," he shouted. "It's as plain as the nose on your face. If the folks wasn't here, the street railway couldn't carry them, could it? That's the population of this town, an don't you forget it! London or none of the rest of them villages is in it. Three hundred an twenty-five thousand! You make me tired. Forty millions is the correct figger, an you want to get a move on an let the people know about it. We [illegible] in the metropolis of the world. I got the figgers to show for it, an I'm the only one that's onto it. Tell the people about it, an when it comes time I hain't got no objections to their buildin a monument for me for makin the great news known."

And while the statistician was catching his breath the determined looking man borrowed a few old papers and disappeared.—Buffalo Express.

Taking Him Down a Peg.

CRIMINAL LIMBS

—Truth.

An Equally Good Plan.

A clergyman who owns a farm found his plowman sitting on his plow resting his horses. Quote the clergyman:

"John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a scythe here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are resting a short time?"

"Yes, sir," said John, "and wadn't it be weel for you tae hae a tub o' taties in the puolpit, an when folks were singing to peel them awhile to be ready for the pan?"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Misunderstanding.

Sapsmith (terribly agitated)—Oh, that is awful! And will the poor fellah never be able to see again?

Steele—See again? What are you talking about?

"Why, haven't you just told me that Bertie Hyroller had his eyes shot out this mawning?"

"Naw! I said he had his ice yacht out this morning."—Puck.

Yo[illegible] I shall have to go out tonight, my dear. I have an appointment.

Young Wife—Oh, Tom, what is it?

Young Husband—An appointment with my tailor, love. He is to call here tonight to collect his bill.—Life.

Rather a Surprise.

Fair Visitor—I should like to see the editor of the woman's page.

Office Boy—Dere he is over dere; de fat man in his shirt sleeves, with de clay pipe in his mout'.—Brooklyn Eagle.

His Hobby.

The Office Boy—Mr. Jenkins has been in to collect his bill.

Mr. Short—Has he? Confound Jenkins! That's a fad of his—trying to collect bills.—Puck.

American Winters.

Teacher—When does the winter season begin?

Observing Boy—It generally begins about spring.—Good News.

And Biteth Like the Deuce.

Teacher—What is it, Harry, that stings like an adder?

Harry—The end of a leather strap.—Truth.

Jealous.

He—Why did she break it off?

She—Her dog Fido got too fond of him.—Brooklyn Life.

Signs of Spring.

Now climbs the warm sun higher,
And shouts the candidate;
A poet strings his lyre;
A liar digs for bait.
—Atlanta Constitution.

KATIE GOT STRUCK ON THE STAGE.

Arrah, Mrs. Ryan, no wondher Oi'm cryin:
'Tis throuble Oi'm havin av late.
How kin Oi be aisy whin Oi'm almosth drūv crazy
Along o' me big daughther Kate?
Sure, the way she is actin is fairly disthractin:
She's caught the t'eatrical rage.
As Oi'm a lone widder, there's no livin wid her
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She's at the t'eayter till midnight or later;
Comes home wid a tough lookin beau;
She says he's a "supe" in an operay troop—
Phat dat is Oi'm sure Oi don't know.
He tells her that yet she will be a soubrette,
Though the colleen is not yet av age.
She will be an actor—Oi've losth me charackter
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

Och, nobody knows how she uses me clothes
A-makin thim into costhooms.
From mornin till night me poor house is a sight
Wid her scene settin in all the rooms.
Her fayther's old britches she cuts ⌣ she stitches
To get hersilf up loike a "page."
Och, muther, thim pages! They drisses outrageous,
But she says it's sthoyle on the stage.

She schares me to death wid the scenes from "Macbeth,"
Whin Oi'm afther a-goin to shleep.
For thin she comes walkin and awfully talkin,
Till the chills up me backbone do creep.
She makes such a pother wid the "ghost of me father,"
And tells me, "Avaunt, quit her soight!"
Until, saints presarve us, I do be that narvous,
Oi can't shleep a wink all the noight.

She says she will shine in the very front line
And dance in the calcium's glare,
While all the old beaux in the baldheaded rows
Through their operay glasses will sthare.
She says her new tights is "clean out ov sight,"
And that she will be "all the rage."
All the girls in our alley are dancing the ballay
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She wance ran away wid an operay bouffay;
Got sthranded in Kalamazoo.
It took ivry cint I had saved for the rint
To pay her way home—now, that's thrue!
But sthill the poor child, she is perfectly wild:
Oi t'ink Oi will buy me a cage
And lock her up in it till that blissid minute
Whin Katie gets sick av the stage.
—Willard Holcomb in Buffalo Express.

A Night Fright.

With one fearful, tearing wrench I awoke from sweet unconsciousness to a sense of painful alertness.

I listened, but could hear nothing. There was a heavy, sudden stillness in the air that pressed upon my brain like the fumes of a drug. It seemed as though the silence itself was deafening.

I half rose from my bed and listened again breathless. Still the same awful quiet, as though the machinery of the whole universe had ceased working. I looked slowly around the room in the faint sunlight. It was my room, but how changed! I could not tell what the change was. I only knew that some awful metamorphosis had given every object visible the appearance of death—absolute death!

Had the world come to an end? Or was it simply I who was dead? No, this was not death, not my death, for I could feel now the bursting throb of my own heart.

The stillness of everything became more appalling, more terrible from the fact that I knew not what it was nor whence it came. I tried to shriek for help.

Not a sound would leave my lips!

Another moment and I should go mad, if—ah, what a thought!—if I were not mad already. This, then, was the meaning of it all. I was mad!

With a sudden leap I sprang into the middle of the room and gazed about to meet what might in my madness come to me.

Then I saw what caused the horrible hallucination. The solemn stillness, the strange quiet, the ghastly loneliness, were all explained. Three joyous, hasty steps, a few quick turns of the wrist, and all was right. With lightened heart, my brain free from the overwhelming strain, I went back to bed relieved and happy.

My clock had stopped.—New York World.

Hard to Wear.

Aunt Fanny was reading to the children. The czar of Russia had been threatened with assassination. She explained the situation, telling them why it was that a great emperor must live in constant dread of such a fate, making a little patriotic sermon in favor of the man who was "first in the hearts of his countrymen" and ending with the quotation, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

"Oh, Aunt Fanny, do they sleep in 'em?" exclaimed several of the children at once.—Detroit Free Press.

Thrifty Device.

"Hello, Kiljordan! Been buying a new overcoat?"

"No. Don't give it away, Shadbolt, but it's my old chinchilla. I paid a barber 50 cents to run his clippers over it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Sum.

He—Then what did you marry me for?

She—Mamma figured it up at the time and said it was for about a million and a half.—Life.

Agony.

The music ceased; the curtain rose;
I did not heed the play,
But gazed upon her lovely face—
She sat two seats away.
Her cheeks like tinted apple bloom,
Her teeth like gleaming pearls,
Her eyes as blue as summer skies,
A wealth of golden curls.

And as I gazed upon her face
There came a look of pain.
Like cloudy shadow o'er the land
It passed, then came again.
I saw the teardrops in her eyes,
The rose tint fade away,
And that fair cheek grow deathly pale
In speechless agony.

She turned and touched her escort's arm,
Then slowly went away!
My heart beat fast with sympathy;
I did not heed the play.
He soon returned and took his seat;
I gazed in great surprise.
He read the question I would ask
Flash from my eager eyes.

And as the music died away
His lips this answer bore;
"My sister's feet are number five,
Her shoes are number four."
—Boston Globe.

Relieved.

Women prayed and men cursed.

The storm howled and beat against the vessel's stanch ribs.

A white robed figure clung to the after-rail and peered into the darkness.

"She is gone."

The figure swayed in the tempest.

"No, she rises."

A great wave swept over the deck. The figure was kneeling now.

"She has sunk thrice. Is it a dream? After all these years to be alone at last!"

After a time the figure crept forward and reported the loss of a chaperon.—Detroit News-Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fif'een and 75-100 dollars, the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute, in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz:

The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof, in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o,clock a. m of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. May 29 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Sorrman against Adolor Edson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14139 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 16 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of July 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

Wm, Anglim, Receiver.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Mr. Jimsmith Was Prepared For a Different Individual.

Mr. Jimsmith, the lawyer, whose name is a household word in Chicago, recently moved into a beautiful suburban home. He is highly pleased with it in a general way, but so many agents call upon him that he finds it rather a bore. The other day he opened the door to 12 agents before the afternoon was half over, and when he was summoned to the door for the thirteenth time he was mad enough to fight a herd of porcupines. A tall, sad eyed man dressed in black confronted him and started to say something, but Mr. Jimsmith interrupted him:

"You don't need to tell me what you have to sell, because I don't want it. I don't need a burglar proof clock, nor a bootjack that has a music box in it, nor a stemwinding can opener. I don't"——

"My dear sir, you are mis"——

"Oh, you don't need to 'dear sir' me! It won't work. I tell you I don't want a gate that may be taken from its hinges and used as a folding bed. I have no use for a combined currycomb and mustache cup. I have a full supply of furniture polish, cough medicine and hair restorer, and, what's more, my wife doesn't need a recipe for preserving codfish or frying billiard balls."

"Really, sir, this is a most extraordinary"——

"Oh, of course, it's extraordinary, but I don't want it. I suppose it can be used to grate horse radish and tune the piano, but I tell you that I don't need it. Perhaps it will take the grease spots out of clothing, pare apples and chase dogs out of the yard, but you'll have to go somewhere else to sell it. I am surprised that a man of your age and respectable appearance should go around trying to sell pocket cornshellers when the whole neighborhood is full of wood that ought to be sawed. What's the use of trying to sell a man a fireescape when you can make $1 a day baling hay?

"I am not an agent."

"Then what are you?"

"I'm the pastor of the Orthodox Brethren church, and I came over to get acquainted, not knowing that you were running a private madhouse. Good day."—Chicago Tribune.

A Good Investment.

A prominent attorney living on [illegible] Pine street has a 5 year-old boy who, considering his years, is said to be his father's equal in shrewdness. The other day there was a little girl added to the family. The boy is not a lover of babies, but he dotes on dogs. The next day after the birth the boy began to wonder what his parents wanted of another baby, and if they had to have something new in the house why they didn't get a pup. That night he climbed on his father's knee and asked:

"Do babies cost much?"

"Well, quite a good deal," replied the head of the household.

"Do they cost more than $5?"

"Yes. They generally cost a great deal more than that."

"Did my little sister cost as much as $10?"

"Yes, she cost ten times as much as that. Don't you think she is worth more than $100?" said the proud father.

"Shucks, no!" exclaimed the future great. "Why, that baby can't do anything but cry. Can't hardly kick. Now, I know a fellow that's got the best kind of pup, and you can get him for $5. Now, if you wanted to make a good investment for me and something that I could use, why didn't you save $95 and buy me the pup?"—St. Louis Republic.

The Philosophy of It.

Pa and ma were sitting quietly near the fireplace. Pa was reading a paper, and ma was knitting. Presently ma looked up over her glasses.

"Pa," she said, "I b'lieve our Henry is in love."

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, he ain't et nothin for a week past to speak of."

Pa laid his paper down in his lap, folded his hands over it and gazed into the fire reflectively.

"It's kinder queer 'bout bein in love," he said slowly. "When people is courtin, they never seem to keer for victuals, but jest as soon as they git married victuals is about the only thing they'll hustle for seven days in the week."—Detroit Free Press.

She Remembered the Cat.

A webfoot woman who started to jump into the Columbia river to drown herself suddenly remembered that she had left the cat in the pantry and hurried back home. She afterward said; "The idea of my struggling in the water and thinking that the cat was licking the cream off my milk in the pantry at that minute was more than I could bear."—Walla Walla Statesman.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES,

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats,

Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand,

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 4 —List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.Y.

A GREAT SNAP

THE

FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The czar of Russia has sent to President Carnot a gift of six thoroughbred horses.

Shiloh's Cure
Is sold on a guarantee. It cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. 25cts., 50 cts., & $1.00.

A race horse clears from 20 to 24 feet at a bound.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Gun caps were first used in the English army in 1822.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The coal fields of the United States cover 194,000 square miles.

Knocked Out of Time
By that able blood depurent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the young giant, rheumatism, withdraws beaten. In maturity it is harder to conquer. Attack it at the start with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and save yourself years of agony and constant danger, for this malady is always liable to attack the heart. Potent in malaria, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and kidney complaint is the Bitters.

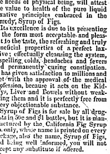
Importation of patent medicines into Turkey is forbidden by law.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The largest inclosed body of water in the world is the Caspian sea.

Never Buy Whiskey for Medicinal purposes unless you knew the bottlers under celebrated names are spurious, cheap articles, whose bottlers cannot afford to have their names on the labels.
Uncle Sam's Morgan Whiskey is bottled by the oldest and largest firm in the line in the Northwest and the favor with which it has been received is the best proof of its superior quality. Ask your druggist or retail dealer for it.

The word penknife is one of the words found only once in the Bible.



KNOWLEDGE
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.
Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

COOK BOOK
FREE!
320 PAGES—ILLUSTRATED.
One of the Largest and Best COOK-BOOKS published. Mailed in exchange for 20 Large Lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp. Write for list of our other fine Premiums. WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

WANTED 8 or 10 men to solicit orders for Hardy Nursery Stock, Fruit and Ornamentals; also new and valuable varieties of Seed Potatoes. Permanent positions; good salary, ranging from $75 to $125 per month. Apply quick with references.
L. L. MAY & CO.,
NURSERYMEN, FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN,
St. Paul, Minn.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS. ALL DRUGGISTS

MONEY for rich and poor. Such security as you have, returnable in easy payments; Agts. wanted in every locality; enclose postage for particulars.
U.S. Saving & Loan Co., Ohio Nat. Bk. Bld'g., Wash'n, D.C.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION.

ANGEL OF THE FERRY

It was a rainy foggy morning, and the ferry was crowded. As the daily paper proved dull and uninteresting, I turned to examine the faces of the men and women about me. They represented the familiar types you always meet en route between the two great cities at this time of the morning. The stooping, round-shouldered old bookkeeper, with seedy sleeves and abstracted air elbowing, perk young brokers' clerks in immaculate garments poring over pink sporting papers. Some women, mostly young, and generally fair-haired and ruddy-lipped, whom I took to be typewriters and office assistants, and here and there a tired mother with dingy children, and shabby factory girls in search of work.

To the latter class a young woman in decent black must have belonged whom I noticed. She looked as if she might have enjoyed a good cry, for her lips were moving tremulously together. Observing my rather rude stare, she let her eyelids fall, and hugged her shabby shawl more closely about her.

I was surprised to find myself getting very much interested in this seedy stranger, because since the new year I had become engaged to be married, and certainly had no business to think of any other woman in the world but my supposed choice.

To tell the truth, I was not particularly in love with my intended, though I had tried to view my approaching felicity in a romantic light. Miss Goldbug was the daughter of a rich man and was otherwise unobjectionable. There was no reason why she should not be able to wear the matrimonial chains as gracefully as though we adored each other. That is, the public need not know otherwise. Miss Goldbug's father was a power in the Swamp, and there was no chance of my rising above fifteen hundred a year in my present position; hence the opportunity offered could not be neglected. At the same time I thought as I sat there in the ferry that the future would seem much more inviting if my life was to be linked with such a young person as I had been staring at for the past ten minutes.

She was a young thing, scarcely more than eighteen, and despite her shabby attire she loomed above every woman in the place in point of superiority of manner and grace. Her face was pale and drawn, but very sweet and refined in expression. There was such a look of despair in her dark eyes that I found myself wondering if she was indeed starving.

Just then a portly man came between me and the object of my dreams. At the risk of losing my seat, I rose and walked around him to get a further glimpse of my shabby enchantress. She had disappeared. I pushed my way through the crowd and found her in the center of a circle of people. She was singing and her audience seemed to be highly interested. From her manner it was easy to see that she had not sung before in public. There were tears in her eyes that showed that she felt the humiliation of her position.

Her voice was very sweet and tender if it was not well trained, and I found my thoughts grow more and more sympathetic as the notes fell from her lips. She was singing, I suppose, because of the direst need, and I was only too glad to be able to help her. I took a bill out of my pocket and held it in readiness until the impromptu concert should be over.

Suddenly the song ended abruptly. What had happened? What, indeed! A big bullock of a man, with a huge, vulgar watch chain straggling across his vest, had seized the singer by the arm and was remonstrating with her roughly.

"You can't sing here," he was saying; "it's against the rules of the boat; so you just stop it."

He might have been the president of a bank or owner of the ferry line for all I cared at that moment, as I pushed up to him, bristling with indignation.

"What are you trying to do to that young lady?" I puffed.

"Young lady nothin'," he retorted, turning on me angrily. "She ain't got no right to sing here, and I jest told her so."

"Shame! Shame! Let the girl sing if she wants to. You talk right up to him, young feller," came in a chorus from the crowd, who were looking for a diversion.

"She's not hurtin' any one," I said, encouraged by the thought that the crowd were on my side. "What difference does it make to you?"

"You mind your own business!" was the ungracious answer. "I ain't goin' to be bothered by no female tramps when I want to read my paper. I got my rights, and I'll see they're respected. I'm right and you're wrong. She shan't sing no more." and he laid his hand upon her arm in a way that made me eager to throttle him.

"Put him off!" howled a voice from the corner. "Put him off!"

"Oh! please, dear, good sir; I won't sing—I won't sing. I didn't know I was doing wrong," implored the poor girl, in a sobbing voice. "Let me go this time and I promise never to trouble you again. Oh! you won't have me arrested, will you? I—I was starving, that was the reason. Oh! please don't give me in charge!" And she clasped that big ruffian's hand as if she meant to kiss it. Talk about your blood boiling! Why, at that moment I felt as if every drop in my veins had become burning lava. I was just eager to get my fingers around that brute's fat neck and squeeze it long and well. Nothing less than his death rattle would have appeased me at that moment.

If he hadn't been such a bulk of a creature I might have adopted different tactics, but I only faced him aggressively and said: "I'd like to see anybody arrest this girl!" then turning to her: "Go on and sing if you want to. I'm sure we'll all be glad to hear you; and you shan't lose anything by it, either," with a look at the big fellow that to all intents and purposes should have annihilated him then and there.

The crowd had received my remarks with approval, but I was hardly prepared to find a pair of moist little hands in mine and the sweetest face I had ever seen raised gratefully toward me, while she whispered: "How noble of you! How I wish I could thank you if I only knew how."

"Don't try in the best way," I smiled back cheerfully. "Just sing as you did before and I shall feel well repaid for what was, after all, a matter of justice."

Then I stopped short in what I was saying and become conscious of a tickling sensation at the roots of my hair. I had just caught sight of my expected father-in-law disappearing through the doorway. There was no mistaking that bald head of his, with its fringe of what looked like Iceland moss. Great Scott! I wonder if he had seen me clasping the hands of the little singer when she almost rested on my bosom? Would he tell Minnie about it? Worse than all, she might have been with him, for the crowd was so dense that it was impossible to see if he was accompanied by any one.

It looked as if my first attempt at philanthropy was destined to lead me into trouble. Meanwhile the girl was singing, and the sound of her voice fell like a balm on my troubled spirits. She was certainly adorable!

Somebody touched me on the elbow. I turned and confronted the ruffian who had been the cause of all the trouble.

"Well, what do you want?" as ungraciously as I knew how.

"Young man," he stammered, as if hesitating how to begin, "I confess I'm ashamed of myself."

"Well, you ought to be," as unconciliating as ever.

"I'm willing to acknowledge that I done that young woman a wrong," and he smiled in such a simple-hearted way as quite won me over. "I took her for a humbug, but now I see that she's a poor young thing that's been havin' hard luck, and that she deserves help. Now I'll tell you what we'll do—me and you."

I objected to the classification, but he certainly meant well.

"After she's done singing you go around, or I will, and take up a collection. In that way she'll get a peck o' change for the folks here feel for her. Here's five dollars for a starter," and he thrust a gold piece into my hand before I could recover from surprise. The next moment his fat fist was warmly clasped in mine.

"I confess that I had a bad opinion of you, but now——"

"Oh! we all make mistakes," he smiled back. "I doubted the girl because I have been fooled so often by humbugs. You doubted, so now we are 'square,'" and he gave me a dig in the ribs that might have angered me if I hadn't been in a melting mood at that moment.

This man whom I had taken to be an ogre was, after all, of the right sort, and I felt ashamed of having wronged him even in thought. When the shabby little siren began to sing in that sweet and tremulous voice again I forgot the fleeting view of Mr. Goldbug's bald head. I think I should have been content to listen to such singing the entire trip even if the ferryboat had been headed for Australia instead of Fulton street; but the song came to an end, as did my pleasant dreams, as our craft smashed into the dock, depositing me in the lap of a lady with a stony glare and a false pout. I had not forgotten my duty, however, but, taking off my hat, passed rapidly through the crowd. I took care to mention the fat stranger's liberality and a constant shower of silver was the result. When I returned with my booty and poured the money into her hands, the poor girl looked as if she were ready to weep again, but they were happy tears, and became her well.

I didn't attempt to speak to her, as she stored the money carefully away, but more than once her eyes, shining with gratitude, turned toward me, and I felt amply rewarded for the trouble.

The crowd was now surging around us forcing its way toward the doors. She looked so helpless among those rude, pushing people that the least I could do was to offer my arm.

Everybody seemed to be in an indecent haste that morning, it seemed to me. Perhaps if I had not been disposed to linger with the fair stranger I might have made better progress.

I fell to wondering if she were going to let me know where she lived before we parted, for I had made up my mind that a fatality had brought us together.

"S'pose you keep off my feet!" snarled somebody at my elbow.

I looked up and confronted my prospective father-in-law. We were just then in the ferry house and most of the crowd had swept by into the street.

There stood Mr. Goldbug towering above me and evidently in an angry mood, for he was flushed up to the bald spot on his head. His presence didn't worry me half so much as the sight of his daughter dangling on his arm. I tried to catch her eye, but she turned her face firmly away.

"Well, what is the trouble now?" I asked myself.

"Oh! it's you, is it?" glared Mr. Goldbug. "Well, you're a precious scoundrel—that's my opinion of you."

"Why, what have I done?"

"What haven't you done?—broken my daughter's heart," shaking his stick at me aggressively. "Damme, if I wasn't an old man you should feel this cane on your back!"

"Minnie, will you tell me what has happened?" I implored, turning to the daughter.

"Don't you dare address my daughter by her first name—or—or—or any other name!" foamed the old gentleman. "Were we not both witnesses of your shameful performance on th's ferry—embracing a person—a female—a disreputable baggage, before the eyes of a hundred people?"

"But I didn't embrace her!"

"Are you trying to make me out a liar in order to provoke a quarrel? I saw it all.

"I can explain everything."

"You will not have a chance. If I were to listen to you I might be won over by your plausible tongue."

"Oh, papa! you ought to give him a chance to defend himself," put in Minnie, peeping at me slyly.

"I will come up to-night and prove to you that you have wronged me," I said, gathering hope at her intercession.

"If you try to force your way into my house I'll have you thrown out!" was Mr. Goldbug's amicable response. "Come, Minnie, this is no place for you;" and before I could interpose he had bundled her into a carriage, the door slammed, and I was alone.

So then this was the end of all my hopes. I could only look forward to fifteen hundred a year from now on to the grave. I had burned my ships. Goldbug & Garroway's sign would never bear my name on its imposing front.

I looked around me, hoping to meet the soft eyes of the shabby little stranger, who must have been an unwilling listener to this tragic interview. She would sympathize with me; she would atone for the insolence of these purse-proud plutocrats. She—but, alas! she had vanished too!

I was disturbed, but not entirely overcome by her disappearance. She had quietly withdrawn out of delicacy rather than render my position more embarrassing than it was, dear girl! Fate had brought us together so strangely that I was certain we should meet again. When we did I should have a question to propound to her, and I had no doubt that the answer would be satisfactory to us both.

I would have been willing to have married her off-hand then and there, just to be able to show these Goldbugs how little I cared for them. They'd find out they'd lost a good thing when they tried to sit on me.

"I'll find her again, if I have to put detectives on her track!" I consoled myself by saying, as I took a car to ride to the office. "And when I do"—but what I would do was altogether too blissful to utter aloud.

My desk at Gutter & Flash's commands a fine view of Wall street, and to-day I looked out more on that busy thoroughfare than usual, because the sight of every woman in a black dress gave me a tremulous feeling about the heart. Once when a slender creature flitted by the window who greatly resembled the angel o' the ferry, I upset a bottle of violet ink in my perturbation over the ledger I was posting, which drew a reprimand from the head clerk and caused me to pay more attention to my work for the rest of the day. Oh! what a long, weary day it was, to be sure; and I was longing to be free to follow the trail of my lost love.

"Five o'clock came at last. I washed my hands and dragged on my coat.

"One moment, Mr. Parkinson, if you please."

It was Glitter, the senior partner, who spoke—a small, yellow man, with a rasping voice, who worked generally in a cage of a place in the corner of the room, which we called the "spider's web."

"You wished to see me?" I stammered out, with a premonition of impending evil, noticing that he held a yellow envelope in one claw-like hand.

"Here is a month's salary," thrusting the paper into my palm. "You see, we have decided to cut down expenses, and, as you appear to be getting very absent-minded, as I observed to-day, we must, I regret, dispense with your services."

I suppose I made some reply; I've forgotten now what it was. I thrust the wretched envelope in my pocket, bowed or tried to, and stumbled out into the street.

Well, this had been a day big with fate, to be sure! It all stunned me at first—my life had been so uneventful before. In the morning I had met and fallen under the spell of a seductive stranger. Then following this I had lost my wife—or rather my prospective wife—and now I had lost my place. Decidedly there was more loss than profit in that day's accounts.

A week ago the very thought of such a thing happening would have rendered me sleepless and appetiteless for a month; now that it had really occurred, I was quite surprised at the comparative calmness of spirit that pervaded my being.

I suppose that it was the thought that I was free now to prosecute my search for the girl of my heart that composed me. Once found I was sure that she would more than console me for everything. For I knew I should find her, but where and how I knew not then, which was well after all, as you shall see.

I generally dine at "The Fair Alsatians," on Twenty-eighth street; you may know the place. They give you seven courses and all the bread you want for seventy-five cents, with a pint of a strange red fluid thrown in, and which strangers drink under the belief that it is wine. I am an old customer. When I enter, Madame, the proprietor, comes down from her gilt and marble throne where she presides over the cash, and escorts me to a seat in the window, where some tables are screened off for the favored visitors.

My misfortunes had not interfered with my appetite on the night in question. I even went to the extravagance of a bottle of extra wine, over which I smoked and formed rosy dreams much more highly colored than the claret.

My cigar being out, I was roused by the sound of voices on the other side of the screen by which I sat. It was an old Japanese screen, and it was not my fault that a large hole in it gave me a view of my neighbors at the next table.

"How much did you get this morning?" said a man's voice.

"About twenty-five dollars, not counting the five you slipped in," laughed a female.

"That's a great game; only we must not work it too often. We'll find lots o' young suckers like that'n you caught this mornin', May."

My eyes were glued to the hole in the screen. They rested upon—no! no! it could not be! Yes! the face before me was that of the angel of the ferry; no longer pale and famished-looking. Her lips and cheeks ruddy, her soft hair crowned by a dainty Parisian bonnet. The man, fat, vulgar, and smiling, I had only to glance at to recognize again. All this dawned upon me in a horrifying moment, and then—then—I was conscious of falling, and that the screen was toppling over, too. A glimpse of the girl's startled face, an oath from her accomplice—then * * * oblivion!

What remains to be said of my first, last and only romance? Miss Goldbug has married, and now the old sign on which I once hoped to figure is changed. I have never seen the fiend of the ferry (as I now call her) again, which is, after all, fortunate. I am getting bald and old and disagreeable, and I never meet a young woman in black without a shudder of reminiscence when I think of the day I met my fate and my eclipse on the ferry!

Dogs and Pictures.

Apropos of the recognition of pictures by dogs, I think you may be interested in the two following facts which came under my notice a few years ago. A sagacious but quite uneducated old terrier came with his master to call for me, and coiled himself on the hearthrug while we talked. Turning himself round in the intervals of slumber, his eye caught an oil painting just over his head (a life-size half-length of a gentleman). He immediately sat up, showed his teeth and growled, not once, but continually, as both angry and mortified that neither eyes nor nose had given him notice of the arrival of a stranger. The next instance was similar, except that the chief actor was a young, intelligent collie, who, on the sudden discovery of a man looking at him from the wall, barked long and furiously. In both instances, after their excitement had subsided, I led the dogs to look at another picture similar in size, and also of a gentleman, but neither of them would take the smallest notice of it. I need only add that the picture which the dogs appreciated was painted by Sir Henry Raeburn—the other was not. Might not a few sagacious canine members be a useful addition to the Royal academy hanging committee?—London Spectator.

English Journalism in Siam.

Siam has its first English daily newspaper, the "Observer," which is a peculiar-looking sheet, as the advertisements are so thoroughly mixed with the reading matter that it is difficult to disentangle them. The editor seems to have adopted the plan of the late Elliott F. Shepard, as he runs a text from the Siamese sacred classics under the date line. The price of this little four-page paper is $24 a year or "one salung" a copy. The salung, it may be explained, is 15 cents, and four salungs make the tical or bat, equivalent to 60 cents in Mexican silver.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Really!

Hostess (in crowded ball-room)—Oh, Sir Hugh, isn't it too bad! Half these people can't sit down.

Sir Hugh (astonished)—God bless me soul; what's the matter with them?

Hostess (laughing)—Why, Sir Hugh how witty you are.

Sir Hugh (still more astonished)—Really!—Life.

A KENTUCKY MIRACLE

JUDGE JOHN RICE TELLS HOW HE WAS CURED OF RHEUMATISM.

Crippled For Six Years With Sciatica in Its Worst Form. He Expected to Die But Was Saved In a Marvelous Manner.

The Hon. John M. Rice, of Louisa, Lawrence County, Kentucky, has for the past two years retired from active life as Criminal and Circuit Judge of the sixteenth Judicial District of Kentucky.

He has for many years served his native county and state in the legislature at Frankfort and at Washington, and, until his retirement was a noted figure in political and judicial circles. The Judge is well known throughout the state and possesses the best qualities which goes to make a Kentucky gentleman honored wherever he is known.

About six years ago the bodily troubles which finally caused his retirement at a time when his mental faculties were in the zenith of their strength, began their encroachment upon his naturally strong constitution. A few days ago a Kentucky Post reporter called upon Judge Rice, who in the following words related the history of the causes that led to his retirement. "It is just about six years since I had an attack of rheumatism, slight at first, but soon developing into Sciatic rheumatism, which began first with acute shooting pains in the hips, gradually extending downward to my feet.

"My condition became so bad that I eventually lost all power of my legs, and then the liver, kidney and bladder and in fact, the whole system, became deranged. I tried the treatment of many physicians, but receiving no lasting benefit from them, I had resourse to patent remedies, trying one kind after another until I believe there were none I had not sampled.

"In 1888, attended by my son, John, I went to Hot Springs, Ark. I was not much benefited by some months staying there when I returned home. My liver was actually dead, and a dull persistent pain in its region kept me on the rack all the time. In 1890 I was reappointed Circuit Judge, but it was impossible for me to give attention to my duties. In 1891, I went to the Siluria Springs Wakeshaw, Wis. I stayed there some time, but without improvement.

"Again I returned home, this time feeling no hopes of recovery. The muscles of my limbs were now reduced by atrophy to mere strings. Sciatic pains tortured me terribly, but it was the disordered condition of my liver that was I felt gradually wearing my life away. Doctors gave me up, all kinds of remedies had been tried without avail, and there was nothing more for me to do but resign myself to fate.

"I lingered on in this condition sustained almost entirely by stimulants until April 1893. One day John saw an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the Kentucky Post. This was something new, and as more drug after so many others could not do so much harm, John prevailed upon me to try the Pink Pills. It was, I think, in the first week in May the pills arrived. I remember I was not expected to live for more than three or four days at the time. The effect of the Pills, however, was marvelous and I could soon eat heartily, a thing I had not done for years. The liver began almost instantaneously to perform its functions, and has done so ever since. Without doubt the pills saved my life and while I do not crave notoriety I cannot refuse to testify to their worth."

The reporter called upon Mr. Hughes the Louisa druggist, who informed him that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, have been very popular, since Judge Rice used them with such benefit. He mentioned several who have found relief in their use.

An analysis of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People shows that they contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of the la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—From the Covington, Ky., Post.

How do Sea Birds Quench Thirst?

Sea birds are believed to satiate their thirst partly from the falling rains and partly from the fat and oil which they devour ravenously when opportunity puts them in their way. The keen eyesight of birds is well known, and sea birds have been observed flocking toward the storm cloud about to burst from all points of the compass, and apparently drinking in water as it descends from the skies. They scent a rain squall, says an old skipper, a hundred miles or even further off, and scud for it with the most incredible swiftness. Sea birds obtain fat and oil from the fish which they catch and on which they subsist, and they have also been known to follow ships a considerable distance, picking up scraps of fat which may be thrown overboard. These birds are believed to be able to remain for several days and even weeks without being compelled to seek for water, though at the same time, their marvelous speed of flight would soon enable them to cover, when necessary, the distance between them and fresh water on the nearest land.—Frank Harrison's Magazine.

An Eel Fifty Years Old.

An eel whose age is fifty years is vouched for by trustworthy witnesses has been on exhibition at Groton, Conn. It died on being taken out of a well in which it had lived for many years, and probably would have lived to a still greater age had it not been disturbed. This eel was caught fifty years ago by C. O. Harris, of New London, Conn., and by him put in the family well. There was no way of escape for it and it seemed perfectly content to remain in its walled domicile. In 1870 the well was cleaned and the eel was observed to be in a state of good preservation. The other day the well was again cleaned and the eel was brought to the top in a bucket of water. It was then removed and placed in a bucket of Konomoc water. This transition probably caused its death, for within five minutes after being placed therein the eel gave up the ghost. The skin will be prepared and stuffed. In spite of its age the eel is [illegible] size, [illegible] sized one.—New York World.

ACID FOR SUGAR MAKING.

Gases and Water Combined to Form Saccharine.

A very novel method of making sugar has been patented in France by M. Pellegrini. Sugar is, chemically, a compound of carbon, oxygen and hydrogen, in such proportions that if carbolic acid, water and certain kinds of illuminating gas could be persuaded to unite, in the proper quantities, the composition of sugar would be exactly imitated. Hitherto, no one has been able to make a sugar by mixing water with two kinds of gas, but M. Pellegrini claims to have succeeded. The apparatus he uses consists of a large block of pumice stone, cleaned by soaking, first in sulphuric acid and then in water, which is set in an iron box, plated with nickel inside. The length of the box is three times that of the pumice stone block, which is tightly fitted into the middle, and pipes are arranged to convey the ingredients to the empty ends of the box, as required. Two of them enter from the sides, and serve to bring carbonic acid and hydrocarbon gas, while another pipe from above, branched so as to reach both empty portions of the box, conveys steam. All the pipes are fitted with valves and pressure gauges. Another pipe, at the bottom of the box, serves as an outlet. At first this pipe is closed, as is also the steam pipe from above, and carbonic acid is forced into one end of the box, while ethylene gas is forced into the other, under equal pressure and in equal volumes. A few minutes later the steam valve above is opened and steam forced in under the same pressure. As the gases unite the pressure falls, so that the supply of each must be kept constant. At the end of half an hour the supply of gas is shut off, the outlet pipe is opened and one of the chambers is found to be filled with syrup, containing 25 per cent of sugar. The syrup is drawn off for refining, and as soon as the apparatus is cool it is ready for a fresh charge. The ethylene gas can be obtained by roasting rosin or grease, but M. Pellegrini's patent covers other hydro-carbons, such as petroleum products. The explanation is that the three gases are condensed in the pores of the pumice stone and there unite; but M. Maumene, who has made some experiments, declares this to be doubtful, and in "Cosmos" expresses doubt as to the success of the process.—American Architect.

HUBBY COMES HOME LATE.

Make Him Repeat This and Thus Prove That he Has Been Abstemious.

Men who are accustomed to being out late, and who on such occasions, are liable to become slightly tongue-tied, should closely study the following, which was recently printed in the Philadelphia Times:

Six thick thistle sticks.

Flesh of freshly fried flying fish.

The sea ceaseth and it sufficeth us.

High roller, low roller, rower.

A box of mixed biscuits, a mixed biscuit box.

Strict, strong Stephen Stringer snared slickly six sickly, silky snakes.

Swan swam over the sea; swim, swan, swim; swan swam back again; well swum, swan.

It is a shame, Sam; these are the same, Sam. 'Tis all a sham, Sam, and a sham it is to sham so, Sam.

A growing gleam glowing green.

The bleak breeze blighted the bright broom blossoms.

Susan shines shoes and socks; socks and shoes shine Susan. She ceaseth shining shoes and socks, for shoes and socks shock Susan.

Robert Rowley rolled a round roll round; a round roll Robert Rowley rolled round.

Oliver Oglethorp ogled an owl and oyster. Did Oliver Oglethorp ogle an owl and oyster? If Oliver Oglethorp ogled an owl and oyster, where are the owl and oyster Oliver Oglethorp ogled? Hobbs meets Snobbs and Nobbs; Hobbs bobs to Snobbs and Nobbs; Hobbs nobs with Snobbs and robs Nobbs' fob. "That is," says Nobbs, "the worse for Hobbs' jobs" and Snobbs sobs.

Sammy Shoesmith saw a shrieking songster. Did Sammy Shoesmith see a shrieking songster? If Sammy Shoesmith saw a shrieking songster, where's the shrieking songster Sammy Shoesmith saw?

I went into the garden to gather some blades, and there I saw two pretty babes. "Ah, babes, is that you, babes, braiding of blades, babes? If you braid any blades at all, babes, braid broad blades, babes, or braid no blades at all, babes."

You snuff shop snuff, I snuff box snuff.

Repairing a Dog's Spine.

A unique operation has been successfully performed by Dr. James Haley, a veterinary surgeon of New London. A handsome little cocker spaniel was brought to him a short time ago suffering with curvature of the spine as the result of a kick administered by some brute.

The little fellow's back was twisted out of shape and he was practically helpless. His back legs were helpless and he could not move. He was always a sufferer and kept moaning and whining. Dr. Haley thought when he first saw the dog the most humane thing to do was to kill him, but he was such a handsome little fellow the doctor thought he would try to save him.

After administering an anesthetic the spine was straightened and the dog was encased in a plaster of paris jacket, swung in straps and given proper medicine and food. Finally, this week the plaster was removed and the dog stood on his feet for a moment in a surprised sort of way, then he wagged his tail, gave a spring into the air, and, with a loud bark, started off on a dead run in a circle, barking like mad. He kept it up for about ten minutes, and seemed anxious to show every one he was all right.

He is just as good a dog now as he ever was, climbs stairs without trouble, and gets about with just as much ease as any of his playfellows. The doctor is quite proud of his job, and the owner of the dog is, of course, greatly pleased, to say nothing of the dog himself.—Hartford Times.

Artistic Pills.

The fashionable pill par excellence is not orb-shaped, as were those which have held their own for so many years, gagging ailing humanity and making more and yet more opulent the patient medicine man, but are sizeable disks. Now there is nothing new in covering pills of various colored ingredients with a uniform coating of sugar, but it is a new notion to make the same concession to the eye that the confectioner does with his wares, and to tint some of their medicated disks a delicate apple-blossom pink so that, as they are bestowed in glass jars, they are in appearance as tempting and, in fact, are not unlike bonbons of similar size.—Chicago Tribune.

"I Suffered from Catarrh
For more than a dozen years. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have taken over six bottles and I am now perfectly free from catarrh. I am looking and feeling better. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for any complaint caused by impure blood, and especially for catarrh." JAMES C. SCHMIDT, 4222 Edmund Street, Frankford Station, Philadelphia, Pa.
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Hood's Pills are purely vegetable.

SEIZED BY A GIANT.

A Ghostly Tragedy on an Indiana Country Road.

The farmers in the vicinity of Chesterfield, Ind., where the Spiritualists hold their annual camp meetings, are greatly excited over an apparition that has appeared to persons in that vicinity. Sunday night, while returning home, Ed Andrews and George Merrill, two well known farmers, were confronted in the road by this apparition. It was almost identical with that seen near this city a month ago at an abandoned gas well, and which has never been accounted for.

It was that of a man of giant proportions, fully ten feet high. By his side, and apparently rising out of the ground, was slowly materializing the form of a ravishingly beautiful woman, who shines with a dull but decided glow. Long black hair fell down over the white robe in which she was arrayed, and made a lovely figure. The two began to talk, although no sound could be heard. This wordless conversation finally developed into a fierce quarrel. The giant seized the woman in his arms, and grasping her white throat drew a dirk from his belt and plunged it into her side and cast her to the ground.

The blood flowed from the awful wound, and she slowly sank into nothingness and disappeared from sight as she writhed in pain.

Directly after she had disappeared the giant cast the knife to the ground and a moment later had also dematerialized and vanished. The scene lasted in all perhaps five minutes, and during that time not a sound was heard—no words were spoken. The farmers, who had stood in terrified wonder during the awful scene, rushed to the spot, but could find no evidence to bear witness to what they had seen. The knife was gone and the ground was unstained with blood.

A watch party went to the same place last night, and about 2 o'clock the same tragedy was repeated, and three more persons saw the awful sight.

Spiritualists claim that the spirits of the dead walk in the vicinity of the camp grounds every night, and that the specter is one of the dead come back to avenge the wrong done to him by a woman, who also is dead, and that these scenes are given as a warning to the living. Others aver that the principals are some of the early settlers of the county who lived here at the time of the settling of old Camp Anderson by the old Indian chief Kith-La-Le-Land. Whatever the cause, the affair is stirring up a great deal of excitement, and parties are afraid to pass near the Spiritualistic camp grounds after night for fear of coming in contact with the giant and his companion.—Washington News.

CRANKS AT THE CAPITOL.

Odd Disturbances Occasionally Take Place in the Galleries of the House.

The recent appearance of a demented negro in the gallery of the house of representatives recalled numerous similar occurrences to some of the older members. In the Forty-fifth congress, says the Washington Post, when the 5th of March came upon Monday, a deadlock over an appropriation bill led to a session which lasted until Sunday forenoon. While the house was thus in session, continuing the legislative day of Saturday, an evangelist, who had been in the habit of holding street meetings near the capitol, arose in the reserved gallery and in a loud voice invoked the curse of the Almighty upon congress desecrating Sunday by remaining in session. He was promptly hustled out, but in the midst of the excitement a member arose and said: "Mr. Speaker, I agree with the man who has just been ejected from the gallery. I do not think we ought to be in session on the Lord's day. I move this house adjourn."

The motion was immediately carried. Once, in the Forty-eighth congress, while Samuel J. Randall was speaking, an Irishman in the gallery stood up and said: "Oh, Mr. Randall, what do you talk so much for? Why don't you do something and stop talking?" This man was also promptly sent out of the building.

But no one ever gave the capitol officials so much trouble as Dr. Mary Walker. She had an idea that she was entitled to the floor under a vote of thanks, and she would slip in among the members at every opportunity. Once, it is said, she took a seat in a chair by the speaker's desk, and when the gavel fell at noon she refused to budge. The only way by which the doorkeeper could get rid of her was to carry her out, chair and all, and this was done with more speed than politeness.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.
Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present to their easy-going doctor, separate diseases, for which he prescribes, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have promptly cured the disease.
MRS. HANNY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Jefferson Co., Neb., writes: "For two years I was a sufferer. A part of this time had to be carried from my bed. Was racked with pain, had hysteria, was very nervous, no appetite and completely discouraged. A few bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' effected a perfect cure." Sold by all dealers in medicines.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1894. NUMBER 48

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

President Cleveland makes a statement to show that the national finances are not in such bad condition, after all.

Amendments offered by Senator Hill to exempt state, county and municipal bonds from the operations of the income tax are lost on close votes.

Vice President Stevenson certifies the cases of Havemeyer, Searles and McCartney, the recalcitrant witnesses in the sugar investigation, to the district attorney.

Personal Mention.

Egisto P. Fabbri, formerly a member of the banking firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co., died at Florence, Italy.

Dr. John H. Apperson, a noted physician of Tuscola, Ill., is dead, aged 79 years.

Dr. Graham A. Wells, the oldest dentist in Indianapolis, is dead. He was born in Red Creek, N. Y., sixty years ago, and located in Indianapolis in 1856.

J. P. Walter sof Dalton, Ill., is dead, aged 86 years. He was a noted abolitionist and co-worker of Allen P. Lovejoy in the underground railway thirty-five years ago.

Mrs. Annie Kapchowski has started from Boston, Mass., to make a trip around the world in fifteen months to settle a wager of $20,000 to $10,000 that it cannot be done.

Lord Randolph Churchill has engaged passage for New York on board the White Star steamship Teutonic, on her next trip from Liverpool for New York. He will visit Chicago and will sail from Vancouver for Japan.

Mrs. Paul Boynton, of Hoosie Falls, N. Y., died June 13, at the age of 101 years and three days. She was in perfect health up to three or four days before her death, retaining all her faculties. During her long life she had never had any illness of a serious nature.

Caleb Foote of Salem, Mass., died last week at the age of 91. In 1817 he was on the Salem Gazette. He worked himself up to editor and proprietor, and remained on the paper until October, 1888. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature for one term and was postmaster of Salem for three years.

Maj. Charles Davis of Harrisburg, to whom the war department has given a medal in recognition of his gallantry "at Shelbyville, June 27, 1863," charged at the head of his regiment, the Seventh Pennsylvania cavalry, on that day, captured a Confederate battery, and killed in sword combat its commander, Capt. Freeman of Huntsville, Ala.

Gen. R. A. Colston, who commanded Stonewall Jackson's brigade at Cedar Mountain, was recently removed from a subordinate position in the surgeon general's office at Washington after suffering a stroke of paralysis, and he is now living in a destitute condition in that city. At a recent meeting of the local Confederate Veterans' association it was decided to render the old soldier all the aid in the association's power.

Unfortunate Events.

The bell tower of the city hall at Brazil, Ind., was blown down.

The steamer Plymouth is still on the rocks off Long Island coast.

Forty-two lives are now thought to have been lost by the sinking of the tug Nicoll near New York.

Robert and Albert Lowry, aged five and seven years, respectively, were drowned at Camden, N. J.

John Brown was drowned while swimming in the Illinois river just below Peoria.

A mass of rock fell down a mine shaft at Boulder, Mont., a distance of 100 feet, terribly mangling two miners.

Omer Knotts, a seven-year-old boy of Elwood, Ind., was thrown from a horse and killed.

Christopher Averhill was drowned at Toledo, Ohio, by the capsizing of a skiff.

The grand stand at the Williams race track at Galesburg, Ill., was blown down.

A Vandalia freight train was wrecked at Kemp, Ill., by the breaking of the front truck of the engine. No one was killed.

A Vandalia freight train was wrecked at Kemp, Ill., and Engineer Johnson was pinned under his engine for an hour. He will recover.

A cyclone at Washington Court House, Ohio, damaged a number of buildings. Several persons were injured by flying debris.

Mary O'Brien was burned to death at Springfield, Ohio, while playing around a bonfire, and her mother was seriously burned.

George Donald, a brakeman, and Henry Meyers, a negro, were killed in a freight wreck near Sunlow, W. Va.

Several buildings were blown down by a tornado near Perry, Okla.

Marion Jones was killed and John Maxwell fatally crushed by an explosion in a mine at Gustania, Iowa. They were drying a fuse by their lamps when a spark flew into the powder.

Criminal Doings.

Three prisoners escaped from jail at Indianapolis, Ind.

Ernest Paulus was found dead at St. Louis. He had shot himself.

Frederick Bahr of New Brunswick, N. J., killed his wife and then himself. He is believed to have been insane.

James Jackson, colored, was found in the room of a young lady at Decatur, Ill. He narrowly escaped lynching.

The six masked men who held up a train at Homerville, Ga., secured $1,222 from the express safe.

Two young men on trial at Spring Valley, Ill., for assaulting a woman are badly beaten by a mob of women, and one will probably die.

Elmer C. Sattlick, president and cashier of the Kansas City Deposit and Savings bank, accused of wrecking, was placed on trial at Independence, Mo.

A motion for a new trial has been made for Gus Menghausen, the ex-policeman under death sentence at Mascoutah, Ill., for murdering his wife.

In attempting to quell a saloon row at Clinton, Iowa, Police Capt. Cole was probably fatally wounded. William Ryner was killed by the officer.

Philadelphia police lieutenants, charged with extortion, were summoned before a court of inquiry. They entered pleas of not guilty.

Geo. A. Dazey, on trial for conspiracy to defraud the Commercial National bank of Nashville, Tenn., of which the convicted Frank Porterfield was cashier was found guilty on two counts.

Jacob L. Quick cashier of the Londonville Banking company, accused of embezzling $75,000 and who fled to Canada, returned to Londonville, Ohio, and was arrested.

Miners at Adrian, Pa., attacked a carload of special police, thinking they were non-union workmen. A company of militia charged the crowd and a woman was wounded with a bayonet.

William Ryner, shot by Officer Cole, at Clinton, Iowa, is dead. A mob of his friends sought to kill Cole, and was only prevented from doing so by a strong special guard.

William Stacy of Iowa Falls, Iowa, has been hanged by a mob in Texas. He went to Texas and engaged in some land swindling scheme and fell a victim to Judge Lynch.

Foreign Gossip.

Inoculation is being successfully used in India in fighting the cholera.

The new ruler of Morocca, Sultan Abdul Aziz, has been married to the daughter of Mulai Ershid, an uncle of the late Sultan Muley Hassan.

Two hundred and thirty bodies have been recovered from the Albion colliery at Cilfyndd, the scene of the recent explosion of fire damp.

The Duchess of York, wife of Prince George of Wales, heir presumptive to the throne of the United Kingdom, was safely delivered of a son on June 23. He will immediately be made a peer, probably receiving the title of Earl of Kent.

All the special dispatches received at Berlin concur in stating that Casimir-Perier's election was well received throughout Germany as an augury of peace. All the morning papers of Berlin express their satisfaction with the election.

President Carnot of France was stabbed by a young Italian in Lyons and died in a few hours. Determined efforts were made to lynch the assassin, who is an anarchist. M. Casimir-Perier has been chosen president to succeed M. Carnot.

The queen's privy council has granted the petition of the Catholics of Manitoba for leave to appeal from the judgment of the supreme court of Canada, of Feb. 20, 1894, which, it is claimed, affects the rights of the Catholic schools of Manitoba.

A dispatch from Constantinople to the London Daily News says that no newspaper in that city has been allowed to publish any account of the assassination of M. Carnot. The papers were only permitted to chronicle that the president of France had died suddenly.

The duke of Devonshire presided at the morning session of the university extension congress in the lecture theater of the University of London, Mr. Parsons of New York strongly supported state aid for university extension. A resolution to this effect was carried after a long discussion. Mr. Butler of Chicago and Mr. Davidson of New Brunswick spoke upon the extension movement in America.

An immense meeting of socialists was held in the Prater at Vienna it being estimated that fully 25,000 were present. The object of the meeting was to declare in favor of universal suffrage for which the Austrian workmen have been agitating for a long time. The speakers urged that agitation be continued until the demand was conceded. It was the intention of the socialists to have a procession through the principal streets of the city.

Otherwise.

Miss Teresa Gramer died at St. Joseph, Mo., from drinking icewater.

California fruit canners have formed a trust.

The Standard Oil company opens war upon the Boston gas trust.

Dr. Joseph P. Thomas, a prominent physician, died at Hopkinsville, Ky.

John L. Donovan, Jr., a prominent young lawyer of Kankakee, Ill., is mysteriously missing.

Wheat harvest has begun in Montgomery county, Ill. The yield promises to be the largest in ten years.

Dr. Joseph P. Thomas, president of the Kentucky Medical association and a writer on scientific subjects, died at Hopkinsville.

Indiana mine operators have yielded to the demand of their men for increased pay and work has been resumed.

Gen. Tarney adjutant general of Colorado is tarred and feathered by deputies, in consequence of ill-feeling growing of the Cripple Creek strike.

President Tracy is re-elected by the League of Republican Clubs. Cleveland is chosen as the next place of meeting.

Threatened with starvation the Coxeyites have determined to break camp at Washington. After marching to New York to give Wall street an object lesson the army will return to Massillon.

The Rev. E. G. Pelly, a Methodist preacher, of Burlington, Ind., has been found guilty of conduct unbecoming a clergyman and dismissed from the ministry. He will appeal his case to the conference.

The conductors of the Atlantic and Pacific trains reports myriads of grasshoppers on the continental divide in New Mexico. The railroad tracks have become so slippery from the slaughter of hoppers that the wheels slip under the engine and sand has to be used.

Another prominent Western statesman is about to make a summer residence near New York. This is ex-United States Senator Thomas W. Palmer of Michigan and president of the national commission of the world's fair. Mrs. Palmer has just purchased the Lockwood place at Larchmont.

THE STRIKE EXTENDS

MANY ROADS ARE TIED UP BY THE A. R. U.

Not a Wheel Is Turning on the Northern Pacific, and Many of the Chicago Roads Are Tied Up or Are Badly Crippled.

Chicago, June 28.—The employes of the Chicago Great Western railway went out, making a total of eleven Chicago roads now tied up or crippled by the American Railway union boycott of Pullman cars. The roads so far affected by the strike at this point are the Illinois Central, Santa Fe, Chicago Great Western, Chicago & Northern Pacific, Western Indiana, Wisconsin Central, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Wabash, Grand Trunk, Monon and the Baltimore & Ohio. On some of these roads Pullman cars were still being carried, but the strike leaders confidently asserted that to-morrow will see the boycott completely effective. The men, who have been leaving slowly and in small lots are beginning to show the effects of the A. R. U. "missionary" work, and the boycott sentiment was much more general and more apparent than any previous time since the strike began. An attempt was made this evening to send out the St. Paul train on the Chicago Great Western with a Pullman sleeper attached. The train started out but when it was found that the sleeper had been copied on, a train man pulled the bell rope and as the engineer reversed the engine twenty men rushed to the coupling and in a few moments the train pulled out leaving the Pullman in the depot. Crowds of strikers and sympathizers gathered in the railroad yards in various portions of the city and the police were kept busy in preventing threatening riots. Strikers drove Illinois Central employes from the yards at Fordham despite the efforts of a detail of police and an additional force was sent to that point. Later in the evening a large crowd gathered in the Western Indiana yards at Archer avenue and became so threateningly demonstrative that the police force there was doubled.

Chicago, June 29.—The extent of the Pullman boycott strike was indicated to-day by the flood of telegrams received by President Debs, of the American Railway union. The movement has gathered strength until now it paralyzes the traffic of the whole West. Perishable freight is being ruined on side tracks of overland routes in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California, as well as Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Oregen, Idaho, Minnesota, and the Dakotas. Travel is stopped from the Pacific coast east, and not a car is leaving Chicago for the West.

St. Paul, June 29.—The Northern Pacific is practically tied up. General Manager Kendrick admits it and confesses that the American Railway union has ordered out every member who works in any capacity for that line. The general strike began at midnight, the fight is on and it promises to be a long one and a strong one, but in this particular instance the A. R. U. has tackled the United States of America and has a job on its hands. Not only was the train for Fargo due out of here at 8 o'clock last evening stalled, but a similar train, due to leave here at 9 this morning, was left idle at the Mississippi street yards. The only part of the road that is being operated is the Pacific division. In St. Paul the tie up is complete.

Chicago, June 30.—The packers at the stock yards tried to induce the strikers to take eight trains loaded with beef, and held by them, through, as their refusal to do so would throw thousands of men at work at the yards out of employment. The men refused and the trains were returned to the packing houses. The packers say they will be afraid to send perishable freight out of the yards while the strike lasts, as they fear it would spoil. The result already is that before long the stock yards business will be paralyzed, whether the railroad employes in the yards strike or not. To-day two trains of live stock on the Santa Fe and on the Illinois Central outside of the yards remained on the tracks because the trainmen refused to move them. The Chicago & Alton is badly crippled. Passenger trains have been put in fairly good shape. Freight traffic is badly congested and much perishable goods is being ruined. The railway union officers claim that they will have the road tied completely. President Debs says that within twenty-four hours matters will be in such a shape themselves that a strike on the Burlington would be effective. Said President Debs: "It is life or death with one of the two sides. We must kill the managers' association or it must disrupt organized labor in America for years to come."

St. Paul, June 30.—The tie-up in St. Paul and Minneapolis was broken last night, when trains on every road entering both cities went out. All had Pullman cars attached. It is not certain that the trains will not be stopped before going very far. Large crowds collected at the depots, but there was no trouble.

St. Louis, June 30.—Director Kern, of the A. R. U., received word from President Debs that a strike had been declared on the entire Gould system. M. J. Elliot, another director of the A. R. U., has arrived here to assist Kern in the management of the strike.

Duluth, Minn., June 30.—The tie-up o the Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific roads was broken last night. The west-bound and Chicago trains, both carrying sleepers, were sent out with regular train crews and without any difficulty. No trains have been moved on the Omaha.

Chicago, June 30.—John M. Egan, representing the general managers' association, furnishes an estimate of the number of men who had struck on the Chicago lines within the terminal limits, and also an estimate of the number who were striking on all of the systems involved. Mr. Egan was in telegraphic communication with all of the general managers yesterday as to the situation, and is fairly well posted. Mr. Egan gave out the following to show the extent of the strike at the present time, and the number of men who have struck so far in the whole country on the best information he could obtain: Northwestern, switchmen and shopmen, 1,025; Illinois Central, 3,000; Eastern Illinois, 300; Santa Fe, 10,000; Chicago & Northern Pacific, 75; Wisconsin Central, 50; Great Western, 300; Baltimore & Ohio, 400; Pennsylvania, 2,500; Western Indiana 200. Total, 17,850.

Spokane, Wash, June 30.—No Northern Pacific trains moved a wheel yesterday. The main line and branches were tied up at Wallace, Idaho. The employes struck there for a return to the wages allowed prior to January. The Foorman mine closed for lack of fuel. Other mines will run for a few days. At Davenport, Wash., business is suffering. The Union Pacific south-bound train left two hours late with Pullmans attached. The yardmen would not handle Pullmans, but the manager of the Union Depot company coupled a car on, and the train pulled out. The Great Northern, having no Pullman cars, is running all trains.

Cincinnati, June 30.—Fully 5,000 men are out here to-day. The switchmen and other yard employes struck this morning. At 10 o'clock they were joined by the men in the yards at Ludlow, Covington and Newport, across the river. No attempts are made to make up or move freights.

Duluth, Minn., June 30.—No trains are moving out from here to-day on the Omaha road. The limited from Chicago came in with a Wagner car. The Northern Pacific passenger trains are moving all right, but freight business is at a standstill. The Omaha morning train to St. Paul is still standing in the yards, the fireman and brakemen having gone out.

St. Paul, July 2.—The strike question in St. Paul is summarized as follows:

Northern Pacific—No freight traffic on the line. Passenger service between St. Paul and Fargo and between Portland and Spokane only. Probably 500 men out voluntarily.

Omaha—Freight tied up at the union depot. Regular passenger trains moving. All yard and shop employes and many train hands out; probably 200.

Great Western—Passenger and mother trains moved. Freight impeded considerably. Including South St. Paul crews probably 150 men out.

Milwaukee—Trains move by schedule. Strike has not been regarded by men here to much extent; number out not reaching 100.

Burlington—Passenger trains all right. No freight. About 100 men went out yesterday at 6 p. m. More expected out to-day.

Minneapolis & St. Louis—Only one passenger train, and freight traffic proportionately light. Probably 100 men out.

Wisconsin Central—Not under strike, but few firemen out on St. Paul division, where no freight moves in consequence. Strike may come any time.

Great Northern, Soo line and St. Paul & Duluth—Not affected.

Union Depot—Entire night switching crew of fifteen men, and probobly day crew of twenty, out.

Total—About 1,200.

The strike is producing serious effects upon the industries of St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Bohn Manufacturing company has not been able to get cars for shipping its output, and the result is the company will have to close down, and several hundred workmen will be thrown out of employment. At the South St. Paul stock yards, in case the motor is again interfered with, 400 men may be idle, as they cannot get to and from St. Paul. The distillery will have to close down, also, for the same reason, as the workmen cannot travel to and from their place of employment as usual. Another serious feature is the fact that the cattle-carrying trade is paralyzed. The Montana ranches cannot ship their stock, and the result will be that the price of beef will no doubt be advanced. This will apply to other necessaries of life, to say nothing of the luxuries, such as fruit, dairy stuff garden truck, vegetables and perishable goods. Aside from the greasing of the tracks of the Chicago Great Western there has been no disturbance.

Washington, July 2.—Dispatches were received by Attorney General Olney last evening from Judge Hallett, of the United States court in Colorado, and United States Marshal Izell, stating that the strikers were refusing to allow trains to run from Trinidad on the Santa Fe and on the Gulf, and asking that United States troops be sent from Logan. Mr. Olney immediately conveyed the dispatch to the White House and Secretary of War Lamont, Gen. Schofield, the attorney general and the president held a conference. After the conference Gen. Schofield telegraphed to Gen. McCook, ordering him to proceed at once to Trinidad with troops. The granting of the request was also telegraphed to the United States officials. Both the railroads mentioned in the dispatches are at present in the custody of the United States courts, and this is the ground on which the action of the authorities is based.

Kansas City, July 2.—The anticipation that all the A. R. U. employes in the twenty-seven yards of this city would strike yesterday was not realized, and everything is quiet in the city. At Argentine, where trouble was expected, the situation is practically unchanged. The Rock Island and Chicago & Alton sent out no passenger trains from here, not because they could not be manned here, but for the reason that the companies expected the stalling of trains at some point out of town. All trains on other lines arrived and departed as usual.

San Francisco, July 2.—There seems to be no improvement in the strike situation to-day, and judging by the occurrences of the past twenty-four hours, even if the Southern Pacific succeeds in sending out more trains from the Oakland yards there is but little prospect that they will proceed far on their way. The Oregon express which left Oakland last evening unmolested by strikers is now effectually stalled at Red Bluff.

Des Moines, July 2.—General Master Workman Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, received a telegram from Debs, in which it was stated that the real crisis has not yet been reached, and asked Sovereign if he would stand by the railroad men. Sovereign replied that he would, and sent telegrams to the freight handlers at Minneapolis, St. Paul, Spokane, San Francisco, Portland, Boston, Baltimore, New Orleans and other points to hold themselves in readiness to go out at a moment's notice. Sovereign also sent orders to 3,000 men in Chicago, packers and others, to go out. Sovereign is in high spirits over the success of the movement.

A LONG DEATH LIST

FATALITIES IN THE SEVERAL CYCLONES IN MINNESOTA.

Thus Far It Is Known That Ten People Were Killed and About Twenty Injured—St. Paul and Minneapolis Narrowly Escape.

St. Paul, June 29.—The following is a summary of the casualties caused by the cyclone Wednesday night:

The Dead—Mrs. Sam Roach, Wessington, S. D.

Charles Meitke, near Sleepy Eye, Minn.

Mr. Guldan, Maligon, Minn.

Mrs. G. T. Hicks, Pipestone, Minn.

Miss Jennie Lindstrom of St. Paul, at Darwin, Minn.

Mrs. Sanders, Litchfield, Minn.

Miss Johnson, Larimore, N. D.

Henry Rhodes, Larimore, N. D.

Miss Nina Swift, near Aberdeen, S. D.

Baby Walchesky, at Glencoe.

The Injured—Mr. Blakely, Wessington, S. D., seriously hurt.

John McCabe, two carpenters and several children, at Henry, S. D.

John Weiss, Cold Springs, Minn.

Mrs. John Weiss, Cold Springs, Minn., fatally.

John Winkler, Jacobs Prairie, Minn., fatally.

John Winkler, Jr., Jacobs Prairie, Minn., fatally.

—— Danzel, Jacobs Prairie, Minn., missing.

John Schmidt, Sleepy Eye, Minn.

Mrs. John Schmidt, Sleepy Eye, Minn.

Four Schmidt children, one fatally.

G. T. Hicks, Pipestone, Minn., seriously.

Mrs. Mohannah, near Pipestone, Minn., fatally.

Mrs. Hickman, near Renville, Minn., seriously.

Mrs. Zaske, Renville, Minn.

John Sanders, Litchfield, Minn.

Jens Hanson, Litchfield, Minn.

Mrs. Johnson, Litchfield, Minn.

Mrs. Brattz and baby, Forest City, Minn.

Editor Bushnell, Aberdeen, S. D.

Mrs. William Burlette and son, Charlie Burlette, Minneapolis.

Mrs. G. Lenke and daughter Bertha, Minneapolis.

Southwestern Minnesota and eastern South Dakota suffered severely from a fierce wind storm, or series of wind storms, that developed cyclonic tendencies at a number of points. Details of the damage done to life and property, which have been coming in to-day indicate that the storms traveled from southwest to northeast in parallel lines, and that there were three of unusual severity. The westernmost arose in South Dakota, and traversed the east end of the state, striking Alpena, Mellette, St. Lawrence and Aberdeen in its route. The central storm was terrific. It was first heard of at Pipestone, in the southwest corner of the state. Its record there was one killed, one injured and serious damage to property in its course. The dispatches say that its path was from 400 to 600 feet wide. The storm passed over Tracy and Echo without serious effects, and is next heard of at Renville, where it was only 40 rods wide and of corresponding intensity of action. There was another victim here besides many injured and a record of devastation for buildings and property. Litchfield was the next in line, but apparently the cyclone which passed near there was one which developed, several hours later. Two were killed and many injured. The northernmost point in the central part of the storm path apparently was Collegeville, in Stearns county, where the damage was principally to the buildings of St. John's university.

The eastern end of the storm started in with its work of devastation and death at Windom, about half-past seven, or an hour and a half later than the central storm. No great damage was done at this point, but when the storm which developed decided cyclonic tendencies reached Sleepy Eye shortly before 8 o'clock, its intensity was incalculable. At least one was killed and a number injured. The same storm next struck Glencoe, where its work was death dealing. The number of killed and injured there has not been definitely ascertained yet, but the indications are that the wind played as great havoc there as anywhere.

St. Paul and Minneapolis caught the tail end of the twister, but fortunately the main portion of the storm did not strike either city. Considerable damage, however, was done.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 29.—Reports received here from points in South Dakota tell of further damage done by yesterday's storm. In country districts surrounding Aberdeen hail did great damage to crops. Westport and Frederick were flooded with water and several families have to leave their homes. Miss Nina Swift, a school teacher was killed by lighting twenty miles north of Aberdeen. Elevators and warehouses were blown down at Tulare, Rudolph and other places. Small buildings suffered everywhere. At Houghton, several farm houses demolished and a woman and a child were badly hurt. The Chicago and Northwestern depot and several other buildings were wrecked. The storm extended from Woonsocket on south to Edgely and Oaker and even farther into North Dakota and from Missouri river beyond the Minnesota state line.

Banker Convicted.

Frankfort, Ind., June 29.—The jury in the case of Banker John W. Paris, has returned a verdict of guilty of false pretense, as charged in the indictment. Paris was sentenced to six years in prison and $1,000 fine.

Panama Canal.

Paris, June 29.—The liquidators of the Panama Canal company have signed an agreement with the new company in which the latter is said to have a capital of 60,000,000 francs with which to complete the canal.

Farmers Lose Their Buildings.

Miller, S. D., June 29.—Wednesday's storm was the worst ever known here. Several farmers in the county lost houses, barns, etc., while crops were pounded out by hail.

Few Miners at Work.

Edinburgh, June 29.—Only 500 Scottish miners are now at work. The strike is seriously affecting the shipping and steel trades. The railroads are reducing the number of trains run daily, owing to the enormous decrease in mineral traffic.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Resume of Proceedings of the Senate and House.

Washington, June 28.—In the senate the debate on the income tax provisions of the tariff bill was resumed. The pending amendment was that of Mr. Allison to exempt corporations, companies and associations having a capital stock of less than $100,000. Mr. Allison modified his amendment so as to exempt corporations whose capital and surplus did not exceed $100,000, the cost of insurance, etc., of any manufacturing or trading company to be considered in estimating expenses. Later the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Hill reoffered the amendment reducing the dividends exempt to $3,000. Mr. Hill's amendment was lost, 20 to 38. Mr. Hill modified the amendment so as to exempt dividends not exceeding $2,000. Defeated—20 to 24.

Mr. Hoar offered an amendment to exclude from the operation of the tax joint stock companies whose members receive as a share of the profits less than $4,000. Lost—20 to 26.

Mr. Allison then said that all attempts to eliminate the injustice to small stockholders in corporations having failed, he would renew the amendment he offered earlier in the day, fixing a limitation upon the capital stock of companies to be subjected to the tax. He modified the amendment, however, so as to exempt corporations having a capital stock of less than $80,000 in stead of $100,000. Lost—24 to 31.

Mr. Hill moved to amend section 60 to provide for the inspection of accounts of corporations subject to the tax so as to limit the time of inspection to the period between March 1 and Aug. 1. After some further debate without action on the amendment of Mr. Hill the senate adjourned.

Washington, June 29.—Mr. Hill moved to strike out the income tax. It was defeated. Three Democrats, Hill, Murphy and Smith, voted for Hills motion to strike out the income tax section, and McPherson was paired for it. Of the Republicans six, Hansbrough, Mitchell (Or.), Pettigrew, Power, Shoup and Teller, voted against the motion and Dubois was so paired. The Populists all voted against the motion. The tax on playing cards was fixed at 2 cents per pack. When section 32 relating to the tax on distilled spirits was reached, Mr. Platt moved to exempt spirits used in arts and manufactures from the operation of the internal revenue tax. Lost. Section 88, which advances the tax on distilled spirits from 90 cents to $1.10 a gallon was discussed at considerable length. Mr. Peffer offered an amendment to fix the tax on beer at $1.50 a barrel. Lost. Mr. Aldrich moved to make the increased whisky tax go into effect immediately on the passage of the bill; adopted. Mr. Peffer moved to decrease the bonded period from eight to three years; lost. Mr. Perkins proposed an amendment providing special bonded ware houses for fruit brandies; lost. Mr. Allison proposed an amendment to levy an additional tax of 5c per gallon in addition to the $1.10 on all distilled spirits remaining in bond more than four years; lost. Mr. Hill voted with the Republicans. The committee amendment fixing the tax at 1.10$ per gallon and extending the bonded period to eight years was then agreed to without division. Section 105, the last but one of bill, providing for the repeal of the reciprocity provisions of the McKinley bill and the abrogation of all agreements under it was reached just before the senate adjourned.

The amended sugar schedule which will probably be offered when the tariff bill is taken up in the senate, was put into shape by Senator Jones to-day. It was accepted by all to whom it was shown excepting Senator Blanchard. The amendment as prepared changes the date when the sugar schedule shall go into effect from the first of January to the time of the passage of the bill, and provides for a continuation of part of the bounty for the present year, giving nine-tenths of a cent bounty per pound on sugar testing above 90 degree by the polariscope and 8-10 on sugar testing below 90 degree and above 80 degrees.

Washington, June 30.—At the opening of the senate session to-day the tariff bill was taken up and Mr. Vest moved an amendment to the clause repealing the reciprocity feature of the McKinley bill; which was agreed to. Senator Peffer offered as a new section the amendment levying a tax of $50 per head on all aliens landing in the United States to engage in industrial occupations; tabled—46 to 12. Mr. Jones then asked unanimous consent to make a number of amendments overlooked as the bill was being considered. The amendments were agreed to as fast as read. Most of them were verbal or very unimportant.

The duty on silk (paragraph 298) partially manufactured from cocoons was fixed at 20 per cent; thrown or spun silk, 30 per cent; velvets, chenilles, and other pile fabrics, $1.50 per square yard; plush, $1 per square yard. The duty on precious stones, cut but not set, was fixed at 25 per cent, if set, 30; uncut precious stones, 10 per cent. The tariff bill was reported to the senate, which then adjourned until Monday.

Senator Hill to-day gave notice of an amendment to the income tax feature of the tariff bill by adding at the end of section 59 the following: "That all state, county, municipal and town taxes and all necessary sums for insurance paid by corporations, companies or associations shall be excluded or deducted in estimating the net profits or income of such associations, companies or corporations."

With the exception of a short time the day in the house was consumed by a filibuster over the contested election case of Weston against Black, of the Tenth Georgia district. The filibuster was led by Representative Pence, Populist, who contested every inch of ground even after the aid of the committee on rules had been invoked. The tangle was finally straightened out, and the resolution of the committee on elections declaring Mr. Black elected was agreed to, only the Populists dissenting.

Washington, July 2.—The senate to-day entered upon the fourteenth week of the tariff debate. It is expected that the final vote previous to returning the bill to the house will be taken before adjournment Tuesday night. There is no agreement to this effect, but senators generally express the opinion that this can be accomplished. The Democrats made an effort to secure an agreement to fix Tuesday as the day for the vote, but did not succeed.

The house is busy with District of Columbia business.

FUNERAL OF CARNOT.

THE BODY OF THE MURDERED PRESIDENT PLACED IN A TOMB.

Countless Thousands Witness the Funeral, Which Is Made the Occasion of a Remarkable Civic and Military Display.

Paris, July 2.—The remains of the late President Sadi-Carnot, the murdered chief magistrate of France, struck down by the hand of Santo Cesario, the anarchist, at Lyons on Sunday last, were deposited in the Pantheon yesterday by the side of the remains of his grandfather, Lazare Carnot, the "organizer of victory." The funeral was made the occasion for one of the most remarkable civic and military displays in the history of France. Crowds began to gather along the Champs Elysee, the Rue De Rivoli and about the streets on the Avenue De La Cite, from early Saturday evening. People camped all night, quiet and mournful, discussing the tragedy and cursing the assassin. By 3 o'clock yesterday morning the streets along the route were already crowded, and by 6 o'clock the Place De La Concorde was black with people. The housetops, windows and balconies of every house along the line of march and every other point of vantage was occupied, fabulous sums of money having been paid for the use of houses, windows and balconies from which to view the funeral procession. At 9 o'clock the whole route of the procession was packed in a manner never before seen in this city.

There was an immense stir among the crowds when Casimir-Perier, the successor of the late president, drove up to the palace, for, contrary to precedent, the newly-elected chief magistrate of France had determined to attend the funeral. The troops presented arms upon his arrival, and he was received at the entrance of the palace by a number of high officials. Gen. Saussier then gave the signal for the funeral to commence. Gen. Saussier, surrounded by a brilliant staff of mounted officers, took up his position in the court yard in front of the magnificent catafalque upon which the remains of the late president had been resting in state since Friday last, and the black casket with its elaborate silver mountings, was removed under the superintendence of the priests who had been gathered about the bier from early morning. At exactly 10:25 the procession began its march toward the cathedral of Notre Dame.

A squad of Republican guards emerged from the grounds of the palace and proceeded slowly down the Avenue Marigni, toward the Avenue Gabriel and the Champs Elysee, the band of the guards playing a funeral march. All the troops presented arms and the people uncovered their heads in spite of the blazing sun. Following the band of the Garde Republicaine came four of the principle attendants of the Elysee with tri-color cocardes in their hats and bearing President Casimir-Perier's splendid wreath of roses and palms across two poles.

Then came two carriages containing the priests who were to escort the body to Notre Dame. After the clergy came a six-horse funeral car which had been used at the funerals of Presidents Thiers and McMahon. The trappings of the car and horses were richly embroidered with silver, and angels with outstretched wings surmounted each corner.

The casket was covered with the tri-color of France and was heavily draped with crape. There were no flowers on the funeral car. As the funeral car passed those who had not previously doffed their hats, did so, many of the women fell upon their knees, and all good Catholics made the sign of the cross and offered up a silent prayer for the repose of the soul of the murdered president.

During the procession an officer's horse bolted and the crowd surged backward. Some one cried "bomb," and a panic ensued in which a number of people were injured, but none fatally. The procession was halted and order was soon restored.

Notre Dame was crowded with officials and church dignitaries when the coffin was carried into the edifice. High mass was said and the archbishop of Paris delivered a short address eulogizing the late president. The procession was reformed and proceeded to the Pantheon, where addresses were made by Premier Dupuy and others, after which the coffin was lowered into the vault and the assemblage dispersed.

Washington, July 2.—President Cleveland and many other high officials and diplomats attended solemn requiem high mass yesterday to commemorate the obsequies of President Carnot.

QUEEN'S BREEDING STUD.

All the Fine Horses Sold and No Reason Given.

London, July 2.—The queen's breeding stud was sold to-day by Messrs. Tattersall in the royal paddocks, Bushy Park, adjoining Hampton Court palace. Every brood mare, yearling and foal, as well as the stallions of the royal stud, were sold. The reasons for the sale are unknown, and have caused much surprise, as it is well known that her majesty's stock has paid its way. There was an immense attendance, and most of the foreign governments were represented. The catalogue of the sale showed that there was a total of 78 lots. Of these, 30 were yearlings, 45 were brood mares and foals and 3 stallions. The most valuable mare was Wedlock, a ten-year-old, and dam of Best Man, last year's handicap horse. Wedlock brought 4,000 guineas. She was purchased by Baron Hirsch. Sir John Miller paid 2,000 guineas for Sandal, dam of Sainfoin, Golden Garter and Vereck, by Wentlock, out of Sandal. Mr. Arthur James paid 1,050 guineas for a filly by Bend d'Or out of Lucionnes. The total realized by the sale was 23,000 guineas.

Anarchists Arrested.

Paris, July 2.—Among the men arrested to-day are fifteen notorious anarchists, including Fenoois, who was recently released from prison in Brussels.

Convicted of Pension Frauds.

Washington, July 2.—A dispatch to the commissioner of pensions states that W. R. Drury, the attorney implicated in the Norfolk pension frauds, has been found guilty on thirty indictments for violations of the pension laws, and the court overruled the motion for a new trial.

Out of Commission.

Washington, July 2.—The United States ship Lancaster, which has recently returned to this country from a cruise around the world, has been put out of commission at the New York navy yard.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.25 a. m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Today is the day we celebrate the glorious 4th.

Farm machine men are hustling for orders these days.

Fred Eikhoff was doing business at Red Lake Falls last Friday.

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly will deliver an oration at McIntosh today.

Mike Fricker, of Larimore N. D. was visiting friends here last Monday.

Michael Jeffers, of Gervais township, was doing business in town last Monday.

Holston will now have a first class opportunity to make a record as a private citizen.

Christ Bjerk came down from Marshall county last Sunday and will stay here a few days.

P. G. Paradis, of Red Lake Falls, took charge of Fred Eikhoff's saloon last Sunday July 1st.

S. M. Dainard and K. O. Gigstad were at Crookston last week attending the republican convention.

Carl Johnson left for Otter Tail county last Friday where he will visit his parents for several weeks.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Henry Norland, the peoples party nominee for county commissioner, was shaking hands with friends in town last Friday.

The Peoples party legislative convention will meet at Crookston next Friday July 5th to nominate a senator and three representatives.

The Swedish Lutheran Church held a sociable at the residence of C. G. Rapp last Friday. It was well attended by members from the country.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall Northern flour. Best flour for the bas money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

The Pullman strike is assuming alarming proportions and nearly every railroad in the country is threatened with a general tie up.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's ware house.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent

The Peoples party of Polk county have put a first class county ticket in the field and you may expect an old time majority for every man nominated.

John Stranahan has put up his jewelers bench at Johnson's drug store and is prepared to do all kinds of work. He has a first class set of tools and is said to be an experianced hand at the business.

Look over E. J. Holmes' new ad this week. Mr. Holmes has considerable farm machinery on hand which will be sold very cheap. If you need anything in that line it will pay you to give him a call.

The crops are looking good in all places except on the sand ridges where it is very short and already heading out. On the low lands the grain stands well and we will have a good average crop if all goes well from now on.

The republican convention at Crookston last Friday elected delegates to the state convention instructed for P. J. McGuire for state auditor. P. J. will have plenty of opposition as nearly every county in the state has a candidate. Who said anything about a "scramble for office?"

B. H. Aimer returned last Saturday from his Rainy Lake trip. He came back by way of Lake of the woods and Jadis coming down from there by team He seems well pleased with the country up there and predicts that it will be a prosperous country. He thinks farming would pay but at present very little is doing there.

Yesterday morning the west-bound N. P. train passed through here and was stopped at Grand Forks. Both trains are laid up there now. No trains have arrived today and the Northern Pacific depot presents a dreary appearance. The officials here are unable to say when traffic will be resumed.—Crookston Times.

Peoples Party Co. Convention.

The Ticket.

Auditor John Gleason
Treasurer J. T. Beaudry
Sheriff Andrew Steenerson
Register of Deeds A. Wickstrom
Clerk of District Court John Vig
County Attorney L. E. Gossman
Superintendent O. McCrillis
Surveyor O. Hammery
Coroner John Dwyer
Court Commissioner D. Hatlestad
Co. Commissioner 4th Dist. H. Norland.

The delegates to the peoples party county convention met at Crookston last Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Hon. E. E. Lommen was elected chairman and M. Jeffers and Elias Steenerson secretaries. The committee on credentials reported 135 delegates present, the call being for 138. It was by far the largest and most enthusiastic convention ever held in Polk county.

The committee on resolutions reported to the convention in favor of the following resolutions which were adopted by the convention.

Resolved. That this convention declares its loyalty to the principles of the populist party as set forth in the resolutions adopted at the last national convention, and the last state convention of the populist party.

Resolved, That we most heartily commend the action of the representatives of our party in congress in using their influence and votes in favor of trrifi reform, and more particularly their successful efforts in having the income tax feature made a part of the tariff bill now before congress.

Resolved that we favor the restriction of the liquor traffic; and favor the state assuming control of the sale of the same after the manner of what is known as the Gothenburg system.

Resolved. That we favor such legislation as to allow each county to fix the salery of its own county officers

Resolved, that this convention is opposed to the nomination of any county officer for more than two terms and is opposed to all combinations among candidates for offices to secure nomination therefore.

Resolved, that whereas it has pleased Divine Providence to remove from our ranks our friend and fellow worker, Solm H. Locken, be it.

Resolved that in the death of our departed brother Polk county has lost one of its best citizens and the peoples party a noble friend. Be it further

Resolved, that this convention extends its heartfelt sympathy to Hon. Ignatius Donnelly in his sad bereavement from the loss of his loving wife and co-worker in the cause of reform, who died on Tuesday of the present week it St. Paul

We recommend resolutions five and six to be considered and acted upon at this convention.

Nominations for county auditor were called for about 4 p. m. Messes Gleason Cornelius' Bohn, Peterson and Webster were nominated. John Gleason, of Fisher having the majority of votes cast was declared the nominee on the second formal ballot.

J. T. Beaudry, the present efficient treasurer was nominated by acclimation.

For sheriff, Andrew Steenerson, M. Losey and T. Lawrence were nominated, Andrew Steenerson winning on the third formal ballot.

For register of deeds, Messrs. Ammundson, Ankirs, Halgeson, Swift, Dahl, Filbin and Wickstrom were named, Albert Wickstrom, of Bray, being declared the nominee on the third formal ballot.

For county attorney L. E. Gossman Ed George, Ole Vaule, Martin OBrien, and E. M. Stanton were named, L. E. Gossman, of Crookston, being nominated on the second ballot.

For clerk of court Arthur Toupin, Nels Muns and John Vig were named, John Vig, of King, being nominated on the second formal ballot.

For Judge of probate Messrs. Benson Marin, Tanberg and Jennings were named, C. M. Benson being nominated on the second ballot.

For supt. of schools, Messrs. Watts, Lommen, McCrillis, Dening, Johnson and Jorlheim were named, O. McCrillis of Fosston, being nominated on the third formal ballot.

O. H. Hamery, of Crookston for county surveyor, John Dwyer of East Grand Forks, for coroner and D. E. Hatlestad of Crookston, for court commissioner were nominated by acclimation.

For county commissioner of the 4th district Henry Norland, of Rocksbury, was nominated afaer a sharp fight. Mr. Norland was nominated the evening before by a caucus of delegates from the north end of the district. His opponent in the convention was Arthur Toupin of Red Lake Falls.

County Commissioner Lindem was renominated in the second district.

The congressional fight came next the proposition being that the person receiving a majority of the votes cast should name the delegation which would be instructed for him. On the first ballot it stood, Lommen 40, Boen 40, Holston 42; second ballot Lommen 58, Boen 31 Holston 35; third ballot, Lommen 75, Holston 40, Boen 2. Mr Lommen named twenty-two delegates who are instructed to cast their votes for him for congressman at the congressional convention at Moorhead July 16.

Seventeen delegates were elected to the legislative convention. They were instructed for P. M. Ringdal for senator.

At 5,30 a. m. the convention having finished its work adjourned and the delegates realizing that they had done a good days work and nominated a ticket that was a winder left for home.

Four policemen and the city engineer recently visited Edward Cunningham's unlicensed saloon which is located in the cellar of a house standing on the Massachusetts and Rhode Island state line. The engineer traced the line and found that it ran exactly along the inner edge of the bar and that all the liquor was in Massachusetts. The house is in three towns—Blackstone, Bellingham and Woonsocket. The bartender can stand in Massachusetts and sell liquor in Rhode Island. The police were obliged to leave without making any arrests. Cunningham has things arranged so that he can defy the officers.—Ex.

An exchange says: Only a man who has "been there" could have written the following: Sing a song of penitence a fellow full of rye; four and twenty serpents danced before his eye; when his eye is opened he shouts for his life; wasn't he a pretty chump to go before his wife? His hat was in the parlor underneath a chair, his boots were in the hallway, his coat was on the stair; his trousers in the kitchen, his collar on the shelf; but he hadn't any notion where he was himself. When the morn was breaking some one heard him call: his head was on the ice box and that was beat of all.

The superstitious people of northern Indiana are greatly exercised over the fact that entire fields of oats have a perfect letter "B" outlined upon each blade The theory of the superstitious people is that it means blood, as the same phenomenon occured the year before the War of 1812, the Mexican war and the War of the Rebellion. The credulous Hoosiers seem to overlook the fact that the letter "B" stands for other words than blood. It may mean bread or even booze, and if the latter, Indiana may yet be deluged with its especial delight.—Globe.

"The Tacoma Union" says that "the champion girl of the period lives out on the Muck. From April 1 to June 1 this year she planted three acres of potatoes did all the cooking and sewing for the family, milked four cows, fed the calves pigs and chicken, shot three chicken hawks and a wildcat, set the dog on eighteen tramps attended thirteen dances and three picnics, read five novels and sat up four nights in the week with her beau, and yet we often hear the question asked: "What is there for women to do.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees at stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894

Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J. Montague, attorney.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

DR. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m "	Minneapolis	9 55 am
1 25 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
2 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

3 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a. m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet, Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the Village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1893,

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten (10) of Block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided,

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1893.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 5th day of July 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson.
Village Recorder.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894. Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio, July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt., 1, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

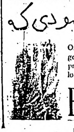
General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]

OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]



Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. B. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at the Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JULY 4 1894

A BIG PLACE.

A Determined Looking Buffalo Man Makes a Startling Discovery.

A determined looking man came striding into the editorial room. He held a bit of paper between the thumb and first finger of his right hand. "I am looking for the man who takes care of the statistics," he said sternly.

The figure manipulator was at his desk, and the determined looking man was escorted thither by the office boy. The man took a long look at the bit of paper he held in his hand and then asked, "What is the population of the city of Buffalo?"

The statistician told him that it was in the neighborhood of 325,000.

"Huh!" grunted the visitor expressively. Then he took another look at the bit of paper and asked, "Are the officers of the Buffalo Street Railway company reliable men?"

"That is their reputation," answered the man at the desk.

"If they put out figures, them figures is likely to be all straight and right?"

"Certainly."

This seemed to be the determined looking man's cue. He danced around the room for awhile uttering strange sounds, and then he shouted, "You fellows that make figures is all a passel of fools!"

"How so?" asked the statistician mildly.

"How so? Why, because you are. You say the population of Buffalo is a measly 325,000. I kin prove that the population of Buffalo is 'way up in the millions. You folks is always talkin about boomin the town an all that, an when you git a chanst you jist lay right down like a lot of chickens with the pip an let figgers what some other man made go for right with you."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that I have here in my hand the report of the street railway. It says they carried 40,435,511 people last year, an I want to know if that there don't prove that the population of Buffalo is 40,555,511? That's what it does, an you chumps sit aroun an say it's only 325,000."

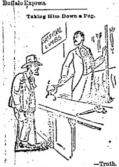
"But, my dear sir," started the statistician, "you are laboring under"——

"I ain't laborin under nothin of the sort," broke in the determined looking man. "I got the figgers here, an I kin prove what I say."

"But," began the statistician again. The determined looking man would not let him continue. "Don't but me," he shouted. "It's as plain as the nose on your face. If the folks wasn't here, the street railway couldn't carry them, could it? That's the population of this town, an don't you forget it! London or none of the rest of them villages is in it. Three hundred an twenty-five thousand! You make me tired. Forty millions [illegible] wait [illegible] knew [illegible] metropolis of [illegible] the figgers to show for it, an I'm the [illegible] that's onto it. Tell the people [illegible], an when it comes time I hain't [illegible] no objections to their buildin a monument for me for makin the great news known."

And while the statistician was catching his breath the determined looking man borrowed a few old papers and disappeared.—Buffalo Express.

Taking Him Down a Peg.



—Truth.

An Equally Good Plan.

A clergyman who owns a farm found his plowman sitting on his plow resting his horses. Quote the clergyman:

"John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a scythe here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are resting a short time?"

"Yes, sir," said John, "and wadn't it be weel for you tae hae a tub o' taties in the pulpit, an when folks were singing to peel them awhile to be ready for the pan?"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Misunderstanding.

Sapsmith (terribly agitated)—Oh, that is awful! And will the poor fellah never be able to see again?

Steele—See again? What are you talking about?

"Why, haven't you just told me that Bertie Hyndl [illegible] this [illegible]"

[illegible]

Young Wife—O[illegible], Tom, [illegible] it?

Young Husband—An appointment with my tailor, love. He is to call here tonight to collect his bill.—Life.

Rather a Surprise.

Fair Visitor—I should like to see the editor of the woman's page.

Office Boy—Dere he is over dere; de fat man in his shirt sleeves, with de clay pipe in his mout'.—Brooklyn Eagle.

His Hobby.

The Office Boy—Mr. Jenkins has been in to collect his bill.

Mr. Short—Has he? Confound Jenkins! That's a fad of his—trying to collect bills. —Puck.

American Winters.

Teacher—When does the winter season begin?

Observing Boy—It generally begins about spring.—Good News.

And Biteth Like the Deuce.

Teacher—What is it, Harry, that stings like an adder?

Harry—The end of a leather strap.—Truth.

Jealous.

He—Why did she break it off?

She—Her dog Fido got too fond of him. —Brooklyn Life.

Signs of Spring.

Now climbs the warm sun higher,
And shouts the candidate;
A poet strings his lyre:
A liar digs for bait.
—Atlanta Constitution.

KATIE GOT STRUCK ON THE STAGE.

Arrah, Mrs. Ryan, no wondher Oi'm cryin;
'Tis throuble Oi'm havin av late.
How kin Oi be aisy whin Oi'm almosth druv crazy
Along o' me big daughther Kate?
Sure, the way she is actin is fairly disthractin;
She's caught the t'eatrical rage.
As Oi'm a lone widder, there's no livin wid her
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She's at the t'eayter till midnight or later;
Comes home wid a tough lookin beau;
She says he's a "supe" in an operay troop—
Phat dat is Oi'm sure Oi don't know.
He tells her that yet she will be a soubrette,
Though the colleen is not yet av age.
She will be an actor—Oi've losth me charackter
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

Och, nobody knows how she uses me clothes
A-makin thim into costhooms.
From mornin till night me poor house is a sight
Wid her scene settin in all the rooms.
Her feyther's old britches she cuts an she stitches
To get herself up loike a "page."
Och, murther, thim pages! They drisses outrageous,
But she says it's sthoyle on the stage.

She scares me to death wid the scenes from "Macbeth,"
Whin Oi'm afther a-goin to shleep,
For thin she comes walkin and awfully talkin,
Till the chills up me backbone do creep.
She makes such a pother wid the "ghost of me father,"
And tells me, "Avaunt, quit her soight!"
Until, saints preserve us, I do be thot narvous,
Oi can't shleep a wink all the noight.

She says she will shine in the very front line
And dance in the calcium's glare,
While all the old beaux in the baldheaded rows
Through their operay glasses will sthare.
She says her new tights is "clean out ov sight,"
And that she will be "all the rage."
All the girls in our alley are dancing the ballay
Since Katie got sthruck on the stage.

She wance ran away wid an operay bouffay;
Got sthranded in Kalamazoo.
It took ivry cint I had saved for the rint
To pay her way home—now, that's thruel
But sthill the poor child, she is perfectly wild;
Oi t'ink Oi will buy me a cage
And lock her up in it till thot blissid minute
Whin Katie gets sick av the stage.
—Willard Holcomb in Buffalo Express.

A Night Fright.

With one fearful, tearing wrench I awoke from sweet unconsciousness to a sense of painful alertness.

I listened, but could hear nothing. There was a heavy, sudden stillness in the air that pressed upon my brain like the fumes of a drug. It seemed as though the silence itself was deafening.

I half rose from my bed and listened again breathless. Still the same awful quiet, as though the machinery of the whole universe had ceased working. I looked slowly around the room in the faint sunlight. It was my room, but how changed! I could not tell what the change was. I only knew that some awful metamorphosis had given every object visible the appearance of death—absolute death!

Had the world come to an end? Or was it simply I who was dead? No, this was not death, not my death, for I could feel now the bursting throb of my own heart.

The stillness of everything became more appalling, more terrible from the fact that I knew not what it was nor whence it came. I tried to shriek for help.

Not a sound would leave my lips!

Another moment and I should go mad, if —oh, what a thought!—if I were not mad already. This, then, was the meaning of it all. I was mad!

With a sudden leap I sprang into the middle of the room and gazed about to meet what might in my madness come to me.

Then I saw what caused the horrible hallucination. The solemn stillness, the strange quiet, the ghastly loneliness, were all explained. Three joyous, hasty steps, a few quick turns of the wrist, and all was righted. With lightened heart, my brain free from the overwhelming strain, I went back to bed relieved and happy.

My clock had stopped.—New York World.

Hard to Wear.

Aunt Fanny was reading to the children. The czar of Russia had been threatened with assassination. She explained the situation, telling them why it was that a great emperor must live in constant dread of such a fate, making a little patriotic sermon in favor of the man who was "first in the hearts of his countrymen" and ending with the quotation, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

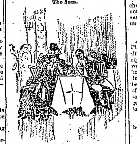
"Oh, Aunt Fanny, do they sleep in 'em?" exclaimed several of the children at once.—Detroit Free Press.

Thrifty Device.

"Hello, Kiljordan! Been buying a new overcoat?"

"No. Don't give it away, Shadbolt, but it's my old chinchilla. I paid a barber 50 cents to run his clippers over it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Sum.



He—Then what did you marry me for?

She—Mamma figured it up at the time and said it was for about a million and a half.—Life.

Agony.

The music ceased; the curtain rose;
I did not heed the play,
But gazed upon her lovely face—
She sat two seats away.
Her cheeks like tinted apple bloom,
Her teeth like gleaming pearls,
Her eyes as blue as summer skies,
A wealth of golden curls.

And as I gazed upon her face
There came a look of pain.
Like cloudy shadow o'er the land
It passed, then came again.
I saw the teardrops in her eyes,
The rose tint fade away,
And that fair cheek grow deathly pale
In speechless agony.

She turned and touched her escort's arm,
Then slowly went away.
My heart beat fast with sympathy;
I did not heed the play.
He soon returned and took his seat;
I gazed in great surprise.
He read the question I would ask
Flash from my eager eyes.

And as the music died away
His lips this answer bore;
"My sister's feet are number five,
Her shoes are number four."
—Boston Globe.

Relieved.

Women prayed and men cursed.

The storm howled and beat against the vessel's stanch ribs.

A white robed figure clung to the after-rail and peered into the darkness.

"She is gone."

The figure swayed in the tempest.

"No, she rises."

A great wave swept over the deck. The figure was kneeling now.

"She has sunk thrice. Is it a dream? After all these years to be alone at last!"

After a time the figure crept forward and reported the loss of a chaperon.—Detroit News-Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 374 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1898, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. May 29 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Bdson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14159 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of July 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

Wm, Anglim, Receiver.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Mr. Jimsmith Was Prepared For a Different Individual.

Mr. Jimsmith, the lawyer, whose name is a household word in Chicago, recently moved into a beautiful suburban home. He is highly pleased with it in a general way, but so many agents call upon him that he finds it rather a bore. The other day he opened the door to 12 agents before the afternoon was half over, and when he was summoned to the door for the thirteenth time he was mad enough to fight a herd of porcupines. A tall, sad eyed man dressed in black confronted him and started to say something, but Mr. Jimsmith interrupted him:

"You don't need to tell me what you have to sell, because I don't want it. I don't need a burglar proof clock, nor a bootjack that has a music box in it, nor a stemwinding can opener. I don't"——

"My dear sir, you are mis"——

"Oh, you don't need to 'dear sir' me! It won't work. I tell you I don't want a gate that may be taken from its hinges and used as a folding bed. I have no use for a combined currycomb and mustache cup. I have a full supply of furniture polish, cough medicine and hair restorer, and, what's more, my wife doesn't need a recipe for preserving codfish or frying billiard balls."

"Really, sir, this is a most extraordinary"——

"Oh, of course, it's extraordinary, but I don't want it. I suppose it can be used to grate horse radish and tune the piano, but I tell you that I don't need it. Perhaps it will take the grease spots out of clothing, pare apples and chase dogs out of the yard, but you'll have to go somewhere else to sell it. I am surprised that a man of your age and respectable appearance should go around trying to sell pocket cornshellers when the whole neighborhood is full of wood that ought to be sawed. What's the use of trying to sell a man a fire escape when you can make $1 a day baling hay?"

"I am not an agent."

"Then what are you?"

"I'm the pastor of the Orthodox Brethren church, and I came over to get acquainted, not knowing that you were running a private madhouse. Good day."—Chicago Tribune.

A Good Investment.

A prominent attorney living on West Pine street has a 5 year-old boy that, considering his years, is said to be his father's equal in shrewdness. The other day there was a little girl added to the family. The boy is not a lover of babies, but he dotes on dogs. The next day after the birth the boy began to wonder what his parents wanted of another baby, and if they had to have something new in the house why they didn't get a pup. That night he climbed on his father's knee and asked:

"Do babies cost much?"

"Well, quite a good deal," replied the head of the household.

"Do they cost more than $5?"

"Yes. They generally cost a great deal more than that."

"Did my little sister cost as much as $10?"

"Yes, she cost ten times as much as that. Don't you think she is worth more than $100?" said the proud father.

"Shucks, no!" exclaimed the future great. "Why, that baby can't do anything but cry. Can't hardly kick. Now, I know a fellow that's got the best kind of pup, and you can get him for $5. Now, if you wanted to make a good investment for me and something that I could use, why didn't you save $95 and buy me the pup?"—St. Louis Republic.

The Philosophy of It.

Pa and ma were sitting quietly near the fireplace. Pa was reading a paper and ma was knitting. Presently ma looked up over her glasses.

"Pa," she said, "I b'lieve our Henry is in love."

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, he ain't et nothin for a week past to speak of."

Pa laid his paper down in his lap, folded his hands over it and gazed into the fire reflectively.

"It's kinder queer 'bout bein in love," he said slowly. "When people is courtin, they never seem to keer for victuals, but jest as soon as they git married victuals is about the only thing they'll hustle for seven days in the week."—Detroit Free Press.

She Remembered the Cat.

A webfoot woman who started to jump into the Columbia river to drown herself suddenly remembered that she had left the cat in the pantry and hurried back home. She afterward said, "The idea of my struggling in the water and thinking that the cat was licking the cream off my milk in the pantry at that minute was more than I could bear."—Walla Walla Statesman.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and Flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

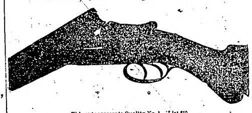
Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. Taking up Wear at Every Point. MATTED RIBS.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY, CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

THE GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.Y.

A GREAT SNAP

THE FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

BLOOD POISON

y ivy or live oak, caused inflammation, eruptions and intense itching and burning on my egs. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

have taken Hood's arsaparilla and do not ave any poison symptoms. I have gained 0 pounds since taking Hood's." C. E. BONALL, West Union, Minnesota. Get Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills, Biliousness.

CHIVALRY, EVEN IN A CAT.

Won't Attack a Rat Which is Helpless in a Trap.

"Will a cat attack a rat in a trap, or wait around until the captive is liberated?" Ninety-nine people out of a hundred asked this question would reply without hesitation, "Of course, it will do either or both." Two St. Louis gentlemen were discussing this question a few days ago, says the Globe-Democrat, and, finding it impossible to agree, made a small bet, and decided to leave the question to an expert in natural history. The referee declined to act and finally a number of dealers in pet animals were consulted. All who had seen a cat tempted by a captive rat agreed that for some reason best known to itself the best feline rat-catchers kept as much space as possible between themselves and their natural enemies, when the latter were handicapped by being imprisoned in a trap. It was only those who had not had an opportunity of judging from actual experience who laughed at the question as foolish and said that a cat would certainly fight a trap as viciously as a terrier. One dealer, who has been in the business for thirty years, said:

"Rats are a great nuisance to us, and we frequently catch them in traps. That old cat you see there has caught dozens of rats in his time, though he is getting too old and toothless now for anything bigger than a mouse. But he would never go near a trap with a rat in it, although I have tried him again and again. I know of no reason for this, but it is an actual fact, and I quit trying years ago. Not only would the cat refuse to watch the trap, but it could not be held while the rat was liberated. It may be that the cat was afraid of the trap, but I don't see why, because he never noticed it when it was empty."

An old river man who was lounging the store when the question was asked, added:

"No cat will face a rat in a trap. I have seen it tried again and again on boats and wharves. Down south I have known rats to destroy hundreds of dollars worth of cargo, and have seen many a cat drag in a rat half as large as itself. When we found one of the gnawers in a trap we would often hunt up a favorite cat and give it a chance for some sport. But it was never any use. The best of them would fight to get away and would refuse to even look a second time at a trap which had done its work satisfactorily."

An old menagerie hand, who was appealed to, not only confirmed the statement, but advanced somewhat of a philosophical theory to account for it. The cat, he explained, not only belongs to the same tribe as the tiger, but resembles it in many ways, notably in stalking its victims, springing upon them from ambush, waiting patiently for hours for coveted prey and playing with its prize before killing and eating it. A cat refuses to attack an imprisoned rat, not from motives of fear, but from something more like chivalry or pride. Just in the same way a tiger would not, unless pressed by intense hunger, eat an animal not killed by itself. Instances were on record, he stated, in which men lost in tiger-infested regions had escaped being torn to pieces by simulating death, and he doubted very much whether a cat would attack a rat out of a trap if it appeared to be disabled or seriously injured.

Available in Case of War.

A statement has been prepared at the navy department showing the number of merchant vessels available for naval service in case of war, either as transports or as cruisers. There are at present on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts eighty merchant vessels that could be used as transports and slightly over half this number that could be fitted up with light batteries and do effective duty as cruisers. Most of these ships are located on the Atlantic coast, the Pacific coast having comparatively few vessels that could be used by the government in any emergency. Subsidies are granted the owners of the vessels inspected for this purpose. When the inspection is concluded the vessel is rated as belonging to either the cruiser class or one of the four classes of transports. It is estimated that in case of war the United States could send an immense force to any foreign country on board these vessels. At least 100,000 men could go on the transports alone, and the cruisers could also carry a large number as their size in many cases is much greater than that of any of the transports.—Washington Star.

THE MICROSCOPE.

A careful microscopical examination and chemical analysis of the urine, is a valuable aid in determining the nature of many chronic diseases, particularly those of the nervous system, blood, liver, kidneys, and bladder. These aids make it possible to treat such diseases successfully at a distance, without personal examination of the patient. Thus Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, Gravel, and other Diseases of the Urinary Organs are successfully treated; Nervous Debility, Exhaustion, Dropsy, Liver Disease, and many other Chronic Maladies are cured without seeing the patient. Write for question blanks, treatise, and other information, describing case, and inclose 10 cents, in stamps, to pay postage.

Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Glorious Fourth

The Soldiers of '76

With head erect the soldier boy
Stands in the village market place;
His father's stay, his mother's joy—
The proudest of the populace.

The steeple clangs its brazen bliss,
The guns their iron glee declare;
The patriot feels a manliness
Enter his breast and tarry there.

He rests his musket on the grass,
Its brightness shows a mother's pride.
The miller's daughter, bless the lass!
Fashioned the sword knot at his side.
What knoweth he of war, this youth
Reared in the tranquil arts of peace?
War's lesson soon is learned in truth,
When shackled nations seek release!

The cheers ring down the fearless line.
Congress hath issued a decree,
In language burning, just—divine!
'Tis read, that Title of the Free!

'Tis read; from many a tender cheek
A telltale tear is brushed away.
And age exclaims, in utterance weak,
"Would I were younger than to-day!"

'Tis read, and souls that long have pined
In thraldom's cheerless, sable night,
Rejoice, like those from cradle blind
When first they see the morning light.

But freedom smiles upon the strong,
Sparing the weaker sons of men,
Till tyrants blush to do a wrong—
The sword must ever aid the pen!

He fought, that brave young villager!
He fought for that which could not fail:
He fought for parents, home—for her!
But came not back to tell the tale!

When "Yorktown" rang the country o'er
And bade unfettered pulses throb,
A comrade brought the knot he wore,
And they thanked Heaven through a sob!

Before the glorious day arose
To dash away the prison's gloom;
Before the nightshade bore a rose,
He found a soldier's nameless tomb!

. . . .

Bold pioneer of human right,
Time vainly steals your mortal breath;
We see you still by freedom's light;
You live! You scorn the scythe of death!

—Thomas Frost.

HOW THE BRITISH BEAT 'PHRASTUS.

"'N' she says I sha'n't spend one cent for crackers ner torpydos, ner go down to see the p'rade, ner any of the boys. She says I've got to stay hum and keep still this Fourth."

The prospect was evidently dire to Theophrastus Wilson, but the person to whom he poured out his woes only twinkled a pair of merry eyes. Harvey Harris was several years older than 'Phrastus, but he listened with an interest very comforting to the smaller boy.

"She says I kin take the old hoss-pistle 'n' fire it off once down behind the barn. 'N' I kin tie dad's old flag to a broom stick and wave it about all I wanter. Who wants an old broom-stick 'round, anyway? That aint no Fourth of July."

'Phrastus sniffed—he almost snivelled. His hearer laughed outright.

"Say, 'Phrastus, what under the canopy did you do last Fourth that makes Aunt 'Scilla settle down on you like this?"

"Nothin'," said 'Phrastus, sullenly.

"Oh, pshaw! I know you and I know Aunt Priscilla. She'd never corner you up so close without some reason. Honest, now, out with it, and I'll see what I can do for you."

"There was a cat," said 'Phrastus, digging his toes into the ground.

"What about the cat?"

"She told me to give him his dinner, 'nd I put a fire-cracker under the pan. It didn't hurt him none, but he never come fer a week; 'nd he won't tech codfish sence."

"Oh, ho! What else?"

"The settin' hen," said 'Phrastus, scratching his right ear. "I knowed she wanted her broke up, 'n' I bet a couple o' crackers'd do it."

"Well, did they?"

"Guess you'd 'a' thought so! They set the nest afire, and 'most burnt up the chicken-house." 'Phrastus actually grinned.

"Ah, ha! Go ahead; that wasn't all. What put on the finishing touch?"

"I s'pose 'twas the new wash-b'ller," said 'Phrastus, frowning. "We tuk it out behind the barn to light a bunch in. My, didn't they pop! Then we fergot it teetotal, and come wash-day nobody knowed where the b'ller was."

"And when they found it?"

"Suthin' had stepped on it!" muttered 'Phrastus. "But I don't think folks ought to hold things a hull year."

Harvey threw his head back and laughed so heartily that 'Phrastus stopped frowning and giggled.

"Now, look here," said Harvey, when he had had his laugh out, "I haven't forgotten how you found Frowsy for me last summer, and if you'll promise not to use them 'round the house or the barn, or anywhere where they'll disturb Aunt 'Scilla, I'll put half a dozen packs under the big stone behind the barn for you Fourth of July morning."

"It's awful good of you!" 'Phrastus's cheeks grew shining red. "There shall not nobody hear 'em 'cept me; I'll take 'em down to the woods. And say, I'll hunt your dog every time he gets lost—don't you give any other feller the job. What they got in that wagon?"

"It must be the English ram Mr. Turner's been buying," said Harvey, as he turned to look. "Gave two hundred dollars for him. I guess I'll walk down and see him when they take him out."

"Two—hundred—dollars for a sheep!" 'Phrastus hopped over the fence and trotted along by his friend's side. "What a pile of money for one sheep! Say, Harvey, 'd you jest as lief put in a box of matches and fi'-cent flag 'stead of two o' them bunches?"

"Just exactly."

The wagon turned into Mr. Turner's barnyard, and the boys followed it.

"I bet I'd never pay them old British two hundred dollars for a sheep," said 'Phrastus, thrusting his hands deep into his pockets as he watched the men carefully lower the Cotswold ram "King George XII.," to the ground.

"What do you know about the British Bub?" asked one of the men.

"I know we whipped 'em 'twicet—Fourth of July," said 'Phrastus.

"Well, it seems they can beat us on sheep," laughed the man.

"I 'spect if Mr. Turner had looked round he'd got jest as good a one in 'Meriker for ten dollars!" said 'Phrastus. "They can beat us on anything!"

Having reached the ground safely, King George stamped his foot and shook his curved horns. Then, as Mr. Turner entered the yard by a side gate, the ram dashed forward with unexpected quickness, knocked his new owner's feet from under him and laid him flat on his back.

"He's got a good smart temper," remarked one of the assistants, as King George appeared ready to charge the entire force.

"Serves Mr. Turner right for spending so much money on an old British sheep," 'Phrastus whispered to Harvey.

Aunt Priscilla noticed with surprise that 'Phrastus neither whined nor pleaded when she reannounced her Fourth of July edict. She repeated the command in order to keep her own resolution firm, for she dearly loved the motherless boy, mischievous as he was.

"You hain't been giving him money for firecrackers or dossying him up, have ye, Ben?" she inquired of her husband.

"No, I ain't," responded Uncle Ben. "But jest think on't Perscilla. The heft of a boy's livin' is rumpus, and to choke him off on the Fourth! It's—well, it's plaguy cruel! He'll bust."

"No, he won't! You jest let him alone Benjamin Arbuckle. It's time he learned that cats and wash-b'ller and other folks had some right on the Fourth of July's well's boys."

"Where you going, 'Phrastus?" she demanded, when the Fourth of July at last arrived, as quiet in their immediate vicinity as if it had been a Sunday.

"Down to Mr. Turner's wood-lot to sail my boats."

He had the boat conspicuously tucked under his arm. Aunt 'Silla regarded him with a mixture of remorse and suspicion.

"You ain't fired off your pistol yet?"

"No'm; don't wanter. Once aint nothin'. It'd sound as if it'd lost itself."

"Your pa's flag is in there on the table."

"That's had too much powder a'ready," 'Phrastus had carefully studied up this smart speech in advance.

"Hum!" Aunt Priscilla sniffed. "Well, go 'long then. If you go to that p'rade, sir, you know what you'll get."

"Ain't goin'."

"And if I hear of you hanging round any of the other boys' houses, you'll catch it!"

"Yes'm."

'Phrastus slouched off with an air of deep seated melancholy till the barn was between himself and Aunt 'Scilla's remorseful eyes. Harvey had more than kept his promise, and 'Phrastus executed the final steps of a war-dance.

"Ain't he good, though! I'll hunt dogs for him all day. Look at these two big fellers! They'll do for Long Tom's on the Chesapeake."

It was not yet nine o'cock, but there was every promise of a hot day. The leaves hung motionless; the cattle were already seeking shade. 'Phrastus rubbed his arm across his perspiring face.

"Wonder why it's always so awful hot on the Fourth? Maybe 'cause there's so much fire everywhere. Wouldn't it be fun to have a snow fort?"

He beguiled the way by a delightful fancy of flying snowballs, each carrying a lighted fire cracker, until the climbing of the last fence brought him into the edge of the woods.

Through the pond, a shallow drinking place for sheep, a small brook flowed. 'Phrastus sat down under a tree, and paddled his bare toes in the water with a sigh of content.

"If there was only jest one other feller with me, wouldn't it be prime?" But then he'd have to be the British and get beat, 'cause I'm bound to be 'Merican."

'Phrastus had planned a naval engagement that should reverse a fact of history. One of Uncle Ben's favorite stories was of the ship Chesapeake, when the English ship Leopard forced her to strike her colors in a time of peace. Uncle Ben's grandfather had been a sailor on the American vessel, and the story Uncle Ben loved to listen to as a child, he loved to tell to 'Phrastus.

But 'Phrastus had determined that those ships should meet again on Mr. Turner's pond with a very different result.

He began his preparations. The five-cent flag rendered the Chesapeake top-heavy; so he stuck it into the bank behind her. Truth compels me to confess that 'Phrastus showed very little generosity toward his imaginary foes.

The Chesapeake was a full-fledged schooner, at least eighteen inches long, with two rows of fire cracker guns on either side. The English ship was only a third as large—a block of wood whittled roughly into the semblance of a boat, with one crooked, wobbling mast. Her complement of guns was a meager half-dozen—three on a side.

"For you're bound to be blowed skyer-higher anyway, you old Britisher," said 'Phrastus.

The two big fire crackers were placed in position at the Chesapeake's bow and stern, and the commodore, joyfully striking a match, stopped down to fire his guns.

Whack! 'Phrastus shot out into the pond turning a somersault and scattering matches as he went. His line of motion was directly across the Chesapeake. Both her stately masts snapped and the stately vessel careened till her whole armament slid off into the water.

'Phrastus's first thought as he emerged puffing and sputtering, was that the heat had exploded the fire crackers all at once. But when he got the water out of his eyes, he saw that the British had received unexpected reinforcements.

King George XII., arriving unperceived from the rear, had disposed of the American commodore and now turned his attention to the stars and stripes, which he jammed into the bank with repeated blows of his woolly head!

The patriotic blood of 'Phrastus boiled.

"Git out of that, you old British ram! Le' my flag alone! I'll hit you with a rock, I will!"

He dug vainly about with his fingers in the muddy bed of the pond, but found nothing larger than a small pebble. Meantime King George's pointed feet were tramping his ammunition deep into the soil. 'Phrastus lifted his voice in reproach and lamentation.

"You're the meanest, meanest old sheep that ever was! We did beat you, we did, we did! Oh my flag—boo—m'fr' crackers—boo—he's a s'ilin' every last one! I wish they'd bust and turn him wrong-side ou-ou-out."

The howl drew King George's attention to the pond. He stood a moment with lowered horns, and then plunged threateningly forward, drawing back, however, as his feet touched the water.

At the forward movement 'Phrastus turned and ran. He reached the shore as King George came galloping around the curve.

Up the nearest tree scrambled the small American. It was not a very large one, and received a blow from King George's head that almost shook the climber loose before he reached a place of safety in the crotch.

For some time—'Phrastus afterward said "the hull mornin'," but he was in no condition to judge—King George butted the tree, bringing down upon himself fresh explosions of tearful wrath, and all the breakable branches 'Phrastus could reach. Afterward he nibbled about in the vicinity returning at intervals to renew the assault and never going far enough away to permit the escape of the prisoner.

Aunt 'Scilla's dinner was late, for Uncle Ben went to the parade; but it was an exceptionally good one, and there was a puffy turnover at 'Phrastus's place. Aunt 'Scilla rang the little bell, and Uncle Ben rang the big bell, without bringing any small nephew forward to eat it.

"After all I've said," declared Aunt Priscilla her lips growing ominously thin and tight, "that boy's been and gone to the p'rade!"

"Taint agin nature if he has," said Uncle Ben. "When you stretch string too tight, it'll snap."

"Something'll snap" said Aunt 'Scilla. Her eyes did. "I've got to train up that boy in the way he should go, and I mean to do it. Don't you dast say a word, Benjamin Arbuckle! If he don't learn to go straight now, he'll go crooked all his life."

After dinner she cut two long lilac sprouts and trimmed them with ostentatious care. While she was washing dishes in the kitchen, Uncle Ben clyly dishes in the kitchen, Uncle Ben slyly of each switch.

It was in the middle of the afternoon, when a boy with a dirty, tear-marked face and mud-stained clothes shuffled into the house. Under his arm he carried a dismasted toy schooner, and a dilapidated, five-cent American flag.

"So, Theophrastus Wilson," greeted Aunt 'Scilla, "you've been to the p'rade after all. Very well, sir, you're going to remember this Fourth of July as long as you live. Come straight here."

She flourished one of the switches, and it fell to pieces in her astonished hands:

"Guess I shell 'member it," whined 'Phrastus. "I haint been t' the p'rade—I haint! I stuck up in a tree this hull everlastin' Fourth, with Turner's old ram a-buntin' at it tryin' to shake me down. I'd had to stayed there all night, too, likely, if Mr. Turner's Pete hadn't come along. You jest ast him."

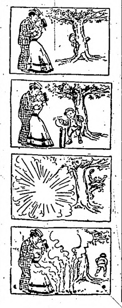
When Harvey Harris heard of it he could not resist saying, "So the British beat, eh, 'Phrastus?"

"Just that once!" said 'Phrastus.

—MRS. FRANK LEE.

Love's Oblivion.

From Puck.



QUALIFIED TO ACT AS JUDGE.

A Western Humorist Who Decided a Case in Favor of Buffalo Bill.

Buffalo Bill once gave a show in Carson City, Nev., and on the opening night the house was packed to the doors. The audience, however, went away dissatisfied because Mr. Cody himself did not appear. The celebrated cowboy, when the time came for him to startle the audience with his deeds of daring, was not to be found. So the good people of Carson dubbed the show a "fake," and after the first night only a few attended. Charles E. Locke, the manager of the show, brought a suit against Buffalo Bill to recover damages. It caused a great sensation in Carson, for, according to the San Francisco News-Letter, the residents of that town knew very little of the merits of Thespians of any kind, and there were few, if any, who could honestly tell whether or not it was more gratifying to the audience for an intoxicated actor to appear on the stage and make a fool of himself or remain behind the scenes in the arms of Morpheus. The judge of the court did not like to decide the case between Messrs. Locke and Cody, and it was impossible to find a jury with sufficient intelligence to understand the matter. Finally it was agreed to let Sam Davis decide the case. So the sage brush humorist was brought before the tribunal and was closely questioned by the judge, who wanted to see how much Mr. Davis knew about the drama.

"Have you ever been in a theater, Mr. Davis?" asked the judge.

"Yes, sir."

"Do you think that you can tell the difference between a man who is intoxicated and a man who is sober?"

"Most assuredly," answered Mr. Davis.

"Did you ever hear of a theater where the play drew largely on the first night and continued to draw largely during the run of the play?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where?"

"In London. It was tragedy."

"Who wrote it?"

"William Shakespeare."

"Now, Mr. Davis, did you ever hear of a theater where the play drew largely on the first night and only eight or ten people on every night thereafter?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where?"

"In London. It was a tragedy also."

"And who wrote that tragedy?"

"I did."

Mr. Davis was unanimously selected to decide the suit, which he did in favor of Buffalo Bill.

PROBLEMS IN ANIMAL LIFE.

Some of the Unaccountable Things Done by Birds, Fowls, Beasts and Insects.

The greyhound runs by sight only, says the Philadelphia Times. This is a fact. The carrier pigeon flies his hundreds of miles homeward by eye sight, noting from point to point objects that he has marked. This is only conjecture. The dragon fly, with 12,000 lenses in the eye, darts from angle to angle with the rapidity of a flashing sword, and as rapidly darts back, not turning in the air, but with a clash reversing the action of his four wings and instantaneously calculating the distance of the objects, or he would dash himself to pieces. But in what conformation of the eye does this power consist? No one can answer.

Ten thousand mosquitoes dance up and down the sun, with the minutest interval between them, yet no one knocks another headlong on the grass or breaks a leg or a wing, long and delicate as they are. Suddenly a peculiar, high-shouldered, vicious creature with long and pendant nose, darts out of the rising and falling cloud and, settling on your cheek, inserts a poisonous sting. What possessed the little wretch to do this? Did he smell your blood while he was dancing? No one knows.

A carriage comes suddenly upon some geese in a narrow road and drives straight through the flock. A goose was never yet fairly run over, nor a duck. They are under the very wheels and hoofs, and yet they contrive to flap and waddle safely off. Habitually stupid, heavy and indolent, they are, nevertheless, equal to any emergency.

Why does the lonely woodpecker, when he descends from his tree and goes to drink, stop several times on his way and listen and look around before he takes his draught? No one knows. How is it that the species of ant which is taken in battle by other ants to be made slaves should be the black or negro ant? No one knows.

The power of judging of actual danger and the free and easy boldness that results from it are by no means uncommon. Many birds seem to have a correct notion of a gun's range, and are scrupulously careful to keep beyond it. The most obvious resource would be to fly right away out of sight and hearing, but this they do not choose to do.

A naturalist of Brazil gives an account of an expedition that he made to one of the islands of the Amazon to shoot spoonbills, ibises and other magnificent birds which are abundant there. His design was completely baffled, however, by a wretched little sand-piper, which preceded him, continually uttering his tell-tale cry, which at once aroused all the birds within hearing. Throughout the day did this individual bird continue its self-imposed duty of sentinel to others, effectually preventing the approach of the hunter to the game and yet managed to keep out of the range of his gun.

Too Sanguine Altogether.

As Dr. Blister was driving out in the suburbs of Dallas, a lady ran out of a house, and halting the doctor, asked:

"Doctor, how is old Mrs. Peters coming on?"

"She is a sick woman, but I think she will pull through all right," replied the doctor.

"You do! Why, her son-in-law, Bill Smith, told me there was no chance whatever for her recovery."

"Well, you see Bill is a hopeful kind of a fellow. He always looks on the bright side of things."

Poor Consolation.

Jennie—What's the matter, Fannie? You look as if you had the blues.

Fannie—So I have. Father will not allow me to marry Charlie Bondclipper.

Jennie—Oh, well, don't let that worry you. He is very handsome, and he is as rich as he is handsome, so he will soon be able to marry some other girl.

NEVER LOST COMPOSURE.

The Rescued Victim of a Railroad Wreck Crawls Back for His Money.

An article in which were described the experiences of two men in a railroad wreck, where a car rolled over and over down an embankment into a river, reminded the reader of a similar accident. "There isn't anything in the world that I know," he said to a New York Tribune man, "that makes a man lose his senses so completely as being tumbled over and over in a falling car and yet I met a man once who seemed to be the personification of coolness in just such a situation. As soon as our car left the track we were all shot from our berths in various directions, being tumbled up and down and around as the car kept turning somersaults. Like the people I read about, we landed in the water, and then the car came to a standstill. After its terrifying bumping and crashing I was so frightened that I could scarcely move my arms to keep my head above water.

"Near me, however, was a man who kept his head.

"'Don't splash around so,' he said. 'You'll cut yourself. The car is full of broken glass, lamps, wrenched rods and nails, and you'll hack yourself to pieces.'

"But I thought I was drowning, and I shouted my fears to him.

"'Oh, no,' he said, 'we are not drowning; we'll get out of this easily.'

"But it was not so easy to escape as my cool friend assured me. The whole inside work had to be shattered, and there was nothing by which we could climb to the windows, which were high above us, as our car was overturned, lying on its roof. We made so many efforts to jump up, always falling back into the water, that I became exhausted. My friend, however, kept on encouraging me. Finally, with his assistance, I managed to clutch a window frame and I got out. He followed me shortly afterward. The first thing he did when he climbed outside was to examine himself for cuts and wounds.

"'Well, I guess I'm alive,' he said, with a laugh.

"After we had sat there for awhile watching with shivers the wreckers working to us, my friend declared that he was going to crawl back into the car.

"'Great heavens!' I begged, 'don't do that; we were lucky to get out once. You might get pinned there or drowned by the rising water.'

"'I have a waist coat in there,' he answered, 'and in the inside pocket there is over $1,000. I am going back for that waistcoat. My berth was at an end and I might be able to find it.'

"In the face of my protests he crawled back through the window, and when he dropped down with a loud splash I was as 'rattled' as if I had been there again myself. I could hear him puffing around in the water down there for a long time while he fished for his waistcoat. Finally his wet head came through the window once more, and I was never more glad to see a man.

"'I got it,' he said, with a triumphant laugh. 'Pretty wet, but the bills seem to be here. Watch is gone. Too bad, too—it was given to me, but one can't expect to save everything out of a railroad wreck,' he added cheerfully."

INSISTED ON HIS RIGHTS.

The Mild-Mannered Passenger Demanded a Seat Before Giving up His Ticket.

A west bound train had just pulled out of the Union station at Albany, says the Express, and the conductor was harvesting tickets. All the seats were taken and several of the passengers were obliged to stand up. Among the latter was a diffident-looking, mild-mannered man, who, much to the conductor's surprise, refused to give up a ticket.

"When I get a seat you get a ticket," he remarked mildly, but firmly; "you are probably aware that the company cannot collect fares from passengers whom it does not provide with seats."

"Oh, come now, that don't go; I want your ticket, see?" Thus spoke the conductor in a tone that indicated that he would intimidate the mild-mannered man.

"No seat, no ticket," laconically observed the latter.

"We'll see about that," growled the conductor, who was becoming quite warm in the region of the collar.

"I would if I were you," remarked the passenger, still mildly, smiling pleasantly.

Then the conductor bustled around and finally found a brother conductor who was going up the road away, whom he induced to give up his seat to the mildly firm passenger.

"There's a seat for you," now give me that ticket," said the conductor in a ferocious tone.

"Certainly here it is."

And the mild but firm passenger handed out a pass good to Chicago.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c. and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

In Hungary it is the custom for the groom to give the bride a kick after the wedding ceremony to make her feel her subjection.

Henry A. Salzer, manager of the John A. Salzer Seed company, La Crosse, Wis., is in Europe looking up rare novelties in vegetables and new things in the farm seed line. He will visit the celebrated farming districts of France, Germany, England, Belgium, Russia and Bohemia, and the customers of this wide-awake firm can congratulate themselves upon his bringing along the cream of farm and vegetable seeds that these foreign countries offer.

Civilized people didn't begin to sit at the dining table until the time of Charlemagne. Previous to that they reclined at their meals.

Never Buy Whiskey for Medicinal purposes unless you know the bottlers under celebrated names are spurious, cheap articles, whose bottlers cannot afford to have their names on the labels. Uncle Sam's Morgan Whiskey is bottled by the oldest and largest firm in the line in the Northwest and the favor with which it has been received is the best proof of its superior quality. Ask your druggist or retail dealer for it.

An Unreasonable Mule.

Sam Johnsing, a Dallas colored man, has a mule that balks. After Sam had belabored the mule for an hour the animal trotted off all right.

"Dar," said Sam confidentially to the mule, "dar, yer see, ef. yer would do what's right we mout lib tergedder jes like two brudders."

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

An Unkind Remark.

A young married lady living not far from Lenox avenue was visited by one of her dearest friends with whom she went to school at Vassar, and who is still unmarried. In reply to a question from the visitor, the recently married lady said:

"You have no idea how absent-minded my husband is!"

"That's what I thought he must be when I heard you were engaged," was the breezy reply.

Moral Suasion.

Old Gentleman—Do you mean to say that your teachers never thrash you?

Little Boy—Never. We have moral suasion at our school."

"What's that?"

"Oh, we get kep' in, and stood up in corners, and locked out, and locked in, and made to write one word a thousand times, and scowled at, and jawed at, and that's all."—Good News.

OH, MY HEAD

Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

All known chemical elements are represented in sea water. They are not always capable of being detected by chemical analysis.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

It is estimated that in Japan, out of a population of 237,000,000 people, there are less than 10,000 paupers.

Oil has been used in lighthouses since the seventeenth century.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

The first septennial parliament began its sittings in 1716.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."

Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Florida, California and Arizona together have about 18,000,000 bearing and nonbearing orange trees.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,

The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Smoke stacks of ocean steamers are much larger than is generally supposed. They range from 11 to 18 feet in diameter.

The 132,856 craters which have been discovered on the moon, are supposed to have been caused by a bombardment of aerolites.

Are You Going to Travel?

If so, and in what direction, or by whatever route, have a sufficiency of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters with you. Then you may bid defiance to seasickness, brave the influences of a malarious climate or abrupt transitions of temperature, avoid dyspepsia, and the stomachic pangs begotten of bad food and water, and counteract an unexpectedly developed tendency to constipation, biliousness and rheumatism.

An old boiler, which the owner claims belonged to the first boat propelled by steam in the world, is a relic at Frederick, Md.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE

WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 13 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.

WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., Toledo, Ohio

Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators. Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.

$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits. FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.

OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

WANTED 8 or 10 men to solicit orders for Hardy Nursery Stock, Fruit and Ornamentals; also new and valuable varieties of Seed Potatoes. Permanent positions; good salary, ranging from $75 to $125 per month. Apply quick with references.

L. L. MAY & CO.,
NURSERYMEN, FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN.
St. Paul, Minn.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

500 SALESMEN WANTED.
The oldest and largest Nursery in the Northwest. If you wish profitable work apply at once for particulars. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

N. W. N. U. No. 27—1894.

THE following are to-day's price for Binding Twine, subject to change, but we do not expect to change the price this season: No. 7 Jute Binding Twine 5¾c per lb. No. 47 Pure Sisal 6¼c per lb. No. 77 Standard Twine 6¾c per lb. No. 87 Manilla Twine (special and standard) 7c per lb. No. 97 Manilla "600 ft. to lb." 7¾c. No. 107 Pure Manilla "650 ft. to lb." 8¾c. We have arranged for a great many car loads of Binding Twine, and hope to fill all orders sent us by our friends and customers, but would desire you to send in your orders early. We recommend the No. 97 Manilla "600 feet to lb.", which is a twine that is often offered as 650 ft twine. T. M. ROBERTS' Supply House, Minneapolis. N. B. Have arranged to make prompt shipments of twine; let us hear from you and your friends, as we expect to fill all orders THE DAY the order is received.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1894. NUMBER 49.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

The house passed the New Mexico Statehood bill without a roll call.

The warship Lancaster, recently returned from a voyage around the world has been put out of commission at the New York navy yard.

A motion by Senator Hill to strike out the income tax feature of the Wilson bill was defeated by a vote of twenty-four to forty.

President Cleveland has approved the act incorporating the Supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the act authorizing the city of Hastings, Minn., to construct a wagon bridge over the Mississippi river.

The senate has passed a bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at Lexington, Mo., also joint house resolution calling upon the secretary of war for reports relating to the improvement of the Minnesota river.

Secretary of the Navy Herbert has issued an order discontinuing all work at the New York, Norfolk and Mare island navy yards which has to do with increase of the present navy. The order will throw 3,500 men out of employment.

Personal Mention.

Richard Croker returns to New York from Europe.

Royalties have, as a body, defective eyesight; Princess Maud of Wales is the only royal lady who wears a single eyeglass.

Julian Hawthorne, who went with his wife and children to Jamaica a few months ago, has concluded to reside there permanently.

Mrs. Sallie Chapman Gordon Law, known throughout the South as the mother of the Confederacy, died in Memphis, Tenn., at the age of 89 years.

Mme. Materna is said to have lost $10,000 by her recent experience in vaudeville theatricals along the Pacific coast in connection with Gustav Amberg.

United States Treasurer Morgan has secured for his large collection of historical relics the table upon which President Lincoln signed the emancipation proclamation.

Sir Edwin Arnold said the other day that he endorsed a remark once made by Chauncey M. Depew, "Fame depends upon being civil to interviewers."

Prof. Goldwin Smith, who has returned from England to his home in Canada is now at work revising several of his books, new editions of which will soon appear.

Henry Bruml, a wealthy citizen of Chicago visiting Atlantic City, ventured into the surf beyond his depth and being unable to swim, was sinking the third time when rescued by the life guards.

Stuart B. Reed of Harrison county, W. Va., was introduced to the Republican league convention at Fairmount, W. Va., the other day as the oldest Republican in the United States. He is 103 years old and still in good health.

Thomas E. Breckinridge, who crossed the plains with Freemont's expedition in 1845, is living at Telluride, Col., in destitute circumstances. Petitions praying the federal government to grant him a pension are circulating in Colorado and California.

Unfortunate Events.

Fireworks caused $200,000 fire at Honey Grove, Tex.

The Eaton county court house at Charlotte, Mich., burned. Loss $40,000.

An aeronaut named Jones fell from a balloon at Joliet, Ill., and was fatally injured.

A pet donkey, after throwing his rider, Henry C. Cay, in Philadelphia proceeded to eat him. The boy will die.

Samuel J. Randall a well-known resident of Dover, Ill., was run over and killed by a passenger train.

William W. Rush of Crawfordsville, Ind., a sawmill owner, was struck by a piece of timber and killed.

Fire at Kingsley, Mich., in Case & Crotser's lumber yards, caused a loss of $40,000. The fire was caused by a firecracker.

Jacob Brunswick, marshal of Hammond, Ind., was knocked off an electric car near East Chicago and instantly killed.

An explosion occurred on the cruiser Montgomery off Norfolk, Va., damaging the vessel's machinery so that she will be out of commission three or four months.

By the explosion of gasoline at Louisville, Ky., Henry Zimmerman was fatally hurt, his wife lost her life and their little 9-year-old boy was badly burned about the head.

Frank Ponoceny aged 5, and Rosa Frank aged 10 years, were gathering water lilies from the edge of Cedar lake, Iowa, when they slipped in and were drowned.

Criminal Doings.

Henry Schlensker of Elgin, Ill., committed suicide by hanging himself from a tree in the orchard.

J. A. Maury, a photographer at Martinsville, Ind., has mysteriously disappeared, leaving his family destitute.

Masked men entered Gem, Wash., and kidnaped Supt. Neil and three non-union miners. John Nebo, who attempted to escape, was killed.

Miss Lizzie Glendening, aged 19 years, committed suicide by taking poison at the home of her parents near Seymour, Ind.

Mrs. Ray, arrested in Knoxville, Iowa, on a charge of using the mails with intent to defraud, committed suicide in jail at Knoxville, Iowa.

While insane as the result of a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. Merrill Baker of Montgomery, Vt., hanged her four young children to bedposts.

The prisoners who broke jail at Milwaukee and stole Banker Schuette's yacht, crossed the lake, beached the boat and took to the woods.

Railroad officials have discovered a conspiracy among their own detectives by which the Western Indiana was robbed of property valued at more than $50,000.

John Poynter, Marshall Tucker and Alexander Allen, murderers, who had made futile appeals to the United States supreme court, have been sentenced, at Fort Smith, Ark., to be hanged Sept. 20.

As a fast freight train of the Lake Shore railroad pulled up the grade to New Carlisle, Ind., a gang of eight men boarded the train and proceeded to rob the crew and passengers. Five gold watches and about $75 in money were taken.

Articles of impeachment were prepared against George P. Bemis, mayor of Omaha. These articles were signed by Isaac S. Hascall and Daniel H. Wheeler, members of the city council. The impeachment articles embrace six charges. The charges are malfeasance in office.

In the United States district court at Portland, Or., the jury in the case of the government against ex-Collector of Customs James Lotan, E. P. Thompson and Siel Back, charged with conspiring illegally to land Chinese, reported that they were unable to agree on a verdict. They were discharged. The jury stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction.

Foreign Gossip.

Cholera has appeared in St. Petersburg.

The total number of deaths in Hong Kong from the plague is 2,298.

The American yacht Vigilant is defeated by the Britannia in English waters, and the Valkyrie is sunk.

By a French decision it is declared that Mrs. Parnell and Timothy Harrington have no power over the "Paris fund."

In preparation for war with Japan, it is said the registration of Chinese merchant vessels has been transferred to Germany.

The trial of Santo, the assassin of President Carnot has been set for July 23. An accomplice of Santo named Granier committed suicide to escape arrest.

About 65,000 of Scotland's miners have struck against the proposed reduction in their wages. The strike has also thrown 20,000 steel workers out of employment.

In compliment to the memory of the late President Carnot, Emperor William of Germany, has pardoned two French officers who had been convicted of being spies.

Advices from China, says that the black plague or black death still prevails at Canton and that all vessels from Chinese ports have been quartined by Japan by imperial proclamation.

Minister Dupuy has received a telegram from Motta Visconti, Italy, saying the authorities, the inhabitants and even the family of Santo express profound indignation at the crime.

The indications are that China will contest the right of Japan to the control of Corea. Japanese troops have recently taken possession of the principal strongholds and now 20 battalions of Chinese soldiers have been ordered to the peninsula.

The remains of the late President Carnot of France were deposited in the Pantheon, July 1. The funeral is said to have been attended by one of the most remarkable civic and military displays ever witnessed in that country. Memorial services in honor of the great man were held in all parts of the world.

Otherwise.

Efforts to bring on a general strike at Indianapolis have failed.

Freight trains are tied up at Terre Haute, Ind., and passenger train service is badly demoralized.

John A. Morris has disposed of his lottery interest which made for him his enormous fortune.

Chesapeake & Ohio yardmasters at Covington, Ky., it is said, have struck, refusing to work with non-union men.

Kansas Democrats put a full ticket in the field, headed by David Obermeyer for governor.

Richard Croker, ex-chief of Tammany, has arrived in New York from Europe.

Iowa prohibitionists nominated a full state ticket, headed by Rev. Bennett, of West Side, for secretary of state.

Michigan Democrats nominated Spencer O. Fisher for governor, and declared free silver.

Fifty employes of the Scandia Plow company, Rockford, Ill., struck on account of a decrease in wages.

Prohibitionists at Des Moines have begun a suit to test the constitutionality of the new mulct law.

Rev. J. F. Harper was decided never to have been legally a member of the Cadillac (Mich.) Presbytery, and his pulpit declared vacant.

Grand Master Wilkinson of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has issued a statement of the reasons why he cannot sanction the Pullman strike.

Miners at Spring Valley, Ill., voted to reject the Columbus scale, but at Streator it was accepted by a majority of 175.

As a result of the increase in the tax on whisky Cincinnati distillers have advanced the price of spirits 3 cents a gallon.

At Indianapolis, Ind., and Springfield, Ill., the federal courts have issued orders enjoining strikers from interference with the running of trains.

The Brushart Lumber company of Portsmouth, Ohio, assigned to J. S. Dodge. Liabilities, $45,000; assets, $35,000.

Denver Times was sold by H. W. Hawley to a syndicate of Republicans, headed by Earl B. Coe, the present owner of the Evening Sun, who will discontinue that paper. The price paid was $255,000. Mr. Hawley paid $185,000 for the paper three years ago.

Secretary Lamont's proposed reorganization of the war department has been postponed until Aug. 1. It was intended that the work should begin with opening of the present month, but the action of congress in extending the appropriation law one month has delayed the contemplated reform for that length of time. It is expected that the list of employes will be considerably shortened, some of the clerks having already received notice of their dismissal.

APPLIED THE TORCH

INCENDIARISM IS RAMPANT IN THE CHICAGO YARDS.

Thousands of Cars Are Burned and an Enormous mount of Merchandise is Destroyed or Stolen — A Night of Terror.

Chicago, July 7.—With flaming torch lawless hordes of firebugs were at work last night at a score of points in the south half of Chicago. Fires were raging in every direction among the numerous railroad yards, thousands of cars and tens of thousands of dorrars worth of merchandise went up in smoke or were carried off by the now frenzied mobs of rioters. Incendiarism was rampant, alarm after alarm followed in quick succession all night and from early morning until midnight reports of fresh fires followed each other with startling rapidity, being confined, however, principally to railroad rolling stock and buildings, against which, thus far, the greater part of the mob's fury has been directed. Early in the morning a blaze started among some overturned cars at Kensington, quickly communicating to other tracks filled with long lines of cars, many containing valuable merchandise were soon blazing furiously. Fanned by strong winds there were at this point a total of eighty cars wiped out. At the stock yards one blaze after another was reported, and from the outlying districts came urgent calls for engines and police protection, increasing in frequency.

But with the falling shades of night came the climax of the fiery festival. The Pan Handle yards from Fifty-fifth to Sixty-third streets, eight blocks, were a mass of fire. Ten tracks, containing from a thousand to two thousand cars, half of them loaded, is a total loss. No water being at hand the fire burned itself out. The Pan Handle station at Sixty-third street was also fired and destroyed.

The Grand Trunk yards at Elston was a sea of flames. Five hundred box cars are supposed to have been burned. All efforts to check the flames were futile. The flag shanties and other railroad property also burned, and no water except one stream from a plug at Fifty-first street could be obtained. While directing the movements of the Eleventh battalion at this point Fire Marshal Fitzpatrick was seized by a thoroughly frenzied mob of firebugs and thrown into a pond, from which he was rescued more dead than alive.

At Hyde Park, near the world's fair grounds, the ashes of forty cars are now smouldering, and after numerous efforts the mob has succeeded in firing the Illinois Central shops at Burnside.

At the stock yards about fifty toughs, few of whom were railroad men, skulked from point to point and set a large number of fires. Their method was thoroughly unique. Loading several hand cars with buckets of "waste" and oil, they would glide around among the cars in the darkness, lighting wads of the inflammable stuff, which would be thrown into the open doors of the cars as they passed by them. Fires sprung up on every hand and no organized effort on the part of the police seemed to be under way to intercept them. The aggregate of the losses to the railroads will be enormous. Miles of their tracks have been ruined by the fierce heat, hundreds of switch and signal towers with their expensive mechanism utterly ruined. Thousands of cars and untold quantities of merchandise of every imaginable description have fed the flames and gorged the larders of thieves. Locomotives have been wrecked and disabled; miles of tangled wires and prostrate poles litter the ground.

Only One residence has been burned thus far as a direct result of the incendiaries work, and that one was in the stock yards district, and business buildings have escaped altogether. But the wanton destruction of railway property continues unchecked, and with increasing destructiveness. The maddened mobs, worked up to the highest pitch of fury, paralleled the scenes of the commune, and it appears as though nothing short of a miracle can prevent an armed demonstration against them and the sacrifice of many lives.

To illustrate the tactics resorted to by the incendiaries to hamper the work of the fire department empty cartridges were forced into the key holes of the fire alarm boxes, firemen were knocked down with stones and bricks, and while working at fires the horses of the department were stolen.

The stoning of incoming trains was a common pastime with the mobs, and several persons were more or less injured by flying missiles. One engineer on a Rock Island train was so badly injured that it was at first supposed that he was dead. The assaults of the mob, however, were not met with passive resistance which characterized the course pursued yesterday. On two occasions at least, their attacks were met with accurately aimed lead. During a riot in the morning over an incoming milk train at Kensington a deputy United States marshal shot and killed two strikers, and during the afternoon the deputies guarding an incoming Baltimore & Ohio passenger train replied to a volley of shots and stones which the strikers showered upon them by turning their revolvers loose, killing four of their assailants and wounding a number of others.

Of the situation in general it may be said to have broadened and strengthened its grip. The most significant feature of it is the carrying of the strike East to Cleveland, tying up all the connections of the seaboard trunk lines there, with the promise that by to-morrow it will reach the trunk lines themselves and so practically reach the Atlantic seaboard by tying up all roads at Buffalo. Thus the strike would extend from ocean to ocean. There is no notable relief at the points heretofore placed under embargo, and the situation at Kansas City was complicated by the tying up of the Fort Scott road, thereby involving another Southwestern line.

The Pacific coast remains in paralysis from which there are no indications of relief.

Cleveland, July, 7.—Slowly but surely the great railroad strike is sweeping Eastward. After an all-night session of the members of the A. R. U., in which every road running into this city was represented, it was decided at an early hour this morning to tie up every line centering in Cleveland.

SHOT BY THE TROOPS.

The Regulars Finally Fire upon the Strikers.

Chicago, July 9.—A fight occurred yesterday afternoon at Hammond, Ind., between a mob of 5,000 men and Company B, Fifteenth infantry, in which one of the mob is known to be killed, and several others, including one woman, are said to have been injured. The mob became so violent shortly after noon that a battalion of the First Illinois militia was sent down from Pullman. It drove the rioters over the state line, which runs just west of Hammond, but were not able to do more, as they could not move into the State of Indiana. Word was sent to Chicago for a company of regulars who could operate irrespective of the state line. Capt. Hart, with Company B, Fifteenth infantry, were dispatched to the scene. The regulars were patrolling the tracks in a passenger coach when they were attacked by the mob with stones, some shots being fired. The troops at once returned the fire, through the car windows, killing Charles Fleischman, who was shot through the bowels, and wounding W. H. Campbell in the leg. Several other men and women were wounded, but their names are not known. Three additional companies of regulars were sent from Chicago on special trains. Earlier in the day the rioters took possession of the town, sacked the telegraph office, overturned freight cars, burned a Pullman and beat five railroad men, one fatally.

Saturday evening the strikers and the State of Illinois came together and a pitched battle was the result. The number of killed and wounded will never be known, as the mob carried off a number of men who were seen to fall, and whether they were dead or wounded or how many of them fell it is impossible at this time to ascertain. As far as known the casualties were as follows:

Dead—John Burke, striker, killed by bayonet thrust through abdomen.

Wounded — Lieut. Harry Reed, Company C, Second infantry, I. N. G., struck on head by stones; condition critical. Thomas, Jackman, shot in back; will die. John Kanderg, stabbed with bayonet; will die. Unknown man, shot through liver; will die. Unknown boy, seventeen years, shot through abdomen; will die. Tony Gajenski, shot in right arm. Henry Williams, shot in left arm. Unknown woman, shot in right hip. Joseph Rhineberg, three bayonet wounds; may die. Anton Kocminski, shot in right side. Joseph Szcepanski, shot in shoulder. Unknown boy, shot in left leg.

St. Louis, July 9.—The great railroad strike so far as St. Louis is concerned may be said practically to be approaching an end, and the only desideratum now is ability to transfer to outlying railroads traffic originating here and hauled over divisions having St. Louis as the originating point.

REVIEW OF THE STRIKE.

The Situation as Reported From Important Railroad Centers.

Chicago, July 5.—The situation here is regarded more favorable for the railroads. Under the protection of the troops trains of all kinds are beginning to move. There was some disturbance yesterday, but nothing serious aside from the burning of 150 cars of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois. It is stated that a special grand jury has been called for next week, and that President Debs and other officers of the A. R. U. will be indicted for conspiracy.

Serious trouble is reported from Sioux City and Sacramento, Cal. At the latter place the militia was ordered to charge the mob, but instead turned about and went back to their armory. Strikers, fully armed, are coming into Sacramento from other towns, and a bloody battle may occur.

St. Paul, July 5.—Every road in St. Paul succeeded in getting passenger trains in and out yesterday and to-day. The Burlington also sent out two freight trains this morning, this breaking of the freight blockade. This afternoon other roads will probably send out freight trains.

Chicago, July 6.—This has been by far the most turbulent and critical day in the unparalleled railroad strike and boycott. When it opened there was a general feeling that its passage would go far toward clearing the atmosphere if, indeed, it did not practically lift the embargo on commerce which has held this city in its grip for the past week. That expectation was chiefly based on the presence of federal troops in the most dangerous districts. But it must be confessed that the hope indulged in at the opening in this regard has not been justified. The troops were few in numbers at best, and when they were divided into squads and distributed at points separated by very considerable distances it soon became evident that their prestige as over-awing bodies had been dissipated at the same time. Instead of fleeing in fear before the faces of the veterans, as was expected they would do, the turbulent thousands surged about the little band of soldiers, jeered and hooted at them, cast vile epithets at them and literally played hide and seek with them, stopping trains at will, and generally rendering the embargo in the military district more effective, if possible, than before.

The throngs of strikers did not resist Uncle Sam's police. Again and again when there were thousands of them about a train which it was sought to move, and on the track in front of it, they gave way like water before the leveled bayonets of a single company of infantry or the trampling of a single sound of cavalry. Like water, too, they closed in again at a point just beyond. They turned switches, derailed freight cars in front of the slow moving train, and played all sorts of railroaders' tricks with which the soldiers were unacquainted. Thus it was that the troops at the stock yards, in perseverence and patience, spent the day in a vain endeavor to get one train load of dressed beef out of sight of the starting point.

Aside from the immediate neighborhood where the troops were operating there was plenty of excitement and disorder. Great mobs gathered on the Lake Shore, Rock Island, Alton and Western Indiana tracks and proceeded to obstruct them by overturning box cars, breaking switches and the like. At one point they set fire to a switch tower and the interlocking switch box, though the flames were extinguished before serious damage was done. In two instances there was bloodshed. On the Western Indiana tracks a hard-pressed special policeman fired at his pursuers, wounding a striker in the leg. On the Lake Shore road an official of that company in charge of a train which he was endeavoring to force through, emptied his revolver point blank into the massed strikers about him, wounding two or three it is believed. He was saved from the fury of the mob by his fireman who put on steam and ran back to the point of starting.

A mob numbering 2,000 started north on the Lake Shore tracks at Thirty-seventh street, overturning cars and obstructing the line in every possible way. They were not checked until they reached Twenty-second street, where a heavy force of police was massed and succeeded in turning them back. During the day Mayor Hopkins and Chief of Police Brennan went down the Lake Shore road, intending to go to the stock yards. Their passage was obstructed and they were compelled to finish the journey on foot.

Of the strike in general, it may be said that it has broadened during the day. The Big Four, on which it was understood traffic was to be resumed by agreement, is practically tied up. At Joliet everything is at a standstill because the yardmen have gone out, and the city water works have shut down for lack of coal. Kansas City is again tied up pretty completely. The federal troops quickly put an end to the trouble at Raton, N. M., arresting a lot of strikers and starting them for Denver. Paralysis continues on the Pacific coast. There are federal troops at Los Angeles, but none have been sent to Sacramento and Oakland, pending a decision of the question whether or not the state troops and United States marshals can cope with the situation.

The embargo which was put on the Canadian Pacific railway from London west to Chicago on account of the using of Pullman cars, in addition to their own sleepers, was raised to-day upon the company agreeing to do without the Pullmans. It was announced at the general managers' association headquarters the information had been received of an order issued to-day by General Master Workman Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, for a strike of all Knights between Omaha and the Pacific coast. The strike order, it was stated, included all K. of L. employes in all lines of business, not merely those working for the railroads. The information came to the general managers in a dispatch from Des Moines.

St. Paul, Minn., July 6. — According to railway officials the backbone of the grat strike is broken. It is confidently asserted that by Saturday night the whole thing will be called off or the men will tumble over each other in an effort to get back to their old positions. They say this is not an idle statement, but a clear prerentation of fact based upon the situation. They point to the fact that passenger trains continue to run as usual, the volume of freight business is increasing daily, and that new men are taking the places of the old. On the other hand the men claim that they are gaining instead of losing ground and that they will yet win. There is no disorder in St. Paul.

The condition of supplies in the city is still a question of considerable interest among commission and wholesale dealers. The prospects of a meat famine were lessened this morning by the arrival of some eight cars of beef provisions which were consigned to the various packing house agencies in the city. Nearly 200 carcasses were received and placed at once on ice. The wholesale price of meats has not changed, except in the case of one or two concerns, who have raised their prices since the strike. Unless there should be considerable extra expense and risk in handling meats in the next few days the wholesale men are not disposed, as a class, to raise the prices on the public.

Spakane, Wash., July 6. — A special train over the Northern Pacific from the West is expected here this afternoon. The train is manned by a non-union crew and is carefully guarded by deputy marshals. The train is hauling the private car of Assistant General Manager A. W. Dickinson. Trouble is anticipated when Sprague is reached, as the town is swarming with strikers and their friends. Chief Dispatcher Finnigan and assistants have arrived here from Sprague, and opened temporary headquarters in the Northern Pacific depot here. Union Pacific trains arriving and departing on time, alternately pulling Wagner and Pullman coaches.

Chicago, July 9.—The present strike of railroad employes in Chicago and the entire country according to recent reports, is not to be confined to a settlement of the strike of the employes of the Pullman Palace Car company. It is the intention of the A. R. U. to force a settlement of the wage question on all railroads where they are organized before they agree to the final settlement of the present strike. President Debs said last night that the report of a complication of the grievances now existing was in part true. "In some parts of the country our local unions will demand a readjustment of the wage scale before they return to work," he said, "but this demand will not be general, nor is it made a part of the issue in the present struggle. In many places, however, where the wage scale has been lowered so far that the men can no longer stand it the unions will not return to work until they get some satisfaction in that line."

St. Paul, July 9.—Trains on the Northern Pacific are being guarded by United States regulars. The first train was sent out Saturday evening. Being the first through train out, and carrying regulars, it drew a large throng of A. R. U. people and other spectators to the union depot, where perfect order prevailed. The train pulled slowly through the yards, attracting no little attention from those along the tracks and on the bridges. The soldiers and their equipage could be seen through the open windows, and the sight was not a pleasant one for the crowd.

All roads report that they are sending out passenger trains on time, and some say they are sending out freight. The strikers declare that no road is running passengers on time and none sending out freight.

The Northern Pacific train sent out under escort of regulars has passed Mandan, N. D., without incident. Three trains were sent out of Spokane to-day.

The railroads have the best of the situation at Duluth. The mayors of Duluth and Superior have issued proclamations warning men from gathering or interfering with trains. An Omaha freight, the first for nine days, has arrived at Duluth, and the Northern Pacific sent out its first train from there for three days.

San Francisco, July 9.—Local trains were run from Los Angeles over both Southern Pacific and Santa Fe lines, the latter starting another with one Pullman attached. A train also arrived at Los Angeles from Albuquerque with a Pullman. It is reported at Los Angeles that the government will take steps to compel the railroad to move freight as well as passenger trains. Reports from Oakland and Sacramento are to the effect that everything is quiet. There is no word of federal troops having yet been ordered to either of these points.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, July 2.—The senate today entered upon the fourteenth week of the tariff debate. It is expected that the final vote previous to returning the bill to the house will be taken before adjournment Tuesday night. There is no agreement to this effect, but senators generally express the opinion that this can be accomplished. The Democrats made an effort to secure an agreement to fix Tuesday as the day for the vote, but did not succeed.

The house is busy with District of Columbia business.

Washington, July 3.—Numerous amendments to the tariff schedules were agreed to in the senate to-day. Among them were all the amendments adopted in committee of the whole. The iron ore amendment on which a special vote had been reserved was adopted—58 to 5. The proposition to make the repeal of the sugar bounty take effect immediately, instead of in 1895, was adopted—35 to 32. Mr. Pettigrew (Rep., S. D.) moved to strike out the provision to continue the Hawaiian treaty in force. It cost the people of the United States $4,000,000 annually, he claimed, with no reciprocal benefit to them. After debate Mr. Harris got the floor and moved to lay the amendment on the table. Mr. Hoar attempted, by a motion, to indefinitely postpone, to prevent Mr. Harris from cutting off debate, but Mr. Jarvis, the new senator from North Carolina, who was in the chair, put and decided motions with a swiftness and firmness that fairly took the breath away from the senate, and in about a minute to adjourn and an appeal from a decision of the chair was pending. A parliamentary wrangle was breeding when Mr. Harris relented, withdrawing his motion and allowed the debate to proceed. Mr. Chandler and Mr. Dolph both opposed the amendment. It was lost—11 to 57. Those who voted in favor of it were Allen, Blanchard, Caffery, George, Harsbrough, Hill, Irby, Manderson, Mills, Pettigrew, Power—11. Mr. Pettigrew then moved to strike out the provision specifically continuing the treaty in force and allow the determination of the question of its abrogation to be dated later. Lost—12 to 54. Various other amendments were lost. The final vote was then taken on the adoption of the sugar schedule, and it was agreed to—38 to 34. Messrs. Allen and Quay voted for the final adoption of the schedule; Messrs. Hill, Irby, Kyle and Peffer voted against it. Otherwise it was a strict party vote. Mr. Stewart of Nevada did not vote. This disposed of the sugar schedule. Mr. Power (Rep., Mont.) moved to substitute 18c per bushel on barley and 28c on barley malt instead of 30 per cent and 40 per cent, respectively; lost—27 to 33. It is possible that a vote on the bill will be taken before adjournment to-day.

The house held a brief session to-day and on account of the difficulty of holding a quorum nothing of importance was accomplished beyond the passage of the senate bill extending the time within which the Oregon and Washington Bridge company may construct a bridge across the Columbia river; house bill to amend section 3 of the act to regulate liens arising out of United States court decrees, and a resolution directing the commissioner of labor to investigate the question of work and wages of women and children.

Washington, July 5.—In the midst of intense excitement at 10:41 Tuesday night, after having been debated for three months and one day, the tariff bill, amended to take effect Aug. 1, 1894, passed the senate by a vote of 34 to 30, a strict party vote, except Mr. Hill, who voted with the Republicans against the measure. The Populists divided their strength, two, Messrs. Kyle and Allen, voting in favor of the bill, and two, Messrs. Peffer and Stewart, against it. A hard but fruitless fight was made by the Republicans under the leadership of Mr. Sherman to place wool on the dutiable list. Through the instrumentality of Mr. McLaurin (Dem., Miss.) the action of the committee of the whole in exempting the salaries of the United States judges and the president of the United States from the operation of the income tax was reversed in the senate. A very important piece of legislation in the shape of an anti-trust law was placed on the bill as a rider without even so much as a division. It was designed, as Mr. Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, said, to insure "integrity in the execution of the law," it being admitted that any tariff system afforded abundant opportunity for the formation of trusts and combinations. Mr. Hill fired a parting shot at the bill. He concluded by saying:

"'Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish,' I cannot and will not support this bill in its present shape."

Calls of vote, vote, kept coming from the Democratic side, and at 10:25 the clerk began to call the roll. On the first call Mr. Blanchard (Dem., La.) failed to vote. His colleague, Mr. Caffery, voted "no," in a loud clear voice, while expressions of dismay were visible on the faces of many of the Democratic senators. Mr. Hill also voted "no" in a clear, ringing tone. Of the Populists, Peffer and Stewart voted "no," while Kyle and Allen voted for the bill.

Mr. Caffery secured unanimous consent to make a brief statement, and said he had voted "no" as a protest against the "unjustifiable act of his own party in going back on a plan of action which they had deliberately adopted." He changed his vote to aye. Mr. Blanchard of Louisiana, who had not voted, asked the same privilege, but Mr. Teller of Colorado objected, and Mr. Blanchard then voted "aye."

The detailed vote on the final passage of the bill is as follows:

Ayes—Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Blanchard, Caffery, Call, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, Faulkner, George, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Harris, Hunton, Irby, Jarvis, Jones (Ark.), Kyle, Lindsay, McLaurin, Martin, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Morgan, Murphy, Palmer, Pasco, Ransom, Roach, Smith, Turpie, Vest, Vilas, Voorhees, Walsh, White—39.

Noes—Aldrich, Allison, Carey, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Dubois, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hansbrough, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Jones (Nev.), Lodge, McMillan, Manderson, Mitchell (Or.), Patton, Peffer, Perkins, Platt, Power, Proctor, Quay, Sherman, Shoup, Squire, Stewart, Teller, Washburn—34.

The pairs were as follows, the first named would have voted for the bill, the others against it: Brice and Wolcott, Butler and Cameron, Camden and Pettigrew, Gordon and Wilson, Pugh and Hoar, McPherson and Morrill.

The vote then announced by the vice president—ayes 39, noes 34—was received in silence. Mr. Harris moved that a conference committee of seven senators on the disagreeing votes of the two houses be appointed, and although Mr. Allison protested against this action, maintaining that as yet there was no disagreement, the motion prevailed, and the vice president appointed the following committee: Messrs. Voorhees, Harris, Vest, Jones (Ark.), Sherman Allison and Aldrich. Mr. Harris then moved that the senate adjourn until 12 o'clock Friday, which was agreed to at 10:43 o'clock.

The announcement of the close of the long struggle was a signal for a scene of uproar rarely witnessed in the grave and dignified senate chamber.

Washington, July 6.—The events of interest in the house to-day was a cablegram of congratulation from the Brazilian chamber of deputies to the house of representatives on the 118th anniversary of the American independence, and the reception of the tariff bill. This latter event excited Democratic applause and the bill was laid upon the speaker's table. A joint resolution to authorize the secretary of the navy to continue the employment of mechanics and laborers in the navy yards who have been discharged on account of the failure of congress to pass the necessary appropriation bills, was passed after some tart remarks from Messrs. Cannon and Reed. The bill to subject to state taxation national bank notes and use treasury notes consumed the entire afternoon and no conclusion had been reached when the house adjourned.

Washington, July 7.—The senate held a short session and adjourned at 1:35 until Monday, without having transacted any business of importance.

The bill for the state taxation of greenbacks occupied the attention of the house all day, and it was passed by a very large majority. The only point of interest in the day's proceedings was the taking of the tariff bill from the speaker's table and its reference to the committee on ways and means, but this was unattended by any excitement or remarks. Several unimportant bills were passed.

Washington, July 9.—The intense interest and wild excitement which marked the passage of the Wilson bill by the house some months ago, and which was then transferred in a modified and more dignified form to the senate, broke out again in the house to-day when the tariff bill was put in conference after some lively debate in the house, the amendments being disagreed to in gross and without opportunity for separate votes on special schedules. Mr. Reed took occasion to twit the Democrats for following the precedent set by the Republicans in the Fifty-first congress, a proceeding which they had violently denounced at the time.

Mr. Wilson urged on the house the necessity of standing steadfastly by the two cardinal principles of the house bill—free raw material and the ad valorem system of taxation—and of thus keeping faith with the people who had sent them to congress to effect this reform. He was answered by Mr. Reed, Mr. Payne and others, and then, after the adoption of Mr. Wilson's motion and the appointment of conferees, the house adjourned.

The conferees are Messrs. Wilson of West Virginia, McMillin of Tennessee, Turner of Georgia, Montgomery of Kentucky, Democrats, and Reed of Maine, Burrows of Michigan and Payne of New York, Republicans.

Kelly's Men Arrested.

Cattletsburg, Ky., July 9. — Kelly's wealers who captured the east-bound freight train last night arrived at Kenova, W. Va., last night. Gov. McCorkle ordered Companies I and G, of Huntington, to go to Kenova and arrest the army. Under directions of Sheriff Lambert the militia arrested them and are now guarding them near the depot. The governor and his legal advisers arrived at Kenova on a special train today and tried to induce the army to go back to Kentucky, which they refused to do. The men received something to eat and seemed satisfied. The general impression is that Gov. McCorkle has made a mistake by stopping them at Kenova, as they would have proceeded on through the state toward Washington.

Miss Kilkelly's Damages.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 9.—A report has been sent out from Sioux Falls that Judge Jones had awarded Mother Stanislaus and Sister Mary Clement a verdict of $40,000 in their cases for slander against Miss Florence Kilkelly. It is true that the sisters sued for that amount, but the damages awarded by the judge were $200. The defendant did not appear, and the case went by default. The last heard of Miss Kilkelly she was negotiating with an A. P. A. society in Kansas to go out as a lecturer.

Almost Beaten to Death.

Ogden, Utah, July 9.—The train on the Union Pacific which arrived here to-day from Cheyenne, was assaulted by a mob and the engineer and fireman were beaten, the latter, almost to death. The fireman was finally rescued by the police and taken to the hospital. The strikers are still defiant and say not a wheel shall move until Pullman gives heed to their demands.

Cesario's Accomplices.

Paris, July 9.—A dispatch from Caen says that the police of that city have arrested three Italians named Stampiero, Tognolli and Maranduseo, who arrived there from Cette and who are believed to have been accomplices of Santo Cesario, the assassin of President Carnot.

Putting Down Anarchs.

Rome, July 9.—In the chamber of deputies the bill regulating the manufacture, sale and possession of explosives passed its third reading. The house also adopted the bill providing punishment for the owners and editors of papers which publish articles inciting to murder and outrage.

Wanted in Wisconsin.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Richard Lenox, the crook captured at Absecon yesterday, was taken to jail to-day to await the arrival of requisiton papers from Wisconsin, where he is wanted for defrauding two banks out of considerable money.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.35 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8 [illegible] a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible] ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern [illegible] R. at Crookston, [illegible] Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul, Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 80 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

P. G. Paradis made a business trip to Wylie today.

Miss Amanda Olson returned last Monday from Duluth.

H. E. Ives is in Minneapolis this week on business.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur visited friends at Crookston last week.

Leo Shultz, of Wylie, was in town on business yesterday.

S. M. Dainard went down to St. Paul last Monday on business.

Miss Katie Ford visited friends in town the first of the week.

Henry Olson made a short trip to Thief River Falls last Monday.

W. W. Emmons, of St. Paul, was in town on business last Monday.

Christ Bjork returned to his home in Marshall county last Monday.

A. T. Thoreson, of Thief River Falls, was in town the first of the week.

J. L. Johnson and family spent Sunday visiting friends at Tweet P. O.

L. T. Askew, of St. Paul, was doing business in town a short time today.

Joseph Helm, of Red Lake Falls, was in town a short time last Sunday.

Joseph Smith, of Red Lake Falls, was in town a short time last Wednesday.

Attorney Richardson, of Thief River Falls, was in town yesterday on business.

Frank Gravel, of Crookston, was selling groceries to our merchants today.

S. M. Dainard is putting a neat fence around his lots on Water street this week.

Dr. Grundy, of Thief River Falls, was in town yesterday on a professional visit.

L. T. Berg, the McCormick collector, has been working in this vicinity the past week.

A large number of our citizens took in the celebration at Thief River Falls on the 4th.

Ed Lonseth came up from Crookston today and will visit with his parents a short time.

Soren Johnson, section foreman at Ives, was visiting friends in town a short time today.

Mr. J. Holden and family, of Grand Forks, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Da[illegible] this week.

Today is the hottest day of the season so far, the thermometer registering 94 in the shade.

Haying commenced in this vicinity this week. There will be a short crop in this vicinity this year.

A large number of our citizens spent the 4th picnicing across the river. All present report a good time.

Editor Ware, of the Thief River Falls Press, was in town a short time last Monday on his way to Dakota.

Every body interested in base ball is requested to meet at this office next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mary Kyle finished her term of school north of here last week and returned to her home in Crookston.

The base ball nine have ordered their supplies and expect to have everything in shape for playing this week.

C. G. Rapp had his barn moved to his lots on Water street this week, Stranahan and Berg doing the job.

E. M. Hoff is passing around the cigars on the arrival of a little girl at his place yesterday. Mother and child are doing well.

Crops are looking well at present but unless we get more rain soon much of the grain will be very light especially on the sand ridges.

The jury in the Prendergast case has decided that he is not insane and he will be hanged July 13th.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's ware house.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent

If your watch or clock is out of order leave it at J. L. Johnson's drug store with J. M. Stranahan, an experienced workman, and have it repaired. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

The peoples party legislative convention met at Crookston last Friday. P. M. Ringdal was nominated for senator and J. D. Knuteson, S. J. Lee and N. L. Nelson for representatives.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall Northern flour. Best flour for the less money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

The farmers in the vicinity of Tweet P. O., Town of Norden, held a meeting last Saturday and organized a company to be known as the Tweet Creamery Association. Over [illegible] was subscribed at the meeting and they expect to have their creamery in running order this fall.

Bennett Malberg, formerly of this place, now of Excel Marshall county, was nominated for clerk of court on the peoples party ticket, at the county convention held in Warren. The populists of Marshall county have made a good choice as Mr. Malberg is an able man and well qualified for the position.

That Pullman was a despot all men have long known; that he is a coward as well is proved by his avoidance of the scenes of carnage he has created. While men struggle desperately in the streets and [illegible] of Chicago, Pullman is enjoying the delights of the sea breezes at his seaside palace, refusing even to listen to the stories of distress that come from Chicago, and mocking all appeals for assistance in settling the dispute. Pullman could have given Nero pointers on the fiddling business. —Globe.

Let us have P's, Persons who patronize papers should pay for the pecuniary prospects of the press have peculiar power in pushing forward public prosperity. If the printer is paid promptly and his pocket book kept plethoric by paying patrons, he puts his pen to paper in peace, he paints his pictures of passing events in more pleasing colors and a perusal of his paper is a pleasure to the people. Paste this piece of proverbial philosophy in pumpkin pie order in some place where all persons may see it plainly.—Ex.

George M. Pullman who is responsible for the present strike is enjoying himself at the sea shore, perfectly oblivious to the enormous destruction of life and property, the stagnation of business and the suffering and anxiety that have resulted from it. One word from him would end the strike and again start the wheels of industry in motion. But no! He is a typical plutocratic octopus whose arms have reached out in every direction to bring wealth to his capacious maw. He systematically robbed his employees and the public for years, and now he is using the immence wealth which our laws—or lack of laws—have allowed him to secure, to fight those who ask justice at his hands, to paralyze the business interests of the whole country and undermine our social and industrial structure. If the United States had fewer men like George M. Pullman there would be less suffering starvation and crime.—Crookston Times.

An accidental drowning occurred in Louisville Sunday evening. Charles Yette a boy about 15 years old, a stepson of Fred Schmidt, went bathing in the Red Lake River. He was accompanied by several other boys about his own age. The river at that point is very treacherous and is all the way from one to twenty feet deep. Young Yette could not swim, and in some way wandered quite a distance from his companions. It is supposed he struck one of these deep holes, and before assistance could reach him he was drowned. The alarm was given at once and since that time every effort has been made to recover the body but they have been in vain. Boat hooks and drags have been used, but to no avail. Last night a gentleman came to the city and bought a quantity of dynemite, and that explosive will be used today in a last effort to recover the body of the drowned boy. The boys who were in the river at the same time could hardly explain how the accident happened any further than that the lad was about the middle of the river, and sank from view before they could reach him.—Crookston Times.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisso Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 16th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894

Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J. Montague, attorney.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Nellie Grant Sartoris' oldest son is now 17 years of age.

Dr. Anderson Brown, an English woman physician, has established an industrial farm for inebriate women.

Lady Terence Blackwood is having a great social success in Paris. She is being feted by all the haute noblesse.

Mrs. Senator Brice of Ohio wrote a very pretty Decoration day ode, which was published in Kate Field's Washington.

Lady Waterford during her illness has been writing and composing a pathetic song entitled "Think of Me." Lady Waterford is an excellent musician.

The Countess of Aberdeen made about $100,000 from the Irish village at the World's fair. It will be used to promote domestic industry among Irish peasants.

The combined assets of the Rothschild family in Europe are not less, it is said, than $2,000,000,000. The virtual head of the family is Nathaniel, Lord Rothschild, of London.

William Welsh, the last but one of those who defended Baltimore against the British invasion in 1814, is dead. He was 14 years old at the time and was pressed into service to mold bullets.

William C. Carpenter, the oldest practicing lawyer in New York, appeared as counsel in the city court the other day. He is 91 years of age, in vigorous health and sound of mind and says it is work that keeps him alive.

Mrs. U. S. Grant will pass the greater part of the summer at Narragansett Pier, where she has taken a cottage. Her daughter, Mrs. Sartoris, will visit her mother during the summer, as will also Colonel Fred Grant and his family.

Lady Clementina Hay, a daughter of the Marquis of Tweeddale, has taken the field as a youthful editor. She is 15, and the magazine of which she has become the literary pilot is called City Sparrows. It aims at benevolent purposes.

TURF TOPICS.

The far famed Epsom meeting in England is still a paying enterprise.

Baron Hirsch has bought Matchbox, the horse that ran second in the recent Derby.

King William, the giant white horse which died at Chesterton, Ind., weighed 2,600 pounds.

Straight Line, a trotter in training at Bristol, Conn., is undoubtedly the largest trotting horse in America.

In Russia the late Prince Menshikoff's stock farm has been purchased by a syndicate for the sum of $400,000.

A horse car easily outpull a lion in forward pulling, but in backward pulling the lion is far superior in strength.

It is the intention to breed the black Orloff mare that is in George Starr's stable to Axtell and present the foal to the czar.

An American has bought Lady Sapphire, by Confidence, one of the most successful all round hackney show mares in England.

A very attractive exhibition at the New York farm show was the educated ponies, handled by a boy of perhaps 15 years of age.

Lord Rosebery has presented to the Hon. Thomas F. Bayard one of the shoes worn by his horse, Ladas, in the race for the Derby.

A new sulky has safety prongs extending behind the wheels to keep them from running under the animal in case he plunges into the air.

The Metropolitan Traction company some time ago offered a $50,000 prize for the best method of propulsion, for street cars. It is now announced by the New York state railroad commissioners that the offer has been withdrawn.

DR. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada, and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to.

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS.

FRED Eikhof
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.
First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.
LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. Daily

NO. 3 NO 4
North and West South and East
7 45 p m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m "......Minneapolis...... 9 55 am
4 35 a m "......Barnesville...... 1 40 am
7 25 am Ar......Crookston......De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY
9 00 am De.........Crookston.........Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar......St. Hilaire......De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.05 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Asmundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the Village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1893.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten (10) of Block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 12th day of June 1893.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Friday the 5th day of July 1894 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 12th day of June 1894.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson.
Village Recorder.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

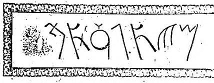
Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio, July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. [illegible] Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其猾世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

K. M. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance. $1.50.

Not in Advance. $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at the Postoffice at St Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter.

WEDNESDAY JULY 11 1894

In Spite of It.

She—And so they are married! Was it a case of love at first sight?

He—I imagine not. The first time he saw her she was riding a bicycle.—Life.

She Was There.

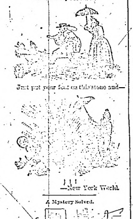
Gertrude—I heard that Mr. Brush paid me a very nice compliment today.

Carrie—Yes? What was it?

Gertrude—Why, he said that among the most beautiful young ladies at the dance was Miss Gertrude Crandall.

Carrie (cuttingly)—Yes, I noticed you among them.—Brooklyn Life.

Mr. Oldboy's Mistake.



Just put your foot on this stone and—

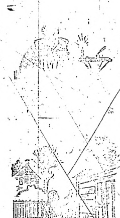
—New York World.

A Mystery Solved.

"Ch[illegible]

[illegible]

Life.



Little Girl—You [illegible], where's my bird?

Cat—Oh, he's just gone inside.—Life.

In Doubt.

"Lizzie, you're a woman o' the world, and what I'm a-askin you is in strick conferdence, o' course. Jim, there, has offert me his hand. (In a hoarse whisper) Do you think a woman could be happy with a man with legs like his'n?"—Life.

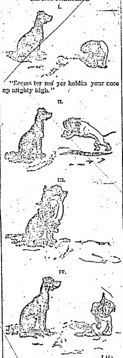
Part of the Bird.

The Young Housewife—Have you any nice chickens?

The Poulterer—Yes, ma'am.

The Young Housewife—Well, send me a couple in time for dinner, and I want them with the croquettes left in. Do you understand?—Chicago Record.

His Iron Constitution.



"Seems ter me yer holdin your nose up mighty high."

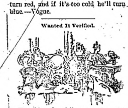
—Life.

A Test.

Mrs. Ludlow—Please say I'm not at home. By the way, Marie, are you quite sure that the water is the right temperature for baby's bath?

Marie—Oh, yes! Sure, I always know, ma'am. If it's too hot, he'll turn red, and if it's too cold he'll turn blue.—Vogue.

Wanted It Verified.



He—I heard a fellow say the other night that he thought almost any one could kiss you.

She—The wretch! Did you knock him down?

He—No; I thought I would call and see you about it first.—Brooklyn Life.

Relieved.

Woman prayed and men cursed.

The storm howled and beat against the vessel's stanch ribs.

A white robed figure clung to the after-rail and peered into the darkness.

"She is gone."

The figure swayed in the tempest.

"No, she rises."

A great wave swept over the deck. The figure was kneeling now.

"She has sunk thrice. Is it a dream? After all these years to be alone at last!"

After a time the figure crept forward and reported the loss of a chaperon.—Detroit News-Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the 1st day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendrick J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m. in book [illegible] of mortgages on page 571 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 18[illegible], and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to exercise the option [illegible] in said mortgage and [illegible] declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

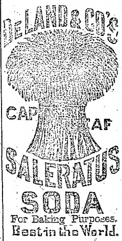
John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. May 29 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John [illegible] against Adolor Bilsson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 141 9 dated March 11 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 10 Tp 154 R. 42 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of July 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

Wm. Anglim, Receiver.



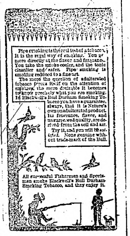
DeLAND & CO'S

CAP SHEAF

SALERATUS

SODA

For Baking Purposes.
Best in the World.



Pipe smoking is the real test of a tobacco. It is the regal way of smoking. You get more directly at the flavor and fragrance. You take the smoke cooler, and the tonic cleanlier and safer. Pipe smoking is smoking reduced to a fine art.

The more the question of adulterated tobacco forces itself on the attention of smokers, the more desirable it becomes to know precisely what you are smoking. In Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco you have a guarantee, always, that it is Nature's own unadulterated product. Its fragrance, flavor, and unsurpassed quality, are derived from the soil and air.

Try it, and you will be satisfied. None genuine without trade-mark of the Bull.

All successful Fishermen and Sportsmen smoke Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco, and they enjoy it.

Following Up the Resemblance.

H[illegible]—Mrs. Glanders can read her husband like a book.

Fondick—Yes. And she can shut him up like one too.—Puck.

She Said Him Nay.

Tom—I can never get her picture off my mind.

[illegible]—Printed there by her own negative, [illegible]

[illegible]

When I see him in the [illegible],
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] from morn till night
[illegible]
[illegible] at my bid,
[illegible]
Would I were that little kid.

When I watch [illegible]
As he tries [illegible]
When I hear his [illegible] prattle
As he does his best to talk;
When I think what tiresome studies
He must have as we once did,
Really I am very thankful
I am not that little kid.

But—when decked with bows and ribbons
On his "ma's" reception day,
Held by scores of budding maidens,
Loved and hugged, he hears them say:
"Let me hold him!" "Kiss me, darling!"
Pressed to scores of lips and hid
In their arms by clouds of kisses—
Jove! I wish I was that kid!

—Boston Transcript.

E. T SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—o—DEALERS IN—o—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY

W. A. [illegible]

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

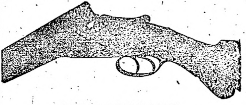
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.Y.

A GREAT SNAP

THE

FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOIDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

DEFECTIVE PAGE

It Is Not What We Say

But what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story. The great volume of evidence in the form of unpurchased, voluntary testimonials prove beyond doubt that

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Be Sure to Get Hood's

Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation.

PERIL FROM UNDERGROUND WIRES.

Workmen for Gas and Water Companies Refusing to Make Repairs.

The gas and water companies of San Francisco complain that their pipes are badly damaged by electricity from the wires of trolley railroads, says the New York Evening Post, and that their own workmen, some of whom have sustained shocks, are afraid to make repairs. "During last winter," said an officer of a gas company, "I sent a man to Berkeley to make a connection. The day was very wet and the ground was well saturated. While he was attempting to cut a hole in the main with a cold chisel he received a shock which nearly knocked him out of the hole. Our mains parallel that track for some distance. This road has no return wire, and we are in daily fear of a serious explosion caused by electrolytic action." A local paper says that "experiments conducted in various parts of the city in the vicinity of the electric roads have demonstrated that, as at present constructed, the dangers arising from electrolytic action are increasing instead of diminishing. Out on the San Jose road the Spring Valley Water company has already lost between 400 and 500 feet of pipe. In one night breaks were noted in one section of pipe no less than seven times. Plumbers engaged in making connections have felt and suffered from electric shocks. Householders have seen their gas stoves ignited from electricity which has escaped from the improperly constructed tracks." An expert engineer who has examined the plant of one of the electric roads says that as much as 40 per cent of the power of the company is being wasted by the lack of proper return wires

Sell Their Hair.

"Do we have many girls come to sell their hair? Well, I should say so, but we don't make a business of buying on account of the risks we would have to run. I have had girls come to me and offer to sell their hair as it was on their heads. No, they don't get good prices—$1.50 to $2.50 being as much as I ever gave. I know of one case, however, where a well known society woman took a fancy to the hair of a young lady she met accidentally, and she paid the highest price I have ever known for a head of hair. The young lady in question had a luxurious growth of golden brown hair, and one day she was approached by this lady, who was compelled to use false hair, who said to her: 'Miss ——, if at any time you desire to part with your hair you can find a customer in me.' The young lady was in need of pin money at the time and said, 'Well, I am not particular about keeping it now, as it is a little too light for my taste.' So she agreed to have her hair cut, and in payment received $8.50. If girls could always get such a sum for their flowing locks there would be a great many short-haired young ladies about the city."

Why He Evaded Her.

"What makes you always go home by a back street?' inquired a young man of Gus De Smith; "it is several blocks out of your way."

"I know that, but my best girl lives on the avenue, and I do that to avoid her."

"Why do you want to avoid her?"

"Why, if she saw me going home to my meals twice a day she might get sick of me. Seeing me only twice a week keeps up her interest, you know. Familiarity breeds contempt of court."

Conjugal Scene.

Madame gives it her husband hot and strong. He has no consideration for her, he refuses her everything, he is attentive and kind to everybody else. And last, when wound up to the highest pitch of exasperation, she cries:

"Yes, you actually prefer your animals to me. Look, only last week, when Loulou died, you had her stuffed."

"But, my dear girl——"

"There is no 'but' in the case; I am positive you would not have done as much for me!"—L'Almanach des Agriculteurs.

MARTIAL LAW IS ON

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND ISSUES A PROCLAMATION.

He Warns Strikers Against Further Rioting and Admonishes Good Citizens to Remain at Home—It Virtually Means Martial Law in Chicago

Washington, July 9.—Just before midnight President Cleveland issued the following:

"Proclamation by the President of the United States: Whereas, by reason of unlawful obstructions, combinations and assemblages of persons, it has become impracticable in the judgment of the president to enforce by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings the laws of the United States within the State of Illinois, and especially in the city of Chicago, within said state; and whereas, that the purpose of enforcing the faithful execution of the laws of the United States and protecting its property and removing obstructions to the United States mails in the state and city aforesaid, the president has employed a part of the military forces of the United States.

Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby admonish all good citizens and all persons who may be or may come within the city and state aforesaid, against aiding, countenancing, encouraging or taking any part in such unlawful obstructions, combinations and assemblages to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before 12 o'clock, noon, on the 9th day of July, inst.

Those who disregard this warning and persist in taking part with a riotous mob in forcibly resisting and obstructing the execution of the laws of the United States or interfering with the functions of the government or attempting to destroy or destroy the property belonging to the United States or under its protection, cannot be regarded otherwise than as public enemies. Troops employed against such a riotous mob will act with all moderation and forbearance consistent with the accomplishment of the desired end, but the necessities that confront them will not with certainty permit discrimination between guilty participants and those who are mingled with them from curiosity and without criminal intent. The only safe course, therefore, for those not actually unlawfully participating is to abide at their homes, or at least not to be found in the neighborhood of riotous assemblages. While there will be no hesitation or vacciliation in the decisive treatment of the guilty, this waring is especially intended to protect and save the innocent. In testimony, whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the seal of the United States to be hereto affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 8th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, and of the independence, of the United States of America the one hundred and eighteenth.

—Grover Cleveland,
President.
—W. Q. Gresham,
Secretary of State."

This proclamation, practically declaring martial law in Chicago, was decided upon after a full discussion in the cabinet meeting.

IDAHO DYNAMITE.

Coeur d'Alene Miners Cause a Reign of Terror.

Wardner, Idaho, July 9.—The Coeur d'Alene miners have broken out again. The Hills are full of rioting miners and the town is paralyzed. Business is suspended, and the sheriff is organizing a posse to defend the mines. At 1:30 this morning a tremendous explosion shook the town. It was followed by a chorus of derisive yells. When daylight came it was discovered that an attempt had been made to blow up the power house and electric light plant of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines. Sticks of dynamite had been shoved under the buildings and exploded. The explosion was sufficient to wreck the plant completely, although a large part of the building was left standing.

The hills above the power house are full of rioters, who make no attempt to attack the town, but have spent the whole morning rolling rocks down the steep mountain sides on the power house and mine buildings. Huge boulders, heavy masses of slag and big logs have been bounding down the slope all day, crushing everything before them. The sheriff is now swearing in citizens as deputies, and if a sufficient force is secured, he will probably attempt to clear the hills. The governor has been notified and will probably order out the militia. Many people are leaving town. It is feared attempts will be made to-night to burn or blow up other buildings.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 9.—To-day railroad traffic of all sorts was resumed on every road with but few interruptions.

IMMIGRATION DECREASING.

A Falling Off of Nearly One-Half as Compared With Last Year.

Washington, July 3.—A report on immigration, issued by the bureau of statistics, treasury department, shows that, during eleven months of the fiscal year ending May 31, the total number of immigrants arriving in the United States was 288,020, as against 430,210 for a corresponding period of last year. The greatest decrease was from Poland, the number being only 1,379, against 13,046 during the first eleven months of 1893. The number from Italy decreased from 62,227 to 40,338. The rate of decrease from all other countries is approximately the same. During the ten months ended April 30, 1894, the whole number of immigrants barred from entering the United States was 2,102, of which 1,426 were contract laborers and 652 paupers; of the whole number barred, 1,049 were men, 83 women and 70 children.

Debt Statement.

Washington, July 3.—The statement of the public debt issued at the treasury department to-day shows the interest-bearing debt on July 1 to have been $635,041,890, an increase for the fiscal year of $50,004,790, and for the month of $50. The debt on which interest had ceased since maturity was $1,851,240. Debt bearing no interest, $380,004,686. Aggregate of interest and non-interest-bearing debt, $1,016,897,816, an increase for the year of $55,466,050, and a decrease for the month of June of $18,798. The certificates and treasury notes off-set by an equal amount of cash in the treasury aggregates $615,355,320. The cash statement shows gold in the treasury, $13,217,433; silver, $513,298,709; paper, $112,627,558; bonds, minor coins, etc., $17,395,263; aggregate, $774,538,965, against which there are demand liabilities amounting to $656,954,529, leaving the cash balance of $117,584,436, of which $64,873,024 was gold reserve. The decrease in cash in the treasury for the month was $269,899.

Supposed Drowning.

Alma, Wis., July 3.—A young man by the name of Richard P. Wilkerson is supposed to have been drowned yesterday forenoon while bathing. His boat with his clothes in it was found floating down the river. His parents live in Rochester and have been notified. The body has not been recovered.

Coke Region Strikers Rioting.

Uniontown, Pa., July 3.—The strikers were more active to-day and outbreaks were reported in different parts of the region. At Leith a mob of Hungarians attacked a number of workmen and two were seriously injured. Raids were also made at the Morrell and Atlas plants and the workmen driven from the yards. No one was injured.

No More Postal Notes.

Washington, July 3.—The use of postal notes by the government ceased yesterday and the new form of money order was put on sale at the various offices for the first time. Important contracts made by the government took effect yesterday. The principal postal contract is for the issue of postage stamps recently awarded by Postmaster General Bissell to the bureau of engraving and printing.

Ezeta in America.

New York, July 3.—Gen. Carlos Ezeta, the fugitive ex-president of Salvador, arrived here last night on the steamship Newport from Colon. He was accompanied by his wife and four children. The general expressed himself freely on the revolution in Salvador.

Pearl Harbor.

Washington, July 3.—Senator Kyle today introduced a resolution calling on the secretary of the navy for information as to what Admiral Walker had done or is instructed to do at Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian islands.

Early Morning Blaze.

Willmar, Minn., July 3.—At 5 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered issuing from the roof and sides of Hanscom's bakery. The alarm was quickly given and the fire was soon subdued. The total loss will not exceed $500.

Murdered His Wife.

Missoula, Mont., July 3.—A notorious character named Roxie is in the Choquette county jail charged with the murder of his wife, who died Saturday night. The woman's body is a mass of bruises.

Fishing With Giant Powder.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 3.—Fish Commissioner Gardner of Rapid City is making a determined effort to stop a practice which is in vogue in the Black Hills—that of killing fish by the use of giant powder. He has evidence to convict two offenders and he proposes to prosecute to the extent of the law.

New Bank.

St. Paul July 3.—The Security Bank of Zumbrota was authorized to commence business by the public examiner to-day. The capital stock is $30,000.

THE official reports show that no baking powder received an award over the Royal at the Chicago World's Fair.

The judge of awards on baking powder writes that the claim by another company to have received the highest award is false; that no such award was given to it.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at every fair, wherever exhibited in competition with others.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

An Editor of Many Accomplishments

It takes a hustler for the newspaper business in this locality just now, but the Bugle is equal to the emergency. We can write a poem, discuss the tariff, umpire a game of ball game, report a wedding, saw wood, beat a lawyer, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make a dollar do the work of ten, shine at a soiree, address a horticultural society, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whisky, subscribe to charity, go without meals, attack the free silver, defend bimetallism, sneer at snobbery, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, overlook scandals, praise babies delight pumpkin raisers, minister to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mold opinions, sweep the office, speak at a prayer meeting, and stand in with everybody and everything. If you don't see what you want ask for it.—Tamaroa Bugle.

Why He Evaded Her.

"What makes you always go home by a back street?' inquired a young man of Gus De Smith; "it is several blocks out of your way."

"I know that, but my best girl lives on the avenue, and I do that to avoid her."

"Why do you want to avoid her?"

"Why, if she saw me going home to my meals twice a day she might get sick of me. Seeing me only twice a week keeps up her interest, you know. Familiarity breeds contempt of court."

THE HIGHEST AWARD.

Royal Baking Powder in Strength and Value 20 Per Cent. Above Its Nearest Competitor.

The Royal Baking Powder has the enviable record of having received the highest reward for articles of its class—greatest strength, purest ingredients, most perfectly combined—wherever exhibited in competition with others. In the exhibition of former years, at the Centennial, at Paris, Vienna and at the various state and industrial fairs, where it has been exhibited, judges have invariably awarded the Royal Baking Powder the highest honors.

At the recent world's fair the examination for the baking powder awards were made by the experts of the chemical divison of the Agricultural Department of Washington. The official report of the tests of the baking powders which were made by this department for the specific purpose of ascertaining which was the best, and which has been made public, shows the leavening strength of the Royal to be 160 cubic inches of carbonic gas per ounce of powder. Of the cream of tartar baking powders exhibited at the Fair, the next highest in strength thus tested contained but 133 cubic inches of leavening gas. The other powders gave an average of 111. The Royal, therefore, was found 20 per cent. greater leavening strength than its nearest competitor, and 44 per cent. above the average of all other tests. Its superiority in other respects, however, in the quality of the food it makes as to fineness, delicacy and wholesomeness, could not be measured by figures.

It is these high qualities known and appreciated by the women of the country for so many years, that have caused the sales of the Royal Baking Powder, as shown by statistics, to exceed the sales of all other baking powders combined.

POISONNUS SPIDERS.

Found in the Sea and in Ponds as Well as on Land.

In the sea there are plenty of spiders. They are found crawling upon seaweeds along the shore. Their bodies are very small and their legs long and threadlike. There is a species of arachnid that lives under the water in fresh ponds. It makes its home in an empty shell of a water snail, closing the opening with a web of varnished silk to keep the water out. Other aquatic spiders spread silken filaments under water to entrap insects. In New Zealand there is a black spider with a red spot on its stomach, which is supposed to have a bite fatal to human beings. The same animal has a similar reputation elsewhere, though undeservedly. It is found in this country.

All spiders are venemous, but none of them are deadly. The spider of ill-repute above mentioned is afflicted with consitutional hydrophobia. It will go into a fit if touched with water, though other species will drink eagerly if a drop of that fluid is offered on a straw. A severe spider bite produces symptoms like those of lockjaw. In the tropics live great hairy spiders. Some of them weigh half a pound, with a spread of legs wide enough to cover a tea plate. Most of them spin no webs, but dig a hole in the ground, line it with silk and fit it with a trap-door so artfully made as to hinge, bevel edge and spring that it is almost impossible to find the opening. In some cases they actually plant seeds on the dainty portal for the purpose of concealing it with growing plants.

The mission of spiders in the world is doubtless to keep down the flies, which would otherwise swarm over the earth. Only the females spin webs; the males are about one-twentieth the size of the females, the sole purpose of their existence being that of reproduction.

Spiders are very fond of the music of stringed instruments, because to their ears it resembles the buzzing of captive flies. Their greatest enemies are wasps, which paralyze them by stinging them. Then the wasp plants the spider in a hole, lays an egg beside her and covers her up. The young wasp grub, on being hatched, feeds on the body of the spider. On a warm autumn day the air is sometimes full of spiders' webs. Certain species of arachnids attach threads to the ground and permit the breeze to blow them away. Thus they remain for days suspended high in the air and miles away from their anchorage. The arrival of a moist spell of weather sometimes produces a rain of spiders' webs, causing great astonishment. Spiders are feeble creatures, their poison affording little protection against the attacks of insect foes. Like human beings, they have unprotected bodies, and no natural weapons worth mentioning. Their survival in creation is due to the exercise of superior intelligence.

Miss Flighty, about to refuse a proposal of marriage—I shall be plain with you. Mr. Sayitwell—Impossible, Miss Flighty. One of your beauty could never be plain under any circumstances. (And she changed her mind.)

Miss Van Pelt, of Russell, Ky., was to have been married to a Maryland man. He didn't appear at the hour set for the ceremony and everything was in confusion. Later in the day she got a telegram saying that he had died suddenly on a railway train.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Fancy Now Means Quality.

The term "fancy" has been applied to a class of poultry deemed of no value except to ornament the show room, but within the past year, says the Poultry Keeper, the term has been accepted as one designating quality in poultry on the stalls. During the week preceding Christmas the "fancy" dressed poultry commanded nearly twice as much per pound as the ordinary. This may be but a trivial matter on first consideration, but when it is well looked into the subject is worthy of more consideration, for the prices are drawn strictly on a line which separates the market into good and bad and this separation will become wider and wider as progress is made in the breeds of farm poultry. It plainly shows that if the farmer is to succeed with poultry his greatest profit must come by breeding the so-called fancy stock, and that he cannot hope to successfully compete with fancy stock except by making a specialty of fancy stock himself.

The fancy stock, as bred for market, does not, however, depend for excellence upon the points of the comb, or a few feathers on the middle toe of a show bird, but upon the compactness of body and the preponderance of breast meat, the golden yellow color of the legs, and the fat condition of the bird when killed. In fact, the latter is a very important portion of the requirements, which even the farmer knows is essential to obtaining high prices, but to produce a carcass excelling in other respects is something he often overlooks. The true poultryman makes it his object to satisfy the market and he will not be behind his competitors in the use of the proper breeds necessary to give him any advantages that may be obtained in that direction, for he must expect to please the customers if he desires the highest price.

If there are quotations for fancy stock and other quotations for that which is inferior, let the farmer produce only the fancy kind. There is no monopoly of any breed, and no one has the exclusive right to the control of the market, and the farmer has an equal chance with all. He must remove his prejudice against the fine breeds, and might at once cease the claim that "fancy stock is no better than any other," for the prices refute his claim, and prove conclusively that there is not only a difference, but a great one, and his prejudice effects no one as injuriously as it does him. Let the farmer keep fancy stock and he will get fancy prices. Let him seek to produce the best that can be placed upon the market, and he will find a profit resulting instead of a loss. The man who will not comply with the demands of the market must be content to sell at half price and incur the risk of loss.

Worth One-tenth of a Cent.

Which is at the same time the smallest coin and the coin of least value at present current in Europe? In the absence of a knowledge of any smaller and more worthless, I should be inclined, writes a correspondent to award the palm to the Greek lepton, a specimen of which has recently came into my hands. The lepton is, according to the decimal monetary system current in countries belonging to the Latin union, the hundredth part of the drachma. Now, the Greek drachma is, while nominally the equivalent of the franc or the lira, at present worth less than 6d, the rate of exchange about a fortnight ago being 42.60 drachmas to an English sovereign. The lepton is therefore approximately worth about one-fifth of an English farthing. In nothing does the deplorable condition of Greek finances strike the casual observer more forcibly than in the fact that at present Greece has no "money" but copper and is obliged to issue bank notes for sums of six-pence upward, and a nastier little rag than the 1-drachma note it would be difficult to find. All travelers in Greece should provide themselves with a small pair of tongs to take them up by.—Westminster Gazette.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

FASHIONABLE CONVERSATION.

Thrilling Example of the Small Talk That Flourishes at Receptions.

Mr. Smalltalk, having been introduced to Miss Dittotoo, says: "Very nice assemblage."

"Very; and quite literary, too."

"Very. You are fond of literature, I presume?"

"Ah, very! I dote on it."

"You like Shakespeare, I dare say?"

"Ah, very much! Do you?"

"Very fond of him; I like Burns, too."

"So do I; very much indeed."

"Do you like Goldsmith?"

"Very, very much. Do you like Byron?"

"Think he's grand. Do you like Pope?"

"Oh, yes; very much. Do you like Shelley?"

"Oh, yes; he's good. Tell you a good writer."

"Who?"

"Milton."

"Yes; he's very good indeed."

Since then Mr. Smalltalk, in speaking of the young lady, says that "she is wonderfully well read;" and she, in speaking of him, says: "Oh, he has read almost everything, I think."—Demorest's Magazine.

One Day With the Children.

Big girl opened her dark eyes and raised her head, for her usual morning look at the weather and then with a cry of delight cried:—

"Wake up sister, our beautiful day has come, and I guess mamma has got breakfast most ready, for I smell pancakes, and baby is up. Le's hurry and dress and help her all we can so she'll get thro' quick."

Then such a hurry to get their clothes on, each one trying to get ready to use the buttonhook, first; for these are not "brain children" nor "paper children," but real girls who use their buttonhooks, for fishhoks or wellpoles or shepherd's crooks or, well, anything. Consequently have to borrow grandma's oftner than occasionally.

And what manner of day has caused such joyful anticipation?

A beautiful June day, just ready for a picnic? An early winter day, just right for the first snowball fight? A frosty winter morning when there is such a crust on the snow that they can coast anywhere over the fields?

None of these! A dreary spring day. Rain falling in torrents and the snow disappearing and bringing to view all the dark dismal objects which have been out of sight so long.

The chickens run about looking like —well, like a "wet hen." The cat creeps in, leaving a row of muddy tracks behind on the already damp floor, but mamma takes time to kiss the little faces and say "ho,ho, now we'll have fun."

Poor tired mother, her head aches, and she feels that she can never endure the long, dreary spring rains, but she must keep a bright exterior for the children's sakes.

She longs to give them so much and can give them so little. Big girl loves pretty things and "believes she will be an artist and paint all the beautiful things in the world." Little girl loves music and "wants to know how to make it." She don't know what baby loves, but has an idea she will "want to rival Mrs. Rorer," for she has to have her finger in every pie that is made.

And mother knows all these things have to be gained by long years of study and travel, and—but we will not follow her train of thoughts; for it always ends like this:—

I don't know where they may wander, nor what the future may bring, but Lord help me to give them a happy childhood. Only give me strength to live one day at a time.

And why is this to be a beautiful day?

The Strongest of All.

Once upon a time a hare was bounding along over the slippery ice. He ran around and bounded, until all at once, puff! he fell and struck himself a hard blow. After he had recovered himself a bit, he said to himself: "I wonder if this ice is very strong?" And he asked the ice: "Say ice, are you very strong?" "Very strong," said the ice. "If you are so strong, why does the sun melt you? The sun is stronger than you that's why he melts you." Then he turned to the sun and said: "Say, sun, are you strong?" "Very strong," said the sun. "If you are so strong, why do you let the clouds cover you. The clouds are stronger than you." Then he turned to the clouds and asked: "Say, clouds, are you strong?" "Very strong," replied the clouds. "If you are so strong, why do you let the mountains arrest you? The mountains are stronger than you." Then he turned to the mountain and said: "Say, mountain are you strong?" "Very strong," replied the mountain. "Indeed," said the hare, "if you are so strong, why do you let the mole dig into you." "The mole is stronger than you." Having spoken thus, he turned to the mole and asked: "Say, mole, are you strong?" "Very strong," replied the mole. "If you are so strong," replied the hare, "why do you let the cat eat you? The cat is stronger than you." Then he turned to the cat, and asked: "Say, cat, are you strong?" "Very strong," replied the cat. Then the hare not being able to think of anything which got the upper hand of the cat, gave his verdict, "The cat is the strongest of all!"—Tales of the Wotjaks.

Frightening a Tiger.

A man riding on horseback across the country in India came suddenly upon a tiger, which crouched as if to spring. The horse started to turn, but as that would only have invited attack, the man gave him a dig with the spurs. This caused the horse to rear, and the tiger at once turned tail and ran away.

Mr. Elliot, who tells the foregoing story, tells also another. A friend of his had gone out after the day's work, carrying a book and a gun, and seated himself in the tall grass of a hillside, hoping to get a sambur deer. All at once he heard something approaching, and saw a large tiger come into view at very short range.

The tiger crouched, and the man was afraid to raise his gun, as the beast would probably spring upon him before he could be ready to fire. Tiger and man looked at each other in silence.

The man had heard of the effect of the human eye, and threw into his look the fiercest expression he could command; but the tiger returned it with interest.

Then the man bethought himself to try the effect of the human voice. Gathering himself together, he let out the most awful yell he could muster. The tiger rose to his legs and turned half round. The man, greatly encouraged, uttered another yell, and the beast disappeared in the grass.

CURES OTHERS

To build up both solid flesh and strength after grip, pneumonia, fevers and other prostrating diseases, there is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

PROSTRATION FOLLOWING GRIP.

Mrs. Garrett.

Mrs. Reuben Garrett, King George C. H., Va., writes: "I was taken with grip which finally resulted in pneumonia. Was prostrated for three months. Had a terrible cough and was emaciated and very weak. Was fast drifting into 'quick consumption.' The doctor gave me medicines all the time. I grew weaker. He advised cod liver oil emulsion. I took two bottles of it without any relief. I had pain in my left shoulder and back. I wrote you, and you prescribed your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took only one bottle before I felt better. After two bottles I could sit up, and felt I had been saved from the grave. I increased rapidly in flesh and strength."

WHY NOT YOU?

Took It Out in Contempt.

In a case in an Australian court which went against the defendant, who rose up and gave his opinion on the judgment and was fined forty shillings for contempt of court, a five-pound note was handed over to the clerk.

"I have no change," said the clerk, tendering it to the offender.

"Never mind about the change," was the retort. "Keep it; I'll take it out in contempt.—Tit-Bits.

Satisfies Her Conscience, Anyway.

Mrs. Ighlife—And how do you manage to escape having that odious Mrs. Cheapstone at your lovely little dinners? One feels that one's obliged to invite her, you know.

Mrs. Smartleigh—Yes; but I give all my invitations to her to my husband to mail.—Chicago Record.

A Good Thing.

Bangs—They say that new race horse of Sportem's is a cracking good one?

Bings (ruefully)—Cracking? He broke me.—Buffalo Courier.

The smallest book in the world contains 384 pages, weighs 44 grains, and requires a strong magnifying glass to read.

In proportion to their size spiders are seven times stronger than lions.

France raises 5,000 tons of radishes annually.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Three minor asteroids were discovered last month.

Italy exported 480,000,000 dozen eggs last year.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Dust is responsible for many explosions in coal mines.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Vegetables are grown by electricity.

Greece has more public holidays than any other country in the world.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

America sent to France last year 514,300,000 pounds of bacon, 884,000,000 pounds of ham and 81,000,000 pounds of pork.

Take Time by the Forelock.
Check growing infirmity and mitigate the ill of growing age with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which relieves these evils. Rheumatism, lumbago, chills and fever, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, are all remedied by this helper of the aged, weak and convalescent. Prove the truth of this assertion, which is established by evidence.

Paris has more flats than London.

One London gas company alone uses 2,000,000 tons of coal each year.

FREE!

THIS KNIFE! Fine Steel. Keen as a razor. Good, strong handle.

Mailed free in exchange for 25 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee Wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine Premiums.

WOOLSON SPICE CO.,
450 Huron St., TOLEDO, O.

HOTEL FURNITURE
and LEASE FOR SALE.
ST. PAUL.

A great bargain is offered to any responsible hotel man to take AN OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address,
Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

WANTED 8 or 10 men to solicit orders for Hardy Nursery Stock, Fruit and Ornamentals; also new and valuable varieties of Seed Potatoes. Permanent positions; good salary, ranging from $75 to $125 per month. Apply quick with references.

L. L. MAY & CO.,
NURSERYMEN, FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN.
St. Paul, Minn.

Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars!

DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

EARHUFF ORGANS

The Only Absolutely Mouse and Dust Proof Organ On the Market.

Artistic designs, good workmanship, best Hand rubbed finish. Every Organ Guaranteed. If not handled by your dealer write to factory for prices. Address,

J. G. EARHUFF, ORGAN CO.
NORTH ST. PAUL, MINN.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS. ALL DRUGGISTS

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION

Minn. Hist. Soc.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1894. NUMBER 50.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

The cash balance and gold reserve of the United States treasury increase.

The house disagreed with the senate amendments to the tariff bill and conferees were appointed.

The senate has added $3,000,000 to the appropriation carried in the river and harbor bill.

Sherwood Dixon was named by the president for attorney for the northern district of Illinois to succeed Milchrist.

It is said that Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme court has declared the Nebraska maximum freight rate law invalid.

President Cleveland issued a proclamation commanding persons who have engaged in riotous demonstrations in various western states to disperse.

Reports from United States Consuls in Mexico warn Americans from emigration to Mexico with insufficient means or without informing themselves in a reliable way as to the prospects for earning livelihoods. Many Americans have been induced by alluring statements as to the cheapness of coffee raising, etc., to emigrate to Mexico, and some have lost their all by doing so.

Personal Mention.

Congressman M. C. Lisle of Kentucky is dead.

Mrs. E. S. McCarthy, of Decatur, Illinois left $3,500 to Bishop Taylor to be used for mission work in Africa.

Mr. Labouchere carries his Radicalism so far as to refrain from giving the readers of his paper any information of the birth of an heir to the throne.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, pastor of the American-Episcopal church in Rome, has become a Catholic and has been baptized into that church.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal are never seen on the stage except in each other's company. When they married they made a vow never to be parted while playing.

Joseph H. Prior, a rheumatic cripple who has been supported by the City of Cambridge, Mass., for some time, has fallen heir to $75,000, the estate of a grandmother who died in England.

J. Frank Hanley, the Republican candidate for congress in the Ninth Indiana district, was sawing and splitting wood for 75 cents a day fifteen years ago in Warren county, Indiana and attended school evenings for the first time in his life.

Dr. Nichols, the Populist, candidate for governor of Michigan is a fat, good-natured well groomed and well dressed man about fifty years of age, with a perennial smile except when he delivers a speech. Then he becomes fierce, fiery and bushy.

Samuel B. Arnold, who was implicated in the project to abduct President Lincoln in 1865, and sentenced to the Dry Tortugas for life, being afterward pardoned by President Johnson, is now keeping a meat stall in the Broadway market, Baltimore.

Jules Simon had a cataract removed from one of his eyes lately, and, like his English brother philosopher and statesman, underwent the operation with a coolness and fortitude that few young men would have equaled. He has become in some respects France's G. O. M.

John F. Werner, who left Chicago on January 23, 1891, to travel around the world in six months, without a cent of money in his pockets, and without passes of any kind, on a wager of $1,000, reached Philadelphia on the steamer Fonar from Swansea, England. To win the $1,000 Werner must be in Chicago July 23.

Unfortunate Events.

Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of West Superior.

More earthquakes, with loss of life, occur in Constantinople.

A large block of stone fell from the roof of the porte-cochere of the White House at Washington.

Fire at New York destroyed a tobacco warehouse and contents. Loss, $100,000.

The factory of the Quick Meal Stove company burned at St. Louis with a loss of $500,000.

William King, a farmer living near Saginaw, Mich., was fatally gored by a bull.

A cloudburst at Conconully, Wash., destroyed nearly every building left standing after the disaster of last May.

The annex at the Cincinnati stockyards was burned. Ten horses were consumed. The loss is $30,000.

Second Lieut. T. A. Thompson of the National Fencibles of Washington D. C., was killed by a switch engine at Little Rock, Arkansas.

A dynamite explosion in the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines at Boise City, Idaho, caused great damage. The supports under a portion of the mines were blown out by the terrific force of the explosion, and fears are entertained that the other walls were weakened and may fall. So far as is known all the miners got out in safety. The dynamite was stored in the mine for blasting purposes.

Criminal Doings.

Patsy Murphy escaped from Joliet prison, but was recaptured within two hours.

Warrants have been issued for 700 former employes of the Iron Mountain road on a charge of conspiracy.

Dana Bowman, a drayman, was shot and instantly killed at Springfield, Ohio, by Charles McKay.

John Cook, an Elkhart (Ind.) millionaire, was fined $16.72 for assaulting a newsboy.

A riot occurred at a public dance at Lebanon, Ind., and Francis Mitchell received a razor cut in the head that may prove fatal.

A coroner's jury at Hammond, Ind., declared Charles Fleischer was killed by the soldiers wantonly shooting into a peaceable crowd.

Troop A of the Second Washington cavalry refused to ride a train manned by non-unionists and its members were placed under arrest.

Anton Mizener of Coldwater, Mich., murdered James Robinson and buried his body in the barnyard in order to secure his chattels.

The American schooner Henry F. Phillips has been seized for alleged infraction of the treaty of 1818 by fishing within the three-mile limit off Nova Scotia.

A train in California, guarded by federal troops, is ditched by strikers or their sympathizers, and the engineer and three soldiers are killed and four soldiers injured.

Henry Leady, an Alton (Ill.) saloonkeeper, has been missing since July 4. As has also Alice Andrews, a domestic, and his wife has been unable to ascertain his whereabouts.

R. B. Davis, Western Union manager at Fort Madison, Iowa, is in jail for contempt of court in refusing to produce Debs' telegraphic strike correspondence.

Dr. W. P. Simon of Lime Springs, Iowa, accused of being concerned in pension frauds with Van Leuven, was held in $1,000 bail for his appearance at the December term of the United States court.

Gov. Altgeld of Illinois honored the request of Gov. Matthews of Indiana for Fred Taylor, who is wanted at Mount Vernon, Ind., for shooting Lou Smith, a woman, with intent to kill. He is now in jail at Shawneetown, Ill.

A man giving his name as George M. Pullman smashed in a plate glass window of the First National bank in Denver. He started across the street to serve another bank in the same manner, when he was stopped by the crowd that had gathered and was arrested.

George Hodge formerly bookkeeper in the Harlem (N. Y.) Savings bank, has been arrested charged with forgery and the larceny of $1,480 from the bank. Hodge acted as teller for an hour or so each day while the teller was at lunch.

In the case of the victims of the firing by troops at Grape Creek, Ill., the coroner's jury found a verdict of unjustifiable homicide in the case of Miss James and Mrs. Glennon, and recommended that steps be taken to prosecute the militiamen who did the shooting.

Gen. W. Ferguson, secretary and treasurer of the Mississippi levee board, with headquarters at Greenville, Miss., is missing. Discrepancies aggregating $25,000 or more had been discovered in his accounts. Gen. Ferguson had been secretary and treasurer of the board for the last ten years.

Foreign Gossip.

The German government has decided to extend the commercial department plan, in view of its success at Chicago.

During the past week eighty cases of cholera, twenty of which resulted fatally, have been reported at St. Petersburg.

The belief is said to be becoming general in Canada that the colonial conference was got up more for political purposes than to benefit trade.

The sultan of Turkey has declined to accept, as Italian ambassador, Signor Catalini, who was recently appointed to the post, giving as his reason that the appointment is persona non grata.

Telegrams from Managua report riots in Granada and Leon in Nicaragua. The mob cried: "Death to Zelaya; hunger and death." The troops at Yuzcaran and Corpus have been ordered to the frontier.

Mahdists attacked the fortified position at Mundu, on the upper Nile, on March 18. The Congo State troops completely defeated the enemy. Capt. Bonvalet and Sergt. Sigot, of the Congo State forces, were killed.

A dispatch from Caen says that the police of that city have arrested three Italians named Zampiero, Tognolli and Marandusso, who arrived there from Cette and who are believed to have been accomplices of Santo, the assassin of President Carnot.

Otherwise.

The West Virginia militia has arrested Gen. Kelly's commonweal army.

Freight handlers intend to strike out of sympathy for the Pullman strikers.

Receiver Bosworth of the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis has been authorized to lease the North & South road.

The engineers' brotherhood at Indianapolis has passed resolutions to carry out contracts with the railroads.

The Union Pacific between Cheyenne and Ogden is practically open for business.

Freight traffic is practically suspended in Alabama, although some local trains are still moving.

Gov. Turney of Tennessee issued a proclamation warning the people not to interfere with railroad property.

The Union Pacific will reinstate all men who struck but did not use violence.

The Equitable Mortgage company of New York which failed with liabilities of $16,000,000, will shortly be reorganized.

New York's rapid transit commission adopted plans for an underground road in order to get the matter before the voters next fall.

Three thousand educators were present at the opening session of the national association at Ashbury Park New Jersey.

The Republican congressional convention of the Second Kansas district reconvened at Lawrence. One hundred and twenty additional ballots were taken without result.

The most conservative estimates of the loss which the railroads have suffered since the strike began place it at least $1,000,000 daily to the system of lines which converge at St. Louis.

Upon application of the attorneys for the railroad, Judge Allen of the United States circuit court at Springfield, Illinois, issued an omnibus injunction restraining the officers of the A. R. U. and strikers from interfering with the movement of trains or any property of the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

The New York City directory is ready for distribution. This year's volume contains 387,411 names and, at the ratio of five to one, it is estimated that the city contains 1,937,055 inhabitants residing or doing business within forty-one square miles. In the Chicago directory the names represented spread over 185 square miles and in Philadelphia 129 square miles.

CONTINUE TO STRIKE.

PRESIDENT DEBS WILL NOT GIVE UP THE FIGHT.

Delegates Are Sent Out to Work With the Men on Various Roads—It Is Claimed That More Roads Will Soon Be Tied Up.

Chicago, July 16.—The American Railway union officials have determined to make a desperate struggle to regain for that order the prestige it has lost in the great strike now rapidly approaching a close. The executive board of the union held a meeting, the object of which was to map out a course for the future. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to send out "revivalists" to all important sections of the West. Six agitators had been sent out Saturday and it was decided to augment this number.

"The names of those sent out Saturday will not be given out," said President Debs to a reporter, "for fear of their being arrested for inciting a strike."

It was learned elsewhere, however, that Director Kern was sent to St. Louis to rally the forces there. Hogan was sent out over the Northern Pacific to stir up the employes of that company, and Goodwin was sent over the Northwestern line to use his influence with the employes of that system, and if possible to induce them to go out. These delegates are all members of the executive board of the union. Other emissaries were sent out to work with the employes of the many lines entering this city.

After this meeting adjourned an enthusiastic meeting was held at Ulrich's hall on North Clark street, President Debs presiding. He made a rousing speech, reminding one of the early days of the strike.

"The strike," said he, "is now—right now—more prosperous and more encouraging than ever before. We can and must win. The men who have gone back to work will again come back to us and victory is ours.

"Grand Chief Arthur, of the engineers, is a scab jobber, and he will go down in history as a traitor to organized labor. He instructs his men to work with scabs and tells them that scabbing is honorable. He is a tool in the hands of the general managers.

"The strike is weaker in Chicago than elsewhere," continued Debs, "but it will grow stronger, just as in the West it is growing stronger every hour."

Fifteen meetings were held in different parts of the city during the afternoon and evening yesterday, several of which were addressed by Debs. He will to-day give out a statement in answer to the one made by Pullman.

"Mr. Pullman's letter," said he, in an interview, "is the silliest and most foolish letter on such a subject that I ever saw, and I shall make such an answer to it as will make him one of the most despicable persons on earth."

Mr. Debs said that several of his committeemen had reported to him that the Rock Island, Lake Shore, Eastern Illinois, Grand Trunk and Western Indiana men will all be out to-day again. Nothing could be learned outside to verify this assertion, however.

St. Paul, July 16.—Yesterday afternoon the Great Northern handled some freight received from other roads, and notified all of its willingness to accept everything offered. Five cars of beer were transferred by the Omaha, and were sent to the West, and many smaller consignments from other roads were also transferred. The Great Western stands pat and will give its new men, who prove satisfactory, permanent positions. The Omaha will not issue a notice fixing a limit for the return of the men, and they can return only as individuals. Other roads are experiencing no difficulty in settling the questions of reinstatement and seniority as far as has been learned. Service on all roads but the Northern Pacific is now about normal, all trains of every description being run on schedule. The Soo line does not miss its unskilled labor which struck at 3 p. m. Friday.

Chicago, July 12.—The threatened general paralysis of labor of all sorts in Chicago, and the general walk-out of the Knights of Labor, and their sympathisers in all parts of the country, which were to have taken place, appear to have proven failures. In this city, in the shops and factories, in the building trades, and in the lines of interurban travel, there are no signs of obedience to the order issued by the representatives of skilled labor in the city. Not only that but the railroad lines centering here show decided improvement in traffic. Passenger trains, local and suburban, are moving everywhere without interruption, and their freight business is rapidly assuming a normal condition. For the first time within a week trainloads of live stock were received at the stock yards, and other train loads, carrying beef and hog products to the Eastern markets, were sent out in very considerable volume. Dispatches from the centers of population and industry of the United States and from many of the less important cities fail to show that the order or request of Grand Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor for general cessation of work has met with the slightest recognition by the members of that order or by those who sympathized with them.

The indictment against Debs and the others was made public yesterday. It is not a lengthy document and contains but one charge, that of interfering with the mails.

Fargo, N. D., July 12.—All engineers on this division of the Northern Pacific have now reported for duty and are at work. The old firemen and switch crews are still out, but new men are taking their places. The conductors are all at work. A freight train was sent west yesterday forenoon, and one came in in the afternoon from the west. No. 2 was made up at Mandan yesterday and and arrived in the evening on time. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning the bridge over the Buffalo river east of Fargo was burned. It was over 200 feet long, and will take several days to repair. Transfers are now being made around the bridge. It is supposed to have been set on fire.

Sacramento, Cal., July 12.—A passenger train which started from Sacramento for San Francisco was wrecked at the first trestle west of Sacramento. The engineer and four regulars were killed, and four other regulars were injured. The rails on the trestle had been tampered with and the supports of the bridge cut away. Strikers and their sympathizers are credited with the work. The troops are very much excited over the outrage, and are anxious for an engagement with the strikers.

Washington, July 13.—It was officially announced at the White House that the president will appoint a commission by the authority given him by the arbitration act of 1888, to investigate the labor troubles at Chicago and elsewhere, and to report to the president and congress. The commission to be appointed has not been selected and it will be a number of days before the appointments are announced.

This determination on the part of the president was arrived at after an interview with Secretary-Treasurer Hayes, of the Knights of Labor, McGuire and French, of the executive committee, and Mr. Schonfaber, who were introduced to the president this afternoon by Senator Kyle, and who came bearing credentials from the A. R. U., the Pullman employes and several labor organizations.

After discussing the various features of the situation for more than an hour the president promised that if the leaders would return to Chicago and use their influence towards restoring peace and order he would appoint the commission as soon as the disturbances had ceased to such an extent as to render a careful, thoughtful investigation possible. The president laid great emphasis on the fact that no steps could be taken in this direction until lawlessness had ceased, and he made his promise contingent on the pledge of the labor leaders to see to it that so far as organized labor is concerned the trouble at Chicago and elsewhere will immediately disappear. There is no disposition on the part of the administration to weaken in the stand which it has taken, but the president fully realizes the gravity of the situation, and, while he will not temporize with the lawless element, he is determined to do all in his power to reach a permanent solution of labor questions.

A telegram was received by the president last night from President Gompers from the Federation of Labor asking him to come to Chicago or send a representative to consider with prominent labor leaders concerning the situation. No answer has as yet been made to the invitation.

The usual consultation between the president, Secretary Lamont, Attorney General Olney and Gen. Schofield was held last night, but no new orders were sent out. Gen. Schofield said, after the conference was held, that reports from all the troops in the field except those in California had been received and that all reported quiet and order. Nothing was heard from Gen. Ruger in California, although word from him was eagerly watched for. Gen. Schofield said that he regarded the strike as practically settled and that he did not anticipate any more rioting or disorder.

St. Paul, July 13.—The Omaha yesterday resumed all its passenger trains on the Northern division, and the Milwaukee will to-day restore its H. & D. trains, thus making service complete on all the Chicago roads. Perishable freight and live stock is still declined by one or two roads, but otherwise freight service is all right everywhere, except in the Twin Cities and at the Minnesota transfer, the Great Northern still declining to receive except by wagons. The Northern Pacific expects to resume its usual service of all kinds over the entire system to-day It is said that every man on the "Soo" road will strike to-day, tying up the system completely.

Ogden, July 13.—Late last night a train left for the west on the Southern Pacific bearing four companies of the Sixteenth infantry under the command of Col. Poland. How far the train is expected to go is not known. Mail and passenger trains will be sent out this morning. It is believed that one company of soldiers is to be stationed at Truckee, one at Wadsworth, one at Reno and one at Carlin until the present trouble is settled.

Chicago, July 14.—The Federation of Labor has decided not to order a general strike of all the trades affiliated with the Federation. A resolution was adopted, however, endorsing the A. R. U. strike and voting $1,000 for Debs' defense. The action of the Federation is considered a serious blow to the A. R. U.

The general managers have returned Mr. Debs' proposition without answer, but with the information to the mayor that no communication whatever from the parties signing could be received or considered by the association. This means that the strike will be continued until one side or the other surrenders unconditionally.

Chicago, July 14.—At 9 o'clock President Debs called a meeting of his directory at the Revere house, and for a half-hour the strike leaders were in close conference. When the doors of the council chamber were unlocked Mr. Debs announced calmly that he would officially declare the strike off under certain conditions. J. B. Sovereign said: "The papers to call the strike off were all drawn up yesterday. They contained two provisions; first, that there should be arbitration, and, second, that all striking employes except those charged with crime should be taken back by the employers. I have not seen Mr. Debs this morning, but as arbitration has been secured, and that is all we wanted, thus a great victory has been obtained for labor."

Debs went to the city hall and presented the proposition which he proposed to present to the general managers to Mayor Hopkins, and asked the mayor to accompany him to the general managers' office. The mayor, Debs, Sovereign and Howard then left for the office of the general managers. Managers. St. John and Egan said that the general managers had adjourned and no meeting would be held until to-morrow. They intimated, however, that Debs' proposition would be rejected.

St. Paul, July 14.—All matters are quiet locally, to-day. Passenger and freight service on the Northern division of the Omaha is restored, and to-day's train out over the Northern Pacific will run as far as Mandan. General Superintendent Kimberly has notified General Traffic Manager Hannaford that the Minnesota and Dakota divisions are open for the transportation of freight, and a circular in harmony with that will be issued. On all other roads the situation is all right, and the fact that the strike has not been declared off will not cut much figure either way. The Soo trouble is not affecting traffic. General Manager Underwood states that the strike will not be general and he does not anticipate any trouble.

Sacramento, July 14.—A bloody battle occurred between strikers and a company of regulars. As far as can be ascertained two strikers were killed and two wounded. Division Superintendent Wright ordered an engine and two flat cars to clear the track along Front street, contiguous to the headquarters of the strikers. Fearing that an attempt would be made to shoot the engineer and fireman a company of regulars under the command of Capt. Roberts were ordered to accompany the train. As the train reached I street a number of strikers who were concealed on the roof of a big building in the vicinity of the city jail opened fire on the engine. The regulars returned the fire and two strikers were killed and six others were wounded. None of the soldiers were injured. The firing attracted hundreds of angry strikers to the scene, and it was with much difficulty that they were persuaded by cooler heads not to attack the soldiers. United States Marshal Baldwin frantically raised his hand and ordered the crowds to disperse. He called upon them in the name of the United States to return to their homes and to prevent further bloodshed. He later proclaimed martial law.

New York, July 14.—George M. Pullman has issued a lengthy statement of the attitude of his company in reference to the strike, its causes, its merits and its settlement. He does not declare definitely against submitting to arbitration, but urges that it would be unbusinesslike to consent to an arbitration which might decide that the Pullman works be operated at a loss. He says that he offered to open his books for the inspection of his employes to prove the works were running at a loss, but the offer was not accepted. He blames the A. R. U. for the strike, and says its object was to begin just such a general strike and that his works were selected for a beginning. He says that it would be nonsense to talk of arbitration when the works were running at a loss. He concludes by denying the charges that his company compelled its men to pay large rents and forced them to purchase goods of the company's stores.

St. Paul, July 17.—John O'Brien, at Duluth, an ex-railway employe, formerly with the Duluth & Iron Range road, and at one time with the Northern Pacific road, was before Judge Williams, of the United States circuit court, this morning on the charge of contempt of court in having assaulted a fireman on the Northern Pacific at Duluth. He acknowledged having made the assault and said that he was not aware at the time that the road was in the hands of a receiver. Judge Williams gave him a telling reprimand upon his conduct and then sentenced him to ninety days in the county jail and to pay the costs of his prosecution.

This morning seven employes of the Great Western road, arrested at Dodge Center for interfering with the United States mails, were brought before Judge Nelson for the purpose of having their bail fixed. Judge Nelson named $1,000 as the penal sum. The men believe that they will be able to secure sureties, and pending the time when they secure them were committed to the county jail. Their names are C. Kennedy, C. L. Fowler, W. J. Digby, W. L. Armstrong, E. W. Flynn, Thomas Hanlon and Lewis Everts. The grand jury found a large number of indictments against railroad strikers and others.

The lull in the local strike situation continues. All lines are running passenger and freight trains and the Northern Pacific is gradually perfecting its overland service. The passenger train which left here on Saturday passed Billings this morning on time, making much better progress than any of its predecessors. Another overland train will be sent out this afternoon, as there seems to be no obvious reason why all through trains should not go to Portland without difficulty. For the present, through freight is not being moved west of Mandan. The only element of interest in the situation, aside from the killing of Engineer Luth, lays in the prospect of trouble on the Great Northern, owing to the lifting of the blockade by the acceptance of through freight and cars direct from lines involved in the strike. It was generally stated yesterday that trouble was inevitable and that a strike would be ordered, some said at 4 o'clock and others said at 9 o'clock, but General Manager Case is authority for the statement that the men agreed to handle the objectionable cars. If all reports are true in advance of the report of the grand jury now in session a large number of the men arrested during the Great Northern strike have been indicted. It is said that one indictment contains the names of forty-seven strikers who were guilty of violence at Barnesville, and another against seven St. Cloud strikers, in addition to indictments against individuals and twos and threes. It had been expected that these indictments would be reported to-day, but they have not yet been handed in to the court.

Minneapolis, July 17.—The Milwaukee officials report five switch engines at work this morning, and that freight is moving on all lines as before the strike. No switching is being done at night as yet. All the night work, for the most part consists in transferring cars of wheat, and as the mills cannot receive any grain on account of the inability of the transfer company to do business, night switching has been abandoned. Supt. Williams says that none of the switchmen have offered to return to work, and only a portion of the firemen. He states that more work is being done in the yards than for six months past, because the lumber and flour mills are loading their products into cars in the yards instead of at the mills, as formerly.

Chicago, July 17.—It is said that Debs, Howard and Keliher will be arrested on the charge of contempt of court, and that they will be refused bail and will be compelled to remain in jail until their trial. There was no trouble in the city to-day. The strike situation at the town of Pullman appears to be growing more serious for the strikers. It is the general opinion that if the works of the Pullman company are opened to-morrow there will be a stampede of the men to get their old positions. During the last twenty-four hours the views of the strikers have undergone a marked change, and where previously they were talking about how the fight was won to-day little groups of workingmen talked of how they had lost the fight.

OWEN IS THE MAN

THE MINNEAPOLIS MAN, NOMINATED BY THE POPULISTS.

He Secures the Nomination by Acclamation—Senator Lommen of Polk County Is Nominated for Lieutenant Governor.

Governor—Sidney M. Owen.
Lieutenant Governor—E. E. Lommen.
State Auditor—A. L. Stromberg.
Secretary of State—P. J. Seberber.
State Treasurer—F. Borchert.
Attorney General—J. A. Keyes.
Clerk of Supreme Court—C. H. Johnson.
Chief Justice—Summer Ladd.
Associate Justice—John W. Willis.

Minneapolis, July 12.—The above ticket was nominated by the Populist state convention, which then adjourned sine die.

Following is the platform adopted:

We reaffirm the great principles set forth in the platform of the national People's party, adopted at Omaha, July 4, 1892, to-wit:

We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, not less than $50 per capita, issued by the general government only, direct to the people by payments in discharge of all its obligations and for public improvements.

We demand a free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold, at the present ratio of 16 to 1.

We demand the establishment of government savings banks for the safe deposit of the savings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

We demand a graduated income and inheritance tax.

We demand the government ownership and operation of railroads, telegraphs and telephones.

Land and all natural resources of wealth are the heritage of all the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes nor owned by aliens, therefore, we demand that all land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs, and all lands held by aliens, be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

We demand the election of president and vice president and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

We demand such legislation as will break up the great combinations which plundered the farmers for twenty-five years past, and secure to the agricultural population an absolutely free market for their cattle, wheat, and other products.

While we are ready to defend the general government in all its legitimate functions, nevertheless we regard its powers as limited by the terms of the centralizing tendencies of the age, which are destroying the just powers of the several states.

We arraign the Republican party of Minnesota for the immense frauds committed upon the school and other lands of the state, aggregating probably millions of dollars, during the past thirty years, and we demand that thorough investigation shall be made, and that the work already begun which has returned $30,000 in three cases alone into the treasury of the state, shall be continued until the last dollar has been recovered of the despoiled patrimony of our children.

We demand the taxation of the mining lands situated in this state so that they will contribute equally with other property to the support of the state and local governments.

Legislation has been attended with such venality, in the interests of corporations, that we demand that the people shall have the right to initiate needed measures of legislative reform, and that they shall have the right, by referendum, to veto, at the ballot box, any law, inimical to their interests.

That inasmuch as the extension of the right of suffrage to women in school affairs has been productive of excellent results, we demand that there be no limitation upon suffrage dependent upon sex, believing in the doctrines of 1776, that representation should accompany taxation.

We demand the nationalization of the liquor traffic and its management by the state without profit.

We are opposed to the use of public revenues or funds for sectarian purposes of any kind whatever.

Mr. Donnelly also read the following resolution which the committee recommended for the adoption of the convention:

Resolved, That we recognize the injustice and wrong which monopoly has inflicted upon the workingmen and women of this country, and we extend our sympathy to all who are endeavoring to prevent oppression, and to check the downward tendency of wages, already too small to sustain life and honor. We extend our sympathy to organized labor in its humane efforts to resist the aggressions of organized monopoly; and while we condemn violence and lawlessness, we believe that organized labor is in no sense responsible for the acts of the mob element with which a hireling press has falsely sought to connect it. We, therefore, recommend to our suffering countrymen, especially those of the laboring classes, that peaceful and effective remedy for the wrongs which, in this country, the ballot gives to free men, and which destroys no property except watered stock, and injures no value except those of fiction and fraud.

Resolved, That in the United States it is not a crime for the great mass of the people to unite to improve their material condition by peaceful and lawful means; and we cannot but regard the arrest of Mr. Debs and his associates as an unwise and unjust step, and a dangerous encroachment of the federal judiciary upon the rights and liberties of the people.

Northern Pacific Bridge Burned.

Ellensburg, Wash., July 12.—One span of the Northern Pacific bridge across the Yakima river seven miles north of here was burned. No particulars are obtainable.

Charles Sullivan's Body Found.

West Superior, Wis., July 12.—The decomposed body of Charles Sullivan, a dock laborer, was found in the bay yesterday morning. He has been missing since July 4. A gash across his head was found and foul play is suspected.

KILLED IN A BATTLE.

Fight Between Deputies and Alabama Mines.

Birmingham, Ala., July 17.—A fierce battle occurred at No. 3 mine at Pratt's between mobs of striking miners and deputies, in which six men were killed and nearly a score wounded. The full list of dead and maimed cannot be secured as the bodies were carried off quickly after the fight occurred.

In the morning a mass meeting of striking miners was held at the creek near Pratt mines and it was decided that the law be taken into their hands, and that they would kill or be killed. When the employes came out of the mines a mob of men was secreted in the woods near by. As the negroes would come out one by one a shot would be sent at them, and they would drop to the ground either dead or fatally wounded. After the third negro had fallen the deputies opened fire upon the mob and a fierce battle took place. B. W. Tierce, the commander of the deputies, fell to the ground. A Winchester ball had pierced his body, just above the heart. Almost at the same instant one of the strikers was seen to fall, but he arose again to his knees, and taking aim with his Winchester, fired four times at the deputies. The deputies kept reloading their guns and firing and the mob began dispersing. The deputies then made a tour around the wounded striker, who was still firing, and after a time they succeeded in silencing his gun. He proved to be a Frenchman. Another section of the mob made an attack on a train which was carrying the negroes from Mine No. 4 to their homes. There was several guards on the engine and the attack was answered with a fusilade of bullets. The first shot from the strikers went through the cab window of the engine and just missed killing the engineer and J. J. Moore, the superintendent of the mines. Telegrams were sent to the town in haste for help, and Sheriff Morrow summoned twenty-five deputies. Gov. Jones, who is still in the city, hastily summoned the Birmingham battalion of the state troops. The Second regiment has been relieved from duty. The East Lake company is still in camp guarding the tents and they were hurriedly marched to a train and carried to Pratt's with the deputies. The governor ordered the Second regiment into camp and closed all the saloons in the county. Out at Pratt's posses were hastily formed and the woods were scoured for miles, but the miners had made good their escape. The work of hunting up the dead and wounded then began. Ten men were picked up and six are dead.

UNABLE TO AGREE.

The Tariff Conferees Cannot Get Together.

Washington, July 17.—The Democratic members of the tariff conference committee adjourned earlier than usual to-day and the situation at the time of adjournment, from the best information obtainable, was that the conferees were far from an agreement, and that within a short time a disagreement would be reported to the senate and house. The question which has been agitating the members seems to be just what kind of a report to make, but the impression seemed to be that it would be of a general disagreement, with, perhaps, some of the main points specified. It had not been decided to call in the Republican members of the conference when adjournment was taken, but it is possible that the full conference may meet to-morrow or next day. It was evident from what could be learned that the meeting showed a tendency to get further apart than before, and the discussion of the main questions showed that there would have to be instructions from the respective houses before the conferees would feel warranted in yielding from the positions they have taken from the first.

Seized Spanish Vessels.

Washington, July 17.—Lieut. Willey, in command of the revenue cutter McLane, has made a report to the treasury department, from Tampa, Fla., stating that on the 7th he seized six Spanish schooners from Havana for violation of the state quarantine laws and regulations and the federal customs and navigation laws. For some time past fishing schooners from Havana have been suspected of carrying on smuggling operations along the Florida coast on a small scale, and the McLane was sent down to investigate. Small quantities of wine and aguardiente were found on board of each schooner, and they were taken to the quarantine station at the mouth of Tampa harbor. It is possible that they will be fined and turned loose. The names of the vessels are the Cuba, Don Jenita, Senardin, Carnie, Juan Captdebon and Adalante.

Death to Three Robbers.

Dallas, Tex., July 17.—Advices from the posse of deputy United States marshals who have been in pursuit of the Longview, Tex., bank robbers on the Trinity river country, near Clarksville, Tex., state the posse came upon four of the band to-day, and in a battle following an attempt to arrest the bandits, three robbers were killed and the fourth captured. The band, it is reported, was en route to Detroit, Tex., to rob a bank there.

Teddy Mills Dead.

London, July 17.—Teddy Mills, ex-champion runner of England, died this morning. He was fifty years of age and came into prominence as a runner when Deerfoot, the American Indian, was in England. After winning the championship in several matches, Mills retired from the track and opened a public house in which he remained to the end of his days.

Three Votes for Rossa.

Dublin, July 17.—Election for city marshal of this city to-day resulted in a victory for Mr. Clancy, son of Sub-Sheriff Clancy. Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa, whose candidacy gave special interest to the election, received only three votes.

Oldest Settler Dead.

Des Moines, July 17.—Hon. Thomas Mitchell, the oldest settler in Polk county, died at his home in Mitchellville last evening. He had been sheriff, county commissioner and state senator. He was eighty-eight years old.

Steamer Stranded.

London, July 17.—The German steamer Edward Bohlen has been stranded for several days at the mouth of the Congo river on the west coast of Africa. Her engines have been disabled since the steamer went aground.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7:10 p. m.

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent.
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

---

25 cents!

A New Subscriber Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

D. Turner, of Crookston, was in town on business last Monday.

P. G. Paradis visited friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

O. P. Johnson, of Thief River Falls, was in town the first of the week.

E. J. Holmes received a carload of binders and binding twine today.

E. M. Hoff drove down to Crookston last Monday to attend the county fair.

John Whitman, of Thief River Falls, was in town on business last Monday.

J. E. Morrissey, of Crookston, was in town a short time last Monday on business.

Miss Laura Avelson left today for an extended visit to friends in Larimore, N. D.

Dr. Wattson, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on professional business last Saturday.

we were treated to a fine rain yesterday which will greatly benefit the growing crops.

The annual school meeting will be held in the school house next Saturday evening July 21st.

Mrs. Freeburg, of Grand Forks, was in town last week visiting her brother Mr. O. W. Brink.

Messrs. Aas, Shuster and Philp Zeh, of Thief River Falls, were in the village a short time last Monday.

We understand that the ladies of the village will give a dance in Bjerk's Hall next Saturday evening.

Ed Welch, of Thief River Falls, was shaking hands with friends in the village last Monday.

O. W. Brink was made happy by the arrival of a little girl at his place last week. Mother and child are doing well.

Mr. W. A. Arthur went down to Crookston last Friday on business. He will take in the county fair before he returns.

Alfred Dainard, S. M. Dainard, O. W. Brink and O. F. Post drove down to Crookston last Monday evening to take in the county fair.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.
W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

The Populist state convention met at Minneapolis last Thursday and nominated a full ticket with Owen and Lommen at the head.

D. Patterson and family drove over to Maple Lake last Saturday. He took his sail boat and tent along and will spend a week or more camping at the lake.

The social given by the ladies of the Norwegian Lutheran Church was well attended and all present report having had a good time. About $17 was taken in.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Another heavy rain today has insured us a good crop on the low lands and will greatly improve the condition of the grain on the sand ridges.

Notice to Farmers.
You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse. W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent

Fred Eiknoff has been busy the past week moving his stock of hardware into the old Bank building. He will have a neat place of buisness when it is finished.

LOST.
A black and white English setter pup answering to the name of Doc. A suitable reward will be given to any one returning him to this office.

Matt Skala, John Jungberg and Christ Jensen came up from Red Lake Falls on a hand car last Sunday and spent several hours in the village.

The base ball goods ordered last week arrived yesterday. The boys have now a first class outfit and a nine will be organized and the work on the grounds finished by Saturday.

Traveling men were numerous in town today.

If your watch or clock is out of order leave it at J. L. Johnson's drug store with J. M. Stranahan, an experianced workman, and have it repaired. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

The peoples party congressional convention met at Moorhead yesterday, H. E. Boen was renominated by acclimation. The resolutions indorsed the platform of the state convention, the government ownership of railroads, the graduated income tax and the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

President Thompson has offered W. D. Wilson, of the Fair, a bedroom suite and five barrels of flour if he will be married in front of the grand stand during the fair next week. Wilson has accepted the offer on condition that he can find a better half. He is open for engagements and visits the postoffice four times a day now, looking for the letter that never came— back.—Crookston Times.

A young daughter of L. A. Carlson, a farmer living about three miles west of here, had her foot nearly cut off by getting caught in a mowing machine last Saturday. A son of Mr. Carlson was mowing near the house and the child had been sent out with water for him and was sitting in the tall grass so he could not see her until too late to stop the machine. Dr. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, was called to dress the wound and reports that he has hopes of saving the foot and that his patient is doing nicely.

Washington, July 16. The Chippewa Indian reservation is to be opened for settlement this fall, according to talk which Con. Baldwin has had with Secretary Smith. Several months ago Baldwin prepared a bill for the opening of agricultural lands of this reservation He had a talk with Commissioner Lamoreaux and the latter decided that the provisions of Baldwin's bill had been covered in the original Nelson act for the opening of the reservation. This places the whole matter in the hands of the secretary of the interior, and the latter is determined to throw these lands open as soon as possible. Secretary Smith and Congressman Baldwin see a decided practical advantage in this move. If the lands are opened to settlement under Democratic rule they figure the majority of the settlers will be Democrats. Baldwin is particularly anxious that the opening should come before election, and his views will be regarded by Secretary Smith.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A bill to prevent and settle strikes, to settle by arbitration all differances between employers and employees, and to provide a penalty for refusal or failure to abide by the decision of arbitrators, has been introduced by Representative Hudson, of Kansas. It provides that all disputes as to wages hours of work, the right to discharge or quit work, shall be submitted to three arbitrators appointed by a circuit court or the United States military authorities may be invoked. Persons guilty of disturbing the property of employers without having applied for arbitration shall be deemed guilty of malicious mischief. The same rule shall apply to employers who reduce wages or discharge men without submitting the case to arbitration. In all of the last cases employers should be liable for the full amount of wages until employes shall find other employment, the period not to exceed one year, nor can they call upon the United States forces for protection until they have applied for arbitration.—Crookston Times.

Our Country and Our Neighbors.

This beautiful publication by John L. Sooddard, the famous American traveler and lecturer, is now issued in 16 parts, each part containing 16 magnificent half-tone engravings 8 by 11 inches in size, from photographs of notable structures, busy street scenes, and wonderful views of Nature's architecture in the Americas. The Great Northern Railway has secured an edition of this art work from the publishers and will furnish it to friends and patrons at the mere cost of handling. The parts will be delivered weekly at ten cents each, and the purchasers can have the privilege of buying a copy of Graham's celebrated steel plate view of Niagra Falls at one-tenth the regular retail price of that famous production. Agent H. J. Freeman has a framed copy of the Niagra picture hanging in the depot, and also a supply of part 1 of "Our Country" and he asks everybody to call at this office and see them. There is certainly nothing more instructive than to read a graphic description of some noted building, monument, street, city, cataract, or mountain, particularly when the scene is pictured as faithfully and grandly as sun and art can do it. This work is an art treasury and only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Every patriotic citizen is strengthened in his admiration and love of country by a perusal of this book.

The administration has placed itself in a false position as to the A. R. U. strike, and while all good citizens will uphold it in preserving order, and none more so than the A. R. U., yet these same good citizens will not fail to note that the administration has ranged itself on the side of injustice in defence of monopolies, and will ultimately secure their full rights through the free man's sovereign power, a free ballot.—E. G. Forks Courier.

Newspaper correspondents should cease worrying George M. Pullman with interviews, says the Chicago Herald. The fact that he is "tired and worn out" has nothing to do with the matter. Better men than he are tired and worn out because of his stupidity greed and obstinacy. But the man really hasn't anything to say. Intrenched behind a barrier of self-sufficiency and colossal egotism he has apparently lost the power of speech except in the parrot-like reiteration of the words "no arbitration." This statement has become monotonous. The public no longer cares to hear it. The duke should be left isolated by the reporters as he will hereafter be by the community at large, free to enjoy his delusions, his summer castles and his money bags—if he can. He is no longer an interesting figure.

In view of the frequency of strikes by the employes of railroads, and the disastrous effects resulting therefrom to business generally, the question of government control of railroads is one it seems to me of vital importance to the community at large. Waiving all consideration of right or wrong of the frequent strikes that occur and are constantly liable to occur while the roads are controlled by corporate power, does not the present terrible condition of affairs appeal with peculiar force to all, that some change that would put an end to methods that are filling the land with idle men and bankrupting the business interests of the nation, is most vitally needed? Would not the government control of railroads put an end to a state of affairs so deplorable, and establish order and regularity where now all is confusion and chaos? When has a strike ever occurred among government employes? You hear no dissatisfaction expressed by them. Why? Because, while not being paid exorbitant saleries, they are given fair wages for their labor, and are not in constant dread that their pay will be reduced.

Such would be the case with railroad employes if under government control—but such can never be the case while they are controled by corporate power—a power deaf to the voices of pity, blind to the miseries it inflicts upon mankind, lost to every feeling of sympathy, and dead to every generous quality of the heart. It is in vain to hope for a discontinuance of strikes until the Shylocks of corporate greed are dethroned. And what better or more promising chance for such change than government control of roads that under present management are causing such wide spread disaster—H. C. Buffington in Minneapolis Times.

MORRGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 28th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894
Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J. Montague, attorney.

Sycophant was once an Athenian government official who inspected the baggage of travelers to prevent the exportation of figs.

Canoe, chocolate, hominy, maize, opossum, tomato, tomahawk and some others have come to us from various Indian languages.

Castanea gave its name to the chestnut, large groves growing near this city, which was anciently famous for its exports of this nut.

Tabby, the name of a peculiarly marked cat, was so called because its markings resembled those of a watered silk made at Atabi.

Termagant, scold, jade, hag and a few other words were formerly applied to men as well as to women, and their exclusive application is no compliment to masculine gallantry.

Grog, a mixture of spirits and water, was so called from Admiral Vernon, a distinguished British sailor. He always wore a grogram coat, and was called "Old Grog" by his sailors. He introduced the ration of spirits into the navy bill of fare, and the mixture at once received his nickname.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to.

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE

WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily NO. 3 North and West		Daily NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 39 am
8 20 pm "	Minneapolis	9 55 am
4 35 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	Do 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a. m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm. Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson. Paul Avelson A. G. Asmundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagers, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of October 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.
Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894. Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

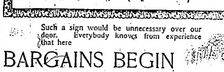
Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY.

AT

E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED

JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED

生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED

OR A TURK NAMED

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. B. IVES, Propr.

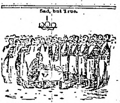
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
Not in Advance. $2 00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St.Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

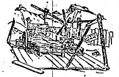
WEDNESDAY JULY 18 1894

Sad, but True.



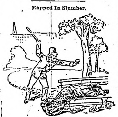
A bashful man's impressions of a fashionable restaurant.—Life.

A Shantytown Real Estate Movement.



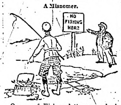
Murphy (who has just awakened)—Great heavens, Biddy, that robber McGinnis has foreclosed the mortgage whilst we were shlaping.—Truth.

Rapped In Slumber.



—Life.

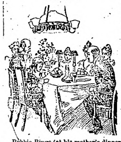
A Misnomer.



Owner of Fishpond (to man who is trespassing)—Don't you see that sign, "No fishing here?"

Angler—Yes, and I dispute it. Why, there's good fishing here. Look at this basketful. The man must have been mad who put that board up.—Chips.

In the Dark.

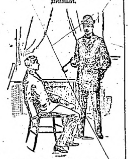


Bobbie Bingo (at his mother's dinner party)—This is the first dinner mamma would let me sit at the table with the company.

One of the Guests—Then you are not very well acquainted here, are you, Bobbie?

Bobbie—No, sir. I don't even know who all this silver belongs to.—Brooklyn Life.

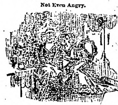
Brilliant.



Briggs—Do you think Miss Yardly is very bright? She talks only in monosyllables.

Griggs—She knows enough to say "No."—Detroit Free Press.

Not Even Angry.

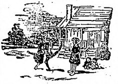


Mrs. L.—And so you went to that horrid, vulgar burlesque first?

Mr. L.—Yes, dear, but I——

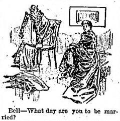
Mrs. L.—That's all right. I only want to know if you saw any good ideas for my new bathing costumes.—Life.

His Limit.



Teacher—I'm a-standin here to show you how to waltz. I don't purfess ter perpare yer fur a ballet.—Life.

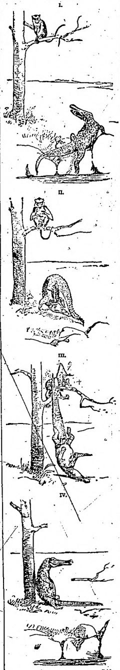
Uncertain.



Bell—What day are you to be married?

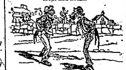
Nell—The dressmaker hasn't decided yet.—Truth.

The Impertinent Baboon and the Athletic Crocodile.



—Life.

Meat and Drink.



Westchester Willie—Wot did yer get over dere, Tommy?

Tuckahoe Tommy—Oh, I got a bite from the dog. What did you get?

Westchester Willie—I got a horn from the bull.—Truth.

Vagabond was once only a traveler going from place to place on pleasure or business.

Carbuncle means a little glowing coal, the appearance of the gem suggesting the name.

Mohair is properly Moor hair, or Angora wool, introduced into Europe by the Moors.

Bayonet was so called because it was first made at Bayonne, in France. It was originally a knife stuck in the muzzle of a gun.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1895, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

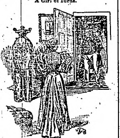
U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. May 29 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Edson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14139 dated March 23 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 16 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of July 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

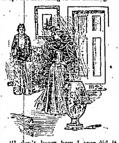
Wm. Anglim, Rice ver.

A Girl of Ideas.



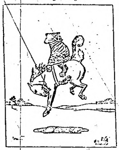
Mr. Banger—For mercy's sake, Adelaide, what's that vase doing up there?

Adelaide—Why, papa, it's the only place to have it put if the floor is to be swept the first thing in the morning.



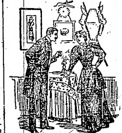
"I don't know how I ever did it, Charles, dear, but it's the only thing that saved your life."—Truth.

"Bucking the Tiger."



—Life's Calendar.

From Headquarters.



Cora—That Jack Mashem you introduced me to the other night is awfully bold—kisses every girl he meets.

Her Brother (sternly)—Who told you?

Cora (blushingly)—Oh, I had it from his own lips.—Truth.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY. TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

A GREAT SNAP

THE FARM STOCK AND HOME

Hon. S. M. Owen's Great Agricultural Paper

ONE YEAR

AND THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

60 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

I Can't Sleep

I have a tired, worn-out feeling. This means that the nervous system is out of order. When this complaint is made, Hood's Sarsaparilla is needed to purify and vitalize the blood, and thus supply nervous strength. Take it now. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Be sure to get Hood's and only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you, that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born today. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, 60 Niagara St., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

PRESIDENTS FROM FARMS.

Ten Chief Rulers of This Country Selected From Rural Homes.

Ten presidents of the United States were called from farms, says the Forum.

1. Washington, the land surveyor and farmer, from Mount Vernon.

2. John Adams of Quincy, who, during the last year of his presidency, said: "I am weary, worn and disgusted to death. I had rather chop wood, dig ditches, make fences upon my poor little farm. Alas! poor farm, and poorer family, what have you lost that your country might be free!"

3. Jefferson, farmer, philosopher, and statesman, from Monticello.

4. Madison, farmer and lawyer, of Montpelier, Va.

5. Monroe, farmer, from Oak Hill, Va.

6. John Quincy Adams from the Quincy farm of 100 acres, near Boston. ("It is said that most of the trees were raised by John Quincy Adams from the seeds which he was in the habit of picking up in his wanderings. The most peculiar interest attaches to a shellbark hickory which he planted more than fifty years previous to his death. In this tree he took a peculiar satisfaction, but he was an enthusiast in regard to all the trees of the forest, differing in this respect from his father, who was an agriculturist of the Cato stamp—was more inclined to lay the ax to them to propagate them.")

7. Andrew Jackson of the "Hermitage" in Tennessee, who, as farmer, soldier and lawyer, was a most excellent type of the best Americanism.

8. Van Buren of Kinderhook, N. Y., was called to the presidency from his sheep and wool farm, although he was a lawyer of far above average requirements and ability.

9. William Henry Harrison from his farm at North Bend, Ohio.

10. Tyler of Sherwood Forest farm, Virginia, where he subsequently died.

11. James K. Polk of Duck River, Tenn., also came from the farm to the presidency.

This selection of presidents from rural homes, from among the farms of the country, illustrates the fact that in those days there was no profession or calling which held a more exalted position in public estimation than that of agriculture.

Little Johnny Knew.

Sunday School Teacher—Children, do you know the house that is open to all—to the poor, the rich, the sad, the happy; to man and woman; to the old and the young? Do you know the house I mean?

Little Johnny—Yeth, mam, I know.

"Well, Johnny, what house is it?"

"The station house."—Taggart's Times.

Get people to believe that it is indeed more blessed to give than to receive and the church entertainments will die a sudden death.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE

WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 18 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.

WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

500 SALESMEN WANTED.

The oldest and largest Nursery in the Northwest. If you wish profitable work apply at once for particulars. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES CATARRH

PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

THEY CHOSE NELSON.

HE IS NOMINATED BY THE MINNESOTA REPUBLICANS.

D. M. Clough for Lieutenant Governor, Albert Berg for Secretary—R. C. Dunn Defeats L. P. Hunt for the Nomination for Auditor.

For Governor—Knute Nelson.
For Lieut. Governor—David M. Clough.
For Secretary of State—Albert Berg.
For Auditor—R. C. Dunn.
For Ttreasurer—A. T. Koerner.
For Attorney General—H. W. Childs.
For Clerk Supreme Court—D. F. Reese.
For Chief Justice—Charles M. Start.
For Associate Justice—L. W. Collins.

St. Paul, July 12.—Ex-Lieut. Gov. A. Barto of Sauk Center was chosen temporary and then permanent chairman of the Republican state convention.

Mr. Haupt of Otter Tail moved the nomination of Hon. Knute Nelson for governor by acclamation. The motion was seconded in several places, and the motion prevailed, every delegate rising enthusiastically and subsiding amidst a burst of applause.

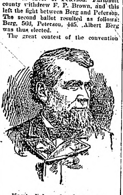
On motion of Mr. Tawney a committee of three was appointed to notify Gov. Nelson of his nomination, and Honorables J. A. Tawney, S. G. Comstock and M. H. Dunnell were appointed as such committee.

William H. Eustis of Hennepin moved the nomination of Hon. David M. Clough for lieutenant governor. The motion was carried and Mr. Clough was declared the unanimous choice of the convention for lieutenant governor.

Now came the first contest, the nomination of a candidate for secretary of state. Secretary F. P. Brown, Albert Berg, John W. Peterson and Joseph E. Osborn were nominated. First ballot: Brown, 191; Berg, 398; Peterson, 329; Osborne, 83. No choice.

Capt. West of Hennepin withdrew Osborne in favor of Peterson. Faribault county withdrew F. P. Brown, and this left the fight between Berg and Peterson. The second ballot resulted as follows: Berg, 566, Peterson, 445. Albert Berg was thus elected.

The great contest of the convention was now on hand—the nomination of a candidate for state auditor. The deepest interest was manifested in the struggle, and the friends of the different candidates watched the result with intense anxiety. R. C. Dunn, of Princeton; L. P. Hunt, of Mankato; W. W. Rich, of Lyon county; W. J. Morrow, of Detroit; S. G. Iverson, Clarence A Whited, P. J. McGuire, of Crookston. First ballot: Dunn, 348; Hunt, 305; Rich, 82; Morrow, 38; Iverson, 197; Whited, 67; McGuire, 74. Sesond ballot: Dunn, 443; Hunt, 264; Iverson, 208; Morrow, 20; Whited, 36; McGuire, 36.



Knute Nelson for Governor.

The names of Iverson, Whited and McGuire were withdrawn. On the third ballot Dunn received 574 votes and was declared nominated. Go. Nelson here appeared and was greeted with cheers. He made a speech which was enthusiastically received.

For state treasurer, Hy Burkhardt, J. H. Ackerman, A. T. Koerner, of Litchfield; J. A. Block, W. W. Smith were nominated. First ballot: Koerner, 402; Ackerman, 40; Smith, 194; Block, 321; Burkhardt, 52; Westerman, 2.

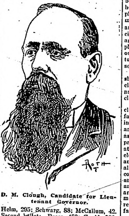
While this ballot was being counted Gen. Jenison of Red Wing moved to suspend the rules and nominate H. W. Childs for attorney general.

Mr. Mason of Otter Tail moved to make the nomination by acclamation, and both motions carried, Mr. Childs being the unanimous choice of the convention for attorney general.

The second ballot for treasurer was now called, but before it was taken Julius Ackermann withdrew in favor of Koerner and W. W. Smith followed suit. This left the fight between Koerner and Meeker county man a strong favorite. The ballot resulted as folows: Koerner, 668; Block, 333; Burkhardt, 6; Smith, 2. Mr. oKerner was declared the unanimous choice of the convention for state treasurer.

For clerk of the supreme court: A. B. Gould, of Winona county; P. J. Schwarz, of Dodge; D. F. Reese, of Ramsey; and J. I. Helm, of Rock; and Donald McCallum, of Big Stone were nominated.

Firts ballot: Reese, 327; Gould, 295; Helm, 295; Schwarg, 88; McCallum, 42. Second ballot: Reese, 470; Gould, 380; Helm, 151. Third ballot: Reese, 523; Gould, 461; Helm, 26.



D. M. Clough, Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Nominations for chief justice of the supreme court were now called for, and Hon. Albert Scheffer placed in nomination for chief justice Hon. Charles Gilfillan as one who, though a resident of St Paul, must be regarded as representive of the whole state.

O. P. Stearns of Duluth named Charles M. Start of Rochester.

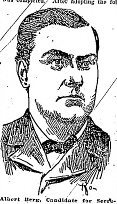
Judge Start was seconded by two counties and the balloting forthwith commenced, resulting in the nomination of Judge Start by the following decisive vote: Gilfillan, 287; Start, 720.

E. T. Young of Appleton now nominated for associate justice of the supreme court Gorham Powers of Yellow Medicine county.

D. W. Burkhardt of St. Cloud nominated Loren W. Collins of Stearns county.

Mr. Crossfield named Calvin S. Brown of Morris, and the roll called, resulting in the renomination of Justice Collins by a handsome majority. The vote was: Collins, 759; Powers, 188; Brown, 40.

The nomination of Judge Collins was made unanimous, and the state ticket was completed. After adopting the following platform the convention adjourned.



Albert Berg, Candidate for Secretary of State.

The Platform.

We favor a protective tariff under which, upon imports competing with the products of American labor, duties are levied equal to the differences between the wages and labor at home and abroad. And as to imports, other than luxuries not so competing, we believe that the same should be admitted free of duty, so far as the requirements of the government may permit. But the principles of reciprocity should be so incorporated in our tariff laws as to give new and enlarged markets for the products of this country.

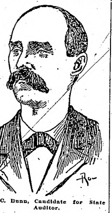
The Republican party believes in the use of both gold and silver as money, maintaining the substantial parity of value of every dollar in circulation with that of every other dollar. It believes in bimetallism and that the restoration of silver to ultimate money to the currency of the world is absolutely necessary for business prosperity, proper rates of wages and the welfare of the people.

Holding these views, we believe it should be the policy of the United States to do everything in its power to promote the restoration of silver to the world's currency.

We demand a free ballot and a fair count and for every citizen the right, unmolested, to cast one ballot in any election, and to have that ballot honestly counted as cast. The mission of the Republican party will not be nded until in every state of the Union all citizens, black or white, native oor foreign born, shall be equal in the courts and at the ballot box.

The Democratic party united in nothing else, was unanimous in the repeal of the fedral election laws, thus openly confessing itself the party of fraud.

We are opposed to all trusts and combinations seeking to control or unduly enhance the price of commodities, and we are in favor of eradicating or repressing the same by suitable and effective laws. The manufacture of twine at out state prison has been and still is amost effective means to protect our farmers against the monopoly of the twine trust.



R. C. Dunn, Candidate for State Auditor.

The laboring and industrial clesses are entitled to all propper and necessary protection, and therefore we are and have been in favor of laws (1) to protect the health, the life and the limb of all employes of transportation, mining and manufacturing companies; (2) to establish and maintain boards or tribunals of conciliation or arbitration, whereby the disagreements and differences between employers and employes may be settled without strikes or lockouts; (3) to reclaim and to preserve the public domain for actual settlers under homestead laws.

All proper and necessary measures should be adopted and enforced to exclude from our shores all paupers, criminals and other dangerous and undesirable classes of immigrants.

The farmers and all other producing classes are entitled to cheap and suitable facilities for storing, shipping and marketing their products, and therefore we are and have been in favor of such legislation as is requisite and essential to secure promptly and without discrimination and at reasonable rates, convenient and ample elevator and warehouse accommodations and proper and speedy transportation to all accessible and appropriate markets. corporations or individuals performing any public service or employment, are amenable and subject to public control; and we favor the enactment and enforcement of such laws as will compel them to render efficient and approved service at fair and reasonable rates, without favor or discrimination as to persons or places.

The pensions awarded by a generous nation to the disabled and unfortunate veterans of our late war, their widows and orphans, should be given them with a fair and generous hand, and not grudgingly and with restraint. We deprecate the parsimonius, super-critical and harassing attitude of the present emocratic administration in its treatment of the beneficiaries of our pension laws.

The Republican party has always advocated equal rights and privileges for all the people without any distinction whatever as to classes or individuals. We believe in the fullest rights of labor and of laboring men, and are opposed to class privileges of all kinds. The American workmen are the producers of our wealth and greatness and we are and should be solicitous for their welfare and happiness. We earnestly advocate such legislation as will secure the peaceful adjustment by arbitration of differences arising from time to time between employers and employes, and condemn unqualifiedly capitalists and others who refuse to settle such differences along these peaceful lines. The wanton destruction of property, whether private, corporate or public, should be prevented and mob violence promptly suppressed at all hazards. We stand for law and order, for the punishment of crime and for the lawful redress of all wrongs.

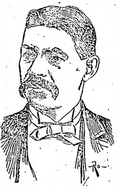
Whereas, There are now now in this state about four million (4,000,000) acres of railroad lands which are not held or used for railroad purposes and do not contribute to the gross earnings tax or to any other state or local tax, we demand that said lands be taxed by the ordinary method of direct taxation, and that such tax be in additon to the present gross earnings tax upon railroad property.

We earnestly and emphatically urge the adoption of an amendment to the national constitution extendig the term of office of the president of the United States to six years; and providing, that no person who has been president of the United States shall thereafter be eligible to the same office.

We therefore respectfully request congress to propose an amendment to the national constitution that will speedily accomplish this end.

We reccommend and endorse the wise, economical and statesmanlike administration of the affairs of the State of Minnesota under Gov. Knute Nelson.

We commend thewise and patriotic course of our senators, Cushman K. Davis and William D. Washburn, and our Republican representatives, J. A. Tawney, J. T. McCleary, A. R. Kiefer and Loren Fletcher in the congress of the United States upon all questions appertaining to the public interests and the welfare of their constituents. They have at all times fully and fearlessly discharged their duty to the people, and we give them our hearty commendation.



A. T. Koerner, Candidate for State Treasurer.

GOV. NELSON ACCEPTS.

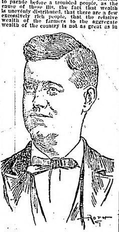
The Governor Makes a Very Bright Speech of Acceptance.

Gov. Nelson, in accepting the nomination, made a forceful and comprehensive speech, in which he reviewed the questions and conditions of the day and gave the Republicans of Minnesota some excellent advice. He said:

Your kindness in again nominating me, unanimously and by acclamation, your candidate for the high office of governor, is greatly appreciated and is dear to me, not so much because it tends to give me another term of office as because to me it is the assurance that your are satisfied with the spirit and manner in which I have performed my duties as the chief executive of the state. While conscious of the fact that in many respects I have been far from infallible and may have erred in judgment, yet I can truly say that I have always aimed to be fair and just and to subserve what I conceived to be for the highest public good. I have aimed to be conservative, to keep within the baten paths of law and precedent and to avoid all that savors of jingoism. I have felt that if any radical change, any new line of public policy, was to be inaugurated, it should come from the people, through the legislative department, and not through the executive. If I am again elected governor I shall be guided by these principles, and shall aim to serve the state to the best of my judgment and ability, impartially and without fear or favor as to any class, person or interest.

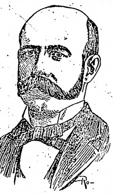
On the Hard Times.

We have been struggling for more than a year, and are still deep in the midst of a great industrial depression, permeating to a greater or less degree all classes, all interests and all employments. The purse-strings of capital, through want of confidence, or through a spirit of fear or timidity, have tightened or have become entirely congested. In consequence of this fact, to a very large extent, the field of labor has been greatly reduced and narrowed. This in its turn has largely increased the army of the unemployed, and in many instances reduced the scale of wages of those who still have something to do. With capital in hiding and labor famishing for want of something to do, economy and want have brought about a reduced state of consumption and an enlarged state of over production and over supply. The whole situation has been further intensified by prolonged strikes of unusual magnitude, which, whatever may have been their intrinsic merits, have visibly aggravated the industrial condition, increased the army of unemployed, frightened still more capital into hiding, and, worst of all, loosened the bonds of organized society and threatened it with upheaval and chaos. In the face of an industrial and social situation such as this, it seems selfish and heartless in the extreme to parade before a troubled people, as the cause of these ills, the fact that wealth is unevenly distributed, that there are a few excessively rich people, that the relative wealth of the farmers to the aggregate wealth of the country is not as great as in 1860, that we had a great national debt and have been paying it off in gold, and, chief of all, that silver was demonetized in 1873. The statesmen who furnish us this diagnosis have one universal cure for all our ills. Need I name it? It is the unconditional free coinage of silver on a ratio of 16 to 1.



D. F. Reese, Candidate for Clerk of Supreme Court.

While in critical times like these, when our house is afire, as it were, and our first aim should be to put the fire out and not to dispute about the cause of it, you will pardon me if I pause to make these remarks: It is at all times, and in these times more than ever, cruel and savoring of foreign nihilism to seek to array poor against rich, class against class. There has always been, and always will be, an unequal distribution of wealth and a few who are excessively rich, as compared with the many. But in our country, where there is neither primogeniture nor entail, and where large fortunes are so often and so easily dissipated by profligate sons, there is no serious menace in rich men. If there ever was any doubt on this point, these trying times have dispelled it, for who have been more worried, more harrassed and more helpless than the rich? Watching them and their trials, have not many of us felt like praying, "O Lord, give me neither poverty nor riches?"



Henry W. Childs, Candidate for Attorney General.

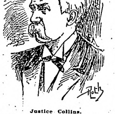
Our national debt was incurred for that greatest of all purposes, the preservation of the Union. We borrowed the money from all over the world, and, like honest people, we have paid the debt in the universal money of the world. And as long as we were engaged in the honest task of paying this debt, prosperity was with us. It is only since we have ceased to pay, and have incurred new debt, that these serious and depressing times have come upon us.

The Silver Question.

The demonetization of silver in 1873 is an obsolete fact, too remote to have any bearing on present conditions. When silver was demonetized in 1873, it was, and for nearly half a century had been, practically out of circulation. Our only circulating medium from 1862 up to the time we resumed specie payment in 1879, was paper, and nearly a year before resumption, silver was duly remonetized under the act of 1878. Since 1872 silver has gradually depreciated in value, chiefly from two causes: The almost unanimous demonetization of the same in Europe, and the largely increased production thereof throughout the world. During all these years, since 1878, aside from India, the United States has been the best friend silver has had. From 1878 until 1890 we purchased and coined silver bullion to the extent of over $24,000,000 annually, and from 1890 to 1893 we purchased silver bullion and issued paper currency thereon to the extent of 54,000,000 ounces annually. And to-day we are carrying upwards of $625,000,000 of silver in our circulation, as against $660,000,000 of gold, of which $100,000,000 is or should be kept in the treasury as a redemption fund for the $346,000,000 of greenbacks. France has a silver circulation of $700,000,000, as against a gold circulation of $600,000,000: while India, with its population of 255,000,000, has in circulation only $900,000,000 of silver, as against no gold and only $28,000,000 of uncovered paper. While China, with its 400,000,000 of people, has only $7,000,000,000 of silver, circulating on its bullion value, in circulation. These figures indicate, if we take into account the aggregate of our population and the aggregate of our currency, as well as the mode of our doing business, that silver has not been stricken down, but that, on the whole, it is in as much favor here as anywhere. We have not only maintained a parity in value, but also a parity in quantity in circulation, between the two metals. We are all in favor of the free coinage of silver, under such conditions that it can maintain itself in circulation, dollar for dollar, on a parity with gold, without requiring an ultimate redemption fund in gold and without driving our gold out of circulation. Silver monometallism would in one fell stroke divest us of a full half of our metallic currency; and would place us commercially in touch with such countries as China, India, Mexico and South America, while honest, sound bimetallism will keep us in touch, for purposes of commerce and exchange, with the entire civilized world.

The Origin of Our Ills.

Those who to-day, for selfish purposes, and divested of patriotism, see fit to decry the course of our government for the last quarter of a century, overlook the fact that the very goodness of our institutions are to a large extent chargeable with our present ills. America has been until the last year, as compared with other countries, the laborer's paradise. Labor, attracted by better wages, better living and better homes than elsewhere, has flocked to our shores in great numbers, and we are to-day more embarrassed by this overplus of labor than from almost any other single cause. We have absorbed much, but there is a limit to the digestion of even a giant. Could the labor that has come to our shores within the last ten years again find work abroad, the labor problem would be much simplified and be much easier of solution. Granting, which is far from certain, that strikes may maintain or increase wages, it is quite evident that they do not tend to enlarge the field of labor or increase the demand for it. Capital may build railroads, engineers and firemen, conductors and brakemen may stand ready to operate them, and yet there will be nothing to do, nothing to earn, unless there are farmers and producers to furnish the traffic. It is a phrase of the sea that "freight is the mother of wages," and so from the standpoint of the railroads, "freight may be said to be not only the mother of railroads but also the mother of dividends." It isn't the saloonkeeper that pays for the licenses, it is the poor fellow that takes the drink. And so it isn't the capital in the road that pays the wages, it is the farmer who furnishes the traffic, and he is always pressing, always contending for lower rates. As an umpire and arbitrator for such contention, the state has provided a board of railroad commissioners to settle and adjust all differences. The farmers don't strike; as law-abiding citizens they turn to this tribunal or to the courts for relief. On the other hand, labor contends with capital for good or better wages. There may be much justice in the claim, but to settle it by strikes or boycotts is too often exhaustive and ruinous and demoralizing in the extreme. Is it not nobler, better, and safer to adjust the contention between labor and capital as between capital and producer by means of arbitration, through the board of railroad commissioners or through some other board or tribunal of arbitration? The producer is entitled to reasonable rates, capital to moderate dividends and labor to fair wages. And whenever disputes arise between these different interests, such disputes should be adjusted, not by strikes and boycotts, but through arbitration or conciliation, in some qualified, fair and entirely disinterested board or tribunal, to be established by law for that purpose. In these times of trouble and distress, we need most of all confidence in each other and forbearance with each other, and above all we must strive to uphold the integrity of the country and its well being, for ourselves and our posterity, at all hazards. If patriotism and love of country prevails, the republic will ride triumphant through the storm.



Justice Collins.

Why They Settle.

Wife—Who can doubt the power of woman's love! Think of the thousands of wild youths who have settled down into staind and respectable citizens as soon as they married.

Husband—Good lands! they couldn't afford to be anything else after they got married.—New York Weekly.

BABIES USED AS BAIT.

A British Sportsman Tells How He Hunted Crocodiles in India.

"We used to have great sport in India going out after crocodiles with Hindu babies for bait," said an ex-officer of the British army to a New York Sun reporter. "The baby wasn't baited on a hook like a minnow or a fish worm, but simply secured on the bank so that it couldn't creep or toddle away or tumble into the river. Some babies don't like their being made crocodile bait of, but that fact increased their value to the sportsman, for then they yelled and made a great noise, which was just what the crocodiles were waiting to hear, and they'd come hurrying from all directions to have a chance at the babies. "Where did we get these babies for bait? From their mothers. All the fellow who wanted to go crocodiling had to do was to noise abroad his intention, and it wasn't long before the native women would flock in with their babies to be rented out for bait. The ruling price per head for the young heathen was about 6 cents for the day. Some mothers required a guarantee that their offspring should be returned safe and sound, but the most of them exacted no such agreement. The babies were brought back all right as a rule, but once in a while some sportsman was a trifle slow with his rifle, or made a bad shot, and the crocodile got away with the bait, but that did not happen often.

"If your bait is in good form for crocodiling and starts in with protesting yells, you may expect to get your crocodile very soon; but if the baby proves to be what is known as a sulker and takes the situation in quietness and patience, you may have to wait some time before you get a shot. I used to have the option on an Indian baby that was the most killing bait for crocodiles in all that part of India. I killed more than one hundred crocodiles with that youngster as a lure before she outgrew her usefulness. She had the most persistent and far-reaching yell I ever heard come out of mortal being, and no crocodile could resist it. She was a real siren in luring the big reptiles to their fate, and I was sorry to see her grow and get too big for bait and have to give her up. That dusky infant always commanded a premium in the market and her mother was very proud of her indeed.

"After he had secured his baby at a proper spot it was the custom of his sportsmen to hide behind a convenient bush or blind and wait for the game. If his bait was lively and of good lung he would not have long to wait. I've seen half a dozen crocodiles come hurrying from as many different parts of the river toward a baby five minutes after it was set. With such a rush as that, though, the sport becomes a trifle trying to the eyes of the baby; but generally the first crack of the rifle will scare the big reptiles back into the water, all except the one you have sent your bullet into, and he, if your aim has been good, will flop over and thrash about for a few seconds and then give up the ghost. But in a short time back will come the others again, and if you have the time you can eventually stretch them all on the bank. A considerate sportsman, though, will not work his baby more than fifteen minutes at a time. Then he will have his native servant soothe it an refresh it from a nursing bottle, which is part of a crocodile hunter's equipment. I killed six crocodiles over that favorite baby lure of mine in less than a quarter of an hour.

"I was in Florida a year or so ago and tried to hire a baby to experiment with for alligators, after the method in India, but folks who owned babies down there didn't seem to enter into the spirit of the sport, and I couldn't get one. I compromised on a rather lively and complaining dog. He was a success, and I had quite a lot of fun, although the sport was a good deal tamer than it would have been if I had only had a baby for bait."

A Handy Style of Barrow.

A deep wheelbarrow is more useful than one built on the old plan, because it will hold more, and the work of building such a barrow is not much greater. Any one who owns a wheel and irons belonging to an old wheelbarrow can easily construct one by first procuring two stout pieces for the shafts and mortising them together firmly just behind the wheel. The next mortise must come two inches from the ground on the legs at A. From this mortise the floor of the barrow must reach forward to B, where it is supported by two false legs mortised into the shafts and reaching within two inches of the ground. The sides may be solid from the floor up, or if preferred, they may extend only to the top of the shafts, and from this point movable sideboards may extend upward. The only disadvantage in having the body solid is being forced to remove most of the load from between the handles. This wheelbarrow is especially useful in carting leaves, etc., and in handling heavy stones, which are loaded upon it with ease, because so near the ground. If one desires he may arrange a movable bottom, which will permit the load to be deposited without tipping by merely raising the handles.

Definition of a "Pessimist."

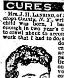
"My man," said the woman who was leaning across the fence, "is one of these here pessimists."

"And what's that?" asked the other woman.

"Why, one of these here fellows that is always sure bad luck is a-coming to him and is mighty surprised when it comes."—Exchange.

CURES OTHERS

Mrs. J. H. LANSING, of South Glen's Falls, Saratoga County, N. Y., writes: "After my third child was born, I barely gained strength enough in two year's time, so as to be able to crawl about to accomplish the little house work that I had to do, and that only by lying down to rest many times each day; had sick headache very often, many pains and aches all the time. After I had taken one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription,' I could see a great change in my strength and less sick headaches. Continued taking the medicine until I had taken seven bottles of the 'Favorite' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am now able to do housework for myself and husband and two children aged nine and five. I also take dressmaking, and enjoy walking a mile at a time, when I can have the time to do so. And I am sure it is all due to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as I know I was failing fast before I commenced to take it." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere.



MRS. LANSING.

WHY NOT YOU?

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Too Many Precautions.

"Women take too many precautions," said a policeman. "I was standing on my beat at Broadway and Second street one afternoon and noticed a well dressed man about a hundred yards farther up. He seemed to be waiting for some one, so I did not disturb him. Shortly afterward I saw a man and his wife come out of one of the fashionable houses and start toward me. They had only come a short distance when I saw them stop and the woman turn back. She went to the door and tried the knob to see if the door was securely locked. The well dressed stranger was a sneak thief, I am sure. He watched the whole proceeding, which told him as plainly as words could that the house was entirely deserted. I started out on my rounds again and didn't get to the corner during the rest of my watch. When I reported for duty at the central station at 11 o'clock that night the lieutenant read a notice of a housebreaking. I recognized the number as being that of the number I am talking about. The fashionable fellow did the work, I would bet my life, as soon as the owner of the house and

He who would be a great soul in the future must be a great soul now.—Emerson.

Karl's Clover Root Tea. The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation, 25 cts., 50 cts., $1.

To the eyes of a male short ears are a deformity.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve." Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

It never hurts truth any to be slapped in the face.

Hall's Catarrh Cure Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

What an ocean of trouble can come out of a gallon jug.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

The right kind of goodness is always good for something.

When Traveling.

Whether on pleasure bent or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c. and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

When people get to quarreling about creeds, the devil stops being anxious about their deeds.

OH, MY HEAD

Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

The world is full of beggars who do not beg for money.

By Violence

Little is accomplished in this civilized era, but with the gentle laxative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the bowels are relieved without abruptness or subsequent weakening. Dyspepsia, malaria, rheumatism, weakness and kidney trouble yield to this reliable curative, foremost also among invigorants and recommended by physicians. Give this medicine a fair trial and be convinced.

The man who gives his child to the street will give the world a thief.

Winter Wheat, 100 Bushels Per Acre

Wonderful reports come in on Salzer's new winter wheat and monster winter rye. Over 2,000 farmers planted these grains last fall, and now report yields of 50 to 70 bushels wheat, and over 60 bushels rye per acre. The way it looks 100 bushels will be reached. Send to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., 4c postage stamps, for samples of this wheat and rye and fall catalogue.

The heathen were not all born in a heathen country.

HOTEL FURNITURE and LEASE FOR SALE.

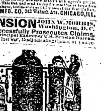
ST. PAUL.

A great bargain is offered to any responsible hotel man to take AN OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address, Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.

$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits. FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair. OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.



Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators. Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

WANTED!—THE BANKERS LIFE ASSOCIATION, St. Paul, Minn. has paid over One Million Dollars insurance to families of deceased members, hundreds of whom reside in Minnesota, and is providing guaranteed protection to thousands more, hence we are [illegible] a representative in your community. If you have a little spare time and secure the agency, you will find profitable employment, for this is the best known and strongest Home Company in Minnesota, and guarantees protection to the home at lowest cost. The Trustees, Chas. H. Bigelow, Maurice Auerbach, Wm. R. Merriam and John B Sanborn, are known at your local bank. You can demonstrate to your friends that they cannot in any other way invest with absolute security the small amounts required under our plan to so great advantage to their families. DOUGLAS PUTNAM, Secretary, St. Paul, Minn.

THE St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1894. NUMBER 51.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

Mints are ordered to at once begin the coinage of silver dollars.

The cost of the eleventh census is over ten million dollars.

Eugene Parrell of Michigan has been appointed an inspector under the post-office department.

The state of Mississippi issues currency and gets into trouble with the United States government.

The Indian appropriations bill, as agreed to by senate and house conferees, includes $18,750 for St. Joseph Indian industrial school in Wisconsin.

After a hard fight Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota gets his $1,000,000 Russian thistle appropriation through the senate.

The cruiser Minneapolis, on her official trial trip, proves the fastest warship ever built, and Cramp and Son will receive $400,000 premium.

A resolution directing investigation of the charges made by exhibitors against the world's fair committee on awards was referred in the senate.

Judge Cooley in a letter to the president commends his use of the federal troops to execute the decrees of courts and to protect interstate commerce.

Commonwealers encamped in the vicinity of Washington are in dire straits for food, and desertions are daily taking place.

Personal Mention.

P. Walker, a prominent merchant at Earlen, Iowa, is dead.

Thomas Mitchell, who settled on the tract of land on which Mitchellville, Iowa, now stands, in 1844, is dead.

Michael Fleich and his wife of Brooklyn are said to make from $75,000 to $100,000 a year selling herbs.

D. M. Ring, a veteran pensioner of the Black Hawk war, died near Dubuque at the age of eighty-four.

Charles M. R. Leconte de Lisle, the poet and member of the French academy, is dead.

J. R. Hendrix died at his home in Omaha at the age of sixty-two. He served in the Confederate army.

Mrs. Rachel Kring, the last of the eleven original founders of the Methodist church in Fairbury, Ill., is dead, aged ninety years.

Gen. Schofield has gone to Bar Harbor, Me., for the summer, believing peace and order to have been permanently restored.

George Alfred Townsend is mentioned as the possible Republican candidate for congress in the Sixth Maryland district.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts possesses the finest and most carefully preserved copy of the first folio of Shakespeare in 1623.

Admiral Skerrett, in command of the Asiatic squadron of the United States navy, has asked to be placed on the retired list.

Richard W. Woodward of Marshallton, Pa., claims to be heir to property in the heart of New York city worth $400,000,000.

Prince Henry of Bourbon, duke of Seville, is dead. His death occurred during a voyage from the Phillipine islands to Barcelona.

As a special inducement to godliness, Lord William Cecil, rector of Hatfield, England, provides a room in his church where worshipers may store their bicycles during services.

Prof. Hermann Helmholtz, the distinguished German scientist, who was taken suddenly ill in Berlin on Thursday, is suffering from paralysis of the left side.

George Westinghouse, inventor of the Westinghouse air brake and the various electric patents that bear his name, is said to be at work on a new underground electric system that will fairly revolutionize present electric systems.

Unfortunate Events.

Two passenger coaches were consumed by fire at Lebanon, Ind.

Henry Koutz was killed by lightning at Boonville, Ind.

Charles Harris of Chicago was fatally injured at Valparaiso, Ind., by a fall of fifteen feet from a window.

The farm residence of James McCoy near Vincennes, Ind., burned. The loss is $30,000.

The whaling bark Abram Barker was wrecked at Baring sea. The crew was rescued.

Fraer, Iowa, has experienced the third big fire in three months. The losses foot up $50,000.

Thomas Dunn, aged 20, was drowned while bathing in the Pecatonica river at South Wayne, Ill.

The steamer Stanford was wrecked in a fog on Long Island sound after being twice in collision.

The steamship George Sealy is ashore at Old Providence. No lives lost.

Fifty-six persons were poisoned by eating ice cream at a church festival at West Union, Ill. One is dead and three others seriously ill.

A caisson explodes in Chicago, killing three United States soldiers and wounding a large number of troopps and citizens. The cause is unknown.

The homes of James Butler and John Carter, at Steelton, Pa., were wrecked by dynamite. They had taken the places of men on strike.

Forest fires in New Jersey obliterated the village of Greenbush. The residents, aware of their danger, had driven their stock to a place of safety.

Two children of Charles Carlston, one 6 years old and deaf and dumb and the other 4 years old were killed by a passenger train at Bordentown, N. J.

A bolt of lightning struck the steamship Mexico, at Algiers, La., and injured twelve persons besides killing Peter Thompson. All the persons injured, save a little girl were employed in repairing the vessel.

M. S. Walker, a young attorney of Burlington, Iowa, and his father, S. M. and uncle T. H. Walker, the two latter living in the country, were in swimming in the river nine miles above town to-day when one was taken with cramps and the other two in attempting to save him lost their lives.

Lizzie and Edward Spillman, children of E. Spillman, director of the Parliament buildings at Victoria, B. C., were drowned while bathing at Jericho.

While four boys were fishing in Argo lake, Col., James Burrell was killed by a flash of lightning. Robert Henry was paralyzed, and the other two stunned. At Colorado Springs a boy was struck and picked up blind and unconscious.

Criminal Doings.

John Tobias of Clinton, Iowa, cut his throat while despondent.

B. F. Gentsch, ex-postmaster of Buffalo, N. Y., committed suicide by shooting. Business troubles caused the act.

A. E. Ferte, secretary of the sinking fund trustees of Winnipeg, is charged with embezzling upward of $7,000.

The end of the Deerson-Shelby tragedy at Momence, Ill., came when Deerson committed suicide.

John Cotant, bookkeeper of the bank at Wilcox, Neb., confessed that he robbed the bank of $1,000 in currency.

Belford Sanders and George Connor shot at each other at Glasgow, Ky. Connor will die.

William Bartle, who had parted from his wife, ended a family quarrel at New Castle, Pa., by shooting his wife dead.

R. H. Glen, John Williams and John Holton were arrested at Whiting, Ind., for contempt of court in declaring the strike not off.

Giovanna Perna shot into a crowd of merry-makers in a Philadelphia garden, wounding twelve. A lynching was averted only by a constable's bravery.

The Lochart coal mines near Corona, Ala., were partly wrecked by dynamite. One man was killed. Strikers are charged with the crime.

Unknown persons loosened the brake chains on a Big Four freight at Indianapolis and it dashed down an incline into a brewing company's stables.

Mrs. Lizzie Halliday, condemned to death for the murder of Mrs. McQuillan at Monticello, N. Y., has been declared insane.

As the result of a quarrel T. J. Gillespie shot Bernard McNutt, near Columbia, Mo. He then knelt in the road and offered a prayer for his victim's soul.

In the Macard trial for murder at Grand Rapids, Mich., John Stevens, a Chicago stevedore, testified that Macard had tried to induce him to take part in a Michigan robbery.

Deputy Sheriff T. A. Bendy, in trying to make an arrest, was so viciously attacked by two Mexicans at El Paso, Tex., that he was compelled to shoot and kill both. Bendy is a young man.

Walter Guy Furnald, the young confidence operator, was sentenced at San Francisco to four years' imprisonment for robbing Pawnbroker Jacobson of $11,000 worth of jewels.

Foreign Gossip.

A republic is proclaimed in Hawaii and Dole is the first president.

British in Nicaragua have a battle with natives.

A dispatch received at Shanghai from Seoul reports that Japanese soldiers have assaulted the British consul at that place and his wife, and that thirty British blue jackets have been landed to guard the British legation.

At Alexandria Bay, on the St. Lawrence, a large indignation meeting was held to protest against the new Canadian law compelling American anglers to pay a $5 license fee for each rod used. The practical outcome of the gathering is a decision to boycott Canadian guides.

It is claimed the government officials at Constantinople are concealing the real number of victims of the recent earthquakes in order to create no unnecessary alarm among the populace. In Stamboul alone the death roll amounts to over 200. The populace is in a state of panic owing to the predictions that another earthquake may be expected to-morrow. Shops, houses and building of all kinds are practically deserted. The damage done to property is computed at $25,000,000.

Otherwise.

Yale is defeated by Oxford in the athletic contests.

Receivers are appointed for the Kansas Pacific railway.

Many foreigners among the Chicago strikers will return to Europe.

Rydakowski commonwealers were taken from prison at Toledo, Ohio, put on a train and dumped outside the city.

The New York constitutional convention decided by a vote of 91 to 40 to let the present jury system stand.

Opponents of Col. Breckinridge are endeavoring to induce Settle to withdraw to leave a clear field for Owens.

At Toledo, Ohio, Judge Pugsley decided $244,700 Wabash equipment bonds purchased by Adelbert college must be redeemed.

The call has been issued for the quarter centennial convention of North American beekeepers, to be held at St. Joseph, Mo., October, 16,17 and 18.

The Memphis & Raleigh Springs railroad was sold yesterday to the Citizens' Street Railway company, of which A. M. Billings of Chicago is chief owner.

Gov. Stone has asked Senator George to investigate the claim of Chief Hazen that the special warrants being issued by Mississippi violate the law against counterfeiting.

A Prosperous Montana Town.

Kalispell, Mont., July 23, 1894.—The crop outlook is exceedingly promising in the Flathead valley, and affairs are picking up in town. A steel bridge is being built across the Flathead river, the Methodists are building a church, a large grain elevator is being put up, a fine school house, a couple of brick blocks, and a dozen or more good residences are under course of construction. A sewer system is contemplated, and a branch railroad into the coal fields is talked of.

BOYCOTT THE CARS.

A. R. U. MEN ISSUE AN ADDRESS TO THE PUBLIC.

They Call Upon the American People to Show Their Sympathy With the Strikers by Refusing to Ride in Pullman Cars.

Chicago, July 23.—Messrs. Debs, Howard, Keliher and Rogers, the American Railway union officials, to-day issued an address to the public, the substance of which is as follows.

"Headquarters American Railway Union, Cook County Jail, Chicago, July 22.—To the Great American Public: It is almost universally conceded that the Pullman company through oft repeated reductions of wages, excessive rents and many other causes, has grievously wronged its employes, and whatever may be said about the great railway strike which resulted in consequence of such grievances, the arbitrary refusal of the Pullman company to submit to arbitration in any form (even to decide the question if there was anything to arbitrate) is proof positive that said company had no faith in the justice of its cause, and fears the disclosures that are certain to result from an honest investigation, and in view of heavy losses entailed upon the country, such obstinacy on the part of the Pullman company is deserving of the severest condemnation. We propose that the Pullman company shall be brought to justice, and this in a way that will not necessitate a strike with its attendant ills. We have faith in the American people; they uphold justice; they love fair play. And now in the name of justice and fair play we appeal to the great American public, to every good man and every good woman not to ride in a Pullman car until the Pullman company does justice to its employes. Let the cars run absolutely empty. No friend of labor; no friend of humanity will occupy a seat or a berth in a Pullman car. Let this policy be inaugurated and we will see how long the railway companies will be bound by their contracts as they have induced the public to believe to haul Pullman cars.

"We propose to continue this fight against the Pullman company through good and evil report till justice shall be done. There will be no surrender. We will use every available and lawful means to push the contest. It is requested that all papers throughout the land, favorable to labor, to justice, to humanity, copy this statement in full and keep it standing as long as possible."

Another installment of the seventy-three men indicted by the federal grand jury for participation in the railroad strikes gave bail to-day. In the course of the day five of the directors of the American Railway union were brought in. They were William E. Burns, J. J. Doyle, Martin Elliott, Roy M. Goodwin and James Hogan. Doyle was arrested at his home and the others were found at the headquarters of the union. When Burns was informed that he and the whole board of directors were indicted he called his brother directors and informed them that they were wanted. They all at once proceeded to the court room, where Burns was bailed out by Mike McDonald, the well known politician. The others were bailed out shortly after.

Sacramento, July 23.—The mediation committee of the A. R. U. held a meeting and unanimously voted to declare the strike off unconditionally. They sent a short notice to that effect to Supt. Fillmore. The military will probably remain two or three days yet to look after the few hotheads who have been intimidating workmen.

Debbs in Jail.

Chicago, July 18. — Eugene V. Debs, George W. Howard, L. W. Rogers and Sylvester Keliher, the officers of the A. R. U., were committed to jail to-day by Judge Seaman in the United States circuit court for alleged violation of the injunction issued by Judge Woods and Grosscup.

The four leaders of the strike in reality went to jail in default of bail, for the court offered them their liberty until next Monday, when they will have a hearing on the charge of contempt. Their bail was fixed at $3,000 each, but the men refused to give it and the court committed them. Debs and his companions were taken to the jail by Marshal Arnold, and before they left the court room Judge Seaman instructed the marshal to take them out of the jail at any reasonable time or times in order that they may have abundant opportunity to consult their attorneys between this and next Monday. This morning District Attorney Milchrist filed an information charging the officers of the union with violating the injunction and asked for a writ of attachment for contempt. It was not necessary to issue a writ for Debs, for he was in court when the information was filed. When the injunction was issued by Judges Grosscup and Woods the usual chancery summons was issued and those named in the injunction are directed to appear in court to answer. That was what brought Debs into court with the attorneys who have been retained to defend him and his brother officers. The information was read to the court by District Attorney Milchrist.

When Mr. Milchrist had finished reading the information Attorney George R. Peck, representing the receivers of the Santa Fe system, took the floor and read a petition for writs of attachment against the defendants on behalf of that railroad. The petition asked that the defendants be punished for contempt for violating the order appointing the receivers as well as for violating the general injunction as it applies to the Santa Fe. A number of acts of violence were alleged and interference with trains. Attorney Erwin, for the defendants, asked that they be released on their personal recognizance. Judge Seaman finally decided to set the case for next Monday and fixed the bail of the defendants at $3,000 each. The four men made no attempt to furnish bail and were committed to jail until Monday. The attorneys for the defendants said their clients could not secure bondsmen, but Debs did not corroborate that. When asked if he would give bail he said he would not give bail to the amount of 5 cents. A telegram was produced in court sent by Debs on July 2 to North Butte, Mont. It read as follows: "General managers weakening. If the strike is not settled in forty-eight hours complete paralysis will follow. Potatoes and ice are out of sight. Save your money and buy a gun."

Couldn,t Give Bail.

Chicago, July 21.—Only two of the men indicted by the federal grand jury gave bail in the United States court to-day. Most of the day was consumed in making out bench warrants against the indicted. The men who gave bail were J. G. Hanahan, vice grand master of the Brotherhood firemen, and Augustus Hodges, one of the Brighton Park strikers. Bench warrants for all the men indicted were handed to the marshal to be served. They numbered seventy-three. Hanahan is charged with intimidating and endeavoring to induce a fireman to leave his cab.

Debs, Howard, Keliher and Rogers figure in five of the indictments. In one of them they are charged with conspiring with Hanahan. In another, they are charged with conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce, and in the other they are joined as conspirators with others who committed lawless acts. Debs and the other officers are already under $10,000 bail each under the original indictment returned against them. Their bail under the five new indictments has been fixed at $3,000 on each charge, making in all $25,000 bail which each will be required to give.

A crowd of strikers overturned two loaded stock cars in the stock yards to-day, and a striker threw a switch in front of a Northwestern freight train, derailing the engine. The strikers continued their threats against workmen, and several small outbreaks occurred, but all were quickly suppressed by the police.

The First regiment, I. N. G., was called to arms at the Pullman works by the rumor that a riot was in progress. Investigation showed that the report was caused by a crowd of women and children who had hurled rocks, mud and insulting epithets at the Pullman laundry girls, who went to work to-day. One of the non-union girls attempted to escape, and was chased several blocks by the crowd. She finally escaped and the troops soon restored quiet. The Pullman laundry was started with a force of forty girls, most [illegible] dred men are at work in the shops cleaning up, oiling machinery and making a careful inspection. In addition to these 250 applications have been received from old workmen.

The members of the general executive board of the K. of L. are in Chicago and this morning began a several days' session. Routine business is said to be the cause of the meeting, though the strike will be taken up and measures will be adopted to push forward an impeachment of Attorney General Olney.

A mass meeting of 1,500 men was held last night and Eugene V. Debs was nominated for president of the United States amid great enthusiasm. The speakers were local labor men, and their remarks were all of one tenor. They eulogized Debs and denounced President Cleveland. The meeting declared itself as bitterly opposed to the Democratic and Republican parties, and predicted a sweeping success of the Populists in the next election.

Trouble at Pullman.

Chicago, July 21. — More trouble occurred at Pullman when the laundry girls quit work. When the girls left the works they were surrounded by a demonstrative mob of from 800 to 2,000 women and children. A portion of the crowd followed Minnie Kaufman through the streets of Pullman to her home. Near Market hall they stopped her progress and began calling her names, and one woman, it is said, struck the girl in the face. Several policemen stepped in at this juncture and gave Miss Kaufman protection as far as her home. No arrests were made. In the meantime an escort of ten policemen, led by Sergeant Riley, was having an interesting time protecting seventeen of the laundry girls who live in Roseland. A mob of nearly 500 women and children and a few men followed them from the works down Florence avenue and on One Hundred and Eleventh street, across the Illinois Central tracks. The police were not accustomed to dealing with a crowd of the feminine gender and did little more than to keep the most turbulent women from seizing hold of the frightened girls. The entire march was enlivened with cries of scab and other epithets. At Roseland, where the girls separated, each was followed home by a small group of women whose object seemed to be to see where each girl lived.

Shortly after fifty Hollanders, who have been employed about the works as lumber shovers, track graders and repairers, left the southwestern gate of the works for their homes in Roseland. They had a guard of sixteen policemen, commanded by Lieut. Bassett. Scarcely had they come from the works when 100 strikers, gesticulating wildly, making threats, shouting "scab" and other names surrounded them. They took the same course toward Roseland as had the laundry girls. Before Roseland was reached the crowd following them had increased largely and it had become necessary for the police to charge it several times with a liberal use of the club before it was dispersed. Each of the men was followed to his home by several strikers, but was not molested.

Troops Leave Chicago

Chicago, July 19.—At 8 o'clock last night Gen. Miles appended his signature to the general order removing the federal troops from Chicago. The infantry will take a train for their respective posts, while the cavalry and artillery will march to Fort Sheridan and remain there until such time as Gen. Miles thinks it best that they be sent to their posts. The order for breaking camp came from the war department last evening after Gen. Miles had informed the department that he thought the situation had so far improved that it was perfectly safe to withdraw them from the city. Camp will be broken some time to-day.

Men Return to Work at Pullman.

Chicago, July 19.—The first break in the ranks of the Pullman strikers has occurred, 150 Hollanders having been put back to work on the tracks back of the Pullman foundry. The men quit work when the strike was declared and staid out until now. No effort was made by the other strikers to prevent the men from going to work.

An attempt was made to induce Debs and the other A. R. U. men to secure bail, but they refused, preferring to remain in jail.

At the county jail to-day Vice President Howard, of the A. R. U., made the following remarkable statement:

"This thing is going to be a test case. We don't consider ourselves bigger than the law, and incidentally we think the railroads are not. We are getting some evidence for the coming legal battle, and we consider it a pretty fair grade. Here is a letter we received telling of evidence that most of the freight car burning done in Chicago was done by two men in the employ of the general managers' association. One of the secret agents of a certain committee saw two men on the night of the big fire going through the yards with a hand car loaded with inflammable waste, which they lighted and systematically threw among the cars. This agent overheard a conversation between the men from which he gleaned that they were paid $200 down and were to receive $300 more when the job was done. This, understand, was before the troops were called out. An effort is now being made to arrest these two men. We further have pretty positive evidence that the big man who led the mob of 5,000 at Blue Island was a Pinkerton man employed by the railroads, and it is significant that although he could be easily identified, yet he has not been arrested. It is safe to say that this case will not be entirely one-sided."

Work of the Federal Grand Jury.

Chicago, July 20.—The federal grand jury returned twenty-three indictments in Judge Seaman's court this afternoon and was discharged. In the twenty-three indictments were included the names of about seventy-five individuals who are charged with violating the federal statutes during the railroad troubles of the last three weeks.

District Attorney Milchrist refused to give the names of any of the indicted persons beyond admitting that there were several new indictments against Debs, Howard and Keliher and Rogers, the chief officers of the A. R. U. Included in some of the indictments, also, are other officers of the organization who have not been so prominent as the four now in jail. The others who go to make up the seventy-five are strikers against whom are charged specific acts of interference with trains or any property of the companies.

Debs and the other officers are in nearly all the twenty-three indictments. Whenever the grand jury concluded to indict a batch of rioters who committed specific acts, such as the derailing of trains, Debs and his companions were named with them as conspirators. In addition to that there is an indictment against Debs, Rogers, Keliher and Howard charging them with conspiracy to deprive a citizen of the United States of one of his constitutional rights—that is, the right to ship goods from one state to another.

Mr. Milchrist said the question as to whether Debs and the other officers will be compelled to give bail on each separate indictment has not been settled, but will be after the bench warrants are issued and served to-morrow. No indictments were returned against railroad officials because no information was given against them.

The federal troops moved out of the city to-day. At noon the Ninth regiment, from Madison barracks, Sacketts Harbor, N. Y., left on a special train over the Lake Shore road. All the other troops marched to Fort Sheridan and will reach there to-morrow. The troops going to Fort Sheridan include the Fifteenth regiment and the details from Forts Riley, Brady, Leavenworth and Niobrara.

At the Pullman works to-day Manager Middleton was busily engaged registering men willing to work. The announcement that the shop will open as soon as a sufficient force is secured has developed considerable weakness among the strikers, and it is claimed in two hours to-day the manager claimed to have registered 325 men. A force of about 1,000 will be necessary before the works will resume.

THE NEW STATE COMMITTEE.

Republicans Who Will Conduct the Fall Campaign.

St. Paul, July 23.—Hon. A. Barto of Sauk Center, who was chairman of the late Republican state convention, and was empowered by the body to appoint a state central committee, has completed his task and announced the committee, which is made up as follows:

Members at large, Tams Bixby, chairman, Red Wing; N. W. Kingsley, Austin; H. F. Brown, Minneapolis; Alvah Eastman, St. Cloud; John Goodnow, Minneapolis; Harris Richardson, St. Paul; Andrew Grindeland, Warren; First district, John Beyers, Hastings; Second district, Eli S. Warner, St. Paul; Third district, M. B. Webber, Winona; Fourth district, D. F. Morgan, Minneapolis; Fifth district, J. M. Diment, Owatonna; Sixth district, George B. McArthur, Blue Earth City; Seventh district, E. E. Corliss, Fergus Falls; Eighth district, J. H. Ackerman, Young America; Ninth district, W. W. Smith, Sleepy Eye; Tenth district, O. G. Wall, Lanesboro; Eleventh district, E. O. Swanstrom, Duluth; Twelfth district, A. E. Rice, Willmar; Thirteenth district, Alex Fiddes, Jackson; Fourteenth district, O. H. Myron, Ada; Fifteenth district, W. R. Baumbach, Wadena; Sixteenth district, O. O. Canestorp, Elbow Lake.

HE IS KNOWN.

Senators Are After the Man Who Has Been Making Charges.

Washington, July 23. — The senate sugar trust investigating committee is devoting itself in the branch of the inquiry which it is now pursuing to ferreting out the origin of the rumors affecting senators and members of the committee now think, with a fair prospect of success. They are of the opinion that the stories accusing senators of speculation in sugar stock and of having been influenced in their attitude toward that tariff bill by a friendly interest in the sugar trust have had a common origin, and they now think they have obtained a clue which will enable them to develop the source of all the statements. The testimony given by the witnesses before the committee Saturday point to a certain individual as the party responsible for the charges which have been set afloat. He is not a resident of Washington, and his present whereabouts have not been definitely ascertained, but it is understood that no effort will be spared to find him and bring him before the committee and thus give him an opportunity to make good the charges.

Minneapolis Man Suicides.

Pasadena, Cal., July 23.—Last evening Horace Mills was found dying in the streets, suffering from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid taken with suicidal intent. All efforts to relieve him were unavailing and he died this afternoon, suffering great agony. Mills is understood to be well to do. He came West four months ago from Minneapolis on accunt of his health. His wife has been expected for some time.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, July 19.—The Indian appropriation bill was taken up in the senate to-day. A petition from citizens of various counties in Pennsylvania protesting against the violation of the American principle of separation of church and state involved in the appropriations for sectarian schools in the Indian appropriation bill, was presented by Mr. Quay, who also moved that further consideration of the bill be postponed for two weeks so that the Order of Patriotic Sons of America might be heard upon it. The motion was lost. The paragraph appropriating $1,695,000 for educating the Indians provoked the criticism of Mr. Platt of Connecticut against the policy of giving aid to Indian contract, denominational schools and the establishment of government schools in their stead.

Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N. H.) protested against government aid to sectarian schools, especially when one church received so much more than the others. There was already gathering a storm in this country against appropriating money for sectarian purposes, and that storm would break before long on the people and the congress of the United States.

Mr. Call agreed that government schools should supercede sectarian schools whenever it was possible to do so. But if a government school were to be set down beside a sectarian school there was nothing to compel the children to attend it.

By unanimous consent bills were passed by the house to-day authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at Lexington, Mo.; also, a resolution calling on the secretary of war for a report on the government improvement at Sagatuck harbor, Mich.

Washington, July 20.—The house, without division adopted a motion to insist on the house disagreement to the senate amendments to the tariff bill and the bill was sent back to conference, the speaker appointing the same conferees. Previous to this action Chairman Wilson, of the ways and means committee, sent to the clerks' desk and had read a letter he had received from President Cleveland. The letter was in the president's vigorous style and was a stirring tribute to the Wilson bill and a direct blow at any surrender to the senate bill. The president insists that the Democratic party should not lose sight of the fact that it had promised the country tariff reform. He says that Democratic principles should not be surrendered. While the Wilson bill is not what every sincere tariff reformer would like, an abandonment of the principles upon which it rests means party perfidy and party dishonor. The letter says that the party is pledged to provide free raw materials, and says that placing the wool of the farmer on the free list and taxing the iron ore and coal of the capitalist is an outrageous discrimination and a violation of Democratic principles. He says that while no tenderness should be shown trusts and that while in present conditions this is a delicate subject, we are in no danger of running counter to Democratic principles by placing a tax on sugar. He concludes by depreciating the incorporation in the bill of the income tax feature, but says that in matters of this kind, which do not violate a fixed and recognized Democratic doctrine, we are willing to defer to the judgment of a majority of our Democratic brethren.

The Republicans jeered the sentence in the letter stating that the taxation of sugar is a delicate question. Chairman Wilson then spoke in favor of the house bill, and after a few remarks by Mr. Reed the motion sending the bill back to conference was adopted.

In the senate the report of the disagreement was received and went over without action.

The feeling is generally expressed by Democrats and Republicans alike in both houses that President Cleveland, by writing the letter to Chairman Wilson, has precluded any possibility of the passage of a tariff bill at this session of congress. They claim that the senate cannot now recede without humiliation and disgrace and that the house cannot recede owing to having the president with them. The indications are for a deadlock. President Hill said to-day: "I prefer to say nothing at this time as to the propriety or wisdom of the letter. It comes rather late, and may complicate the whole situation and defeat all tariff legislation whatever. If the president, instead of writing a letter, had exercised his influence to assist me in getting votes for free raw materials when I was making the fight therfor in the senate, the presnt unfortunate complication might not have arisen."

Washington, July 21.—Crowds such as had not thronged the senate in months packed the galleries to-day. The house and the president had yesterday thrown down the gauntlet to the senate on the tariff question and a pitched battle was expected. An ominous hush was upon the chamber when the president pro tem., Mr. Harris of Tennessee, rapped the senate to order. Senator Blackburn of Kentucky, in a pink negligee shirt, stood, watch in hand, while the chaplain delivered his invocation, looking like a judge at a Kentucky Derby.

The "conservative Democrats," Mr. Brice in an immaculate suit of white flannel, Mr. Gorman in a sedate suit of blue, and Mr. Smith in a long black frock coat, sat grouped together on the Democratic side. Mr. Hill, sitting far back, chatted merrily with Gen. Daniel Sickles, the one-legged veteran of Gettysburg. Senators Sherman, Aldrich, Allison, Hale and Chandler, the leaders of the Republican side, appeared amused at the storm which threatened across the political aisle. The preliminary routine business was transacted in a perfunctory way.

After a speech by Mr. Smith of New Jersey attacking the president for writing the tariff letter, Senator Hill arose. He said: "A theory as well as a condition now confronts us. The theory of the Democratic party is that in the enactment of tariff legislation free raw materials should always be an essential and conspicuous element. We are committed to this side of the question. We are honorably bound to redeem our professions and our promises. Until recently I had supposed that there was no dispute upon this question of principle, but that every Democrat was willing to concede that if there was one thing more than another to which the Democratic party was committed, it was to the doctrine of absolutely free raw materials."

He said that while the president's letter came too late and was ill advised, still he endorsed it.

"Upon the question of free raw material the president is right, and you know it. You cannot answer his arguments. You cannot doubt his sincerity and patriotism. You must yield in the end to his views. You cannot stand up against the sentiment of the great Democratic masses of the country, which will rally around the president in his contest with you on this particular branch of the subject. The time to yield is now, before there is further humiliation, embarrassment and discord."

Senator Vest, speaking of Hill's indorsement of Cleveland, said he was glad to know that the lion and the lamb had at last lain down together. He would not say, however, which was the lion and which the lamb. In scathing terms he arraigned the president, saying he had been his friend and defended him on the floor of the senate when his friends could have been counted on the fingers of one hand. He asked where the president got the right to dictate to congress, and said that he believed that this bill would be passed or no bill.

Senator Vilas moved that the senate recede from the 1-8 cent sugar differential.

A very hot personal controversy occurred between Senators Hill and Gray, and it looked at one time as though there might be a personal collision. An adjournment was taken until Monday without action.

The feeling is even more pronounced that the senate and house will be deadlocked on the tariff and that no bill will be passed.

Washington, July 23.—The senate resumed consideration of the tariff to-day. No action, however, is expected until late this evening if at all to-day.

There has been a persistent rumor about the capitol that the conservative Democratic senators have been in conference and that they adopted a plan under which steps were to be taken to defeat the tariff bill by 5 o'clock to-day. The senate did not definitely instruct the tariff conference to stand by the senate bill. It is stated that there is a plan on foot for the repeal of the present sugar bounty by an independent measure in case the differential duty on refined sugar should be stricken out of the tariff bill and the tariff bill then defeated in consequence of this section. The Republican advisory committee of the senate held a meeting for the purpose of an exchange of views. The opinion was generally expressed that the Democratic situation was very delicate, and it is understood that it would be improved from a Republican standpoint by the interference of Republican senators; hence they will advise members of their party to allow the Democratic senators to continue to do the greater part of the talking in the senate on the subject of the tariff so long as they will do so. It is also understood that the committee discussed the policy on the part of the Republicans with reference to the differential duty on sugar and concluded to advise that the Republican senators should vote to strike it out if they should have the opportunity to do so.

Mr. Vilas has been appealed to by a large number of Democratic senators to relieve the senate of the embarrassment which the offering of the motion has caused by not insisting on the amendment. This he has declined to do. He said that he had no intention of withdrawing it.

"I shall let the motion be decided upon its merits," he said, "or call the chair to rule upon it, but I shall not withdraw it. I did not offer the motion with a view of throwing a bomb, and if it had that effect, it was not the result of my purpose. I thought I saw an opportunity to compromise the differences existing between the senate and house and made the motion with that end in view. It has seemed to me that this differential duty is the vital spot of the differences between the two houses of congress, and I believe that if it could be gotten rid of the two bodies could easily compromise their differences and an agreement be reached upon the bill."

But little business was transacted by the house. The resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of senators by the direct vote of the people was passed by a two-thirds majority with 13 votes to spare. The senate amendments to the Indian appropriation bills were disagreed to and conferees were appointed. The house bill for the reinstatement of clerks dismissed from the railway mail service between March 15 and May 1, 1889, was under consideration all the afternoon, but failed to pass on account of the lack of a quorum.

Gain to New York Banks.

New York, July 23.—The city banks gained by the interior movement last week $1,485,000 in gold and legal tenders, and lost by subtreasury operations and gold exports, $700,000, making a net gain of $785,000.

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, July 23.—Mrs. Schatshuber, wife of a Claybourn avenue saloonkeeper, was shot and fatally injured by William Hahn, an old suitor, who then shot and instantly killed himself.

Injured in a Runaway.

Tracy, Minn., July 23.—Tom McArthur, cashier of the First State bank, was badly injured in a runaway to-day. Several severe cuts were inflicted about the head.

His Last Swim.

Detroit, Minn., July 23.—William Boak, son of a farmer living on the shore of Long lake near Detroit, went in swimming to-day and was drowned.

Dropping Gold Reserve.

Washington, July 23.—Cash balance in the treasury at the close of business Saturday was $124,622,251 and the gold reserve $62,561,537.

Murdered His Wife.

Urbana, Ohio, July 23.—Samuel Rose, a feeble minded man, married a few months ago, to-day murdered his wife with a revolver, on a causeless, insane impulse, then surrendered to the officers. The deed was committed on the highway, three miles west of here.

Colonial Mansion Burned.

Groton, Conn., July 23.—The James D. Avery mansion, which was associated most intimately with the colonial period of American history, burned to-day. It was built more than 250 years ago.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
— ON ALL —
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

Leave Crookston Daily — Arriv Crookston Daily

For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and Southwest and Pacific Coast 7.12 p. m. 7.35 a m

For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North 8.0 a. m. 7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Man., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St, Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

A light rain today will help the growing crops.

George Ossman is in town today buying hides and wool.

Dr. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on professional business the first of the week.

Attorney R. A. Wilkinson, of the Great Northern, was doing business here last Monday.

Chas. March, of the Red River Valley Lumber Co. of Crookston, is doing business in town today,

Frank Gravel of Crookston, was doing business in town on Monday.

E. M. Hoff returned from Crookston where he had been attending the fair.

The Fair at Crookston closed last Thursday after three days fairly good attendance.

Theo. Beaulieu of the Red Lake estimating corps, was in town on Monday

S. M Dainard left last Monday for Fosston by team.

Farm machinery firms are doing a fair business but not so large as former years,

County Surveyor Hamery, of Crookston, was doing business here the first of the week.

Peter Paradis made a business trip to Crookston today.

C. G. Rapp is at Crookston on business this week.

Frank Hanson and Wm. MaGhee were two of the jolly knights of the grip doing business in town today.

We learn that S. M. Dainard will be a candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Look over Fred Eikhoff's new advertisement in this issue, Fred has been getting in a lot of new goods which he proposes to sell right. Give him a call.

Harvest will commence in about two weeks. Indications are that we will have a good average crop of wheat except on the sand ridges. Oats and barley will be poor.

The Polk county republicans will hold their county convention on August 3rd. to nominate a county ticket and delegates to the legislative and congressional conventions,

Messrs, Rapp, Paradis, Freeman, E. H, Stranahan, Ives, Post, John Stranahan and E. M. Hoff attended the Argyle —Thief River Falls ball game at the latter place last Saturday.

Laboring men by the thousands are daily joining the peoples party in a body, Look out for some fun this fall. We predict that the big daily papers will sing another tune before November.

LOST.

A black and white English setter pup answering to the name of Doc. A suitable reward will be given to any one returning him to this office.

If your watch or clock is out of order leave it at J. L. Johnson's drug store with J, M, Stranahan, an experianced workman, and have it repaired. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

The price of wheat struck the lowest point in the history of the country last Saturday when no. 1 northern, September delivery, was sold at Minneapolis at 53¼ cents. This would make the price here less than forty cents a bushel. It seems almost incredible that wheat should decline in the face of the fact that crops will be very light all over the northwest.

Wheat is declining in price, laborers are begging for a job, but that great big gold dollar is larger than ever and commands a heavier interest rate, By all means farmers and laborers, vote for sound money and in a short time it will take four bushels of wheat or two days work to get one of those republican dollars.

About twenty-five voters attended the annual school meeting at the school house last Saturday night. S. M. Dainard was elected treasurer of the district for a term of three years and it was decided to have eight months of school the coming year, The sum of three hundred dollars was ordered raised for school purposes,

An exchange says, Don't make fun of a boy whose clothes don't fit. In five years his clothes may be tailor made while yours are second hand. Don't make fun of a poor girl, for in a short while she may be the happy wife of some rich man of brains and wealth while you may be glad to work for him and sleep in the attic.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

From railroad reports it is learned that the Pullman cars on through trains are almost deserted and not enough passengers patronize them to pay the hire of the porters. This is as it should be and is an excellent way for the traveling public to show what it thinks of Pullman and its sympathy for the strikers.—Crookston Times.

An associated press report gave just three lines to the charge of Judge Grosscup to the federal grand jury directing them to investigate the railway managers association on the charge of conspiracy to obstruct the mails—but, the same report gave two columns to the charge directing the indictment of Debs and Howard.—East Grand Forks Courier.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

The house committee on railways and canals has ordered favorably reported the bill of Congressman Boen appropriating $20,000 to enable the secretary of war to make a survey of the Minnesota river and the Red river of the North and its tributaries above Fergus Falls and Crookston, and to submit specifications and calculations of cost of canals dams and locks necessary to make the streams navigable from the northern boundary of Minnesota to the Mississippi river, through Lakes Traverse and Big Stone.—Crookston Times.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

The manner in which the great daily papers of the country—with a few exceptions—have reported the railroad strike and the attitude they have taken in their editorial columns, can only have one effect, and that is to still further antagonize labor against capital. They have suppressed and distorted news favorable to the employes and have done everthing in their power to turn public sentiment against the men, and defeat them. With one exception —the Chicago Journal—they all acknowledge that Pullman's employes had a grievance and a big one at that, but they vilify and abuse the railroad employes because they made an effort to help these Pullman strikers. A fair-minded person cannot help but admit that the spirit which prompted the American Railway Union to take up the cause of Pullman's employes was a noble one; but it must also be admitted that they made a mistake in the means they took to carry out their ends. Had the press of the country taken this stand it would have done a great deal to ameliorate the two great elements of society —labor and capital. Had the men been treated fairly by the press; their zealous efforts for down trodden labor commended, and their errors explained to them in a decent way; instead of being callled "anarchists" "dupes" "fools" and the like; the chasm between these two elements would not have been so wide as it is today. Anything that tends to harmonize labor and capital and bring them closer together, is conducive of good and that which tends to antagonize them and keep them apart, cannot but result in evil to the future of this country, It is a ruinous policy which the city press is pursuing, and the history of the future will prove it.—Polk County Journal.

THE BALL GAME.

At least one hundred and fifty people came down from Thief River Falls last Sunday to see the ball game between their nine and Red Lake Falls. Owing to some disagreement only two of the Red Lake Falls team showed up, and so as not to disappoint the crowd a team was made up from this place and Red Lake Falls. Fully three hundred people from the neighboring towns and the surrounding country enjoyed the game, which was rather a one sided affair the Thief River Falls nine winning by a score of 29 to 10. The following were the names of the players:- Thief River Falls— F. Zeh, K. Hanson, E. Zeh, James Meehan, A. Benzie, P. Morrissette, W. Woods, M. Sorum and Coxey Fuller. captain. St. Hilaire— H. Jackson, E. H. Stranahan, H, J. Freeman, J. M. Stranahan and K, O. Gigstad. Red Lake Falls—A. Patron D. Zaiser, Geo Wylie and Frank Jeffers, The boys did as well as could be expected considering that only three have played in a game this year and several have not played for several years. We are under obligations to the people of Thief River Falls for the large number who visited us and hope to return the visit in the near future.

There is considerable talk of another game in two or three weeks.

The democratic party, or rather what there is left of it in Polk county. the old war horses of democracy have named their ticket, The convention was not large but was very enthusiastic and the delegates showed their sand by placing a straight ticket in the field. We admire their grit and party loyalty but do not agree with their judgement, The delegates were a sociable good looking lot of fellows and in a couple of years from now will have tired of Grover and will all be good populists, Here is the ticket,

Auditor—Edward Garceau.
Treasurer—Otto Kankle.
Clerk—George Raphael,
Judge Probate—P. E. Lynne.
Sheriff—Frank Creamer,
Co, Atty—E. M. Stanton,
Reg. Deeds—M. W. Jenson.
School Supt.—Miss A, B. Kane,
Coroner—Alex Robinson,

No nominations for surveyor, court commissioners or county commissioners were made.—Crookston Tribune.

When you visit a printing office and wish to make yourself exceedingly popular, seat yourself at the editors desk and carefully examine everything it contains, go behind the cases and monkey with the compositors read and criticise every proof that may be hanging on the hooks, or on the cases, and be sure that you snatch a copy of everything that comes from the press, do not fail to take all the copy from the file and read and criticise it carefully. Never leave the office without taking type out of the cases and when you put it back be very careful that you do not get it back in the right boxes, Pursue this course diligently and the editor will forever carry you in his memory as the biggest dodgasted bore that ever wore hair.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshal Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse.

W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

Our Country and Our Neighbors,

This beautiful publication by John L. Sooddard, the famous American traveler and lecturer, is now issued in 16 parts, each part containing 16 magnificent half-tone engravings 8 by 11 inches in size, from photographs of notable structures, busy street scenes, and wonderful views of Nature's architecture in the Americas. The Great Northern Railway has secured an edition of this art work from the publishers and will furnish it to friends and patrons at the mere cost of handling. The parts will be delivered weekly at ten cents each, and the purchasers can have the privilege of buying a copy of Graham's celebrated steel plate view of Niagra Falls at one-tenth the regular retail price of that famous production. Agent H, J. Freeman has a framed copy of the Niagra picture hanging in the depot, and also a supply of part 1 of "Our Country" and he asks everybody to call at this office and see them. There is certainly nothing more instructive than to read a graphic description of some noted building, monument, street, city, cataract, or mountain, particularly when the scene is pictured as faithfully and grandly as sun and art can do it. This work is an art treasury and only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Every patriotic citizen is strengthened in his admiration and love of country by a perusal of this book.

MORRGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife. mortgagors. to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890. and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota. with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees at stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894

Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J, Moutague, attorney.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

FRED Eikhof

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. Daily

NO. 3 North and West — NO 4 South and East
7.45 p m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 10.30 am
8 20 p m " ....Minneapolis.......... 9 55 am
4 25 a m ....Barnesville........... 1 40 am
7 25 am Ar ......Crookston......De 10 30 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY
9.00 am De.........Crookston.........Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar......St. Hilaire......De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St, Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J, FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U, S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife. mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 15th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

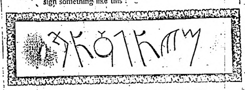
Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers, at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of [illegible]

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. [illegible], Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

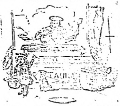
Advance. $1.00.

Not In Advance. $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Postoffice at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY JULY 25 1894

Almost a Square Meal.



"Hey, Johnnie, go home and bring de whole family to dis winder. Yer kin fatten on de smell."—Life.

Too Far.

Aunt Maria—Carrie, don't you think you are a little forward with Mr. Suitor?

Carrie—Why, aunt! What have I done?

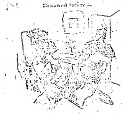
Aunt Maria—You took off your glasses in his presence, Carrie, last evening, and you have known him hardly a month.—Boston Transcript.

She Was Wise.

"It's pretty hard on me when, by not giving you any presents for a year, I have saved up enough to marry on."

"Yes, I know; but I never could be happy with such a man."—Life.

Renewed Interest.

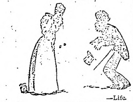


Mrs. Twickenham—You have a new coachman, haven't you?

Mrs. Plankington—Yes. How did you know?

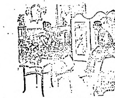
Mrs. Twickenham (who lives next door)—Our cook told us this morning she would stay another month.—Truth.

"Her Eyes Fell."



—Life.

Kind of Him.



Miss Summit—Mr. Castleton is an awfully good friend of yours, isn't he? He was telling me yesterday that you were just determined to join his club.

Tutter (eagerly)—Yes, I am. And what else did he say?

Miss Summit—Why, he said if you did you could take his place.—Truth.

Very Dear.

"My dear man, I'm engaged to Miss Dashe. She's a dear girl."

"She is so. She cost me about $500 the time I was engaged to her."—Life.

STAGE GLINTS.

The Theatrical Ladies' guild of London holds sewing bees.

The Duke of Coburg has decorated Mme. Albani with the order of Arts and Sciences.

Maggie Moore—Mrs. J. C. Williamson—is once more playing in "Struck Oil" at Melbourne.

George Darrell has gone back to Australia with the rights to play six American plays at the antipodes.

"A Political Woman" is the title of a new three act comedy by C. E. Mallett to be produced in London shortly.

Letters from Australia state that the theatrical season there has been fully as dull as it has been in America.

Joseph Jefferson says that America will never have a theater subsidized by the government, as changes would have to be made with each administration.

The young daughters of Willie Edouin and his wife (Alice Atherton) have gone on the stage in England under the names of May Bryer and Daisy Field.

Lord Francis Hope, whom it has been reported May Yohe has married, and who has just been declared a bankrupt, is a quiet little man of 35 or thereabouts.

The English Incorporated Society of Musicians asks parliament to empower it to grant powers to an authorized council to compile, maintain and issue an official list of qualified music teachers.

During the past season E. E. Rice has given employment to 228 actors, singers and dancers, and the salary sheets of his three companies—"1492," "Dixey" and "Venus"—amounted to $6,850 per week.

THE FASHION PLATE.

Black velvet skirts, with very dressy waists, are much sought after.

Accordion plaiting on thin goods is quite as much in favor as ever.

A lace hat has a puffed crown, a trimming of ostrich tips and a fall of lace around the edge of the brim.

Neck bows are still worn, although not in such exaggerated proportions as those brought out earlier in the season.

Extremely pretty costumes for girls are made with kilt plaited skirts. The plaits are about four inches wide and pressed flat.

Collarettes and fichus are made to wear with all dressy costumes. They have bias folds around the neck and a deep fall of lace.

An elegant costume has a skirt of heavy moire, one of the stand alone sort, a waist of chiffon, with moire collar, and a belt and bows of moire ribbon.

A circular shoulder cape of moire, with wide revers of embroidery and a large bow of ribbon with ends, is among the prettiest of the new designs in these garments.

Hats of fancy braid have shirred facings of some thin fabric, wreaths of flowers around the brim and enormous loops suggesting Mercury wings from each side of the crown.

The shirt waist is an indispensable portion of the lady's wardrobe. For morning it is made of cheviot, percale and various washable fabrics, while for afternoon there are silken materials in abundance that make dressy and appropriate waists for wear with skirts of all sorts.—New York Ledger.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

A tree often transplanted does not thrive.

No word, once spoken, returneth, even if uttered unwittingly.

He who grasps at many enjoyments is sure to be troubled by many disappointments.

If a friend lend you his staff today, do not expect him to carry you on his back tomorrow.

There is no beautifier of complexion or form or behavior like the wish to scatter joy and not pain around us.

There is in our manner magnetism that reaches out from us to others in a thousand ways. We must be watchful.

Men's lives are as thoroughly blended with each other as the air they breathe. Evil spreads as readily as disease.

The most knowing man in the course of the longest life will always have much to learn, and the wisest and best much to improve.

Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all they have now and all they expect to have.

Never hold any one by the button or the hand in order to be heard out, for if people are unwilling to hear you you had better hold your tongue than them.

RAILROAD TIES.

The Union Pacific railroad owns or controls 7,681 miles of line.

Over 4,000,000 people in this country live upon the wages paid by railroad companies.

The locomotive mileage in the United States far exceeds that of locomotives for all Europe.

Great Britain has 19,810 miles of railroad; France, 20,900; Germany, 24,270; Russia, 17,700; Austria, 15,610; Italy, 7,830; Spain, 5,930.

The first attempt to build a railroad to the summit of Pike's peak was made in 1884. The present road was completed in 1891. Its upper terminal is 14,000 feet above the level of the sea.

The Ohio Southern, Cleveland, Akron and Columbus and Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern railroads will be consolidated. An extension of the last named road will be built to connect with the Ohio Southern.

Financial.

She shrank from him.

"I'm awfully shy," she faltered.

He looked upon her bowed head in a trance of horror.

"Can it be possible," he demanded, "that you have already dissipated the fortune your grandmother left you?"

Seizing his hat and cane, he fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Unconscious Betrayal.

Elderly maid and her best young man tete-a-tete. Enter little brother.

Miss Sears—Well, Bobby, what do you want?

Bobby—Crack this nut for me. I'll do as much for you when I have false teeth.—New York World.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 18[illegible] and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 18[illegible], at [illegible] o'clock p. m. in book [illegible] of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 18[illegible] with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 18[illegible], and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter (SW ¼) and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 21 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Besson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 11129 dated March 12 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

HUMOR

EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY.

A Young Woman Who Met a Literary Man on His Own Ground.

There is a young woman over on the west side who has been in society but a portion of a season. The other evening she was at a function, and she was introduced to a young man who has had some success in literature. The bud stood more or less in awe of him after she learned who he was. The literary young man was much impressed with the beauty of the bud, and he asked permission to call. This was given him.

The next day the bud got to thinking over the function and remembered the request of the young man. She went to a girl friend and said to her: "I met Mr. L—— at the ball the other night, and he asked if he could call on me. I told him he could. Now, I'm awfully worried to think what I shall talk to him about. Of course he's a literary man, and he will not care to talk about society and all that, and really I don't know a single thing I can converse with him about that will interest him, and I do not want him to go away bored. What on earth shall I talk about?"

The friend sympathized with her and told her that she might talk about history or some such thing. Filled with this idea the bud went home and boned up on history.

A few nights later the literary man called. He was ushered into the parlor, and the bud came down in a few minutes.

"Good evening," he said.

She bade him good evening.

"Awfully hot, isn't it?"

She thought that it was.

There was some more conversation in this original strain, when he suddenly rushed out like this: "What a delightful party that was the other evening, wasn't it? I don't know when I have enjoyed myself more. Everything was perfect. There was no crush. Just enough were there to make it enjoyable. The music was delightful and the refreshments superb. Really I shall often think of that ball as one of the most charming I have ever had the pleasure of attending in Buffalo. I think that"—

During these remarks the bud had wriggled about nervously on her chair. She was on the point of interrupting half a dozen times and could refrain no longer. With a forced little laugh she broke in, "Oh, yes, but wasn't that sad about Mary, queen of Scots?"

The literary man gazed at the bud in blank amazement. Seeing that he did not answer her, the bud continued in a theatrical manner, "They cut off her head, you know."

The symposium broke up just here, and to this day the literary man thinks the bud crazy, while the bud hasn't an idea what to think about the literary man.—Buffalo Express.

Not the Fault of the System.

Banks strengthens his memory by the use of a system of mnemonics, to learn which he paid the inventor $25.

Rivers intrusted a package to Banks' care the other evening, and the latter apologized next morning for having failed to deliver it.

"The fact is, Rivers," he said, "I forgot all about it."

"But how about that $25 system of mnemonics?"

"That system," retorted Banks hotly, "is all right. I forgot to apply it, that's all."—Chicago Tribune.

A Treasure.

Mr. Hardsense—You have no accomplishments, Miss Bildings?

Miss Bildings—No.

Mr. Hardsense—And you've never been taught how to cook at a fashionable cooking school?

Miss Bildings—Never.

Mr. Hardsense (with energy)—Will you be my wife?—Chicago Record.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats,

Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

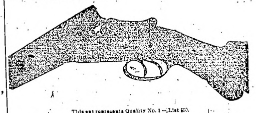
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY, CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF.

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries

Notions.

BROADWAY

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Clockless Countries.

Liberia, in Africa, has neither clock nor time-piece of any sort; the reckoning of time is made entirely by the movement and position of the sun, which rises at 6 a. m., and sets at 6 p. m., almost to the minute, the year round, and at noon it is vertically overhead. The islanders of the South Pacific have no clocks, but make a curious time-marker of their own. They take the kernel from the nuts of the candle tree and wash and string them on to the rib of a palm leaf. The first or top kernel is then lighted.

All of the kernels are of the same size and substance, and each will burn a certain number of minutes, and then set fire to the next one below. The natives tie pieces of bark cloth at regular intervals along the string, to mark the divisions of time.

Among the natives of Singar, in the Malay Archipelago, another peculiar device is used. Two bottles are placed neck and neck, and sand is put in one of them, which pours itself into the other one every half hour, when the bottles are reversed. There is a line near by, also, on which are hung twelve rods, marked with notches from one to twelve. A regularly appointed keeper attends to the bottles and rods, and sounds the hour upon a gong.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures Constipation. 25c, 50c, $1.

It takes a strong man to hold his own tongue.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

If a man is selfish, getting married will not cure him of it.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The only reason why a lie looks white in the face is because it wears a mask.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it

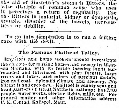
There is as little mercy in stabbing with a word as there is in doing it with a knife.

No-One Mourns the Loss
Of the treacherous, long abiding, deceptive symptoms of kidney complaint. But the return of regularity is hailed when, with the aid of Hostetter's stomach Bitters, the wise disciple of common sense who uses it perceives a return of regularity. Use the Bitters in malarial, kidney or dyspepsia, trouble, disorder of the bowels, nervousness or debility.

To go into temptation is to run a willing race with the devil.

The Famous Flathead Valley.
Investors and home seekers should investigate the chances for making homes and money in Western Montana, with its fertile farming lands surrounded and interlaced with pine forests, large rivers and lakes, and mines of precious metals, iron and coal. Splendid climate and scenery. No blizzards and cyclones. Kalispel is county seat and headquarters of Great Northern railway; has 2,500 people, water works, electric lights, mills, etc. For printed matter and other information address C. E. Conrad, Kalispel, Mont.

If a man is a fool to begin with, education will not help him much.



KNOWLEDGE
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.
Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

WANTED!—THE BANKERS LIFE ASSOCIATION, St. Paul, Minn., has paid over One Million Dollars insurance to families of deceased members, hundreds of whom reside in Minnesota, [illegible] we want a representative in your community. If you have a little spare time and secure the agency, you will find profitable employment; [illegible] Trustees, Chas. H. Bigelow, Maurice Auerbach, Wm. R. Merriam and John D. Sanborn, are known at your local bank. [illegible]
DOUGLAS PUTNAM, Secretary, St. Paul, Minn.

A WARM CORNER.

The Hair-Raising Experience of a British Soldier.

Mr. Forbes-Mitchell, author of "Reminiscenses of the Great Mutiny," found himself without an overcoat after one of the battles at Lucknow, and being unable to sleep for the cold, got up in the night, went into a room of the Shah Nujeef, where his regiment was encamped, took a lighted lamp from its shelf, and, shading it with his hand, walked to the door of the great domed tomb, or mosque, hoping to find a coat which some sepoy in his hurried departure had left behind him. He peered inside, and then, holding the lamp high over his head, walked in till he was near the center of the vault.

Here he felt his progress obstructed by a black heap four or five feet high, which felt to his feet as if he were walking in loose sand. He lowered the lamp, and saw instantly that he was up to his ankles in loose gunpowder! About forty hundred weight of it lay in a heap before his nose, while a glance to the left showed twenty or thirty barrels also full of powder, and another glance to the left revealed more than a hundred eight-inch shells, all loaded with fuses fixed, and spare fuses, slow-matches and port fires lying in profusion beside the shells.

"I took in my danger at a glance," he writes. "Here I was up to my knees in powder, in the very bowels of a magazine, with a naked light! My hair literally stood on end. I felt the skin of my head lifting my bonnet off my scalp. My knees knocked together, and despite the chilly night air, a cold perspiration burst out all over me and ran down my face and legs.

Up to His Knees in Gunpowder.

"I had neither cloth nor handkerchief in my pocket, and there was not a moment to be lost. Already the overhanging wick of the Indian lamp was threatening to shed its smouldering red tip into the magazine at my feet.

"Quick as thought I put my left hand under the down-dropping flame, and clasped it with a grasp of determination. Holding it firmly I turned slowly to the door, and walked out with my knees knocking one against the other.

"I felt not the slightest pain from grasping the burning wick till I was in the open air; but when I opened my hand I felt the smart acutely enough. I poured the oil out of the lamp into the burnt hand, and, kneeling down, thanked God for having saved myself and all the men lying around me from destruction.

"Then I got up and staggered rather than walked to the place where Capt. Dawson was sleeping, and, and shaking him awake, told him of my discovery and the fright I had got.

"'Bah, Corporal Mitchell!' was all his answer. 'You have woke up out of your sleep and have got frightened at a shadow,' for my heart was still thumping against my ribs and my voice was trembling."

The upshot of the matter was that, on seeing the corporal's burnt hand and the powder nearly half an inch thick sticking to his feet and damp gaiters, the captain was almost as badly scared as Mitchell himself. The sleeping men were aroused, the fire was put out as expeditiously as possible, and a sentry was posted at the door of the mosque to prevent any one from entering.

As may be supposed, Corporal Mitchell found it hard to get to sleep, and he gives a truly horrible picture of what passed around him. The frightful scenes through which the men had recently passed had produced a terrible effect upon their nervous systems.

"One man," says he, "would commence muttering something inaudible, and then break out into a fierce battle-cry of 'Cawnpore, you bloody murderer!' Another would shout, 'charge! Give them the bayonet!' And a third, 'Keep together, boys, don't fire! Forward, forward! If we are to die, let us die like men!' Then I would hear one muttering, 'Oh, mother, forgive me, and I'll never leave you again!' while his comrade would half-raise up, wave his hand, and call, 'There they are! Fire low, give them the bayonet! Remember Cawnpore!'"

Just Like Them.

Some tired teachers in one of our schools for whom the small boy had been making life a burden were discussing the situation. Said one:

"Well, we won't have them in the next world drumming their feet or doing something to disturb us all the time."

To which another teacher replied with a laugh.

"No, but they can flap their wings."
—Ex.

The Good Old Times of Slavery.

"De ole marster dat I had befo' de wah was a generman," said Uncle Mose to another relic of ante-bellum days.

"You bet dar was high-toned genermans in dose days," his friend replied.

"Now you's talkin'. I 'member how time an' agin my ole marster kicked me off de front steps, an' a minute afterward he had plumb forgot all about it. Der ain't no moah sich genermans nowadays."—Ex.

A Thorough Confession.

"Herbert," she said, "tell me one thing, and tell me truthfully: Were you ever intoxicated?"

"Well," replied the young man, "I was straight once."

"What do you mean?"

"I had a tooth pulled and took laughing gas."—Sunday Mercury.

Since its opening 304,875,250 people have crossed the Brooklyn bridge, an average of 30,000,000 a year.

Envelopes were first made in 1839 and sold for ten cents and twenty-five cents apiece.

BEN TEMPEST.

This is a true story of an old-time bear hunt in Vermont, told the writer by one who took part in the exciting sport, nearly sixty years ago.

In those days the country in the valleys of the Green Mountains was thinly settled, and the boys, as they trudged along to school, would often stop on the highway to listen to the stealthy rustling of wildcats in the adjacent bushes. They did not stop long, however, but took to their heels and ran like deer. But there was an animal much more to be dreaded than the wildcat. The mountains were full of great black bears that often came down to the farms to steal sheep and demolish the cornfields, for bears love sweet corn almost as well as they love honey. When the news ran like wildfire along the country side that a bear had been seen in the neighborhood, everybody, man or boy, who could carry a gun was up in arms at once. Schoolmasters dismissed their pupils for the day, merchants closed their stores, even the clergymen left their studies, all bent upon killing the huge enemy that was ravaging stock and crops.

A Bear! A Bear!

Ben Tempest lived right at he foot of the mountains in a weather beaten wooden farm house. His people were hard working and very poor. Ben wore a homespun suit and went barefooted nine months in the year. But he was a stout-hearted, courageous, manly chap, who did his best to help his father in clearing up the farm and to assist his patient, toiling mother in her work about the house.

Ben's father had a little flock of sheep of which the boy was very fond. He never wearied of tending and caring for them. The lambs all knew him, and when he went to feed them ran towards him uttering little cries of pleasure and taking the food from his hand. You who have pets of your own can fancy possibly how Ben felt when one morning going into the meadow with their breakfast he found that two of his prettiest lambs were gone. Looking about he saw a great print of an enormous paw which told printof an enormous paw which told its own frightful story. Poor Ben was quite white and ill as he hurried to the house, and, meeting his father, stammered out, "A bear, pa, a bear." He then could say no more for his grief.

In less time than it takes to tell you, Mr. Tempesthad saddled Bess, the brown mare. Ben had tumbled into the saddle and was away, riding as fast as the mare could trot, and calling out to every man he met and at every farm house door he passed, "A bear! A bear!"

No one needed a second summons. Farmers left their ploughs and took their rifles, and seeing who was the courier set out at once for Mr. Tempest's farm. By 10 o'clock the whole country was roused, and before noon reinforcements arrived from Brandon seminary, for the faculty closed the school to allow the young men to join the hunt.

This was the plan of warfare. The hunters formed an enormous circle, which completely surrounded the section of the country in which the beast was believed to be. The men stood only a few feet apart, so that if bruin should attempt to dash through the circle at any point he would surely be killed by a shot from right or left. The bear, once he discovered that pursuit was at hand, would naturally make for the mountains, so on the curve of the circle nearest the mountains the force of the hunters formed a closer wall than at any other place. At the signal, a trumpet call, the circle began to close in, growing smaller constantly, all marching towards a common center, in order to hem in the bear.

It was nearly 1 o'clock before the circle began its march. The living wall moved steadily over meadows, fields, brooks and thickets, every man alert, constantly on the watch to discover a big brown mass moving in the forest. Ben was close by his father. Though only twelve, he was hardy and strong, and had earnestly begged the privilege of going along with the men. He had a small rifle, and was a very fair shot for so young a boy.

The Lambs All Knew Him.

Ben's neighbor on the left was a tall, brawny youth of sixteen, who was inclined to brag somewhat over his skill in handling a rifle. "Jest let him poke his old brown nose out of a bush," remarked Jim Busby, "an' I'll teach him better manners than ter be a comin' down here off them mountings ter kill sheep."

"I'd like to be the one to shoot him," said Ben after one of these boastful statements.

"You!" cried Jim, looking Ben over rather contemptuously; "you—a baby!"

"I'm not a baby," retorted Ben, flushing to the roots of his hair.

"Wall," drawled Jim, "mebbe not in years, sonny, but when it comes to handlin' wild beasts of the forest you are a mere infant."

Ben felt these insults keenly, and longed for an opportunity to show that he was not a baby. Little he dreamed how near at hand was his chance.

The trumpet suddenly rang out a note of warning, and all eyes were turned excitedly towards a clump of underbrush not far away from Jim and Ben, in the midst of which some object was stirring.

"He's in there!" shouted a dozen voices. Rifles were levelled at the thicket, and fifty shots were fired. Bruin rushed forth from his retreat growling with rage and pain. Jim Busby was directly in his path, and with one blow of his huge paw he knocked him down and pounced upon him.

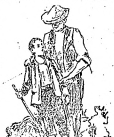
A wild clamor arose. Shouts and cries of direction filled the air, and the trumpeter blew frightfully upon his horn, as if that would mend matters. Still the bear stood over Jim growling and making ready to tear him to pieces.

Then it was that Ben Tempest, hunter, rose to the occasion. While strong men were shrieking and dancing wildly about, having completely lost their heads, the "baby" of the party, every nerve in his young body quivering with excitement, and his little face as pale as death, stole softly up to the huge, growling brown mass, and putting the muzzle of his rifle just behind the left shoulder, shut his eyes and fired.

The next thing Ben knew his father had his arms round him, and was patting him gently and saying, "There, there, sonny." For Ben, completely unnerved, was crying like a baby, while stretched at his feet lay the big bear dead.

What a hero Ben was, to be sure! and Jim Busby, quite as unnerved, and trembling as the "baby," could only falter out his thanks to his boyish preserver.

The great carcass of the bear was dragged to the nearest farm house and arrangements were quickly completed for the last scene in this little drama. It was customary to place the bear on all fours in a large lumber wagon, with a rail placed across the vehicle, just under the bear's chin, another under his middle, and still another under his hind paws. Thus supported the bear looked as if alive, and was borne in state through the country lanes and along the streets of Brandon, the neighboring village. The slayer of the bear always rode on the seat with the driver, and to-day this was Ben Tempest's proud distinction. The crowd followed on foot, blowing horns, beating milk-pans and yelling like Indians. This parade was followed by games, bonfires and a general jollification on the village green, all of which Ben enjoyed with all the zest of healthful and triumphant boyhood.



"You Are a Mere Infant."

But, perhaps, he was happiest and proudest the next day, when the man who bought Bruin's skin placed in Ben's sunburned little hand two gold double eagles and one single eagle. Fifty dollars was the reward paid by a wealthy fur dealer for every bear skin, and it was a big sum of money in those days. And $50 went a good ways toward lightening the mortgage on Ben Tempest's father's farm.

NOT ON TIME

For Once, at Least, the Methodical Man's Expectations Were Disappointed.

A doctor always has a lot of good stories. The trouble is to get him to open the package. Of course, from a professional point of view he is correct. One of these, in a communicative mood, said to me yesterday:

"Do you know ——? A very methodical man. He gets out of bed at 7:10 a. m., has breakfast at 7:40, takes the car at 9:35, gets to his office at 10:45, and so on. If he ever misses any connection one minute it upsets him the whole day. The other day he told me that he expected he would have to call me up some night on professional business. As I live about six miles from his house I told him he must give me some leeway.

"A few nights after my telephone rang, and on responding I heard from him. He said he thought I had better arrange to be at his house at about 2:30 the following morning. I asked him if he was sure about the hour. He said that was the hour. I said 'All right,' and stretched out for a nap. In about a half hour he called me up again and said I had better come before. I went as soon as my man got the horse and conveyance ready. I found I was just in time, but the man seemed to be in the dumps. I asked him why, as such an event usually makes a man happy. He looked at his watch and said: 'Well, I had fixed the affair for 2:30, and, you know, if there is anything that makes me feel like it is to have my arrangements confused. I try to be methodical.'"—Chicago Herald.

Jewelry on the Hire System.

A flourishing establishment in New York derives most of its income from lending jewelry on hire, instead of selling it outright, to women who cannot afford to buy.

The business is a perfectly legitimate one. Only a fair amount of interest is charged for the use of the goods, and nothing is ever attempted in the way of deceiving customers as to the actual value of the jewelry they hire.

You can go to this shop and get a watch set with turquoise, to wear on the lapel of your new electric-blue gown, and you can keep the watch as long as you please by paying the rate of interest agreed upon when you take possession of it.

Of course you must pay a deposit amounting to the full value of the turquoise bauble before you take it out of the shop, but when you go back with it all the money will be refunded except the small sum charged for its use. It is so with diamonds and rings. Indeed, the whole list and category of jewelry might be included.

On the night of a large ball the shop will be nearly cleared of its rentable stock. But by the next day most everything is returned, and the jewels, newly polished and glittering as ever, are back in their cases waiting for the next hiring out.

MIRACLE IN MISSOURI

THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF MEDICAL SCIENCE FAR MORE WONDERFUL THAN THE MAGIC OF THE EAST.

The Remarkable Experience of Postmaster Woodson of Panama, Mo. —For Ten Years a Cripple—To-Day a Well and Hearty Man.

(From the Kansas City Times.)

The people of Rich Hill, Mo., and vicinity have recently been startled by a seeming miracle of healing. For years one of the best known men in Bates and Vernon counties has been Mark M. Woodson, now postmaster at Panama, and brother of ex-State Inspector of Mines C. C. Woodson of this city. The people of Rich Hill, where he formerly resided, and of his present home, remember well the bent form, misshapen almost from the semblance of man which had painfully bowed its head half to earth and labored snail-like across the walks season after season, and when one day last month it straightened to its full height, threw away the heavy butt of cane which for years had been its only support from total helplessness, and walked erect, firmly, unhesitatingly about the two cities, people looked and wondered. The story of the remarkable case has become the marvel of the two counties. Exactly as Mr. Woodson told it to a Times reporter, it is here published:

"For ten years I have suffered the torments of the damned and have been a useless invalid; to-day I am a well and hearty man, free from almost every touch of pain. I don't think man ever suffered more acute and constant agony than I have since 1884. The rheumatism started then in my right knee, and after weeks of suffering in bed I was at last relieved sufficiently to arise, but it was only to get about on crutches for five years, the ailment having settled in the joint. Despite constant treatment of the most eminent physicians the rheumatism grew worse, and for the last four years I have been compelled to go about bent half toward the ground. In the winter of 1890-91, after the rheumatism had settled into its most chronic form, I went to Kansas City upon advice of my brother, and for six weeks I was treated in one of the largest and best known dispensaries of that city, but without the slightest improvement. Before I came home I secured a strong galvanic battery. This I used for months with the same result. In August, 1892, I went to St. Louis, and there conferred with the widely known Dr. Mudd of hospital practice and fame, and Dr. Kale of the city hospital. None of them would take my case with any hope of affording me more than temporary relief, and so I came home, weak, doubled with pain, helpless and despondent.

"About this time my attention was called to the account of a remarkable cure by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People of locomotor ataxia, rheumatism and paralysis. I ordered some of the pills as an experiment. When I began to take them the rheumatism had developed into a phase of paralysis; my leg from the thigh down was cold all the time and could not be kept warm. In a short time the pills were gone, and so was the cane. I was able to attend to the duties of my office, to get about as a well and strong man. I was free from pain and I could enjoy a sound and restful night's sleep, something I had not known for ten years. To-day am practically, and, I firmly believe, permanently cured of my terrible and agonizing ailment. No magician of the Far East ever wrought the miracle with his wand that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me."

To verify the story beyond all question of doubt Mr. Woodson made the following affidavit:

State of Missouri, }
County of Bates, } ss.

I, M. M. Woodson, being duly sworn on my oath state that the following statements are true and correct as I verily believe. —M. M. Woodson.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 3d day of March, 1894.
—John D. Moore, Notary Public.

Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers substitutes in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.

DEAD PAUPERS MADE USEFUL.

The Gold Extracted From Their Teeth to Pay for Their Burial.

Nothing is useless nowadays—not even a defunct pauper. Hood's plaintive wail—

Rattle his bones over the stones;
He's only a pauper, whom nobody owns—

is now out of date. The guardians know better than to act so recklessly, for often the party concerned is the possessor of a set of artificial teeth which contains a good deal of gold—last relic of more prosperous times—and in the interest of the rate-payers the precious metal must be secured and turned into pounds sterling. Often, too, they are the owners of rings or tiny trinkets, not pawnable, but still containing as much gold as they could not a few modern mines. These have to be collected and also converted into cash by means of the melting-pot. In the Holborn Union, the melting process takes place once a year, and has just been accomplished for the present season. The "jewelry" dealt with is what is found upon the paupers who die friendless and unclaimed in its various establishments.

This week rings, chains, brooches and trinkets have been melted down, and produced a bar of gold, estimated as 11 carats, and worth about £40. A good portion was got from the plates of artificial teeth. Mr. Walton said that on one set of artificial teeth there was at least £4 worth of gold. The proceeds are paid into the common exchequer of the union.

Couldn't Stand That.

Minks—What fad is your wife following now?

Winks—She is organizing anti-suffrage organizations.

"Humph! I thought she was in favor of woman suffrage."

"She was, but I told her one day, in a joke, that congress was going to compel all women to vote.—New York Weekly.

An Exhibition.

Algy—What a low cut dress Miss Simpson wears to-night! I declare, its cut clear to the waist behind. She has courage to wear it.

Freddy—Yes, she does exhibit considerable backbone.—Truth.

PASSING OF THE BRIDE.

A Circumstance Mourned by Certain Hotel Keepers.

At a recent conference of hotel proprietors the bride as a guest came up for discussion. All those present agreed that she has changed her haunts and habits, is a shy bird, and though as easily recognized as of old, is seldom captured by the big hostelries. A well-known Niagara boniface was full of regrets and indignation on the subject. He declared the frequent and unfeeling newspaper paragraphs directed against her had cost him hundreds of couples annually. If a newly married couple are determined to see the falls, they simply stop off between trains, and never as of old philander about the Sister islands or do their love-making on the wide verandas. Half of the charm of Niagara vanished, so he said, when the shy, self-conscious bride was chaffed out of going there, and for prodigality with tips the negro waiter never hopes to see the groom's like again.

The manager of a famous New York hotel remarked that among the wealthy people publicity immediately after marriage is studiously avoided. The honeymoon which was formerly passed on trains, ocean steamers, or at fashionable inns, is now passed in the seclusion of a house loaned by a friend for the occasion, or else the wife goes directly to her new home. The idea, he observed, was imported from England, where brides are as choice as cut flowers, and think it bad form to show themselves for two weeks at least. New York, he continued, catches a lot of Southern and Western couples, whose wedding journey is possibly the greatest event of their lives. But the bridal suites that used to be the pride of the hotel proprietor's heart are occupied half the time by old bachelors or married folks well on in their anniversaries.

Among the assembled company there chanced to be one or more high-priced and exceedingly smart lake and mountain houses, who smiled complacently over the grumbling of their brethren. One of these defended the bride from the charge of affectation and caprice. She very naturally objected to the smiles and inquisitive glances that followed her every appearance, resented those ostentatious, satin-hung bridal apartments, and simply asked to be let alone, with opportunities to bill and coo in quiet nooks and glades. All four seasons the fashionable country hotel, which is a growth of the past few years, offers the bride just the opportunities she craves.

A Merited Rebuke.

The London newspapers used to make a distinction between a simple notice of death, for which they charged five shillings, and a brief obituary for which they demanded seven and six-pence. One day Dr. Thomas Hume called at the office of a morning journal and silently placed upon the counter the announcement of the death of a friend, together with five shillings. The clerk glanced at the paper, tossed it to one side and said gruffly, "Seven and six!" "I have frequently answered Hume, "had occasion to publish these simple notices, and I have never before been charged more than five shillings." "Simple," repeated the clerk without looking up; "there's an added line, 'universally beloved and deeply regretted!' isn't there? Seven and six." Hume produced the additional half-crown and laid it deliberately by the others, observing in his most solemn tone. "Congratulate yourself, sir, that this is an expense which your executors will never be put to."—Argonaut.

A Human Cupid.

A case for which Dr. Edward Garraway is authority illustrates physical effect: "A lady of refined taste was in the habit of sitting before a group of statuary, with one little figure of which she was greatly enamored. This was a Cupid reposing, his cheek resting on the back of his hand. When her baby was born, his resemblance in form and feature to the little Cupid was at once striking. On seeing him the next day in his cradle I perceived he had assumed the precise attitude of the statuette—the cheek upon the back of the hand; and this position he invariably, and, of course, involuntarily, adopted during sleep, not only throughout infancy, but up to advanced boyhood, when I lost sight of him.

Making a Record.

"Sir," said the proud young soubrette, "I positively refuse to marry you."

"I wasn't aware that I had ever asked you," said the plutocrat.

"Of course you haven't. But when I tell my friends and the press that I refused to marry you it will be so, don't you see?"

How He Felt.

Fond Wife—I read in the paper that a brute of an Englishman sold his wife for a quart of beer. Loving Husband—Very likely he wished he had her back again the very next day. Fond Wife—Do you think he was sorry, darling? Loving Husband—No thirsty.—Hallo.

A Decided Difference.

Minnie—Here is a conundrum for you: What is the difference between you and crushed sugar? Mamie—I didn't suppose there was any. Minnie—Oh, yes, there is. One is mashed to powder and the other is powdered to mash.—Indianapolis Journal.

Not One of Her Ills.

Isn't it curious that almost all the cases of vermiform appendicitis of which one hears are among men? The disease is, unfortunately, common enough, but how rarely one knows of a woman suffering from it.

Justifiably Postponed.

Mamma—What's the matter, Johnnie? Johnnie—Boo-hoo-oo! Yesterday I fell down and hurt myself. Mamma—Well, what are you crying to-day for? Johnnie—You weren't home yesterday.—Judge.

It Wasn't Necessary.

Father—Did you reject that Italian count as I told you to? Daughter—I didn't have to; I told him the bank had failed.—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Appetite
Is essential to good health, and when the natural desire for food is gone strength will soon fail. For loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and other troubles of a dyspeptic nature, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy which most certainly cures. It quickly tones the stomach and makes one "real hungry." Be sure to get Hood's and only Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Hood's Pills are purely vegetable. 25c.

NEVADA'S MUSICAL MOUNTAIN.

Sweet Sounds, Like the Tinkling of Bells Made by Some Mysterious Agency.

In th old Truckee mining district, down on the Truckee river, near Pyramid Lake, is situated Nevada's musical mountain. This mountain was first discovered by the white settlers in 1863, at which time there was some excitement in regard to mines found in its neighborhood. The discoverers were a party of prospectors from the Comstock.

They had pitched their tent at the foot of the mountain, and for a few evenings thought themselves bewitched. Each evening, a little after dark, when the air was calm and all was quiet, a mysterious concert began. Out from the face of the big mountain were wafted soft strains that seemed to cause the whole atmosphere to quiver as they floated over the camp. The music then appeared to pass over until it was far, far away, and almost lost in the distance, when, beginning with atinkling as of many little silver bells, there would be a fresh gush of sweet notes from the mountain.

During the daylight hours little of the mysterious music was heard, and it was soon settled that it was caused by the wind. A spring near which the explorers had pitched their tent afforded the only good camping grounds in the neighborhood, and as each new party of prospectors arrived at the spot the wonder grew.

Some Piute Indians who came along and camped at the spring were found to be acquainted with the peculiar musical character of the mountain. They called it the "singing mountain."

Some of the men collected in the camp became more interested in the mountain than in prospecting, and gave most of their time to an investigation of the mystery of the musical sounds heard to proceed from it. They found that the whole surface of the mountain was covered with thin flakes of a hard crystalline rock. There were great beds of these flakes. The investigators concluded that the musical sounds heard proceeded from this loose material, huge drifts of which seemed to be gradually working their way down the steep face of the mountain.

At all events the strains heard at the foot of the mountain in the evening's stillness seemed to be produced by the uniting and blending of the myriads of bell-like tinklings proceeded from the immense beds of slaty debris creeping glacier-like down the slope.

This solution of the mystery of the musical mountain is the only one worthy of notice. As no mines of value were found the district was soon deserted and has since seldom been visited. Therefore few except the old time prospectors know much about the "singing mountain."—Virginia Enterprise.

A Kentucky Maid on the Waltz.

A girl in this town describes waltzing as follows: "No one waltz, even when danced with the same partner, is exactly the same as another. It is always a new sensation. The music is not in the same key, and the waltz does not touch the same chords of one's soul. If I danced twenty waltzes in the evening I have twenty different thrills of pleasure. With one partner it is a soft, insidious measure; with the next, a long and languorous movement; with the third, more of a hop; that gently jars the brain into a delicious dreamy forgetfulness; while a fourth cavalier, with a heroic tread, bears you away with strong and vigorous rhythm into still another world. The lights of this go out, you lose consciousness, but you feel no dread as you lie within those herculean arms like a child rocked to sleep in its father's embrace. Your feet are no longer on earth. It's a celestial flotation out into space, and when you light on earth again you feel like a tired bird stopping from a long flight."

Germany is training hawks to attack army carrier pigeons and bring back both pigeon and possibly war dispatches of the enemy to the German lines.

SLEEPLESSNESS,
Nervous Debility, Nervous Exhaustion, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Melancholia, and kindred ailments, whether resulting from over anxiety, overwork or study, or from unnatural habits or excesses, are treated as a specialty, with great success, by the Staff of Specialists attached to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Personal examinations not always necessary. Many cases are successfully treated at a distance.
ASTHMA. A new and wonderfully successful treatment has been discovered for Asthma and Hay Fever, which can be sent by Mail or Express. It is not simply a palliative but a radical cure.
For pamphlets, question blanks, references and particulars, in relation to any of the above mentioned diseases, address, with ten cents in stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

COOK BOOK
FREE!
320 PAGES—ILLUSTRATED.
One of the Largest and Best Cook Books published. Mailed in exchange for 20 Large Lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp. Write for list of our other fine Premiums. Woolson Spice Co., 450 Huron St., Toledo, Ohio.

HOTEL FURNITURE
and LEASE FOR SALE.
ST. PAUL.
A great bargain is offered to any responsible active man to take an OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS. ALL DRUGGISTS.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIII. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1894. NUMBER 52.

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

In discussing the Hawaiian question, the cabinet concluded that the new government must be recognized.

By an overwhelming vote, the house favors the constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote.

President Cleveland appointed John D. Kernan of New York and N. E. Worthington, of Peoria, Ill., commissioners to investigate the recent strike.

A conference of bimetallists has been called for August 16 to consider plans to bring about a change in the government's monetary policy.

A letter from Supreme Justice Stephen J. Field to California judges states that he will decline the offer of a transfer to the New York circuit and remain in the Pacific circuit.

Personal Mention.

Freddie Gebhard has been talked of as a Tammany candidate for congress.

The pope, among his many accomplishments can speak English, German and French perfectly.

At a political meeting in Donerall, Ky., Col. Breckinridge varied his performance by kissing his son.

Senator John Sherman has kept all his letters since he was fifteen years old.

The late President Carnot was a lover of American horses, and purchased many in this country.

Viscount Hill has been declared bankrupt, with liabilities of £250,000. The extent of his assets is unknown

Herbert Spencer writes to the world's congress of evolutionists predicting general civil war and military despotism.

There are no servants in the Tolstoi household. The count cuts his own firewood, while the countess prepares their simple meals.

Mrs. Lucy Healy of Charlstown, R. I., has just completed her ninety-ninth year. She is a daughter of a Revolutionary soldier.

Mme. Blanc says that Bret Harte is, of all the American authors of the time, the most popular in France, and that Howells is not generally liked by the French.

Whenever President Cleveland is asked by an enthusiastic mother to kiss her baby he always declines." The best of my reasons is," he explains, "that the babies never like it."

Of the governors of forty-four states and six territories only three are bachelors. Four have married twice, and three have entered the matrimonial state three times or more.

A Paris court has provided the son of Marshal Canrobert with a judicial guardian. This action was taken at the request of the young man's father, who had become wearied of his son's prodigality.

Unfortunate Events.

Comstock's hotel and five cottages at Riverside, R. I., burned. Loss, $80,000.

The Columbian hotel at Boone, Ia., burned. Loss $6,000.

Waterman's opera house burned at Waterloo, Iowa.

Marion D. Cotton, aged 8, was drowned at Rockford, Ill.

William Smith, a Vandalia, Ill., boy was fatally hurt by falling on a pitchfork.

Three firemen are killed and 200 horses are incinerated by the fire in Washington.

Allen McKenzie was gored to death by a bull near Algoma, Mich., while rescuing his father from the beast.

William Soule, millionaire son of T. A. Soule, was killed by a runaway team at Rochester, N. Y.

Deputy Sheriff Bert Wintrode, son of Sheriff Samuel Wintrode of Huntington, Ind., was killed by a Wabash freight train.

E. F. Kime and Orville Greeson, aged 25 and 19, were drowned while swimming in the river a few miles from Richmond, Iowa.

Mrs. George Whitlock died at West Union, Ill., from ice cream poisoning. She is the third victim of a church festival.

David Wilson, aged 6 years, found a loaded rifle at Pittsburg, Pa., and accidentally shot Nellie Lee, a colored girl of the same age.

George Imler, a farmer near Fort Wayne, Ind., threw a club at a cow, but missed the animal and hit his wife, crushing her skull.

E. A. Strant and Arthur Wells were injured probably fatally, by an explosion of gas in the Strant building, at Lynn, Mass. The building was damaged $50,000.

Dr. W. Seward Webb's yacht Elfrida ran aground on Colchester reef in Lake Champlain Saturday and pounded to pieces. The guests on board were safely taken off.

The James D. Avery mansion, which was associated intimately with the colonial period of American history, burned at Groton, Conn. It was built more than 250 years ago.

John Van Horn, engineer of a passenger train on the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking Valley railroad was killed to-day in a collision near Sandusky, Ohio.

George W. Dee, a farmer, living eight miles west of Burlington, Ia., was burned to death in his house. He was 87 years of age and weighed 300 pounds and had been confined to his bed. In some way the house took fire and when discovered the flames were all around Dee's bed.

W. L. Baker, manager of one of the proprietors of the Albracca hotel, York harbor, was on top of a windmill oiling the machinery when the wind shifted, causing the wheel to revolve and knocked Baker off. He fell a distance of fifty feet and was killed. He leaves a wife and two children.

Criminal Doings.

A Nevada woman murders a state senator.

An anarchist bombards Pullman's house with stones.

Thomas Stinson was arrested at Tipton, Ind., on a charge of bigamy.

The mining strike war in Alabama breaks out again. Two deputies are killed.

S. Rische's store at Vincennes, Ind., was robbed by burglars of $500 in cash and a gold watch.

Policeman Thomas of Brunswick, Ga., was murdered by a drunken negro whom he attempted to arrest.

A train at Greenville, Miss., ran over the body of a negro who had been murdered and placed on the track.

Richard Gates of Frankfort, Ind., was robbed of $400 and thrown into Lake Alhambra. He escaped alive.

A Florida negro shoots seven colored men who had attempted to lynch him, killing one, a preacher, and mortally wounding four.

George Field, colored has been arrested at St. Louis on a charge of complicity in the robbery of Actor William H. Crane of $1,600.

Charles Mocard was sentenced to imprisonment for life at Grand Rapids Mich., for the murder of Mrs. Mary McKendrick January 17.

An Arkansas minister accused of talking vilely about a young lady is killed in a shooting match which results.

At Burney's Station, Ind., George Herron, the keeper of a "quart shop," was taken from his bed by masked men and given fifty-three lashes with a beech gad.

A man giving the name of Charles Dudley deserted his wife, whom he married in Chicago a few days ago, in Kalamazoo, Mich., taking her diamond ring and $25.

An attempt to wreck and rob the pay car on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad was made as the special train hauling the pay car was approaching Chillicothe, Ohio.

Vice-President Vice of the A. R. U., at Sacramento, Cal., has been arrested charged with obstructing the United States mails. He is a candidate for the asembly.

Two miles east of Eufaula, I. T., Samuel Checota and Billy Narcome, two Creeks, shot and instantly killed Frank Hawkins. A reward of $500 was offered for his body.

Thomas Hanlon, forty years of age, once a wealthy and influential broker, but recently an employe of the cashier's office of the Mutual Life Insurance company, committed suicide at his home by shooting himself in the head and left breast.

A. W. Carpenter, editor of the Vindicator, the organ of the Populist party of Southwest Texas, was shot and killed at Pearsell, where the paper is published, by Sheriff Walter Durbin of Frio county, whose official acts he had publicly criticised.

A mob of negroes at Luraville, Fla., led by a negro preacher named Marshall, went to the house of John Thomas, colored, to lynch him for assaulting a negro girl. As the mob approached Thomas opened fire with a Winchester. His first shot killed Marshall. Thomas continued firing, shooting down six other members of the mob.

Foreign Gossip.

Eugene Tourbett, an American, was sent to prison for three years in London for forgery.

The news comes of the engagement of Miss Alice Maud Burke, who was the fiancee last winter of Prince Andre Poniatowski, to Mr. Heinmann, who is a Londoner and a wealthy publisher.

The French chamber of deputies has adopted the second clause of the anti-anarchist bill, providing that anarchist trials shall be before a correctional tribunal, composed of judges, instead of being tried by juries.

The police have arrested twenty nihilists in St. Petersburg. No reason is known for their arrest, but it is conjectured that they are due to the discovery of a plot against the life of the czar.

Signor Zoppina, director of the anarchist journal, La Bomba, in Messina, Italy, has been sentenced to ten months' imprisonment and has been fined 500 lire. La Bomba has been suppressed.

A dispatch to the London Times from Quito, Ecuador, says that congress has censured the cabinet for concealing budget excesses. The finance minister has resigned. The senate has approved the suspension of the interest on the foreign debt.

A dispatch from Vienna to the London Daily News says that cholera is rapidly spreading in Galicia, and especially in the western district of Cracow and in the eastern districts near the Russian frontier. Traffic across the frontier has been prohibited.

General.

The Rev. Edward Whitman of Joliet, Ill., has sued the First Baptist church for $1,000 back salary.

Congressman J. G. Cannon was renominated by the Republicans of the Twelfth Illinois district.

A 14-year old girl, 7 feet and 3 inches tall, died from consumption at her home near Fort Wayne, Ind.

The English Anarchist Mowbray addressed an audience of 500 people in New York.

The crops in the vicinity of Chillicothe, Mo., are threatened with destruction by the prolonged drought.

W. J. Martin, a Muncie, Ind., glassworker, drank two gallons of water on a wager. He died two hours later.

The Rock Island shops have about reopened. Bass' foundry with 150 men has reopened. The car shops have also started up.

Friends of Albert Ward of Champion, Ohio, who was afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia, tried to cure him by prayer, but failed.

War is threatened in a Polish Catholic church at Buffalo, N. Y., because Bishop Ryan has deposed Father Zareczny the priest.

According to government reports, corn in Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas is perishing owing to the lack of rain.

Gov. Matthews, of Indiana has determined on a policy which will stamp out the whitecaps, who have disgraced the state.

The citizens of Ohio, Bureau county, Ill., have petitioned the city council to change the name of that town to Maple City.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, July 26.—It is reported that a compromise, which has the approval of the president, has been agreed upon, increasing the duty on sugar, leaving out the differential and continuing the bounty for a year; also placing a reciprocity clause in the coal schedule.

The speeches to-day were generally shorter than those of yesterday, and were as a rule devoted to advising a strenuous effort to secure party harmony on the basis of a bill which would receive the support of 48 members of the senate. Senator Vilas spoke in general terms of the constitutional right of the house to originate financial legislation, and without denying the concurrent right of the senate, he suggested that the house privilege in this respect could not be ignored with complacency or safety. He cautioned the caucus in strong terms to avoid all appearance of favoring monopolies in view of the present feeling on the subject. Senators Smith, Blanchard and Caffery also made speeches of some length. Senator Gorman devoted himself to a verbal statement on the parliamentary status of the bill. Great earnestness was exhibited in the speeches of the New Jersey and Louisiana senators. Other senators, as a rule, spoke without any manifestation of feeling, and the meeting was, upon the whole, far more pleasant than that of yesterday. A vast majority of those who participated in the caucus came out when it adjourned with their faces wreathed in smiles, and most of them indicated by their actions that they believed they had inaugurated a line of policy which would insure the passage of a tariff bill. Some of them, who would say nothing as to the proceedings of the caucus, announced themselves as confident of ultimate success of the bill.

The vote on the resolution to send the bill to conference again was not unanimous. Senator Vilas and a few others opposed it, and expressly stipulated that their participation in the caucus should not be considered as binding them to support the report of the conference committee when again presented.

Members of the house are pleased with the outlook, and it is believed that an agreement will now be reached.

In the senate Mr. Caffery continued his speech on the tariff bill, but his remarks did not arouse any interest. When he finished Mr. Daniel of Virginia spoke. Senator Quay gave notice of amendments to Vilas' motion to instruct the senate conferees to recede from the entire sugar schedule and to recede from the schedule providing for the eighth of a cent per pound differential on refined sugar.

Washington, July 27.—When Mr. Jones called up the conference report on the tariff bill, Mr. Vilas was immediately recognized, but yielded to Mr. Quay, who withdrew the sugar amendments he offered just before adjournment yesterday.

The Wisconsin senator began his speech by saying that an extraordinary scene occurred on Monday last in the senate. A democratic senator, said he, saw fit to attack the president without precedent, he thought, of if there was a precedent it was one that ought to be shunned instead of followed. It was a personal assault upon the president and his character.

Mr. Vilas then reviewed at length the president's position in favor of free raw material, his letter of 1887 and other public utterances up to his message to congress at the opening of the present session. Constantly Mr. Vilas declared Mr. Cleveland had insisted upon this principle. It was everywhere proclaimed by his suporters to be the first step in the enfranchisement of labor from the thraldom of unjust taxation.

For two hours he held the floor amid wrapt atention of the senate and galleries, delivering his scathing rebuke of the Maryland senator. He denounced Mr. Gorman's assault as wanton, reckless and unjustifiable, and though, he declared that Mr. Cleveland needed no defense at his hands, he took up the charges made by Mr. Gorman and met them with masterly skill and logic. He made his statement, he said, in the interest of the truth of history. In conclusion he eulogized the personal character and public integrity of Mr. Cleveland and said the president could not suffer from this unjustifiable attack of the Maryland senator.

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Vilas explained that in view of the fact that Messrs. Gorman, Brice and Smith had assured him that his motion to recede from the 1-8c differential in favor of the refiners of sugar must fail, and the further fact that a Democratic caucus had decided to agree to a further conference without instructions, he would withdraw the motion. After some general remarks by Mr. Stewart against the interference of the executive with the legislative branch of the government, Mr. Hill's motion that the senate recede from its amendments placing a duty of 40 cents a ton on coal and iron ore were voted upon and defeated, the Republicans, except Mr. Hansbrough, joining, the Democrats bound by the caucus agreement voting against it. The vote stood 6 to 65 and 6 to 64. Mr. Irby of South Carolina was the only other Democrat except Mr. Hill who voted for free coal and iron. The Populists, Allen, Kyle and Peffer, also voted for it. Mr. Washburn renewed Mr. Vilas' motion to instruct the conferees to recede from the 1-8 cent differential on refined sugar, but Mr. Gray immediately made the point of order against it that it was not competent for the senate to instruct in a question in conference. The point of order was debated for some time, but had not been decided upon when the senate adjourned. There is no doubt, however, that it will be sustained and this motion ruled out. The general impression is that the bill will go back to the conference to-morrow.

Washington, July 27.—The day's proceedings in the house were dull in the extreme and one by one the members left their desks, until there was not a half hundred members in the chamber. The conference report on the notifications bill was agreed to. The day had been assigned to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce and some twenty or thirty bills reported from this committee were passed, among them the following: Amending the act for the construction of a bridge across the St. Louis river between Minnesota and Wisconsin; to bridge the Osage river in Missouri, and the Missouri river near Dewitt, Mo

Washington, July 28.—At 10:05 Mr. Jones of Arkansas called up the conference report on the tariff bill.

The pending question was the decision of the chair on points of order raised by Messrs. Gray and Mills against Mr. Washburn's motion to instruct the senate conferees to recede from the 1-8 of 1 cent differential on sugar above 16 Dutch standard. Mr. Manderson was immediately recognized and proceeded to argue against the point of order upon which so much hinged. He maintained with vigor that it was competent for the senate to instruct its conferees. Mr. Manderson described at length the methods of conferences between the two houses in parliament and in congress, drawing a distinction between a "simple" conference and "full and free" conference.

Mr. Manderson then reviewed the precedents bearing on the point of order, citing numerous cases in the house where the conferees had been instructed.

Senator Harris, in the chair, sustained the point of order against Washburn's motion. An appeal was then taken.

The vote recurred on Mr. Washburn's appeal from the decision of the chair, and resulted 32 to 32. The senate having failed to sustain the chair, the vote recurred on the motion of Mr. Washburn to instruct the conferees to recede from the 1-8 cent differential on refined sugar. Result, 32 to 32. Motion not agreed to.

The bill was then sent to conference without instructions and without division of the senate, no vote being taken on the motion to send the bill back to conference.

The votes on the three motions were as follows:

Ayes—Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Blanchard, Brice, Call, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, Faulkner, George, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hunton, Jones (Ark.), Lindsay, McLaurin, Martin, Mills, Mitchell (Wis), Murphy, Palmer, Pasco, Pugh, Ransom, Roach, Turpie, Vest, Walsh, White—32.

Noes—Allen, Aldrich, Allison, Carey, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, DuBois, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hansbrough, Hawley, Hill, Higgins, Jones (Nev.), Kyle, Lodge, McMillan, Manderson, Mitchell (Or.), Patton, Peffer, Perkins, Platt, Proctor, Shoup, Squire, Teller, Washburn—32.

Stewart did not vote. The pairs were as follows, those first named in each pair favoring the motion and those last named opposing it: Gordon and Wilson, Jarvis and Hoar, Butler and Cameron, Harris and Sherman, McPherson and Morrill, Morgan and Quay, Smith and Irby (both Democrats), Camden and Pettigrew, Voorhees and Wolcott and Caffery and Power.

Washington, July 30.—The day in the senate is being given up to the sundry civil appropriation bill. This always arouses more or less debate. The bill this year will probably prove no exception, and it is likely that two or three days will be devoted to it unless it should be side-tracked by the tariff. With the sundry civil bill disposed of, the general deficiency bill will be the only appropriation bill remaining unacted upon by the senate. It has not yet been considered by the committee on appropriations, but will be taken up as soon as the sundry civil bill shall be reported, and will probably be in shape to be considered by the senate by the time the sundry civil bill is out of the way. Four of the appropriation bills are in conference, and reports upon these may be expected during the week, with the possibility of more or less debate upon each. If time permits the general calendar presents a great variety of matter for the consideration of the senate.

Duluth Lumber Shipments.

Duluth, July 30. — Local lumbermen have sold for shipment East over 12,000,000 feet of lumber in the past few days. Much of this has been placed at the prices of the early spring last year, and the rest at a slight discount from those prices. Already this week over 6,000,000 feet have been shipped to the East.

Sheep Overheated.

Chamberlain, S. D., July 30.—One hundred sheep belonging to Lewellyn & Anderson, Charles Mix county stockmen, died from a mysterious cause shortly after having been crossed to the west side of the Missouri. The only way to account for it is that they got overheated while crossing.

Much-Wanted Battershall.

Toronto, Ont., July 30. — Sanford B. Battershall, whose name has been frequently printed the past week in connection with the investigation of sugar trust influences by the senate committee at Washington, has been here for some time, but left last night for Hamilton.

Treasury Conditions.

Washington, July 30.—The cash balance in the treasury at the close of business Saturday was $125,189,695, of which $58,385,414 was gold reserve. In this statement the $3,000,000 in gold shipped to-day does not appear.

P. O. for Gerving.

Washington, July 30.—J. B. Gerving was to-day appointed postmaster at Glen Ullen, Morton county, N. D., vice S. O. Morgan, removed.

Prosecution Comes to Naught.

Rome, July 30.—The trial of Signor Tanonga, ex-president of the Banca Roma, and other officials ended in acquittal to-day.

St. Paul Contractors in It.

Northfield, Minn., July 30.—The water works contract was awarded to Million & Young of St. Paul at $33,000.

Assigned at Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., July 30.—Turpin & White assigned to L. O. Wessel to-day. Liabilities, $7,000; assets, $3,000.

Blaze in a Printing Office.

La Crosse, Wis., July 30.—Fire in Boycott's printing office early this morning caused a loss of $20,000.

Spanish Tariffs.

Madrid, July 30.—A decree has been published confirming the advantages of the lowest scale of the existing tariff laws to Germany, Austria, Great Britain, France and Denmark.

Russian Crops.

St. Petersburg, July 30. — Crops are very satisfactory, both in regard to quality and quantity.

French Statesmen Rest.

Paris, July 30.—The session of the senate and chamber of deputies closed today.

FOREST FIRES RAGE

GREAT DESTRUCTION IN NORTH WESTERN WISCONSIN.

Phillips, a Manufacturing Town and Mason Are Entirely Destroyed and Other Towns Are in Danger—Many Lives Probably Lost.

Ashland, Wis., July 28.—Forest fires are producing vast suffering and loss through this vicinity, and the railroad companies have never before experienced such damage by fires.

On the Wisconsin Central it is impossible to move trains. Phillips, the headquarters of the John R. Davis Lumber company, a manufacturing town of 2,000 population, is totally destroyed by fire, and only a few buildings remain standing.

A dispatch just received from Fifield, a small station a few miles this side of Phillips, says that 500 women and children from Phillips are in the woods there without shelter. They sent a request for food, as the supply at Fifield is very short, but the train that started from here last evening was obliged to return, as the bridges are totally destroyed a few miles south. Communication with Fifield is now shut off and it is feared that the town is also on fire. Along the Omaha line fires raged with terrible fierceness. Shore's Crossing, a little village eight miles west of Ashland, was destroyed today. Not a building remains standing, and the homeless families were brought to Ashland. The railroad bridges near there were destroyed and a fast Omaha freight train was ditched and the engine and sixteen loaded cars were entirely burned. Both the engineer and fireman were injured and the brakemen are missing. The loss on cars and freight is many thousand dollars.

Mason, a small town on the Omaha line, caught fire to-day. The White River Lumber company's mill, with 40,000,000 feet of lumber in the yards, was destroyed. The entire town was threatened. The Omaha bridge across White river at Mason is burned. Railroad officials say the loss at Mason is fully $1,000,000, with $250,000 insurance. The mill belonged to the Weyerhauser syndicate.

Homesteaders in outlying districts are all fleeing into the nearest towns, leaving their homes to the fury of the flames. So far no loss of life is reported. The fire department is carefully guarding the outside limits of Ashland, and the city is not in any imminent danger. A dispatch from Hurley states that the town has been enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke all day with fires on nearly every side.

The mayor and a committee are now gathering supplies which will be sent to Fifield in the morning if the train can get through the flames raging between here and there. Dr. Bartoe, whose family reside at Phillips, received the following message from Fifield: "Your wife and baby are in the woods near Phillips without food and clothing." He is half-crazed with grief, but is unable to send any help. It is feared that many lives are lost, as with hundreds of women and children in the woods and fire all around them, some must surely perish. The tannery and immense lumbering concerns at Phillips are among the ruins, so that the loss will be appalling. The Central passenger, due here from Milwaukee, is at Chelsea, unable to pass Phillips. The Omaha freight train destroyed near Shore's Crossing was loaded with wheat. A wrecking crew is now at work, but the only part of the train will be the engine. The fire came upon Shore's Crossing with terrible rapidity, and many residents there lost everything they possessed. Not a structure of any kind remains standing. A dozen bridges on the Omaha line have been burned, and railroad men say it will take two weeks to rebuild the one destroyed at Mason.

At 10 o'clock a welcome rain began falling, the first in many days, but unfortunately lasted only a few minutes, so that it will not put out fires to any extent.

A freight engine with a caboose has just arrived from Mason, and the worst reports of the fire there are confirmed. The town is literally wiped out of existence. The fire started in the lumber yard of the White River Lumber company from sparks from forest fires, and though the 400 employes worked nobly in defense of their homes, the resistless flames swept through the town.

Hayward, Wis., July 28.—Bridges at Mason and Forest City have been burned. The wires are down and no definite information can be secured. The country surrounding this town is all on fire, and the smoke is very dense. If no rain falls soon there is imminent danger to all towns in this vicinity. A crew is going on a special train to repair the bridges.

Twenty-Five People Perish.

Ashland, Wis., July 30.—Millions of dollars of property destroyed in the two cities of Mason and Phillips and several villages, including Coolridge and Shore's Crossing, in ruins; an immense tract of standing pine in a state of desolation; several freight trains burned to fragments, many railroad bridges wrecked and a score or more of lives lost are some of the results of the terrible forest fires that so fiercely raged over Northern Wisconsin. At Phillips seventeen persons met death in the fire. Most of the deaths were caused by drowning, but several persons met death from the effects of the intense heat and smoke. When the fire first struck the town it spread with amazing rapidity. No one had time to secure his personal effects, and when the box factory, in which the water plant was located, caught fire there was a mad rush by the inhabitants to seek places of safety. Most of them started for the woods, but many of them secured boats and improvised rafts and rushed out into the millpond. It was upon these people in boats and rafts that the storm of flame bent its greatest fury. The pond is but a small one, and though the boats were in the center, the livid cinders fell on every side, burning the boats to the water's edge and forcing those unable to swim to seek a watery grave.

Those who escaped by clinging to pieces of drift wood say the cries of their companions as they fell back exhausted and overcome by the heat and smoke were heartrending. One family consisting of husband, wife and six children, entered a floating boat house and pushed away from shore. They were unable to manage the awkward box and flames reached out from the burning buildings on the shore and it was quickly burned, the unfortunate occupants being literally roasted alive. It was a terrible sight, and no one could help them. Every one was intent on saving his own life. The flames advanced with the roar of a cyclone in the shape of a solid wall of fire a hundred feet high. The entire town was composed mostly of wooden structures, and it only took the flames two hours to destroy nine hundred buildings and leave it ruins a city of 3,000 inhabitants. Nineteen houses standing on a hill apart from the rest are all that remains.

Coolridge, a small village five miles this side of Phillips, containing a mill and thirty houses, was also wiped out, but no fatalities are reported from there.

The secretary of the John R. Davis Lumber company telegraphed here that so far as it has been learned twenty-five lives were lost. Besides this many persons were burned, but not fatally, and several firemen received serious wounds in their vain endeavor to save the town. The people there have no food, which must soon be forthcoming, or many lives will be lost from starvation. This morning a small quantity of food was sent them from Fifield, and later a car load was sent from here. Three hundred of the people have gone to Prentice and others to Fifield, but the main portion, comprising over 2,000 souls, are yet at Phillips waiting for aid. Several tents sent from here have been erected, and with the few houses standing most of the women and children are sheltered, but many of them have but scanty attire, so that supplies of clothing must accompany food. Yesterday collections in all the local churches were taken up to purchase supplies for the homeless people.

The loss at Phillips is now estimated at a million dollars. The lumber company lost 20,000,000 feet of lumber besides saw mill, box factory, planing mill and a large general store. The financial loss at Mason will likely exceed this.

TERRIBLE FATE.

Three Children Smothered to Death in a Car.

Hartford, Conn., July 30.—Raymond, aged nine; Leroy, seven; and Freddie, four, the children of James W. Ganion, an engineer on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, who have been missing since Thursday evening when they went to bathe in the Connecticut river, were found dead at 8 o'clock this morning in the closet of a freight caboose standing on a side track near the round house, not 300 feet from their home. After numerous searches, Chief of Police Bill ordered the freight cars and railroad property searched, and two policemen were drawn to the caboose this morning by the smell of decomposing flesh. In the trainmen's closet, shut by a spring lock, they found the three bodies entirely nude and badly decomposed. The inquest disclosed no evidence of foul play and a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation was rendered. The caboose was newly painted and the children went there to play, a pack of cards being found in the closet. It is supposed they closed the door and could not open it and soon suffocated in the stifling hot air in the enclosure.

PRISON MADE.

Boots and Shoes to Be Manufactured by Convicts.

Stillwater, Minn., July 30.—Although not generally known, it is a fact that boots and shoes will be manufactured by the convicts at the prison, the prison board having made a contract with Thomas F. Conley of Duluth, who agrees to pay the state 50 cents per day for each of 100 convicts, who will be put to work as soon as new machinery arrives from the East. A reporter who heard the rumor on the street made further inquiries at the prison and the report was verified by Warden Wolfer. The boot and shoe shop will be located on the first floor of the binding twine factory, and a number of stands and shelves have already been constructed. This matter has been considered by the board of managers for some time, but did not come to a head until the July meeting.

Rev. Dixon on Strikes.

New York, July 30.—Rev. Thomas Dixon spoke yesterday in Association hall on the "Coming Strike." Among other things, he said: "The outlook for the immediate future is one of suffering and oppression. The capitalists will surely retaliate on the workingmen. They will triumph in their strength. Yet they should not imagine that they are safe from future violence. Another strike is bound to come. It will affect every industry and paralyze the world. I predict that a fearful struggle will occur in the near future."

Forty Days for Contempt.

Chicago, July 30.—Richard Lawrence and Edward Rhodes, the first of the strikers to be punished for lawlessness growing out of the Pullman boycott, were sentenced to forty days in jail by Judge Grosscup, of the United States court. The men were Santa Fe strikers at Chillicothe, Ill., and were charged with contempt of court in interfering with the traffic of a railroad in the hands of government receivers.

Steamer Sunk.

Folkstone, Eng., July 30.—The steamer Castor and the bark Ernst were in collision to-day off Sandgate. The Castor was badly injured and sank in a few minutes after the vessels came together. Three passengers and the crew of twenty-six men were landed at Folkstone.

But the World Will Still Wag.

Berlin, July 30.—The story which had its origin in New York that Emperor William desired the United States cruiser Chicago to visit Cowes during the regatta week, in order that he might inspect her, is officially denied.

No Rain in Iowa.

Des Moines, July 30.—The drouth in Iowa remains unbroken. Dispatches received show prairie fires in various parts of the state, the most formidable being at Independence, where the town is threatened. The weather service reports no hope for rain.

Troops March Against Bears.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—Finland has been invaded by bears who are ravaging the farm stock. Troops have been sent to kill them.

Iowa Town Nearly Burned.

Brooklyn, Iowa, July 30.—A greater portion of the business part of the city was burned. Sixteen buildings were consumed, including the postoffice, the Chronicle office and the Poweshik County bank. Loss, $150,000; insured for about one-half.

Appropriations Again Extended.

Washington, July 30.—The house held a very short session but transacted a good deal of business of a private character. A joint resolution was adopted still further extending the appropriations for 1894 until Aug. 14.

MANY CHINESE LOST.

DETAILS OF THE NAVAL ENGAGEMENT WITH JAPAN.

A Chinese Transport Sunk and Only Forty of Two Thousand Chinese Troops on Board Are Saved—Foreigners Also Killed.

Shanghai, July 30.—Further details of the naval engagement have reached here. The fighting, though of short duration, was very severe. One of the Japanese warships got within a short distance of the transport Kow Shing and discharged a torpedo at her. The missile struck the transport fairly and a terrific explosion followed, and the Kow Shing began at once to fill.

Prior to the discharge of the torpedo the crew of the transport, which was armed, and the military force on board of her, made a hard fight against the attacking force. Many of those on board of her were shot dead on deck. When the vessel began to sink there was great excitement on board of her. In the dire confusion that prevailed no attempt was made to lower the small boats. But even had such an attempt been made the boats could only have carried a small percentage of those on board. Every foreigner on board the transport, which had been chartered by the Chinese government from an English company, was either killed in the fighting or went down with the vessel.

The loss of life was very great. Of nearly 2,000 Chinese troops on board of her only forty were saved. Only a short time elapsed between the explosion of the torpedo and the foundering of the transport. The vessel went down suddenly near Shopiont island, where her commander made an attempt to beach her. The Tsao Kain, which was captured by the Japanese, was an old man-of-war that had been impressed into use as a transport. Many men were killed on board of her before she fell into the hands of the Japanese.

Yokohaba, July 30.—An imperial edict has been issued calling out the army and navy reserve and ordering them to report at their respective headquarters. The Chinese residents of Japan are greatly alarmed at the threatening outlook and are fleeing from the country in large numbers.

Fire in New York.

New York, July 30.—A big down town fire broke out yesterday afternoon and did a damage of at least $150,000. It started in the basement of the six-story building, 82 to 88 Fulton street. Three of the lower floors were destroyed while the upper part is so badly damaged that the building is practically gutted. One of the sufferers was the premises of the New York Law Journal, whose composing room was destroyed. Other occupants of the building were A. Pell & Co., Fairchild & Foster, the Duane Press company, A. Lounsberry, jeweler. Every occupant of the building suffered more or less loss.

A Peculiar Accident.

St. Paul, July 30.—Yesterday afternoon at 1:30 the fuse of a motor on a Hamline trolley car burned out just as the car was passing the corner of Ninth and Wabasha streets, and the box surrounding the motor caught fire. Mrs. Arestina Arndt, of No. 406 Edmund street, was sitting in the rear of the car near the motor, and her dress caught on fire from the flames. The conductor of the car and one of the male passengers succeeded in tearing Mrs. Arndt's skirt off in time to save her from being severely burned, although she suffered several painful burns about the hands. She was taken to a drug store near by and her injuries were attended to.

Fatal Explosion.

Ashland, Pa., July 30.—One of the nest of six boilers at Lehigh Valley Colliery No. 4 exploded last night, instantly killing one man and severely injuring three others, two of whom have since died. The dead are John Miller, aged forty-five, Girardville; John Laubach, aged twenty-five, Shenandoah; Darty Shields, aged forty-five, Shenandoah. Miller leaves a wife and four children and Shields a wife and five children. Laubach was a single man. The fourth victim was Steve Solsky, who was badly scalded but will recover.

Archduke Killed.

Vienna, July 30. — Archduke William II., son of the late Archduke Charles, and a second cousin of Emperor Francis Joseph, met with an accident to-day that resulted in his death. He was riding at Weikersdorf, near Baden, when his horse shied, being frightened by a passing electric car. The archduke was thrown, and in falling his head struck a stone. One of his feet became entangled in a stirrup and he was dragged some distance before the horse was stopped. He was carried into a restaurant and soon died.

From Hawaii.

Chicago, July 30.—Messrs. H. A. Wideman, Samuel Parker, J. A. Crimmins and Major Seward passed through Chicago last evening en route to Washington from Honolulu. Mr. Wideman, speaking on behalf of the party, said they bore credentilas from the ex-queen to the Washington government. He declined to make the object of the commission known, but stated that "the cat would be out of the bag" soon after their arrival in Washington.

Sickled His Leg.

Mapleton, Minn., July 30.—At Minneota Lake Philip Trutha had his left leg nearly severed from his body, below the hip joint. He was cleaning the sickle of his binder when the horses started.

Another Red Wing Drowning.

Red Wing, Minn., July 30.—Charles McCarty was drowned in the river last night. He came from Eau Claire two months ago. This is the second drowning this week.

Fire in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, July 30.—The large frame drying house belonging to the plant of Donald Kennedy & Son, on Western avenue, just north of the Great Northern railroad tracks, was damaged by fire to the extent of $10,000; fully covered by insurance.

The French Talking About Us.

Paris, July 30.—The Temps to-day severely criticises the attitude of the majority in the United States senate, saying that it fortifies the sinister rumor that votes have been sold to the sugar refiners.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	5.12 p. m.	7.55 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	6.0 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific Line at Crookston Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for n or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

---

25 cents!

A New Subscriber Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

H. E. Ives is in Crookston, this week on business.

Miss May Halverson is visiting relatives in town this week.

This has been so far one of the warmest summers we have had for several years.

C. A, Skeie was doing business at Crookston, the first of the week,

Dr. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on Monday on professional business.

Mrs. C. G, Rapp has been indisposed the past week but is now convelesing.

O. W, Brink left today for Red Lake Falls on an expeating trip for the McCormick Co.

Fred Zeh, formen of the Thief River Falls News, was in town a short time to-day,

A number of the young men of Red Lake Falls came up on the hand car and spent Sunday afternoon in the village.

Traveling salesmen report that business in this section of the country has greatly improved lately.

This has been a good year for corn and we have noticed several fine fields of that article.

Fred Eikhoff has been busy the past week putting in a glass front and painting the front of his store. He will have a neat hardware store.

Henry Norland, the next county commissioner for this district, was in town last Friday and made this office a call.

There will be a Lawn Social given on the grounds of the M. E. Church by the Ladies aid society on Friday evening Aug, 10 come all and enjoy a good dish of Ice cream.

Wm. Showalter, one of the first settlers in this section of the country has been here several days the past week visiting friends. He sold his homestead here in 1882 and it is now a part of the townsite.

A picked nine from Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire will play a matched game of base ball here next Sunday, with the Thief River Falls nine. The game is bound to be close and interesting and will be well worth seeing.

Our corpulent townsman S. M, Dainard, was over at Fosston the other day and got into a fat men's race. He is recognized to be speedy but was not fast enough to beat Frank Gravel, who being six inches wider in the girth beat Sam by about that many inches.

Nels Halvorson, of Wyandotte, received the welcome news last week that he had at last been allowed a pension He has been working at it for several years. He will in the future draw two dollars per month and gets about $175 back pension.

A sneak thief entered Daniel Patterson's dwelling last Friday night by cutting the screen on the kitchen window, and stole Mr. Patterson's pants containing a pocket book with about $75. No clew has been obtained as yet as to who was the thief.

We notice in a paper called the McIntosh Tribune, which appears to be published by some unknown person, a communication, signed by an assumed name, which reflects on the character of the peoples party nominee for county commissioner, Mr, Henry Norland. As the article is not signed and is also published in a paper which has neither editor nor publisher, we deem it unworthy of notice. The paper bears the same relation to journalism that a pirate is to commerce, and is evidently being run for purposes so base and illegal that no one dare assume responsibility.

James Meehan Sr., of Thief River Falls was in town last Monday on his way south, Mr. Meehan informed us that henceforth he will be a populist. He has been a prominent democrat all his life being at one time a candidate for congress in Wisconsin. He is of the opinion that the republican and democratic party alike are owned by the monopolists and railroads, and that the people will never receive justice from either of the old parties, hence he is in favor of a change Men of prominence like Mr. Meehan are welcome additions to the peoples party ranks, and such acquisitions plainly indicate that victory is assured in the near future,

Ellendale N. D. July 9th.—Editor Representative—I helped make the republican party but I am now an Independent. I claim to believe today—in the main—as I did twenty-five years ago. I hope I shall never forget the great principles of political economy taught by Lincoln, Stephens and other leaders of the republican party. Now let us see whether I have left the republican party or the republican party has left me. The republican party used to believe in making greenbacks a legal tender now they oppose it, but I am still in favor of it. The republican party used to believe in free coinage of silver, 16 to 1, I still believe in it, but the republican party demonetized silver in 1873 and helped anual the Sherman law in 1894, The republican party of twenty-five years ago believe in having $50 per capita, I believe in it now, but the republican leaders of today do all in their power to curtail the volume of money in circulation, The republican party used to oppose human slavery (I oppose it now) but today they put men in power who rivit the shackles on labor stronger a hundred times than they were rivited on the African slaves before our civil war. For then, under the law their masters had to feed clothe and care for them as long as they lived This responsibility they could not shirk by setting them free in their old age. But how is it with you my white brother, you work all your lives and the mortgage and interest are constantly increasing, more than three to one to what they were twenty-five years ago, and this is not all when you are worn out with taxes, interest mortgages and old age, if you can't take care of yourself you may starve or go to the poor house. When I ask the republican and democratic farmer and laborers if they are not in favor of $50 per capita free coinage of silver and a graduated income tax they answer "Yes by all means." Then I say to them your representatives in congress use every means in their power to prevent the above from becoming law. They admit that the great majority of their representatives turn traitor to the promises made before election and go over body and soul to the money power. Our wish and what they do are exactly opposite. The independent party have not a single traitor in congress. Each and every one of them have been true to their trust. Now my republican and democratic friends come and help us to elect more of them and they will enact laws to make it easier to get the wherewith to pay off mortgages, interest taxes and our national debt, and prevent our loved ones from becoming slaves of the money power. Why is it that the rich are getting so rich and the poor are getting so poor? I beg of you before you vote read and reflect whither you are drifting. Now I ask of you, my republican friends, which has left the republican party, you or I? You have the name while I have the merit. Who is the crank, you or I? I stand today on every plank of the good old republican platform of twenty-five years ago so far as it went, while you haven't even a slab to stand on, I repeat, who is the crank, you or I?—L. D. Bartlett.

We are a trust ridden country. There is no denying it, and seemingly there is no escape from it for the present. Our public servants are too timid or too personally involved to set the machinery of the law in motion to dissolve these unlawful combination, An illustration of the tactics of trusts was given in New York last Monday. It was officially admitted that the Lead Trust has sold white lead to Americans for 6 cents and for 3½ cents to Englishmen in London. In the teeth of this latest admission, who will now have the hardihood to stand up and repeat that delusive phrase: "The trust cheapens prices to home consumers.

Every day brings tidings that the ranks of the peoples party are being swelled by recruits, They are coming from all classes of society except the capitalists. Honest toilsmen of all kinds are getting ready to fight the common enemies, trusts, monopolies and the money power, and they will fight in the most effective way—by the ballot.

The millionaire man nowadays has about as much trouble looking out for his property as the poor man does for his family—and a good deal more trouble in increasing it.—Journal,

If your watch or clock is out of order leave it at J. L. Johnson's drug store with J, M, Stranahan, an experianced workman, and have it repaired. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

The well known Daniel OConnor was in town last Monday selling hardware and incidentally teaching good peoples party doctrine. Daniel is a good talker and is doing good work all along the line.

NOTICE.

Came to S. M. Dainard's stock farm July 31 1894 one white bull calf, Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

Harvest will commence the first of next week for wheat but rye and barley has already been cut in many places

An exchange hews to the line as follows: "The editor is frequently advised to pitch into somebody, and to make vigerous attacks on certain institutions A dog fight will always attract a crowd but none of them are willing to be the dogs, A day seldom passes in a newspaper office without a visit from some one who has fault to find with somebody or something. He wants the editor to attend to the matter for him, "Why don't you score them" he says, Then he goes into details and talks about this and that as an outrage, etc. When the editor tells him he will publish the complaint provided he will sign it he says: "Oh-no, I don't want to put my name to it—don't want to get into trouble with these people, don't you see? Can't you put in the shape of an editorial? He dont care what trouble the editor may get into by publishing his grievance but is too politic or too cowardly to assume the responsibility himself. There are plenty of such people in every community and the newspaper men always find out who they are.

Brightest Light that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshal Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse.

W, A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

Our Country and Our Neighbors.

This beautiful publication by John L. Stoddard, the famous American traveler and lecturer, is now issued in 16 parts, each part containing 16 magnificent half-tone engravings 8 by 11 inches in size, from photographs of notable structures, busy street scenes, and wonderful views of Nature's architecture in the Americas. The Great Northern Railway has secured an edition of this art work from the publishers and will furnish it to friends and patrons at the mere cost of handling. The parts will be delivered weekly at ten cents each, and the purchasers can have the privilege of buying a copy of Graham's celebrated steel plate view of Niagra Falls at one-tenth the regular retail price of that famous production. Agent H. J. Freeman has a framed copy of the Niagra picture hanging in the depot, and also a supply of part 1 of "Our Country" and he asks everybody to call at this office and see them. There is certainly nothing more instructive than to read a graphic description of some noted building, monument, street, city, cataract, or mountain, particularly when the scene is pictured as faithfully and grandly as sun and art can do it. This work is an art treasury and only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Every patriotic citizen is strengthened in his admiration and love of country by a perusal of this book.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year, from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894

Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J, Montague, attorney.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario,

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE

WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.

Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7.45 p m Depart	......St. Paul......Arrives	10.30 am
8.20 p m "	......Minneapolis......	9.55 am
4.35 a m	......Barnesville......	1.40 am
7.25 am Ar	......Crookston......De	10.50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9.00 am De.........Crookston.........Ar 6.00 pm

11.00 am Ar....St. Hilaire......De 4.00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0) a m. Returning arrives St, Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U, S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollar, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10, to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R, Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great North ern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul; Minn.

When the Fhenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one ne mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking a breaking plow which I will sell at u heard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise

AN AMERICAN NAMED

JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED

生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED

OR A TURK NAMED

Or any man of any name or of any nation ca get better things to wear at our store and at lowe prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips n longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at ou

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

[illegible], Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

[illegible] $1.00

[illegible] $1.50 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 1 1894

SELECTIONS

COCAINE APPLIED IN A NEW WAY.

It Is Injected Through a Hypodermic Syringe In Operations For Cataract.

From the London cables it appears that the use of cocaine in the removal of the cataracts from Mr. Gladstone's eyes was a success.

The method employed by Dr. Nettleship was, it seems, a new one which has been in vogue only a short time. This method is to inject the cocaine by means of a hypodermic syringe beneath the conjunctiva—that is, the membrane which joins the eyeball with the eyelid. By doing this a more rapid anæsthesia is produced while at the same time there is less danger of inflammation.

The old method is to drop the cocaine into the eye with a squirt, and the objections to it are that it is wasteful, takes too much time and stuns merely the sensibilities of the outer membranes.

A number of eminent eye surgeons in this city who have seen the cables about Mr. Gladstone told a reporter their views on the subject, but none of them would allow himself to be quoted except Dr. D. B. St. John Roosa.

Their views are in substance the forgoing ones: The "old school," on the one hand, maintain that the use of the hypodermic syringe favors suppuration, checking more effectually the circulation round the parts affected, and they believe they can obviate this drawback by using merely enough to deaden the pain without interfering with the feeling. On the other hand, the "new school" claim that the only danger of inflammation is from what they call incomplete antisepticism—that is, unclean instruments, bandages and so forth—and say that the anæsthesia produced by either method is practically the same, while the old method is tedious.

Dr. St. John Roosa said that there is no possible danger in using cocaine except a possible infection in the injection method.

"All talk about its injuriousness," he continued, "is nonsense. Cocaine is the greatest blessing to opthalmologists ever invented, and Dr. Carl Koller, who first suggested its use in operations on the eye, ought to have a statue erected to his honor for the boon.

"In regard to Mr. Gladstone, I am very glad the operation was so successful, for he is the physicians' friend and ought to get the benefit of all they can give. Dr. Nettleship of Moorfield hospital, who performed the operation, ranks as the best eye surgeon in England."—New York Sun.

Metallic Fireworks.

A Bessemer converter, with its 12 tons of molten iron under full blast, is the grandest display of pyrotechnics that man has yet achieved. The thunder of the blast deafens you; the ever brightening flame, flashing up finally as high as 50 feet, blinds you; sparks fall everywhere; smoke and steam confuse you; your mind and senses are in a whirl. Yet, however confused, a sense of the majesty and glory of the display is never absent from your thoughts. The blast finished, the converter tips downward, while a huge crane places before it a ladle of the capacity of 15 tons. The converter is tipped a little more, and the white, fiery liquid runs into the ladle. The ferromanganese is then thrown in to recarbonize the steel, and this is attended with a violent reaction. Flames leap up, and not infrequently the metal boils over the edge of the ladle.

From the ladle the metal is poured into ingot molds of sizes differing according to need and placed on cars. When the molds are filled, the cars are drawn by a puffing, screeching little engine called a dinkey into the rolling mills, where the ingots are to be used. There an ingenious device called a "stripper" takes off the mold and leaves the ingot, now a red mass of steel, ready for the "soaking pit," in which it is to be heated to a soft white heat throughout before being rolled. Then a huge crane of 25 tons capacity wheels deftly around, picks up the ingot with a heavy pair of tongs and swings it off smartly to the mouth of the pit. The cover is rolled back from the pit by men with bars, and the ingot is lowered into place. When, in the heater's opinion, it is hot enough, the men roll the cover back again, and the crane carries the piece to the rolls.—McClure's Magazine.

The Bulldog and the Bicyclist.

An early rising cycler came into town the other day, carrying a broad grin. "Funniest thing I ever saw," he explained. "I turned suddenly around a street corner at the south end. The only thing in sight was an ugly looking bulldog. When he saw me and the wheel, he just humped himself down an alley, looking back once or twice to whimper, as if he thought he was going to be killed. I suppose some wheelman had given the dog a kick in the jaw that took all the fight out of him and made him afraid of the bicycle forever. It's an easy thing to do to cure a snapping dog that way, and they are getting the treatment right along. Very few dogs will annoy a rider now. They appear unable to calculate where his foot is coming and how near they can get without danger, as they can in the case of a man on foot or on a team. And a rider, aided by his momentum, can put tremendous power into a kick."—Boston Pilot.

Her Ancient Umbrella.

A woman in Darlington county, S. C., has an umbrella which she has carried for 40 years. This woman and this umbrella came into town together Friday morning, encouraging the idea that long association had made them almost inseparable. The woman appeared to be about 10 years older than the umbrella and in better repair.—Charleston News and Courier.

The Philosopher's Forgetfulness.

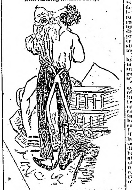
Ralph Waldo Emerson was once advertised to lecture in Boston. The audience assembled, but no lecturer appeared.

Finally, as the people were becoming more and more impatient, a friend went into the anteroom to see if he could find out the cause of the delay.

Mr. Emerson was pacing back and forth, evidently greatly vexed about something. When his friend appeared, he said, "I have forgotten what I am to lecture about."

"You are advertised to lecture on 'Memory,'" his friend responded.—Life's Calendar.

Entertaining a Small Party.



—Pittsburg Dispatch.

As His Mother Used to Make.

"Beautiful scenery here, is it not?" asked the young man of a solitary traveler whom he found pacing along the seashore.

"Well, no," replied the stranger, "I can't agree with you. I think the ocean is too small. It is no such ocean as my mother used to have."

"Your mother's ocean was superior, then?"

"Oh, yes, vastly superior. What tumbling breakers! What a magnificent sweep of view! What amplitude of distance! What fishing there was in my mother's ocean!"

"But the sky is magnificent here, is it not, sir?"

"Too low and too narrow across the top," replied the stranger.

"I hadn't noticed," said the young man.

"Yes," said the stranger, "it is too low, and there isn't air enough in it either. Besides it doesn't sit plumb over the earth. It is wider from north to south than it is from west to east. I call it a pretty poor sky. It is no such sky as my mother used to have."

"Pardon me, but did your mother have a special sky and ocean of her own?"

Right here an old resident came up and drew the young man aside.

"Don't talk with him," said the old resident. "He is a hopeless lunatic. He is a man who always used to tell his wife about 'the biscuits my mother used to make,' 'my mother's pies,' 'my mother's puddings' and 'my mother's doughnuts.' The habit grew on him so much that he became a confirmed lunatic."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

All That's Good to Eat.

"I saw three negro barbers make a bet over at Houston not long ago," said W. C. Rigsby. "They were discussing edibles, and one of them bet the other two that he could beat them guessing as to the best thing to eat, and I was appointed referee.

"'There ain't nothin better, chile, than a good, fat possum well baked in rich, brown gravy,' said one of them.

"'Tell you, possum's mighty good, but give me a good, juicy watermelon,' said the second of them.

"The one who had proposed the bet had a watery look about the mouth when the other two had finished.

"'Now, what's your guess,' I asked of him.

"'Lord, boss, dem two niggers done guessed it all. There ain't nothin left me to guess.'"—San Antonio Express.

Stocks.

She was obdurate.

"No," she repeated decisively.

He begged her to reconsider her determination.

"I cannot," she insisted, "trust my future with you."

In spite of all he could say she took it across the street and left it with another broker.—Detroit Tribune.

Specified.

Maud—What is the height of your ambition, dear?

Marie (blushing)—Oh, something between 5½ and 6 feet.—Tit-Bits.

To Suit.

Fond Mamma (to clerk in china store)—I see you have mugs marked Tom and Jerry. Have you any with Willie and Charlie on them?—Life.

Hot Weather Philosophy.

Don't fret about the mercury
  Or watch it all the time.
The old thermometer won't burst,
  However it may climb.
It doesn't do you any good
  To count up the degrees,
And all your talk about the heat
  Won't start a bit of breeze.

Don't fan yourself too much. It makes
  You hotter when you stop.
Don't tell the suffering neighbors that
  You feel as if you'd drop.
Don't drink too much cold lemonade.
  A glass or two will do.
And don't ask everybody,
  "Is it hot enough for you?"

Just go about your daily tasks
  As calmly as you can.
Don't hurry. Take things easy, and
  You'll be much happier than
The chap who groans and frets and stews
  And fusses all the time.
Just follow this advice, and you'll
  Be glad you read this rhyme.
—Somerville Journal.

High Bred.

"She seems to be infatuated with her little dog."

"Yes. She says he is just heavenly."

"Heavenly! Then he must be a skye terrier."—New York Press.

Diminutive.

Customer—I am furnishing a modern flat.

Floorwalker—The toy department is down stairs.—Detroit Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at [illegible] p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 521 thereof, which said mortgage [illegible] to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at [illegible] per cent, and due June 1st 1898, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one half (S ½) of the North west quarter (NW ¼) and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 21 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor B[illegible] for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alledged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

BREVITIES

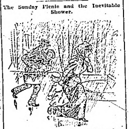
WORD HISTORY.

Puss, the common name for cat, is a corruption of the Persian word pers, a cat.

Gossip was once a sponsor in baptism, next any elderly person, finally a talebearer.

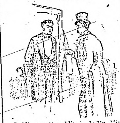
Tories were originally bands of Irish outlaws. The Celtic word toree means robber.

The Sunday Picnic and the Inevitable Shower.



—Chicago Record.

The Coast Was Clear.

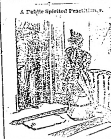


Paddington (trembling)—Is Mr. Mitford in?

Servant—No, sir. He went out 1[illegible] minutes ago.

Paddington (with beaming countenance)—Ah, will you kindly give my [illegible] to Miss Mitford?—Brooklyn Life.

A Public Spirited Practitioner.



"Doctor, they tell me you are attending that young man next door free of charge."

"Yes, and glad to do it. He's been practicing on a snare drum for the last six months, and now I have a chance to put an end to the nuisance."—Life.

Financial.

She shrank from him.

"I'm awfully shy," she faltered.

He looked upon her bowed head in a trance of horror.

"Can it be possible," he demanded, "that you have already dissipated the fortune your grandmother left you?"

Seizing his hat and cane, he fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Unconscious Betrayal.

Elderly maid and her best young man tete-a-tete. Enter little brother.

Miss Sears—Well, Bobby, what do you want?

Bobby—Crack this nut for me. I'll do as much for you when I have false teeth.—New York World.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD. Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

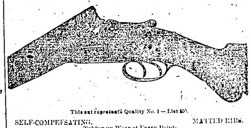
Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF.

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

Impure Blood

Manifests itself in hot weather in hives, pimples, boils and other eruptions which disfigure the face and cause great annoyance. The cure is found in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes the blood pure and removes all such disfigurations. It also gives strength, creates an appetite and invigorates the whole system. Get Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient.

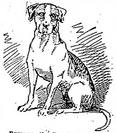
A DOG DRUNKARD

Bumpus Never Missed a Chance to Drink Liquor, and Finally Went the Way of all His Kind.

In bear stories sometimes you hear truth-stretching yarns about how Bruin was conquered by filling him with liquor. One day last winter, when a horse was hauled out of the East river after several hours' struggle for life in its freezing embrace, they gave straight whisky. And here is another story of a whisky-drinking animal—a dog out in Ohio, who was an habitual drunkard, so they say, and whose bibulous propensities actually led to his death, which happened the other day at Wilmington, in the Buckeye State.

This dog drunkard's name was Bumpus, after "Bumpus" Jones, once a famous pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds. At about the same time the dog came to Wilmington from somewhere in the back country. Where he acquired the taste for drink was never known. He soon became one of the sights of the town, and had to stand up and be treated oftener than the most inveterate rounder.

He was never known to refuse anything, drinking champagne or other the poor fellow a quart or more of wine with the same avidity that he lapped up the stale dregs of some old beer keg. He would drink, too, until he got so full he could no longer navigate, then, man like, he would crawl off to some sequestered spot and sleep his drunk off. It was no uncommon thing to see him staggering on the streets like a man suffering from an overdose of spiritu frumenti.



Bumpus, the Dog Drunkard.

Like many other drinkers, when sober he was exceedingly amiable and docile and would run away to avoid a fight with other dogs, and when other dogs would scare up a scrap in the presence he would take part only in his role of a peacemaker. But when on a spree his bull dog fighting propensities would become aroused, and when in this condition he was never known to succumb to an opponent.

He was found dead one morning in the barroom of the Midland hotel. He had been full the night before, and at 1 a. m., when the place closed up, was feeling very groggy. Bumpus was a cross between a bull dog and a pointer, large for his breed and with large white and tan spots on his body and head. He was a handsome fellow and had so may friends that it was thought fitting to his memory to give him an elaborate (for a dog) funeral. The mayor of the town headed the subscription list and the citizens chipped in. He was but two years old at his death.

Led Pencil Wood.

Most persons know that the wood of the best lead pencil is from a form of the American red cedar. The best for the purpose is said to belong to the variety known as Juniperus Virginiana, variety Bermudiana. This form of red cedar seems to have its home on the island of Bermuda, it being the only tree found on the island. It is supposed originally to have been started from seed of our common red cedar, brought to the island by birds, or in some other way, and that the continual force of circumstances, different from those under which our red cedar exists, has caused it to change in some respects its character. The same form is, however, now found in the south, possibly from seeds brought again from Bermuda by birds, as in the first instance. It is said that Mr. Faber, whose name is inseparably connected with the best class of lead pencils, has growing on his estates at Schloss Stein, near Nuremburg, Germany, some twelve or thirteen acres of this kind of cedar, from which he expects in the future to raise enough wood for his pencils without importing it from the new world.—Meehan's Monthly.

Sowing Turnips.

Turnips may be sown any time before the 10th of August, and under favorable conditions make a good crop. They should be sown on very well-prepared ground, and if sown just before a rain they will come up and make a rapid growth. The fleece beetle is very destructive some years, and the only remedy seems to sow them pretty thick, thinning them out later when the insects have disappeared. On small patches in gardens, soot is sometimes efficacious in driving them off.

Turnips make their growth after the cool night comes, and should be allowed to remain in the ground until after hard frosts have appeared. On many farms this root is never grown, but there are few farms on which it might not be grown with fair profit.

THE SCHOOL BOY

—is often a sufferer from headache. The seat of sick headache is not in the brain, for if you regulate the stomach and bowels you'll cure it. Too much brain-work and brain-tire brings on a rush of blood to the head with headache, dizziness or "nose bleed."

Miss BERTHA WOLFE, of Dayton, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I suffered from loss of appetite, constipation, neuralgia, and great weakness, and had terrible attacks of sick headache very frequently; also nose bleed. My health was so poor that I was not able to go to school for two years. I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and in a short time I was strong and well. Many friends are taking your medicines, seeing what they have done for me."

MISS WOLFE.

CONFEREES AT WORK.

TRYING TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON THE TARIFF.

The Indications Are That the Senate Bill Must Be Agreed Upon Substantially as It Stands or No Bill Will Be Passed.

Washington, July 30.—The tariff conferees resumed their deliberations to-day, but thus far no rumors have emanated from the committee room as to whether they have agreed upon any schedule

The tariff situation has kept pace with the intensity of the heat, which for the first time this year touched the 100 point. Throughout there have been tariff conferences at the White House, tariff conferences of the senate and house conferees, tariff conferences of the Democratic house conferees, and, finally, an effort for a house tariff caucus to consider some means of solving the problem. Out of it all has come no exact and definite programme by which the time of the passage of the tariff bill or its form can be predicted.

President Cleveland's great interest in the income tax struggle was shown by the calls of Chairman Wilson and Representative Catchings, the latter being Speaker Crisp's associate on the committee on rules. The president's callers were careful to refrain from any intimation of the policy of the administration, and there were conflicting reports as to the attitude of Mr. Cleveland. It was stated by those closely connected with the administration affairs that the president was as firm now as when he wrote the famous letter to Chairman Wilson against yielding what he regards as the vital principles of tariff reform. On the other hand the current opinion in congressional circles seemed to be, that the only solution to the problem was in accepting the senate bill substantially as it stands, with such concessions as the conferees have shown a disposition to yield. This current feeling found expression in a petition circulated by Mr. Springer, requesting Mr. Holman, chairman of the house Democratic caucus, to call a caucus. This was the first open expression toward yielding to the senate bill. The Democratic tariff conferees assembled and went over the essential points of difference on sugar, iron ore and coal. It was stated at the conclusion of the meeting that the senators had in effect presented an ultimatum, which was that the senate bill so far as the disputed features were concerned was the only tariff measure which could get through this congress and become a law. The house conferees withdrew to the ways and means committee room and were in executive session for an hour.

The Democratic members of the conference committee were prompt in resuming their session to-day. The indications are that there will be numerous changes in the less important schedules of the bill. These were agreed upon tentatively in the former conference, and it is considered improbable that the basis of agreement then arrived at will be changed materially during the present conference. It is believed that there will be no material changes in the metal schedule. When the former conference broke up the house members were disposed to hold stiffly for considerable concessions on cutlery and steel rails. The prospects are now that the rates on rails will be lowered somewhat, but that the cutlery rate will not be changed. The senate conferees probably will accept the house rate of $1 per pound on wrapper tobacco, retaining the senate phraseology.

There will also be some changes in the wool schedule, the most important of which probably will be in the paragraph relating to cloth for men's wear. The senate bill provides a duty of 40 per cent on articles of this class of less than 50 cents per pound value, and of 50 per cent on articles of greater value. The indications are that the rate will be made 45 per cent. A similar change will probably be made on woolen articles not especially provided for, but it is not believed that the rearrangement will extend to women's and children's goods. The house rate on rovings and tops, 25 per cent, will be accepted. Cotton cloth and yarns will probably be reduced to the extent of about 5 per cent, as will laces and embroideries, on which the rate will probably be made 45 instead of 50 per cent. The house rates on China and earthenware, which are slightly higher than those of the senate bill, will be accepted. The senate probably will recede from its increase of the tobacco tax, and it is said to be probable that there will be a compromise on the bonded period, the tax being fixed at $1 and the bonded period at five years.

There are a number of Democratic senators who will resist any report making reductions in either coal, iron ore or sugar, and there are also many Democratic senators who will strenuously oppose material changes in the metal, woolen and cotton schedules. Thus it is evident that either the senate bill must be passed with few changes or no bill will become a law.

Not Guilty of Having Made Out False Pension Vouchers.

St. Paul, July 30.—The jury in the case of Dr. James H. Phillips of Preston, on trial for making false vouchers, returned a verdict of not guilty. A scene ensued which has few parallels in the court annals of this city. Dr. Phillips, no longer able to hold up under the terrible physical and nervous strain, broke down and cried like a child. The pathos of the sight had its effect, and there was scarcely a dry eye in the court room. Even the congratulations of Dr. Phillips' friends did not seem to relieve him, and it was some little time before he regained his wonted composure. As soon as the jury arrived at a decision word was sent to Judge Nelson and as soon as he arrived court was opened to hear the verdict pronounced. Immediately after it adjourned, although several cases of a similar nature remain to be tried. Dr. Phillips' case is too well known to require review. He was indicted by the grand jury in Minneapolis last March together with Doctors Jones and Love of Preston for issuing spurious pension vouchers.

Child Poisoned.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 30.—Mrs. Frank O Keefe, living near Minto, placed a dish containing poison fly paper on the sideboard. Her two-year-old daughter climbed up to the dish and drank of its contents. The mother discovered the child soon after in a comatose condition and soon found the cause. The child died three hours later.

Doble in the Field.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 30.—It is announced that Budd Doble will run for congress as a straight Democratic candidate.

Seizing Smuggled Clothes.

St. Vincent, Minn., Special—Deputy Collector Love and Inspectors O'Grady and McQuin made a seizure of clothes from smugglers who bought them at Emerson, Man. The ready made clothes had Nicol the Tailor's tags sewed on them.

The Bills Combined.

Washington, Special—Representative McCleary to-day reported from the house committee on railways and canals a bill combining the McCleary and Boen bills for the improvement of the Minnesota and Red rivers. An appropriation of $20,000 is provided for in the bill.

RYAN THE WINNER.

He Defeats Mysterious Billy Smith in a Twenty-Round Fight.

Minneapolis, July 27.—The twenty-round fight at welter-weights for the championship of the world between Mysterious Billy Smith of Boston and Tommy Ryan of Chicago took place at the Twin City Athletic club last night before fully 4,000 people.

Round 1—At 9:15 they came together and fought shy for some time. Smith made some hard feints but missed very badly. Smith lead lightly on Ryan's neck. They pulled apart and then came together and clinched. Both fought foul. It was give and take, with honors easy, little damage being done. They were in a clinch when the bell was sounded.

Round 2—They went right at it, Smith doing the leading and getting counters from Ryan's right. They clinched and Smith struck, when both tried to upper cut, but missed repeatedly. Ryan landed on the chin, but honors were easy.

From the third to the tenth round it was give and take, and no damage was done.

Round 11—They rested and then came together, each getting in one on the jaw. As they got away Ryan closed Smith's eye with a straight left. They sparred to the close of the round.

Round 12—Ryan laughed at Smith and kept dodging his blows. Then he landed a light left at the damaged eye. The round was filled with Ryan's antics and laughing.

Round 13—Smith landed on the ear and then Ryan began running away. Smith then led right and landed on the kidneys and Ryan retaliated on the damaged eye. Smith landed hard on short ribs as the round closed.

Round 14—Ryan led and Smith caught him with an upper-cut. Smith landed a terrific right on Ryan's chest, which nearly floored him. Smith chased him all over the ring and landed right and left but could not finish him.

Round 15—The only blow of importance was a hot right landed by Smith on the short ribs. Both men were strong and fighting hard, but the blows did not count.

Round 16—Ryan landed a hard left on the jaw and Smith's fearful right was half spent as it met Ryan's paunch. Ryan then landed two straight lefts on the face. Ryan landed on the head and received a right in the stomach.

Round 17—Smith landed a hard right on the body. Ryan landed a hard left at the eye and Smith landed his right hard on Ryan's jaw.

Round 18—They fought close near the close, when Ryan shot out a left which dazed Smith and drew blood. He went after him, but both fought like tigers, and Smith was groggy as the round closed. Smith's nose was broken.

Round 19—Time only saved Smith. Ryan sent his right and left into Smith's face. The blood flew but he could not knock him out.

Round 20—Ryan landed punch after punch at Smith's face but appeared afraid of Smith, although nearly gone, as he had a dangerous right and stood him off. Although not knocked out, Smith was declared beaten by the referee.

TWO FIREMEN INJURED.

In a Blaze at Sioux City Which Destroyed Property Valued at $40,000

Sioux City, Iowa, July 27.—A fire which originated in the new Lerch block, on the corner of Fifth and Douglas streets, in this city, destroyed property to the extent of $40,000; insurance, $23,000. The postoffice, which is located in the same building, was saved by the firemen after a three hours' fight against the flames. Two firemen, Max Hilgers and Emil Sagerson, were blown across Fifth street by an explosion in the undertaking establishment of Gus Swanson, but escaped serious injury. Ed Harris, a spectator, was knocked insensible by a live electric wire, which fell during the fire. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is evident that the flames originated in the basement of Swanson's. The losses and insurance were as follows: William Lerch, loss, $25,000; insurance, $16,000. G. Swanson, loss, $8,000; insurance, $4,000. Globe meat market, loss, $2,000; insurance, $1,000. G. A. R. hall and Turner hall on second floor, loss, $2,000; insurance, $500.

The block was comparatively new and in the heart of the city. The Royal Arcanum, American Protective association, G. A. R. and Scottish Clan occupied G. A. R. hall, on the second floor of the building, and the loss of the lodge property was total.

LIKE A FURNACE.

A Terrible Wave of Heat Sweeps Over the West.

Chicago, July 27.—Prof. W. L. Moore, in charge of the United States weather bureau in this city, last night furnished the Associated Press with the following special report on the extraordinary hot weather now prevailing in the central portion of the country:

"An abnormally low barometric condition, attended by extreme heat and brisk south winds, covers the middle Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys. An area throughout which the temperature this afternoon (Thursday) exceeded 100 degrees embraces the states of South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, south half of Minnesota, Western Wisconsin and northern part of Illinois. Throughout the entire Mississippi valley, Ohio valley, Texas and Indian territory the temperature considerably exceeds 90."

At points in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota the thermometer went as high as 110 degrees. Crops have suffered terribly.

Two Severe Fires.

Pittsfield, Ill., July 27.—The city of Greggsville, this county, suffered a severe loss by fire to-day, ten business buildings being burned. The loss is about $100,000, with $50,000 insurance.

Norton, Mass., July 27.—The box factory and lumber yard of A. H. Sweet and four dwellings near by burned to-day. Loss, $125,000. The fire is still raging.

The New Cable.

New York, July 27.—At noon to-day 1,577 miles of the Anglo-American Telegraph company's new cable had been laid, the Scotia then being in latitude 52.18 north, longitude 17.02 west.

The Niagara Whirlpool.

Niagara Falls, July 27.—The body of the thirteen-year-old boy found in the whirlpool on the Canadian side proves to be that of George Hartutz of Pittsburg. He was drowned at Edgewater over a week ago.

The Woe of Kosh-Ko-Wa-Bic.

Brainery, Minn., Special—Kosh-ko-wa-bic, an Indian from Leech lake, was sentenced to sixty days in jail this morning for killing deer out of season. The prisoner is one of the most expert deer hunters in Northern Minnesota, and was captured by Game Warden Paine after a hand-to-hand struggle. Violaters of the game law in this section will receive no quarter in the future.

A $20,000 Fire at Okes.

Oakes, N. D., Special—Fire destroyed Noer Bros.' livery stable this morning with twenty valuable horses. Loss, $20,000; insurance $1,500.

PORTRAIT OF A LADY.

In the summer of '88 I was employed to look after some legal business at Boone Court House, W. Va. Leaving the railroad at Brownstown and taking directions and a horse from my landlord at that point, I set out through the mountains early in the afternoon, expecting to reach Racine in time for supper.

As the afternoon waned, however, I noticed that the road became constantly rougher and apparently more unfrequented, until it was little more than a deserted pathway that crossed and recrossed the gravelly bed of a dry creek, in a mad effort to remain in the narrow valley that wound circuitously among the mountains, whose black timbered summits seemed to stretch higher and higher above me in the gathering twilight. It being a cloudy day I was completely mystified as to the points of the compass, and it now became evident to me that I had in some manner missed my way. I had already gone too far to retrace my steps before nightfall, so that unless I speedily found shelter I would be obliged to pass the night in the open air.

Being in no wise pleased with this prospect I concluded to press on a little farther before abandoning the quest and had barely formed this resolution when a bend in the pathway brought me into full view of what appeared to be a large, square Southern mansion surrounded by trees and situated a little way up the slope of a remarkably lofty mountain that rose precipitously behind it.

A nearer approach revealed an outward appearance of overgrowth and dilapidation. The fence had fallen down in several places; the open gate was barely supported by its rusty hinges; the yard was a mass of weeds. The condition of the house I could not determine in the dim light made dimmer by the heavy shadows of the trees. Between the tall weeds and briars there was a wide stone walk leading from the gate to the front door.

The prospect was not an inviting one, but as my situation had become somewhat desperate I determined if possible to obtain accommodations for the night.

My repeated knocks elicited no response beyond a hallow echo, and concluding the place to be deserted, I tried the door. Somewhat to my surprise it yielded, the rusty hinges creaking terribly as I pushed it wide open. As I entered I was greeted by that musty, lifeless odor common to places long closed and uninhabited. I had matches with me, and striking one I looked about me.

I was in a wide hall. Before me a dark staircase, whitened with dust, led to rooms above. To the left and right were closed doors, and attached to the white casement of the latter was a little bracket candelabra containing a cluster of six half-consumed wax candles. Lighting two of these, I took one of them from the holder and opening the door at my right entered.

The room in which I found myself was apparently the parlor of the deserted mansion. The dust-covered haircloth furniture, which had evidently been for many years undisturbed, was of a style massive and once much in vogue. A number of paintings and engravings were upon the walls in tarnished gilt frames. A large chandelier suspended in the center of the rooom was of elaborate workmanship. The floor was covered with a heavy matting the exact nature of which I could hardly determine, owing to the thick covering of dust. Passing on to an adjoining room, I was not disappointed in finding it to be a large bedroom with all the appointments peculiar to an old-time Southern home of wealth. I aproached the tall canopied bed in the opposite corner and drew back the curtains; it was ready for the guests for which it had so long waited. The bedding was yellow with age, but the canopy had protected it from the dust. It had not been occupied for years.

I confess I was possessed with a sense of awe amid these surroundings, but not being of a timid nature I determined to pass the night beneath this roof in preference to enduring the heavy fog that always gathers at night in these mountains. Leaving my candle lighted, I now returned to my horse and arranged his bridle-rein so that he could eat the grass for a considerable space about him; then removing the saddle I returned with it to my strange quarters.

Prying open one of the creaking windows and its heavy shutters to let fresh air into the musty apartment, I fastened back the draperies of the tall bed and drew back the long-unused bedding, the odor of which reminded me of cerements. To relieve this somewhat I covered the pillow with my coat, and removing my outer garments I lay down, for I was greatly fatigued with riding, an exercise to which I was totally unaccustomed.

My candle I had, with a few drops of melted wax, affixed to a small table near the center of the room, and having no desire to remain in darkness in this lonely place, I left it burning.

As I lay there wondering at my strange surroundings and not altogether free from a sense of fear at the silence and shadows of the deserted place, I now noticed for the first time that beyond my candle and a little to the left there hung against the partition wall separating the two rooms, a full-length portrait of a lady. The picture was an oil painting and the execution admirable. It was fully life size, and the frame that inclosed it wide and elaborate, although now tarnished and dusty.

But it was the figure itself that most attracted me. The face was that of a woman not beyond 20 years of age, and beautiful in the extreme. Her hair was a wealth of glistening gold; her dress that of a bride. The picture appeared to have suffered but little from age, and the light as it fell upon it made the view from my position remarkably good. As I lay there in silent contemplation of this beautiful portrait, I forgot any incipient fears that had hovered about me, and fell to speculating upon the history of this deserted house, and the story of that fair bride.

I was too tired to muse long; my eyelids grew heavier and I caught myself mingling fact and fancy without being able to distinguish them. Then I fell asleep.

I do not know what time it was when I woke, but it must have been very late, for I noticed that the candle had burned low and was flaring widely as from a draught. At that moment a fear came upon me such as I had never known. An iceness seemed creeping over my body, beginning at my feet and extending rapidly upwards. I was trembling as with an ague.

A slight rustling sound from the next room attracted me, and turning my eyes involuntarily in that direction, I almost expired from fear, for into the chamber, her head bowed, and wringing her hands in evident distress of mind, there entered the lady of the portrait. The counterpart was exact; the dress, the pattern of the lace, even the rings upon her slender white fingers. That it was a spirit I never for a moment doubted.

Slowly she approached the bedside without noticing me at first, and seated herself in a heavy armchair a few feet away, still moaning and wringing her beautiful hands. Raising her eyes at last she seemed to become conscious of my presence, and spoke.

"Oh, pray for me," she moaned, "pray for my soul. Oh, pray for me, pray for me!"

I know not what power possessed me at that moment, but suddenly, in spite of my abject terror, I found myself upright upon my knees in the bed, pouring forth a prayer for the beautiful distressed spirit before me. As the words fell from my lips—words which seemed to be uttered through rather than by me—I noticed, too, and with the utmost terror, that the candle had burned down to the wood and that in another moment we would be in darkness. Still the earnest words poured from my lips, and the face before me seemed to grow misty in the flickering light of the expiring candle. Suddenly the figure rose from the chair and taking one step toward me stretched forth her exquisite arms above mine and vanished. As she did so I distinctly felt something hot like wax from a dripping candle fall upon the back of my right hand. At that instant, too, the candle gave one final flare and went out.

When consciousness returned I was lying across the bed and the sun was streaming in at the open window. For a moment I was a little dazed at my surroundings, then it all came back to me. Seized with a wild panic—such panic as possesses stampeding cattle—I caught up my clothes and my horse's saddle and fled. As I passed the portrait its eyes seemed to follow me, and added to my terrors. Through the dusty rooms, out of the weed-grown yard, I tore as one distraught to where my horse was quietly waiting. A moment later I was urging him down the unfrequented path.

Not until I was far away did I pause in my frantic flight. Then, suddenly remembering, I glanced at the back of my right hand, and there—round, red and dry, like a crimson wafer—was a drop of blood.—Albert Bigelow Payne in Detroit Free Press.

FATHER OF THIRTY-NINE

A Georgia Negro of 98, Whose Oldest Child Is 77.

In a little dilapidated old cabin, situated in a back alley which cuts off from Hayden street, lives one of the most remarkable characters in Georgia, says the Atlanta Constitution.

An old negro he is who, for ninety-eight years, has seen season follow season and generation succeed generation. His wife, too, is aged, and numbers her years high above the fourscore notch.

"Dan'el Winfield, sah, Dan'el Winfield, dat's my name. B'longed to the Travises endurin' of slavery time. Dat's me, boss."

This is the usual salutation of Uncle Dan, and he does it with all grace. Uncle Dan has an interesting history, and he delights to recount with multitudinous detail the incidents of his extended career. He was born in Fayette county in 1796, and has seen every decade of the nineteenth century. In ante-bellum days Daniel was the property of Miss Phoebe Winfield. She was the spinster sister of a prosperous cotton planter, and it was under his supervision that Daniel toiled. In early life he acted in the honored capacity of coachman and presided in his exalted position until his promotion to the foreman's place.

Frequently he made long trips through the country to Augusta, having under his charge a train of wagons loaded with cotton ready for market. After the war he settled in an adjoining county, where he continued at farm work, until his removal to Atlanta, about ten years ago. In domestic life Uncle Dan has been lucky. He has been married twice, during which time he became the father of thirty-nine children. By his first wife twelve children were born, all of whom are yet alive and flourishing. The oldest of this brood is 77. Three years after the death of his first wife he took unto himself a second wife, and twenty-seven children were the result. As to the grandchildren, greatgrandchildren and great-great-greatgrandchildren, they are scattered in every part of Georgia, an innumerable progeny. Except for an accident which befell the old man several years ago he would now be steadily at work. While at work on the top of the Metropolitan hotel he stepped through the skylight, striking the floor four stories below. The result of this fall has to some extent interfered with the locomotive powers of Uncle Dan, but in all other respects he is remarkably hale.

THEY ARE EASY HOAXED.

Story of a Chicago Race Track Credited by Our English Cousins.

It seems to be an easy matter to hoax our English cousins, for just now they are accepting in good faith this yarn about a race alleged to have been run at Chicago:—

There had been a false start, owing to a mistake made by the man with the advance flag, and in spite of the growlings of those who had backed a black horse that was esteemed a "good thing," and, unlike so many good things of which we have had constant experience, won in a canter by any number of lengths, the horses returned to the post. The starter, much put out, of course, at the catastrophe, took his place and prepared for business.

"While he was standing there," the story goes on to relate "a black boy, who was so handicapped by lack of height that it was impossible for him to see the race, spied a place of vantage between the widespread legs of the starter. He crept up and soon was snugly fixed in his place. The starter happened to glance down and saw the black face peering into space.

"'Begone, you imp!' he cried, and at the same time hit at the woolly pate with is flag stick. The advance flagman was keen and watchful. He did not see the negro, but he was conscious that the starter's flag had dipped. Down went his own again and once more the field swept away. Once more all was confusion and once again the black horse walked home first.

"Things were getting serious now. Hands stealthily sought hip pockets, and when they emerged they had well loaded six shooters firmly grasped with in them. It did not make any difference to the crowd whether the starter's flag had fallen or not; the black horse had won the race twice, and if there was to be any more running they would attend to the starting themselves. In this emergency the starters were sent to the paddock for a twenty minutes' rest, and while they were there the race was declared off."

What's in a Name?

"This is a beautiful moonlight scene you have here, isn't it?"

Miss Brushes—I will see in just a moment, when I find the little book that I keep the names in.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

MELANCHTON'S RARE OLD TIMEPIECE.

Used Both as Watch and Clock by the German Reformer.

Among the Melanchthon momentos in Germany is shown a curiously shaped timepiece, which the great reformer used as a watch and also as a table clock in his study. The watch was presented to him by an admirer during the Diet at Augsburg. Nothing more unique exists in this line. It is ball-shaped and four and one-half inches in diameter. The three little gold feet attached to the lower half of the case served as pedestals when it was used as a "standuhr" on Melanchthon's table.

There was no glass to protect the dial and the movement is entirely of iron. It is plain and coarse—four small wheels, a spiral spring turning to the left, and only one hand to indicate the hours. The case itself is heavily gold-plated and tastefully engraved. Both parts of the case can be opened; under the upper cover the dial is revealed and under the lower the movement can be plainly seen. Inside the case the following inscription is found: Phil: Mela: Gott: allein: die: Ehr: 1530. (Philip Melanchthon, to God alone all honor. 1530.)

This is perhaps one of the first timepieces intended to be carried on the person. In the beginning of the sixteenth century the first watches were made. The inventor, Peter Henlein, died Nov. 16, 1542. The watches were then nicknamed Nuernberger eier (Nuernberg eggs.) Specimens of these are now so scarce and valuable that at an auction of antiquities in Paris a watch made by Peter Henlein brought 12,450 francs.

ALL EUROPE READY FOR WAR.

The Great Nations Prepared for a Declaration of Hostilities.

After the dreadful Franco-German war of 1870-1871 the principle of prolonged military service and of diminished annual contingents was given up, says McClure's Magazine. The monstrous principle of universal service was adopted instead. By this principle the whole nation is under arms. A country is no longer a country; a people is no longer a people; a nation is now nothing but an army, and a country is only a barrack. Everybody wears the uniform. Everybody is sur le qui vive. If war breaks out to-day all professions become deserted, all functions abandoned; the life of a nation stops so that national activity may be said to begin again only with the blood that is shed. Moreover, before two hostile armies, that is, two nations which are enemies, join in combat, each of the two armies, that is, each of the two infinite hordes which traverse their several countries to meet eventually on the field of battle, will leave behind it a country in famine, its factories silent and its trade paralyzed. Again, enormous stocks of food supplies must be accumulated on the frontiers where the two armies are likely to meet; but before reaching these inexhaustible magazines the armies must be fed while crossing their own territories, and that requires money. So, that, even before the first gun is fired, each army will have expended enormous sums and left in its train towns and villages stripped of men and beasts, the cities in famine, the country without a single tiller of the field.

Tall Girls and Short.

Opinion has always been very much divided upon the subject of women's height. The novelist and designers of fashion plates incline to the view that the female form divine should be somewhat of the altitude of a life-guardsman. Tall women have unquestionably been in the ascendant in more senses than one of late. It has been expected of us to be very much nearer six feet than five, and we have very successfully contrived to fulfill this expectation. Notwithstanding, there is a great deal to be said on the other side. There are those who will declare that there is more fascination, more charm, more vivacity about a little woman. She is, they will say, more energetic, and beside her the average young man does not feel the drawbacks of early and incessant cigarette smoking and the degeneracy of his sex; she can coax and pout and flounce into pretty little passions with greater grace than a "daughter of the gods," she needs a protecting arm in a crowd, and she does not take up so much room in a railway carriage, or dwarf her partners in the ball room.

There was never yet a little woman who could not command attention and flirt five times as furiously as a tall one, and no amount of height ever produced more dignity than a small woman can assume on occasion. It is, of course, by comparison that everything is thus and thus, and so it is only when judged by the standard of some exceptionally tall sister that a short woman will permit herself to be so described. She will always indignantly disclaim a brevity of inches under any circumstances, though no woman ever yet objected to the epithet, "little woman" used as a term of affection.—Lady's Pictorial.

Microbe Photographs.

Prof. Marshall Ward has made a curious discovery in photography. He has found that direct sun and electric arc light, and more especially the blue rays, kill microbes. Hence, if he covers a plate of glass with gelatine over a colony of microbes and exposes it to the sun, the gelatine remains clear in the light, but grows black in the shade by reason of the development of the organisms. By this means he has succeeded in taking photographs of persons and landscapes. It is stated that no sensitive film or developer is required, and that the picture simply forms on the plate during exposure.

Exhaust Steam Sound-Reducer.

A sound reducer is being introduced in Germany, which, it is claimed, entirely overcomes the noise occasioned by exhaust steam. The apparatus is applicable to all kinds of exhaust engines, steam, gas and petroleum engines, while it at the same time serves the purpose of an oil, and water separator. A large reducer, 14 feet high, has recently been constructed for use in connection with a 400 horse power winding engine at a Westphalian colliery.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Flattering.

The female grasshopper was obviously pleased.

"My dear," she observed, "some men tried to kill me to-day."

Her husband recoiled in horror.

"Heavens," he gasped.

"I thoroughly believe—"

With a gratified smile she contemplated herself in the pool of clear waters at her feet.

"—they took me for a seventeen-year locust."

Deftly plucking a gray hair from her head she relapsed into silence.

A Long Drive.

Mrs. Cobwigger—You are sure you haven't forgotten anything, Henry?

Cobwigger—Quite, my dear. As soon as the farmer said his house was only five minutes' walk from the station I telegraphed to have a carriage waiting for us.

Society is what people are when they know they are watched.

We may have a grand motive and yet never accomplish much.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Learning is pleasurable, but doing is the height of enjoyment.—Novalis.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Thy friend has a friend and thy friend's friend has a friend; be discreet.—Talmud.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

The greatest difficulties are always found where we are not looking for them.—Goethe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

The man who never votes is generally the first to complain of corruption in politics.

Foreboding is always an enemy at rest.

Men are often gainers when they lose their money.

OH, MY HEAD
Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

An insincere prayer is like a blank cartridge—nothing comes out of it.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers use Syrup of Figs.

Avoiding tempation by seeing how near you can get to it without yielding is likely to fail ten times when it succeeds once.

Don't Give Up the Ship!

So say those who, having experienced its benefits themselves, advise their despairing friends to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the combined evils—liver complaint, dyspepsia and irregularity of the bowels. Fruitful of benefit is the bitters in malaria, rheumatic and kidney troubles and nervousness. Use the great remedy with persistence.

It is not safe depending on what some men say. They sometimes speak the truth.

The longest prayers sometimes have the shortest range.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE
WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 13 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators.
Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

HOTEL FURNITURE and LEASE FOR SALE.
ST. PAUL.
A great bargain is offered to any responsible hotel man to take AN OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address,
Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.
$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits. FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.
OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Minn. Hist. Soc.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1894. NUMBER 1.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

The government commission to investigate the strike will hold its first meeting Aug. 15 in Chicago.

The war ship Capt. Pratt has been ordered to Callao to protect endangered Chilean interests.

Hon. Charles Denby, United States minister to China, who has been home on leave since March, has been directed to return.

The gold reserve in the treasury has been reduced to $55,016,212, but officials are hopeful the demand for small notes to remove the crops will soon turn the tide.

Mr. Harries, of Kansas, mem ber of he house committee upon Pacific roads has filed a supplemental report favoring foreclosure of the government lien upon default payment, and thesale of the property to some other company.

Representative Bryan has received a letter from the office of the Nebraska Democratic Free Coinage league, asking him to become a candidate for United States senater and to make announcement of his principles.

The president has approved the application for retirement of Admiral Stanton to take effect July 30. This results in the promotion of Commodore Eben, now commanding the European station, to be rear admiral and the assignment of Commodore Richard Mead to the command of the North Atlantic station.

Personal Mention.

Fred A. Loudon, brother of M. D. Loudon (Eli Perkins) died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Rio, Ill.

Dr. P. A. Cool, has resigned the presidency of George R. Smith, college in Sedalia, Mo.

Senator Hawley has been thirty-six years in active newspaper service in Hartford, Conn.

R. S. Skinner, one of the best known pioneer railway men in Iowa, is dead. aged 70.

Henry E. Perrine of Buffalo, N. Y., stepfather of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, is seriously ill.

Harry M. Dickey died at Marshall, Mich. He was a Chicago traveling salesman.

Henry W. Hyde, for thirty-four years an agent of the American Express company at Moline, Ill., died of paralysis, aged 68 years.

Miss Hamilton, of Indiana, who has just been appointed the physician of the harem of the ameer of Afghanistan will be accompanied wherever she goes by a personal guard of six soldiers.

Miss Agnes Repplier, who is now visiting London, has become a literary lioness in that city. Andrew Lang has given a dinner in her honor, amog the guests being Prof. Max Muller, the philologist.

Senator Vest has had a bad attack of erysipelas and his face for a day or two has been badly swollen. He has been regularly at work, however, and was at yesterday's meeting of the tariff conferees.

Miss Margaret Rogers, a twenty-three year old girl of Monterey, Cal., has already made a fortune in the horse and cattle business. Besides being able to plow, sow, harvest and break horses, she has an excellent education and is a good performer on the piano.

Only $2,000 remains unsubscribed of the fund needed for the McClellen monument, which is to be erected on the Public Buildings plaza in Philadelphia. The total cost of the pedestal and statue will be $20,000. The dedication is set for Sept. 17. Gov. Pattison will preside.

Countess Alesio of Turin, who has lately celebrated her 100th birthday, accompanied her husband through all the horrors of the Moscow campaign while she was a bride of eighteen. Her faculties are still in excellent condition, and her health permits her to spend several hours a day in piano practice.

Unfortunate Events.

H. P. Canodeo was crushed to death under a wagon near Rockford, Ill.

Fire in a Chicago lumber district causes a loss of about $1,500,000.

The Kennedy chair factory at Minneapolis was damaged $8,000 by fire.

Thosam Downs, of Girard, Ohio, was battered to death under the wheels of a runaway horse.

William D. Speier, a tinner, aged 61, fell from a roof at Tiffin, Ohio, and was instantly killed.

Lester Woodruff, aged 7, son of Rev. James Woodruff, of Ohio, was drowned at Battle Creek, Mich.

Miss Pauline Laupheimer of Sedalia, Mo., was terribly mangled under an electric car at Quincy, Ill.

Three men are dead and another seriously injured as the result of a boiler explosion at a mine near Ashland, Pa.

Mayo college, the leading educational institution of Northen Texas, was burned. Loss, $100,000.

William Noon, aged 11, was accidently shot and killed at Trenton, N. J., by Matthew Pursell, aged 14.

One man was injured and two injured in an accident yesterday on the Birmington & Atlantic railroad near Anniston, Ala.

Frightened by a gun being pointed at him, Joseph Stakeman of Terre Haute, Ind., went into a trance from which he did not recover fora week.

While a new explosive was being tested in Chicago an explosion occurred, which killed three men and fatally injured two others.

Twenty-five people lost their lives by drowning and burning at Phillips, Wis., during the destruction of that town. The financial loss is about a million dollars at Phillips and an equal amount at Mason.

The explosion of thirty-five pounds of giant powder in the Golden Gate mine at Sonora, Cal., caused the death of Lafayette Carr and John Maugram, two experienced miners who had been sent to the 400-foot level to do some blasting.

Maj. E. W. Halford, paymaster in the army and former secretary to President Harrison, was badly hurt in a runaway at Omaha, Neb. He was driving down the street in a phaeton, when the harness gave away, and the vehicle upset in turning a corner. Maj. Halford was thrown out and injured, but not seriously.

Criminal Doings.

Mrs. Merrick, 61, while visiting friends at Danville, Ill., cut her throat with a razor. She resides at Joliet.

Thomas Evans, aged 30, cut his wife's throat at Louisville, Ky., and then committed suicide.

The first hanging in fifty years at Norfolk, Va., was that of Madison Brown for the murder of John Dollard.

Capt. W. G. Randolph, treasurer of East Baton Rouge parish, La., shot in a bar-room duel by Dr. King Holt, died of his wounds.

Two colored boys, aged 9 and 11, have been arrested at Terrell, Tex., accused of killing a 6-year-old child after gouging his eyes out.

Carroll Hughes, a Rock Island conductor was shot and killed by George McMillen, a saloonkeeper, at St. Joseph, Mo., in a political quarrel.

Moritz Bauer was arrested at New York accused of securing $75,000 from S. Silverstone, at Peoria, Ill., by false pretenses.

Five striking employes of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois road were arrested at Brazil, Ind., for contempt of court.

Gen. S. W. Ferguson, one of the Mississippi levee board, has disappeared. An examination of his books at Greenhill, Miss., shows a shortage of $38,000.

In a dispute over hogs six men in Pawnee county, Nebraska, became engaged in a bloody affray, with the result that two men are dead and two seriously wounded.

One hundred men of Jeffrie's Seattle industrial army captured a Cleveland & Pittsburg train just east of Newburg Ind. The police of Ravenna dislodged twenty-five of the men.

Sylvester Rittenhouse, a young man about 30, committed suicide at Benton Harbor, Mich., by shooting himself in the heart with a 22-caliber revolver. He leaves a wife. No cause is asigned for the deed.

L. Silva, convicted of embezzling $100,000 from the Rainwater-Bradford Hat company at St. Louis, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, but was released on bond pending appeal.

Charles Bertrand, alias Donaldson, a forger known to the police of the United States, was sentenced in London to three and a half years' imprisonment after having been convicted of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

A posse of deputy sheriffs who have been in pursuit of a band of Nebraska cattle thieves during the week captured William Campbell, the leader, and Allen Jones near Santee agency, Nebraska.

There is now a suspicion that William Murphy, a private in Co. G, Second United States infantry, whose remains were found on the Union Pacific tracks at Silver Bow Junction, Mont., was murdered.

The big stock exchange operator, Joseph A. Blair, has served papers at New York, on Jenkins Van Schaick, another well-known dealer, for $50,000 damages in a criminal libel suit, maintaining that he had been injured to this extent through Van Schaick calling him "murderer" on the floor of the stock exchange. The case will come for preliminary trial in a few days, and eminent counsel has been engaged on both sides.

Foreign Gossip.

Mr. Gladstone declines the invitation to visit America.

The speaker of the Newfoundland legislature and another member are removed for various abuses.

A $50,000 cask of gold from New York is stolen from a French railway car.

In a naval battle the Japanese sink one of the largest Chinese ironclads and capture or destroy two big cruisers, killing 2,000 Chinamen.

Japan is likely to pay dearly for the sinking of that Chinese transport, which, it transpires, flew the British flag.

The steamer Trave, from St. Petersburg, reported at Lubeck that a fireman on board had died of Asiatic cholera.

Japan notifies various powers that a state of war exists between Japan and China. This is equivalent to a declaration of war.

President Diaz has named a commission of leading Mexican scientific men to make a complete survey of the famous volcano of Popocatepetl. A company of Philadelphia capitalists has been given an option on the volcano for the sum of $500,000.

Otherwise.

A grand jury in Chicago found that gambling places are run under police protection.

Corn advanced 3 cents in Chicago, where the live stock receipts are the heaviest ever known.

Charles H. Warren succeeds C. W. Case as general manager of the Great Northern road.

Mayor Hopkins of Chicago forbade an A. R. U. parade in honor of Debs on the latter's return to that city.

Rev. Henry Murphy, the unfrocked priest of Paterson, N. J., has been restored to his functions by Mgr. Satolli.

Bloomington, Ill., has ordered a waterworks pump with $4,000,000 gallons daily capacity.

Coxey expects to enlist the services of John McBride, president of the Mine Workers' union, to secure for him the miners' vote in his race for congress.

The Cincinnati Southern Railroad company has issued an order requiring all employes to either resign from the American Railway union or be discharged. Practically all the members of the union in Chattanooga complied with the order.

CHARGES ARE FALSE

MAJORITY REPORT OF THE SUGAR INVESTIGATORS.

The Committe Finds No Evidence of Bribery and Secretary Carlisle is Exonerated—No Attempt to Reward the Trust—Minority Report.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Senator Gray, chairman of the sugar investigation committee, presented the report of the committee to the senate to-day and asked that the committee be discharged. The main report is signed by all the senators of the committee, but Senators Lodge and Davis present a supplemental report and Senator Allen also presents his own views on some features of the case. The report, which has the approval of the full committee, recites the causes which led up to the investigation, and quotes the article from the Philadelphia Press, on which the charges against senators were based. It also recites the facts which have been published already as to the refusal of the correspondent Edwards to answer questions put by the committee.

Secretary Carlisle is exonerated and the parts of the article reflecting on him are declared to be without foundation "except that it is a fact, according to Secretary Carlisle testimonay, that he did, at the request of Senator Jones, of the finance committee, draft an amendment to the sugar schedule, a copy of which, as described by Mr. Carlisle, is attached as an exhibit to the testimony."

The conduct of Mr. Edwards, says the report, in publishing specific charges against public men without having personal knowledge of the facts, calls for the serious reprobation of the senate. The committee also says:

"There has been no testimony presented before your committee, and your committee has been unable to discover any tending to show that the sugar schedule was made up, as it then stood in the proposed amendment to the tariff bill, in consideration of any sum of money paid for campaign purposes of the Democratic party."

The committee also reports the subject of the campaign contributions were made only to the local committees and not for the purpose of influencing national campaigns or for the purpose of securing or defeating national legislation.

No other testimony has, the committee says, been offered, suggested or discovered which would tend to support the statement of Edwards in this regard. Nor is there, they say, any evidence in support of the statement that either of the Messers. Havemeyer had an interview with President Cleveland on a yacht in the summer of 1892, in regard to the sugar interests of the Hawaiian islands or any other sugar interests or the policy of the administration in regard to them.

On the contrary, it has been affirmatively shown, they say, that the statement is untrue as to any such interview having occurred.

It is, they say, in evidence that one or more officers of the sugar trust were in Washington, and that they saw several senators, generally those representing states in which sugar refineries were located, with the view of influencing legislation, but these gentlemen deny the use of any improper means to that end. Both the members of the trust and the finance committee deny that any meeting took place in the capitol, or anywhere else.

The report concludes by saying that no evidence has been adduced tending to show improper conduct on the part of these engaged in the framing of the sugar schedule of the tariff bill.

"Though, perhaps, outside the scope of the duty imposed upon your committee," they say, "they take occasion to strongly deprecate the importunity and pressure to which congress and its members are subjected by the representatives of great industrial combinations, whose enormous wealth tempts to undue influence and to create in the public mind a demoralizing belief in the existence of corrupt politics."

The committee reports in the negative upon the question: "Whether any senator has been speculating in sugar stocks during the consideration of the tariff bill."

As to the latter part of the inquiry which brought out a photographic copy to buy sugar stocks, dated March 2, and purporting to be signed by Senator Camden, the committee gives credence to the denial of Senator Camden and says that Battershall, whose testimony was expected to bear up the inference from the photograph copy is a man of doubtful character. Senator Smith was also exonerated from blame. Summing up, the committee says: "No charge or charges have been filed before them allegiug that the action of any senator has been corruptly or improperly influenced in the consideration of the tariff bill, and no attempt has been made to so influence legislation."

All the testimony taken by the committee is submitted as part of the report.

Messrs. Davis and Lodge, Republicans, submitted a supplemental report devoted entirely to the subject of the influence of of the sugar trust so-called on the making of the sugar schedule as it now stands in the tariff bill. They say that "no evidence has been submitted to the committee which proves that the sugar schedule was made up in order to fulfill obligations to the sugar trust for campaign contributions," but they consider it their duty to go into some detail as to the method employed in making up the sugar schedule.

"It is admitted," says to support, "and it is proved by the sworn testimony of every witness called, that the present form of the schedule was that desired by the representatives of the refineries or the sugar trust."

The three interests concerned in the sugar schedule are stated to be those with no local or pecuniary interest who believed in free sugar, the producers of raw sugar and the refiners. It soon became evident after the house bill came to the senate, says the report, that no bill could pass that body which did not regard both the latter interests. The interests of the producers and refiners then, it is said, came into conflict, the refiners favoring an advalorem duty on raw sugar, as now embodied in the bill. It is pointed out that Messrs. Havemeyer, Searles, eHury R. Reed, Cord Meyer and H. L. Terrell, of the sugar trust, all testified that they sought to secure an advalorem duty.

The report says: "It appears by the testimony of Senator Vest that Senator Brice of Ohio, Gorman of Maryland, Smith of New Jersey, Hill of New York, and Senators White and Caffery of Louisiana, after said conference of Democratic senators)(came to the rooms of the finance committee in regard to the sugar schedule Senator eVst testified that Mr. Gorman urged a duty of 40 per cent advalorem and a quarter of a cent per pound differential in favor of refined sugars as the proper schedule. This was opposed by the senators from Louisiana, representing the producers as against the refiners of sugar. Afterward the specific schedule was changed by the finance committee and was reported as it now stands, with a 40 per cent advalorem duty and one-eighth of a cent per pound differential."

The report concludes: "It is a matter of complete indifference to the trust what duties are levied upon sugar as long as the form is advalorem and a sufficient differential is given in favor of refined sugar. The sugar trust, by the evidence of its president and treasurer, has contributed freely to the state and city campaign funds of both parties and their contributions have been made in years when national elections were held. This is a thoroughly corrupt form of campaign contribution, for such contribution, for such contributions being given to two opposing parties are not for the purpose of promoting certain political principles, but to establish an obligation to the giver on the part of whichever party comes into power. The trust does not give to political parties for the promotion of political principles in which it believes, but for the protection of its own interests, as appears by the same testimony. The fact that it gives to both political parties is sufficient proof of the purposes of its contributions and of their dangerous nature. For these reasons the undersigned have felt it important to lay before the senate and the country the fact that the sugar schedule as it now stands, is, according to the testimony, in the form desired by the trust and to point out also the methods by which the sugar trust reached what it desired and obtained, a substantial victory."

The supplemental report of Senator Allen of Nebraska, is also submitted with the report. The supplementall testimony taken by the committee, but kept secret hertofore, is submitted with the reports. Albert M. Seipp, Seip said in his testimony that he was in the office of Carsen & McCartney, of this city, more or less and that his purchase of sugar stock had been largely induenced by seeing senators in the office and by the common talk that they were dealing in sugar stock. He said he had seen senators Brice, Quay and Smith there frequently this spring, but had never heard either of them give an option for sugar stock. He produced letters from Emil Gillaudeau, of the New York brokerage firm of Wheeler & Co., the first bearing date June 19, and reading: "I see that Smith of New Jersey and Camden of West Virginia both swear that they had not speculated in sugar stock.

I could produce a man, or that is I know a man I do not think h(e would go back to them) who was in my office this morning, that received orders in sugar from both of them and he has Camden's written order. I should think that when a senator swore falsely it was a pretty serious matter."

Edkard A. Levy, another witness, furnished the photographs copy of the order which read: "Buy me 200 shares sugar at 83 3-4 or less, and 300 shares 83 1-2 or less. (Signed) —J. N. Camden."

Senator Smith, when recalled, and the letter and testimony of Guillaueadu was showed to him said that the statement was absolutely false, and that he did not know Mr. Battershall and never had given him an order for the purchase of sugar. He had not speculated in sugar when the tariff bill was before congress.

Senator Camden who was recalled also said that the signature on the photograph of the alleged order resembled his handwriting and he would not swear that it was not his, but he had no recollection of ever having written it, and had not given such an order. The body of the order looked less like his handwriting than the signature.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

The Town of La Mour, N. D., Has a Heavy Visitation.

Lamoure, N. D., Aug. 3.—Fire started in the rear of Hageman's shoe store at 11 p. m., and was beyond control before sufficient help arrived. A strong northwest wind fanned the flames. The total losses are over $50,000; insurance, $30,-100. The town presents a sorry spectacle this morning. Some goods from the stores and furniture from the houses were saved. Dr. Boyd and James Kneen lost their residences. B. N. Stone lost three buildings, two insured. Some of the buildings were owned by non-residents. It is impossible to give a list of losses at present. Talk of rebuilding at once is heard from many; everybody is gritty. The fire was probably set by hoboes.

MAY FIGHT A DUEL.

Senator Butler and Gov. Tillman Have a Row.

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 1.—After the campaign meeting at Union to-day, Gov. Tillman and Senator Butler met on the train going to Spartanburg, and a wordy altercation concerning the premature publication of an article on the dispensary question to which reference had been made by the governor in his speech, so that when Senator Butler followed an attempt was made by Tillman's supporters to howl him down. The senator sought out the governor in the Pullman car and upbraided him for bad faith. The governor showed no inclination adjust the matter whereupon Senator Butler exclaimed:

"I want to say that you perpetrated a deliberate fraud to-day. I have come to tell you that these matters must be settled personally and I'll meet you anywhere. You know where to find me."

Gov. Tillman—I know.

Senator Butler—You know you put those hoodlums up to howling me, and you know that you perpetuated a lie when you did so.

EAGLE GROVE SCORCHED.

Fifteen Business Houses Burned at a Loss of $50,000.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Aug. 1.—Fire started at Eagle Grove from the explosion of a lamp. A block and a half on the north side of the street went up, consuming about fifteen business houses; loss, $50,00. It is thought to be the work of an incendiary. Heavy losers are F. Bauer, boots and shoes; Mrs. McDonald, hotel; George Wright dry goods; N. J. Will & Co., drugs and stationary; G. Nelson, furniture; J. C. Doerfler, wagon shop and E. H. Rogers, groceries. Other losses are Mrs. Carnman, notions; Thomas Cowan, meat market; Iverson & Hegland, general merchandise; W. S. Mason, restaurant S.; Nordkog, meat market.

PASSED BY CONGRESS.

NEW LEGISLATION DURING THE PRESENT SESSION.

A Number of Bills of Great Importance Have Become Laws—One of the Most Important Is the Bill Repealing Federal Election Laws.

Washington, Aug. 6.—A review of the legislation which has been accomplished by the first session of the Fifty-third congress up to and including Aug. 3 shows that much has been done aside from the engrossing tariff struggle, which has largely diverted public attention from matters which would under other circumstances been considered of great importance.

One of the most important acts of the session, which passed both houses by a strictly party vote, being in fulfillment of a plank of the Democratic platform, was the act repealing all laws creating federal supervisors of elections or defining their powers.

The act to enable the people of Utah to form a constitution and state government and to be admitted into the Union, provides the machinery by which the territory will be admitted probably in December, 1895, by adopting a constitution providing a republican form of government and insuring against the supremacy of any church, the government ceding it much public land for educational and charitable institutions.

An act making the first Monday in September a legal holiday, to be called Labor day, was passed largely at the instance of labor organizations, while scientific societies urged the act to define and establish the units of electrical measurement be made law.

Three bills were passed to give effect to the award of the tribunal of arbitration at Paris which adjudicated the seal fisheries disputes; that acts prohibiting seal fishing from May 1 to July 31 of each year north of degree 35 north latitude and east of degree 180 longitude, and establishing conditions under which the fishing can be carried on outside of the closed season with penalties for violations of the law, and machinery for its enforcement.

Several measures were enacted in accordance with the recommendations of the Dockery commission (so-called) for improving and amplifying the methods of doing the government business. Most important were those changing the method of auditing accounts in the treasury department, improving the methods of accounting in the postoffice department and changing the money order system an that regulating the making of property returns by the officials of the goverment. First entitled to mention are the appropriation bills for the expense of the government, which form an important part of the regular work of every session, although generally the last to be finished, general legislation is usually engrafted upon these bills, and from this rule those of the past session were no exception. The postoffice department bill authorized the postmaster general to allow postmasters of the first and second class offices to disburse at their discretion the amout allotted for their offices, and admitted to the mails periodical publications published at least quarterly by benevolent and fraternal societies and other organizations as second-class matter. Provisions were included in the pension bills regulating the fees and methods of examining boards. The naval bill empowered the president to fill vacancies in the grade of ensign or assistant engineer by selecting from the graduation class of the naval academy where the vacancies exceed the number of cadets in the line division or engineer division. Also that a vacancy in the naval school from a district which the secretary of the navy is called upon to fill must be filled by the appointment of a resident of that district of two years' standing.

In the diplomatic and consular bill several salaries were changed; that of the minister to Belgium being raised from $7,000 to $10,000, and a provision to make the bureau of South American republics partially self sustaining by the sale of its publications was inserted. No important legislation was contained in the bill for the naval academy. The fortification bill contained nothing of interest to the general public and the legislation was equally uninteresting. In the agricultural bill were provisions governing the distribution of seeds by the department. Three of the appropriation bills have not yet gone to the president—the river and harbor, general deficiency and sundry civil. Incidental to the sundry civil is a provision granting 1,000,000 acres of the surveyed arid public lands to each of the states to which the desert land law is applicable—Nebraska, Kansas, and the Territories of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Utah, to be selected within ten years. One of the deciency bills contained legislation relating to the suspension of pensioners from the rolls, a question which has excited endless discussion during this administration. It was forbidden to suspend them without thirty days' notice and notification of the charges against them. Four general deficiency bills have been necessary this session.

The first one was signed Dec. 21, 1893, and its principal items were $127,-500 for the pay of assistant janitors and custodians under the treasury department and $200,000 for mileage for members, the regular mileage appropriation for the first session having been used during the special session. The second deficiency bill, signed the same day, included $745,000 for the treasury department; $300,000 of it for the customs service, $200,000 for the pension service, $300,000 for the census and $200,000 for public printing. The third deficiency, signed March 12, 1894, carried $100,000 fro the treasury department, half of it for the enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act, with $315,000 for the treasury printing, $305,000 for the, department of justice and $50,000 for improvements to the gunboats Castine and Machias. The fourth, approved April 21, carried about $215,000 for the treasury, most of it for the bureau of printing and engraving, and the United States courts $1,130,000. The fifth bill, approved June 10, carried $165,000 for the public printing office and $185,000 for the customs service.

Two resolutions appropriating $50,000 and $10,000 for enforcing the Chinese exclusion act were approved Dec. 7, 1893, and April 4 1894. As most of the appropriation bills had not passed to the beginning of the year, July 1, it was necessary to extend by resolution all appropriations for the necessary operations of the government for pensions and for the District of Columbia. They were twice extended for thirty days from June 30 and fifteen days from July 30, and a resolution continuing for thirty days the employment of mechanics and laborers under the navy department was passed under the same circumstances. By resolution the secretary of the treasury was authorized to make partial payments on vessels built by contract, the amount not to exceed 75 per cent of the work done, and to advance to the public printer sums not exceeding four-fifths of his bond to pay for work and materials. Two special appropriation bills for salaries of employes of congress was necessary, and one for the expenses of investigation ordered by the senate. By resolution the secretary of the treasury was ordered to receive from R. T. Wilson & Co., and place to the credit of the Cherokee Nation, $6,740,000 for the Cherokee outlet.

Among the laws of benefit to merchant marine interests enacted was one to prevent collisions at sea, prescribing a system of signals; one to facilitate the entry of steamships by authorizing the customs officers to permit the unloading of a vessel of a regular established line on receivig from the master a sworn manifest of the cargo; a resolution directing the secretary of war to appoint a commission of engineers to report upon the cost of the harbors of Superior and Duluth, and their entrances to a uniform depth of twenty feet.

The acts pertaining to the judiciary of the United States included an act providing that the criminal cases in the district of Minnesota shall be brought and prosecuted in the district in which the offenses were committed. The secretary of war was authorized to restore to the State of Michigan two flags of the Twenty-third regiment, Michigan volunteers, among the recaptured flags in the war department, and to the State of Iowa the flag of the Twenty-second regiment, Iowa volunteer infantry, and to donate four obsolete gun carriages to the city of Marshalltown, Iowa.

Much legislation relating to public lands was accomplished. One act extends to January, 1897, the time within which persons may purchase railroad grant lands forfeited to the government by the act of Sept. 29, 1890, under the conditions of purchase in that act. As a measure of relief to the West, during the business depression, the requirement that on each mining claim located not less than $100 worth of improvements or labor be made each year, under penalty of forfeiture, was suspended for the year 1894. An act was passed disqualifying registers or receivers of land offices from hearing cases in which they were interested, and providing that the secretary of the interior shall designate special agents to hear such cases. The time for making final proof and payment for all lands located under the homestead and desert laws was extended for one year, and the time for final payments under the pre-emption act, when entrymen are prevented from making payment from causes beyond their control. The donation act of 1850 was amended so that persons who had made proof of settlement in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, but failed to file proof of their continued residence and cultivation, are given until Jan. 1, 1896, to make final proof. Other land acts were: For the protection of parties heretofore allowed to make entries for lands within the former Mille Lacs Indian reservation, confirming entries which would have been made invalid by a decision of the land office; granting to the State of North Dakota lands set apart as a wood reservation for Fort Totten, for the use of the state militia. Bills granting rights of way were granted to the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Railway company through the Leech Lake Indian reservation in Minnesota; to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railway through the White Earth, Leech Lake, Chippewa and Fond du Lac Indian reservations in Minnesota.

Among the bridge bills are: For the Dubuque & Wisconsin Bridge company, across the Mississippi from Eagle Point Dubuque, to Grant county, Wis.

DECLARED Off.

The Strike Nearly Ended So Far as Chicago Is Concerned.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—By the action of the Chicago local unions of the A. R. U. the great strike has been declared off upon all lines in this city with the exception of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe roads. This determination was taken at a meeting of railroad men held to-day in Uhlich's hall, and is the result of a secret session of representatives from each local union, the question being decided by ballot. The order goes into effect at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Darragh for Congress

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—The Fourth district Democratic congressional convention was held at Lindstrom, and E. J. Darragh, a young attorney of St. Paul, was nominated for congress. The platform endorsed the national platform of 1892, and endorsed President Cleveland's stand on the tariff. A motion was made to endorse Cleveland's every act since his election to the presidency, but this was voted down, some of the delegates claiming that they could not endorse the president's act in calling out the troops in the recent strike.

Tried for Assault.

Rolla, N. D., Aug. 6.—A sensational case is now on trial before Justice Widmeyer. Mrs. O. Martin charges John Riley with assault. The alleged crime was committed at Island Lake. Under the promise of securing her a place of work, it is charged, Riley enticed Mrs. Martin from her home, managed to get lost on an uninhabited prairie, and compelled her to spend the night with him in a haystack, where he assaulted her.

J. C. Burkhardt Dead.

Owatonna, Minn., Aug. 6.—John C. Burkhardt died very suddenly. He has been ailing for some two days, but last evening was much better. An inquest will be held this afternoon to ascertain the cause of his death. He leaves a wife and five children.

A Bank Tax Bill Passed.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The bill to subject to state taxation national bank notes and United States treasury notes passed the senate to-day.

FIREBUGS INDUSTRIOUS.

Apparently Are Trying to Burn Up the City.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—The three-story apartment building at Stevens avenue and Fifteenth street, owned by W. H. Lynn, was greatly damaged by a fire which broke out in one of the houses early yesterday morning, and which is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The block comprises three houses on Stevens avenue and four on Fifteenth street. All of those on the Stevens avenue side were vacant, and two of those on Fifteenth street. No. 133 being occupied by John Martin and No. 137 by T. L. Knappen. The fire started in one of the unoccupied houses, No. 131, which stands on the corner, and was first discovered by the Martin family, who noticed smoke in their bedrooms. By this time the flames had gained good headway, and the Martins had lively work to get out of the building themselves, without attempting to save anything. An alarm was sent in, and a second and third quickly followed it, as soon at the fire chiefs arrived. The flames were confined to the side of the building in which the fire started, but that side was almost entirely destroyed. The entire block is mortgaged for $30,-000, and it is thought that the loss will be at least half that amount. The furniture of the Martin family was almost entirely destroyed, and their loss is estimated at $3,000. Everything was fully insured. Mr. Martin is firmly convinced that the fire was of incendiary origin. The feeling is growing that a gang of rebugs is trying to destroy the city.

WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHES.

The "Gas Man" Makes a Touch in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—The same game that was played on the hospitals yesterday was repeated to-day upon Mrs. George W. Hale, of 1224 Chestnut avenue. The supposed workman came to Mrs. Hale's residence this morning and claimed to have orders from the gas company to fix the gas jets in the house. Mrs. Hale was not suspicious and allowed him to start in at the cellar and go through the house. He was some time in visiting the rooms, and when he finally made his appearance he said that he would have to return again in the afternoon to stop a leak. Mrs. Hale allowed him to depart, believing that his story was true. A short time afterward she had occasion to visit her jewel case and found to her surprise that a very valuable diamond ring had disappeared. The rest of her jewelry was locked up. The description of the man answers that which was given of the one who visited the Homeopathic and Maternity hospitals yesterday.

Bryan for the Senate.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Representative W. J. Bryan of Nebraska has written a letter to J. E. Org, president, and the other members of the executive committee of the Nebraska Democratic Free Coinage league, in response to their recent letter requesting him to become a candidate for United States senator, and to state the principles which will guide him in the event of his election. He expresses concurrence in the views of the league that the people should be permitted to elect senators by direct vote, and says: "In compliance with your request, I therefore announce my candidacy for the senatorial term beginning March 4, 1895, and shall make as thorough a canvass of the state as circumstances will permit."

Minister Examined for Insanity.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—Z. C. Mower of Delwood, Ind., was brought before the judge of probate to be examined for insanity. He claims to be a minister at Delwood, Ind., where he has a large family. He claims that while out walking one evening at Waseca he was clubbed by Coxeyites, rendered insensible and robbed. That was two weeks ago, and he is unable to relate anything that has happened to him until he arrived in Minneapolis last Tuesday. The man will be taken care of by the authorities until word can be received from his family or friends. It is thought his condition is due to morphine.

For the Rogues' Gallery.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—Detectives Lawrence and Hoy yesterday afternoon arrested John Martin and Charles Johnson, whom they believe to be a pair of experienced pickpockets. When arrested the men were on a Minnehaha car "jostling" other passengers and otherwise acting in a suspicious manner, and the officers saw enough to convince them that they were trying to pick the pockets of one of the ladies on the car. They were sent to the workhouse for ten days each, but before they went their photographs were taken for the rogues' gallery.

Murderous Hobors.

Pelican Rapids, Minn., Aug. 6.—The stage driver from Cormorant brings news of a cowardly attempt made two tramps to murder Mrs. John Ellsworth, who lives near Cormorant. They approached her house while she was eating breakfast and sent a ball through the window, but missed their intended victim. The frightened woman ran to the window in time to see them run into the woods. An armed posse has surrounded the woods. No cause is known for the deed.

Like Dr. Cronin's Case.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 6.—Crown Point has a sensation somewhat similar to the celebrated Cronin mystery. Dr. George D. Brannon, secretary of the Lake county board of health, was summoned to attend a man purporting to have been shot shortly before midnight. Since then he has been missing, although his friends and family have made every effort to find him.

Washburn's Railraod Bill.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The senate committee on Indian affairs to-day reported favorably Senator Washburn's bill granting Northern Minnesota railroads right-of-way through the Leech Lake, Chippewa and other reservations in Minnesota.

Peru's New President.

Lima, Peru, Aug. 6.—Gen. Caceres, who was elected to the presidency on May 10, has taken his seat as chief magistrate of the nation.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South-west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible] has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] n or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

H. E. Ives is in Crookston this week on business.

Frank Gravel, deputy game warden, is in town today.

Joseph Blair, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on business yesterday.

H. F. Brown, the Crookston cigar dealer, is in town today on business.

Dr Dunlop and A. C. Schmidt, of Crookston, were in town several hours last Friday.

Christ Hall returned from Otter Tail county yesterday and will spend a few days at home.

W. E. Kelsey, the Crookston collector is doing business here this week.

C. G. Rapp and M. E. Bjerk were doing business at Thief River Falls yesterday.

Ed. Hamre, the Red Lake Falls merchant, was doing business in town today.

J. J. Bergoust, formerly in business here with Burkee Bros., is visiting friends here this week.

Farm machinery dealers report that this has been an exceptionally poor year to sell goods.

C. G. Rapp and wife leave today for Minneapolis where Mrs. Rapp will consult a physician in regard to her health.

Messrs. Rapp, Dainard and Patterson were delegates for the village to the republican convention at Crookton last Friday. They drove down coming back Saturday morning.

We are having perfect weather for harvest and the work is progressing rapidly. A great deal of wheat is being cut this week and another week will see most of it in the shock.

The Fosston Fair will be held on Sept. 19, 20 and 21 this year. The management promise an entertaining program this year and they will undoubtedly provide one as the past two fairs have proved very successful.

Our fellow towsman S. M. Dainard was honored by the republican nomination for sheriff at the convention last week, Sam has a hard road to victory, but he will make as good a fight as any republican we know of as he has many friends in the county,

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, in the Representative, tells the following story:

"I see," said the democratic orator as he rose to address a political meeting, "a number of populists present."

Now I would like to know what you were before you joined the Populists?"

A lank old farmer on a back seat rose, and said: "We were d——d fools!"

The following are the republican lambs put up for slaughter, by the county convention.

Sheriff S. M. Dainard,
Auditor H. B. Davis.
Treasurer Knut Opheim.
Register of deeds Frank Hanson.
Clerk of court W. A. Lanctot.
County attorney B. F. Bennett.
Judge of probate J. Walseth.
Supt of Schools Miss Ida M. Hancock
Coroner G. S. Chesterman.
County Surveyor W. F. Arnold.
Co. com. 4th dist. Nels K. Anderson.

Frank Leslie's magazine has heard from its special correspondent expressly sent to the town of Pullman to investigate the cause of the strike and the present situation, and takes back all it has ever said against the strikers and frankly avers that in view of the sad tale it is not surprising that information comes from Chicago and St. Louis that another "Palace Car company" has been organized, and will undertake to commence immediate operations, offering the men who now work for the Pullman company employment at the schedule of 1893.—Courier.

The republican party of River Falls township in the person of K. O. Gigstad went down to the county convention last week. He had a hard time getting anyone to sign his credentials as republicans are not as thick in that township as they might be, He tried to get Postmaster Hoff and Fred Eikhoff to hold a caucus but they indignantly refused. It is said that as a last resort he caucused with Wm. Eikhoff of Rocksbury. They sat on the town line and agreed that they were the only republicans in sight and each signed the credentials for the other. They went down to the convention each having two votes and we learn that they gave it out cold that the party was in flourishing condition in their locality, Winona Citizen.— Mr. Nelson, while personally a very clever man, yet he is under too many obligations to the capitalists, the politicians, the schemers of the state. More than that, Knut Nelson is a gold bug. In his acceptance speech he declared himself in favor of the gold standard, and ridiculed the idea of free coinage of silver notwithstanding the platform declared for bi-metalism. Knute Nelson is a lawyer, politician and office seeker.

Caesario Santo Geronimo, who killed President Carnot, of France, has been sentenced to death by the guillotine route. French law does things up in a rush. If such a thing had occured in the United States the assassin would have been given several trials for the crime and then for his sanity. Still this country is looked up to as a free and enlightened one. It could take some pointers from the old countries about dealing with criminals and anarchists.—Times.

Frank Gravel has been appointed deputy game warden for the western half of Polk county. Mr. Gravel states that he has appointed eighteen assistants, and the gentlemen who have indulged in hunting out of season may find themselves pulled up with a short turn. For each chicken shot out of season a fine of five dollars can be assessed, Besides that the gun and dog of the hunter can be confiscated. Frank is playing no favorites, and those detected at unlawful shooting will be given the extent of the law. Dr. Umland, of Fosston, is the warden in the eastern half of the county.—Crookston Times.

A recent number of the St. Paul Globe contained an interesting article a column long, as to the easiest and pleasantest way of committing suicide This is eminently proper. Having brought the country to a state of despair, the least the two old parties can do is to facilitate the efforts of the people to get out of the world, It shows a kindly and just spirit. Indeed, it would be no more than right that every man who votes the democratic or republican ticket this fall should be furnished by his respective committee with a brand new knife and a neat assemblage of poisons so that the poor wretch could elect the nicest way of "shuffling off the mortal coil" as soon as the effects of his vote began to manifest themselves. Let us by all means have the Australian ballot with a suicide attachment for the old party lunatics.—I. D. in the Representative.

Whether the populist idea of government ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephones would prove to be the best for the people may be disputed, but these facts cannot be, viz: Whenever a railroad becomes bankrupt through mismanagement of its officers or otherwise, the government takes charge of the concern and runs it, When the business managers met and resolved to stand by Duke George M. Pullman until they destroyed the A. R. U. they found it necessary to call upon the government to help carry out their contract. So we believe that as the government is called upon to run the roads when they are in difficulty it would be well for it to own and operate them when they are not in trouble. Can any gentleman give any valid reason why it should not be so?—Park Rapids Advocate,

The game of ball played here last Sunday between the Thief River Falls club and a nine from Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire for a purse of $10, was one of the most interesting game of the season. The clubs were very evenly matched and except in the first innings when Thief River Falls made nine tallies, the game was close and well played It was agreed at the start to play only seven innings and at the close the score stood 16 to 15 in favor of Thief River Falls. The following were the players:

Thief River Falls:—Hanson, short stop: Zeh, catcher; Beuzie. pitcher; Morrissette 1st base; Woods, right field; Fuller, 3rd base: Sorum, center field; Schuster, 2nd base: Powers, left field.

Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire.—Burgdorf, catcher; J. Stranahan, 1st base; Miller 3rd base; Peron, pitcher; Freeman, short stop; Jeffers 2nd base; Mead, center field; W, Stranahan, left field: Garceau, right field.

Score. T. R. F., 16. R. L. F. and St. H. 15.

There was a good sized crowd to see the game and the players were well cheered whenever a good play was made. It is probable that another game will be arranged for the near future.

Relieved.

Women prayed and men cursed.

The storm howled and beat against the vessel's stanch ribs.

A white robed figure clung to the after-rail and peered into the darkness.

"She is gone."

The figure swayed in the tempest.

"No, she rises."

A great wave swept over the deck. The figure was kneeling now.

"She has sunk thrice. Is it a dream? After all these years to be alone at last!"

After a time the figure crept forward and reported the loss of a chaperon.—Detroit News-Tribune.

Signs of Spring.

Visitor—Johnnie, what is that awful noise in your back yard?

Rev. Amen's Youngest—That's pa practicing his vacation cough.—Hallo,

" Prof. Wiggins, the weather prophet, says: There is the best scientific evidence to prove man is a native of Mars and lived there millions of years before he was transplanted to the earth leaving the greater part of the human family behind. The Marsians regard us as their lost breathern and have been searching for us for thousands of years. They have been especially hopeful since they saw the electric lights in our cities, We will be able to converse with them by signals before another century passes."

Let's see, wasn't it Wiggins who predicted a wet summer with floods and cloud bursts, washed out crops and rainfalls of fishes, etc? Or was it Hicks? —Ex,

Railroad men and the industrial classes generally will find the solution of their difficulties in the strong arm of the American sovereign citizen, the free ballot, which elects the president and congress. Every man be he laborer or capitalist, has equal privileges and powers through the ballot box. The industrial classes have ample constitutional and legal remedies. Organization and concerted action will give them control, for in all that they ask in justice and right they will have the sympathy and co-operation of the great American public. The American people love fair play. The free ballot is the scepter of power in the hands of the industrial classes and if rightly exercised will right all wrongs and secure equal justice to all.—E. G. F. Courier,

The following have been appointed the county committee for the peoples party for the ensuing year:

Arny Grundysen, chairman Crookston, Minn,

John Oppegaard, Erskine, W. A. Marin Melvin, Anton Lindein Fisher, E. A Sweet Fisher, John Gleason Fisher, Ole Christianson Crookston, Christ Houston Crookston, Christopher Hanson Crookston, A. Wickstrom, Wyle, J. Lafram boise, Gentilly, I. M. Johnson E. Grand Forks, Joe Jarvis, Fisher.

There will be a Lawn Social given on the grounds of the M. E. Church by the Ladies aid society on Friday evening Aug, 10 come all and enjoy a good dish of Ice cream.

NOTICE.

Came, to S. M. Dainard's stock farm July 31 1894 one white bull calf. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshal Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

J. E. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's warehouse.

W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 41 of mortgages on page 214 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the heraditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894

Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J, Montague, attorney.

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway -St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7.45 p m Depart	......St. Paul......	Arrives 10.30 am
8 20 p m "	.........Minneapolis..........	9 55 am
4 35 a m	..........Barnesville..........	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	......Crookston......De	10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	.......Crookston.........	Ar 4 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	......St. Hilaire......	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R, 41.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south-west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9,

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $20 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of [illegible]

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

Supplement.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of County Commissioners of Polk County Minn.

The board of commissioners of Polk county with all members present met in regular session on the 9th day of July, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The minutes of the two previous meetings were read and on motion adopted with this amendment that the minutes of May 24, 1894, were to show an appropriation of 100 dollars in favor of Parnell township, which was accordingly corrected.

The chairman appointed Kirsch and Lindem a committee to investigate and report at their adjourned meeting of the advisability of making a proposed change in the Grand Forks and Moorhead Co. road at or near Sand Hill river as petitioned for.

An application of E D. Childs for cancellation of taxes against certain description of land under a ruling of the supreme court was referred to the county attorney.

The school petition of P. Braansberg, Rice and Lundin, was referred to Commissioner Oppegaard for investigation.

The school petitions of Michael Quesnel and Chas. Charlebois asking to detach the se¼ sw¼ and sw¼ sw¼ section 15, township 148, range 41, from district No. 139, and the same attached to district No. 192, was granted.

The s½ of section 10, 11, 12, all of section 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, and all of section 26 and 27, effecting district No. 143 and all of section 34 and 35 effecting district No. 119, township 154, range 48, was organized into a new school district to be hereafter known as No. 217.

The petition of Edwin Niel asking for the detachment of his farm the ne¼ section 3, township 157, range 45, from district No. 130, and the same attached to school district No. 124 was granted.

Henry Nolan was awarded the contract of laying a sewer from Broadway street to connect with the county jail and court house for the price of one dollar per lineal foot.

The s½ of sections 10, 11, 12, and all of sections 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 35, and 36 and e½ of section 34 and all of section 30, township 154, range 46, was reorganized into a new school district to be known as 295.

A hearing was granted at the next session of the board in the matter of the school petition of Henry Spencer and others, asking to organize a new school district out of sections 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 34, 35 and 36, township 151, range 48, of which the ne¼ section 24 effects district 77 and the w½ of 22 and 27 effects district No. 129

The ditch petition from Keystone township was laid over for consideration at some subsequent meeting.

A previous appropriation of 40 dollars in favor of Hammond township was ordered cancelled and a new appropriation of 90 dollars was made in favor of said township.

The following appropriations were made out of the county road and bridge fund in favor of the towns hereinafter named:

Woodside township, 100 dollars; King township, 50 dollars; Rosebud township, 150 dollars; Lowell township, 150 dollars; Fairfax township, 100 dollars, and Knute township was allowed 75 dollars to be expended at the discretion of the supervisors of said township.

Mrs. Baptes Barnous living upon fractional township 151, range 41, was allowed 15 dollars and hereafter 8 dollars per month for the support of herself and family.

The following resolution was adopted by the board:

Whereas, it appears in the commissioner's proceedings under date of June 6th, 1894, that the bid tendered by W. J. Hayes & Sons, of Cleveland, Ohio, for the purchase of the issue of 15,000 Polk Co. 6 per cent. bonds was accepted by the said board of county commissioners of Polk county, and,

Whereas, it is now claimed by the said firm of Hayes & Sons above referred to, that their bid for said bonds was made under the presumption that the said bonds were not to mature before ten years from date of issue thereof, knowing nothing about the optional clause as provided by statute that it was optional by said board to redeem said bond in part or in full on or before ten years from date of its issuance. Be it therefore

Resolved, that we now accept the bid as tendered by the same W. J. Hayes & Sons in an amended form, making said bonds to bear interest at 5 per cent. instead of 6 per cent., and that the said issue of 15,000 ditching bonds as above referred to be disposed of and sold to the said firm of W. J. Hayes & Sons at par value, with interest at 5 per cent. and that said bonds are not to mature before the lapse of ten years from date of issue thereof, and that the agreement entered into by and between a representative of said Hayes & Sons and two of the members of the board of county commissioners is hereby ratified. signed,

A. C. RHINEHART.
C. P. DEMERS.
M. E. KIRSCH.
ANTON LINDEM.
J. E. OPPEGAARD.
County Commissioners

The road and bridge committee submitted the following report, which was accepted by the board:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF POLK COUNTY.

Gentlemen; Your committee appointed at the last session with a view to investigate the condition of the bridge between sections 1 and 2, township 152, range 50, with power to act, her with report that they have examined said bridge and found the whole of the same in a decayed condition and unsafe for public travel and after meeting with the supervisors of Grand Forks township they agreed to make a fill and grade the road 100 feet on each side, thereby reducing the length of said bridge from 340 feet to 140 feet, providing the county would build the required bridge, which your committee agreed to do and entered into a contract with the Wrought Iron Bridge Company, of Canton, Ohio, for the erection of an iron bridge of two spans 70 feet each at a cost of 8,700 dollars, providing the same was paid on completion of the bridge, all of which is respectfully submitted.

M. E. KIRSCH.
ANTHON LINDEM.
A. C. RHINEHART.
Committee.

Com. Kirsch submitted the following reports:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF POLK COUNTY.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed at a session held June 6th, 1894, to investigate as to whether the proceedings connected with the laying out of the Fisher and Sandhill river county road were completed, or if not, whether the road could be legalized by any supplementary proceedings at the present time, herewith reports that he has examined the road record book and also the county commissioner's records, but failed to find any records whatsoever pertaining to said road.

M. E. KIRSCH, Committee

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed at the session held June 6th, 1894, to purchase transportation for Mrs Martha Christenson, a poor person residing in township 153, range 42, herewith reports having complied with your request. Bill of cost of same ($43.12) is hereto attached and made a part of this report, all of which is respectfully submitted.

M. E. KIRSCH, Committee.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, POLK COUNTY.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed at a session held June 6th, to expend the sum of 250 dollars for grading Sixth street and improving court house grounds herewith reports having expended said amount and $8.44 in excess thereof, making a total cost of $258.44, bills and vouchers for work done are hereto attached and made part of this report, and your committee would recommend that the bills hereto attached be audited and ordered paid, all of which is respectfully submitted.

M. E. KIRSCH, Committee.

The bills thereunder allowed are as follows:

Levy La Due 8½ days work holding scraper	$ 12 75
Louis Zange 8 days work holding scraper	12 00
Louis Lind 2 days work holding scraper	3 00
Richard Giese 5½ days man and team	16 50
Nick Funk 3½ days work holding scraper	5 25
Thomas Young 6½ days work man and team	19 50
Carl Nelson 5½ days work man and team	16 50
Philip Henry 6 days work man and team	18 00
H & G Cassel 9 days work 2 teams and 2 men	54 00
Nils Henry 7½ days work man and team	22 50
Ole Jorgenson 3½ days work man and team	10 50
John Toulouse 6½ days work man and team	19 50
Frank Thieno 68 hours work on court house sidewalk	20 40
Gust Johnson 92 hours work on court house sidewalk	27 60
Gust Johnson nails	44
Total	$258 44

The road and bridge committee presented the following report which was accepted and approved:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF POLK CO., MINN.

Gentlemen: Your road and bridge committee herewith report that they have entered into contract with Nils H. Egeland, he being the lowest bidder, for the erection and construction of five bridges across ditch numbered one running through Lowell township and part of Fanny township, for the sum of 535 dollars, said bridges to be built according to plans and specifications and contract hereto attached. signed,

M. E. KIRSCH.
ANTHON LINDEM.
C. P. DEMERS.
Road and Bridge Committee.

The following bills were audited and allowed:

J T Beaudry disbursements for transportation, etc., for Mrs. Martha Christenson	$ 43 12
Samuel Gibeau merchandise for M Peterson	7 64
Samuel Gibeau merchandise for Mrs Bernon	5 00
S A Wallace drugs for hospital	11 30
S A Wallace drugs for Co jail	2 35
Crookston Steam Laundry, laundry for hospital	8 98
Henry L Rondeau 15½ days as flagman ditch No. 2	22 50
Arny Grundysen boarding prisoners	110 00
M D Stoner assisting Co surveyor ditch No 1	1 50
M. D. Stoner 16½ days service on ditch No 2	33 00
Rasmussen & Motz hardware for court house and hospital	24 70
W E McKenzie printing and stationery	81 33
Crookston Plumbing Co work at hospital	5 05
Crookston Plumbing Co work and material for Co jail	15 95
Crookston Plumbing Co work and material for court house	8 98
Elias Steenerson insurance on jail	47 00
Paul Useldinger assessing 3d Com district	30 00
Hans C Berg assessing tp 151 R 41, tp 152 R 42	12 00
Nils Muus stamps	1 60
A Chabot 25 yds toweling for jail	1 25
C U Webster stamps and express	7 60
D O Lindberg assessing tp 147 R 47	20 00
Thompson & Johnson livery to Beltrami	5 00
Peter C Wold 3 days assessing tp 153 R 42	6 00
W E Walker 1 barrel cement	4 75
Nick Funk 16½ days service as chainman ditch No 2	24 00
Johnny McDonald 15½ days service as chainman ditch No 2	22 50
Chas T Vine meat for hospital	8 31
Mrs A M. Freeman nursing at hospital	34 00
H R Nolan repairing Jerome bridg	45 44
Allen McKinnon iron work for bridge	11 24
A Chabot dry goods for hospital	8 20
O L Hamery 9 days work on ditch No 1	36 00
E D Childs & Co milk for hospital	12 00
Mrs Schroeder groceries for hospital	16 99
Ellen Carlson domestic at hospital	15 00
M E Schmidt setting glass in court room	6 25
John Amundson postage and recording	8 25
Albin Young assisting Co surveyor ditch No 1	13 50
Stewart Lumber Co lumber	12 19
C H Denniston attendance on Chas O'Neil a prisoner	3 00
Knut Johnson coffins and digging grave for Wiberg's children	15 00
A C Rhinehart paid for 1 barrel cement	3 25
A C Rhinehart comr's fees and committee work	52 00
J E Oppegaard comr's fees and committee work	23 20
Anthon Lindem comr's fees and committee work	29 80
M E Kirsch comr's fees, mileage and committee work	71 20
C P. Demers comr's fees, mileage and committee work	48 90
M Cornelius fare and expenses to East Grand Forks	3 50

Board adjourned till the 20th day of July, 1894.

M. CORNELIUS,
Acting Clerk of the Board.

The board met in adjourned session on the 20th day of July, A. D. 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m. All members present.

Mr. Rhinehart submitted report of the expenditures connected with the building of a road on the range line between Huntsville and Rhinehart townships, said report showing the amount of $581.55 expended, and this board authorized the chairman to issue his order for said amount in favor of John O. Leary.

Hearing was granted at the next meeting of the board on the petition of A. C. Asselstine asking to detach his farm the south half section 13, township 150, range 49, from district No 4 and attach the same to district No. 201.

A hearing having been set for this meeting in the matter of the school petition of Anton and Sophia Rice and Claus Solie asking to detach certain territory from school district No. 44 and attach same to district No., 70, and the board having heard the arguments pro and con, it was resolved that the prayers of said petitioners be granted and the following territory, to-wit: The southeast quarter and the south half southwest quarter, section 28, and all of section 33, township 147, range 44, be, and the same is hereby detached from school district No. 44 and the same attached to school district No. 70.

Hearing having been set for this meeting on the school petition of Fran! Hanson of Hubbard township, the board resolved to grant the prayer of said petitioner whereby his farm the east half southeast quarter and east half northeast quarter, section 8, and southeast quarter northeast quarter, section 5, township 147, range 48, is detached from school district No. 5 and said territory attached to district No. 17.

The chairman was authorized to issue his order for 40 dollars in favor of Nels H. Egeland as an advance on his bridge contract for ditch No. 1.

The fractional township 151, range 41, was reorganized into a new school district to be known as district No. 210.

The board inspected the vault furniture as placed in the auditor and register of deed's vaults and finding same satisfactory and in accordance with plans and specifications reported to accept same, and allowed Geo. D. Barnard & Co. the contract price of 1,700 dollars, for which amount the chairman was authorized to issue his order.

The board authorized $10,000 cyclone and tornado insurance on the court house.

Kirsch moved and Lindem seconded that the chairman issue his order for the amount of 1,430 dollars in favor of the city of Crookston as the county's share in paying for the construction of a sewer to connect with the court house ground.

Board adjourned till Saturday July 28th, 1894.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

The county auditor and treasurer were directed to transfer an amount of 7,000 dollars from the county sinking fund to the county revenue fund.

The committee appointed to investigate as to the advisability of changing the course of the Grand Forks & Moorhead county road at or near the Sandhill river in Vineland township reported adversely to making the change as petitioned for.

The board inspected and measured the sewer extending from Main street to the court house and county jail and found the measurement correct as charged in a bill presented by Henry Nolan for said work, being 409 lineal feet at one dollar per foot and the aggregate of his bill, 409 dollars, was accordingly allowed.

A school petition signed by Paul Useldinger and others was presented and the board ordered a hearing set for the next meeting.

The following tax levy for the year 1894 was agreed upon:

For general purposes	$33,600 or 4½ mill
" sinking	7,500 or 1 mill
" interest on bonds	7,500 or 1 mill
" road and bridges	7,500 or 1 mill

The following bills were audited and allowed:

A A Lommen postage and express	$ 15 35
Vineland tp aid for expenses incurred in contagious diseases	92 00
Gullck Olson constable fees	8 32
H B River tp McEacheran's attendance on Wilberg's children	22 00
Dr D McEacheran attendance on J A Berneau	10 00
Margaret E Swift jurors fees	1 00
J E O'Brien & Co labor and material	6 60
Arthur Adams constable fees	3 75
B P Van Gordon constable fees	20 23
John Fulton jurors fees	86
Fosston Furniture Co burial supplies, etc for N E Jacobson	24 00
T A McDonald witness fees	1 12
F G Pollard jurors fees	86
A Gilmour justice fees	5 00
Krohn & Renne meals for jurors	9 10
Henry Rickey jurors fees	86
Seymore Harris jury fees	1 00
Robert Coller jurors fees	86
Red River Lumber Co lumber, 2 bills	165 51
Faste E Luther burying exp on Jacobson	34 65
L E Gossman justice fees	14 10
Fred O Sibley constable fees	17 75
W E Walker window for register's vault	4 00
L E Gossman attendance commissioners	5 00
Iver A Krohn witness fees	1 12
Louis Rivard mason work	20 20
O Ducharme constable fees, 6 bills	52 69
Eddie Pollard witness fees	2 20
Perry B Hunter justice fees	3 00
H T Gondron witness fees	2 08
Noe Brosseau witness fees	2 08
Hilaire Trepanier witness fees	2 08
Gorgas & Kirsch tornado insurance	75 00
J D Knutson justice fees, 2 bills	4 18
J S Dwyer justice fees, 4 bills	16 20
John Duffna witness fees	1 12
Lawrence Overholt witness fees	1 96
Alex Robinson justice fees, 5 bills	18 80
Brown, Treacy & Co books and stationery	58 72
Geo D Barnard & Co books	40 00
Pioneer Press Co blanks & record, 3 bills	25 55
Arny Grundysen sheriffs fees	604 05
Tabor tp aid in contagious diseases	50 00
W Bowler 18 days with team with viewers on ditch No 2	54 00
S L Collins team for surveyor, on ditch No 2	62 50
M R Brown 40 days as viewer of ditch No 2	120 00
Jacob J Ide 40 days as viewer of ditch No 2	120 00
John Driscoll 40 days as viewer of ditch No 2	120 00
John Driscoll man & team on ditch No 2	45 00
W Arnold 66 days services as surveyor on ditch No 2	277 50
M Cornelius attending equalization board	18 00
J E Oppegaard comr's fees, mileage and committee work	56 60
A C Rhinehart taking boy to St Paul	4 95
A C Rhinehart comr's fees & mileage	23 60
M E Kirsch comr's fees & committee work	41 80
Anthon Lindem comr's fees and committee work	40 10
C P Demers comr's fees and mileage	40 50

The bills from E. A. Young, D. P. Harris, Nup Christianson, Bergotta Espeland, Gusla Larson and George Yergens were rejected and the bills connected with the Nils Jeppson case were ordered returned to A. Gilmour, McIntosh.

Board adjourned without date.

M. Cornelius,
Acting Clerk of the Board.

NOTICE

Of Pendency of Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Polk. } ss.

Whereas, a petition signed by John B. Bren and others as owners of land effected thereby, praying for the establishing of a public ditch through Tabor, Farley and Sandsville townships, as herein after described, was presented to the board of county commissioners of Polk county at a special session held on the 6th day of June, A. D. 1894, for the action of the board thereon; and,

Whereas, said board in conformity with the prayers of said petitioners and as provided by statute did appoint three viewers who have now completed their duties and filed their report in my office. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition and that the same will be heard and determined before the said board of county commissioners at a special session to be held at the auditor's office in the city of Crookston on the seventh day of September, A. D. 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The source and outlet of the ditch as proposed in the viewer's report can be described as follows:

Commencing at a point about 30 rods west of the quarter post on the south line of sw¼, section 35, tp 153, range 48, thence northwesterly and diagonally through the sw¼ and the sw¼nw¼ section 35, and through the e½ne¼ section 34, and through the se¼ and sw¼ne¼ and ne¼nw¼ section 27, and through the e½ of section 22 to the northwest corner of said section 22, thence due north on the west line of section 15 to the northwest corner of the sw¼sw¼ section 10, thence northwesterly and diagonally through the n½se¼ and nw¼ section 9 to the northwest corner of said section 9, thence due north on the west line of section 4, tp 153, range 48, and on the west line of section 33, and the west line of sw¼ section 28, till it intersects a ravine at or near the northwest corner of said sw¼ section 28, tp 154, range 48, thence following the course of said ravine to about the center of the nw¼ of section 20, where the ditch continues to the northwest corner of said nw¼ section 20, thence due west on the north line of section 19 in said tp 154, range 48, and on the north line of ne¼ section 24, tp 154, range 49, to about the northwest corner thereof, thence northwesterly and diagonally through the sw¼ section 13, and the e½ of section 14, terminating near the centre of the nw¼ section 14, tp 154, range 49, where it empties into a marsh or swamp, said proposed ditch making a distance of about 13 miles from source to outlet.

The names of the persons and corporations through whose lands the proposed ditch passes are as follows:

	sec	tp	rg
S Strause, e½sw¼ and nw¼sw¼	35,	153,	48
B J Horn, sw¼nw¼	35	"	"
Colonial & U S Mortgage Co, e½ne¼	34	"	"
John Kuchee, s½se¼ & nw¼se¼ & nw¼ne¼	27	"	"
F J Duffy, sw¼ ne¼	27	"	"
Frank Madera, ne¼nw¼	27	"	"
James Kliner, e½sw¼ & nw¼sw¼	22	"	"
William Campion, w½nw¼	22	"	"
James Novatney, nw¼sw¼	15	"	"
J P Peker, sw¼sw¼	15	"	"
James Novatney, w½nw¼	15	"	"
Joseph Moraska, w½sw¼	10
S H Barteau, ne¼se¼ & sw¼ne¼	9
G Tokas, nw¼se¼	9
S H Barteau (Farmer's Trust Co) e½nw¼	9
Andrew Polca, nw¼nw¼	9
Rose Willard, w½sw¼	4
O D Brown & E G Holmes, w½nw¼	4
Great Northern R R Co, w½sw¼	33	154	48
" " " " w½nw¼	33	"	"
T C McKraken, w½sw¼	28	"	"
J F T Brewster, sw¼nw¼	28	"	"
R Sykes, e½se¼	29	"	"
R Sykes, s½se¼ & nw¼se¼	20	"	"
H Reese, ne¼sw¼	20	"	"
R Sykes, s½nw¼ & nw¼nw¼	20	"	"
Adolph O Johnson, n½ne¼	19	"	"
Louis Olson, ne¼nw¼	19	"	"
Chas L Bue, nw¼nw¼	19	"	"
Gottlieb Buckholz, n½ne¼	24	154	49
Iver Jarvik, sw¼se¼	13	"	"
Great Northern R R Co, s½sw¼	13	"	"
Charles J Johnson, nw¼sw¼	13	"	"
Unknown, ne¼se¼	14	"	"
L R Loken, nw¼se¼	14	"	"
" " sw¼ne¼	14	"	"
" " e½nw¼	14	"	"
" " nw¼nw¼	14	"	"

The names of the owners of the land that will be affected thereby or subject for assessments for benefits are as follows:

In Angus Township—F R Stevens, Levi Lake, Angus Stock & Farm Co., A E Brush, John W Lake, W Campion, P F Spaulding, W Campion, Gomer Evans, Mrs W Campion, Wm F McLean, K D Chase, Johnson & Sullivan, W L Davis, W McLennan, E B Cleary, Wynkoop Lemen, First National Bank of Crookston, F O Sustad, Louis Osterloh, John Tiedeman, John H Spees, Alfred Peterson, A L Palmer, J M Palmer, Mrs E Snelling, David H Miller, M M Jacobus, A Finlayson, F McLennan, Ella Miller, Rollins McNaul, Mrs A Finlayson, E D Childs & Co.

In Tabor Township—C F Furlong, W F Dunning, John Dudowsky, John Staska, A A Juricka, J E Johnson, J Wagner, Frank Judowsky, Isaac Mills, Holmes & Brown, S H Barteau, Thomas Kerester, Andrew Jeffrey, John Gasper, Thomas Ausak, Joseph Zeidlik, Karl Zeidlik, Frank Zeidlik, E B & S L Philips, James B Bren, John W Bren, Thomas Trefney, John Vavra, Mat Vanek, Andrew Polga, Thomas Orsak, G Tokas, Rose Willard, Jos Maruska, Wilbur F Powell, John S Koek, Jacob Novak, W Campion, L Loughridge, Mary A Novatney, Joseph Kratochvil, Samuel Huggard, Ole Hanson Fin, Albert Novatney, J W Novatney, Frank March, Frank Tollipy, James Krase, John Strake, David Miller, Mary Navra, J B Picker, John Arnold, Joseph Philipe, Huck & Gallasch, John Cassel, Jacob Novak, James McGolrich, Woclo Sery, Venell Sery, Andrew Keneak, John Cushel, Jacob Just, James Stenge, John Meckulecky, F J Cernousek, E H Rollins & Son, Frank Tans, John Kluzok, Mary Judowsky, Frank Slonek, G H Fargo, Michael Staska, James Machael, Frank Vavra, Wenceslas Besek, James Besek, Antonia Kucera, Jos Dostal, Frank Gust, James Kliner, Joseph Zak, H O Bailey, Elizabeth Huggard, David Huggard, Frank Kobertsky, Peter Johnson, James P Schell, Chas E Sawyer, John Kuchel, F J Duffy, Frank Madera, Joseph Kliner, John Zavoral, Thomas Polga, Frank Strako, Ludolph Giese, Thomas Janick, John H Dodge, Albert Novak, Edward Dostal, New England Mortgage Co, Jacob Holly, Joseph Holly, Linskey Neperil, Peter Gilley, Joseph Neperil, Ignoc Kust, Katie Kust, James L Kust, Joseph Pasterick, James Eidelhes, Anton Sensky, Martin Dovrak, New England Mortgage Co, Alex Gunnes, E Taylor, Frank Scrobada, Michael Sargl, A H Williams, Sophia Giese, Carsten Stuhr, David A Chisholm, B T Horn, L Strause, Henry Osterloh, George Easby, J P Foote, J Dunon.

In Farley Township—H C Winitzer, Lafayette Lamberson, D M Simmons, C F Furlong, Andrew G Ostrum, R Sykes, J Christianson, Eva G Nays, Adolph O Johnson, Louis Olson, Chas L Bue, Andrew Johnson, W H Dixon, E F Witney, H Ruse, John E Ostrum, John Detloff, Thomas Nunnitz, M E Getzendaner, D H Vaugan, A A Miller, Wilber F Powers, James O White, M J McCann, Oliver W Mead, Bryant H Barber, L B McCullom, F C McCracken, J Rubert, C E Lambert, Great Northern R R Co.

In Northland Township—Karl Zeidlik, Joseph Vorlicky, Frank J Zeidlik, John Majercim, Fanny Holub, Joseph Zeidlik, George Ritch, Oiva P Messenvangen, Lars O Messelt, John Mickulecky, Joseph Dimek, Paul Prebula, Joseph Vango, Thomas Mickulecky, Peter O Lundin, Andrew Wyda, Joseph Kopecky, John Pfebula, George Kuzel, Sec Imprnt Co, Daniel Johnson, Robert Anderson, Henry Hendrickson, John K Bridgeford, James Keron, Andrew Hill, Henry A Nystrom, Hans A Prestebakk, Carl M Lindgren, Beulik Mekkelson, John Larson, Gustaf J Fundanet, Andrew E Larson, Sigvard Basgaard, Peter P Moe, Gustaf Engstrom, Andrew Steele, Erek J Hyttsten, Christ Hamstad, O O Miller, Mike Hunt, Chas Knudson, F J Duffy, C Beckman, Chas Knudson, Mat K Erickson, John Haiker, C M Carr, Martin T Knapper, John Zepay, Joseph Kopecky, Matheas Knut, Michael Kleisko, Geo Tabula, Stephann Boldizan, Michael Zepay, Joseph H Huderly, James H Hardy, Frank Zavoral, Joseph Minerik, Thomas Blasck, James Duchek, Rose M Brent, John Erickson, Joseph Kreal, Alderik & Abrahamson, Tergil Vanek, Ole Olson, Ole Johnson, Hans O Stordahl, Karel Vanek, John Haeker, Alex Leming, John McCoy, John Flatten, John Olson, Gilbert Olson, E Griffith, Aufind A Dahl, Alexander Lemay, John N Gulbrandson, Jens N P Dahl, G N Bremmis, Aufin A Anderson, Ole H Tlotten, P M Segerquest, F E Engstrom, A Engstrom, Peter Johnson, Charles Erickson, John Anderson, Amund Christianson, P A Nyquest, A J Johnson, Thomas E Paulson, Martin Eckdall, Martin O Haugen, B A Stordall, Lars P Larson, P E Swenson, Ole Vagsevick, M Gullekson, Chas Gullekson, Aug Bushman, E D Schreader, M Judowsky, E Stavetig, Anton Kotoba, Thos Frazer, Frank Kriz, Anders Jenson, H Knudson, Erick Peterson, John Hutchins, Josephine Bolstod, Bretta Erickson, John N Bolstad, S E Erickson, Fred Dangerfield, William Halley, Johannes Ralfson, Erick Pederson, John O Eggen, Erick Eggen, Louis Larson, O & J M Sandin, John and Peter Johnson, B H Olson, O O Thuren, Hans Jacobson, Anna Bratvold, Elise Felteau, Iver Hoge, T T Merken, Torry O Edwards, James McClinchy, A C Rhinehart, T A Sullivan.

In Sandsville Township—Martinus Larson, Chas J Johnson, P J Mathson, Thomas Blank, Martinus Larson, Iver Jarvik, L R Laken, Peter Bjerklund, Casper Sands, Henry Hogman, John Henderson, Martin Johnson, John Hendrickson, P P Bergstrom, W J Segerquest, Andreas Paulson, J Martinson, Andreas Paulson, Kornelius Mortenson, F J Duffy, Ed J Sullivan, P Hendrickson, O O Lundin, John H Paulson, Martinus Tingham, Olaf O Lundin, H H Oberg, Anna Hendrickson, Silas S Tricky, Susie S Smith, Chas C Rue, Martin N Thompson, E Mykleby, O Stone, Anton Oseth, G A Miller, Henry J Beardsmore, Geo N Phelps, O J Eugene, Maria Thompson, Chas S Richards, Jacob Huck, Henry H Oberg, William Stead, John & Nils Hendrickson, Mary Nelson, H A Nyquest, Ole Mortenson, Mathias Pederson, J P Ringdahl, Gerhard Nelson, John Mortenson, Mathias Johnson, Nils Nelson, A Abrahamson, Paul Hendricksen, Lars Anderson, Axel Matheson, A Fragenstein, W Pope, Hugh Sartorit, Johannes M Norberg, P J Dalberg, John Lundin, Henry E Nyberg, Thomas Tomason, Stina Nelson, Oliana Jacobson, Christ Anderson, Mekal Jacobson, Theo Myhr, Martin Koldal, J H Amberson, Carrie Volberg, Andreas Polson, Cornelius Mortenson, Ekvold Eriksson, Mary Nelson and P J Mathson.

In Higdem Township—Christian O Hoff, O H Bang, Arnt Olson, F J Duffy, Nels J Bergman, John H Lundquest, H H Flatausen, R O Johnson, Olaf Larson, John Johnson, P A Strubuel, Nils P Lund, J Moren, Carrie Walberg, H D Campbell, John Dallum, Olaf Johnson, Halvor J Segerquest, Peter Bergren, Ingeberg Hendriksen, Lorentz Iverson, Andrew Larson, Frank Eliason, Mathias Anderson, Edward Eliason, Robert Olson, Peter Dahlstrom, Hendrik Johnson, Peter Nystrom, P J Hedlund, Ole S Farden, Ole Westerlund, P O Bergren, Henry Peterson, Peter J Lindberg, Ole J Lindberg, Inga Palm, Erick Lindholm, Erick Paulson, Axel Pederson, John J Hillard, Simon Pederson, John Birkholz, S H Perhus, Thomas Hendrickson, Ole N Hendrickson, Henry Hendrickson, Syvert Peterson, Anders Syrstad, Wm F Dunning, Andrew Heierstad, B J Dunning, Henry Oberg, Ole Kleven, Mangus O Kleven, James Doyle, Philip Doyle, John H Johnson.

In Esther Township—Martin Doyle, F A Olson, Chas Ulrick, Ole Nelson, C Christianson, A C Rhinehart, Mathias Johnson, Mrs Olla Stein, Bendict Mikkelson, Caroline F Miller, Joseph Shaw, E O Johnson, Ludvig Larson, Nils Hilliard, Patrick Powers, W F Pope, M E Hilliard, Ole Magnuson, Engebret Magnuson, Nels Nelson, Christian C Goern, Johannes Gulbranson, H H Flatten, Andrew E Larson, Carl M Lindgren, M O Erickson.

In Brislet Township—Wm H Matthews, et al, Trumpeer Wees, Helen M Frank, Catherine L Chandlers, W H Bradley, Geo B Jarrett, John R Davis, Alice V Whitney, J A Cansdetts.

Dated, at Crookston this first day of August, A. D. 1894.

C. U. Webster,
Co. Auditor.
By M. Cornelius, Deputy.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. S. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

In Advance. $1.00.
Not In Advance. $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 8 1894

The Matador's Last Thrust.

The art of the matador is not to run up to the bull and stab him, but to have him come to you and fling himself upon the sword, while you direct his movements this way and that with the scarlet cape. He will follow a red cape anywhere, and the chulas are busy from the beginning of the fight to the end leading the bull away from the fallen picadors, or the imperiled banderilleros, or the matador. Even after the sword is thrust into his neck up to the hilt it takes the bull a long time to die. A harrowing sight it is. The noble creature—the only noble creature, as it seems, in the ring—stands up as long as he can, vomiting forth torrents of blood, as all his enemies crowd around him, sticking to it until he drops trembling against the fender. Then in come the teams of mules, gayly decorated with flags and ribbons, to carry the bull and horses around the ring at a gallop, leaving a bloody track behind. They are not content with removing the bodies by the nearest possible exit. Oh, no! These gay teams go galloping around the whole arena, each dragging its bloody carcass, while the band plays another quickstep.

They are hardly out of the ring before the drum rolls, and the next bull bursts into the arena. So it goes on until six bulls are done for. All the while our neighbors in the next box are eating and drinking. As for us, we see nothing but the suffering and death over and over again. It carries you back to the Roman circus, and you wonder what civilization has done for Spain, whose population is still so thirsty for blood. The Spaniards are so used to it that they see none of the barbarity, only the skill and the science. And the English residents in Spain are more enthusiastic than the Spaniards themselves.—Madrid Letter.

The Melungeons.

"I believe that the Melungeons of east Tennessee are the only living lineal descendants of the ancient Aztecs," said R. C. Borden of Asheville. "The Melungeons have always been a mystery, and but few facts are known about them. They came to east Tennessee from North Carolina more than a century ago. They have mixed with no other race and have always been filthy and ignorant. A few of them have grown wealthy, but when they do no effort is made to associate with Americans. They have no traditions as to when or how or whence they came, except as to their ancestors in North Carolina. Their names are of Portuguese origin, and their appearance suggests an admixture of Portuguese and Indian blood. They have been classed with negroes, but it is easily demonstrated that they are not of negro origin. I mingled with them a great deal at one time and was fortunate enough to obtain their confidence through an act of kindness to one of their number. A few relics of great age can be found in the hands of the better class in the shape of pottery and implements. Some of these are of the stone period; others are marked with rude imitations of the Maltese cross. They have a tradition that their dead ancestors in North Carolina are buried in mounds. Putting these points together, I believe that they are descendants of the Aztecs and of Portuguese sailors who landed upon the North Carolina coast."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

River Gambling For High Stakes.

"There used to be heavy gambling on the Missouri river as well as the Mississippi in the halcyon steamboat days," said W. D. Camera, a traveling man, the other day. "I remember a great game once played on the steamboat Bluff City, which afterward burned at the wharf in St. Louis. It was in the antebellum days, when Kansas City was comparatively unknown.

"At one table the fight for a big pot had narrowed down to two men—one an inveterate gambler, the other a stranger, whose destination was the little town of Robidoux. Presently the gambler said, 'I'll raise you $20,000 and give you just 15 minutes to call me.' The gentleman who was going to Robidoux replied: 'I don't need 15 minutes. Mr. Clark, bring out enough boxes of money from your office to see the gentleman and go him $20,000 better, and I will give him 30 minutes to call me. If that ain't enough, I'll buy the blamed steamboat and put that on the table.' The gambler threw down his hand, and the stranger made him a present of a $100 bill. The stranger was Joseph Robidoux, founder of the city of St. Joseph, and the little town of Robidoux is a part of St. Joseph today."—Kansas City Journal.

A Valuable Manuscript.

The pope has presented to the Vatican library what may be regarded as a real treasure. It consists of a manuscript given by the celebrated Fra Giocondo of Verona to Lorenzo de Medici, known in history as the "Magnificent." Vasari, in his life of Fra Giocondo, writes of this work and notes that Politan makes mention of this book in his "Muggeliane" and describes the author as "the most learned man of the old days." This work had been lost for a long time, and its recovery now is looked upon as fortunate. The name of Fra Giocondo crops up from time to time in the more recondite studies of the Italian renaissance—that period when learning, science and art made such immense strides in the highest degree of excellence. He was known as a man of great learning and is sometimes compared with that most remarkable scholar and marvelous artist, Leo Battista Alberti.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Sounds Well.

If you wish to drink out of something very pretty indeed, use the smoked chrysophase glassware. It is sweetly cool and pale in its green tint and blends so well with the nature that stands without the door and window it might have been blown in on a sea breeze.—Boston Herald.

The Philosopher's Forgetfulness.

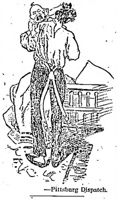
Ralph Waldo Emerson was once advertised to lecture in Boston. The audience assembled, but no lecturer appeared.

Finally, as the people were becoming more and more impatient, a friend went into the anteroom to see if he could find out the cause of the delay.

Mr. Emerson was pacing back and forth, evidently greatly vexed about something. When his friend appeared, he said, "I have forgotten what I am to lecture about."

"You are advertised to lecture on 'Memory,'" his friend responded.—Life's Calendar.

Entertaining a Small Party.



—Pittsburg Dispatch.

As His Mother Used to Make.

"Beautiful scenery here, is it not?" asked the young man of a solitary traveler whom he found pacing along the seashore.

"Well, no," replied the stranger, "I can't agree with you. I think the ocean is too small. It is no such ocean as my mother used to have."

"Your mother's ocean was superior, then?"

"Oh, yes, vastly superior. What tumbling breakers! What a magnificent sweep of view! What amplitude of distance! What fishing there was in my mother's ocean!"

"But the sky is magnificent here, is it not, sir?"

"Too low and too narrow across the top," replied the stranger.

"I hadn't noticed," said the young man.

"Yes," said the stranger, "it is too low, and there isn't air enough in it either. Besides it doesn't sit plumb over the earth. It is wider from north to south than it is from west to east. I call it a pretty poor sky. It is no such sky as my mother used to have."

"Pardon me, but did your mother have a special sky and ocean of her own?"

Right here an old resident came up and drew the young man aside.

"Don't talk with him," said the old resident. "He is a hopeless lunatic. He is a man who always used to tell his wife about 'the biscuits my mother used to make,' 'my mother's pies,' 'my mother's puddings' and 'my mother's doughnuts.' The habit grew on him so much that he became a confirmed lunatic."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

All That's Good to Eat.

"I saw three negro barbers make a bet over at Houston not long ago," said W. C. Rigsby. "They were discussing edibles, and one of them bet the other two that he could beat them guessing as to the best thing to eat, and I was appointed referee.

"'There ain't nothin better, chile, than a good, fat possum well baked in rich, brown gravy,' said one of them.

"'Tell you, possum's mighty good, but give me a good, juicy watermelon,' said the second of them.

"The one who had proposed the bet had a watery look about the mouth when the other two had finished.

"'Now, what's your guess,' I asked of him.

"'Lord, boss, dem two niggers done guessed it all. There ain't nothin left me to guess.'"—San Antonio Express.

Stocks.

She was obdurate.

"No," she repeated decisively.

He begged her to reconsider her determination.

"I cannot," she insisted, "trust my future with you."

In spite of all he could say she took it across the street and left it with another broker.—Detroit Tribune.

Specified.

Maud—What is the height of your ambition, dear?

Marie (blushing)—Oh, something between 5½ and 6 feet.—Tit-Bits.

To Suit.

Fond Mamma (to clerk in china store)—I see you have mugs marked Tom and Jerry. Have you any with Willie and Charlie on them?—Life.

Hot Weather Philosophy.

Don't fret about the mercury
  Or watch it all the time,
The old thermometer won't burst,
  However it may climb.
It doesn't do you any good
  To count up the degrees,
And all your talk about the heat
  Won't start a bit of breeze.

Don't fan yourself too much. It makes
  You hotter when you stop.
Don't tell the suffering neighbors that
  You feel as if you'd drop.
Don't drink too much cold lemonade.
  A glass or two will do.
And don't ask everybody,
  "Is it hot enough for you?"

Just go about your daily tasks
  As calmly as you can.
Don't hurry. Take things easy, and
  You'll be much happier than
The chap who groans and frets and stews
  And fusses all the time.
Just follow this advice, and you'll
  Be glad you read this rhyme.
—Somerville Journal.

High Bred.

"She seems to be infatuated with her little dog."

"Yes. She says he is just heavenly."

"Heavenly! Then he must be a skye terrier."—New York Press.

Diminutive.

Customer—I am furnishing a modern flat.

Floorwalker—The toy department is down stairs.—Detroit Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the 31st day of December A. D. 18[illegible] which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 18[illegible], and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 18[illegible], at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 571 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 18[illegible] with interest annually from date thereof at [illegible] per cent, and due June 1st 18[illegible], and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz:

The south one half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 2[illegible] A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 21 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor B[illegible]son for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

BREVITIES

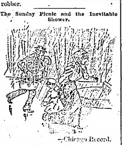
WORD HISTORY.

Puss, the common name for cat, is a corruption of the Persian word pers, a cat.

Gossip was once a sponsor in baptism, next any elderly person, finally a talebearer.

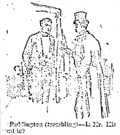
Tories were originally bands of Irish outlaws. The Celtic word toreé means robber.

The Sunday Picnic and the Inevitable Shower.



—Chicago Record.

The Coast Was Clear.

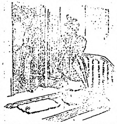


Paddington (trembling)—Is Mr. Mitford in?

Servant—No, sir. He went out 15 minutes ago.

Paddington (with beaming countenance)—Ah, will you kindly give my card to Miss Mitford?—Brooklyn Life.

A Public Spirited Practitioner.



"Doctor, they tell me you are attending that young man next door free of charge."

"Yes, and glad to do it. He's been practicing on a snare drum for the last six months, and now I have a chance to put an end to the [illegible]."—[illegible]

Financial.

She shrank from him.

"I'm awfully shy," she faltered.

He looked upon her bowed head in a trance of horror.

"Can it be possible," he demanded, "that you have already dissipated the fortune your grandmother left you?"

Seizing his hat and cane, he fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Unconscious Betrayal.

Elderly maid and her best young man tete-a-tete. Enter little brother.

Miss Sears—Well, Bobby, what do you want?

Bobby—Crack this nut for me. I'll do as much for you when I have false teeth.—New York World.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

The New Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF.

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

Weak All Over

Hot weather always has a weakening, debilitating effect, especially when the blood is thin and impure and the system poorly nourished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla strength will be imparted and the whole body invigorated. People who take Hood's Sarsaparilla are almost always surprised at the wonderful beneficial effects.

Hood's Pills are safe, harmless, sure.

Mistress and Maid.

"Hello, Charley," I said, as I took the three-year-old upon my knee, "where's your mother?"

"Up stairs, in her room."

"What is she doing?"

"Frizzing and kinking up her hair."

"And where's the girl?"

"Which one? Dinah?"

"Yes."

"Oh, she's up stairs in her own room."

"Well, what is she doing?"

"Oh, she's trying to get the kinks and frizzes out of her hair."

A Student's Smart Break.

Professor (to a student who had on in the lecture hall a loud cravat instead of a white one)—These loud cravats are becoming very fashionable, it seems.

Student—Yes, professor, that's so.

Professor (severely)—But they are not worn in the presence of gentlemen.

Student (somewhat confused)—No, professor, they never are.—Sunday Mercury.

Atlantis.

Banks—Do you suppose they eve will have a floating beer garden out at sea?

Tanks—Well, I'm learning to swim.

Some cooks add to the water in which rice is to be boiled the juice of a lemon. It is said to whiten, lighten and separate the grains.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

New York city has 34,000 miles of underground wires.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Asphalt is taken from a lake of pitch in the island of Trinidad.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c

The best bricks in the world are made by the tribes of Central Asia.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Pneumatic tires have been found very serviceable on hospital ambulances.

Banish Care,

But do it consistently, wisely, and not with alcoholic stimulants, but by the reinforcement of energy, the renewal of appetite and the ability to digest, which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among tonics, produces. Malaria, rheumatism, kidney complaints, constipation and nervousness are conquered by this victor over many ailments.

The Japanese now make tennis racquets, and some of them are imported into the United States.

Winter Rye, 80 Bushels Per Acre.

This yield seems enormous, but a good number of farmers believe they can obtain it by sowing the new monster rye. It's hardy, prolific, laughing at all kinds of weather! It simply yields big crops every year, regardless of storms, droughts, or the like! The World's Fair winter wheat is just like it for yields! The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., will send you their catalogue and samples of above rye and wheat upon receipt of 4 cents postage. w

Every American war ship has an outfit of over 150 flags.

$500 Reward!

We will pay the above reward for any case of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Constipation or Costiveness, we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely Vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated. Large boxes, 25 cents. Beware of counterfeits and imitations. The genuine manufactured only by the John C. West company, Chicago, Ill. H. H. Sabin, Aberdeen, S. D.

In England householders have to pay a tax on each male servant in their employ.

A recent Berkshire, Pa., funeral was graced by the presence of a mourner on a bicycle.

STAMPED OUT

—blood-poisons of every name and nature, by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It rouses every organ into healthy action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and renews the whole system. All Blood, Skin, and Scalp Diseases, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. For Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, and Carbuncles, the "Discovery" is a direct remedy.

CAROLINE WEEKLEY.

Mrs. Caroline Weekley, of Carney, Baldwin Co., Ala., writes: "I suffered for one quarter of a century with "fever-sore" (ulcer) on my leg and eczematous eruptions and gave up all hope of ever being well again. But I am happy to say that your Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery made a complete cure of my ailments, although I had tried different doctors and almost all known remedies without effect.

PIERCE Guarantees a CURE.

Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators.
Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

TRADE MARK LINENE REVERSIBLE

Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso

The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn: they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.

They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.

A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS. ALL DRUGGISTS

LOST LOVE.

Who wins his love shall lose her,
  Who loses her shall gain,
For still the spirit woos her,
  A soul without a stain;
And memory still pursues her
  With longings not in vain!

He loses her who gains her,
  Who watches day by day
The dust of time that stains her,
  The griefs that leave her gray,
The flesh that yet enchains her,
  Whose grace hath passed away!

Oh, happier he who gains not
  The love some seem to gain;
The joy that custom stains not
Shall still with him remain,
The loveliness that wanes not,
  The love that ne'er can wane.

He dreams she grows not older
  The land of dreams among,
Though all the world wax colder,
  Though all the songs be sung,
In dreams doth he behold her
  Still fair and kind and young.

A DUCK GEYSER.

An Extraordinary Experience in the Arid Belt.

"Ever since I went to the poultry show," said Jackson Peters, "I have felt interested in chickens, I wish I had some."

"Yes," observed Robinson, "it would not be a bad idea for you to keep a few god fowls in you room. They could roost on the foot of your bed, and you could make nests for the hens in your last year's hats, and coop your chicks in the grate, and——"

"I believe, Robinson, that you are becoming almost as facetious as Jones. You should be careful that the attack does not run into a low form of improbable adventures. What I want to do is to go out into the country and raise chickens."

"Why not ducks?" inquired Jones, in a serious and interested tone.

"Well, they might be all right. I could get a place where there was plenty of water and raise ducks."

"Yes, ducks need water; but I have a theory that it is best to go where there is no water naturally, get it in some way, and then raise them there."

"Why?"

"More demand for them where they are scarce, and therefore a better price," answered Jones. "Go out to the arid region, Jackson, to start your duck ranch."

"Well, there may be something in that," replied Jackson, much interested. What place would you recommend?"

"I tried Dakota," said Jones, softly.

"Oh, you've tried it, have you?" returned Jackson, suspiciously, beginning to catch the drift of the other's remarks.

"Certainly, Jackson. I was just going to tell you about it."

"Very self-sacrificing of you, I am sure. No doubt you utilized their voice and set up a thousand-quack-power motor, or——"

"Now, hold on, my young friend; this is not a debate in the senate, but a serious discussion of weighty agricultural problems. If you will listen, you may learn much. When I decided several years ago to engage in duck culture, I went out to Dakota. I first called on the governor. 'Governor,' I said, 'for what is there the greatest demand in your territory?' 'English capitalists,' he replied. 'I would gladly start a ranch to raise that sort of stock if I could,' I answered; 'but you see how impossible it is. For what practical product is there the heaviest demand?' 'Ducks,' replied the governor; 'there is not a duck in the territory.' 'But they require water,' I said. 'Irrigate 'em,' returned the executive.

"But," interposed Jackson Peters, "couldn't the settlers raise them along the rivers?"

"So I hinted to the governor. 'There's the Jim river,' I said to him; 'there's a place for ducks to swim.' 'Not deep enough,' answered the governor. 'Well the Missouri, then.' 'Too thick.' The upshot of it was that I went down into Brule County, bought some land, sent to Illinois for five hundred prime live ducks, and began boring an artesian well.

"When my well was down something like a thousand feet, and still no sign of water, I became anxious, and spent much of my time about the mouth of it. The ducks were also becoming impatient, and would cluster about the hole, six inches in diameter, peer down it, and quack in a thirsty voice which touched me deeply. One day while my workmen were sharpening their drill, I was leaning over the hole, measuring its depth with a small cord and weight, when suddenly, with a terrific explosion and a roar which shook the earth, a stream of water burst out of the hole and shot one hundred feet into the air. Being directly over it, I was of course, carried up, along with one duck. The first thing I realized was of being tossed up and down on the top of the column of water, precisely as you will sometimes see a small ball tossed up and down by the central jet of a lawn fountain.

"Gentlemen, I am not ashamed to admit that for a moment I was frightened. The top of the stream spread to a foot and a half in diameter, and was soft and foamy. It rose and fell somewhat, and I was gently bounced up and down on my face. I had seized the duck by the legs while coming up, that he might not be injured, but I now released him and turned over and sat upright. My workmen and neighbors came rushing up to the well; but though I could see them making signs, I could hear nothing, owing to the frightful roar of the escaping waters, which was as great as that of Niagara. The duck floundered about at my side and quacked with joy; but I own that I was somewhat disturbed by the prospect. I dare not jump off, on account of the height. As for sliding down the column, it was impossible to make any headway against the terrific upward current. I saw I was in for a considerable stay, so decided to make the best of it. I signaled my men to send up some dinner, a newspaper, and a handful of corn for the duck. This they did, inclosing all in a stout tin can, and I soon refreshed myself and began looking over the paper, finding especial interest in an article on 'The Advantage of the Artesian Well on the Farm.' The duck ate the corn out of my hand and seemed grateful. After finishing the paper, I tossed it off and allowed it to flutter to the ground, and spent the rest of the afternoon in surveying the neighborhood, my elevation giving me a fine prospect in all directions.

"After supper, which was sent up as dinner had been, I began to think about sleeping accommodations. Finally I signaled my men to send me up a cot, which they did simply by throwing it into the column of water as they had the other things. It came up and struck me with considerable force, but balanced nicely on top of the stream, which now flattened out rather more, and I soon retired, placing the duck on the foot of the bed. I slept quite well, though I woke up once or twice, possibly from the novelty of the surroundings.

"The days which followed were much like the first. My meals were sent up regularly, together with books and papers, and I spent most of my time in reading and teaching the duck many interesting tricks. People came for miles to see me in my odd position, and I was an immense boon to local photographers. I also wrote a series of articles for the Territorial Agriculturist on 'The Artesian Well Outlook,' and others on 'How the Farmer May Rise in the World,' and 'Ups and Downs of Duck Culture.' I may say that these met with much favor, and were widely quoted and commented upon. Friends have sometimes chided me for not devoting more of my time to work with the pen."

Jones stopped abruptly and gazed into the fire.

"Well," said Smith, after a pause, "you forget that you are down now."

"Yes, that's so; I am. But I stayed up there six weeks. It was in the latter part of October when I went up. Early in December there came a cold snap and froze the column of water solid. Tossing my duck off, which readily flew to the ground, I took a rope previously sent up, tied it to my cot, which was frozen on top of the stream, and slid to terra firma, and received the congratulations of my friends. That, I think, is all."

Jackson Peters moved about uneasily in his chair for a few moments. Then he said:

"Well, your duck-farm was a success, I suppose?"

"A decided one, Jackson. Next summer the ducks soon learned to hop into the stream, ride up, fly off, and repeat the performance. They thus avoided the work of swimming, and turned the energy so saved to the production of feathers and eggs. There was a procession of ducks going up the column of water and fluttering off the top all day long, as if it were a duck volcano. A correspondent of a New York paper—a somewhat superficial observer—conceived it (with slight help from me) to be such in reality, and sent an interesting dispatch to his sheet, entitled, 'Great Duck Geyser!—Immense Vein of Natural Ducks Tapped in Dakota—A Discharge of Three Hundred Prime Live Fowls per Minute—Proposed Pipe-Line to Tide-Water.'

"Yes, Jackson, my duck-farm was a success; and if you embark in the business, I advise you to go to the arid belt. But avoid leaning over your artesian well, unless you are interested in the study of the upper atmospheric strata."—Harper's Weekly.

PERILS OF BULL FIGHTING.

An English Writer Denies Certain Oft-Repeated Statements Regarding the Sport.

The terrible death of a promising young torero in the bull ring has once again attracted the attention of the English public to the Spanish national sport, says the London Graphic. One is accustomed to hear bull fighting denounced as both cruel and cowardly—cruel because of the suffering it inflicts upon animals, cowardly because the risk run by the bull fighter is infinitesimal. The first charge is absolutely true, so far, at least as concerns the unfortunate horses. The second is equally false, as the tragic death of Espartero the other day should serve to show the amateur critics who, for the most part, have never seen the spectacle they denounce in such unqualified terms. If the Spaniards would only revive the original form of the sport they borrowed from the Moors—that is to say, the riding, not of wretched cab horses, only fit for the knacker, and mounted by professional picadores, but of valuable horses with "owners up," who would, of course, exercise their skill in trying to save their mounts—there would be little to be said against bull fighting on the score of cruelty.

As to the current sneers at the cowardice of the bull fighters, they are the outcome of sheer ignorance. One has but to witness the entry into the ring of a fresh-caught Andalusian bull, twice the size and weight of a lion, fully as fierce and almost as active, to understand that every man in the ring carries his life in his hand, and that a momentary loss of nerve, of judgment, or of footing will probably mean instant death. That terrible fighting "spear"—a Spaniard never talks of a bull's "horn" any more than an Englishman of a fox's "tail"—would make short work of any man who had not devoted the flower of his age to the study of the most perilous of all kinds of sport. Those who have seen such daring and accomplished toreros as Lagartijo or Frascuelo take the cloak from the hand of a subordinate and play with the infuriated beast as a child might with a kitten, knowing all the time that the slightest mistake would be fatal, cannot, if they speak the truth, refuse to admit that the combination of skill and courage is unparalleled. The perils of the plaza redeem the sport from the charge of cowardice, though not, as it is at present conducted, from that of cruelty.

A FORTUNATE FAINT.

A Woman Is Spared by an Angry Lion, as She Seemed to Be Dead.

"A fainting fit is something not usually to be desired," remarked Marcus L. Wilson, of Athens, Ga., "but I recall an instance where a swoon proved to be about the best thing that could have happened to a certain young lady, as it probably was the means of saving her life.

"During the street parade of a circus, a few years ago, a full-grown lion managed in some way to break the fastenings of his cage and bounded out in the midst of the crowd of people who were collected on the street. Of course, the people were frightened nearly out of their wits, and fled in every direction. One woman was so badly terrified that she sank to the ground in a dead faint not more than ten feet from where the lion stood lashing his tail and glaring about him. No one dared to approach the woman to bear her to a place of safety, neither was there a gun nor pistol handy with which to kill the beast.

"All at once the lion turned his gaze on the prostrate form of the woman, and with an awful roar reached her side with one bound. The spectators were horrified, expecting the next moment to see the poor woman torn limb from limb. To the great astonishment of every one, the lion, instead of mangling the body, simply sniffed at it, turned it over with his paws, and, after eyeing it suspiciously, walked away. He thought the woman was dead. After some time and a good deal of trouble the lion was captured by his keepers and recaged."

NO FUSION FOR THEM

MINNESOTA DEMOCRATS WILL NOMINATE A TICKET.

This Is the Verdict of the State Central Committee—A Resolution Endorsing Cleveland's Stand on the Tariff Tabled.

St. Paul, Aug. 2.—A meeting of the Democratic state central committee was held at the Ryan. Those present were Chairman F. W. M. Cutcheon, P. J. Smalley, F. G. Winston and Titus Marek, committeemen at large Owen Austin of Hastings, Dan Aberle of St. Paul, Chris Heffron of Rochester, D. B. Johnson of Minneapolis, proxy for John Coleman of Anoka; Col. J. J. Thornton, proxy for John C. Wise of Mankato; J. J. McCafferty, proxy for C. A. Moody of Sauk Rapids; George A. Du Toit of Chaska, James D. Sheedy of Austin, Morris Thomas of Duluth, J. M. Spicer of Willmar, James Manning of Worthington, James E. O'Brien of Crookston, L. W. Lyon, proxy for Werner Hemstead of Brainerd; Charles Cater of Herman, Daniel W. Lawler, proxy for Crawford Livington of St. Paul, and Lars M. Rand of Minneapolis. Capt. W. H. Harries was also present.

The following resolution was tabled by a vote of 16 to 3:

"Resolved, That the Democratic state central committee of Minnesota heartily approves of the stand taken by President Cleveland and the house of representatives on the tariff question."

For some time past Chairman Cutcheon and Secretary Smalley, with a committee, have been preparing plan for reorganizing the party in Minnesota, and the report was made to the meeting, which decided that the present organization is good enough, so the plan was rejected.

The question of fusing with the Populists was taken up, and reports were made by members of the committee, which were to the effect that while in several sections of the state the Democrats, influenced by a desire to save their county tickets, were favorable to fusion, yet as a general thing fusion on a state ticket was not regarded as being in the interests of the party or its principles. In fact, the sense of the committee was strongly and unanimously opposed to fusion, and to express this sentiment and to show the Democracy of the state that the one thing needful to ensure a Democratic victory this fall is backbone and loyalty to Jeffersonian principles, Messrs. F. G. Winston, D. W. Lawler and J. J. Thornton were appointed a committee to draft a resolution exhorting the Democrats to stand fast by their colors. The result of the committee's labors was the following, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the Democratic State Central Committee of Minnesota, in session at St. Paul, having received advices from every section of the state, sends greeting to the state Democracy, and congratulates the Democrats of Minnesota on the bright prospects of electing a Democratic state ticket at the coming election. The selection of good candidates and the unanimous support of the Democracy will insure success."

The committee then adjourned to meet again in St. Paul on Sept. 3, to prepare for the state convention, which will be held in the Auditorium here on Sept. 5.

Several of those who were present at the meeting were interviewed with a viw to learning their personal sentiments regarding fusion with the Populists. Ex-Congressman W. H. Harries expressed himself as being opposed to the idea, though he admitted there were a few Democrats in the First district who would favor it.

"I am a personal friend of S. M. Owen," he said, "and have a very high regard for his character, but I cannot agree with the views he expressed the other day in a speech at, I think, Mankato, where he took exception to the action of the president in sending United States troops into the State of Illinois. I thought the right of the federal government to take such action had been demonstrated some thirty years ago. I remember when I served in the federal army that certain Southern states strenuously objected to the entrance of federal troops into their territory. Mr. Owen was a soldier in the federal army like myself, and I am surprised that he does not recognize the issue of 1861-5 in the dress it has assumed in 1894.

Col. J. J. Thornton, another old soldier, expressed himself as being absolutely opposed to fusion. Col. Thornton was strongly in favor of nominating Hon. E. T. Champlin of Blue Earth, who was speaker of the house in 1891.

James D. Sheedy of Austin also declared himself against fusion, and said there were enough Democrats in the state to elect a straight ticket this fall. He believed that party principles could not be traded merely for the purpose of capturing offices or turning some other fellow out, and that at the present critical juncture it is the duty of every Democrat to stand by the party.

BIG FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Many Acres of Lumber Now Smoking Ruins.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The lumber district of Chicago was last night visited by one of the most disastrous fires in its history and the loss will probably foot up between $1,200,000 and $1,500,000, although it will be twenty-four hours before the damage can be estimated with accuracy. The following concerns were entirely cleaned out by the flames and everything contained in their yards has been utterly destroyed:

S. K. Martin's Lumber company; Brown & Richards Lumber company; Wells & French company, car-builders; Perley Lowe & Co., lumber; Shoemaker & Highie Lumber; John Spry Lumber company; Edward Hines Lumber company; Conway & Co., cedar posts; W. C. B. Palmer, cedar posts; Whitcomb Cedar Post company; Liemans & Halske Manufacturers of dynamos.

The burned district is about six squares from east to west and about three from north to south.

The greatest portion of the district bounded by Blue Island avenue, Lincoln street, the river and Ashland avenue, was burned over and forty acres of lumber yards are this morning nothing but smoking embers.

Caused by Lightning.

Red Wing, Minn., Aug. 2.—A barn on McLains farm, near Frontenac, occupied by H. Dammann, burned yesterday afternoon with contents. Loss about $700. No insurance. Cause, lightning.

Furniture Plant Burned.

Indianapolis, Special.—Stone's Furniture Manufacturing company plant, recently assigned and lately operated by the Advance Manufacturing company, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The loss will reach between $40,000 and $50,000 and is fully insured.

Struck by Lightning.

Jefferson City, Special.—The main building of Lincoln institute was struck by lightning early this morning, and burned to the ground. The loss to the state will be $25,000, partly covered by insurance.

DEMOCRATS RESIGN.

From the Minnesota State Central Committee.

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—In consequence of the refusal of the Democratic state central committee to adopt the resolution endorsing the action of President Cleveland and the house of representatives in regard to the tariff, F. W. M. Cutcheon, chairman of the state committee, and Secretary P. J. Smalley, who was also committeeman-at-large in the place of Hon. Lewis Baker, have sent in their resignations to Vice Chairman Titus Marek of Minneapolis, with the statement that their action is irrevocable. They wash their hands of the state committee, which they consider has fallen into evil courses and has disgraced itself and humiliated its chairman and secretary by laying on the table the resolution endorsing Cleveland on the tariff, which resolution was twice offered to them, first by Hon. D. W. Lawler, who withdrew it, and again by Secretary Smalley.

Both resignations are in the form of letters. Chairman Cutcheon wrote out his resignation and mailed it to Titus Marek on Wednesday evening, but the fact was not published Thursday morning on the request of Mr. Cutcheon, who desired to show no discourtesy to Mr. Marek by the newspapers forestalling the official notification. Mr. Marek received Mr. Cutcheon's letter yesterday, and a copy of it is here given:

"Wednesday Evening, Aug. 1, 1894.—Titus Marek, Esq., Vice President Democratic States Central Committee, Minneapolis, Minn.—Dear Sir: You are aware that having been in court all day I did not arrive at the meeting of the state central committee that occurred this afternoon until the members of the committee were upon the point of dispersing. It was not until afterwards, when the gentlemen composing the committee had scattered, that I was fully informed of the action of the committee in rejecting the two resolutions offered first by Mr. Lawler and afterwards by Mr. Smalley. In view of the overwhelming vote by which, as I now understand it, these resolutions were defeated, there is only one way in which I can at once adequately express my radical dissent from the action of the committee. In order to express such dissent and incidentally my regret at the rejection of every plan proposed for remodeling the party organization in such way as to transfer the control of the party machinery from the party managers to the voters at large I tender my resignation of my position as chairman and as a member of the committee. * * * Coming as it does just prior to the expiration of my term of service, my resignation is simply the expression of my personal dissent from the position assumed by the committee. * * * It is unnecessary and under the circumstances there will scarcely be occasion for me to say that this action upon my part is absolutely irrevocable. Yours very truly, —"F. W. M. Cutcheon."

Secretary Smalley's letter of resignation was of a similar tenor. In an interview he stated that the refusal of the committee to indorse the plan of the subcommittee for a reorganization of the party had nothing to do with his action.

"That is a matter upon which loyal members of the party might honestly differ," said he, "and I could say nothing against their action in rejecting that, but when a packed committee declined to indorse the president in his attempt to uphold the platform of the party I felt it necessary, in order to retain my self-respect, that I enter a protest, and the only way I could do this was to send in my resignation. I have long felt, in common with other members of the party, that we should have a better organization, as in fact we have had practically no organization in the past. The plan suggested for organization was practically that of Mr. Cutcheon, though Messrs. Mullen, Heffron and Winston have labored with us in preparing it. Mr. Doran seems to have had an idea that in preparing this plan we were in some way attempting to get control of the party, and so packed the committee meeting yesterday for the purpose of defeating it as well as the indorsement of President Cleveland. After the plan of the committee had been laid on the table I submitted a shorter plan, simply changing the terms of committeemen by providing that instead of being chosen at each convention on the eve of a campaign, they be selected after the campaign, say at the beginning of the year, and hold office for two years, which would take them through the following campaign and enable them to do good work. Even so mild a measure as this was laid on the table; but, as I say, men may honestly differ in regard to matters of this kind, and I had no hard feelings on this score, but when a Democratic state central committee positively refuses to stand by the platform of the party they are supposed to represent there is nothing for me to do but step out. I don't propose to sacrifice my self-respect to a lot of peanut politicians who may chance to get control of a central committee merely for the sake of holding a position. I don't know what action other members of the committee who were in favor of indorsing the president may do. I have not consulted with any of them."

Another meeting of the state central committee will probably be called at once to elect a chairman and secretary.

Pullman Works Started.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The Pullman works were started to-day quietly and without demonstration on the part of the ex-employes. But 250 men reported for work, although the company expected 800. About 1,000 strikers gathered about the buildings and good naturedly chaffed the returning workmen, but no attempt at violence was made. A heavy detail of police was on hand and remained at the works all day on guard.

Gas Arbitration.

Minneapolis, Aug. 3.—The gas arbitrators will report to-morrow evening. A majority Nelson and Wilson, agree on $1.30 net. Arbitrator Murphy stood out for $1.62 for a time, but has recently showed signs of weakening and may even go so far now as to sign the report, making it unanimous.

Managers' Ultimatum.

Omaha, Aug. 3.—The mangers of the Hammond, Swift, Cudahy and Omaha houses this afternoon informed the men that if they did not return to work by Monday the houses would be opened with a full set of new men, and none of the strikers would be re-employed.

Died From a Kick.

Red Wing, Minn., Aug. 3.—The small son of Joseph Sauther, at Goodhue, was kicked in the stomach by a horse and died shortly after.

New Ulm Case Settled.

Washington, Special.—The interstate commerce commission case between the New Ulm Milling company and the Chicago & Northwestern road, involving a dispute over milling in transit charges and rate on flour, was settled without a hearing. It is understood the railroad company made satisfactory concessions.

Balfour Surrendered.

London, Special.—A dispatch received here from Buenos Ayres announces that Jabez Balfour, the much-wanted fugitive ex-member of parliament, has been surrendered by the Argentine authorities to the representatives of the British government.

WHY THEY RESIGNED.

Democratic Committeemen Issue a Statement.

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Dan W. Lawler, James J. McCafferty, F. G. Winston, L. M. Rand, Titus Mareck and David G. Johnson, members of the Minnesota state Democratic central committee, have issued the following in reply to the letter of Mr. Cutcheon in resigning as chairman of the committee:

"The undersigned members and acting members of the Democratic state central committee from the counties of Hennepin and Ramsey, in view of certain public statements made by the late chairman and the late secretary of said committee concerning certain proceedings had at a meeting of said committee on the 1st day of August, 1894, at St. Paul, consider it their duty to inform the Democratic voters of the state that such statements are misleading and unfounded in so far as they attribute to the Democratic state central committee any feeling of disloyalty to the administration of President Cleveland or of wavering in Democratic principles.

"The undersigned emphatically state that the real reason of the resignation of the above mentioned officers was the rejection by the state central committee of a so-called plan of reorganization of the political committees of the state, concocted by Mr. Smalley, which was unwise, illiberal and undemocratic, and which had for its main purpose the retention of its author in office for an indefinite time. Mr. Cutcheon was absent from said meeting until after all business had been transacted and undoubtedly received his report thereof from Mr. Smalley. The latter official, in disregard of the fact that the meeting of said committee was executive and in violation of his obligation of silence, chose an opportunity of resigning in a burst of assumed patriotism, a position from which he foresaw dismissal at the hands of the coming state convention.

"The undersigned in view of their past record in the Democratic party of this state deem it unnecessary and gratuitous to say to the good Democrats of Minnesota that they are as devoted and loyal as they have always been to Democratic principles, and are confident of success at the coming state election."

In replying to this Mr. Cutcheon has issued the following:

"First—I have made no statement whatever, in public or I think in private, of the occurrences at that meeting.

"Second—Since, however, certain undesignated, 'misleading and unfounded' statements are ascribed to me, and Mr. Smalley is alleged to have been my authority for them, I desire it to be known that my information concerning the introduction and defeat of the Lawler-Smalley tariff resolution was derived originally from Mr. D. W. Lawler, who signed this manifesto. Mr. Lawler's account was afterwards confirmed by Mr. Smalley. Both accounts corresponded substantially with that contained in yesterday's Globe.

"Third—As to whether I should have considered the committee's refusal to recommend the proposed plan of reorganization in itself a sufficient ground for the course I took, I do not know. That would have depended upon the apparent animus of the committee's action, with reference to which I had as little information as I now have doubt. The defeat of the tariff resolution was the direct cause of my decision, the rejection of the plan of reorganization, perhaps, bit in and fixed that determination.

"Fourth—As to the character of the plan, whatever else it may have been, it was essentially Democratic. But it will be useless to discuss that unless the committee rescinds its action and permits the plan to be published."

BADLY BUNGED UP.

Railroads at Brazil, Ind., Are Assaulted and Robbed.

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 6—David Wilson and Henry Wright, residents of Attica, were attacked this morning by a crowd of men on the Jackson street crossing of the Chicago and Western Illinois, and horribly stamped and beaten. Wilson will die and Wright is seriously injured, being covered with bruises, his jaw bone broken, and an ugly cut above the left temple. Wilson's principal wounds are internal. Trainmaster Fowler, of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, said that they had come to this city to work on his road, and this led to the belief that the men were assaulted by strikers. The strikers say they were acquainted with the men, and that they did not come to work upon the road, but that they were assaulted and robbed by a crowd of toughs. Wright admits that he was robbed of a considerable amount of money. A man who arrived here to-day to take a position on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois was attacked by men who claimed to be strikers, and was only saved from being killed by drawing a revolver and holding the crowd at bay until a policeman arrived and escorted him to the roundhouse

A Base Drummer.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—William Wadleigh, who has been a member of the Stevens Point Salvation army, for which he beat the large bass drum, was arrested here on the charge of robbing a farmer near Stevens Point of $80. He shaved his beard and rode to Milwaukee in the same car with the farmer whom he is alleged to have robbed. Wadleigh was in the Fifteenth Infantry, U. S. A., for some time.

Railroad Shops Open Again.

Ashland, Wis., Aug. 6.—The Northwestern railroad shops, which were closed by the strike, have now resumed operations and the ore traffic is now heavier over the Northwestern than at any time last year. Four hundred cars of ore were brought in over the Central yesterday, and the officials claim this high record will be maintained during the remainder of the season.

The Postoffices.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Lars E. Jenson was to-day appointed postmaster at Rousseau, Hughes county, S. D., vice M. C. Rousseau, resigned. A new postoffice was established to-day at Kyle, Shannon county, S. D., Joseph Day, postmaster.

Treasury Balance.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The cash balance in the treasury at the close of business to-day was $119,220,704, of which $52,320,569 is gold reserve.

Three Injured.

Chicago, Special.—Three frame dwellings at 201, 203 and 205 West Taylor street were destroyed by fire to-day, and the following people injured: Mrs. Isabella Irvine, overcome by smoke; may die. William Connors, struck on head by falling brick; will probably recover. Tony Camero, burned about head and face; will recover. The fire caused a total loss of $60,000.

Shea Declines.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Special.—J. J. Shea, nominated by the Iowa Democrats as supreme court reporter, to-day sent to the state committee a letter declining to be a candidate.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

TREASON DEFINED.

"Crimes Against the Existence of the United States.

Under this title, the revised statutes of the United States give force to the definition of our constitution of what constitutes treason, namely: The levying of war against the United States, or adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.

The great majority of the members of labor organizations are honest men and good citizens; in case of foreign invasion they would rally to the national defense as nobly as in 1861. But before they pay a farthing to help carry on the present insurrection—for, be it fully understood, the question to-day is not a quarrel between the Pullman company and its employes, but between the United States government and secret organizations in insurrection against the law and the authority of the government—it behooves every member, assessed in aid of the so-called "strike," clearly to understand what such payment means, in what position they will place themselves by giving aid and comfort to the strikers who are now defying by force the authority of the United States. Let them understand that such payment would be one of the statutory "crimes against the existence of the United States," and the penalty thereof is not only imprisonment, but involves the loss of their right to vote or hold public office for ever after, according to the constitution.

Here are the definitions and penalties prescribed in the United States statutes:

1. To levy war against the United States is treason—penalty, death.
2. Misprision of treason to incite rebellion against the United States or its laws, to give aid or comfort to those who do incite rebellion—penalty, ten years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.
3. Seditious conspiracy—two or more persons conspiring to oppose by force the authority of the United States, or to prevent, hinder or delay the execution of any law of the United States—penalty, five years' imprisonment at hard labor and $5,000 fine.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

FREE!

THIS KNIFE! Fine Steel. Keen as a razor. Good, strong handle. Mailed free in exchange for 25 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee Wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine Premiums. WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, O.

EARHUFF ORGANS

The Only Absolutely Mouse and Dust Proof Organ On the Market.

Artistic designs, good workmanship, best Hand rubbed finish. Every Organ Guaranteed. If not handled by your dealer write to factory for prices. Address,

J. G. EARHUFF, ORGAN CO.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, MINN.

HOTEL FURNITURE and LEASE FOR SALE.
ST. PAUL.
A great bargain is offered to any responsible hotel man to take an OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address,
Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1894. NUMBER 2.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

From the Nation's Capital.

Judge Amos Thayer of Missouri is appointed judge of the United States court for the Eighth circuit.

Government officials believe there will be no necessity for another bond official.

The United States government is said to have been defrauded in products of the Carpenter armour-piercing projectile works.

Senator Peffer has amended his irrigation bill, so as to provide an appropriation of $500,000 for construction of reservoirs on arid lands.

It is declared that the United States will not enter into a treaty with European powers to forcibly occupy and keep open Chinese treaty ports.

The secretary of war has awarded a medal of honor to Elisha Johns, corporal C. B. One Hundred and Thirteenth Illinois volunteers, for gallant services at the siege of Vicksburg in 1863. He is now a resident of Elkhart, Indiana.

Personal Mention.

The condition of Congressman Shaw of Wisconsin is greatly improved.

Dr. A. H. Kimball died at Battle Creek, Mich., of consumption, aged 46 years.

It is reported in New York that the engagement between Odette Tyler, the actress, and Howard Gould has been renewed.

The monument to the memory of Frederick J. Freylinghuysen was unveiled in Military Park, at Newark, N. J., yesterday.

Gen. James Longstreet, the distinguished confederate soldier, has asked the senate to increase his Mexican war pension from $12 to $50 monthly because of his total disability.

Ezekial Wiggins, the Canadian weather prophet, says that he believes that the peculiarities seen on Mars are signals which the Marsians are making to the inhabitants of the earth.

The duke of Westminister is not in favor of the proposed legacy law. In case of its enactment his heirs will have to pay the crown $7,500,000, leaving only $82,500,000 for their own use.

Dr. Cornelius Herz the Panama lobbyist, was sentenced for contempt of court to pay a fine of $600 and to five years' imprisonment. Dr. Herz is still in England and the Paris courts could only reach him through contempt proceedings.

Miss Sallie Curd, stamp clerk in the Lexington postoffice has been discharged by Postmaster McChesney because she refused to speak to Mrs. Whitfield, the money order clerk. Miss Curd intimates that her discharge is due to improper reasons, and has some connection with the congressional campaign now in progress in that district. Postmaster McChesney is a relative of Congressman Breckinridge.

Unfortunate Events.

John and Charles Moore were drowned near Toronto, Ohio.

The plant of the Hercules Torpedo company at Lima, Ohio, was destroyed by an explosion.

Savina Sykes was killed and Emma Moyer fatally hurt by a Big Four train at Alton, Ill.

Charles Helden, a section hand living at Harvard, Ill., was killed by a passenger train.

De Witt McDowell, a prominent business man of Arkansas City, Kan., was killed in a folding bed.

Thomas Stokes, aged 17, was killed at Birmingham, Ala., by the bursting of an emery wheel.

A Chicago Great Western freight train went through a bridge at Peru, Iowa, and Conductor Haley was killed.

Henry Lutz, a farmer near Georgetown, Ill., was instantly killed by being caught under a traction engine which ran off a bridge.

Fifty artists were burned out and $50,000 worth of paintings destroyed by a fire in the Vandyke studio building at New York.

While stooping at his work in the Highland mine, near Deadwood, S. D., a seventy-five pound rock fell and killed F. A. Blaitze.

The Norwegian ship Catharine Stephenson went on Santa Rosa island, coast of Florida, and was wrecked. The crew was rescued by life-savers after a heroic struggle.

William Patton Daniel, the 8-year-old son of United States Senator John Daniel, was dragged to death by a runaway saddle horse at Lynchburg, Va.

Isace Wright, a well-to-do farmer, was run over on a railroad crossing at Rockford, Ind. He was able to attend to all his business before death ensued.

A Panhandle freight train was wrecked at Creston, Ohio, near Hamilton, by running over a cow. Fireman M. Nell was killed and Engineer Egan slightly injured. Fifteen cars and the engine were derailed.

George Fuchshober, a special officer of the Pennsylvania road, was killed at Fort Wayne, Ind. He fell from a freight train and was crushed beneath the wheels. The manner of his death is not fully known. Some think he was thrown from the train by a person or persons concealed near where he was.

Criminal Doings.

John Schode was murdered at Pueblo, Col.

Burglars robbed the store of Fred Stubler of Monticello, Iowa, of $400.

J. W. Porter, a prominent Baptist minister of Decatur, Ind., has been arrested on a charge of larceny.

A mutiny occurred on the Mississippi river steamer G. M. Sivley near Alton Ill., and two men were killed.

William Simsrott, defaulting treasurer of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association is now at Mackinac Island, Mich.

In a row between Coxeyites and railroad employes at Connellsville, Pa., Thomas Lacey of City Falls, Iowa, was fatally hurt.

Samuel Matthews was attacked by Slavs at Leisenring, Pa., and stabbed so seriously it is not believed he can live.

Business men patrol the streets of Brazil, Ind., having been appointed deputy marshals at their own request. Three strikers have been arrested.

In Jacinto county, Tex., Road Overseer D. M. Saunders and his son were shot and killed by S. R. Barnett in a quarrel arising out of an old grudge.

Joe O'Neill and an unknown man were arrested charged with robbing the safe of the Hawkins Flouring Mills company at Pantoka, Ill., of $150.

J. G. McCloskey, J. Martin and a third operator named Mittelberger, were arrested at Columbus, Ohio, for tapping pool-room wires.

Isare Roy, a prospector, well-known throughout the Canadian Northwest, was murdered in his camp near the town of Edmonton, Man.

Fritz Baumer, a German, was slugged by footpads at Omaha, Neb., and robbed of $2 in cash and a gold watch. Fifty dollars in his shoe was not touched.

Paul Bitterman of Chicago was fined $250 and sentenced to sixty days in jail at Cleveland Ohio, charged with stealing packages from express wagons.

Gov. Altgeld has offered $200 reward for the conviction of Joseph Sasdiekie, charged with the murder of Thomas Walmaniski at Braceville, Ill., August 1.

Peter Maroney, Frederick Letcher and Harley Hegnes have been arrested at Central City, Col., for hanging E. A. Mills, playmate, who offended them. Mills is in a critical condition.

Deputy Sheriff Holmes attempted to arrest Amos Leash at Cisco, Ill., for selling liquor without a license. A gun fight followed in which Carlton Shidler was fatally wounded and five other persons seriously injured.

Steve Brodie the bridge jumper, was stabbed in the neck at New York close to the door of his place on the Bowery, by William Heaney, a well-known book-maker. The men quarreled over a bet.

At Rolfe, Iowa, Herman Barnes and Joseph Wiley two farmers, had a quarrel and agreed to fight to a finish. The battle was a bloody affair, and Barnes was badly hurt. He died later of his injuries. Wiley was arrested on charge of murder.

Ethel Leroy was murdered at San Frisco, Cal., after a desperate struggle with Frank Larabee. He overpowered her with a razor cut her throat. In the terrible struggle the woman's cheeks, neck and breast were frightfully slashed. Pushing the dying woman from him he then attempted his own life.

Foreign Gossip.

It is reported that Japan's navy has been defeated by Chinese war vessels.

The sealer Viva has arrived at Victoria, B. C., with 20,000 skins.

Queen Victoria gave a grand banquet at Osborn in honor of the German emperor. Seventy covers were laid.

C. P. Huntington has reopened negotiations with the Mexican government for the purchase of the Tehuantepec Isthmus railway.

The Monte de Piete, or national pawnshop at Roubaix, department of Nord, France, was destroyed by fire. The damage amounts to 2,000,000 francs.

Sixty-nine million lire in Italian silver has been collected in Belgium, France and Switzerland. Italy has redeemed in gold 56,000,000 lire of this amount.

Shinichiro Kurino, chief of the diplomatic bureau of the department for foreign affairs of Japan, has been appointed minister to the United States. He studied at Harvard.

Cipriana, the Italian anarchist who was accused of plotting with the ex-Deputy Felice and Pietre Casselli during the troubles in Sicily recently, has been ordered to leave Brussels. He will go to London.

Great Britain desires to act entirely in accord with the United States at Bluefields, Nicaragua, and will refrain from any interference, except such as is considered necessary for the protection of British life and property and to maintain treaty obligations.

The marriage of the grand duke Alexander Michalovitch and the grand duchess Xenia, daughter of the czar, was celebrated at the imperial palace at Peterhof in the presence of the imperial family, the queen of Greece, Prince Christian of Denmark, the Princess of Wales and numerous other members of the royal families and distinguished personages.

Otherwise.

The small-pox quarantine at the Joliet (Ill.) prison has been raised.

New York capitalists will erect a large zinc smelting plant at Cherokee, Kan.

Of the 988 deaths in New York last week, the unprecedented number of 51 were due directly to the heat.

Zeimer & Co., retail dry goods merchants in New York city, have failed. The liabilities are placed at $90,000.

The Citizens' Savings bank of Portsmouth, Ohio, is in the hands of an assignee.

G. L. Ferris, proprietor of one of the largest retail hardware stores in Central Missouri, has assigned.

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was dedicated at Pesotum, Ill., by the Rev. J. L. Spalding, bishop of Peoria.

Daniel Small and Harvey Mills escaped from the asylum at Logansport, Ind. Small was sent back, but Mills, who is a crafty lunatic, has not yet been secured.

At Martinsville, Ohio, Amanda M. Oleman has just filed suit for divorce from her husband, Ezra A. Oleman, after having lived with him for forty-five years and reared a family.

David Riddle of Glasgow, one of the largest horsemen in Scotland, is suing the firm of E. Bennett & Son of Topeka, Kan., for $159,270. The amount is claimed on bills of exchange in sums of £800 and £4,000 and notes for sums from $100 to $1,500 indorsed by Bennett & Son.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, Aug. 9.—In the house to-day Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.), from the committee on judiciary, as a matter of privilege, introduced a resolution providing for an investigation by that committee the charges against Augustus J. Ricks, United States judge of the district court of Northern Ohio. Mr. Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio) criticised this resolution for an investigation as a piece of indecent haste. No notice had been given Judge Ricks by the committee, he said. He submitted that a judge of the district court of the United States should be treated with as much deference as a man charged with being drunk and disorderly in a police court. Mr. Bailey said if Mr. Grosvenor were a friend of Judge Ricks he would want the investigation to progress. If there was a taint on Judge Ricks' official ermine it should be removed, or he should be removed. The resolution was agreed to without division.

In the senate the house bill to reimburse E. H. Nebeker, late treasurer of the United States, for $1,000 paid by him to make good a shortage in his accounts when his office was turned over to his successor was passed. Among the bills introduced and appropriately referred was one by Mr. Allen (Pop.) to prevent professional lobbying, which was referred to the committee on labor.

Washington, Aug. 10.—In the house Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Me.), speaking to a question of personal privilege, denied a published imputation that he had introduced for political purposes resolutions recognizing the new Hawaiian republic. Referring to the president's recognition of the republic, he was describing how "Mr. Gresham had sneaked up to the capitol yesterday to inform Chairman McCreary of the administration's purpose," when he was called to order by Mr. Outhwaite (Dem., Ohio) and warned by the speaker. Mr. Boutelle denounced the conduct of the administration in the Hiwaiian affair as "peanut politics." The speaker here decided that Mr. Goutelle had gone outside of the question of personal privilege, and, as he would not desist, ordered him to take his seat. Chairman McCreary, of the foreign affairs committee, tried to reply to Mr. Boutelle, but a point of order was raised by Mr. Fithian (Dem., Ill.) and sustained by the speaker. The house transacted no business of importance.

The senate adjourned after a busy session owing to the tariff conference.

Washington, Aug. 11.—In the senate late yesterday Mr. Hill tried to obtain recognition to offer a resolution calling for information as to the status of the tariff conference, but was temporarily crowded out by other business. While the resolution of Mr. Hill was lying on the table and had not been read, Mr. Gray moved an executive session. Few senators voted on the viva voce vote, and Mr. Hill demanded the ayes and nays. The Democrats generally voted for the motion. Several conservative senators voted against the motion. Hill, Murphy, Pugh, Palmer and Gibson voted no. Gorman, Harris and Jones did not vote. Vest voted aye. The motion was lost—21 to 32.

Senator Hill's resolution requested the senate conferees to report to the senate the principle items of disagreement in the tariff bill, and as to whether an agreement was likely to be reached. After a long discussion the resolution went over until to-day.

In the house the senate bill granting to the Northern Pacific Railroad company right of way through the Indian reservations in Minnesota was passed. Chairman Sayres, of the appropriation committee, reported a disagreement of the senate and house conferees on the sundry civil bill. In explanation of the report, Mr. Sayres said that the senate amendments amounted to $3,702,882; that the senate had receded from amendments aggregating $1,670,310, the house had agreed to $1,416,492, and that no agreement had been reached on amendments involving $621,080. The house ratified the agreements which had been made and discussed the amendments upon which there was still a disagreement.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The hope is general about the senate that the present will be the last week of the session. This is based upon the belief that the tariff bill will be disposed of early in the week, and with the tariff out of the way final adjournment can be brought about almost any time. None of the appropriation bills except the sundry civil and the general deciency are yet to be acted upon to any extent by either house, and those two are in such an advanced stage in conference that a day of zealous work would probably suffice to put them both in shape to be sent to the president. The Chinese treaty is the only other business that would hold congress for a day, and this is also in condition to be taken up and voted upon at to-morrow's session. The senate went into executive session to-day immediately after the reading of the journal for the purpose of taking a vote upon the treaty.

Prominent Specialist Dead.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 13.—Dr. Julius Wolfenstein, who had attained prominence as an eye, ear and throat specialist, died to-day. He was a son of Dr. Wolfenstein, superintendent of the National Jewish Orphan asylum.

Pension Examining Surgeons.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Judge Lochren to-day appointed R. L. Smith, L. D. Sweetland and H. Huling as a board of pension examining surgeons at Miller, S. D.

Swamp Land Selections.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The commissioners of the general land office approved swamp land selection list number 30 of the state of Minnesota in the Duluth district, embracing 44,491 acres, and forwarded it to the secretary of the interior for his approval.

A Boy's Cruel Fate.

Hot Springs, S. D., Aug. 13.—The twelve-year-old son of Daniel Webster was thrown from a horse and dragged and kicked to death.

CRIMES DECREASING.

Semi-Annual Prison Census of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—The eight semi-annual prison census of the State of Minnesota, taken June 30, 1894, has been completed by the state board of corrections and charities.

It was anticipated that there would be a marked increase of the prison population in consequence of the hard times, especially in the cities; but this anticipation has not been realized; on the contrary, the total number of prisoners in the state June 30, 1894, was only 980, as against 1,193, June 30, 1893, a decrease of 18 per cent.

There has been a larger increase of state convicts than usual, the number (excluding United States prisoners from other states) being 554 June 30, 1894, as against 493 June 30, 1893, an increase of 12 1-2 per cent. Probably the normal increase would have been about 5 per cent.

All other classes of prisoners show a decrease. The number of prisoners awaiting trial was 184, as against 193 a year ago, and the number of petty convicts in jails and workhouses was 242, as against 507 a year ago, a decrease of more than one-half. The number of prisoners in city and village lockups was 73, as against 91; the number of county jail prisoners was 203, as against 273 a year ago, and the number of workhouse prisoners was 156, as against 236 a year ago.

The following table shows the number of petty criminals serving sentence in Minnesota for three successive years on June 30:

Counties—	1892.	1893.	1894.
Hennepin	111	148	48
Ramsey	116	105	110
St. Louis	34	92	29
Total for three cities	261	435	187
All other counties	71	73	61
Grand totals	330	508	248

In each of the three cities and in the rural counties the number of misdemeanors is less than in 1892 or 1893. The fact that petty crime has decreased, notwithstanding the hard times, speaks wel for the character and self control of our people; but the reasons for this decrease are not easily discovered. An officer of the St. Paul city workhouse expressed the opinion that it was because the "bums" had no money with which to buy whisky. What money they could procure had to go for food. Whatever may be the cause, the fact is most gratifying.

Ready for It.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 13.—United States District Judge A. J. Ricks has returned from his vacation, which was spent in Massachusetts. When approached regarding the investigation which was to be made of his official conduct by the judiciary committee of the house, Judge Ricks said: "I have been a good distance from home and five miles from a telegraph station and have been only partially advised of what has taken place. I must therefore decline for the present to say more than that I am at home, ready for any investigation the authorities propose, and have no fear of a full and fair investigation, and I notified the attorney general promptly that I not only did not shrink from it, but courted it. I am confident that the result will fully exonerate me from all charges of fraud of wrong doing."

For a Diplomat's Widow.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Col. Kiefer has been asked by J. Q. Adams of St. Paul, editor of the Appeal, to see if the allowance of a year's salary of the late W. D. McCoy, who was United States minister to Liberia, and who died at his post of duty, cannot be made to his widow. Mr. McCoy was appointed from Indiana, and his widow now lives in St. Paul. Col. Kiefer has referred the matter to the state department, but it is probable that whatever is done will have to be done by congress.

Keep Them in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Aug. 13.—Dr. U. O. B. Wingate, secretary of the state board of health of Wisconsin, has issued a letter to all the health authorities in surrounding counties to keep a sharp lookout for small pox suspects that may attempt to leave Milwaukee. The local depots are being guarded by medical inspectors, who inspect all outgoing passengers and baggage. This precaution is being taken to prevent persons infected with small pox from leaving the city and spreading the contagion.

With a View to Irrigation.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Congressman Pickler has introduced a bill providing for a commission of three to examine the more than 50,000,000 acres of agricultural, mineral, arid and desert public lands west of the ninety-eighth parallel, with a view of determining what can be done by irrigation. No more than two members of the commission are to belong to the same party, and at least two of them are to reside in the territory referred to. The bill carries an appropriation of $40,000.

Papers Stolen.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 13.—The sensation of the day in the Woodbury county bond injunction case was the discovery that important papers of great value had been stolen from the auditor's office. Part of the papers which have disappeared included the testimony of eight witnesses before the grand jury in 1893.

A Negro Lynched.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 13.—William Nershbred, a negro charged with committing a criminal assault upon an eight-year-old girl near Rossville, this state, was taken from a deputy sheriff by S. A. Crook, father of the child, and shot to death this morning. A mob was gathering to lynch the negro when Crook arrived and emptied both barrels of a shotgun into the negro's body.

Coming Home.

London, Aug. 13.—Mrs. and Miss Erben, wife and daughter of Rear Admiral Erben, of the United States cruiser Chicago, and Ensigns Elliott and Kittel sailed for New York on Saturday.

London, Aug. 13.—Charles Hill, the seaman of the New York who fell form aloft Saturday while the prince of Wales was going on board the American cruiser Chicago, has died from the effects of his injuries.

WRECK IN MISSOURI.

RESULT OF A CONDUCTOR DISOBEYING ORDERS.

Two Passenger Trains on the Santa Fe Collide, Killing Two Trainmen and Injuring Several Other Trainmen and Several Passengers.

Kansas City, Aug. 13.—A disastrous head-end collision occurred on the Santa Fe road between Hurd and Gibbs at 3:30 this morning between express train No. 5, westbound, and express No. 4, eastbound, resulting in two trainmen being killed and several passengers injured and the engines and combination express and baggage cars completely demolished. According to orders the trains were to have met at Gibbs, and it is alleged No. 4 violated orders.

Killed—Engineer Humphreys, of express No. 4, Kansas City. George Caplinger, express messenger of No. 5, buried in the wreck.

Injured—Dan Millsbaugh of Chicago, baggageman of No. 4, badly bruised and hurt internally; may die. E. E. Derrick, Chicago, baggageman of No. 5, cut and bruised from head to foot; will probably die. Engineer Dan Daly, on No. 5, of Fort Madison, shoulder badly hurt. Fireman Mart Fogarty of Fort Madison, on No. 5, badly bruised; will recover. Fireman F. P. Skyles, on No. 4, of Kansas City, slightly bruised. Brakeman Holmes, on No. 5, of Fort Madison, hand smashed. Justin McCarthy, twenty-two years old, of Chicago. Walter N. Durbin, twenty-three years old, of Milwaukee; ankle cut.

The trains met on a slight curve and came together with terrible force. Both engineers applied the air brakes and reversed their engines, which action alone was the cause of saving many lives.

As soon as the passengers, and those of the train crew not hurt, recovered from the shock, they proceeded to rescue the unfortunate victims. Engineer Humphreys, of No. 4, was found at his post with one of his limbs cut off at the thigh and his head almost split in two. He died in a few minutes. Express Messenger Caplinger was instantly killed. E. E. Derrick, the express messenger and baggageman of No. 5, had a very narrow escape and his injuries may yet prove fatal. The momentum forced him through the side of the car and landed him on the embankment about fifty feet away. His face was mashed to a jelly and his body terribly cut and bruised.

Conductor Cleghorn was in charge of No. 5. He handed his order to the Associated Press reporter, which showed clearly that the two trains were to meet at Gibbs. The officials of the Santa Fe here say the conductor and engineer of train No. 4 were responsible for the accident, having disobeyed orders to meet No. 5 at Gibbs. The engineer being killed outright, no statement of course could be obtained from him; but the conductor states that he entirely overlooked the orders. The total damage to property will not exceed $14,000.

DROWNED AT WHITE BEAR.

The Victim Is Henry C. Oliver, an Ex-Conductor.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—Henry Crawford Oliver, a well known St. Paul railroad man, was drowned in White Bear lake yesterday under circumstances which have led to the belief that he committed suicide. Oliver had been in ill health of late, and during the past two weeks, until Friday, had been confined to his bed. Friday he went out to the lake, and yesterday morning, although feeling quite ill, he bade his wife good bye at 7 o'clock and went out to the lake again. At 8 o'clock last night his body was found lying face downward in sixteen inches of water at the small boat dock in front of County Commissioner David Hanna's cottage on the shore of the lake at White Bear village. Oliver's right arm was clasped tightly around one of the posts of the dock, and at first it was thought he might have met with foul play. But when the body was taken from the water there were no marks of violence found on it and his valuables were intact. His weak physical condition, however, has led to the opinion of many of his friends that he might have been taken suddenly ill while standing on the dock and fell into the water, and that during his struggles to get out he threw his arm around the post of the dock as a means of drawing himself out of the water. On the other hand, there are some grounds for believing that he committed suicide.

Brakes Did the Work.

London, Aug. 13.—An accident that caused great excitement occurred this morning at St. Pancras station in this city. The Scotch express train arrived in the station at 6:30 a. m. Instead of slowing up the train dashed ahead and overshot the buffer stops at the end of the rails. The forward portion of the train, including a Pullman car, was wrecked and nineteen passengers were injured. The engine driver and stoker had a marvelous escape from death. The accident was due to the unexplained failure of the brakes to work.

School Teacher Shot.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 13.—Frank B. Shibley, principal of the Duke street grammar school, and an educator of local prominence, was shot and probably fatally wounded this afternoon by George Simmons, aged sixty-four years. Simmons is an engineer by trade. While drunk he accused his wife of being improperly intimate with Shibley, the charge, it is said, being without foundation entirely.

Held for House Breaking.

Parkston, S. D., Aug. 13. — Four young fellows who live in the vicinity of Milltown, ten miles east of this place, were given a trial here for housebreaking. They were unable to secure bonds, so they were taken to jail to await the October term of court.

Ald. Lund Acquitted.

West Superior, Wis., Aug. 13.—The investigation of the charges against Ald. Dan Lund, of the Third ward, of receiving $100 for attempts to block a certain saloon license, was before a special committee of the council last night. The charges were not sustained.

Hankers for Congress.

Watertown, S. D., Special, Aug. 13.—Col. William McIntyre announces in Public Opinion his candidacy for congress. He claims to have some suport from this county.

TWO NEW OFFICERS.

A Meeting of the State Democratic Committee.

St. Paul, Aug. 10.—The Democratic state central committee held a meeting in parlor 4 of the Merchants hotel last evening and confirmed the previous action of the Twin City committeeman by electing Titus Marack of Minneapolis chairman, vice F. W. M. Cutcheon, resigned, and Thomas Mullano of St. Paul secretary, vice P. J. Smalley, resigned. Col. J. J. Thornton was appointed committeeman at large, vice Smalley, and was elected chairman to succeed Titus Marack, and J. J. McCafferty of St. Paul was appointed to succeed Mr. Cutcheon, resigned. The roll call showed the following to be present: Titus Marack, F. G. Winston and Lars M. Rand of Minneapolis; Daniel W. Lawler and D. Aberle of St. Paul; Col. J. J. Thornton, proxy for J. C. Wise of Mankato; Senator Henry Keller, proxy for J. M. Spicer of Willmar; George F. Faber, proxy for Geo. L. Du Folt of Chaska, and C. W. Schultz, proxy for James Manning of Worthington.

The committee decided to meet again in St. Paul on Sept. 4, the day before the state convention. When the resignations of Messrs. Cutchen and Smalley came up and were accepted without any objection being made. The vacancies so caused were filled in the manner above stated. The plan of reorganization offered by ex-Secretary Smalley was given out by the members of the committee. The following main reasons of objection offered by the committee are sufficient to show the main features of the plan:

"First—While ostensibly increasing the committee to thirty-eight members, in reality by the appointment of the executive committee, consisting of seven members, and giving to this executive committee all the powers of the full committee, that it was a centralization of the power in the hands of seven men, which now rests in the hands of twenty-three, and in the opinion of the committee gives to these seven men more power than they should have.

"Second—That the election of this committee as proposed on January next for a term of two years places all the management of the campaign of 1896 in the hands of the committee elected in January, 1895, and should the Democrats of the state at that time see fit to nominate for candidates on their state ticket men not advocated by the then existing state central committee, such candidates would be deprived of any right to have any voice in the selection of the state central committee to conduct their canvas. This we consider a very serious objection.

"Third—The power granted to the state central committee and through them to the executive committee, to decapitate the chairman of any county committee during a campaign, is, in our opinion, entirely undemocratic, and one that would not be submitted to by any county committee in the State of Minnesota.

"Fourth—As outlined in this plan, a young man when attaining the age of twenty-one and desiring to vote the Democratic ticket in the ensuing campaign would have no right to enter the Democratic caucus. This plan provides that he must have 'habitually' voted the Democratic ticket. In this connection Republicans who may desire to change their politics and become enrolled in the Democratic ranks would be deprived of any voice in the Democratic caucus.

"Fifth—To our mind it would make a close corporation that would from campaign to campaign perpetuate itself in power, as they hold over through a campaign and re-elect themselves immediately after the campaign, when people take but little interest in politics.

"Lastly, it is a plan so elaborate and expensive, so technical in its details, that the committee is of the opinion that in a state such as Minnesota, where Democrats largely are not men of means, it would fail for lack of money with which to carry out its provisions, unless such funds were furnished by men who desire to control the formation of committees and keep themselves in power."

POISON IN BEVERAGE.

Fatal Mistake of a Farmer Near Oelwein, Iowa.

Oelwein, Iowa, Aug. 10.—A farmer and family named Walker, cosisting of seven members, living one mile south of this city, were poisoned by drinking a beverage containing acid. Three are dead and the others will probably die. Mr. Walker came to the city last evening and had a prescription filled containing tartaric acid and other ingredients at the drug store of Webb & Brown. It was designed to be mixed with water and used as a cooling summer drink. On arriving home Mr. Walker immediately prepared a pitcher of the beverage and the family at once began partaking freely of the same. Shortly afterwards the children were taken sick and in less than an hour's time the entire family were in an unconscious condition. Gy chance Mrs. Gardner, a near neighbor, happened to call at the Walker residence, where she found the family lying on the floor in an unconscious condition. A messenger was immediately dispatched to the city. When the doctors arrived at the house of the poisoned family they found them all in very precarious condition. To-day three of the children died and the others are lying at the point of death. No fault can be attached to the druggist, as the trouble seems to be from the strength or quantity of acid used.

Loyalty Rewarded.

Frostburg, Md., Aug. 10.—The Consolidated Coal company has notified all the miners who stuck to their post during the late strike that they will each receive nine months' rent and fuel free.

A Big Cargo of Coal.

West Superior, Wis., Aug. 10.—The steamer S. S. Curry is in port with 3,700 tons of coal, the largest cargo brought to the head of the lake. With the exception of one other steamer, the Curry is the only freighter on the great lakes with engines amidships.

Lucky Lads.

Washington, Aug. 10.James A. McNamara of Eureka, Cal., and Claude Steele of Robinson, Ill., have been appointed naval cadets.

BENEFIT TO FARMERS

The Threatened Grain Elevator War is now on.

Duluth, Aug. 9.—The cut in elevator charges was made by the Great Northern to-day. It has created consternation among the elevator men at the head of Lake Superior, who see in this move an end to the large dividends that elevator properties have been paying in past years. General Manager Farrington, of the Eastern Minnesota road, thinks the move will be a great benefit to the farmers of the Northwest. He says President J. J. Hill has had the matter under contemplation for a year, and some time ago gave local elevator men a strong hint that he intended to make some such move. The rates are not quite satisfactory to Mr. Hill. He is in favor of charging nothing whatever for the handling and storing of grain in elevators, looking upon his great warehouses merely as freight sheds. For some time, owing to the decreasing price of wheat, the farmers of the Northwest have become more and more discontented, and the tendency is to make farming unpopular. Every item of saving in the cost of transportation must benefit some one this side of the London market, and that person is the farmer, unless the commission man fails to use him white, and if the Great Northern finds that the commission men are charging shippers old rates under the new order of things the company will take steps to make their middlemen disgorge. Mr. Farrington thinks that the only persons who will be adversely affected are owners of other elevators, and even in their cases it will practically amount to nothing, for they have been filling their warehouses with wheat bought by themselves, against which they immediately sell futures. It has been the practice with some of the elevators to make special rates to big commission men and make the little ones pay the card rates. Some of the elevator men waited on Mr. Farrington to-day and threatened to have the certificates of the Great Northern elevators ruled off the Duluth board of trade. Mr. Farrington replied that would not bring the railroad to terms, as it was not necessary to the success of the scheme that the wheat should be sold on the Duluth board. The only reason Mr. Hill did not wipe out the charges altogether was that he did not want to wipe out the vested interests at the head of the lake and in Minneapolis.

ROBERTS WILL TELL.

A Deputy County Auditor Worries Boodlers by His Return.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 9.—The utmost consternation was caused among the defendants in the county "boodling" investigation by the return of E. R. Roberts, one of the principal witnesses against the county board, who was spirited out of the county at the opening of the case by the attorneys for the defense. Since his disappearance the citizens' committee has been looking for him and has just succeeded in locating and bringing him back. Roberts had been deputy auditor for a number of years past and knows more of the proceedings of the board than any other man in the county. It is expected, that he will give some very damaging testimony against the board. The citizens' committee is permitting no one to see him and it is not likely that he will fall into the board's hands again. He has agreed to testify for the prosecution.

WEAVER FOR CONGRESS.

He Is Nominated by the Democrats of the Ninth Iowa District.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 9—Gen. J. H. Weaver was nominated for congress by the Democrats of the Ninth congressional district by a vote of 72 to 27. The convention was a turbulent affair. Silver was a cource of discord. When the majority report was submitted in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 silver delegates got together and the whooping was so continuous that a minority report was represented with difficulty, and the treatment of the anti-silver men was so unfair that they withdrew from the convention. They claim the majority was a packed affair and demanded another deal. There was much discord and several knock-downs.

Corning, Iowa, Aug. 9.—The Eighth district Democrats nominated F. Q. Stuart, editor of the Chariton Democrat, for congress.

THEY FIGHT AGAIN.

Additional Battles in the Orient in in Which Japan Was Victorious.

Yokohama, Aug. 9.—Additional battles have ben fought between Japanese and Chinese and the latter have been defeated. Seikoan has been taken by the Japanese with trifling loss. The Chinese in this engagement lost 500 killed. The enemy fled in the direction of Koshiu. The Japanese are in possession of Yashan. An imperial ordinance just issued permits Chinese to reside in Japan on condition that they engage in peaceful pursuits. The greatest excitement prevails here, at Tokio and at other large towns, as a result of the victories of the Japanese troops. Rumors, however, are current here that the Japanese naval forces have been defeated in an engagement with Chinese warships.

Not Our Mayor.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 9.—A stranger giving his name as Smith, claiming to be a banker of St. Paul, came down from San Pedro on the schooner Merchant July 27. He disappeared at once and has not been heard from since. He had $2,500 in greenbacks in his possession, according to the skipper of the schooner, and had paid for passage in advance to return to San Pedro.

Mountain Iron's Postmaster.

Washington, Aug. 9.—S. A. Wilcox was to-day appointed postmaster at Mountain Iron, St. Louis county, Minn., vice I. B. Richardson, resigned.

In Danger of Destruction.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 9.—A report has been received that the village of Winnecono, twelve miles west of here, is in danger of total destruction by re. The flames, which started in the business center, are said to be working toward the lumber district along the river. There is a strong wind blowink. Winneconne has a population of about 2,000 and contains a number of manufacturing plants, including the Tom Hall Lumber company.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arr'v Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.25 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.5 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible]ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping C[illegible] and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern [illegible] R. at Crookston [illegible]

Chas. S. Fee,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at [illegible]west market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the
SPECTATOR
from now until December 1st, 1894, for
25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent,

BREVITIES.

C. W. Peters drove down to Crookston last Friday.

E. M. Hoff was at Crookston on business last Saturday.

Emil Brink was doing business in Crookston last week.

Joseph Netzer, of Crookston, was in town a short time last Monday.

E. H. Stranahan came up last Friday and spent Sunday at home.

The M. E. Social last Friday evening was well attended and fairly successful financially.

Collector Berg, of the McCormick Co., was in town a couple of days the first of the week.

S. M. Dainard and P. G. Paradis were over to Fosston on business, the first of the week,

Deputy Sheriff Losey, of Crookston, was doing business in town today.

Miss Josie Harris came up from Wadena, where she has been stopping the past four months, last Friday.

C. G. Rapp came back from his St. Paul trip last Monday. Mrs. Rapp came back as far as Crookston where she will stop for a few days.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

The rain last Monday night stopped harvesting for a short time. We can get along very nicely without any more rain for about two weeks.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marsha Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.
W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Notice to Farmers.
You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse. W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

John Gleason, of Fisher, the peoples party nominee for county auditor, was in town several hours today. Mr. Gleason is a pleasant gentleman and will when elected do credit to the party,

NOTICE.
Came to S. M. Dainard's stock farm July 31 1894 one white bull calf. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

Harvest has been progressing rapidly the past week and this week will see the last of the wheat standing. It will take another week to clear up oats and barley. Wheat will yield fairly good but oats, barley and potatoes will be light.

It seems an awful waste to see so many thousands of tons of hay going to waste here this year while it is so scarce in other parts of the country. It is safe to state that not one-fourth of the grass in this part of the country is cut,

John Eikhoff of Grand Forks, and Christ Eikhoff of Crookston, were in town several hours last Monday visiting their brother Fred Eikhoff, John who was one of the early settlers here has been spending the last ten months at his old home in Germany.

The welcome news is still on the increase that the peoples party is gaining recruits in every hamlet and town in the country. The people have become weary at last of running the government in favor of trusts and capitalists, and are seeking the only effective way of releasing themselves by the ballot.

Paul S. Ware, of the Thief River Falls Press, was in town a short time today on his way back from Fergus Falls where he attended the republican congressional convention. F. M. Eddy of Pope Co., was nominated. Mr. Ware did not seem to think that they had nominated a very strong man, It certainly looks as if they had nominated a very poor one who will be sure to be beaten by Haldor E. Boen;

Just now the Republicans are working themselves into an awful sweat about democratic—populist fusion on a state ticket. Nothing too bad can be said of the unholy alliance, but here in Polk county it is altogether different.

It is conceded here to be the proper thing for a republican nominee for a county office to persuade his democratic opponent to withdraw in his favor and we are creditably informed that a number of such fusion schemes will be worked this fall,

We are informed that prairie chickens are being killed in all parts of the county in defiance of the law, notwithstanding Game Warden Gravel and his eighteen deputies. If the law was changed so as to make the 15th or 20th the beginning of the open season, it would be much closer observed.

The great democratic tariff bill has at last passed both house and senate and only awaits the presidents signature to become a law. As a tariff reform measure such as democrats preach about it is a howling delusion, but as a trust protector it is a blooming success. Every trust of any importance get all the protection they have asked for. The sugar trust, whiskey trust, iron trust, coal trust, petroleum trust and many others have purchased a heavy protection for their merchandise and the whole is called a tariff bill. Millions of dollars will be taken from the people and given to the corporations. The people should be happy and celebrate. They have been sold out and robbed.

The resolutions of the democratic state central committee favoring a straight democratic state ticket will have very little weight with the party in this state. Nor should they have. This is the committee that recently found it necessary to apologise for its democracy in a manifesto issued to the democratic voters of the state, and when the representative democratic body of the state puts itself in this position its influence with the party should be very small indeed. It may be to the interest of Messrs, James J Hill and Michael Doran to re-elect Gov. Nelson, but the rank and file of the democratic party throughout the state don't look at it that way this year. They believe that next to a democratic victory the defeat of the republican party is mostly to be desired. There is no chance for the former—the state central committee and St. Paul Globe to the contrary notwithstanding, and the way to encompass the latter is to vote for S. M. Owen for governor. Mr. Owen is a better democrat today than some of the leaders in the democratic party and besides would make as honest, wise, efficient, courageous and just an executive as Minnesota ever had.

Therefore we say, regardless of the expressions of that body of doubtful democracy, the state central committee regardless even of what the state convention does, the rank and file of the democrats of this state will generally vote for Mr. Owen and in doing so will best serve the interests of the democratic party and of the state.—Crookston Times.

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the village council held at the village hall on Monday August 9th 1894.

On petition it was resolved to build a side walk on the east side of block thirty-seven (37) village of St. Hilaire, as follows to wit:

Commencing at the north east corner of lot twelve (12) of said block thence south along Broadway to the south east corner of lot one (1) of said block,

Said sidewalk to be five feet wide and to be built out of two inch pine plank with three (3) stringers under the same

Said sidewalk must be built within thirty (30) days after this notice, if not it will be advertised and let to the lowest bidder and charged to the lot or lots fronting or abutting said sidewalk.

The number of running feet of sidewalk to be built by owners in said block are as follows to wit:

Leonard Holmes lot 1 and 2	50 feet.
Unknown, lots 3, 4 5, 6 and 7	125 feet.
E. M. Hoff, lot 8.	25 feet.
St. Hilaire Townsite Co., lot 9,	25 feet.
A. L. Patterson, lot 10,	25 feet.
A. J. Miller, lots 11 and 12,	50 feet.

Dated at St. Hilaire Minn., this 15th day of August 1894.

C. G. Rapp, Village President,
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder.

The republican convention which convened at Crookston last week did an unwise thing when it instructed Steenerson delegates to the congressional convention, The act was unwise from the fact that treachery and duplicity were employed to defeat Hugh Thompson and that Mr. Steenerson is not popular with the republicans of his district. The Bulletin is not an advocate of republicanism and never will be under its present management but it sincerely believes that the convention made a sad mistake last week in instructing its congressional delegates to advocate the nomination of Halvor Steenerson for congress. Mr. Steenerson is not a true republican, as his record with the alliance party will prove, but his election to congress is earnestly desired by Gov. Nelson and Mr. McGuire. Gov. Nelson is anxious to reward his old friend for past favors, and Mr. McGuire by manipulating delegates favorable to Mr. S. desires and covets a juicy plum within the gift of the governor. The election to be held in November next will dispel the delusive aspirations of Nelson Steenerson & Co., and sink them—politically—so far into the sea of oblivion that many years will elapse ere they again meddle with politics.—Fisher Bulletin,

Many railroad men regarding the strike a failure are returning to work but are taken back by the railroads only on condition that they will sign an iron clad contract to never again join a labor organization. When the man signs such a contract he, of course, signs away his birth right, his independence, his freedom of thought and action. But notwithstanding these lamentable facts myriads of citizens will say that it serves the men right, that they ought not be allowed to enter into combinations that can inflict such loss and inconveniance on the public as labor organizations frequently do. Upon certain supreme conditions this journal will concede the contention of the citizens and they are: that the railroad managers be compelled to sign an iron clad contract that they will join no capitalistic or monopolistic organization that will prove inimical to the interests of the public, that they will form no pool or trust, will practice no boycot will not do anything, in short, to further their interests that laboring men are forbidden to do to further their interests, F. S. & H. protests forever and aye against systems and practices that imply that the rights of capital are above the rights of labor, against forbidding men to conspire while granting dollars that privilege. In theory this is a government of men not of dollars but the action of railway managers herewith referred to confirms the truth of the charge that in fact this is a government of dollars and not of men.—F S. & H.

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS,

AT
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school

The Normal department embraces:

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

(d) A kindergarten training course (at Winona St. Cloud and Mankato).

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and college and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 1st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the travelling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Narcisse Chatel and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of January 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January 1890, at 4.10 o'clock p m in book 43 of mortgages on page 211 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the east half of Section twenty-seven in township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty-three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the heraditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.
Security Trust Co., mortgagee
R. J. Montague, attorney,

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily Daily
NO. 3 North and West NO 4 South and East
7.45 p.m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 10.50 am
8.20 pm " ......Minneapolis......... 9.55 am
1.55 a m ....Barnesville.......... 1.10 am
7.25 am Ar ......Crookston......De 11.10 pm

ST HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY
9.40 am De........Crookston.........Ar 4.00 pm
11.00 am Ar......St. Hilaire......De 4.00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 41.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avels and A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages on page 267 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 15th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.
Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY:
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $50 each, one new mower at $35, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise:

A AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]

OR A TURK NAMED
تاكاكا جو قلدر سودی كه

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

E. F. IVES, Prop.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.00

Not in Advance, $1.50 Per Year.

Entered at the Postoffice at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 15 1894

The Matador's Last Thrust.

The art of the matador is not to run up to the bull and stab him, but to have him come to you and fling himself upon the sword, while you direct his movements this way and that with the scarlet cape. He will follow a red cape anywhere, and the chulas are busy from the beginning of the fight to the end leading the bull away from the fallen picadors, or the imperiled banderilleros, or the matador. Even after the sword is thrust into his neck up to the hilt it takes the bull a long time to die. A harrowing sight it is. The noble creature—the only noble creature, as it seems, in the ring—stands up as long as he can, vomiting forth torrents of blood, as all his enemies crowd around him, sticking to it until he drops trembling against the fender. Then in come the teams of mules, gayly decorated with flags and ribbons, to carry the bull and horses around the ring at a gallop, leaving a bloody track behind. They are not content with removing the bodies by the nearest possible exit. Oh, no! These gay teams go galloping around the whole arena, each dragging its bloody carcass, while the band plays another quickstep.

They are hardly out of the ring before the drum rolls, and the next bull bursts into the arena. So it goes on until six bulls are done for. All the while our neighbors in the next box are eating and drinking. As for us, we see nothing but the suffering and death over and over again. It carries you back to the Roman circus, and you wonder what civilization has done for Spain, whose population is still so thirsty for blood. The Spaniards are so used to it that they see none of the barbarity, only the skill and the science. And the English residents in Spain are more enthusiastic than the Spaniards themselves.—Madrid Letter.

The Melungeons.

"I believe that the Melungeons of east Tennessee are the only living lineal descendants of the ancient Aztecs," said R. C. Borden of Asheville. "The Melungeons have always been a mystery, and but few facts are known about them. They came to east Tennessee from North Carolina more than a century ago. They have mixed with no other race and have always been filthy and ignorant. A few of them have grown wealthy, but when they do no effort is made to associate with Americans. They have no traditions as to whence they came or whence they came, except as to their ancestors in North Carolina. Their names are of Portuguese origin, and their appearance suggests an admixture of Portuguese and Indian blood. They have been classed with negroes, but it is easily demonstrated that they are not of negro origin. I mingled with them a great deal at one time and was fortunate enough to obtain their confidence through an act of kindness to one of their number. A few relics of great age can be found in the homes of the better class in the shape of pottery and implements. Some of these are of the stone period; others are marked with rude imitations of the Maltese cross. They have a tradition that their dead ancestors in North Carolina are buried in mounds. Putting these points together, I believe that they are descendants of the Aztecs and of Portuguese sailors who landed upon the North Carolina coast."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

River Gambling For High Stakes.

"There used to be heavy gambling on the Missouri river as well as the Mississippi in the halcyon steamboat days," said W. D. Camera, a traveling man, the other day. "I remember a great game once played on the steamboat Bluff City, which afterward burned at the wharf in St. Louis. It was in the antebellum days, when Kansas City was comparatively unknown.

"At one table the fight for a big pot had narrowed down to two men—one an inveterate gambler, the other a stranger, whose destination was the little town of Robidoux. Presently the gambler said, 'I'll raise you $20,000 and give you just 15 minutes to call me.' The gentleman who was going to Robidoux replied: 'I don't need 15 minutes. Mr. Clark, bring out enough boxes of money from your office to see the gentleman and go him $20,000 better, and I will give him 30 minutes to call me. If that ain't enough, I'll buy the blamed steamboat and put that on the table.' The gambler threw down his hand, and the stranger made him a present of a $100 bill. The stranger was Joseph Robidoux, founder of the city of St. Joseph, and the little town of Robidoux is a part of St. Joseph today."—Kansas City Journal.

A Valuable Manuscript.

The pope has presented to the Vatican library what may be regarded as a real treasure. It consists of a manuscript given by the celebrated Fra Giocondo of Verona to Lorenzo de Medici, known in history as the "Magnificent." Vasari, in his life of Fra Giocondo, writes of this work and notes that Politan makes mention of this book in his "Muggelliane" and describes the author as "the most learned man of the old days." This work had been lost for a long time, and its recovery now is looked upon as fortunate. The name of Fra Giocondo crops up from time to time in the more recondite studies of the Italian renaissance—that period when learning, science and art made such immense strides in the highest degree of excellence. He was known as a man of great learning and is sometimes compared with that most remarkable scholar and marvelous artist, Leo Battista Alberti.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Sounds Well.

If you wish to drink out of something very pretty indeed, use the smoked chrysophase glassware. It is sweetly cool and pale in its green tint and blends so well with the nature that stands without the door and window it might have been blown in on a sea breeze.—Boston Herald.

The Philosopher's Forgetfulness.

Ralph Waldo Emerson was once advertised to lecture in Boston. The audience assembled, but no lecturer appeared.

Finally, as the people were becoming more and more impatient, a friend went into the anteroom to see if he could find out the cause of the delay.

Mr. Emerson was pacing back and forth, evidently greatly vexed about something. When his friend appeared, he said, "I have forgotten what I am to lecture about."

"You are advertised to lecture on 'Memory,'" his friend responded.—Life's Calendar.

Entertaining a Small Party.

—Pittsburg Dispatch.

As His Mother Used to Make.

"Beautiful scenery here, is it not?" asked the young man of a solitary traveler whom he found pacing along the seashore.

"Well, no," replied the stranger, "I can't agree with you. I think the ocean is too small. It is no such ocean as my mother used to have."

"Your mother's ocean was superior, then?"

"Oh, yes, vastly superior. What tumbling breakers! What a magnificent sweep of view! What amplitude of distance! What fishing there was in my mother's ocean!"

"But the sky is magnificent here, is it not, sir?"

"Too low and too narrow across the top," replied the stranger.

"I hadn't noticed," said the young man.

"Yes," said the stranger, "it is too low, and there isn't air enough in it either. Besides it doesn't sit plumb over the earth. It is wider from north to south than it is from west to east. I call it a pretty poor sky. It is no such sky as my mother used to have."

"Pardon me, but did your mother have a special sky and ocean of her own?"

Right here an old resident came up and drew the young man aside.

"Don't talk with him," said the old resident. "He is a hopeless lunatic. He is a man who always used to tell his wife about 'the biscuits my mother used to make,' 'my mother's pies,' 'my mother's puddings' and 'my mother's doughnuts.' The habit grew on him so much that he became a confirmed lunatic."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

All That's Good to Eat.

"I saw three negro barbers make a bet over at Houston not long ago," said W. C. Rigsby. "They were discussing edibles, and one of them bet the other two that he could beat them guessing as to the best thing to eat, and I was appointed referee.

"'There ain't nothin better, chile, than a good, fat possum well baked in rich, brown gravy,' said one of them.

"'Tell you, possum's mighty good, but give me a good, juicy watermelon,' said the second of them.

"The one who had proposed the bet had a watery look about the mouth when the other two had finished.

"'Now, what's your guess,' I asked of him.

"'Lord, boss, dem two niggers done guessed it all. There ain't nothin left me to guess.'"—San Antonio Express.

Stocks.

She was obdurate.

"No," she repeated decisively.

He begged her to reconsider her determination.

"I cannot," she insisted, "trust my future with you."

In spite of all he could say she took it across the street and left it with another broker.—Detroit Tribune.

Specified.

Maud—What is the height of your ambition, dear?

Marie (blushing)—Oh, something between 5½ and 6 feet.—Tit-Bits.

To Suit.

Fond Mamma (to clerk in china store)—I see you have mugs marked Tom and Jerry. Have you any with Willie and Charlie on them?—Life.

Hot Weather Philosophy.

Don't fret about the mercury
Or watch it all the time,
The old thermometer won't burst,
However it may climb.
It doesn't do you any good
To count up the degrees,
And all your talk about the heat
Won't start a bit of breeze.

Don't fan yourself too much. It makes
You hotter when you stop.
Don't tell the suffering neighbors that
You feel as if you'd drop.
Don't drink too much cold lemonade.
A glass or two will do.
And don't ask everybody,
"Is it hot enough for you?"

Just go about your daily tasks
As calmly as you can.
Don't hurry. Take things easy, and
You'll be much happier than
The chap who groans and frets and stews
And fusses all the time.
Just follow this advice, and you'll
Be glad you read this rhyme.
—Somerville Journal.

High Bred.

"She seems to be infatuated with her little dog."

"Yes. She says he is just heavenly."

"Heavenly! Then he must be a skye terrier."—New York Press.

Diminutive.

Customer—I am furnishing a modern flat.

Floorwalker—The toy department is down stairs.—Detroit Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of [illegible] dollars, [illegible] interest which became due on the [illegible] day of December A. D. [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] due and [illegible] upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and [illegible] J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Lace, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1886 and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the first day of June A. D. 1886, at 4 o'clock p. m. in Book [illegible] of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars dated June 1st 1886 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1886, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option [illegible] in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one half [S ½] of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Lace
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 21 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John [illegible] against Adolor [illegible] for abandoning his homestead entry no. [illegible] dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 18 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of S [illegible] 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alledged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

WORD HISTORY.

Puss, the common name for cat, is a corruption of the Persian word pers, a cat.

Gossip was once a sponsor in baptism, next any elderly person, finally a talebearer.

Tories were originally bands of Irish outlaws. The Celtic word toree means robber.

The Sunday Picnic and the Inevitable Shower.

—Chicago Record.

The Coast Was Clear.

Paddington (trembling)—Is Mr. [illegible] in?

Servant—No, sir. He went out [illegible] minutes ago.

Paddington (with [illegible])—Ah, will you [illegible] to Miss Mitford?—Brooklyn Life.

A Public Spirited Practitioner.

"Doctor, they tell me you are attending that young man next door free of charge."

"Yes, and glad to do it. He's been practicing on a snare drum for the last six months, and now I have a chance to put an end to the nuisance."—Life.

Financial.

She shrank from him.

"I'm awfully shy," she faltered.

He looked upon her bowed head in a trance of horror.

"Can it be possible," he demanded, "that you have already dissipated the fortune your grandmother left you?"

Seizing his hat and cane, he fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Unconscious Betrayal.

Elderly maid and her best young man tete-a-tete. Enter little brother.

Miss Sears—Well, Bobby, what do you want?

Bobby—Crack this nut for me. I'll do as much for you when I have false teeth.—New York World.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection,

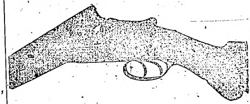
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING, MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF.

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries

Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

Headache, Dyspepsia, Indigestion
are caused by bad blood, and by a run down, worn out condition of the body. Remember
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Be sure to get Hood's
Hood's Pills are gentle, mild and effective.

COSTLY AMERICAN TEA.

Grown in Gadrens in South Carolina —A State Agriculturist's Opinion.

Some specimens of American tea have been sent from Fayette, N. C., this season to northern markets, and, according to the New York Evening Post, the results of the sales seem to indicate that the culture of this crop in parts of the South may yet lead to large fortunes. It is not generally known that attempts were made to establish tea gardens here before the war, and that since the end of that outbreak systematic efforts have been made to revive the old gardens. Professor Massey, of the State Agricultural College, has been instrumental in trying to spread information among the farmers concerning the culture of tea, and a few have been induced to put out gardens. The tea sent from the old Smith farm this season brought 80 cents a pound, and some from South Carolina brought as high as $1 a pound. Last summer the cut at Summerville amounted to a dozen or two pounds, and this year several times that amount has been sold.

Dr. Shepard says that the leaf grown in the South is better for black than for green tea and that the cost of picking is about 25 cents a pound of cured tea. On a large scale, and with the best apparatus for gathering and curing, the cost might be largely reduced. He feels confident, however, that cheap-rate culture could never be made profitable here on account of the lower wages that rule in Japan and India and China, but the higher grade teas can be grown with considerable profit. Dr. Shepard is increasing his tea gardens every year, and when the plants are old enough to yield good crops he proposes to put in good machinery and start into tea selling for money. Professor Massey says that the finest tea he ever tasted was grown in the South, and he has no doubt but it will be a future profitable crop in the Carolinas. Mr. Jackson, an expert tea grower from Assam, who had charge of the Summerville plantation under General Le Duc, says that with negro labor he can raise tea more cheaply than is done with coolie labor in India because of its greater reliability. In regard to the hardiness of the tea plant, all observers seem to agree that north of thirty-five degrees it is unwise to attempt to cultivate it. Around Old Point Comfort, where some plants have been growing more or less feebly for years, the winters cut the plants badly, and on the upper parts of the Delaware Peninsula they were entirely killed. But south of these points, in the piney woods country extending from Raleigh to the gulf, tea plants can be grown with great success, and the time may not be far distant when American tea will compete openly in the market with that shipped from China, Japan and India.

Her Wise Papa.

She—Papa says that when coming to see me you must not come in a street car any more.

He—Really! Does he expect me to walk all this distance?

She—Of course not. He says all he asks is that you will come in a carriage, hired by the hour.—New York Weekly.

Why He Laughed.

Professor (to student)—What are you laughing at?

Student—At your appearance.

Professor—Do you laugh over every little trifling absurdity that you chance to see?

Observed.

"There goes my hat," yelled the pompous man with the red face.

"Yes," rejoined the calm party with chin whiskers, "straws show the way the wind blows."

A steel shaft is to mark the historic battlefield of Braddock, Pa.

The principles of rainfall were first correctly set forth by Dalton in 1787.

More than 1,000 forms of snow crystals have been observed and copied.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER
pain each month, can find relief and cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates and restores the monthly function, braces up the exhausted, run-down, overworked and delicate; allays and banishes all Nervous Weakness, Spasms, Hysteria, Fits, Chorea, or St. Vitus's Dance; cures Weaknesses, Bearing Down Sensations, Backache, Catarrhal Inflammation, Ulceration and kindred maladies.

For those about to become mothers, it is a priceless boon, for it lessens the pain and perils of childbirth, shortens "labor" and the period of confinement, and promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

THOMAS THIRLWELL, of Robertsdale, Pa., says: "I cannot sufficiently express to you my gratitude for the benefit your 'Favorite Prescription' has conferred upon my daughter.

Of late she has suffered no pain whatever. It is simply marvelous."

CLIP, SAVE AND SEND TO US

Do we not present a smiling countenance? Why should we not? It is true we have been overworked and even with our greatly increased facilities, have had to work nights, to supply the demands made upon us for Aermotors, tanks and towers. This ever increasing, never ceasing demand for our goods, even in times of great business depression, makes us tired, but happy, as witness the smiling countenance in our glittering Aermotor. While others cannot get work to do, we are overwhelmed with it. Why? Because we make the best thing that can be made, of the best material that is made, at the lowest price that ever was made, and back it all by the best reputation ever made for knowing what to do, how to do it and invariably accomplishing the result. All the world knows that the Aermotor Co. alone knows how to make Windmills, steel towers and tanks. Orders for them pour in upon us from every nook and corner of the earth. A business depression in any one locality is not felt in our field. Is it, therefore, any wonder that we are busy and are doubling our last year's output, even in these days of depression? Everyone on the Aermotor premises, from the office boy to the owners, presents this well fed, smiling countenance. All are prosperous, busy, happy—work is plenty, and prosperity attends the designers, makers, managers and sellers of Aermotors. Even the purchasers of Aermotors are the wide-awake, intelligent, up-to-the-times cash buyers in any community. Aermotor people have no forebodings of disaster and hard times. Aermotor employes never strike. They are prosperous and contented. Even in the civil commotion and great upheaval recently raging in Chicago, the Aermotor people were at work radiant with smiles and good cheer, and ready to help bring and welcome back the general prosperity, which must, at once, inevitably return to our land.
AERMOTOR CO., 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Sts., Chicago, Ill.
(Preserve this as No. 6 in the series of 12.)

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

POLLY MAKING TEA.

The china gleams in blue and white,
The twilight hour is swift approaching;
Entranced I note with shy delight
No other callers are encroaching.

A cup she designates as wine,
With motion of her dainty finger.
The kettle boils—oh! drink divine,
In mem'ry shall thy fragrance linger.

Her kerchief's made in style of yore,
Some fairy surely put the hem on.
Held sugar such a charm before?
Was e'er such magic in a lemon?

She turns away with magic coy,
The firelight shows her beauty clearer;
Oh, why is teasing such a joy?
I wish she'd come a little nearer.

We sit and sip—the time flies fast—
My cup needs filling—project clever!
She comes, and I—grown bold at last—
Say, "Polly, make my tea forever!"

IN A KODAK.

"You will be my wife, Louise? And you will wait for me until I return, will you not, my darling? Surely, your father will give his consent to our marriage when he realizes how dearly you love me!"

Charlie Miller's voice was full of earnestness. He was standing in a secluded corner of the veranda of the Hotel Eastman, at the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, with the girl he loved at his side. She lifted her dark eyes to his handsome face, and in their true depths he read the sweet secret of her love. The knowledge filled his heart with rapture. The love of this pure young girl was his forever, and the realization of the truth was happiness supreme. He drew her closer to his heart, and his dark head was bent, while his soulful eyes gazed into hers.

"Louise! his voice trembled, "do you think your father will consent to our marriage?"

Her eyes fell from before his impassioned gaze.

"I do not know," she murmured. "I will tell you the truth, Charlie. I fear opposition. Papa has set his heart upon my marrying Mr. Day—Mr. Davenport Day, and I—I—hate him!"

Her eyes flashing, her breath coming swiftly, two small hands clenched involuntarily.

"But, surely, darling," the young man interposed, hopefully, "your father will consent when he sees that your happiness is at stake?"

She shook her head.

"You do not know my father," she sighed. "He is very stern and set in his ways. And you do not know Davenport Day. By the way—you have never met him, Charlie!"

"No! and I do not care to. Louise, that man shall never take you from me—I swear it!"

Then, after a brief pause, during which the lovers were perfectly happy, he went on:

"So! our pleasant sojourn at the Hot Springs is nearly over. I am ordered South for my health, and you—will remain here until——"

"Until papa decides to move on," she interpreted, smilingly. "You know, he and I are birds of passage, this spring. Why, we may even reach New Orleans, yet—your objective point!"

"I wish you would!" exclaimed the young man, enthusiastically. "Fancy the happiness of meeting you there, Louise! And so our happy time here is over. Our drives and walks, and the delicious times we have had with the kodaks. I believe we have 'taken' every pretty scene in and around Hot Springs!"

"Oh, yes, and, by the way, Charlie, I have taken Davenport Day's photograph!"

"Yes?"

The young man did not look over-pleased.

"You see, dear," Louise went on, persuasively, "he left the day you arrived here; and I took a snap-shot at him while he stood at the depot, waiting for his train. He will be back soon; and oh, how I dread it! Papa thinks there is no one like him, and he is rich and influential, and he seems so certain that I will be his wife. I fairly hate him!"

"Where is his picture?" demanded Miller, a little savagely. He was accustomed to having his own way; and the thought of a rival was galling to him.

Charlie Miller was a young banker from Chicago, and a noble, upright man. He loved Louise Stewart dearly, and the thought of this man, who stood in his way, was not agreeable. She smiled.

"Ah, dear! I have never taken the trouble to develop it," she cried. "I'll tell you, Charlie, since you are going away to-morrow, I will develop the photograph, and forward it to you, so that you may see the face of your rival—ahem!" throwing her arms about his neck with a pretty little gesture, which plainly told the young banker that he had nothing to fear from Davenport Day.

"All right!" returned Charlie. "Send the picture, also your letters, to the St. Charles hotel, New Orleans. I shall stop there, and all mail will be safe."

Then followed a tender farewell, for Charley was to leave on the early morning train, and Louise would not be able to see him again. So they parted with the understanding that as soon as Charlie's health was recovered—which the Southern trip seemed to assure—he would see Mr. Stewart, and ask for his daughter's hand in marriage.

The lovers had hardly left the secluded corner of the veranda, when, from the shadows just below, a tall, dark figure crept forth. A man with a red face, dark eyes and hair and mustache; the general aspect of a stage villain—Davenport Day. His face was darkened with anger, and he shook his fist in the direction which the young people had taken.

"So!" he muttered harshly, "that is my rival! The young man from Chicago had better beware, for Davenport Day is not an easy one to baffle. And my pretty Louise believes me to be wealthy; and thinks that is why her father approves of me as a suitor for her; but the little witch does not know—nor her wise father either—that my fortune went long ago, at Monte Carlo and Baden Baden; and I have come home to America to recoup. I must marry that girl! Her father is worth a couple of millions, and I need them. Ah, my fine Chicago boy, you had better look out, for your little game is not won yet—not much! He must be put out of the way. It will not be impossible. He has never seen me, and he must not see my photograph. Confound that kodak! It has caused me trouble enough; but I will conquer yet!"

And as he slunk away through the darkness, the look upon his dark face would have frightened Louise Stewart, had she seen it.

It was on a fair April morning, when a cab rolled up to the St. Charles hotel, in the quaint old city of New Orleans, and a young man alighted. Entering the hotel, he registered his name: Charles F. Miller, Chicago, Ill. A pleasant room was assigned him, and after a bath and refreshment, our friend Charlie sallied forth into the street. Almost the first person he encountered was an old friend, Bruce Hayes, who was traveling with a dramatic company, playing "The Power of the Press," a play which invites criticism.

"Halloa, old boy!" cried Bruce, who was a genial fellow. "I'm glad to see you. I want to introduce to you an acquaintance of mine, who has just arrived, and is doing the Crescent City. You and he ought to know each other!"

"Very well!" returned Charlie Miller. So, a little later, the introduction was accomplished, and Miller found himself in company with a tall, dark man, who answered to the name of Burton Dalton. He was extremely clever and agreeable, and Charlie found, as the days went by, that time passed in his society very pleasantly. But Charlie was vaguely uneasy. He was conscious of certain strange and curious circumstances. He was followed everywhere, when alone, by a man whose face he could never see, try as hard as he might. Once, late at night, while passing down Royal street, he was suddenly atacked from behind by an unseen foe, who flourished a sharp knife in close proximity to the young man's heart. A vigorous outcry from Charlie brought the police to the rescue, and the would-be-assassin was gone. The police warned Charlie to be on his guard, especially in certain streets; and then he called a cab and was driven back to the St. Charles, his mind full of conflicting emotions.

Who was this man, and why did he wish to take his life?—his—a complete stranger in the place.

Another thing troubled him beyond words. In all the time that he had passed in New Orleans, he had not received one letter from Louise, not a line, nor the expected kodak picture—nothing. Was she ill? Then surely she would have telegraphed him. Had her father forbidden her to write to her lover? Louise would never consent to give Charley up, without at least an explanation. The young lover felt sure of that.

Late one night Charlie Miller was awakened to find some one in his room. A tall figure with a masked face was bending over his open trunk, hastily turning over its contents. With a stifled cry Charlie sprang up in bed; but the thief dashed wildly past him, and out of the room in an instant. No traces were found of the thief, and upon investigation, Charlie discovered to his surprise, that none of his valuables were missing; nothing but a package of kodak pictures, which were yet to be developed. An odd thing surely.

How Burton Dalton laughed over the narrative the next morning; then he proposed to share Charlie's room with him, that they might be prepared for a second visit from the midnight intruder. His offer was accepted, and after that there was no more disturbance.

Saturday night, the twenty-eighth of April, came, and Charlie invited his friend Dalton to accompany him to the St. Charles theater. The play was unsatisfactory, and between the second and third acts Dalton excused himself for a few moments, and left the theater. He went straight to the St. Charles hotel, and, going to the office, inquired for mail for Charles F. Miller, and received a letter and a small package. At sight of the package, his face grew dark.

"That accursed kodak picture has come at last!" he muttered. "And now Miller will recognize me; for I have never disguised myself, trusting to do my work and get away before it was too late. In vain have I tried to put him out of the way. He is ever on the alert, and though he does not suspect me, he is on the lookout for his hidden foe. To-night is to see the end. I have arranged all. We are to drink in Miller's room after the theater; his drink will be 'doctored,' and he will not live an hour. No one will suspect me, as I have an excellent disguise in readiness, and will ship on board a certain little craft, which will be far away from here before morning."

These murderous thoughts were rushing through his mind—the horrible purpose to remove his rival forever from his path, that he might win the girl who would—did he but know it—never be coerced into marriage, when hasty footsteps fell upon his ears, and, turning swiftly, he saw before him—Charlie Miller.

Burton Dalton dropped the stolen mail upon a table, and stood glaring wildly at the unexpected apparition of Miller upon the scene. But Charlie's quick eyes had caught sight of his own name upon the package, and, with a swift bound, he possessed himself of it, and tore it hastily open. A small package of kodak pictures, which Louise had neatly developed, and the one on top was the picture of Davenport Day.

How strangely familiar were the features. One swift glance into Burton Dalton's face, and the kodak had revealed to Miller the identity of his friend, Burton Dalton, with that of his rival, Davenport Day.

A cry of surprise fell upon the silence, and, turning, Charlie Miller beheld Louise Stewart in company with her father. With outstretched hand, she rushed to his side.

"Oh! Charlie! Charlie!" she cried. "I have never had a letter from you since you left me at Hot Springs, and I was so sure that you were ill, I persuaded papa to come on here! I know now who intercepted our letters; I have found him out; it is that horrible Davenport Day—and, why! Charlie—there he is now!" And her indignant eyes rested upon Burton Dalton's wrathful face, who saw that his game was up.

With an angry exclamation, Miller sprang upon the villain, and a fearful struggle ensued, a struggle destined to end tragically.

All at once the cry of "fire" arose upon the night. The St Charles hotel was wrapped in flames from dome to basement. It had broken out so suddenly, and must have been burning so long, that there was no hope. The building was doomed. It was a sight which those who witnessed it will not soon forget.

In the midst of it all, the horrible conflagration, the shrieks, and groans, and mad excitement, Davenport Day beheld his rival holding Louise close to his heart, making mad haste through the horrors of the scene out to safety. With a wild execration, the villain turned swiftly, and plunged into the flames. It is not known whether he meant to sacrifice his own life or whether, bewildered by the discovery of his attempted crimes, and maddened by the awful scenes around, he lost control over his own actions, but it is certain that he perished in the burning building, and was seen no more.

Over his bad past Louise and her loves, now happily united—for her father no longer opposed the marriage—have agreed to drop the veil of forgetfulness. They are happy; and so we will leave them.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

INTERESTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN MINNESOTA.

Important Occurrences in the North Star State Day by Day—A General Resume of the Week's Doings Arranged for Rapid Reading.

Saturday, August 4.

Chairman Cutcheon and Secretary Smalley, of the Democratic state central committee, resign their positions.

August Rapp, a Swede, single, 23 years old, was drowned at Moose Rapids. He was thrown from a raft of logs. The body was recovered this morning.

The body of an unknown man was found near the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad track, a short distance from Madison lake. He is thought to have met death by sunstroke.

A good sized boom is in prospect for Thief River Falls in the near future on account of the success of the efforts of Ray W. Jones, a Minneapolis lumber man, to secure a mill site tract of land belonging to an Indian chief and lying next to the town site.

Dr. Gibson of Austin accused of receiving bribes in pension cases has been acquitted.

James Kugan of the hardware and implement firm of Kugan & Kanne of Waterville lost his only child 2 years old. He had bee singing about the house as usual and found a box with strychnine pills, which some members of the family were using, and took enough so that convulsions began in 10 minutes and terminated his life in an hour.

Sunday, August 5.

Peter Nelson of Zumbrota was killed at Kenyon in a runaway accident.

Seventy-five dollars and costs for shooting three prairie chickens out of season was the penalty placed on a law breaker by Justice W. A. Miller of Staples.

The contract was let for putting in a system of waterworks and electric lights at Marshall. E. T. Sykes, of Minneapolis, is the contractor, his bid being $24,000. Village bands for $25,000 were sold for $27,300.

Ole Rapp, a settler living some fifty miles above Aitkin was drowned while crossing the Mississippi on a log last Wednesday. He fell off the log, and, not being able to swim perished before aid could reach him. The body was recovered.

Every Democratic attorney in the counties of Olmsted, Wabasha and Winona has signed a request to the Democratic state convention to be held Sept. 5, that it indorse Judgbe Charles M. Start for the position of chief justice of the supreme court.

The body of the man found near Madison Lake has been identified as that of William Hammond, of Alma City, aged 82 years. The coroner's verdict was that deceased fell down an embankment while walking from Alma City to Madison Lake.

Monday, Aug. 6.

Joseph A. Eckstein of New Ulm has been arrested on a charge of misuse of the mails.

Ed J. Darragh was nominated by Fourth district Democrats as a candidate for congress.

A barn, eight stacks of grain and some machinery belonging to John Swanson of Welch, was burned.

The Belvidere creamery at Red Wing was burned to the ground. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $1,000.

About twenty acres of rye, and fifteen of oats, in the stack on Mrs. John Phillips' farm, in the town of Gillford, took fire and was wholly destroyed. The loss is $300; no insurance.

John C. Burkhardt of Owatonna died from an unknown cause. He was taken sick Tuesday. When his wife went to call him, she found that he had just died.

The contract for the St. James water works plant was awarded to E. T. Sykes of Minneapolis. Bid, $21,000. The system of water works is to be completed on or before the 15th day of November next.

Henry Weirwill of Le Sueur had a fine span of horses, harness and wagon stolen. The robbers are supposed to be hiding in the timber among the hills west of Le Sueur. H. F. Weis, president of the First State bank, had his horse stolen while at Lake Emily Wednesday night.

Jerome Reynolds, son of the city marshal of Waterville, was caught on the foot by a stone which weighed a ton. The "dogs" slipped and let the stone loose as it was being swung by a derrick to its place where the city is putting in a bridge. The stone had just passed over young Reynolds' head. Dr. Coe, who dressed the wound, thinks the foot can be saved.

Company E, Second regiment, in charge of Capt. J. M. Tucker, was mustered in at Hastings by Col. Joseph Bobleter and Adjt. Gen. Muehlberg. Col. C. F. Rusch, of the governor's staff, and Capt. W. H. Hart, brigade quartermaster, were also present by invitation of the adjutant general. The muster roll contains fifty names, and the citizens are justly proud of the new organization.

Tuesday, Aug. 7.

The body of Charles F. Dana, who was drowned at Isle Royale, Lake Superior, has been found, and taken to St. Paul.

William Davis, who broke jail at Aitkin last Sunday, was captured by Sheriff Mansten at Lane Lake and returned to jail.

Harvest is over and threshing his commenced at Cokato. The yield is good and averages 22 to 25 bushels per acre.

Fire at St. Cloud destroyed a barn and eighty tons of hay of C. Bridgman and a new dwelling owned by J. E. West. Loss, $3,200; insurance, $600. A lot of lumber of the Akely Lumber company was also burned. Two men smoking in the barn caused the fire.

Peter Knutson, of Tenhassen township, Martin county, had a team of horses, harness and buggy stolen from his barn last night. This is the third team that has been stolen in the county this summer, and none of the thieves have yet been captured.

Wednesday, Aug. 8.

Frank Slasher's thresher exploded at Vessell and burned several stacks and the separator.

Arthur Keep, arrested for horse stealing at Hokah, has "wheels" and will probably be sent to Rochester.

Democrats elected Titus Marek chairman and Tom Mullane secretary of the state central committee.

Thieves broke into a Great Northern car sidetracked at Anoka, taking a large amount of wheat belonging to the Pillsbury-Washburn Mill company.

The valuable pacing mare Primrose, belonging to C. P. McClure of St. Cloud, was stolen from pasture near Paynesville.

P. S. Kelly, foreman of the Press printing office at Rochester, met with a disabling accident, having his right hand crushed against the revolving press cylinder. The end of the thumb was taken off and amputation was necessary. The two first fingers were hurt, but can be saved.

Thursday, August 9.

Fire destroyed a large barn belonging to John Quist of Trimbells.

Mrs. James M. Gere, a pioneer resident of Hastings died to-day of peritonitis, aged 65. She was held in high esteem.

Fire destroyed the business houses of Jay A. Kennicott and Harkins' fruit store at Luverne. It was a plain case of incendiarism, for the fire hose was cut and the engine crippled. The loss on the building and stocks is estimated at $800.

Fire at Wells consumed about $500 worth of finishing lumber and three chests of carpenters' tools. The lumber was owned by John T. Owens, who is building a new house on the south edge of town. The fire is supposed to have caught from a cigar stub.

A farmer near Cannon Falls named Martin Holland has invented a device which he terms a "tree protector," which exterminates the insects of all kinds on apple trees that cause the summer blight. Mr. Holland is sure that the device will prove to be of incalculable benefit to owners of orchards.

Friday, Aug. 10.

At Rogers' Siding, Hennepin county, one farmer got thirty-five bushels of fine wheat to the acre.

J. Royal McMurran will be brought to St. Paul from Memphis to answer to a charge of embezzlement.

The prospects are good that J. W. Kollman & Co. of Faribault, who have recently failed, will effect a settlement with their creditors and continue business.

A pack peddler was knocked senseless and robbed of some $250 in the northern part of Elysian. The sheriff is after the robber and the prospects for getting him are good.

O. S. Bonham, furniture dealer at Zumbrota, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The amount of the assets and liabilities is unknown.

The board of prison managers granted a grist of five paroles: A. H. Hornsby, Ramsey county; Harvey K. Walters, Hennepin; J. M. Peterson, Olmsted; Tim Sullivan, Blue Earth; David Carter, Nicollet.

Reports have just reached Anoka of the destruction of Alexander McNeil's large general store in Dayton, Hennepin county. Store and contents a total loss of $6,000. Insurance, $1,000 on structure; $2,200 on contents.

Threshing is fairly commenced at Dexter. The yield of everything is better than for years, and the quality is excellent. Rain is badly needed for pastures and late potatoes and flax. Grain is about all stacked. The mercury stands 100 in the shade to-day.

FIRST STRIKE ON RECORD

Roman Flute Players, B. C. 300 Successfully Resented Exclusion From a Banquet.

Livy, in his famous book, "The Annals," ix., 30, relates in the following suggestive words, the story of a singular strike which occurred at Rome in the year 300 B. C., and probably the first strike ever known:

That year occurred an event little worthy of being related and which I would pass in silence had it not appeared as involving religion. The flute players, dissatisfied because the latest censors had forbidden them to take part in the banquet in Jupiter's Temple, according to the ancient custom, withdrew, every one of them, to Tibur, so that nobody was left at Rome to play during the sacrifices. This incident shocked the religious sentiment of the senate, and the senators sent messengers to invite the inhabitants of Tibur to make every effort in order that the players should be restored to the Romans. The Tiburtines, having promised not to neglect anything necessary for that purpose, caused the flute-players to come to that place where the senate met and exhorted them to go back to Rome. Seeing that they could not prevail upon them to do so, they employed a stratagem in keeping with their character. On a day of festival, under the pretext that music would increase the joy of the feast, every citizen invited the flute-players individually to his house, and wine, of which people of that profession are usually fond, was given to them in such quantities that they fell into a deep sleep. They were then thrown into wagons and transported to Rome. They only became aware of what had happened on the day after, when dawn surprised them lying on the carts, which had been left in the forum. A large crowd had assembled and they were induced to promise that they would remain at Rome. The right of attending the banquets was restored to these flute players.

And the Hat Came Back.

A prominent Alleghanian was taking a drive on Perrysville avenue with several members of his family, and started home shortly before the storm broke loose. A good part of the distance had been covered, when, on reaching a point on the avenue where a street branches off to the north, the wind carried his straw hat up the side of the hill. In the blinding dust storm which followed, he thought it useless to try to recover the hat. Another eighth of a mile was covered, and the occupants of the carriage took refuge in a residence. All were gathered on the porch in front of the house watching the progress of the storm, when what should come flying down the street but the missing hat, urged merrily along by the wind. It sailed past, struck an opposing current of air, and, wheeling about, paused for a moment in front of the residence, where it was recovered by the owner and found to be uninjured, save for the dust gathered upon it during its flight.—Pittsburg Telegraph.

Balance of the Sexes.

A French statistician says that the number of men and women in France is more nearly equal than in any other country of the world, there being only 1,007 women to 1,000 men. In Switzerland there are 1,064 men to 1,000 women, and in Greece only 933. The conditions in HongKong, according to this authority, are "appalling," there being only 366 women to 1,000 men.—New York Tribune.

On With the Ball.

Arizona Pete—I should like very much to go to the dance with you, but, you see, I didn't come dressed for it.

Fewclothes—Never mind that, partner, I can let you have a couple of guns.

TARIFF CRISIS IS ON

THE FATE OF THE BILL IS YET UNDECIDED.

Senator Hill's Coup Has Brought About a State of Affairs, the Result of Which Is Difficult to Determine.

Washington, Aug. 11.—A crisis in the tariff affairs has been reached, both in the open senate and in the secret councils of the Democratic tariff conferees. When the conference closed last night it was with the understanding that the meetings would be suspended for the present. No time was set for reassembling the conferees to-day or thereafter, and it was felt that no further sessions might be necessary in case the senate acted favorably to-day on Senator Hill's resolution directing the senate conferees to report the situation of affairs. What was of more importance was the feeling expressed by the house conferees at the close of the conference that in case the Hill resolution passed—and they believed it would—the conference would practically be relieved of its work, and it would remain only for the house to accept the senate bill as a lesser evil, as they believe, than the McKinley law.

These conclusions were reached after a day of intense excitement among tariff leaders. The day opened with the senate proposition for free sugar still pending before the conference. Chairman Wilson and his house associates were satisfied that the tender of free sugar was not made in good faith and they had therefore requested the senate conferees to furnish a poll of the senate showing that if the proposition were accepted it would be adopted by the senate and the bill passed. The poll was considered as soon as the conferees convened. It disclosed that in the event of the acceptance of the free sugar amendment the bill as a whole would be voted against by thirty-eight Republicans and by Senators Kyle, Allen and Peffer (Populists), and Caffery and Blanchard (Democrats), a total of forty-three votes, or sufficient to defeat the bill. This poll was made on the best judgment of the senate conferees. The house accepted it as showing conclusively that the tender of the free sugar amendment, while made in good faith by the senate conferees, was a means adopted by the conservatives for the purpose of defeating tariff legislation and leaving the McKinley law in force. The discussion brought out for the first time the statement that the defensive alliance between certain senators had proceeded further than mutual co-operation and was now reduced to a signed agreement. While members of the conference did not claim to have seen the agreement they stated as fact that Senators Kyle, Allen, Peffer, Blanchard and Caffery had reduced their understanding to black and white and had signed it to the effect that they would vote against any bill which did not contain a bounty clause for sugar. As free sugar would eliminate the bounty provision the signed agreement was regarded as showing that the five senators, combined with the Republicans, would defeat the bill. It was while animated comments were being made on the foregoing conditions that word reached the conference of Senator Hill's coup d'etat in the open senate. The conference hastily adjourned, the senators going on the floor to take part in the debate. Mr. Wilson was not disposed to attach much weight to Senator Hill's movement, and said that it would be futile, as the senate could not act while the bill was in conference. This feeling was shared to a great extent during the day by the house leaders who characterized it as being one of "the bluffs" which had been made of late to demoralize the house conferees and force them to yield. Later in the day, however, this feeling gave way to one of profound concern over the situation and the future of the bill. Just what the outcome will be is hard to say.

PEDAGOGUES UNDER FIRE.

Thirty Would-Be Teachers Taking the County Examination.

Minneapolis, Aug. 11.—The first summer examination of teachers for the county schools was begun this morning at the central high school building under the direction of Assistant County Superintendent H. M. Wilcox. There were about thirty candidates and they constituted an average group. To-day they wrestled with reading, arithmetic, theory and practice of teaching, grammar and writing. Another examination will be held at Robbinsdale on Aug. 24 and 25, and still another will occur at Long Lake on Oct. 26 and 27. This last will be too late for teachers who wish appointments for this year, except for the schools which only hold five months and do not begin until November. Most of the county schools begin on the first and second Monday in September.

Fell to Her Death.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 11.—A horrible tragedy was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators at Glendale Park, near this city, yesterday afternoon. Miss Lulu Randall of Detroit, Mich., who has for some time past been making balloon ascensions, was almost instantly killed. She ascended safely to about 2,000 feet altitude, and when the signal was given cut the parachute loose. It opened and she descended safely until she was about seventy-five feet from the ground when the parachute drifted into a tree with such force that she was thrown against a limb and her hold broken. She fell to the ground, and though physicians were summoned, died soon afterward. The remains will be sent to Detroit.

Big Tin Plate Works.

Pittsburg, Aug. 11. — General Manager David B. Oliver, of the Oliver Iron and Steel company, is authority for the statement that the South Fifteenth street plant of the company will soon be turned into one of the largest and perhaps the largest tin plate works in the world. The deal will be largely governed by the tariff settlement, and is to be operated by a company of Eastern gentlemen. The capital stock will be $500,000. It is said that the plant will be in operation in a few months.

Anarchists to Be Deported.

Rome, Aug. 7.—Six anarchists were arrested while holding a secret conference here last evening. It is estimated that 2,000 anarchists who were arrested in the raids of the last two months will be deported. A group of fifty has been already sent to Naples to embark for Massowah, in the Red sea.

A St. Paul Boy Drowned.

Menasha, Wis., Aug. 7.—The eleven-year-old son of P. Williams, who travels for a St. Paul firm, fell into the canal here last evening and was drowned. Mr. Williams and family were here to spend several days.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

With or Without.

Seedy Customer (to drug clerk)—Can you give me something that will stop my headache?

Drug Clerk—Certainly. I've got an excellent preparation here; something I can recommend at any time; it will fix you up in good style; in fact, it's the only thing we know of that will positively cure heaedache. The price is 50 cents.

Seedy Customer—I was in hopes you would fix me up for nothing; I haven't got a cent.

"Then the best thing you can do, my friend, is to go home and go to bed; and, take my word for it, you'll be all right in the morning."—South Boston News.

The Conquering Hero.

The New Man (at the summer hotel)—Is this chair engaged?

One of the Girls—No, sir.

The New Man—Um—how about yourself?

Was It Flattering?

She—You have met the beautiful Miss X, have you not? What do you think of her?

He—She is one of that sort of women that any man could die for, but none could live with.—Indianapolis Journal.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

A century plant is in bloom at the Greyland plantation, just over the Alabama line, about fifteen miles from Columbus, Miss.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

The annual average rainfall over the whole earth is thirty-six inches.

Karl's Clover Root Tea.
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Philadelphia's public building when finished will have the highest tower of any building in the world. It will be 537 feet high.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The most densely settled state is Rhode Island; the second is Massachusetts.

OH, MY HEAD
Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

The different games that may be played with a deck of cards run up in the hundreds.

To Cleanse the System
Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers use Syrup of Figs.

The average annual amount of dew in England is equal to five inches of rain.

Disaster Follows
When liver trouble is neglected. Uneasiness below the right ribs and shoulder blade, dyspepsia, nausea, constipation, sick headache, furred tongue. Do you want 'em? Of course not. Use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and you won't be bothered with them, or any other symptoms of liver disturbance. Make haste when the first signs show themselves.

At Bombay 24 inches of rain have fallen in a day; at Genoa, 30; at Gibraltar, 33.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE
WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 18 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

HOTEL FURNITURE and LEASE FOR SALE.
ST. PAUL.
A great bargain is offered to any responsible hotel man to take AN OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE DOING A GOOD BUSINESS. Address,
Room 636 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.
$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits.
FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.
OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

MARLIN Marlin Rifles are made in all calibres and styles. They have solid top receivers and eject at the side, consequently they are the most practical for rough usage.
Light Weight. REPEATING Easy Action.
Fewer parts than other repeaters, and simpler. Write for catalogues to The Marlin Fire Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., U.S.A. RIFLES

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO. Chicago, Ill.
AGENTS WANTED.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1894. NUMBER 3.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

The controller of the currency has appointed W. L. Rutledge receiver of the First National bank of Grant, Neb.

The senate in executive session confirmed the Chinese treaty. The vote was 47 yeas to 20 nays.

Withdrawals of whisky from bond are expected to swell the treasury receipts by $18,000,000 before the tariff bill goes into effect.

In the agricultural appropriation bill the present fiscal year is an item of $10,000 for the study of the economy of food by the people of the United States.

Secretary Carlisle in a letter to Senator Harris says the enactment of the free sugar, coal, iron and barbed wire bills would cause a deficiency of over $20,000,000 next year.

Secretary Morton declines to accept a suggestion made by Senator Hansbrough that he send a special agent to North Dakota to examine the ravages of the Russian thistle.

Republican senators will offer several amendments to the supplemental tariff bills, including one for the repeal of the tariff bill now in the hands of the president.

The house voted to recede on the senate tariff bill, virtually passing that measure. Mr. Cleveland will allow it to become a law without his signature. The house passed separate bills for free coal, free iron ore and free barbed wire.

Personal Mention.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt is fond of hunting and fishing.

Salvini, the tragedian, is the only actor who was ever born in a palace.

C. H. Schmelzer has arrived in New York with a team that he drove from Texas in fifteen months.

Postmaster General Bissell resumed his official duties having returned from a short visit at Kennebunport, Me.

Lord Wolseley's promotion to the rank of field marshal will not interfere with his command in Ireland, which he will continue to hold until October, 1895.

The house committee on pensions has agreed to the senate bill to pension Mrs. Ada J. Schwatka, the widow of Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, the Arctic explorerr, at $30 a month.

Betty Paoli, who died a few weeks ago in Vienna, was the most popular poetess in Austria, some years ago. She was seventy-nine years old. Among her prose works is "Gillparzer and His Works."

Ouida writes, in reference to the exclusion of her novels from the Astor library, together with the works of Fielding and Smollett: "I am gratified to be excommunicated with Fielding and Smollett. It is lamentable that such bigotry should exist."

Mrs. Aubrey Richardson, in a recent paper, falls foul of the alleged religious novel, as generally written, commencing her paper with the bold announcement: "There are few more effectual opponents of the development of the human race than the writers of religious novels."

Unfortunate Events.

Five buildings burned at Isabel, Ill., causing a loss of $12,000.

Mart Dowell, a wealthy farmer, was burned to death with his home near Ramsey, Ill.

Zachariah Bosley, an engineer at the Terre Haute (Ind.) street railway power station, was killed by an electric current of but 500 volts.

Four workmen engaged in constructing a flume in Granite canyon, Wyo., were crushed by rocks which had been loosened by a blast.

The ferry boat Richmond was cut in two by the steamer Puritan in the river at St. Joseph. The City of Chicago had a narrow escape, and her passengers were thrown into a panic.

While Farmer B. McClintock, near Clinton, Iowa, was away from home, Charles Lawton, an employe, climbed to the top of a windmill to oil it. He fell and was killed. His body was partly devoured by hogs when found.

A steam purifier of the Louisville Electric Light Power company at Louisville, Ky., exploded, killing Edward Land and dangerously injuring Adolph Schwartz. Charles Wilson, colored, was blown through a hole in the roof, but was only slightly injured.

By the collapse of a two-story brick building in Yankton, S. D., John Novetney's harness and firearm store was thrown into the cellar and ruined, causing a loss of $5,500. A photographer and his wife, occupying the second floor, escaped unhurt.

One hundred colored people were on the ground floor of a building in Cincinnati, holding a cake walk. Four policemen were looking on. Suddenly the floor dropped into the cellar. One policeman was slightly bruised. Everybody else escaped.

Charles F. Drake of Bloomington, Ill., began a suit for $50,000 damages against the Chicago & Alton railroad. Drake was an engineer on the Alton road, and in February last, while at Nilwood, a boiler burst and he was so badly scalded that he is crippled for life. His tongue was burned off.

Harry Morris, aged 20, and his sister Florence, aged 17, were killed near Narka, Kan., while taking part in a road race with Homer Hicks. Morris' buggy was overturned at a turn in the road and Hicks' team ran over them, killing Morris and his sister almost instantly. Hicks has been arrested.

Criminal Doings.

Frederick Kette committed suicide at Waukegan, Ill., by taking poison.

A gang of anarchists and firebugs is arrested in Chicago.

P. L. Cook, a Stuartsville, Ohio saloonkeeper, was beaten to death with an iron rod by masked robbers.

Charles F. Meyer, senior member of an Indianapolis dry goods firm, killed himself because of business troubles.

George Simmons, an engineer, shot Prof. F. B. Shelbey, at Lancaster, Pa., in a drunken frenzy. Shelbey will die.

F. O. Fanning was shot and seriously wounded by two highwaymen at Grand Rapids, Mich.

W. H. Bannon, postmaster at Bumont, Butler county, Ia., is $1,300 short in his money-order accounts.

Discharged for drunkenness, Jailer Jerry Murphy liberated all the prisoners in the Leavenworth (Kas.) jail. Four voluntarily returned.

James Branard shot and killed his wife, and then shot himself at Schoolcraft, Mich. They were not living together.

Daniel Mayfield, the Chicago & Eastern Illinois brakeman arrested at Danville, Ill., for killing Engineer Bert Bryne, was released.

The Ottawa, Illinois contingent of the Salvation army was again arrested for obstructing the streets and spent the night in jail.

Damaging evidence has been secured against George W. Davis the negro under arrest for wrecking the Rock Island express near Lincoln, Neb.

An offer of $100,000 is made and refused for the release of the sporting editor of the Omaha Bee on bail. He is under arrest for refereeing a fatal prize fight.

Miss Fannie E. Howard, a 24-year-old brunette, has sued Justice Morris of Linden, N. J., for $20,000 damages for breach of promise. The defendant is 75 years old.

Mrs. John Wetmeyer, of Elgin, Ill., is minus a husband, who was prominent in Salvation army parades. He left in company with a young woman, and the wife believes they have gone to Chicago.

The grand jury of Shelby county, Tenn., found 304 additional indictments, making 538 found in two days, against persons in Shelby county charged with selling liquor without licenses, and the investigations of the body have developed the fact that the county, state and city of Memphis lost about $1,500,000 in the past eight years from failure to collect this revenue.

Foreign Gossip.

Two deaths from cholera occurred at Amsterdam.

Santo, the assassin of President Carnot of France, was executed at Lyons.

The bill for the relief of evicted Irish tenants was rejected by the British house of lords by a vote of 249 to 30.

Bluefields has been retaken by Nicaraguan troops and many American sympathizers with Chief Clarence have been placed under arrest.

A movement looking to the reunion of all the Methodist bodies in Great Britain was started by the conference at Grindelwald.

Official figures show that from Aug. 5 there were 156 new cases of cholera reported at St. Petersburg. In the same time there occurred 101 deaths from the disease.

Frederick Nagel, lately the mayor of Leoptschafen, a village of Baden, Germany, was arrested at New York on the steamer Westernland on a charge of forgery. The arrest was made on complaint of the acting German consul.

A Yokohama dispatch to the London Chronicle says a rumor has reached there of an important naval engagement between Japan and Chinese fleets off Wei-Hai-Wei on Aug. 10. Seven Chinese vessels belonging to the Northern squadron were sunk, according to the report.

The Kaffirs in North Transvaal, South Africa, are in open revolt. They have blocked the road from Murchison, have burned homesteads and captured cattle. The Kaffirs are now besieging the headquarters of the resident and the government buildings at Agatha. Troops have been hastily dispatched to the scene.

A dispatch to the London Telegraph from Paris says that the cooks, stewards and attendants on the trans-Atlantic line steamers have gone on strike at Havre. The employes allege that the cause of the strike is the poor food supplied to them while the vessels are in dock, and other grievances. On Saturday 100 men on board the steamer La Touraine quit work.

General.

The authorities at Genoa, DeKalb county, report that there is one case of small-pox at that place.

H. G. Bland was nominated for congress by Republicans of the Third Missouri district.

The big rolling mill at Laramie has closed down for an indefinite period. The little mill will run for some time.

The Janeway wall paper factory at New Brunswick, N. J., has been sold to the trust after a two years' fight.

Eighty cars a day of California fruit is the average that the Union Pacific has been handling for some time.

Salt water day was celebrated by 50,000 Jerseyites in various ways besides the one prescribed by the colonial fathers.

Spring Valley (Ill.) miners held another meeting and agreed to refrain from work until the union was recognized.

Mexican troops sent against the Yaqui Indians have met with defeat in all the engagements which have so far taken place.

Gov. Altgeld has issued a letter of thanks to officers and men of the Illinois National guard for their splendid service during the strikes.

It was decided at the Salem (Or.) hop convention to pay pickers 40 cents for 9-bushel boxes. Hop harvest will begin about September 5.

The Prineville (Or.) News says that the wife of J. E. Roberts, at Newsome creek, gave birth to a fine boy recently, which pleased Mr. Roberts so well that he went out into the woods the same day and killed a large black bear, the only one that has ever been killed in that vicinity.

It is thought a big mining boom will follow the opening of the Uintah and Uncompahgre reservations in Utah. The best mining country in the Uintah reservation extends westward for a distance of seventy-five miles from White Rock canyon, which is twenty-five miles north of Fort Duchesne, where it is believed silver, lead, copper and gold will be found in abundance.

WORK OF CONGRESS

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The events of the day did not make clearer the probable result of the effort on the part of the senate to follow the lead of the house in trying the secure the passage of the supplemental tariff bills.

The first supposition after Senator Harris offered his motion to refer the bills to the finance committee was that he was acting for a united party, but it was proven that the Democratic senators were very much divided upon the question. It appears that the Republicans wil also divide upon the motion, but a majority of them will oppose it. The situation may be still further complicated to-morrow by the withdrawal of the Harris motion. Whether the bills go to the committee or are considered on their merits without reference, they will be bitterly fought. There is no purpose on the part of the senators who are opposing them to allow a vote to be taken. When the fight begins in earnest the bills will be resisted by every means known to parliamentary tactics, by long speeches, amendments and dilatory motions of all kinds.

Senator Hill's example to amend by repealing the income tax was followed to-day by Senator Quay with amendments which included the entire McKinley law. Others of a like nature will follow. The conservatives will move indefinite postponement. They will try to prevent the senators from the Western mining states from voting for free sugar by amending the bill so as to provide for free lead ore.

It is thought that the resort to these tactics for a few days will convince all of the inutility at this late day of the effort to pass the bills and that it may be abandoned. They also count upon the speedy disappearance of the quorum. Several Republican senators have left the city to-day and others will follow to-morrow and to-morrow night. Some of the Democratic senators are also preparing to go. Consequently it is predicted that after to-morrow there will not be a sufficient number of senators in the city to transact business. In that event it is not believed that any effort would be made to compel attendance, but all business except that done by general consent would cease.

Washington, Aug. 17.—After a spirited session of the house committee on foreign affairs a congratulatory resolution from the United States to the new republic of Hawaii was adopted, and it will be presented to the house for adoption at the earliest opportunity. The resolution is as follows: "Resolved, That the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America do congratulate the republic of Hawaii on the peaceful assumption of the powers, duties and responsibilities of self-government as indicated by the recent adoption of a republican form of government.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The motion to refer the free sugar bill to the committee on finance was carried. The motion was made by Mr. Harris. The vote was 32 to 18. The free coal bill has been referred to the committee on finance by a vote of 35 to 16. The free iron bill was also referred to the committee by a vote of 37 to 17. The free barbed wire bill was sent to the committee without division.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Representative Bailey of Texas desires to rid congressmen of all complicity in office seeking. To-day he introduced the following bill: "That from and after the passage of this act no senators or representatives in congress shall directly or indirectly solicit or recommend the appointment of any person to any office under the United States, provided this act shall not be construed to apply to the offices of the house and senate."

Washington, Aug. 18.—Senator Murphy offered a resolution that there should be no further legislation on the tariff at this session, in view of the Carlisle letter. It went over until today. After a futile attempt to place Senator White on the finance committee the senate adjourned, when a caucus of Republican senators was held. Senator Aldrich brought up the question of Republican interference with the selection of a Democrat on the finance committee, when Senator Pettigrew stated that there was no need of discussing the question, as there were eight Republicans who would not agree to it, and it would result in breaking up all party discipline in the senate. That matter was then dropped. As to taking action on the filling of the vacancy the general feeling was that no party action was necessary. The resolution of Senator Murphy was discussed and it was decided that the Republicans would support it in a modified form, which would not specify the tariff legislation, but would state that in view of the fact that the session was so near an end that it is impracticable to attempt to pass any contested legislation during the remainder of the session, and that it is the desire of congress to adjourn as soon as possible. It is probable that if a vote can be had upon this resolution that it will secure enough Democratic votes to pass.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Senator Harris, acting chairman of the finance committee, has called a meeting of that committee for to-day, when it is understood the supplemental tariff bills will be taken up and an effort made to have them reported, notwithstanding the senate's adoption of the Murphy resolution declaring against the practicability of all efforts at further contested legislation during this session. The Democratic members of the committee say they do not consider the action of the senate on the resolution as binding upon the committee, and they will make an effort to have the bills reported at least. Some of the Democratic members who voted for reference are anxious that the committee should act, as action would justify their course, and they are hopeful that the Republican members will not antagonize this business in seeking to secure delay in committee.

In the senate Saturday Mr. Murphy's resolution declaring that there shall be no further legislation over which there is a contest was adopted after Mr. Murphy had amended it to leave out reference to Mr. Carlisle's letter. The vote was as follows:

Ayes — Messrs. Aldrich, Allison, Blanchard, Caffrey, Carey, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dolph, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Jones (Nev.), Kyle, Manderson, Mitchell (Or.), Murphy, Patton, Peffer, Pettigrew, Platt, Pugh, Quay, Roach, Shoup, Smith, Stewart—27.

Noes—Messrs. Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Cockrell, Coke, Faulkner, George, Harris, Hunton, Jarvis, Lindsay, Ransom, Turpie, Vest, Vilas, White—16.

A great deal of confusion followed the announcement, in the midst of which Mr. Lindsay (Dem., Ky.) offered a resolution expressing it to be the sense of the senate that congress should not adjourn until a bill had been passed relieving and discontinuing any duty on refined sugar which would operate for the benefit of the sugar trust. He asked for the immediate consideration of the resolution. Mr. Manderson moved to amend the resolution so as to instruct the finance committee to report back the amount of profit to be derived by the whisky trust from the tariff bill now in the hands of the president.

After discussion the resolution went over.

The resolution of Mr. Gray, instructing the finance committee to report back the free sugar bill with an amendment to strike out the one-eighth differential on refined sugar, was laid before the senate. Mr. Manderson offered an amendment instructing the committee to report an amendment providing for the sugar bounty of the existing law. Mr. Gray demanded a division on the question. Some debate occurred on the parliamentary situation. Vice President Stevenson held that the vote should be first taken on Mr. Manderson's amendment. Great interest was manifested in the result of the roll call. The two Louisiana senators, and the three Populists voted in favor of the Manderson amendment. The amendment was carried, 21 to 20, as follows:

Ayes—Aldrich, Allison, Blanchard, Caffery, Carey, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dolph, Gallinger, Jones (Nev.), Kyle, Manderson, Mitchell (Or.), Patton, Peffer, Pettigrew, Platt, Quay, Shoup, Stewart—21.

Noes—Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Cockrell, Coke, Faulkner, George, Gorman, Gray, Harris, Hunton, Jarvis, Lindsay, Murphy, Pugh, Ransom, Turpie, Vest, Vilas, White—20.

The point of no quorum was raised and the resolution went over.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

An Arkansas Town Gets a Bad Shake-Up.

Fort Smith, Ark., Aug. 20. — Last night four powder houses of the Speer Hardware company, located two miles from here, exploded. The powder houses are total wrecks. A small cabin near by, the home of Mrs. Cook, was blown to splinters. Mrs. Cook, her daughter and an infant were hurled into eternity. Mrs. Cook was cut nearly in two. The powder houses contained 1,200 pounds of dynamite and 300 kegs of powder. The shock was felt twenty miles away. In Fort Smith thousands of dollars' worth of property was destroyed. The tall buildings swayed to and fro, and the crash of falling and crackling glass was like a discharge of artillery. A number of buildings were severely damaged, while along Sixth street and Garrison avenue is a story of wrecks. No explanation has been found for the explosion. It could not have been an accident, and many rumors are flying about. One is to the effect that a remnant of the Dalton gang is about to rob the bank here.

Robbed of His Team.

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 20.—Andrew Brured, a farmer of Chimney Rock, Trempealeau county, was driving through the township of Pleasant Valley, Eau Claire county, Thursday night with a wagon and double team, when two men jumped into his wagon, threw him out and drove off. He is laid up by the injuries he received. A warrant was issued to-day for the men, who are described in the complaint as John Jones and Frank Dunn, but their real names are unknown. Brured being unable to leave his bed, the complaint was made by a neighbor.

A Firemen Avoids Punishment.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—Rather than be punished for reckless driving Fireman John G. Peck, forty-four years old, of Engine Company 39, Roxborough, committed suicide to-day by turning out the gas in the room he occupied at the fire station. Not knowing that his father was dead, six-year-old Johnnie Peck crept into the bed where his father lay and went to sleep. Peck has served in the fire department for a number of years.

Via the Morphine Route.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—H. B. Hess, a prominent attorney of Indianapolis, was found dead in his room to-day, having taken an overdose of morphine. Hess' suicide is supposed to have resulted from despondency, as a picture of his dead wife and a little shoe of his recently buried child were found on his pillow. His wife was a daughter of Gen. J. H. Brooke, United States army. During President Harrison's administration Mr. Hess was an assistant in the office of Attorney General Miller.

Will Take a Vacation.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 20.—The Fall River weavers voted, 789 to 184, not to strike. The sentiment was that it was better to take a vacation until the market should rise and the large amount of cloth on hand could be disposed of.

Choate Would Accept.

New York, Aug. 20.—An editorial in the Commercial Advertiser says that should Joseph H. Choate be nominated for governor by the Republican state convention, he will accept.

RAILROADERS MEET.

OLD BROTHERHOODS LOOKING AFTER THEIR INERTES.

They Agree to Endeavor to Secure the Reinstatement of Members Who Joined the A. R. U., Whom the Brotherhoods Will Help Get Places

Chicago, Aug. 20.—A conference was held here to-day by representatives of the railway brotherhoods for the discussion of matters affecting the old organizations as a result of the work of the American Railway union during the recent strike. Among those present were Grand Chief F. P. Sargent and F. W. Arnold, of the Locomotive Firemen; Grand Chief S. C. Wilkinson, Messrs. Morrissey and Tafrel, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, and M. V. Powell, grand chief of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. An agreement was reached to endeavor to secure the reinstatement of the members of the order who joined the A. R. U. and having since repented of their course, are applying for membership in their old lodges. Mr. Wilkinson said after the conference that many of the men were out of positions through the strike and had applied for reinstatement to the brotherhoods, confessing that they had been swept away by the excitement attending the strike and the profuse promises of the leaders of the A. R. U. They now had no jobs and the A. R. U. was in no financial position to give them support.

"The trainmen lost several lodges by defection to the A. R. U.," he said, "and applications are being made for a renewal of the charters of all of them. We agreed to take the men back, and will do all in our power to have the railroads lift the boycott against them, for we are assured that the men will not again desert their lodges under similar circumstances."

"The Order of Railway Telegraphers," said Mr. Powell, "was unfortunate in the defection of a few of its members. We lost but two lodges, one at Helena and the other at Ripon."

The officials of the orders left Chicago to effect the reorganization of the lodges and will make personal appeals to the various roads to reinstate their men. As the brotherhoods stood firm against the strike the officials believe they will get the repentant members back to their places.

WITHOUT CLEVELAND'S NAME

River and Harbor Appropriation Bill Becomes a Law.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The river and harbor bill, carrying $11,479,180, became a law at midnight Saturday night without President Cleveland's signature, the legal limit of ten days having expired within which he could sign or veto it. It is the third time during Mr. Cleveland's two terms that a river and harbor bill became a law without his approval, the only other bills of this kind submitted to him having been vetoed. Fears were expressed up to a late hour that the present bill would be vetoed. Aside from the amount carried by the bill, the sundry civil bill also carries $8,400,000 for river and harbor contracts, making a total for this class of work of $19,878,180. This is about $2,000,000 less than the amount given for river and harbor work at the first session of last congress. An important feature of the new bill is that it authorizes no new contracts.

Famous Outlaw Killed.

Mexico City, Aug. 20.—The killing of the famous border bandit, Luna, and his wife by a troop of soldiers, forty miles from this place, has caused great rejoicing in Tamalejis. The soldiers came unexpectedly on the notorious couple, who immediately took refuge behind some rocks and opened fire. The soldiers returned it and killed them both. Luna's wife, as usual, fought by her husband's side, and only ceased shooting when killed. They have committed hundreds of robberies, and six assassinations. The dead desperado was once imprisoned for two years in the Texas penitentiary, but, making his escape, has been a terror for several years along the Rio Grande.

Five People Drowned.

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 20.—Advices from the Yukon river district up to July 1 state that Capt. Lyon, who was going down the Yukon river to take command of the steamer P. B. Weare, and four others, were capsized and drowned at Five Finger rapids. Sixty pounds of mail was also lost. The steamer Arctic, which was used as a freight tender on the upper Yukon, was caught in a gale sixty miles from St. Michael's island and badly damaged. The vessel was compelled to return for repairs, and there is no other available vessel to take supplies to miners in the Yukon river. There are 1,100 miners, and if freight is not sent at once it is feared that much suffering will ensue.

Bank to Reopen.

Wichita, Kan., Aug. 20. — Arrangements have been completed with the depositors and creditors of the recently closed Wichita bank whereby the bank will reopen its doors for business Sept. 12. The controller, it is said, has been fully satisfied of the solvency of the institution.

Vessel and Cargo Destroyed.

New York, Aug. 20.—Fire to-day destroyed the American ship Gen. Knox, lying at pier 19, East river. The Knox was loading with kerosene, rosin, creosote and turpentine for Sutton & Beebe of San Francisco. The loss to her owners and agents on hull and cargo is expected to reach $200,000.

Sent Back to Germany.

New York, Aug. 20.—Sali Eichel, the alleged forger who was arrested at quarantine last Saturday on the La Champagne, was put on board the Kaiser Wilhelm II. to-day to be returned to Germany. He is accused of having forged drafts amounting to $30,000.

Trying to Restore Peace.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—It is stated here that Russia and other powers continue to endeavor to restore peace between China and Japan.

OUR OLD FRIEND ENOCH.

Brought to Mind by the Adventures of a Massachusetts Man.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—F. B. Bertram of Salem, Mass., who in 1884 left a package of letters with D. H. Lindeman, proprietor of a hotel in this city, passed through Philadelphia today en route to his home in Massachusetts. Bertram, who has been mourned as dead, tells a remarkable story of his adventures on the sea during his absence. After traveling for a time between Boston and Philadelphia, he, in 1887, sailed for the South Sea islands on the bark Glide. The Glide was caught in a cyclone off Tamatave, but all hands were rescued. Bertram then shipped aboard the Elexa, a British bark, which was wrecked in December, 1888, and all the crew except Bertram perished. He was washed ashore on one of the Solomon islands, where he was cared for by the natives until May last, when he was taken to Melbourne on a Danish brig. He sailed for San Francisco, reaching there last Tuesday. In the package of letters left with Lindeman were two $20 notes. Bertram's wife had given him up for lost.

LOOKED LIKE CHOLERA.

West Superior Man Stricken With All the Symptoms.

West Superior, Wis., Aug. 20.—There was a case in this city the other day which had all of the symptoms of Asiatic cholera. The victim of the disease was Frank Vareet, and he is foreign born. After returning home the other evening he was immediately attacked with cramps and turned black all over. His pulse went down to only forty pulsations per minute and it was thought that he could not live till the doctor arrived. Dr. Beebe was sent for and he also thought that he could not live. He thought that it looked like cholera and treated it accordingly. Strange to say, in the morning he was apparently as well as ever, and has not been troubled since. He says that the symptoms are the same as those in the old country during a scourge of cholera.

FIVE MEN DROWNED

By the Capsizing of a Boat—Lieut. Crosby, of the Navy, One of Them.

Oeosta, Wash., Aug. 20.—On Saturday morning while making a landing through the surf at Jo Creek, fifteen miles north of Gray's Harbor, a whale boat and crew of nine men in command of Lieut. Freeman H. Crosby, U. S. N., of the United States coast survey steamer McArthur, was capsized and five men are missing, namely: Lieut. Crosby, John Freyer, Jens Gudmundse, William Nehma and Alexander Smith. At present full particulars cannot be ascertained owing to the difficulty of getting news from that locality.

Satolli's Authority.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Mgr. Satolli, the papal delegate, has decided to maintain silence as to the latest statement regarding him that the pope will soon make the delegate's authority absolute and sovereign and answerable only to the pope. Mgr. Satolli has given instructions to those at his residence not to admit reporters or to permit their cards to be taken to him or Dr. Papi, his private secretary. This action taken in connection with his rule to allow no person's card to be taken to him at his residence on noon of any day, makes it almost impossible to gain any authentic information concerning the action of the ablegate.

Maj. Worth Is Not Guilty.

Omaha, Aug. 20. — Maj. William Worth, Second infantry, who was ordered court martialed by President Cleveland for ordering Private Cedarquist to participate in target practice on Sunday, was acquitted and released from custoday Saturday. The finding of the court was that the orders of Worth were warranted by the exigencies of the occasion, and that the proclamation of President Lincoln was not in force at present, not being part of the army regulations.

Ticket Stealing Conductors.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 20. — New York, New Haven & Hartford officials are said to have unearthed a conspiracy of conductors to steal tickets and sell them to scalpers. It is stated that about $5,000 worth of tickets have been stolen. Two conductors are under arrest, both of whom have been more than twenty-five years in the company's service.

Fell From a Balloon.

Fairmont, Minn., Aug. 20—Lee Palmer, county surveyor of Jackson, met a terrible death at Sherburn, Martin county, yesterday by hanging to the guy rope of an ascending balloon. He held on until carried 600 feet high, when he fell a corpse. Why he held to the rope is a mystery. Thousands witnessed the blood-curdling spectacle

Starving at Pullman.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20.—Gov. Altgeld to-day received a letter from a committee of Pullman citizens asking assistance in feeding 1,600 families unable to get work there. The company is alleged to be importing men from all over the country and turning many old hands out on the street. The governor left for Chicago and will personally investigate the situation at Pullman.

Lansing Mich., Aug. 20.—Officers left for Sweden to-day to bring back ex-Deputy Secretary of State Lindholm, who is charged with embezzling $2,000 of the state's money.

Two Big Blazes.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—Elevator No. 20, of the Northern Elevator company, was totally destroyed by fire just before midnight. It contained 40,000 bushels of oats owned by a Winnipeg syndicate. The loss will be about $40,000. Early in the morning Kelly & Co.'s large flouring mills at Brandon were also burned. Loss, $55,000.

Servian Cabinet Resigns.

Berlin, Aug. 20.—The Frankfurter Zeitung says that the whole of the Servian cabinet has resigned.

EDDY FOR CONGRESS.

Choice of the Republicans of the Seventh District.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Special, Aug. 14.—After one of the most hotly contested but good-natured fights ever witnessed in this district, Hon. Frank M. Eddy of Glenwood, Pope county, was to-night nominated for congress on the eleventh ballot.

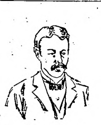
The Story of the Convention is one of harmony. Early this morning the various candidates appointed a committee on organization and after a brief conference unanimously decided upon Hon. John P. Williams of Fergus Falls, ex-railroad commissioner, as chairman, and W. J. Pinney and D. M. Brown as secretaries. The rules of the convention provided that each county select its own committee on platform, and the following composed the committee: Becker county, J. H. Sutherland; Big Stone, A. P. Jackson; Clay, L. Osborne; Douglas, C. J. Gunderson; Grant, Ole O. Canestrop; Kandiyohi, S. M. Sivertson; Kittson, W. H. Douglas; Marshall, H. W. Brown; Norman, H. A. Sorley; Otter Tail, C. D. Wright; Polk, A. A. Miller; Pope, W. A. Wallin; Stevens, George E. Darling; Swift, S. H. Hudson; Traverse, G. E. Jackson; Wilkin, E. Ballentine. It organized by electing C. J. Gunderson of Douglass chairman.

The only incident of interest in the session was when Mr. Ballentine offered a free silver plank. Out of courtesy C. D. Wright seconded it, but Mr. Ballentine was the only man voting for it, and this ended the efforts of the silver men.



Frank M. Eddy.

Voiced by Platform.

"The Republican convention of the Seventh congressional district congratulates its constituents upon the improved outlook for party success in the district and in the state at the coming election, a condition resulting from the wisdom and faithfulness of the Republicans in congress and contributed to in no small degree by the lack of these cardinal virtues on the part of the Democracy. We believe that the present unhappy industrial condition of the country is in great part due to the threat and purpose of the Democratic party to destroy the American system of protection, and we hereby reaffirm and favor the principles of a protective tariff as expressed in the last Republican state platform.

"Resolved, That we firmly believe that the interests of the country, its farmers and workingmen, alike demand that every dollar, whether of paper or coin, issued by the government, shall be as good as any other dollar.

"Resolved, That we are in favor of the largest possible use of silver as money that is consistent with the permanent maintenance of equal values of all dollars in circulation. We do not want monometallism either of gold or silver, and we pledge ourselves to continue the work of bimetallism, to be brought about by all fit means within the power of the government.

"Recognizing that the employment of both capital and labor is necessary for the peace and prosperity of our people, we hereby reaffirm the principle relating to the labor question as sent forth in the fifth paragraph of the last Republican platform.

"Resolved, That we reaffirm the declaration of the principles in the last Republican state platform upon the question of arbitration as the same is contained in the tenth paragraph thereof.

"Resolved, That we are in favor of the establishment by the general government as a department of the postal service of a system of postal savings banks similar to that in use in Norway and other countries of Europe.

"Resolved, That we commend the able, wise and patriotic administration of Gov. Nelson, and recognize in him a safe and faithful executive, wholly worthy of our continued confidence and support."

Presenting Candidates.

The platform disposed of, the roll of counties was called for nominations. Becker, Big Stone, Clay, Douglas and Grant were passed without a nomination. The fact that the names of Gunderson and Comstock were not presented narrowed down the fight. Kandiyohi offered the name of Mr. Feig in a strong speech by Mr. Porter, claiming that Feig was entitled to it for his run in 1892. C. C. Houpt presented the name of Hon. A. T. Lund of Otter Tail. A. A. Miller of Polk nominated Mr. Steenerson and the nomination was seconded by Judge Grindelund of Marshall. Mr. Eddy was nominated in a model speech by Mr. Reives of Glenwood. Mr. Crossfield was presented by Hon. E. T. Young of Swift in a speech which electrified the convention. The vote was taken by the announcement of chairman of the delegation.

On the decisive ballot Eddy received from Becker 9, Clay 11, Douglas 16, Grant 5, Otter Tail 21, Pope 14, Stevens 4, Swift 10 and Wilkin 7. Steenerson got his vote as follows: Becker, 2; Clay, 2; Grant, 1; Kittson, 6; Marshall, 8; Norman, 11; Otter Tail, 1; Polk, 16; Stevens, 5; total, 52. The chairman was authorized to appoint a district committee of sixteen, and the convention adjourned.

SHRINE OF ST. ANTHONY.

The Scene of the Celebration of the Seventh Centenary of the Birth of the Franciscan Order.

Butler, N. J., Aug. 15.—The Shrine of St. Anthony in this city will be the scene this evening of the opening ceremonies of the celebration of the seventh century of the birth of the Franciscan order. The jubilee will begin with pontifical vespers at 8 o'clock under the direction of Mgr. Satolli, the papal legate, who will also officiate at the formal ceremonies arranged for tomorrow. After vespers all the church bells will be pealed and seven cannon will be fired. Seven hundred lights on the church tower will illuminate the neighborhood. An immense bonfire is to be lighted near the church and this will enable the edifice to be seen from the tops of the mountains ten miles distant.

Eddy for Congress.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 15.—At the Republican congressional convention of the Seventh district, held here yesterday, Frank M. Eddy was nominated on the eleventh ballot. Feig, Steenerson and all the other disappointed candidates made speeches pledging hearty support to Eddy.

Yield of Wheat.

Lac qui Parle, Minn., Aug. 15.—So far the wheat yields show from eight to fifteen bushels per acre. Corn prospects improved by late showers.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manurs on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

J. L, Johnson is doing business at Crookston this week.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S, M. Dainard's.

Frank Creamer, of Crookston, was in town on business today,

A Chelin has been building an addition to his dwelling.

E. M. Hoff drove down to Red Lake Falls yesterday on business.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton. Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

C. G. Rapp made a business trip to Thief River Falls last Monday.

James Meehan, of Thief River Falls, was doing business here yesterday.

George Ossman the genial hide and fur man, was doing business here today.

Attorney Broughton, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on business yesterday.

Patrick Meehan, of Thief River Falls, was a visitor in town the first of the week.

Deputy Collector McManus, of Crookston, was doing business in town today,

A little new wheat is being marketed Very little if any wheat this year will grade less than no. 1 northern.

Deputy Game Warden Gravel was in town today, but prairie chickens and hunters seemed to be scarce.

The weather has been perfect the past week for stacking and threshing and the work is progressing rapidly,

P. E, Pirath and family, of Red Lake Falls, was in town a couple of days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs O, H. Peters

W. A. Sorsoleil was around last Saturday with a large sized smile and the cigars remarking that "it was a girl"

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall's Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.
W. A, Sorsoleil, agent.

That there are two kinds of law in this country—one for the rich and one for the poor—there is no mistake and it is usually the poor man who gets the heavy sentence. In Washington a man stole $40,000, and got four years and is out on bond. A poor man in Chicago recently stole 40 cents and got ten years. There may be justice in these two cases but we fail to see it.—Ex.

The United States is practically no nearer free trade under Mr. Cleveland than under Mr. Harrison. The only difference is that the duties have been reshuffled. The democrats have copied the republican method of obtaining support and any interest strong enough to make itself unplesant has obtained the protection it needed. This is the end of the free trader's dream.—London Evening News.

L. D. Marshall, auditor of the St, Anthony & Dakota Elevator Company, was in town today. This company has recently purchased the Red River Valley elevator here and they will go to work at once to make needed repairs. Mr. Marshall while here hired Andrew Berg to run the house the coming year Andrew is an experianced man and will undountedly prove satisfactory to both the company and the farmers.

A. R. Holston seems to be rather free about asking people to declare their political principle, so we would like to ask Mr. Holston if he is still a Populist? In view of the fact that rumors are thick that he spent over a week lately traveling over the country offering ten dollars apiece for delegates to come to the late republican county convention in the interest of a certain candidate for congress, we think that Mr. Holston as a people's party office holder should attend to this matter and let the people know where he stands.

If any of our readers ever have occasion to travel from Minneapolis or St. Paul to Chicago or any other point where you can take the Northwestern line, do so and you will not regret it, They have an excellent roadbed and traveling is a pleasure in their luxurious cars manned by obliging and courteous attendants. We know of no railroad in the west which runs such finely furnished cars and take such pains to make their passengers comfortable as does the Northwestern. Their motto "Always on Time" is not a fiction but a reality and the road fully deserves the liberal patronage which they now enjoy.

Minneapolis Penny Press: The policy of the Soo road towards its employees, particularly those in the lower walks of life, is severe. The system adopted by General Manager Underwood is despotic. There have been mutterings loud and long on the part of the employees regarding the so-called "ironclad" agreement of the road, and it is just now playing a prominent part among the men seeking work. No man is allowed to work under the Soo road unless he pledges himself to give up his freedom and absolutely deny himself the privilege of union with his fellow men.

The republican papers of this state are in a pickle for fear the democrats will endorse Owen, the populist candidate for governor. We don't think the party will do anything of the kind, and we don't think Owen wants them to do it. It would be a bad party move, and work little good to Mr. Owen. Still, when election day comes, the patriotic citizen will be called upon to consider how he can best advance the cause of state reform. If he should judge that Owen has the best chance of winning against the republican candidate and that by voting for him the republican state house ring that has flourished and fattened off the steals of office for the past thirty-five years, and which he has steadily and consistantly voted against and opposed all this time, will be turned out, and the augean stables of the state house cleaned, who will blame him if he quietly gives Mr. Owen his vote? Not we.—Litchfield Independent.

A Sunday Chase.

Word was received here Saturday night that a tramp was going from house to house across the river asking questions and begging meals and that he wore a pair of pants similar to those stolen from Dan Patterson about three weeks ago. Constable Brink and Chas. Fellman started out to look for him Sunday and soon found track of him. They followed him until very close to Terrebonne where they suceeded in arresting him with the aid of a couple of farmers. He proved to be the man wanted as he had on Mr. Patterson's pants, drawers and suspenders besides in his pockets was found the pocketbook containing $73.80, within a few dollars of the amount stolen, He was taken before Justice Hall Monday morning and bound over to the district court. Constable Brink left Monday afternoon with the prisoner and he is now safe in the county jail at Crookston. The thief gave his name as John Stack and he is by long odds the toughest character ever seen in this part of the country. He is evidently an old hand at the business and made several ineffectual attempts to escape. The capture was a lucky one and the country is well rid of a bad case,

County Attorney Holston makes a vicious attack on the character of the people,s party nominee for county commissioner, Henry Norland, in last week's Tribune. Holston's diseased brain imagines all kinds of things lately and he now accuses Mr. Norland of being pledged to vote to give the SPECTATOR and the Crookston Times the county printing if elected and also that he will vote with Commissioners Rhinehart and Kirsch regardless of principles. We wish to inform Mr. Holston that Henry Norland is an honest, upright gentleman and his friends and neighbors believe that he will prove an honest county official if elected. The following affidavit and statement from him will be of interest:

Henry Norland being duly sworn deposes and says that he is the people's party nominee for county commissioner of the 4th district Polk county. That up to August 20th 1894 he has not made any pledges of any kind to any person or persons in regard to the county printing or any other measure. That if elected he will vote to best serve the interest of his district and Polk county.

Henry Norland.

Subscribed and sworn to before me a notary public this 20th day of August 1894.

O. F. Post
Notary Public
[Seal] Polk Co. Minn.

Editor Spectator;

In regard to the three questions Editor Holston asks me in the Crookston Tribune I wish to make the following answers which I wish you would publish in the Spectator.

1st, I am most emphatically a populist and have been since the party started.

2nd, I will vote as my conscience dictates for the best interest of my district and county regardless of men.

3rd, I am not pledged in the county printing matter and if elected will vote to best serve the interest of Polk county.

As to the charge of me being in the so-called Rhinehart—Kirsch combine I will state that I am not acquainted with Mr. Kirsch and Mr. Rhinehart I have not seen in three years and have nothing to do with either party. Have never made any combination with them and do not intend to do so.

Henry Norland.

Washington D. C., Aug 12.—Attorney J. A. Kellogg, of Minneapolis, about a week ago secured the passage of a bill through congress authorizing the secretary of the interior to approve the lease made by an old chippewa chief, Mon-Si-Moh, to a mill-site at Thief River Falls. The lease was made to Ray W. Jones, one of the young lumbermen of Minneapolis. The land is in Congressman Boen's district, but the bill was introduced and passed through the house by Congressman Hopkins of Illinois. This made Boen mad and he went to the Indian office and asked that the whole matter be held up. Boen says he has learned that Mon-Si-Moh was drunk at the time the lease was signed, and further that the notary public who appears on the lease is a saloon keeper who furnished the Indian with drink before he signed the lease. Boen has made formal protest, and as the matter of approving the lease is discretionary with the secretary of the interior it may be held up for investigation.—Representative.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse. W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the village council held at the village hall on Monday August 9th 1894.

On petition it was resolved to build a side walk on the east side of block thirty-seven (37) village of St. Hilaire as follows to wit:

Commencing at the north east corner of lot twelve (12) of said block thence south along Broadway to the south east corner of lot one (1) of said block,

Said sidewalk to be five feet wide and to be built out of two inch pine plank with three (3) stringers under the same

Said sidewalk must be built within thirty (30) days after this notice, if not it will be advertised and let to the lowest bidder and charged to the lot or lots fronting or abutting said sidewalk.

The number of running feet of sidewalk to be built by owners in said block are as follows to wit:

Leonard Holmes, lot 1 and 2,	50 feet.
Unknown, lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7	125 feet.
E. M, Hoff, lot 8,	25 feet.
St. Hilaire Townsite Co., lot 9,	25 feet.
A. L. Patterson, lot 10,	25 feet.
A. J. Miller, lots 11 and 12,	50 feet.

Dated at St. Hilaire Minn., this 15th day of August 1894.

C. G. Rapp, Village President.
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder.

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school

The Normal department embraces:

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades,

[c] A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

[d] A kindergarten training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents, first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies, Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 31st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 bu the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to.

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 pm "	Minneapolis	9 55 am
1 25 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St, Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U, S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 41.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson Paul Avels or A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

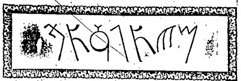
Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
E. J. HOLMES.

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

Supplement.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

The board of county commissioners of Polk county assembled in the auditor's office on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1894, and together with the deputy county auditor entered upon their duties as a board of equalization, after having first subscribed to an oath as required by statute.

On motion Mr. Kirsch was chosen chairman and M Cornelius secretary of said board.

The assessment for horses to Charles Teal in Keystone township was ordered stricken from the assessment book as the same property was found assessed in Euclid township.

The assessment of a mortgage to Tobias Movold in Eden township was ordered cancelled.

The assessment of 300 dollars for a stallion to Johnsrud & Son in Godfrey township was reduced to 150 dollars, the difference having been assessed to A. O. Johnsrud in Woodside township.

The flour mills were equalized as follows:

Marshall & Johnson's mill at Red Lake Falls, 9,000 dollars; the Holmes mill at Red Lake Falls, 9,000 dollars; Kretzschmar mill at Thief River Falls, 4,000 dollars; Fisher mill of village of Fisher, 7,000 dollars; Fertile mill at Fertile, (old and new) 6,000 dollars; McIntosh mill (Jensen's) 3,500 dollars; Fosston mill (S. Stadsvold) 3,000 dollars; Terrebonne mill (Kankel's) 2,500 dollars.

The assessment of goods and merchandise to Ovide Moreau, Terrebonne, was reduced 450 dollars and the assessments of 3 0 dollars for credits was ordered cancelled.

The assessment of goods and merchandise in Huntsville township was raised as follows: S. S. Davidson's to 500 dollars and O. Osmundson's to 600 dollars.

Two horses assessed to Isaac Marchildon in village of Red Lake Falls was reduced to 100 dollars.

The return of assessment for bank stock to First National banks of East Grand Forks and Red Lake Falls was equalized on the same basis as other banks.

The following items were equalized as follows:

Horses one year old to average 12 dollars; horses two years old to average 20 dollars; horses three years old to average 40 dollars; cattle one year old to average 3 dollars; cattle two years old to average 5 dollars; cows to average 8 dollars; working oxen to average 15 dollars; all other cattle 3 years old and over 12 dollars; sheep, 1 dollar; hogs, 2 dollars; wagons and carriages, 10 dollars; sewing and knitting machines, 5 dollars; melodians and organs, 20 dollars; pianos from 75 to 100 dollars.

The following grain elevators were equalized as follows:

Angus township, Minnesota & Dacota elevator at 1,500 dollars; Fairfax township, Monarch Elevator Co. at 1,500 dollars; Fairfax township, Minneapolis & Northern at 1,800 dollars; Fairfax township, Red River Valley Elevator at 2.000 dollars; Fisher village. Thompson & Johnson's at 2,500 dollars; Fertile, Farmers Mutual at 2,000 dollars, Hoskins Elevator Co. at 1,200 dollars, Monarch Elevator Co. at 1,500 dollars, Thorpe Elevator Co. at 1,200 dollars; city of East Grand Forks, Minneapolis & Northern at 1,800 dollars, Minneapolis & Northern at 3,000 dollars; Grove Park, M. J. Forbes elevator at 1,800 dollars, Minneapolis and Northern at 1,800 dollars; Huntsville, Monarch elevator at. 1,800 dollars, Minneapolis & Northern at 1,800 dollars, Red River Valley at 1,800 dollars; McIntosh, Minneapolis & Northern at 1,800 dollars; Nesbitt, E. R. Jacobi & Co. at 1,500 dollars, Monarch at 1,800 dollars; Polk Centre, Red River Valley at 700 dollars; village of Red Lake Falls, Farmers Mutual at 1,500 dollars, Monarch elevator at 2,000 dollars, H. J. Hoskins at 2,000 dollars; Johnson & Marshall at 2,000 dollars; Reis, M. J. Forbes at 2,500 dollars, Thorpe & Co. at 1,300 dollars; St. Hilaire, E. J. Holmes at 1,000 dollars, Red River Valley at 1,000 dollars, Johnson & Marshall at 600 dollars; Tilden, Minneapolis & Northern at 800 dollars, North Dakota at 400 dollars; Russia, Red River Valley at 800 dollars.

The farming and acre land in the village of Red Lake Falls was reduced 35 per cent.

Lots 7 to 11, inclusive, in block 44, Kretaschmar's addition, were equalized at 50 dollars each, and lot 12, block 44 at 65 dollars.

The acre land on lot 4, section 30, township 150, range 46, was equalized at 200 dollars.

Mark Rauenbuehler's personal assessment of stock and merchandise was reduced 100 dollars.

An item of wheat assessed to the Minneapolis & Northern Elevator Co. and M. J. Forbes, in Grove Park, was ordered cancelled.

The assessment of goods and merchandise to G. C. Winchester, in Angus township, was reduced to 1,500 dollars.

Fontaine & Anglim's assessment for goods and merchandise in the city of Crookston was equalized at 21,000 dollars.

The application of John Walter for a lowering of the assessment of certain lots in Red Lake Falls was considered, but no change was deemed advisable as the lots in question were found to be assessed on an equal basis with others.

The assessment of Chester Tacto in Grove Park was reduced to 25 dollars, being the assessment of 40 cords of wood at 50 cents.

The assessment of bank stock of Bank of Fosston was reduced 864 dollars on claims of erroneous listing.

The assessment of Citizens bank of McIntosh for credits was equalized at 4,000 dollars.

The capital stock of Polk county bank of Thief River Falls was equalized at 3,500 dollars.

Goods add merchandise in the following towns was equalized as follows:

Thief River Falls was raised 50 per cent.; St. Hilaire was raised 100 per cent.; village of Red Lake Falls was raised 20 per cent.; Reis township 20 per cent.; Northland, 20 per cent.; Tilden, 50 per cent.; McIntosh, 30 per cent.; Knute, 20 per cent.; Grove Park, 20 per cent.; Garden, 75 per cent.; Godfrey, 100 per cent.; Hubbard, reduced 30 per cent.

The Fred Miller Brewing company, of East Grand Forks, was raised 700 dollars.

The Milwaukee Brewing company. East Grand Forks, raised 700 dollars, and P. F. Bushee. East Grand Forks, raised 350 dollars.

Household goods was equalized in the following towns, to-wit: Black River raised 50 per cent.; Belgium raised 50 per cent.; Breslet raised 50 per cent.; Bygland raised 25 per cent.; Emardville raised 100 per cent.; Fisher raised 25 per cent.; village of Fisher raised 75 per cent.; Fosston raised 25 per cent.; Grand Forks raised 25 per cent.; Gentilly raised 50 per cent.; Gervais raised 50 per cent.; Godfrey raised 50 per cent.; Higdem raised 25 per cent.; Huntsville raised 200 per cent.; Keystone raised 25 per cent.; Kertsonville raised 50 per cent.; King raised 40 per cent.; Lake Pleasant raised 50 per cent.; Lambert raised 50 per cent.; Liberty raised 50 per cent.; Nesbitt raised 25 per cent.; Numedal raised 100 per cent.; Onstad raised 50 per cent.; Parnell raised 100 per cent.; Poplar River raised 100 per cent.; Polk Centre raised 25 per cent.; Red Lake Falls raised 100 per cent.; Red Lake Falls raised 100 per cent.; Reis raised 50 per cent.; River Falls raised 100 per cent.; Roome raised 50 per cent.; Sanders raised 25 per cent.; Sandsville raised 50 per cent.; St. Hilaire raised 50 per cent.; Sletten raised 25 per cent.; Sullivan raised 25 per cent.; Terrebonne raised 50 per cent.; Tilden raised 50 per cent.; Vineland raised 50 per cent.; Wyandotte raised 100 per cent.

Agricultural tools, implements and machinery was equalized as follows:

Angus raised 25 per cent.; Black River raised 50 per cent.; Brandsvold raised 25 per cent.; Belgium raised 50 per cent.; Crookston lowered 40 per cent.; Fairfax raised 10 per cent.; Garfield raised 50 per cent.; Garden raised 150 per cent.; Gentilly raised 25 per cent.; Gervais raised 50 per cent.; Hill River raised 25 per cent.; Huntsville raised 25 per cent.; Hubbard raised 50 per cent.; Kertsonville raised 100 per cent.; King raised 30 per cent.; Liberty raised 25 per cent.; North raised 100 per cent.; Numedal raised 100 per cent.; Poplar River raised 50 per cent.; River Falls raised 100 per cent.; Rosebud raised 30 per cent.; Sandsville raised 25 per cent.; Terrebonne raised 100 per cent.; Tilden raised 50 per cent.; Winger raised 75 per cent.; Woodside raised 25 per cent.; Wyandotte raised 100 per cent.

The west half of Fanny was raised 15 per cent. and the east half was lowered 20 per cent. in valuation of lands.

The e½se¼ section 1, tp 151, range 50, was equalized at 8 dollars per acre, and W. C. Nash's lands in section 1, tp 151, range 50, was equalized at 10 dollars per acre.

The assessment of lots 4 to 9 and 39 to 42, block 14, Jerome's addition, was equalized at 710 dollars.

The s½ of section 34, tp 150, range 46, was equalized at 3 dollars per acre.

The Red River Lumber company's assessment of manufactured articles in the city of Crookston was raised 20,000 dollars.

Lands in the different townships as hereinafter named were equalized as follows:

Angus lowered 5 per cent.; Badger raised 10 per cent.; Brandsvold raised 10 per cent.; Belgium raised 25 per cent.; Bygland raised 5 per cent.; Columbia raised 20 per cent.; Farley raised 10 per cent.; Fisher raised 10 per cent.; village of Fisher raised 50 per cent.; Fosston village lowered 40 per cent.; Garfield raised 20 per cent.; Garden raised 20 per cent.; Gentilly raised 20 per cent.; Gervais raised 20 per cent.; Grove Park lowered 5 per cent.; Hammond raised 15 per cent.; Higdem raised 15 per cent.; Hill River lowered 5 per cent.; Hubbard raised 10 per cent.; Keystone raised 20 per cent.; King arised 50 per cent.; Knute raised 20 per cent.; Lake Pleasant raised 20 per cent.; Lowell lowered 10 per cent.; Louisville raised 10 per cent.; McIntosh village raised 40 per cent.; Nesbit lowered 10 per cent.; Norden raised 15 per cent.; Numedal raised 10 per cent.; Parnell raised 30 per cent.; Poplar River raised 50 per cent.; Polk Centre raised 10 per cent.; Red Lake Falls raised 5 per cent.; Reis raised 20 per cent.; Roome raised 10 per cent.; Rosebud raised 35 per cent.; Rhinehart lowered 30 per cent.; Sanders raised 20 per cent.; Sandsville raised 10 per cent.; St. Hilaire raised 10 per cent.; Sletten raised 25 per cent.; Terrebonne raised 5 per cent.; Tilden lowered 25 per cent.; Tynsid lowered 5 per cent.; Vineland lowered 5 per cent.; Winger raised 10 per cent.; Woodside raised 25 per cent.; unorganized towns in 1st asst. district lowered 40 per cent.

Buildings on lands equalized as follows:

Black River raised 100 per cent.; Columbia raised 50 per cent.; Emardville raised 50 per cent.; Fairfax raised 10 per cent.; city of East Grand Forks raised 5 per cent.; Gervais raised 100 per cent.; Hammond raised 10 per cent.; Hubbard raised 50 per cent.; Kertsonville raised 50 per cont.; Red Lake Falls raised 50 per cent.

The farming lands were equalized on the following basis:

First class lands to average $4 per acre; second class lands to average $3.25 per acre; third class lands to average $2.50 per acre; fourth class lands to average $1.75 per acre.

Board adjourned on the 28th day of July, 1894.

M. CORNELIUS,
Acting Sec'y of Board of Equalization.

BLANK PAGE

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 22 1894

LIGHT IN PENNSY.

FREE SILVER IS WHAT THE KEYSTONE STATE WANTS.

The Song of the Tariff Singer No Longer Charms the Voters of Pennsylvania—An Interview Which, While Not So Intended, Favors the People's Party.

Mr. Robert B. Cramer, city editor of the Philadelphia Times, who is spending a part of his summer vacation in Atlanta, is an interesting talker on the political situation. He is a close observer, and his connection with The Times has given him an admirable opportunity to study the varying phases of the political outlook. For several years he has done much of the political work of The Times.

During the past few months the Pennsylvania papers have been full of the growth of the free silver sentiment in that state, Senator Cameron having been one of the few Republican senators who have supported free silver measures in the senate. Mr. Cramer says that after this congress disposes of the tariff question, and whatever is done with it this issue will be a back number as far as Pennsylvania is concerned, the financial question will forge immediately to the front. Of this Mr. Cramer says:

"The change of sentiment among the men throughout the north who led the fight against silver a year ago and secured the repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman act has brought a new and active element into national political affairs which is puzzling mightily the leaders of both the old parties. The approach of another presidential campaign, with the certainty that the people will not permit party platforms to either dodge or straddle the silver question, has within a very few months revolutionized the political situation in the middle and New England states.

"In Pennsylvania the tariff is a dead issue. The people are only waiting for some definite action on the bill now pending in congress, and when President Cleveland attaches his signature to the compromise measure the only regret anywhere will be that he did not do it sooner. The people will not endure another tariff agitation in congress nor soon permit of another long drawn out wrangle which places an injunction on trade and ties up every important interest pending the settlement of the tariff question by congress on a purely political basis.

"The bitter attack on silver, in which the leaders of both parties joined with the belief that it would settle financial woes, ended in the repeal of the Sherman act and gave Pennsylvania people a preliminary education in the study of the silver question. Since then they have been making up their own minds about silver and have joined with the people of other northern states in the belief that silver was not the cause of our national financial disease, but rather an effective and urgent remedy.

"The sentiment in favor of free coinage spread slowly, but it has developed a strength which neither party dare ignore. It has overshadowed the tariff question and overwhelmed the American Protective association element, which once threatened to become a vigorous political issue in at least three of the northern states. It has done more than that—it has come to the front as a platform on which the man to be nominated and elected as our next president must stand or fall. Neither he nor his party could make light of it if they tried.

"This convulsion of sentiment has left many presidential booms stranded high and dry on the rocks of dead issues. It is not possible for Governor McKinley to make a race on the tariff issue again, for the people won't have it. They may like his bill better than Professor Wilson's, but they will insist that the next few congresses at least spend their time in talking about something else, while our manufacturers find time to strike a balance sheet.

"The same is true of Tom Reed, with the additional fact that his radical antisilver views places a second obstacle in his path. That Reed is endeavoring to hedge on the silver question is common talk in Washington, but the pages of The Congressional Record tell a story too straightforward to be denied. The other prominent Republicans in the senate and the house are in the same boat, for nearly every one of them who is accredited with presidential aspirations has at one time or another deprecated the value of the white metal in our currency.

"The man who is to be nominated by the Republicans for president in 1896 must fit the platform which the sentiments of the people are now building. The Republican party is not in a position to build a platform to fit any man, no matter how much popularity he may enjoy at the present time. Their candidate must be a man whose views on the coinage question favor free coinage absolutely and unreservedly, and whose record will be at least reasonably consistent with the declarations of his party on the subject.

"This bars out all the old timers who have waved the bloody shirt until it is threadbare, and who have talked tariff until every workingman in the country rises in protest against the very mention of the word. It bars out those who have been led by public clamor into favoring a gold currency, and it leaves in the field only the men who are pledged to bring about financial relief by the reconstruction of our financial system on a cheap money basis. Because of this condition of affairs politically the names of McKinley, Reed, Harrison, Tracy, Allison and Sherman are being shoved to the background, while Cameron comes forward as the straight and true disciple of the new political religion."—Atlanta Constitution.

THE PEAR MIDGE.

The Damage Done by This Pest and the Best Way to Hold It In Check.

The pear midge is one of the insects which have been introduced into the United States within recent years and are causing a good deal of injury in the eastern states.

The adult insect or fly is described as much resembling a diminutive mosquito. It makes its appearance very early in the season before the pear blossoms open. The female deposits her eggs in the latter by piercing the petals or the calyx. The midge larvæ live on the substance of the pear tissue, destroying the seed and checking the growth of the fruit, which decays and drops in early summer. Our illustration shows a sound young pear and one deformed by the pear midge larvæ.

The great difficulty encountered in fighting this insect lies in the fact that there is no period at which it is within reach of ordinary insecticides. The eggs are laid in the bud before it opens, and the young larvæ get into the heart of the fruit before it is fully formed. The adult fly does not feed and is hence beyond our reach. It is only after the injury is done that the insect goes underground and within reach of destructive agencies.

As a preventive measure it is recommended that the trees be examined as soon as the pears are well set and that every infested or suspected pear be picked off and completely destroyed, while if an orchard is generally infested the following practice is recommended.

Cultivate as usual, or if the orchard is in grass or clover plow under after June 15 as soon as may be. Top dress with kainit 1,000 pounds to the acre to benefit trees as well as to kill the insects. As soon as proper, say early in August, sow crimson clover. This will use up the potash not required by the fruit trees and will store nitrogen as well as occupy the ground. Early the following spring turn this sod under as deeply as may be proper. It should be done before the pear buds are developed in order to head off and destroy any midges then in the pupa state near the surface of the soil. This practice is at the same time the best for the benefit of the orchard.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

JOHN BULL IN AFRICA.

The Crafty Old Gentleman Now Owns About 1,400,000 Square Miles.

The latest acquisition of African territory gives Great Britain an unbroken line across the length of Africa from the Mediterranean and the Nile to the extreme point of the continent. In all, this territory, held in various ways, from Cape Colony up to the "occupation" of Egypt, is in extent about 1,400,000 square miles and has a population of 80,000,000. In the Nile valley it includes incomparably the best of north Africa. In Uganda it holds the key to the lakes of central Africa, nearly as large as our own lake system. The new treaty gives it the high land west of Lake Tanganyika, considerably higher and healthier than the eastern, in German hands.

The new conquests of the British South Africa company add the great tablelands of the interior of subtropical Africa, in much of which white men live. Lastly, there is Cape Colony, the only vital European settlement in all Africa. As it stands this great highway holds two-thirds of all of Africa in which Europeans can live and carry on efficient administration. It has the most fertile tract in the continent in Egypt, its healthiest in Cape Town, its greatest gold mines and the only region from which tropical Africa can be controlled.

Still more important is its relation to African water courses. A steamer can start at Alexandria and run, when the mahdi's successor is cleared away, to a point on Albert Edward Nyanza, 125 miles from Lake Tanganyika. This runs to within 70 miles of Lake Nyassa. From this lake the Shiro river, broken at Murchison falls, descends to the Zambesi and the Indian ocean. From a navigable point on the Congo is less than 100 miles to Lake Tanganyika. The Aruwini runs as near the Nile. It is possible to start at the mouth of the Zambezi and reach the mouth of the Kongo or Nile with less than 200 miles of land travel; and the key and center to this great system is now in English hands.—Omaha Bee.

Where Milk Freezes In the Milking.

William H. Hart of 1317 Walnut street, who has traveled in nearly every country of the world, says that he nowhere experienced such extreme cold as in the interior of Labrador. To illustrate the fearful frigidity to minds accustomed to Philadelphia's mild temperature Mr. Hart says that before milking the reindeer the milkmaid places a piece of string in the pail, allowing one end to hang over the side. By the time the milking is finished, Mr. Hart avers, the lacteal fluid is frozen solid, and the maid takes hold of the string and lifting the frozen milk from the pail throws it over her shoulder and marches to her hut. Economy of pails and easy transportation result from this provision of nature.—Philadelphia Record.

How Spiders Work.

Mr. H. H. Dixon has been studying the locomotion of insects and spiders by means of instantaneous photographs. He finds that the limbs move together in diagonals. In insects the first and third legs on one side move with the second on the other, the antennæ moving with the first leg on the same side. In the case of spiders, which have eight legs, the first and third on one side move with the second and fourth on the other.—Nature.

Too Natural.

Playwright—Is her acting natural?

Manager (enthusiastically)—Natural! Why, when she appeared as the dying mother last night, an insurance agent who has her life insured for $20,000 and who was in the audience actually fainted.—Pearson's Weekly.

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which was carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."—London Truth.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of, said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean.
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U.S Land Office
Crookston Minn. July 24 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Beason for abandoning his homestead entry no. 11129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

FIRST TRANSATLANTIC STEAMER.

She Was an American Vessel Using Both Sails and Steam.

The first steamer to cross the Atlantic was an American vessel called the Savannah. She was a steamship, and used both sails and steam, and was built by Crocker & Fickett at Corlear's Hook in New York city. The present belief is that she was built by a party of capitalists who intended to sell her to some foreign monarch. She was commanded by Captain Moses Rogers and was a ship rigged vessel of nearly 400 tons. She had a horizontal engine, which was placed between her decks, and her boilers were in the lower hold.

It is generally admitted that the Savannah sailed from New York in 1819, going to Savannah, her namesake, in seven days, four of which she used steam. There she was chartered by the city corporation to go to Charleston to take President Monroe, who was then traveling through the states on a pleasure excursion. He failed to accept the invitation, and the boat returned to Savannah. After remaining at this port for some days and taking out parties of curiosity as well as pleasure seekers the Savannah sailed for Liverpool, reaching it after a voyage of 18 days, seven of which were made under steam. The arrival of the strange looking vessel, with huge clouds of smoke ascending from her decks and obscuring her rigging, caused quite a commotion when she entered St. George's channel off the city of Cork, and the commander of the British man-of-war lying in the harbor thought she was a vessel in distress and sent two cutters to board her. Everything found all right, however the Savannah was allowed to proceed on her way, and thousands of people greeted her as she steamed up the Mersey to Liverpool with the American flag flying at her head. The Savannah then made a trip to Copenhagen, Cronstadt and St. Petersburg and then returned to this country, where she was relieved of her steam apparatus and for many years ran as a packet between New York and Savannah, finally going ashore and breaking up on Long Island. The Savannah was, of course, a side wheeler, and as it was impossible to carry a sufficient supply of fuel in her to keep up steam on a long voyage the wheels were removed during good sailing weather and canvas substituted. The king of Sweden wanted to buy the boat when it was abroad, but the deal went through. Now, those are the facts about the first steamship that ever crossed the Atlantic ocean.—Washington Star.

HOW TO STUDY PROPERLY.

Books Should Be Well Chosen and Read Carefully, Not Devoured.

Study is like a dinner. The viands must be well chosen and eaten slowly not devoured, then well turned over in the mental stomach for awhile until with ease and comfort they are perfectly digested and furnish nutriment to the brain. Most students study without thought, which is like eating without digesting. Others read merely as a fad and soon forget all they may have learned.

The most satisfactory method of study is the digestive. It is the thorough one—the one that gives strength to the brain. Take the subject you are studying. Read a few lines or a few pages, as the case may be, then put the book down and think on what you have read. Turn it about in your mind from every standpoint. Do not accept it immediately. Argue for and against it in your mind. In other words, masticate it. You need not be at your leisure to do this. Do it in your walks, in your idle moments, at any time. When you have satisfied yourself on the subject, go on with a little more in the same way. In a short time you will find yourself more a thorough student than if you had read all at a sitting. The best educated man in the end is the man who learns slowly, but surely.—New York Advertiser.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES,

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

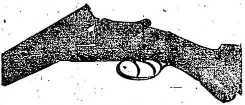
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

In Hot Weather

Something is needed to keep up the appetite, assist digestion and give good, healthful sleep. For these purposes Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted. As a blood purifier it has no equal, and it is chiefly by its power to make pure blood that it has won such fame as a cure for scrofula, salt rheum and other similar diseases.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills cure headache and indigestion.

A Happy Death.

A negro living on Onion Creek came to Austin recently, and the following conversation occurred between him and a city friend.

"How is Pete Jackson?"

"He is done dead."

"Yer don't tole me so. How did hit come about?"

"He died wid digestion ob de lungs, but surrounded wid de bes' wishes ob de hull neighborhood."

Another Sort.

Phrenologist—The bump of philoprogenitiveness is very largely developed.

Old Gruffleigh—What's that?

Phrenologist—Phi rogenitiveness? Ahem! That is love for children.

Old Gruffleigh—Is that so? Well, Mr. Bumpist, I got that swelling through a fall while chasing them pesky boys off my lawn.

Almost but Not Quite.

She—I think it is a gross libel on our sex to say that women are always thinking of dress.

He—I think so, too. There is a time when a woman puts dress almost entirely on one side.

She—When is that?

He—When she goes in bathing.

The town of Hubbard, Ohio, is running itself. Both mayor and city marshal are in jail, the former for intoxication and the latter for not obeying orders.

Karl's Clover Root Tea. The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c.,50c.,$1.

Woolen goods were first manufactured in England in the fourth century.

Harvest Excursions.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 20.—Harvest excursions at largely reduced rates for the round trip to Minnesota, Dakota and Montana points are announced by the Great Northern railway for Sept. 11 and 25 and Oct. 9.

Silk was first worn in England at a ball at Kenilworth in 1286.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Duplex telegraphy was first accomplished by Gintl in 1853.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve." Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Ecuador exports cocoa, coffee, straw hats and ivory nuts.

A New Arrangement.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 20.—The new tariff arrangement between the Great Northern and Oregon Railway and Navigation company is one of the most important of the year. It gives the Great Northern the most direct entrance of any road into Portland and to Willamette valley points. It also becomes the short line into the Palouse and Walla Walla districts of Washington, the Coeur d'Alene, Moscow and Snake river districts of Idaho.

Flax is known to have been grown by the Egyptians B. C. 2000.

Lively as a Trout

Is the individual who after a long siege finds himself liberated from the close blockade of the enemy, constipation. Many persons of a bilious habit are troubled with constriction of the bowels. They always find relief, and that speedily, without griping or trouble of any sort, from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a remedy also for malarial, dyspeptic, rheumatic or kidney affections.

Mary Stuart was one of the most fascinating widows that ever lived.

Hay Fever Sufferers

Do you know that
The Greatest Hay Fever Resort
In the West is Bayfield, Wis.,
On the Southern Shore of Lake Superior.
And that the best way to reach this resort
Is via "The North-Western Line"—
C., St. P., M. & O. R'y?
For excursion rates to Lake Superior cities
And via steamer lines for short trips
To Port Arthur and around Isle Royale
"The Gem Isle of the Great Unsalted Sea."
Apply to your local agent.

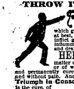
Heliogabalus was the first Roman emperor to wear a silk robe.

Money in Winter Wheat—100 Bushels.

That's the way farmers who sowed Salzer's new World's Fair wheat report. It yielded all the way from 40 to 70 bushels per acre, and a good many are so enthusiastic over this wheat that they claim 100 bushels can be grown per acre. The monster winter rye yields 70 bushels per acre, which pays tremendous profits. The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., send their fall catalogue and samples of wheat and rye for 4 cents postage. w

Frequent cutting of the hairs increases their thickness, but not their number.

THROW IT AWAY.



There's no longer any need of wearing clumsy, chafing Trusses, which give only partial relief at best, never cure, but often inflict great injury, inducing inflammation, strangulation and death.

HERNIA (Breach), or Rupture, no matter of how long standing, or of what size, is promptly and permanently cured without the knife and without pain. Another

Triumph in Conservative Surgery

is the cure, of

TUMORS, Ovarian, Fibroid and other varieties, without the perils of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula, and other diseases of the lower bowel, promptly cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, and washed out, thus avoiding cutting.

STRICTURE of urinary passage is also removed without cutting. Abundant References, and Pamphlets, on above diseases, sent sealed, in plain envelope, 10 cts. (stamps). WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

COOK BOOK

FREE!

320 PAGES—ILLUSTRATED.

One of the Largest and Best COOK BOOKS published. Mailed in exchange for 20 Large Lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp. Write for list of our other fine Premiums. WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

Caton College.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

$100 PAYS BOARD, TUITION AND Books, for 6 months, in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, and English studies.

ANCHOR GRAIN COMPANY,

DULUTH.

Personal attention given to selling

WHEAT, Barley, Flax, Oats, Etc.

PROMPT RETURNS. LIBERAL ADVANCES.
Write for information and prices.
Reference—IRON EXCHANGE BANK, DULUTH.

A "HERO" IN CLAY.

I.

It was the luckiest hit old Bannister had ever made. How he did it nobody knew. He didn't even know himself.

"The thing seemed to grow under my hands," he would say, quietly, "and I had no idea that it was anything better than my usual work until I had finished it and came to look at it as a whole; then——"

There was no doubt about it, he had never before done anything to equal it. It was rather a large statuette of an ancient warrior, delicately modelled in clay—a slender, sinewy-looking figure, the head thrown gracefully back, one foot slightly advanced, a short sword clasped in the uplifted right hand, and a round shield poised firmly before his breast.

There was a subtle ease, a quiet grace in the carriage and attitude; a keen, calm eagerness expressed in the fine features of the figure, that none but a man of genius would have accomplished. And yet old Bob Bannister had no genius—not a bit. All his friends knew that, and he freely acknowledged it himself.

Bob's chief ambition was to be a great sculptor—to do some great work that should bring him wealth for the present and fame for all time. But, by degrees, he narrowed his ambition down, until he came to look for nothing from art but the means of living in reasonable comfort from day to day.

He had done much that was good, but nothing that was great; until now, when he was nearly fifty and his dark hair sprinkled with grey, much to his own astonishment he created his "Hero," and woke up to the fact that he had done something at last that might make a little noise in the world, and yield him some drops of that fame he had hoped to fill his cup with when he set out upon his career.

Bob's particular crony and brother in art, Alfred Malden, was a man some five years older than himself. The two men had met rather more than twenty years before, and had been the closest of friends ever since. They rented a small studio between them on the highest floor of a tall building in the vicinity of Oxford street. They had even shared the same apartments together in a respectable boarding-house in Mecklenburg Square, until Malden was married and became the owner of a small residence at Paddington.

It was past nine o'clock at night, and the two men sat by the fireside of their studio, smoking a last pipe apiece before going home. Grouped about them in grotesque confusion were numerous half-finished and finished clay models, busts of all manner of real and ideal men and women, and all the miscellaneous litter of a sculptor's work-room; on the walls hung medallions and bas-reliefs of all shapes and sizes, crayon sketches, and a number of pictures in oils and water-colors. But the most conspicuous object of all—standing on an imposing pedestal in the center of the room—was Bob's latest work, his masterpiece his "Hero" in clay.

"Certainly," said Bob, regarding his work complacently, and speaking with a slow, meditative drawl between dreamy whiffs at his pipe, "it's the only thing I've ever done that I feel tempted to be proud of, and, as you say, goodness only knows how I managed to do it so well. But there it is. I've done it, and I really do think I'm entitled to be a little proud of it, eh?"

"Of course," responded Malden moodily; "especially when you consider that a rumor of it has caused a real live marquis to come up and look at it, and to be so taken with it as to say he will even buy it."

"Now, Alf, Alf!" cried Bannister, playfully.

"Fact!" said Malden, shortly. "No man gives money for a thing unless he thinks it's worth his money."

"Well, of course, I'm pleased to have a purchaser in prospect. Anyone would be."

"Undoubtedly," grumbled Malden; "but it isn't any one who is lucky enough to get a purchaser who may be the means of introducing him to an aristocratic connection."

Bannister looked thoughtfully into the fire and said nothing.

"I never saw such a thing!" Malden went on, a little bitterly. "You have all the luck. I can't understand it. People seem to think that my work is better than yours as a general thing, yet you always sell easier than I do, and get higher prices. It's luck. Sheer luck!"

"It's luck!" repeated Bannister, thoughtfully. "I know it, my boy, and I can't understand it either. You are a better workman than I am, more industrious, more—— Well, it does seem hard! Why, your 'Dying Gladiator' beat my 'Hero' into fits, and yet you only sold it for a mere trifle to a dealer, and heard no more of it. And here——"

"Here," continued Malden, seeing that his friend hesitated, "your 'Hero' will be exhibited. Oh, it'll be accepted right enough! Directly it's finished, even, a blessed marquis turns up who is ready and willing to pay you handsomely for it, and will give it a place in his hall, where it will be seen by hundreds of snobs and nobs of high degree, and if it isn't the means of bringing you in shoals of orders, never trust my word again."

"Well, it does seem a little hard on you, Alf, old man——"

"Oh, well, you needn't keep on crowing over a fellow," interrupted Malden, testily.

"Why," said Bob, looking grievously shocked, "I was never dreaming of doing such a thing. I was only going to say I may be able to find opportunities of introducing you to people who will recognize your worth, and——"

"Ha, ha!" laughed Malden, dismally. "It's very good of you to say so now, but Bob Bannister, Esquire, sculptor in ordinary to his high mightiness the most noble marquis of Finchington, basking in the patronage of other moneyed and titled gentry, will be much too great a person to remember poor, luckless, threadbare Alf Malden."

"Alf," cried Bannister, earnestly, "you can't think I'm such a mean humbug as that! If I am only to be fortunate at the expense of losing the oldest—the only friend I have—hang it! I hope I never may be fortunate at all!"

"You say so now, old boy. It's good of you to say so," said Bob, dejectedly. "But change of circumstances alters one's opinions wonderfully. In any case, how do you suppose I, your senior in years, who have been working longer and harder than you, could submit to the humiliation of being patronized by you, even though you are my friend? It is humiliation enough to be beaten by one whose work is, I know, no better than my own. But I couldn't——"

"Don't say any more," cried Bob imploringly. "After all the struggling we have had together, to think that any success could carry me beyond your reach! I've been selfish—full of my own good fortune. It never struck me till now, but—do you think that I would do anything to humiliate you? I can't bear the thought of it. Why, anything else after what we've said about each other—eh, old falsifier?"

"Never, old mendacity!" I reply. I'd sooner never have done the 'Hero' at all. I can't tell you how it grieves me, old fellow.' After all these years, to think that I should do anything to estrange us from each other——"

There was a suspicious moisture in his eyes and a slight tremor in his voice as he suddenly seized his friend's hand and left the sentence unfinished.

"Well, never mind. Can't be helped," said Malden, getting up, with an uneasy laugh. "It's late. We shall both think differently in the morning, perhaps. Let's be off home."

They went down stairs together in silence, shook hands in the street, and parted, each on his own way home.

For some time Malden hurried along deep in dull and desponding reflections. So long as they were both regarded as men of equal mediocrity he did not care, although all the while he was conscious of his own superior merit. And to think that one single piece of work had made all the difference! All that had been done might in a moment be undone if an enemy of Bob's—supposing him to have an enemy—could get into the studio and maliciously shatter the "Hero" with a few blows of the mallet.

II.

Next morning when the faint wintry sunlight looked in at Bannister's little curtained window, it found him lying awake in bed yawning drowsily. He glanced at the clock on his mantelpiece and saw that it was nearly ten, and closed his eyes again with a comfortable sigh. But just as he did so he heard a loud knock at the street door below, followed a moment later by the murmur of hurried voices, then a sound of quick footsteps on the stairs, and somebody rapped sharply on the door.

"Yes?" he shouted.

"Bob! Bob!"

"That you Alf? Come in."

The door was pushed open, and Malden came hurrying in, with a white, scared face, and a horrified look in his eyes.

"Oh, Bob!" he exclaimed, breathlessly, "I have news for you. Bad news. Terrible news!"

"Eh? What is it?" demanded Bob, sitting up in bed.

"Why—why," stammered Malden, "when I reached the studio this morning, the very first thing I saw as I went in was your 'Hero'——"

"Yes?"

"Smashed—smashed into atoms!"

Bob gave a long, low whistle.

"Well," he said, speaking slowly and thoughtfully, "perhaps after all, it's the very best thing that could have happened to it."

"What!" shouted Malden, "are you dreaming? Are you mad?"

"No. I daresay I've been dreaming," said Bob, quietly. "What I mean is, this—this accident puts us on our old footing again. The breaking of the 'Hero,' as it were, restores what was broken, or beginning to break, of our old friendship. I'd rather the 'Hero' broke than our old friendship, Alf."

Malden looked at him earnestly for a moment.

"Look here, Bob," he said hoarsely, "I know what is in your thoughts. You think I did it, and you are making excuses for me."

"No, no, Alf——"

"But you are. You know how jealous and mean I was last night—what a brute I was—a selfish, unmanly brute. And you think I did it. It is only natural that you should. But, on my word of honor, I did not do it—I did not do it!" cried Malden, eagerly, and with tears in his eyes.

"I know you didn't do it," said Bob, positively.

"How can you know? Who should you suspect but me, after all I said last night? I—who should have been the very first to have congratulated you, to be glad with you and proud of you—to meet you with nothing but miserable envy and unfriendly, selfish regrets! Oh, Bob, I lay awake last night thinking about it; I couldn't sleep, I was so ashamed of myself. Believe me, old fellow, all my envy as only a passing feeling springing out of my bad luck. I didn't really in my heart feel what I said. It was only that your good luck, by contrast, made me more fully aware of my own bad luck——"

"I knew it! I felt sure of it!" cried Bob.

"And I got up this only anxious to apologize for my miserable conduct, and assure you how truly glad I was that you had made a lucky hit at last; and here—when I get to the studio—the first thing I see is the 'Hero' shattered to fragments," said Malden. "And yet you don't seem to feel it half so much as I do."

"Well," said Bob, "it is a relief to me to think that there is no longer anything to separate us, to make me too proud to be your friend, or to humiliate you——"

"Ah! you haven't forgotten my words!" cried Malden. "You think I broke it; but I didn't. And I shall never rest until I have found out the villain who did it, so that I may remove from your mind every shadow of suspicion against me."

"My dear fellow, I know you did not do it! And I think I know the villain who did," said Bob, shrewdly.

"You do? Who did it? I shall never feel comfortable till I find out!"

"Don't say any more about it. I know perfectly who did it."

"How do you know? Who was it? You won't tell me? No. Because you think I am the man, though you won't own it!"

"Nothing of the sort. I tell you I know who did it," cried Bob. "The fact is, as I walked home last night I felt the injustice of what you had been saying, and what a brute I was to take a pride in what so humiliated you. After all these years our old friendship was breaking up, and all through me, as you may say. Hadn't you and I been happy together all our lives? Should I ever be so happy in any circumstances without your friendship? With the knowledge, too, that I had humiliated you and estranged you from me! Well, that's how I thought it all over as I came home, and I couldn't stand it. I was paining you, and myself too. Success wasn't worth such a price. I felt it so strongly that I suddenly made up my mind to—to show you that I wasn't such a selfish, cold-hearted, ambitious wretch as I seemed. I turned and went straight back to the studio and——"

"What! You don't mean to say——"

"Yes, I do," said Bob, cheerfully. "I fell upon the 'Hero' with a couple of hammers and smote him hip and thigh and smashed him up myself!"

One's surprise at the fact that no two person's voices are perfectly alike ceases when one is informed by an authority on the subject that, though there are only nine perfect tones in the human voice, there are the astounding number of 17,592,186,044,415 different sounds. Of these fourteen direct muscles produce 16,741,83', while all in cooperation produce the total given above.

BEAR AND UMBRELLA.

Bruin Is Not So Courageous as He Is Commonly Painted.

How much danger is there to the pound in a wild black bear when you meet him in his haunts, accidentally and at close quarters? Mrs. C. F. Latham, wife of mine host at Oak Lodge, on the Indian river peninsula (Brevard county, Fla.), can tell you exactly. There is a cleared train leading from this same lodge-in-a-vast-wilderness to the beach half a mile away. It runs through a dense and fearfully tangled jungle of cabbage palmetto, live oak and saw palmetto, which forms a living wall on each side of the trail.

About twelve months ago Mrs. Latham was returning from the beach alone, and armed only with an umbrella. When just a quarter of a mile from this very porch, she heard the rustling of some animal coming toward her through the saw palmettos. Thinking it must be a raccoon, she quickly picked up a chunk of palmetto wood, and held it ready to whack Mr. Coon over the head the instant he emerged. All at once, with a mighty rustling, out stepped a big black bear within six feet of her! The surprise was mutual and profound. Naturally Mrs. Latham was scared, but not out of her wits, and she decided that to run would be to invite pursuit and possible attack. She stood her ground and said nothing, and the bear rose on his hind legs to get a better look at her, making two or three feints in her direction with his paws. Mrs. Latham pointed her umbrella at the bear and quickly opened and closed it two or three times. "Woof!" said the bear. Turning about, he plunged into the palmettos and went crashing away, while the lady ran homeward as fast as she could go. So much for the "savage and agressive" disposition of the black bear.—W. T. Hornaday in St. Nicholas.

SAVED HIS PARTY.

Why Senator Harris Entered Politics Nearly Half a Century Ago.

This is how Senator Harris came to enter political life. He told the story to a Washington Post reporter in the cloak room the other day. It happened away back in 1847, nearly fifty years ago. In one of the state senatorial districts in Tennessee two Democrats were in the field, while the Whigs were united upon one candidate. This meant the defeat of both Democrats unless one of them would withdraw. A crowd of gray-headed Democrats waited upon Mr. Harris.

"If you will announce yourself as a candidate," said they, "it will force a convention or a primary, one man will be named, and a split in the party will be averted."

Into the fight went Mr. Harris. He appealed to the rival candidates to draw straws, pitch head or tails, have a primary, do anything that would leave the field open to one or the other. They would not do it. A meeting was held. Mr. Harris took one candidate by the hand, led him to the front of the platform, and said: "If you will withdraw, I will."

"No," said the determined aspirant.

Mr. Harris took the other man, brought him into the view of the people, and made the same proposition to him. He also refused.

All the obstinacy of Mr. Harris' nature was aroused. "Then I will stay in myself," said he, "and I will beat all three of you—two Democrats and one Whig."

And he did it. He had a majority of 350 votes, the largest ever polled in that district. While he was in the legislature the state convention was held and he was made a presidential elector.

"This was the beginning of all my woes," says Mr. Harris, "for then I was led irretrievably into political life."

Where There Are No Odors.

"In that country once known as the 'Great American Desert,' embracing a portion of Texas and Arizona, there are no odors," said R. P. Seuter of Dallas. "These luscious grapes and many other fruits grow, especially near the cross timber country, but there is no perfume; wild flowers have no smell; and carcasses of dead animals, which in dry seasons are very plentiful, emit no odors. It was always supposed to be a treeless plain, upon which no plant could grow or breathing thing could live; but a large part of it is now successfully cultivated, and but for the rarity of the atmosphere, causing the peculiarity I have named, and the mirages, which are even more perfect, than in the desert of Sahara, no one would look upon it as a barren country now. Another similar feature common to the desert land is that objects at a distance appear greatly magnified. A few scraggy mosquito bushes will look like a noble forest; stakes driven into the ground will seem like telegraph poles."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An Optical Illusion.

The apparent rise and fall of telegraph lines as you pass them in the train is an optical illusion caused by the fact that the weight of the wires makes them dip between the supporting posts to a level considerably lower than their points of support on the posts. No wire could bear the strain of being stretched quite level. Some slack to allow for this dip is absolutely necessary. Hence the course of the wires is a succession of curves, with the convexities downward; and the eye, when rapidly passing them transversely, notes that the wires rise toward the approaching post and sink as they leave the receding one. The illusion is that the wires and not we appear to be moving. A similar illusion may be noted in looking at a field of furrows, if these be at right angles to the railway. In this case, as by the laws of perspective, all receding parallel lines converge to a vanishing point; the furrows appear as the spokes of a huge wheel rapidly revolving with the vanishing point as its axle.

More Uses for Aluminum.

As the experiments with aluminum continue, new uses are constantly being found for it and its valuable qualities are more highly appreciated. Boats and sledges of aluminum were taken by Mr. Wellman on his great polar expedition. The United States life-saving service boats are the models upon which the expedition boats were constructed. As showing the progress in boat building for long carrying, where weight is an important item, it may be said that, while the boats used in the Parry expedition weighed 1,700 pounds, those for Wellman weigh 350 to 400 pounds. According to all accounts, they are among the best specimens of this sort of work turned out. The sleighs have watertight compartments and will float with their load if necessary.

A DETROIT BUILDER.

HE TELLS A REMARKABLE STORY OF HIS LIFE.

Came to Detroit About Forty Years Ago — Levi Elsey's Experience Worthy Serious Attention.

Away out Gratiot Avenue, far from the din and turmoil of the business center, there are many attractive homes. The intersecting streets are wide, clean and shaded by large leaf-covered trees, and the people you meet are typical of industry, economy and honest toil. There are many pretty residences, but none more inviting in its neatness and home-like comfort than that of Mr. Levi Elsey, the well-known builder and contractor, at 74 Moran street just off Gratiot. Mr. Elsey is an old resident of Detroit, having moved here about forty years ago. He has erected hundreds of houses in different parts of the city, and points with pride to such buildings as the Newberry & McMullan and Campaw blocks in which he displayed his ability as a superintendent.

"I have seen Detroit grow from a village to a city," he observed yesterday in conversation with the writer, "and I don't think there are many towns in America to-day equal to it in point of beauty. I know almost everybody in the city, and an incident which recently happened in my life has interested all my friends.

"It is now about eight years ago since I was stricken down with my first case of illness. One cold, blustering day I was down town and through my natural carelessness at that time I permitted myself to get chilled right through. When I arrived home that evening I felt a serious pain in my left leg. I bathed it that night but by morning I found it had grown worse. In fact it was so serious that I sent for my family physician, and he informed me that I was suffering from varicose veins. My leg swelled up to double its natural size and the pain increased in volume. The agony was simply awful. I was laid up and never left my bed for eight weeks. At times I felt as though I would grow frantic with pain. My leg was bandaged and was propped up in the bed at an angle of 30 degrees in order to keep the blood from flowing to my extremities.

"I have had several doctors attending me, but I believe my own judgment helped me better than theirs. After a siege of two months I could move around, still I was on the sick list, and had to doctor myself for years. I was never really cured and suffered any amount of anguish.

"About two years ago I noticed an article in the Evening News about my friend, Mr. Northrup, the Woodward avenue merchant. In an interview with him he stated that he had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and that they had cured him. I knew him very well, having built his house out Woodward Ave., and I thought I would follow his suggestion. I must confess I did so with marvelous success. From the time I began to take the Pink Pills I felt myself growing to be a new man. They acted on me like a magical stimulant. The pain departed and I was soon as strong and healthy as ever. Before trying the Pink Pills I had used any amount of other medicine without any noticeable benefit. But the Pills cured me and I was myself again.

"When a person finds himself relieved and enjoying health he is apt to expose himself again to another attack of illness. Some three months ago I stopped taking the Pink Pills, and from the day I did so, I noticed a change in my condition. A short time since I renewed my habit of taking them with the same beneficial results which met me formerly. I am again nearly as strong as ever, although I am a man about 56 years of age. I tell you, sir, the Pink Pills are a most wonderful medicine and if they do as well in other cases as they did in mine they are the best in the world. I freely recommend them to any sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Detroit Evening News

REED'S MUSTACHE.

Overlooked by a Ticket Agent, Much to the Disgust of the Ex-Speaker.

Every one who has ever made a close study of Mr. Reed's characteristics of face has noticed that he nourishes a very small mustache. Everything about Mr. Reed is large but the hirsute adornment of his upper lip. Yet, according to the Washington Post, the man from Maine is proud of it, like a mother of her puniest offspring. Once upon a time the ex-speaker was taking his family to a neighboring town and entered the railroad station to purchase tickets. He pulled out a large bill, paid for his tickets and walked away without taking his change. He had been seated in the train but a short time when the conductor approached him.

"Did you leave your change at the ticket station?" he asked.

Mr. Reed suddenly recollected that he had.

"The ticket agent who sold you the tickets," said the conductor, "described you as a very large man with a smooth face——"

"And a mustache," put in Mr. Reed.

"No," said the conductor, "he didn't say anything about a mustache. I guess he didn't see it."

Mr. Reed thrust his recovered change into his pocket with a pout.

"Confound it," he said to a member who was listening to the story from his lips the other day, "a man has got to be as small as Wilson of Washington to have anybody notice that he's got a mustache"

No Actual Loss.

A practical Englishman whose wife went to a fashionable watering place in order to lose flesh, had her weighed before she left and found that she pulled down the scale to 175 pounds. On her return he had her weighed again and found that she had gained ten pounds instead of losing any flesh.

"Why, you have gained more pounds than you have lost."

"Just wait until you add up the expense account and you will see that I have lost a great many more pounds than I have gained," said the wife, who knew what she was talking about.

AN ACT OF HEROISM.

Exciting Incident at a Recent Circus Performance at the Hub.

At the circus in Boston the regular evening performance had drawn to a close. The great crowd had begun to file out slowly, and the lesser throng, but still a very large one, which was to remain to see the "concert," had filled the reserved seats. Suddenly the latter multitude noticed that in the center of one of the great rings the end of a rope, which was dangling too high to be reached, had taken fire. The flames mounted rapidly toward the canvas. Amid breathless silence someone jerked the other end of the rope, which ran over a pulley at the very ridgepole, with the evident intention of drawing it over so quickly that the fire could not be communicated. But when the blaze went through the pully sparks were scattered in every direction, and presently the watchful crowd saw that a spark had ignited a little spot in the canvas at the top of everything. Then restlessness became manifest in the crowd, and a quick whisper, "Shall we run?" ran over it. The Transcript says of the event: "Things looked very serious; for a panic among those movable chairs, with the great throng still blocking the doors, must have meant death for some."

The burning spot above was growing rapidly. The manager of the show came forward and commanded the people to sit still. At the same moment a man began to climb the great center pole by means of a swinging rope. "Hand over hand, up he went—not hurrying at all, for if he had hurried he could not have accomplished his great task. Up, up he went, deliberately, surely. The burning spot grew and grew, and the flame flashed up. Before he reached the top the tent would be all ablaze! The crowd was ready to break; but now the man was at the top; he crept up through the canvass, where it was gathered at the pole, and disappeared; then the quick depressions in the cloth showed that the man was creeping on all fours toward the bursting flame, and then his two hands came through the hole in the cloth, and were gripping the flaming edges all around, and in an instant the fire was all out." Then the audience broke into a loud cheer. Finally he came down through the hole and began to descend the rope. There were more cheers, and when the hero reached the ground the cheers were so loud and so enthusiastic that he had to bow and scrape before the multitude. "And he did it as if he were afraid—as he undoubtedly was. He had done an heroic and brilliant act, and—so queer a thing is a brave man—he acted as if he were ashamed of it."

CALLED DOWN.

The Woman Tried to Have Her Daughter's Engagement Ring Appraised.

A salesman in a Philadelphia jewelry store was approached by a woman of the fashionable world and her daughter, a few days ago. The latter looked somewhat embarrassed. "I desire to get a ring for my daughter," said the woman. The salesman looked at the young lady. "Not this one—another daughter. It is to be a surprise." She was shown case after case of diamond rings, but none seemed to suit her. Finally she said to her daughter: "Show him yours, dear." Blushingly the girl took off her glove and slipped a sparkling ring from her engagement finger. "I want to get one exactly like that. How much will it cost?" The salesman looked at the ring, and the girl watched him as bravely as she could. He recognized it as one he had sold to Mr. Blank a few days before. So he handed the ring back to the daughter and said: "The cost of this ring, madam, was a confidential matter between Mr. Blank and myself. We haven't another like it in the house. I understood from his remarks that he thought the ring would not be valued at its intrinsic worth. However, if you wish to know its value, take it to some pawn shop, and multiply what they will offer you by three and you will get pretty nearly the correct price." The mother flounced out of the store in great wrath. Her daughter followed, almost in tears.

PROVIDING FOR THE FUTURE.

Mr. Gumby Did Not Mean to Be Left in the Lurch Again.

Mr. and Mrs. Gumby live out of town, which makes it incumbent on Mr. Gumby, when it is necessary to secure a new cook, to go to the agency in town himself and arrange for one that he thinks may answer the purpose. It is nothing to the discredit of Mr. Gumby to say that his visits to the agency have been somewhat frequent, says Harper's Magazine, for a good cook who will stay in the country is almost an unknown quantity.

One evening not long since, Mr. Gumby having paid his periodical visit to the agency, Mrs. Gumby was dumbfounded, on entering the kitchen, to find three dignified Bridgets sitting there in a row. Hastily going into the library, where Mr. Gumby was seated, she exclaimed: "Henry, what in the world do you mean by getting three cooks?"

"I thought it was the best thing to do," replied her husband. "You see, I shall be so busy next week that I won't have time to get any."

Prepared.

It was a murky night.

Dark clouds lowered over the world, and here and there dropped a fringe of fog.

A shriek pierced the air.

She clutched her husband's nose wildly in her startled frenzy.

"Heavens," she gasped, in terror, and even as she spoke the awful cry broke again upon her ears, "the paregoric bottle is empty."

There was nothing to do but walk the floor.—Detroit Tribune.

A Woman of Experience.

Young Author, engaging apartments—You have several literary men boarding here, I believe.

Mrs. Slimdiet—Yes, quite a number. I like literary men.

"I am delighted to hear it."

"Yes, you see, literary men never kick when I demand cash in advance. They are used to it."

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Odd Receptacle for Gold.

One of the most interesting curios in the collection of valuables at the mint is a queerly contrived bamboo tube that once contained a small consignment of gold from far-off Madagascar. "The gold was mined and smelted and done up for shipment by natives," said Registrar of Deposits J. Robley Dunglison, a short time ago, "and was the brightest gold ever received at the mint. They took a piece of bamboo about six inches long and two inches in diameter, and polished the outside till it was as smooth as glass. They then put a wooden cork in one end and poured in the melted gold and corked up the other end. In this queer receptacle the precious metal was safely brought all the way to America, and finally found its way into the mint."—Philadelphia Record.

The Chinese Almanac.

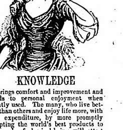
There are, it is claimed, more copies of the Chinese Almanac printed annually than of any other work in the world. The number issued is estimated at several millions. This almanac, says 'Invention,' is printed at Pekin, and is the monopoly of the emperor. Besides forecasting the weather, it notes the days that are reckoned lucky or unlucky for commencing any undertaking, for applying remedies in diseases, for marrying and for burying, though how one could have faith in the almanac to believe that the day of burial could be a lucky day, it is hard to understand, unless one had money; then it might be a lucky day for one's relatives!

Insurance Item.

"I wonder if I could collect at least half of the insurance on my wife," remarked Colonel Percy Yerger to his friend, Major Witherspoon, as they were sipping their mint juleps in an Austin saloon.

"Why, is your wife dead, then?" asked the friend.

"Well, not exactly. But every night when I come home late she says she is half dead with fright and anxiety. It seems to me that in law and equity I could collect half the insurance money."

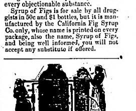


KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs,

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.



Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power, hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators. Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

LINENE REVERSIBLE

Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso

The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn: they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind. They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.

A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY. 77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES CATARRH

PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

PISO'S CURE FOR

Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.

CONSUMPTION.

Minn. Hist. Society

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1894. NUMBER 4.

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

The supplemental tariff bills are reported to the senate with amendments.

Secretary Gresham is the prize smoker of the cabinet. His allowance of cigars is twenty a day, and it is rare for him to be seen without one in his mouth.

Final sailing orders have been dispatched from the navy department by wire to the Charleston, and she is expected to start for China in a day or two.

The construction bureau of the navy has prepared plans for the transformation of the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius into a torpedo cruiser and the result of the change will be to make the Vesuvius a very pretty and comfortable little craft.

The river and harbor bill becomes a law without the president's signature.

Congressman Cameron of Illinois points out that the Democrats have reduced pension appropriations $29,000,000, and that the expenditures for the first full fiscal year under Cleveland are considerably over a million greater than in the last year of Harrison.

Personal Mention.

H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago is said to have bought the New York Times.

A cousin of the Mikado of Japan has arrived in New York. He is traveling incognito, as Count Mishimi.

Marie Tempest, the singer has returned from Europe. She decided not to sing abroad.

Rev. D. F. McDonald, D. D., died at Gilbertsville, N. Y. He was chaplain under Gen. Lee during the war.

James Keene, father of James R. Keene, died in Paris from cold contracted while traveling. He was 86 years old.

Mrs. Paran Stevens disgusted with the performances of the Vigilant, is said to have ordered a new yacht from the Herreshoffs.

Mme. Theoret of St. Genevieve, Can., is the mother of seventeen children, one trio of triplets and three pairs of twins.

J. Sloat Fassett has announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of New York. He did this after an interview with Thomas C. Platt.

Unfortunate Events.

Mrs. William Hicks was killed at Vandalia, Ill., by falling down stairs.

Eight persons are drowned at a yacht regatta at St. John, N. B.

Three men are drowned in a mine at Butte, Mont., as the result of a curious accident.

A 16-year old boy named Van Landegend was struck by a ball bat at Holland, Mich., and killed.

A bank of earth fell on Charles Walders at Peoria, Ill., crushing him to death.

The summer resort hotel on Pine lake, near La Porte, Ind., was destroyed by fire.

In a row at Thornton, Ind., John Sexton struck Hiram McDonald with a broomstick and killed him.

Walter Fisher, a dive keeper at Dayton, Ohio, was shot and instantly killed by his brother Robert, aged 15.

Several persons were killed and a number injured in a collision on the Hidalgo railroad in Mexico.

Charles Beach, son of Edmund Beach, living near Valparaiso, Ind., was drowned in Lake Michigan.

The Verne Swain, a steamer running between Clinton and Davenport, Iowa, sunk in three feet of water off Albany, Ill. No one was injured.

Several persons were killed and a number badly hurt by the collision of two trains on the Hidalgo road near the City of Mexico.

A grand jury at Lincoln, Neb., has held to trial George Davis, the negro suspected of causing the wreck on the Santa Fe road by which a dozen lives were lost.

A dynamite bomb was placed in the cylinder of a threshing machine engine at Boone, Ind. It exploded, wounding several men and destroyed considerable property.

At Medaryville, Pulaski county, Ind., two men lost their lives by the explosion of a boiler of a threshing machine. August Sitkey, the engineer, was scalded to death, and John Cox was killed by flying pieces of the wrecked boiler. Peter Cox received injuries which may prove fatal.

Miles upon miles of the Kickapoo country, Ok., are on fire, the reflection of which can be seen for forty miles. The grass in some places along the valleys was five feet high and the blaze is terrible in consequence. It is said that the Indians set the country on fire purposely with the foolish hope of keeping out white settlers at the opening in October.

Criminal Doings.

A gang of robbers following Sells Bros.' circus is said to have operated in Pontiac, Ill.

A bold thief got $200 in gold watches from Schilber's store at Huntington, Ind.

E. W. Nicholson, superintendent of the treasury stables, committed suicide while in a fit of despondency.

Animated by jealousy, William Vogel of New York fatally shot his mistress and then killed himself.

Clarissa Burke, 15 years of age, committed suicide at Champaign, Ill., by taking laudanum.

William Lecklader, 35 years old, was arrested at Yorktown, Ind., charged with murdering Joseph Larkin, at Howard, Kan.

Stratton, the convict arrested in Chicago, for breaking out of prison in Colorado, is, the Pittsburg (Pa.) police say, Elmer Beck, wanted there for murder.

U. C. Ridenour was convicted at Marion, Iowa, of buying wolf pelts in Nebraska for 60 cents each and collecting a bounty of $5 each in Iowa.

George B. Reed, who murdered Daniel Hendrickson for $6.50, was arraigned at Terre Haute, Ind., and pleaded guilty.

H. P. Roach of Cairo, Ill., pleaded guilty to contempt of court in interfering with trains. He was fined $25 and committed in default.

William Cox, aged 74, of Martinsville, Ind., committed suicide because he had been twice stricken by paralysis.

Rather than be censured for reckless driving, John C. Peck, a member of the Philadelphia fire department killed himself.

Daniel Cossatt of Bond county, Ill., was held to the United States grand jury for sending an obscene letter to Mrs. Annie Feltz.

Thomas Hewitt, an iron molder at Kerney, N. J., seriously stabbed his wife and four children and leaped from a window and was killed.

A lone highwayman held up a train near Lufkin, Texas and shot and killed Dr. Dreweney and robbed the body, afterwards relieving others on the train of their watches and money.

James Deegan, a notorious crook, pretending to be seeking a boarding house, robbed Mrs. Jane Jackson at New York of jewelry worth $1,700.

Conductor Goodman the slayer of Col. H. C. Parsons, a well-known Republican politician and business man, was found guilty of murder in the second degree at Covington, Va., and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary.

Dr. E. M. Height, a leading dentist of Memphis, Tenn., received two knife stabs in the region of the heart, inflicted by Walter Wyley, a bill collector. Wyley demanded arrears of rent from Height, which the doctor was unable to pay.

Foreign Gossip.

The revolt in Venezuela is at an end.

Mexican soldiers surprised the notorious bandit Luna and his wife in the mountains and killed both of them.

Forty Moorish rebels were killed by the Sultan's troops at Aznoor. General disorder prevails throughout the empire.

The commercial treaty between Spain and the Argentine republic, negotiations for which have been in progress for some time, has been concluded.

Rich gold discoveries are reported along the Rio Grande in New Mexico, and people from the surrounding states are flocking into the territory.

Gen. Ezeta and his fellow refugees from San Salvador were finally made prisoners at San Francisco on the authority of the United States.

Emperor William reviewed the guard corps, 30,000 men, on Templehof field, and at a subsequent banquet offered a toast to the emperor of Austria.

The first-class British gunboat Bramble II. in consequence of the disturbed conditions in certain parts of Morocco, has been ordered to proceed to Tangier.

Baron Munday, well known as the founder of the Salvage society, has committed suicide at Vienna by shooting himself with a revolver. He was undoubtedly insane.

A majority of the consuls-general of the various departments of France have approved of the anti-anarchist law. The department of Draguinan, Var and Marseilles are the only ones thus far that have opposed the measure.

Isolated cases of cholera continue to be reported from different parts of East Prussia. In Galicia, on Sunday and Monday there were 263 new cases and 172 deaths. The police authorities of Pesen have decided to close the public baths.

Otherwise.

Eleven thousand textile works struck at New Bedford, Mass.

Seceding Polish Catholics met at Cleveland and organized an independent church.

Corbett and Jackson accept (the latter conditionally) Sioux City's offer for the fight.

Gas was struck near Tarkio, Mo., at a depth of 390 feet. A flame thirty feet high is burning.

Lewis Kisky, living near Franklin, Ind., was stricken by paralysis in his field and died soon after being found.

Gamble and Pickler were nominated for congress by the South Dakota Republicans and Gov. Sheldon was renominated.

As a result of a religious revival at Hammondsville, O., seven women have left their husbands because they would not join the church.

Profiting by the experience of the present year, many Nebraska farmers are preparing to vote bonds for the introduction of irrigation.

From an area of 2,071,354 acres Illinois has produced 41,315,099 bushels of wheat, a yield which has been but thrice exceeded.

State Banking Commissioner Sherwood has taken charge of the defunct Commercial and Savings bank at Ludington, Mich.

The controller has declared a dividend of 8 per cent., in favor of creditors of the insolvent Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, O.

The old Sixth Michigan infantry, which was afterward made heavy artillery, held its twenty-first annual reunion at Kalamazoo.

William A. Snyder, a well-known Nebraska merchant and manager in the state of the Hoagland lumber yards, has been mysteriously missing for a week. His home is in Gozad, Neb.

Patrick J. O'Brien has been appointed mayor of Spring Valley, Ill., by the city council to succeed Thomas B. Jack. Jack was unable to find bondsmen and the office was declared vacant and he stepped down and out.

An extremely rich strike has been made in the Nettie Morgan mine on the Leadville, Col., gold belt. The ore was found at a depth of 225 feet, and assays 104.26 ounces of gold to the ton. The strike is an important one.

The Dubuque (Iowa) Malting company purchased ground for the erection of a mammoth brewery. Building will begin Oct. 1. The structure will be six stories high and 300 feet square, with a capacity of 150,000 barrels of beer per year. The cost will be $275,000.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

NELSON'S GREAT SPEECH.

HE OPENS THE CAMPAIGN AT ARGYLE.

He Gives His Reasons Why the Republican Party Should Be Kept in Power.

His Arguments Considered and Answered.

Really it begins to seem to us that a further continuance of our reply to Gov. Nelson's speech will be an act of cruelty. "It thunders all around the sky." The fire has been concentrated on that document, until there is nothing left of it. Judge Stearns, B. F. Partridge, Dr. Johnson and all the rest are blazing away. We expect to hear Gov. Nelson declare, before long, that he never was in Argyle in his life: and that he has never made a speech since he left Congress!

And therefore, instead of occupying so much of our valuable space with replying to him, seriatim, we shall "lump" the thing and pick out the salient points. If when we get through the governor's friends think we have omitted any important matter, and will call our attention to it, we shall try to reply thereto.

The governor says:

"A study of our statistics and examination of our agricultural and industrial development makes it plain that the rapid growth of our nation in commerce, in transportation facilities and in manufacturing has not been at the expense or detriment of our agricultural interests, but rather to their great advancement and benefit. The great army of men engaged in these other pursuits have been the chief consumers of our agricultural products. But for them the demand would have been limited and the home market exceedingly scant. Our chief reliance would have been in the foreign demand, which is uncertain and quite limited, and where we have to compete with the entire world, both as to prices and quantities. Today scarcely 20 per cent of all our agricultural products find a market abroad. In truth, our agricultural interests needed, above all things, that which is now complained of—the employment of extensive capital in other industrial pursuits, in order that the field of labor might be enlarged and the demand for agricultural products greatly increased."

This is the old argument:—that the farmers should pay higher prices for all they buy to create a home market for what they have to sell. In other words,—the farmer is to take a dollar out of his right hand breeches' pocket and give it to John Jones, for nothing, in the hope that, after a time, John will bring him back two dollars for his left hand breeches' pocket. It is an attractive theory and has, perhaps, some basis of truth, in so far as it is well for each industry in a country that all other industries should be prosperous. The tariff question has more sides to it than a diamond; and the man who knows least about it is usually most positive in his conclusions. If the theory could be carried out in its entirety; if the farmers could sacrifice a part of their wealth to build up a prosperous population of workmen, who would consume their productions, at a price higher than the world's price, it might be well to give in the hope of getting. But, unfortunately, the price of the farmer's grain and meat is fixed by the world's price. He is not a penny better off if his wheat is eaten by Yankees, than he is if it is eaten by Englishmen or Hottentots. You will not find on any bulletin board in the New York market an inscription like this:

Price of wheat for American bellies...	$1.00
Price of wheat for European bellies...	.50

If we could be satisfied that there was any such market as that in the United States we should all be extreme, McKinley Protectionists.

Moreover experience,—and it is the surest, though often the sorest teacher,—tells us that the money the farmers of the West have paid, for thirty years, to "encourage American industry" has not gone to the workingmen for whom it was intended, but to the capitalists who employed them. The proof of this is the vast wealth accumulated in the manufacturing regions; while today several millions of men, who are ready to work, are reduced to the condition of tramps. The 32,000 families who own one-half the wealth of the United States; or the nine per cent of the whole population who own seventy-one per cent of the total property, are a very inadequate market for the vast aggregate of the farmers wheat, corn, oats, wool, barley, beef, pork and vegetables. You could not ram but a minute fraction of those vast crops down their throats. On the other hand, the ten millions of workmen, for whom we have been plundered, are not in a condition to buy very much of what we have for sale;—they are half paid, half fed, or not paid or fed at all. Covered with mortgages we are looking to the pauperism of a ruined country for a market. But the wealth has gone from us and concentrated in the manufacturing regions,—but not in the hands of the toilers; as we showed last week, nine north-Atlantic states gained, between 1880 and 1890, more wealth than twenty-one middle and western states, containing six times as much land, twice as many people and almost as much capital.

If the West had plundered the East to any such extent we should have had civil war long ago. The East is too intelligent to stand such atrocious robbery, in the name of patriotism or anything else.

Gov. Nelson understands this as well as any one. In his speech in congress, on March 20th, 1888, he said:

"The farmers of this country are paying a tariff royalty on every industry but their own. * * * As it has been the fashion to ascribe our growth and prosperity to the tariff, so it has been the fashion to ascribe the higher wages paid labor in this country to the protective tariff. * * Worthier, better and juster, it seems to my mind, would it be to give our people—the toiling masses—cheaper food, cheaper fuel, cheaper clothing and cheaper shelter, cheaper because released from the heavy and unnecessary bondage of high tariff taxes."

There spoke the honest heart of the man. He went out of congress and almost left his party on that issue. We have great charity for the weakness of human nature, "caught 'twixt the dread extremes of mighty opposites." Able men have a right to rise; and Gov. Nelson is an able man; but his political fortunes are unfortunately tied to the chariot of the Republican party, and Plutocracy drives the chariot, and hence he is compelled to crush his instincts and convictions or go down;

> "Like to a noble horse, fallen in front rank,
> O'er run and trampled by the abject-rear."

He hears the snorting stallion, Washburn, with his plunder on his back, rushing fast upon his heels, and he must dash forward to victory over the breasts and homes of his countrymen, or sink under the hoofs of his rivals.

However attractive the Protection theory was to the large heart of the liberal West, as long as the farmers possessed abundance, and were ready to feed the whole nation out of their vast largess, they have now reached a point where they are compelled to halt, to save themselves and little ones from pauperism. They behold nine millions of mortgages saddled upon the lands of the country during a period of ten years, (1880-1890), representing an incurred indebted of twelve billions of dollars. (See Census Bulletin No. 71, page 1, issued June 2, 1894.) They know their own condition. They know that the fat, black, virgin soil of the West has raised the greater part of the nation's wealth, and they have seen that wealth transferred to the East. Their oppressors could not cart the soil of the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic coast but they are doing the next best thing,—they are taking possession of it, under mortgage foreclosures;—it still sticks where God put it, but the ownership is elsewhere, and the people are rapidly being driven off the face of the earth, to those wretched shelters for the poor, called cities, which swallow and devour them.

Never in the history of the world, since Xerxes marched his hordes into Europe; since Cæsar carried the eagles of Rome over the known world, has there been such a vast transference of wealth, from conquered provinces to conquering capitals, as that which has taken place, during the last thirty years, from the fat lands of the West to the barren lands of the Atlantic slope. Many causes have conjoined to produce these results, and among them is this so-called Protection. And now our governor, who denounced it, in unmeasured terms, on the floor of congress, is pleading it as proof that our people have not been unjustly treated. Knee-deep amid the very ruins of his section, he stands up to defend the men and the measures which have wrought the havoc around him. Dreadful are the obligations of party fidelity!

We do not mean to say that the wisdom of the nation may not yet devise a scheme, reasonable and just in all its parts, that will give uniform prosperity to all sections; but it must be a scheme that will bring its blessings to the humble homes of industry, and not to the palaces of the rich and great.

The governor then proceeds to show how beneficial the railroads are to the people. We all understand that—no one better than the farmers. But we do not owe their advantages to the men who supervised the construction of these especial roads. The iron tram-way with the steam motor is part of that marvelous civilization which God has conferred, in these latter years, upon his human creatures. To the brains of Watt, Stephenson and others, under Providence, we owe this mighty gift, without which these inter-continental regions would not be habitable. The governor need not tell the farmers to be friendly to the railroads. They would fight and die for them, if an enemy sought to tear them up. They would resist any unjust legislation which might be aimed against them. What they object to is not the railroads, but the "watered stock." They are willing to pay liberal interest on the money invested in their construction. The railroads of the United States are bonded and stocked for ten billions of dollars! Three billions would probably cover their actual cost. Hence the people are paying interest on seven billions of bogus capital, for which they never received one penny. At 6 per cent this would amount to $420,000,000 a year! Nearly as much as the whole cost of our national government. But the national government pays back to the people many millions of dollars for pensions to the soldiers; many other millions for internal improvements; many other millions to office holders; and it gives us law, (such as it is), defense against foreign enemies, the maintenance of our flag, etc. But for that $420,000,000, paid on capital that never existed, but is bonded so that it will press on us and our posterity for ages,—we have not received, and never shall receive a single penny. It simply goes to create vast fortunes and build up monstrous inequalities in society, dangerous to republican institutions. It goes to make our country a land of 30,000 millionaires and five millions of beggars; a land of soup houses and palaces.

The governor must be fair. The farmers are not fighting the railroads; they are resisting the great wrongs associated with them. Because the governor enjoys a pleasant summer breeze, it does not follow that he must justify a cyclone. Because he is glad to warm himself by a genial winter fireside, it is no reason why a conflagration should sweep away a city. He understands, as well as anyone, the wide difference there is between the uses and the abuses of things. Hence he should not say:

"Now, what good can be accomplished, what immediate and substantial relief can be obtained by arraying the farmers against the capital which has developed our railroads and our manufacturing establishments? Capital may become tyrannous and so, too, may labor. But neither the one nor the other should therefore be suppressed."

We defy the governor to show where a single farmer has ever asked for a law against "the capital which has developed our railroads." We ask him to point to a single resolution among all the thousands passed by Alliances to that effect. He cannot find one. The governor continues:

"Legislation has not been framed, as is alleged, in a spirit hostile to our farmers. On the contrary, they have been the recipients of legislation especially designed to aid them. Notable among this class are our homestead and timber culture laws, under which the government has fitted out the farmer with a part of his working capital—his farm. Aside from the land grant railroads no class has had a more generous gift than this. And the very gift to the railroads was especially made and designed to aid the farmers settling on our frontiers to obtain railroad facilities at a much earlier time than they otherwise would have obtained the same. No other class of men embarking in business have been furnished by the government with such aid as our homestead and timber culture settlers. And the gift was not only given to the native born, but foreigners barely landed on our shores, with their 'intentions declared,' could at once initiate a claim to the land bounty of our government."

Here the governor falls into an error. He forgets that those lands belonged to the people. No foreign power granted them to us. They were the people's lands; won and held by the people's blood, in the great struggle which made us a nation, and in all subsequent wars. The homestead laws simply divided the common property and offered each individual his share. The lands were valueless unless they were occupied and cultivated. And the occupation and cultivation, for five years, was a full price to pay for the right of individual possession.

But is there any comparison between the homestead and tree-culture acts, which gave the people the right to occupy a part of their common heritage, and the transference of the fruits of the industry of one section to the coffers of another? Did not these laws, as it has turned out, simply provide opportunity for men to toil in the West for the benefit of the East? Was it not merely giving the slaves of the provinces a chance to labor for their masters at the Capitol? The nation could lend millions of money to transcontinental railroad corporations; but when it was proposed to lend an issue of paper money, to help the struggling farmers of the West to save their homes, the howl that went up filled the heavens.

And then the governor tells us how the benevolent nation gave us—not money—but part of our own lands, again, in our own state, to establish an agricultural college and experimental stations. We have not not yet seen much of the fruits of these institutions;—but grant that they are good and wise, they are simply part of the administration of our own property. And then the governor refers to the endowment of our own lands for the support of our public schools—a just and righteous measure;—but what man in the East, or anywhere outside of Minnesota, ever paid a dollar to create that fund, or was ever a dollar poorer by its creation? And then the governor tells us that the state has, out of the taxes of the people, appropriated $10,000 a year for Farmers' Institutes. Think of that! The state has dipped down into our pockets and taken our own money to buy us a present! Wonderful generosity! Ten thousand a year for interesting talks about horses and pigs and chickens, provided the talkers shall agree to religiously avoid those great economic questions upon whose proper solution depends whether the farmer shall lay on fat as well as the horses, pigs and chickens!

And then, as another illustration of how much the government has done for the agriculturists, the governor points to the system of inspection and weighing of grain at terminal points, —Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. Why the joke of the thing is, that this system does not cost the state a penny; but is supported by a fee levied upon the wheat and eventually taken out of the farmers' pockets!! And the inspection, as we all know, is for the benefit of the grain buyers, not the farmers!!!

And thus the governor sums it up:

"From this brief glance over the field of federal and state legislation, it is apparent since 1860 there has been no inconsiderable amount of special legislative relief and assistance given to the farmers and the agricultural interests of the country. No other class or interest can point to any more or as much friendly special legislation; and it has all been inspired and enacted under the auspices and direction of the Republican party.

"In the light of these facts, how can honest men claim that the farmer has been oppressed or neglected through want of friendly legislation."

This—we say it with all respect—is enough to make a horse laugh. The governor has not shown a single instance where the nation, or the state, has put its hand into the pockets of men of other pursuits, and taken out their money and given it to the farmers. The nation has given us part of our own lands; and the state has given us part of our own taxes. On the other hand, the government for thirty years has seized our hard-earned cash and handed it over directly to the owners of mills and mines and pine-forests; and they have imported the poorest of Europe's poor to break down the wages of the men in whose name and on whose behalf our money was taken! And the governments of state and nation have seen us, for thirty years, despoiled of our possessions, to pay interest on "watered stock," to an amount sufficient to maintain another nation the size of this great republic; and have never opened their mouths nor raised their hands to protect us. And when at last the outraged and impoverished people rise up in their wrath, to right their wrongs at the ballot box, this able and ingenious gentleman, Governor Nelson, comes forth to convince us that we are prosperous and happy; the favored children of the nation; the elect of the earth; the very pets of the gods; rolling in the fatness of our vast prosperity, stripped from the pockets of our fellow citizens!

Governor, governor! It is pretty, but it won't go down. The very miseries of your audience, dwelling in the Egypt of America, and reduced almost to Egyptian wretchedness, should have rebuked you and covered you with shame.

But desperate are the necessities of a Republican candidate for office.

I. D.

FIVE GOOD REASONS.

Why We Are Republicans—With Some Answers.

Editor Tribune: Will you kindly give me, through your paper, five reasons why you are a Republican and greatly oblige,

W. H. LYON.

Why Mr. Lyon should limit the number of reasons desired to five it is difficult to imagine, since five hundred good reasons for being a Republican, in preference to being a Democrat or a Populist, might be given. But we will select from the many the first five that occur to us in order to accommodate our correspondent.

We are Republicans, then, first, because the Republican party is the party of loyalty and honor, which saved the nation and lifted up the flag when it was trampled in the dust by traitors.—Minneapolis Tribune.]

Very true; but that was thirty years ago. We are going forward not backward. That was very good reason why the American people should sustain the Republican party during the war: but it is no reason why they should support it now. "The present eye catches the present object."

"Second, because it is the party of law and order."

Yes, it so governed the country that the people were reduced to such depths of wretchedness that a Democratic president had to violate the constitution, to enforce, that precious "law and order." "Law, and order" indeed; when over a large part of the United States no man's life or property was safe for weeks; and civil war was only averted by guns and cannon.

"Third, because it is the party of honest money."

Yes, honest money, which obliges the borrower to pay twice as much as he received; which closes the mints and the mines; shuts up the factories; ruins the farmers and enriches Plutocracy. Honest money! Honest Swindle!

"Fourth, because it is the party of protection to American industry and American labor."

Yes; it protects them by standing in with Carnegie and Pullman; and with the coal and iron mine-owners, who imported vast hordes of Huns and Italians, to take the bread out of the mouth of American labor. It protects American labor by making millionaires of the bosses and paupers of the workmen.

"Fifth, because it is the party which possesses the brains and sagacity and business ability and experience to conduct the affairs of the country wisely and prosperously."

Exactly. It had brains enough to concentrate one-half of the wealth of the country in 30,000 families; to put 9,000,000 mortgages for two and a half billions of dollars upon the homes of the people; to give three-one-hundredths of one per cent of the people one-fifth of all the property of the country; to enable nine per cent of the population to own seventy-one per cent of the wealth of the nation; and leave ninety-one per cent of the people to scramble for the remaining twenty-nine per cent of the property.

"Brains!" It takes brains to do that; but it isn't the kind of brains that is profitable to the people.

Now let us give Mr. Lyons five real reasons why he should be a Republican.

1. The Republican party liberated the black man and is now trying to enslave the white man.
2. Because it has made the East rich at the expense of the West.
3. Because it has made the mine-owner and manufacturer rich at the expense of the farmers.
4. Because it demonetized silver; reduced the quantity of the world's currency one-half; and correspondingly reduced the value of all property: in the interests of the capitalists of the world.
5. Because it sides with the rich against the poor; with the employer against the employed; the lender against the borrower; and the rings, trusts and corporations against the people.

I. D.

Washburn vs. Reform.

From the Representative.

On Tuesday last the Republican legislative conventions for Hennepin county were held. Every one of them endorsed W. D. Washburn for senator. The Republican county convention did the same. In the legislative conventions the Washburn men were so fearful that some traitor might be nominated that the candidates were compelled to come forward and renew their fealty to the head of the thieving gang of pine land despoilers. In two instances only did candidates decline to bow to the yoke that was presented to them. One of these was F. N. Stacy in the Thirtieth district, who was incontinently turned down by John S. Pillsbury's forces, aided and abetted by the Gull River Lumber company. The other was one Al Dale, in the Twenty-ninth district, who openly defied the ring and was nominated. In the Thirtieth district convention Jim Bradish walked up and took his medicine, with no idea of keeping his word, and was defeated.

One convention passed a resolution against the law requiring the cost of parks to be assessed against abutting property. In no other convention was any notice taken of the strong sentiment in this city in favor of a new and wholly different charter from the one under which the city government is now conducted; the opposition to any change in the patrol limits; the amendment of the charter so as to remove all doubts as to the right of the city council to regulate the price of gas, and many other reform ideas which are advocated by the various reform clubs of the city. The only issue presented by the Republicans in this county is Washburn. The REPRESENTATIVE accepts this issue. The People's party will within a few days present for the suffrages of the people of Hennepin county a legislative ticket on which every candidate will be pledged to oppose the election of this colossal fraud to the last. On that issue it will confidently appeal to the people of Hennepin county without a shadow of a doubt as to the result.

The nomination of W. D. Washburn as the candidate of Hennepin county for United States senator was affected by the most corrupt gang of pine land, school fund and university land robbers out of jail. If the laws of this state were impartially executed many of his active supporters would be locked up in the penitentiary at Stillwater with striped suits on. They have robbed the school fund of this state of hundreds of thousands of dollars: they have hired men by the month to perjure themselves in the entry of pine and mineral lands. W. D. Washburn is the head of this gang of men. He is the man whom the people of Hennepin county are requested to elect to a seat which he obtained six years ago in a contest tainted by the most flagrant bribery only to disgrace. The REPRESENTATIVE refuses to believe that the people of Hennepin county will respond to this demand. It believes that they will repudiate him and his legislative ticket at the polls in November by a majority which will end his career as a candidate.

That a legislature can be elected in this state which will return this cold-blooded, selfish, aristocratic rascal to the United States senate the REPRESENTATIVE does not and can not believe.

TREASON.

Seth Bottomly Gives Some Views on the Subject.

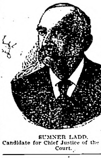
From the Representative.

Under the caption of "Populists Supporting Monopolists," T. S. Fisk, in The Representative of Aug. 1 touches upon a subject that is of vital importance, not only to the Populist party, but to popular government itself. To the average man with limited means of both time and money, who depends altogether on the country press or the big weeklies for his information, which does not inform, we honestly believe it would be infinitely better for him if he could not read at all, then swallow the lies, white and black, big and little, point blank and hidden, with the prevarications half truths, incidents that never happened, and the whole mass of rubbish that is "dished up" to him one week after another, year in and year out.

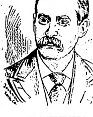
One sample of the "stuff" will suffice at present, which we take from the "patent stomach" of the "Bull-frog City Boomer"—we will call it—the Hon. Pandarus Pandeter, editor; proprietor of both editor and "paper," Baron Bullion. The rot is headed "Treason Defined," and goes on trying to make out that any individual or labor organization that pays any assessment, or gives aid to any so-called strikers "is guilty of treason against the United States," and subject to a penalty of 10 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. This is rich beyond measure, and shows clearly the low estimate that is placed on the intelligence of its readers.

In plain English its meaning is this: A private citizen, George M. Pullman, reduces the pay of his workmen, they quit work, other workmen who know that if Pullman is successful it will be their turn next, help to support the "strikers" and their families while on strike. This is organized treason against the United States. Our Goddess of Liberty still holds the scales of justice in her hand. Look out! ye medical, dentist, pharmacist, undertakers, merchants, bankers, millers, lumber and other associations too numerous to mention, for if the public who hire you to kill, punish, poison, bury, cheat and rob, reduce your pay, and you "strike," like the hod-carrier, miner and Pullman's automaton workmen and their supporters, you will be fined $10,000 each and imprisoned 10 years as traitors against the best government on earth.

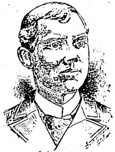
SETH BOTTOMLEY.



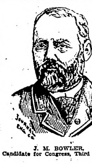
SUMNER LADD.
Candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.



P. J. SEBERGER.
Candidate for Secretary of State.



E. E. LOMMEN.
Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.



J. M. BOWLER.
Candidate for Congress, Third District.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	9.10 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible] ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping C[illegible]s [illegible]d Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or [illegible] [illegible]al information, apply to Agent Northern [illegible] [illegible] R. at Crookston [illegible]

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Dan O'Connor was in town today doing business.

There is talk of a hunters ball at Bjerk's Hall Saturday night.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton. Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S, M. Dainard's.

E. M. Hoff drove down to Crookston on business last week.

Miss Mary Kvande is visiting Miss Minnie Olson this week.

C. G, Rapp spent last Sunday at Crookston with his wife.

J. E. Holmes was at Crookston on business a couple of days last week.

Mr. Greenhalgh, of Crookston, was in town a short time last Monday.

S. M. Dainard and Mrs. W. A. Arthur drove down to Crookston today.

Peter Paradis was down to Red Lake Falls last Friday visiting friends.

Fred Zeh and James Powers, of Thief River Falls, were here last Monday,

Street Commissioner Harris is doing some work on the streets this week.

James Meehan Jr. and wife, of Theif River Falls, were in town this afternoon.

E. J. Holmes is making some repairs on his elevator and is building an addition to his office.

Henry Norland, the next county commissioner for this district, was in town last Saturday.

J. E. Truesdale, of Owatonna, was here last Friday looking after his collections in this vicinity.

Gunstein Frick was in town last Friday selling Rapp & Post a bill of boots and shoes.

General manager Warren and Div. Supt. Jinks went over the line last Saturday on a special train.

Dan McLaughlin, representing the Lake Superior Grain Co, was doing business in town last Monday.

Christ Bjerk came down from Excel last Monday and will work for his brother M, E. Bejork during the chicken season.

Dr. Wattson, of Red Lake Falls, was here on professional business last Monday.

Miss Josie Harris, Miss May Halverson and Mr. C. W. Peters attended the ball at Thief River Falls, last Tuesday evening.

Prairie chickens for the next two weeks weeks will have as hard a time as do the turkeys before Thanksgiving.

Prairie chickens are ripe next Saturday according to our game laws and our local sportsmen are preparing to make things lively on that day,.

S.M.Dainard was around about daylight this morning with the largest kind of a smile and the cigars, remarking, "Its a boy.

Stacking is nearly finished and some plowing has been done but the ground is so dry that it is next to impossible to do good work. A good soaking rain would do a lot of good,

Gustave Gustafson a swede farm laborer, of Black River, was arrested last Saturday on charge of criminal libel on complaint of K. S. Sandberg. He was the correspondent for a Minneapolis swedish paper and wrote several libelous articles articles about Sandberg one being that he had committed suicide. He pleaded guilty and was given 30 days in jail.

H. P. Hall, the veteran St. Paul newspaper man will start an independent democratic morning newspaper at St. Paul about Sept. 1st. The paper will be called the Morning Call. Mr. Hall's reputation as an excellent newspaper man insures that the Call will be a success.

Mr. E. E. Syrrine. of Thief River Falls, was married this morning at that place to Miss Lucia Dougherty. Mr. Syrrine is the Great Northern agent at Thief River Falls and the bride is a sister of Mrs. James Meehan Jr. The happy couple drove down here this afternoon with a company of friends and took the train for an eastern trip.

Two years ago the Democratic party declared that republican protection is a "fraud" and a "robbery" and asked power to erect a tariff framed for the "purpose of revenue only." The people gave it the power: what has it done? It has repudiated a bill which provided for free raw material, ad valorem duties and a lower tariff generally. It has passed a bill which differs only in detail, not in principle, from that which it denounced. The senate yielded to an insignificant minority of personally if not pecuniarily interested senators. The house yielded to the senate. The result is a democratic protective tariff in place of a republican protective tariff Nor is that all. It is a tariff conceived in corruption and passed in dishonor, There are three fatal objections to the senate bill. It violates the plighted word of the democratic party. It does this to enhance the profits of wealthy corporations, And there is good reason to believe that this result has been purchased and paid for—if not directly then indirectly. For the feeble pretense of investigation and the report of "not proven" have rather confirmed than dispelled the public suspicion of corruption. Such protection is both a "fraud" and a "robbery." The party dishonor was not lessened by the house passing "pop-gun" bills for free coal The bills were put to sleep in the senate just as expected, and their passage by the house was pure buncomb serving only as a confession of guilt and acknowledgement of consciousness of neglected duty.—East Grand Forks Courier.

The Chicago Times still champions the cause of labor and has to say of Mr. Debs that people who read the testimony of Eugene V. Debs before the strike commission, cannot, if they be fair-minded, fail to be convinced of the justice of the cause in which he is working and of the sincerity and ability of the man himself.

In a struggle for the rights of humanity individuals are nothing. He will be but a poor champion of the cause of the people who will pause to eulogise certain champions when he should be fighting for principles. But when a leader like Debs is attacked, as he has been attacked, and all the agencies and all the influence of capitalism are set in motion to "make an example of him"—i, e. to so persecute him that no other man will be willing to encounter like danger in the wage workers cause,—then must every spokesman of the working classes speak out in defence of the leader so attacked.

The slanders that have been directed against Debs during this struggle simply baffle recountal because of their number. He has been called crazy, drunken, revolutionary, criminal, incompetent. Newspapers have at once declared his conduct of the strike impotent and denounced him for having made it so effective. Labor has been entreated to throw him over as a puerile leader and capital has been warned that he is a dangerous man because of his surpassing ability. "Anything to beat Debs" has been the one policy which has animated the organs of capital for the last four months.

Several county papers are publishing column after column of figures to show that small counties pay less tax than a large one. In all of these comparisons old counties are taken for the purpose none of them paying a tax for several improvements made here every year, notably the bridge tax. The figures used to show the expenses of this county are erroneous. For instance, large sums are charged up for the maintenance of the county hospital, salaries and expenses of the clerk of the district court and county sheriff. The hospital is self sustaining and the two offices mentioned turn in a small revenue to the county above the expenses incurred Figures won't lie, it is said, but some of these county division figures have broken the record in that direction.—Crookston Times,

Republicans have lost that confident air with which they swarmed down to the state convention, cock sure that a nomination was equivlant to a certificate of election. The boast that "this is a Republican year" falls less frequently and flippantly from their lips Instead, there is a shadow of anxiety in their eyes when they meet, and they tread the political field as gingerly as if they feared the crust would break at any moment and submerge them. The weather is cyclonic, and they can,t see just where the twister is on or where it will strike but they have a premonition that it is coming their way.—St. Paul Globe.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR.
Hamline (St. Paul) Sept. 10 to 15 1894

The Great Northern Railway will sell tickets for this occasion at one fare for the round trip, plus fifty cents for admission to fair grounds. Dates of sale Sept. 9th to 15th inclusive, final return limit Sept. 17th. For territorial limitation, tickets and full information apply to H. J, Freeman, agent at St. Hilaire, Minn,

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall' Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.
W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Notice to Farmers.
You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's ware house. W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the village council held at the village hall on Monday August 9th 1894.

On petition it was resolved to build a side walk on the east side of block thirty-seven (37) village of St. Hilaire as follows to wit:

Commencing at the north east corner of lot twelve (12) of said block thence south along Broadway to the south east corner of lot one (1) of said block,

Said sidewalk to be five feet wide and to be built out of two inch pine plank with three (3) stringers under the same

Said sidewalk must be built within thirty (30) days after this notice, if not it will be advertised and let to the lowest bidder and charged to the lot or lots fronting or abutting said sidewalk.

The number of running feet of sidewalk to be built by owners in said block are as follows to wit:

Leonard Holmes, lot 1 and 2,	50 feet.
Unknown, lots 3, 4 5. 6 and 7	125 feet.
E. M, Hoff, lot 8.	25 feet.
St. Hilaire Townsite Co., lot 9,	25 feet.
A. L. Patterson, lot 10,	25 feet.
A. J. Miller, lots 11 and 12,	50 feet.

Dated at St. Hilaire Minn., this 15th day of August 1894.

C. G. Rapp, Village President,
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school

The Normal department embraces:
(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades.
(c) A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.
(d) A kindergarten training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county super intendents, first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies Home at St. Cloud offers board fur nished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 21st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

Attorney B. S. Bennett and Cashier Louis Lohn, of Fosston, were here yesterday advertising the Fosston Fair and talking county division in the interest of the Nelson county proposition. Both gentlemen are enthusiastic over the Nelson county proposition and predict that it will carry by a big majority,

The threshing machines are telling a cheerful substantial story these days and one which the average farmer fully appreciates. Reports are coming in daily of wheat averaging from 18 to 25 bushels of no. 1 hard to the acre.

During a fire in a stable at Pau Sec, province of Quebec, a bay stallion returned twice to the burning structure and drove out a horse that was so terrorized as to be unable to make any attempt to escape.

Yellow Fever.

There is a marked peculiarity about yellow fever which distinguishes it from most epidemics. It is essentially a disease of a hot climate, and it takes a certain amount and duration of heat to awaken it to life. It is said that it can never prevail where Indian corn will not ripen.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m "	Minneapolis	9 55 am
1 25 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J, FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W 1/4 Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 41.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelsen A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m.. in book 50 of mortgages on page 307 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round-trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9,

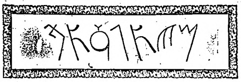
Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE !
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of [illegible]

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其猾世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance. $1.00

not in Advance. $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 29 1894

DEMOCRATIC HAND-ME-DOWNS.

People's Party Urged to Fight Shy of All but Their Own Men For Office.

The way Democratic statesmen are kneeling in repentance at the Populist mourning bench is suggestive of much and varied mental speculation.

Grover Cleveland rewarded an eleventh hour convert with the highest seat in his cabinet. The Georgia Populists have named a recent convert for governor, and from many states come reports of congressmen who say they cannot stomach Clevelandism any longer, whereupon the Populists, with open arms, stand ready with a nomination on a silver tray to send them right back to congress with only a change of tag on their collar.

Do not take this as in any regard a kick. It is merely a passing, after supper remark.

We fancy the Farmers' Alliance man, who these many months has been studying out conditions surrounding him and their relation to his member of congress, will give his stubby face an extra rub while he pulls the old hat down with more thoughtful emphasis than usual as he contemplates the meaning of all these escapades.

Just why the People's Party thinks to strengthen itself by taking up a candidate who has common discernment to tell him the "pickin" is dry in his own pasture, but who was so doggedly set on staying while chance of "pickin" existed, will not be clear to many of the old rustics, or young ones either.

It has not been so many years ago that it need be forgotten when Dan Voorhees wanted to get back into his seat for another term. How did he get there? Turned Greenbacker. And under his lead the party was committed to the Greenback policy—until they regained their seats.

Now pause a moment and look at the stuff we have in congress now elected as mongrel Populists and Democrats. Take the junior senator from Kansas, the same from California, Irby of North Carolina, and we see no reason for exempting Kyle. If there is one of them who has improved his opportunity to stand in the breach as a Thad Stevens, Lafe Pence, Peffer, Weaver or others elected straight on the issue, then will we recede.

Many of the rebellious Democrats now are rebellious because the people are in that condition, and it is purely a case of bread and butter. They are sound on the silver question, maybe true, and under that guise will seek to pull in all the Populist contingents, then reward the same old gang of bums and ward heelers with official perquisites that has marked their entire course as Democrats.

It is a question, after all, whether any Democrat who has voted with his party all through this administration, then bolts the party nomination to accept a Populist benefit, can bring with him very much for which an earnest Populist can throw his hat. It is not the old, lifelong, congressmen who are attracting the attention of the country by their acts of sturdy regard for ante-election pledges. What members in either house have won greater renown than those elected fresh from the people on a platform abreast with the needs of the present?

Populists, don't be skeer'd of nominating your own men and making for them the fight that becomes the honest and earnest vanguard of a just cause in its winning campaign.—Chicago Searchlight.

Examples of "Thrift."

The late Jay Gould, James Fisk, Oakes Ames and Ex-Senator Stanford, with the Vanderbilts, Rockefeller, Huntington, Pullman, etc., are shining examples doubtless of genius, industry and thrift. They secured millions they never produced. Dollars don't grow spontaneously. They represent the fruits of somebody's labor. The gentlemen named simply appropriated the harvest produced by the many—legally, of course. Mr. Abram S. Hewitt recently held that no man living, however great his genius and industry and thrift, could produce in a lifetime the wealth represented by $20,000,000. Can any man living produce the wealth represented by $1,000,000? might be asked.

I will venture to assert that the man who has in him the ability to deceive others successfully, the genius to overreach his fellows and the perseverance to continue on these lines has a better opportunity than ever before to acquire the result of other people's labor. The chief cardinal virtue in the public mind today is wealth. The chief deadly sin is poverty.

Our storekeepers, for instance, are generally selling their goods at less than cost. Each is selling cheaper than the others in the same business—at least so they allege in their advertisements—and their employees say so to their customers, and yet we are taught in church that "no reason or no motive can excuse a lie." Middle aged people remember quite well when it was not so, but that was before the blessings of millionaires and monopolies came upon us.—P. O'Neill Larkin in Donahoe's.

Idleness and Low Prices.

It is estimated that there are now 4,000,000 unemployed men in this country. This means about 18,000,000 people who cannot purchase anything. Farmers wonder why the price of wheat has gone down, and merchants are in despair over the scarcity of purchasers. But it is easily accounted for. Cut 25 per cent of the demand from anything, and the price will fall. The way to bring prices up is to increase the demand. Set these millions of mouths to eating, furnish them with money with which to buy, and the farmer immediately finds more markets for his wheat and the merchant for his goods. Evidently what we need is employment for the idle and more money with which to employ them. Elect the Populist tickets, and the country will get both.—Nonconformist.

CHICKEN AND HONEY.

A FORAGING EXPEDITION OF ONE MAN IN THE WINTER OF 1863.

Lang Knew the Country and Also Human Nature, For His Little Bluff Worked. Uncle Joe, Who Was "Cap'n" Then, Liked His Chicken Done Brown.

"It was a wretched night back in 1863," said Uncle Joe.

Uncle Joe's stories of the war were things to be looked forward to and remembered. He had served during the entire four years as a commissioned officer and knew whereof he spoke, having an excellent memory and an inimitably humorous way of telling the adventures of himself and his men.

"It was in Missouri in the winter of 1863 on a cold raw night that I, the officer of the day, prepared about midnight to make, with half a dozen of the guard, what is called the 'grand round,' or, more plainly speaking, the visiting of the soldiers doing picket duty at their different posts. We were on short rations, and every man of us, officer or private, longed for a good, square meal to brace him up against the raw, damp coldness of the night. As I was about to spring into my saddle a low voice at my shoulder said:

"'Cap'n, how would a supper of chicken and honey taste?'

"I swung hastily around and beheld the speaker. He was a fellow called Lang, one of our most valuable spies, and in some respects a mighty clever fellow, but in—oh, well, I'll let it go by saying that his moral nature had never been overdeveloped. He was a short, thickset man, with twinkling black eyes and otherwise the most thoroughly impassive face I ever looked into. It was said of him that he would slip into the butternut suit of the rebel and make himself much at home in Lee's army. He was hail fellow well met with all the men and came back to the Union lines possessed of the most invaluable information. He had experienced thrilling adventures and was a man of intrepid courage.

"'Cap'n,' he repeated as he stood beside me that cold night, 'how would a supper of chicken and honey taste?'

"'Excellent, Lang, excellent,' I replied, thinking of our limited supply of smoked meat and hard tack. 'Have you some?'

"'No, but I might get some, I reckon, if I looked round a bit,' he drawled, lazily kicking up clay with the toe of his boot. I saw immediately that he meant to go out of camp, find a farmhouse and help himself. Such things are not unheard of in the army.

"'Nonsense, Lang,' said I. 'You would be killed sure if you went. The pickets are on extra sharp lookout tonight, and it's altogether too dangerous. You would never come back alive.'

"With that I sprang into my saddle and rode away, followed by my men.

"We were gone two or three hours, making the rounds of the pickets, and a more miserable ride I had seldom taken. I was chilled to the bone and hungry and my men likewise. As I rode back toward camp the glow of a bonfire in a remote corner caught my eye, and I immediately turned my weary horse toward it. Before the crackling heap sat Lang, calmly frying chicken, while at his side reposed a hive of honey. He looked up and smiled grimly.

"'Supper's most ready, cap'n,' he said, touching his apology for a cap. 'Make yourselves to home, gentlemen.'

"'Lang,' said I sternly, 'didn't I tell you not to go?'

"'No, cap'n,' he replied as he continued to cut up the plump fowl in his hand; 'you didn't say I couldn't go, although, if I remember correctly, you didn't exactly advise it on the score of its being dangerous, but a man what's led the life I have ain't goin to let a little thing like that stop him when he's hungry,' and he held toward me the plump leg of a chicken nicely browned.

"'Lang,' said I, 'tell me how you did it.'

"'No very great matter,' he replied, proceeding with his culinary art. 'When you'd gone, I walks along quiet to the outpost and finds a picket walkin up and down like he owned the earth, so I flops down on my stomach alongside a fence. Bein a dark night, as it is, Mr. Picket comes along and don't suspect that fence so of much as harborin a mouse. Minute he gets half a rod away over that fence I goes lightninlike and takes a scoot into some woods close by and then goes about my business.'

"'Go on,' said I, with my mouth full of chicken and honey.

"Lang continued: 'You see, I know this country mighty well, so I makes tracks for a farmhouse close by where they keeps plenty of chickens. When I opens the gate to go in, along comes a dog. Well, cap'n, that's the only dog I ever met with that I couldn't either scare or make friends with. No, sir, that dog wouldn't take no stock in bluffs, so I whips out my revolver and lays him out. At that up goes a window, and a man begins to yell to find out who's there. "Put your head inside that window and keep it there, or I'll knock it off for you," says I. "Now Jim," I continues, "you just watch that window, and if the fellow sticks his head out don't wait to be ceremonious like, but just fire. I'm goin to get some chicken and honey." Course there wasn't no Jim along, but that fellow in the house had to be kept out of the way; so, being a dark night, I just bluffed him about there being more than just me around. You bet he keeps his head inside, and I goes to the chicken house and helps myself to some plump young codgers, and takin a beehive on the other shoulder makes tracks for the camp the way I come.

"'Have a piece of the breast, cap'n. That's done particular brown, the way you like it.'"—Chicago Post.

It is said that 200,000 books have been written about the Bible.

A Famous Widow.

One of the most famous widows of antiquity was Agrippina, the widow of Germanicus. During the lifetime of her husband she attended him in all his campaigns and shared his dangers. Suspecting that her husband had been poisoned, she had his presumed murderer assassinated and was herself soon after treated with such indignity by Tiberius that she was driven to despair and starved herself to death.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Governor	SIDNEY M. OWEN.
For Lieutenant Governor	E. E. LOMMEN.
For State Auditor	A. L. STROMBERG.
For Secretary of State	P. J. SEBURGER.
For State Treasurer	F. BORCHERT.
For Attorney General	J. A. KEYES.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court	C. H. JOHNSON.
For Chief Justice	SUMNER LADD.
For Associate Justice	J. W. WILLIS.
For Member of Congress	HALDOR E. BOEN.
For State Senator	P. M. RINGDAL.
For Members of the Legislature	J. B. KNUTESON. N. L. NELSON. S. J. LEE.
For County Auditor	JOHN GLEASON.
For County Treasurer	J. T. BEAUDRY.
For Sheriff	ANDREW STEENERSON
For Clerk of Court	JOHN VIG.
For Register of Deeds	ALBERT WICKSTROM.
For Probate Judge.	C. M. BENSON.
For County Attorney	L. E. GOSSMAN.
For School Superintendent	O. McCRILLIS.
For County Surveyor	O. L. HAMERY.
For Coroner	JOHN DWYER.
For County Commissioner 4th Dist.	HENRY NORLAND

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office
Crookston Minn. July 24 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Beson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 11122 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 35 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

[illegible]

[illegible]

If it is [illegible] among the insane, [illegible] be seen [illegible] vanity or [illegible] idea of admiration in a milder [illegible] same accident or misfort[illegible] been overthrown. [illegible] believes and does not hesitate to [illegible] she is perfectly beautiful, has [illegible] figure, is in every way charming and attractive and that every [illegible] sees her immediately falls violent[illegible] love with her. It is only an absurd[illegible] exaggerated sense of self importan[illegible] that produces the very common de[illegible] that the patient is a king or queen, even a deity.

Again a natural humility and a tendency to self depreciation are frequently exaggerated by disease into the delusion that the patient is an object [illegible] dislike and contempt to every one, th[illegible] has committed some crime, and th[illegible] consequently he is beyond redemptio[illegible] and is regarded with horror by al[illegible] around him. If he is of a religious turn of mind, he believes himself to be eternally lost and sinks into a state of chronic melancholy and apathy. On the other hand, a natural self reliance, no longer controlled by common sense, expands into a belief that the patient has done and can do feats beyond the power of any mortal man.—Hospital.

Courtship In Burma.

Mr. Mortimer Menpes, in traveling in the east in search of subjects, came upon a curious form of courtship. Sketching one day in Burma, he noticed a man a little distance off glaring fiercely straight ahead of him at some object he could not see from his position. The man sat with the same fixed glare the whole of the afternoon and was at it again the next morning. Mr. Menpes had the curiosity to ask an English visitor what it meant. The reply was, "Oh, he is in love." And it was explained that this was their method of courtship. The object of the man's attentive glare was a girl in a neighboring bazaar. When a man falls in love, he has to seat himself at a certain distance from his adored one and waits for her to do the rest. If she looks in his direction once or twice on the first or second day, he is wildly encouraged, and if on the third day she nods at him and smiles it is time to go to the parents with reference to the marriage settlements.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—o—DEALERS IN—o—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR

All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD. Manager.

Reserved For THE

ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

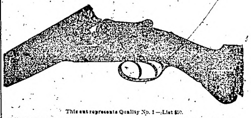
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING: MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only [illegible] improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee the m to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE [illegible] GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

CU CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Barbaric Customs Abolished.

The men in the German universities are actually dropping some of their barbaric customs which they have practiced since the days of Sir Tannhauser and his faithful Eckhardt. The clubs of the Leipzig university have decided to abandon the ancient custom of morning beer drinking bouts, on the ground that it interferes with work. This is certainly a most wise resolve. A beer bout at night is somewhat muddling if one has capacious competition; in the morning it must leave one's brain feeling like a mixture of damp sawdust and cold cigar ashes.

Works Both Ways.

Miss Footlites—Have all the papers printed notices of my engagement?

Press Agent—Column after column.

Miss Footlites—Good enough. Now send them word that the engagement is off.

Singular.

Paul—I don't see anything so very funny about your mustache.

Mr. Toots—What do you mean?

Paul—I heard sister tell you last night that it tickled her half to death.

The sweepings of the Denver mint, which have been accumulating for years, were washed recently and yielded $3,000 worth of gold.

T. S. Woodruff, general grain agent of the Northern Pacific railway, is now to take charge of the North Dakota business of Woodward & Company, the Minneapolis and Duluth commission men.

A bicycle to run on a single track of a railroad has been invented by a man in Latah, Wash.

A New Arrangement.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 27.—The new tariff arrangement between the Great Northern and Oregon Railway and Navigation company is one of the most important of the year. It gives the Great Northern the most direct entrance of any road into Portland and to Willamette valley points. It also becomes the short line into the Palouse and Walla Walla districts of Washington, the Couer d'Alene, Moscow and Snake river districts of Idaho.

Hieroglyphic style of writing was probably in use 4,000 years B. C.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is taken internally. Price 75c.

In 1775 hailstones said to weigh twenty ounces fell at Murcia, in Spain.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Muscles of the hand reach their highest perfection in man. No other animal has a true hand.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Helena, Mont., is 4,200 feet above the sea, and has an average of 260 sunshiny days every year.

Minneapolis mills saw over 300,000,000 feet of lumber every year, and turn out 7,000,000 barrels of flour.

Harvest Excursions.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 27.—Harvest excursions at largely reduced rates for the round trip to Minnesota, Dakota and Montana points are announced by the Great Northern railway for Sept. 11 and 25 and Oct. 9.

Herodotus tells us that the number of women employed in making bread for Xerxes' army was beyond count.

How Jolly!

Eh! who said that? The answer is as prompt as the question from the dear chappie who has checkmated the rheumatism with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, unequalled as well for dyspepsia, liver complaint, inactivity of the bowels or kidneys, nervousness, lack of vitality, appetite or sleep. Use the great tonic and you will be ultimately happy if now afflicted.

Of 67,000,000 rays of light and warmth radiated by the sun only 1,000,000 fall on the planets of the solar system.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs.

The first bakers who followed their craft in Rome were slaves captured during the expedition against Philip 171 B. C.

Children are not admitted to most public schools till they have attained their sixth year.

A HANDSOME PICTURE FREE
WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 18 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO.,
450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.
$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits.
FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair.
OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

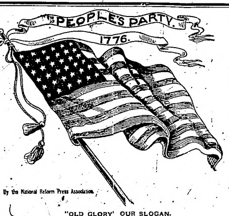
Caton Colleges
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
$100 PAYS BOARD, TUITION AND BOOKS, for six months, in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, and English studies.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

S. W. N. U. No. 35—1894.



By the National Reform Press Association.

"OLD GLORY" OUR SLOGAN.

After Years of Abuse Populists Are at Last Being Seen in a Truthful Light.

I see the People's party movement through the eyes of an old Lincoln republican; I have followed the republican party from its birth through its glorious triumphs in the field of national legislation, but shall not follow it to its grave. Call me anarchist, if you will, but for myself I see in the People's party the industrial masses rising in their might under the dear old flag which only once since 1776 floated over a worthier cause. Then, dear brothers, let me ask you to rally once more around the old flag, that for the third and last time we may demonstrate to the monarchies of Europe that "a government by the people, for the people and of the people" shall not perish from the earth. God, as ever, is with us, and victory will be ours.—From an address to the Rock River conference on Populist day, Aug. 2, 1894.

POLITICAL HASH.

SERVED HOT AND COLD TO SUIT OUR READERS.

What Is Being Said, Thought and Done, Here, There and Everywhere.

It is an old saying that "when thieves fall out honest men get their dues." We do not stop to discuss the truth or falsity of this adage, but it reminds us of the fact that the criminations and recriminations in the ranks of the democratic party is unfolding to the eyes of the people a great deal of cussedness. Cleveland's recent letter to Chairman Wilson, containing an ostensible plea for the observance of a democratic principle—free raw material—has a much deeper meaning. A syndicate composed of Secretary Lamont, ex-Secretary Whitney, John E. Russell and others of Mr. Cleveland's friends, own the immense coal mines of Nova Scotia, and of course want the privilege of dumping their coal on our shores free of duty. It is natural for Mr. Cleveland to make this plea in their behalf. These mines were purchased by Whitney, Lamont & Co., through Mr. Charles E. Bell, a wealthy banker of Chicago. Mr. Bell got an option on them prior to the election of 1892, and when it was learned that the democrats would control the house by 75 or 80 majority, so as to secure coal on the free list, he closed the trade. The bill went through the house all right with coal on the free list, but Senators Gorman, Gibson and Camden own large coal fields in Virginia, Senator Brice owns mines in Tennessee and a number of other senators are equally interested, and the senate saw fit to tack on a duty to protect the home product from Whitney and Lamont's dump. Hence the row.

* * * *

The general supposition now is that Mr. George M. Pullman is a liar. During the recent "onpleasantness" he stated to the public that the Pullman company were running their business at a loss, and hence had nothing to arbitrate. At the same time the following card appeared on the business envelope of the company:

PULLMAN PALACE CAR CO.,
Stock - $30,000,000.
DIVIDENDS AVERAGE 8 PER CENT.

Surplus in 1889-90, Over Charges and dividends, $2,298,131; in 1890-91, $2,980,223; in 1891-92, $3,250,389. Extra dividends are paid.—Clapp's Railroad Securities.

And now, since the strike, the company has issued the following notice:

"A quarterly dividend of $2.00 per share from net earnings was declared this day, payable on and after Aug. 15, to stockholders of record. At close of business Aug. 1, 1894. By order of committee. A. F. WEINSHEIMER.

This dividend amounts to $600,000;—000? per cent on $30,000,000 of stock, 50 per cent of which is fictitious."

Did Pullman tell the truth when he published a statement that the business did not pay and he was obliged to cut wages to pay expenses?

* * * * *

There is some pretty strong evidence that the railway companies themselves are responsible for most of the destruction of their property in the recent strike. The two objects they are supposed to have had is, to get pay for their old cars, and to obtain the sympathy of the public and get military aid in suppressing the strike.

Vice-President Howard of the A. R. U., made some very important and not altogether unlooked for revelations, while being interviewed at the Cook county jail, the next morning after his arrest. He said:

"This thing is going to be a test case. We don't consider ourselves bigger than the law, and incidentally we think the railroads are not. We are getting some evidence for the coming battle, and we consider it a pretty fair grade. Here is a letter we received telling of evidence that most of the freight car burning done in Chicago was done by two men in the employ of the General Managers' association. One of the secret agents of a certain committee saw two men on the night of the fire go through the yards with a band-car of inflammable waste, which they lighted and systematically threw among the cars. This agent overheard a conversation between the men, from which he gleaned that they were paid $200 down, and were to receive $300 more when the job was done. This, we understand, was done before the troops were called out. An effort is now being made to arrest these two men. We further have pretty positive evidence that the big man who led the mob of 5,000 at Blue Island was a Pinkerton man employed by the railroads, and it is significant that although he could be easily identified, yet he has not been arrested. It is safe to say that this case will not be entirely one-sided."

Remember that Chicago pays the loss—the railways lose nothing by the burning.

The Review of Reviews, a popular magazine of extensive circulation and influence, devotes a lengthy article to the People's party and its work, in its July issue. We clip the following extract:

Populism and the Tariff.

The Populist party adopted no tariff plank whatsoever in its Omaha platform. It believed that there were other questions more fundamental than the tariff, and that the purification of politics and the adjustment of some other issues would make it more possible to deal with the tariff question upon its merits, and in the interests of the nation at large. Its criticism of the tariff struggle between the two great parties was embodied in the following language:

"We have witnessed for more than a quarter of a century the struggles of the two great political parties for power and plunder, while grievous wrongs have been inflicted upon the people. We charge that the controlling interests dominating both these parties have permitted the existing dreadful conditions to develop without a serious effort to prevent or restrain them. Neither do they now promise any substantial reform. They have agreed together to ignore in the coming campaign every issue but one; they propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff, so that capitalists, corporations, national banks, rings, trusts, watered stocks, demonetization of silver and the oppressions of the usurers may all be lost sight of."

This denunciation of the two parties seemed to the country at the time of its promulgation quite too dismal and overdrawn; but in view of what has actually happened, and of the existing state of pending tariff legislation, there are many citizens who vote with one or the other of the old parties who will feel inclined to sympathize somewhat with the view that the Populists recorded in their platform two years ago. It has no doubt been somewhat of a sham battle, this fight over the tariff. The ruling party in the senate has made no disinterested attempt to serve the interests of the whole country, but has indulged in an unseemly scramble for the protection of this locality or interest or trust or combination, and for the corresponding punishment of some other locality or interest or combination. The outcome is much what the Populists had predicted, and appears to be viewed by them with more equanimity and less concern than by anybody else. Here again, it seems to us, the Populists have scored something, although in a less definite way. Their prediction was that this democratic victory—won on a pretense of settling the tariff question and on a claim that their settlement of that question would bring about the most far-reaching and beneficent results—would prove a disappointment. Furthermore, the Populist declaration that the solution of these questions would require a statesmanship more free from improper influence, has seemed to be shamefully verified by the circumstances under which the tariff measure has been handled in the senate.

The Missouri World Until the November Election for 10 Cents.

The Missouri World will be sent until November election for 10 cents in clubs of not less than ten. The World is a Populist paper intended for general circulation, goes to all the states. It gives the general news and makes a specialty of People's party news and correspondence. It is published weekly at 50 cents a year. Address The Missouri World, Chillicothe, Mo.

The power of federal courts in the proceeding for what they call contempt is unlimited. They can sentence a man to jail for an indefinite period, terminable never or at their own sweet will. Relief can't be reached through the habeas corpus proceedings. The victim is absolutely helpless, his sole dependence being upon the humanity or leniency of the judge. This is certainly a power not safe to entrust to any human being. The liberty which is only enjoyed at the mercy of another is hardly worth having.—Nonconformist.

Well, we are to have an increase in the standing army, sure as shooting. The money sharks have more than one way of "skinning the cat." But the rascals are not going to be on top very long. Next fall's election will change matters. If it don't, labor would be better off if it should go back to the old chattel system of slavery—if it only could, which we doubt, for the capitalists know that capital control of labor beats chattel slavery all hollow, and does not carry with it the care for the laborer.—Free Trader.

Labor pays for every banquet, every ball, every gorgeous dress, and every magnificent display of wealth that dazzles the eyes and intoxicates the brain of the world.—People's Voice.

DEMOCRATIC PRAYER.

No. IX.

Oh, Cleveland, our great political father whose strength can only be computed by the length and breadth of the political pie counter; whose word is law and whose wrath is like unto the lightning that striketh the Hills and rippeth up the Vests of those who walk not in thy ways; whose word is gone out and it will not return to thee, we worship thy mighty name, and bow before thee in humble submission. Oh, almighty father, thou who causeth it to rain political manna upon the stalwart and the mugwump alike; thou who art not a respecter of persons but appointeth a Gresham, or a McVeigh, or a negro, as thou seest fit; thou who holdeth in the hollow of thy hand the fattest offices in the land, and distribute them whithersoever it pleaseth thee, we come to thee in deep and humble contrition that we may not provoke thy displeasure. Most adorable master, our enemies encompass us round about. The mortgage eateth up our wheat and cotton; the railroads take our corn and pork, and lo! the sheriff gathereth in the remainder for taxes. Winter holds us in its icy grasp and the cold chills trot gleefully up and down our spinal column. This seems to be all that our backbone is fit for. But worst of all, the Populists torment us until life is a burden. Wherever we turn is h—l. We voted for $1.00 wheat and lo! 40 cents a bushel stares us in the face. We voted for 10-cent cotton, and again, we are obliged to drink the gall of bitterness. Disappointment seems to be the badge of democracy. The sea of democratic expectation is strewn with the wreck of disappointment. In vain do we look for the better times that do not come. Oh, precious Cleveland; canst not thou woo Dame Fortune back, even as thou didst woo Maria Halpin, that she may smile upon us as thou didst smile on Maria. Most adorable father, our punishment is greater than we can bear. We cry for work and there is no work. Our children cry for bread and there is no bread. Help us, oh gracious father of mugwump democracy, and save us from the body of this death. If it pleaseth thee, send us over to Hawaii to thy friend Queen Lil, that we may eat of the crumbs with her dogs. Send out thy servants and put these Populists to flight, for they cry from every corner: "Aha! we told you so!" Let thy servants smite them with a splinter of thy wrath. They sorely distress us and speak disrespectfully of thee. They are a dangerous element and will not vote for thee. We are not like unto them, most adorable master. We take things as they come. We "vote 'er straight." We love thee because we love thee. We are democrats because we are democrats. We propose to continue to "vote 'er straight" if it sinks every pound of cotton and every bushel of wheat into the bottomless pit. Our loyalty to thee and the party shall not be questioned. For thee and democratic success we will face poverty, cold and hunger. For democratic success we will forsake our wives and our children. It is so pleasant to have a democratic postmaster. For this pleasure alone we are willing to sell our wheat at 40 cents and our cotton at 6 cents. It is worth it. We are poor. We don't deserve to be anything else. We never expect to be any better off. But we propose to keep right on voting the democratic ticket. It is born and bred in us. We can't help it. We know our leaders lie and make promises they never fulfill. But it don't swerve us. We pass right on. The road of poverty is broad and we'l beaten, and many there are that travel thereon. But most worshipful master, we look to thee for comfort in this our hour of trial. We know that when thou speakest thy voice is like unto the thunder. When the American congress heareth it it trembleth in its boots. It humbly bows to thy mandate. We pray thee to lash it with the cat-o'-nine-tails of thy displeasure. Misery loves company. Make our lawmakers as miserable as possible. Scorch them with the rod of thy wrath. Make them dance to the tune of thy displeasure. We love to see it, even as it pleases us to watch the trained dogs of a circus. Belt 'em over the head with an empty political pie pan. Sock it to 'em with the toe of thy political patronage boot. Rip 'em up the back with thy civil service knife. Spot 'em on their political snouts with the ungloved hand of thy wrath. Lay them down on the floor of thy dignity, and stand on them with all the weight of thy political greatness until their eyes stand out like a tumblebug's with a wagon wheel rolling over it, and their tongues protrude from their mouths like that of a dying calf. Bravo! old Big Paunch! Go on with the show. We are enjoying it. It is meat and drink and clothes to us. Punch up the cattle! Make 'em squirm! It is the "Greatest Show On Earth!" It shows the "vanity of all things," and especially of democratic promises. But soak it to 'em and we will be with you to the end, and thine shall be the political glory. Amen.

CONSPIRACY.

Its Definition Depends Upon Who It Is that "Conspires"

In all the contests between employe and employer, similar to the one now going on, it is noticeable that it is the employers that appeal to the courts and ask for military aid. Another noticeable circumstance is, that they generally get all they ask for in this direction. Is this because they are always right and the workmen are always wrong? It is generally conceded that the laborers have a right to organize, but what for? It is also conceded that they have a right to quit work when they feel so disposed.

It is denied by many that workingmen have any kind of right to prevent in any way other people from taking their places. Yet in doing this they are only doing what is practiced by some corporations, notably the Pullman corporation. There are also railroad companies that are successful in almost every instance [by conspiring together] in preventing certain discharged employes from securing work from any other company. They do not use force to attain this end, but they accomplish it nevertheless.

There are many former railroad employes who testify that they have been forced to engage in other business because, after being discharged, they found that wherever they applied for work under another company they were blacklisted. They are asked where they have worked, and, on giving the information, the telegraph is brought into play, and they are soon informed that their services are not needed. Yet they do not invoke the aid of the courts or of the federal authorities, knowing well that no attention would be paid them if they did.—Topeka State Journal.

Let no one say again that Cleveland is a blunt, honest, but misguided man. His letter to Wilson on the tariff bill shows him a dissembler. With expressions of regard for the interests of the people he calls for a tax on sugar. Now a tax on sugar will put millions in the pockets of the sugar trust. Then after all his party has said about the "tariff barons," "robber manufacturers," etc., etc., he urges free coal and free iron ore, just what the manufacturers want. Free coal, free wool and free iron ore will shift millions of taxes off the manufacturers onto the people. Without discussing the merits of free trade or protection or intending in any way to help keep up the "sham battle over the tariff," we call the attention of the democrats of the west and south to the fact that their party is legislating in the interests of the so-called "tariff barons," by protecting the manufactured articles and giving them free raw material upon which they ("tariff barons") have been paying millions of tariff duties to the government. It was Bob Ingersoll that raised the banner of "free raw material, the product of ignorant labor, and protected manufactured goods, the product of intelligent labor." This is the way he stated it, though probably not his own words as we quote from recollection. It was at a republican meeting in the Auditorium at Chicago in 1888 that Ingersoll, the republican, announced this doctrine. It was a night or two before the assembling of the republican convention at that place that nominated Harrison the first time. It was a republican meeting. Delegates to the convention were there. And the sentiment was cheered to the echo. Now we have in the present tariff bill the embodiment of that sentiment. "Free raw material the product of ignorant labor." Wool is raw material. Wool is produced on the farm. Verily there is no difference between the two old parties.—Mo. World.

In Australia, where the railroads are state owned, you can ride a distance of 1,000 miles across the country for $6.50, first-class, too, while working men can ride six miles for 2 cents, twelve miles for 4 cents, thirty miles for 10 cents, etc. Railroad men receive 30 per cent more wages for eight hours of labor than they are paid in this country for ten hours work, and yet the profits of the railroads of Australia has enabled the government to abolish the internal revenue tax.—Kansas Commoner.

If you had a "hired man" who didn't do his work any better than the members of the present congress are doing, you would "fire" him, would you not? Bear in mind, congressmen are of your own choosing. You elected them to work for you, and you pay them a salary to do so, but can you tell of one thing they are doing for the welfare of the people? Then why not "fire" them this fall? Pay them off and let them find a new situation, or join the army of the unemployed.—Free Trader.

By their fruits ye shall know them. What are the fruits of the present democratic administration?

AMONG THE RECORDS.

THE VOTE ON THE CAR COUPLER BILL.

Both Old Parties Pledged to Protect Railroad Employes, But They Poll Eighty-Four Votes Against It—The Populists Press the Measure to a Vote and to Its Final Passage.

Right now it will be of interest to know who are the real friends of the railroad men. In 1892, the democratic party adopted the following plank in their Chicago platform:

"Sec. 10. We favor legislation by congress and state legislatures to protect the lives and limbs of railway employes and those of other hazardous transportation companies."

The same year the republican national platform contained the following plank:

"We favor efficient legislation by congress to protect the life and limbs of employes of transportation companies engaged in carrying on interstate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective states that will protect employes engaged in state commerce, in mining and manufacturing." In a recent article written by Congressman John Davis, and published in the Nonconformist, it is shown that 30,000 persons are killed and maimed annually on our railroads, or about twice the number killed and wounded in any of the great battles of the late war. He also shows that although there were about 100 people killed and crippled during the recent strike, there was a saving in loss of life and limb of 400 on account of the suspension of operations of about one-third of the railroads in the United States.

With these statistics staring us in the face, and the pledges made by the two great political parties of this country, it would seem to be an easy matter to pass a measure of protection for railroad employes. The matter came up in the winter of 1893, in the Fifty-second congress. It was brought up under a suspension of rules and required to be passed by a two-thirds majority. The vote stood as follows:

Democrats for it	128
Republicans for it	57
Populists for it	8
Total	193
Democrats against it	79
Republicans against it	5
Populists against it	0
	84

No republican or democratic governor has hesitated a moment in siding with the railroad corporations in all difficulties resulting in strikes. Grover Cleveland has gone so far as to trample upon the doctrine of states rights and local self-government in his haste to serve the corporations. The courts as a rule are against the employes, and the only safe and sound retreat they have is in the ranks of the People's party.

SPIRIT OF REFORM.

Chips of Wit, Wisdom and Satire, Culled From Our Exchanges.

According to the New York World the profit of a certain cabinet officer in sugar already amounts to $101,000, and his private secretary has put away $17,000.—Kansas Commoner.

The farmer who has the right to hire a man to work for him certainly has a right to do his own work. If Uncle Sam can employ bankers to issue money he certainly can do the same himself and like the farmer who is hard up for means, let him do it.—Belmont (N. Y.) Spirit of Reform.

The present strike is only an incidental indication of the trouble that is coming in this country, unless the plutocratic flock of peacocks drop their tail feathers and scratch gravel instead of mounting Uncle Sam's barn to "ho-yaw."—People's Voice.

It is likely that both the republicans and the democrats in this state will put a free silver plank in their platform. They are like the man who was arrested for stealing. He was bemoaning his fate and was asked if he was not in favor of a law against stealing. He said he was in favor of the law but was "agin the enforcement." So the old parties are in favor of free silver but they are opposed to any law that will make free silver a fact. They simply want it to fool the unwary.—Seattle (Wash.) People's Call.

Beware of the old party platform which is gotten up for the people to get in on but not to stand on. Both the old parties will be very profuse in their promises, but they have made promises before and repeated them. If you have not yet thrown off the old party collar you should recall the promises the old parties have made and the promises they have kept. You will find that before election they are willing to promise anything to catch votes, but after the votes are secured the office holders play into the hands of the monopolists and the people may go to the deuce.—Free Trader.

A distinguished Virginian statesman, while discussing many years ago in a state convention the provision concerning the jurisdiction of courts, used this language: "I verily believe that if the liberties of this country are ever destroyed, if the pillars of the temple are ever pulled down over our heads, it will be by the Sampsons of the judiciary." Thomas Jefferson expressed the same fears concerning the encroachments of the federal courts. In these days of dragnet injunctions and arbitrary acts of federal judges, it would seem that the forebodings of the great Virginians are in process of full realization.—Nonconformist.

Weak and Weary
Overcome by the heat or extraordinary exertion, the physical system, like a machine, needs to be renovated and repaired. The blood needs to be
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
purified and invigorated and the nerves and muscles strengthened by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite, removes that tired feeling and gives sweet, sound, refreshing sleep.
Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, [illegible]

Getting Rid of Roaches.

"I tried every remedy I could hear of," writes a housewife, "and I was always inquiring. They seemed to fatten on my poisons; at least their numbers did not suffer diminuation. One day I took up an old almanac, and idly turned its tattered yellow pages, and on the last fragment of a leaf came this: 'Equal portions of cornmeal and red lead mixed with molasses and spread it on plates will destroy roaches.' And it did.

Saved.

Jess—I don't think this gown matches my complexion very well; do you?

Jack—Which one?

Jess—What?

Jack—Which gown, I mean.

No Use.

Herdso—Why didn't you defend your wife's suit for divorce?

Saidso—I had known for years that what she said was law.

About 1,000 specimens have been found on one meteorite which exploded over Winnebago county, Iowa, in 1890.

OH, MY HEAD
Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

R. D. Mehta and his wife have just started from Calcutta for England, Mrs. Mehta being the first Parsi lady to take the trip.

A Beaverkill, N. Y., boy landed a brook trout recently that weighed nearly nine pounds.

HEADQUARTERS ROUTE

To Pittsburg, via "The Milwaukee," For the G. A. R. Encampment.

As per General Orders No. 5, arrangements have been made by the department commander for a special train via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, which road has been selected as the Headquarters Route from the State of Minnesota, to run through from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Pittsburg, to carry the commander and staff and also the comrades of the state, to the Twenty-eighth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held at Pittsburg, Sept. 10 to 15.

It is to be hoped that all comrades who can possibly arrange to attend this encampment will join this special train, with the view that the Department of Minnesota go into Pittsburg with flying colors.

J. K. MERTZ,
Ass't. Adjutant General.

SAM R. VAN SANT,
Department Commander.

The above special train will consist of free reclining chair cars, in addition to sleeping cars. Leave Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., (from "Milwaukee" depot) and St. Paul at 8:10 p. m. (union depot), Sept. 8. Arrive Pittsburg 6:10 a. m., Monday, Sept. 10. G. A. R. comrades and friends desiring space in the free reclining chair cars or the sleeping cars should communicate at once with the undersigned. The rate for the round trip from the Northwest to Pittsburg will be one-half fare to Chicago, plus $10, Chicago to Pittsburg and return. (From St. Paul and Minneapolis to Pittsburg and return, $21.50). Tickets will be sold Sept. 8 and 9, extreme limit, returning, Sept. 25. This is a rare opportunity for an extremely cheap trip to the East during the delightful month of September.

Facilities and accommodations afforded will be unsurpassed.

J. T. CONLEY,
Ass't. General Pass. Agent.
St. Paul, Minn.

Certain tropical animals ball themselves up in mud and become torpid to avoid drouth and heat.

IT GIVES WARNING that there's trouble ahead—if you're getting thin. It shows that your blood is impoverished, and your organs deranged, so that whatever you eat fails to properly nourish you. And just as long as you remain in this condition, Consumption, Pneumonia, and other Scrofulous and dangerous diseases are likely to fasten upon you. You should build yourself up with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Purify and enrich the blood, rouse every organ into natural action, and build up healthy, wholesome, necessary flesh.
Ocean Port, N.J.
DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—We have used your "G.M.D." in our family and find nothing else to equal it. One of our children had the pneumonia, and one lung become consolidated, but by the use of the "Discovery" she has entirely recovered, and is now in good health.

Ruth A. Sickles

Small Cost and Quick Returns!
If you want to buy or sell anything, or to exchange something, or to borrow money, in fact, if you desire to accomplish anything, put an advertisement in the
WANT COLUMNS
OF THE
PIONEER PRESS.
The cost is One Cent a Word each insertion. Remit the amount, with your advertisement, to the
PIONEER PRESS CO.
St. Paul, Minn.

Davis' International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

MARLIN Model 1893
Made in 32-40 and 38-55 calibres. The only repeater on the market for these cartridges.
Light Weight. REPEATING Easy Action.
Solid Top, Side ejection. Made in "Take Down."
Write for catalogues to
The Marlin Fire Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., U.S.A.
RIFLES

Minn Hist. Soc

THE
St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1894. NUMBER 5.

THOUSAND LIVES MAY BE LOST.

TERRIBLE FOREST FIRES SWEEP OVER, NORTHEASTERN MINNESOTA AND NORTHWESTERN WISCONSIN

A Veritable Whirlwind of Flames Sweep Hinckly and Several Other Towns Out of Existence—It Is Thought That 500 People Have Been Burned to Death and the Number May Reach a Thousand—Fires Still Raging in Wisconsin—Excellent Relief Work.

Pine City, Minn., Special—Minnesota has never known a calamity attended with such a loss of life as that brought by the fire which wiped out Hinckley, Mission Creek, Sandstone Junction, Pokegama and many other settlements in that vicinity.

The walls of the school house, the iron fence about the town hall property, the bank vault and one absolutely uninjured out house is all that is left to mark the site of Hinckley, where yesterday stood a score of store buildings, and a dozen times as many dwelling houses. The story of castrophe which wiped out the material possessions that had made Hinckley a busy prosperous little city is a short one. The town was built of wood. The school house erected last year at a cost of $10,000 and one-half the Duluth round house were the only brick structures in the city. By one of those peculiar freaks for which there is no accounting the Eastern Minnesota round house and water tank on the southwestern edge of the town almost in the woods, escaped the flames, a circumstance the more remarkable from the fact that it stood directly in the path of the flames, which seem to have jumped it cleanly, as if playing leap frog. All yesterday forenoon the town people were apprehensive. The smoke rolling from the south told a story, unmistakably plain to those accustomed to a wooded country. The fire kept advancing farned by the wind which was blowing a gale. About 11 o'clock the fire company got out their engine and laid an eighteen hundred foot line of hose, to the southern outskirts of the town. The hose was all to short for the measure of protection desired and a telegram was sent to Rush City for more. Five hundred feet was sent, but it never reached Hinckley. The main part of the village lies in the north fork made by the crossing of the Duluth and eastern tracks, the latter to the east and the former on the west. On the west side of the Duluth tracks were a few small houses belonging to the railway employes. The firemen's attention was mainly directed to keeping the fire away from them as the main business part of the city was built in solidly just across the track. About 3 o'clock in afternoon the fire literally jumped into the town. Its approach was not gradual. It did not eat its way along, devouring everything in its path, but came in huge leaps, as if to overtake everyone fleeing before it and then burned back at its leasure. It is described by those who witnessed its onward progress at Hinckley and elsewhere as if it were forced along by cyclones of its own generation. The intense heat would develope averitable whirlwind of flame that actually twisted off poplar trees several inches in thickness and carried huge blazing fire brands high in air, and carrying them forward for from forty to eighty rods there to fall and begin the work of devasation anew. The fire first struck Hinckley on the east side of Duluth track and the brave fire fighters for the first time gave up the unequal battle and already too late in many instances, turned their attention to their personal safety. The Eastern Minnesota train from the south had just come in and the people of the panic stricken city flocked to it for safety. A number of box cars were coupled on and filled and covered with men, women and children. Some were bareheaded, some were coatless, some few clutchd a pitiful bundle of the more precious of their portable possessions. Families were separated. Children joined the throng and left their parents. In all there was a motley crowd of about four hundred and fifty or more people. The train pulled out just ahead of the fire and succeeded in ultimately reaching Duluth. This circumstance, while fortunate in a degree that cannot be estimated, has made the confusion greater, for it is not known who escaped in this city, and many people are reported dead who may be in safety. Had not this number of people, largely women and children, left the doomed city when they did, the loss of life would have increased in a geometrical ratio, for their presence would have added immeasurably to the subsequent confusion. About the same hour the accommodation train on the Hinckley and St. Cloud branch left for the latter place. With about twenty-five passengers its path lay directly across the path of the fire and their situation speedily became desperate. The ties were burning the rails were warping and the trestles were sagging under the train. The smoke had increased so that the engineer was helpless. He could not see the train behind him. Burning trees lay across the track and were being tossed aside by the engine. Suddenly the track gave way and the train toppled off to one side. No one was injured and they pressed on to Pokegama station, a few rods ahead. But a few feet in front of the engine was discovered a gorge sixty feet wide and forty feet deep, where the trestle had been burned away. They succeeded in reaching the clearing about the station and escaped with a few burns and bruises. There were burned along the track, however, four or five people, including Dr. Kelcey, of New Brighton who had come up to look after his brother. The people who were left in the city were in what seemed to be an almost hopeless condition. Egress by one only means of transportation that could hope to distance the swiftly advancing flames was out of the question. The men had been fighting the fire for hours and the women and children were in a panic stricken condition. Many of them were of the more ignorant of the population, for avery large percentage of the people who got out on the Great Northern railroad were of the more intelligent class. Horses were harnessed to buggies and wagons. Women and children were hurriedly loaded up. In some cases attempts were made to carry off some household goods, but in most instances the people had no thought for aught but their lives.

Probably two hundred of them left town on foot or in vehicles, plunging into the woods to the north across the Grindstone river which skirts the town on the north. They were literally fleeing before the pursuing demon of the fire. Over the hill that rises beyond the Grindstone is a swamp and to this most of the people with teams headed, but it proved no protection. The fire gave them no opportunity to go further. Some abandoned their teams and ran into the lower portions of the morass, but the fire sought them out. Not one was left to tell the tale and there this morning in a space of a little more than four or five acres were counted over one hundred and thirty corpses. There were many families of five, six and seven and there they lay, the man generally a little in advance, the mother surrounded by her little ones cut off by the most horrible of deaths.

Nearly all the bodies were nude, the fire having burned every vestige of their clothing their blackened and charred many of the corpses beyond recognition and where whole families were wiped out as they were and some of the bodies completely incinerated, identification is absolutely out of the question.

Those who fled to the north on foot followed the Duluth track, and so rapid was the progress of the flames that many of them were actually burned as they fled, falling on the right of way for a distance of three miles or more. Nearly thirty bodies were recovered along here. Some of the foremost of the escaping citizens met the Duluth train coming in from the north. It was due a Hinckley at 4:05. Engineer Jim Root was at the throttle. He stopped the train and took on board about one hundred and twenty-five of the refugees who crowded into the train, completely filling it for it had a passenger list almost as large. By this time the woods were blazing on each of the track and as Root reversed his engine and started back the cars scorched and crackled in the heat. Root ran the train back about three miles to Skunk Lake and the people escaped from the burning cars to the water, and no lives were lost, either of passengers or refugees.

The people who remained in Hinckley, fared the best of all. The Eastern Minnesota tracks mark the eastern tract of land probably embracing at least ten acres. It was purchased for a gravel pit to furnish material for the fill which approach the company's bridge across the Grindstone and at other points on its line. To the fact that it had been used for this purpose almost to its exhausion, about a hundred Hinckleyites owe their lives. The whole area indicated had been excavated to a depth in the center of thirty or forty feet. There was a stagnant pool of rainwater in the center three feet in its greatest depth. The pit was wide and deep and to it fled those of the citizens who were willing to trust to its friendly depths. There were probably a hundred of them, and in addition to the human beings quite a number of domestic animals, horses, cows, oxen, pigs, chickens, etc., sought safety here.

At Sandstone.

The situation at Sandstone is even more appalling than at Hinckley, except in point of numbers. Of the 200 people living in the town, one fourth are dead. Otto Stafferfeldt of Sandstone walked into Hinckley and rode down to Pine City to-night and tells a graphic story of the disaster. He says that last night about 5:30 flames neared the town and the people prepared to leave early. The wind blew like a hurricane and as the people were getting ready to leave, the fire closed in on three sides, not a single person saved a thing except his clothes. Stefferfeldt carried two children to a place of safety, and went back for more. About 160 went to the river and fifty or sixty were burned to death. At 4 o'clock this morning Mr. Stefferfeldt saw over forty bodies, charred and burned, lying on every side. The people who were saved have been all day without food or shelter and no relief could be got to them to-day. The people are living on potatoes and carrots left in the ground. Sandstone is about three miles from Sandstone Junction on the Duluth road and the fire was on both sides of the river so that the town of Partridge was burned.

Mr. Gilboy, conductor on the Eastern Minnesota came down to eighteen miles north of Hinckley and found all bridges burned, including big birdges over Kettle river and the Grindstone, walked down to Sandstone and found only a handful of people. One gentleman, Mr Sanborn, found forty-seven dead bodies lying uncovered in the sun. The people are destitute of everything. They need food, shelter, clothing and medical attendance. The only building left is the brick school house, which is all burned out inside.

The people are living on the river bottoms, without shelter. General Manager Farrington at Duluth, was telegraphed, as wires are open, to within two miles of Partridge, and asked to send a train to within seven miles of the place with provisions and medicine.

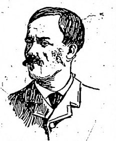
In addition to forty-seven bodies at Sandstone, there are twenty at Kettle River Junction. One family is living in a root house and the father is missing. All the settlers in the vicinity are probably burned to death. O'Neill Bros. had twelve camps in the woods near Sandstone, and all these are burned. Most of the inmates, however, are believed to have escaped with their lives.

There are about eleven homeless families still at Mission Creek, but they have provisions for about twenty-four hours. Brook Park, two miles west of Hinckley, is burned and there about 125 people there, many of whom are in need of immediate relief.

PENNED IN BY FLAMES.

A Train Load of Passengers in Fearful Peril.

St. Paul, Sept. 3.—The experiences of the crew and passengers of the St. Paul Q Duluth limited train which was caught and destroyed near Hinckley, were thrilling and horrible. Such sights as were witnessed there were never befor surpassed in horror, and the stoutest hearts quailed in the face of the awful situation which confronted the 200 souls on board the ill-fated train. Fire in front of them, fire on all sides of them, cracked and roared and rushed along with fiendish eagerness, sweeping everything before it, while vast volumes of heavy smoke shut out the light of heaven and total darkness reigned. Men who were there shudder and grow pale when they speak of it. They saw strong men go mad and leap from the train in their delirium into the fiery furnace outside, and they heard their last wild shriek of agony ere the flames had stilled their cries. In the coaches were many women and children, who shrieked and cried and piteously begged God to spare their lives. The little ones clung wildly to their mothers, and their mothers on their knees prayed for deliverance from the flame.



Engineer James Root.

The members of the train crew went through the coaches, giving the people all the encouragement they could, and imploring thm to keep cool.

At the throttle of the locomotive stood one of the bravest men who ever drove an engine, and his mad race for the lives of his passengers will be recalled long after James Root has passed away. Fire came in at every window of his cab, and three times his clothes caught fire. Had he abandoned the throttle he would have sacrificed his own and 200 other lives. With wonderful courage and stoicism he remained at his post, and directed the fireman to throw water on him from the tank in the tender, and in this way he was enabled to resist the approaches of the demon, and eventually save the lives of his passengers. It was one of the bravest and nerviest deeds on record, and Root is ahero to-day.

As the train was passing through the fire eight or ten men jumped out of the car windows and perished. The train finally reached Skunk lake, and the passengers took refuge in the water, which was but two or three feet deep. One or two persons died of freight and two or three more suffocated, but the others were saved after being in the swamp seven hours.

POKEGAMA GONE.

Many Lives Lost and Many People Missing.

Mora, Minn., Sept. 4.—Yesterday afternoon several of the surving families living at Pokegama Station, seven miles west of Hinckley, were brought in by hand cars to Mora and the balance will be brought in to-day. Several dead bodies were found by the rescuing party, and twenty-two are missing, with very little chance of their being found safe. The following is a list of the dead: Fred Molander, wife and two children. Charles Olson and Miss Nora Olson.

These are missing: Thomas Raymond, wife and three children. Charles Anderson, wife and three children. Oscar Larson and his sister, David Goodsell, Charles Whitney, Mr. Barnes and J. Breman.

TWO MORE TOWNS.

Barronett and Granite Lake Destroyed—Families Missing.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 3.—Barronett, with 500 population, eight miles north of this city, and Granite Lake, a small town four miles north of here, were both completely wiped out of existence by fire. The people barely escaped with their lives, and have been brought to this city. Four families are still missing and it is thought they may have perished in the flames. Great excitement prevails here to-night. Fifty millions of feet of lumber were burned at Barronett; and 5,000,000 feet at Granite Lake. Railroad bridges are row on fire, and the track at Barronett is warped entirely out of shape.

FIRES DYING OUT.

Welcome Rain Falling and Worst Believed to Be Over.

Duluth, Sept. 4.—At 7:30 this morning the relief train which left here at 4:15 p. m. yesterday on the Duluth road returned with about 250 refugees, who tramped it across the country from Sandstone. Later a train left here consisting of, three coaches, a baggage car and two air brake box cars with a large amount of provisions for settlers in the vicinity of Rutledge. The cheering news has arrived from Rutledge, which is as far as the wire works, that rain is falling. All the stations between here and Rutledge report the fires dying out, and that no further trouble need be feared, provided a strong wind does not come up.

THE WORK OF RELIEF

MINNESOTA CITIES BUSY WITH RELIEF WORK.

Kind Hearted People Are Assisting in Every Possible Way—Provisions and Clothing are Being Collected and Sent to the Sufferers—Gov. Nelson's Appeal for Aid.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 4.—Relief parties sent out in various directions return and report finding more bodies and it is safe to say that the loss of life in this part of Minnesota and across the line in Wisconsin will not be less than 500 and many think that it will reach a thousand.

Among the good citizens of Pine City who had opened their hearts, their homes and their public buildings to their stricken neighbors, all was bustle and activity. The town hall was kept open all night, and coffee and plain fare served to all comers. The court house, the school house and many a private home was thrown open. Every blanket in the town was called into service. The women and children were given the better quarters, and the men stretched out in rows on the floors of the two public buildings named. Before daylight the town was astir. The arrangements for the relief of the destitute further up the line, where hundreds of men women and children are not only homeless, but absolutely without a scrap of food or bedding or extra clothing, were taken up where they were dropped at midnight. The appointed committees met and got their work well in hand. Before 7 o'clock in the morning the construction train, loaded with bridge material for the repair of the bridge across the Grindstone river at Hinckley, came up from Rush City.

A couple of hundred loaves of bread and other light provision were placed on board in charge of Judge J. O. Nethaway of Stillwater, representing the relief committee. A party of laborers to dig graves and inter the bodies was collected, and the train proceeded into the burned country. At Hinckley the provisions were loaded on to a hand car manned by Judge Nethaway and a volunteer crew, and a start was made across the shaky bridge to Miller, nine miles further north, where are reported a dozen or more dead and three or four times as many hungry and homeless. From Miller they expect to work east to Sandstone, about five miles across the country on the Eastern Minnesota railroad, where there are between forty and fifty dead and a couple of hundred living who were saved in Kettle river and in the great Sandstone quarries. About 11 o'clock the bridge was sufficiently repaired to admit the passage of a train and an engine, freight car and caboose, with a plentiful supply of food and a meager store of coffins in charge of Undertaker O'Halloran of St. Paul, was sent north.

Above Skunk Lake the work train reported twelve bodies on the right of way, presumably settlers. In retrospection, the most sorrowful feature of the terrible fatality at Hinckley is the thought that had the situation been realized in time not a single life among the residents need have been lost. The Great Northern gravel pit, where only a hundred sought safety, is about ten acres in extent, broad enough and long enough to have sheltered every soul in Hinckley with all their domestic animals. There is a pool of water of considerable depth. The banks are bare of grass or shrubbery, and there was no inflammable material near the brink on the side from which the fire came. Those who did seek this haven passed the hours of their enforced imprisonment in comparative comfort.

This morning a detail of twenty regulars from Fort Snelling, under command of Capt. Hale and Lieut. McCoy, and an army surgeon came in from St. Paul. They brought some tents, but finding that Adjt. Gen. Muehlberg had sent up 180 state tents, the regulars turned in and put up fifty of them for the refugees with regular army expedition. The local physician was about played out, and there was an abundance of work for the army surgeon.

A portion of the tents will be put up at Hinckley.

During the day at Pine City the arrangements for systematic aid was taken in hand by H. H. Hart, of the board of corrections and charities, acting as registrar. Mr. Hart was equipped with blanks for the registration of the name of the applicant for aid and his wife, their birthplaces, their children, residence and length of time in Minnesota; occupation, whether he owns his home, if mortgaged, and for how much; amount of insurance, what property left and its value; addresses of friends, financial ability, needs and where the applicant desires to go. The matter was attended to in great detail. During the Day Mr. Hart registered seventy heads of families, representing upward of 200 persons. The work will continue tomorrow and until all are registered. The matter of specific relief in each case will then be taken up by the executive committee, and the funds and supplies at their command will be apportioned in accordance with the needs of each and the ability to supply them. The committee appointed by the citizens of Minneapolis has arrived. It consists of Dr. Wayland Hoyt, Hon. C. M. Loring, George N. Marchant, Hon. F. G. McMillan, Ald. Gray, W. H. Rendell and O. P. Clark. This committee was met at the hotel by Messrs. Hurley, Hodge and J. F. Stone, of the local committee, Bishop Gilbert, H. H. Hart and J. T. Maunix. The Minneapolis gentlemen were in search of information upon which Minneapolis people could base their relief operations. Dr. Hoyt speedily drafted a report which he submitted to the assembled gentlemen for their approval. The report contains an estimate of the population of the burned towns as follows: Hinckley, 1,000; Sandstone, 300; Mission Creek, 100; Brook Park, or Pokegama, 113; Partridge, 100.

From this number about 400 are to be deducted as dead, and with a further deduction of those able to help themselves, leaving about 800 to be relieved in various ways. Contributions of transportation money, clothing, stoves and household utensils and lumber is desired. The latter should be of all grades from rough lumber to sash and doors. A general contribution will be recommended in all the churches next Sunday. No particular effort to force a large subscription, but the generosity of the people will be allowed to show itself in natural channels. There is a strong suspicion that among those who have been in Hinckley ostensibly for relief purposes there have been a lawless few who have played the part of ghoul and vandals. Many of the bodies had money and valuables on them, and in some cases, whose number can only be conjectured, from two or three which are known, they were stolen. One body was found in which the trousers were intact and the pockets had been turned inside out.

GOV. NELSON'S PROCLAMATION.

An Appeal for Aid for the Sufferers by the Holocaust.

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—Gov. Nelson has issued the following proclamation:

State of Minnesota, Executive Department. To the People of Minnesota: Information of an official character has reached me that the villages of Hinckley, Sandstone, Mission Creek and the neighboring towns and farms have been destroyed by forest fires; that hundreds of lives have been sacrificed, and suffering and destruction are on every hand; that the survivors of this terrible devastation are in immediate need of food, clothing, shelter and everything that makes existence possible.

This appalling disaster appeals to every heart of Generous impulses, and the case is one that demands the immediate and liberal assistance of all good citizens of this state.

Now, therefore, I, Knute Nelson, governor of the State of Minnesota, in view of this awful calamity which has befallen our people, and by virtue of the authority in me vested, do hereby appeal to all liberal and public spirited citizens, to all municipalities and to religious and benevolent institutions of this state, to take immediate action toward securing contributions for the relief of the prevailing distress.

I hereby appoint the following state commission, authorized to receive contributions of money and supplies, and to expend and disburse the same:

C. A. Pillsbury of Minneapolis.
Kenneth Clark of St. Paul.
Charles H Graves of Duluth.
Matthew C. Norton of Winona.
Hastings H. Hart of St. Paul.

—Knute Nelson.

TO THE RESCUE.

Minnesota Cities Busily Organizing Relief Work.

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—The citizens and members of the chamber of the chamber of commerce who assembled this morning to take action for the relief of the fire sufferers raised nearly $4,000 in cash subscriptions before adjournment, and appointed a large committee, representative of the various organizations and business interests, to take charge of the contributions made and solicit others. A relief train was sent out this morning loaded with provisions and clothing.

Minneapolis, Sept. 4.—A public meeting was held this morning and as a result a car load of food and clothing was sent north. Quite a sum of money was also raised.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 4.—A citizens' meeting was held at the city hall to-day to begin providing relief for the Hinckley people, and large contributions are already received of money, clothing and provisions. Isaac Staples dispatched 400 sacks of flour, and cars loaded with goods will leave this evening. Private contributions will reach $2,000, and the city council will appropriate that much more. Stillwater will do everything possible to aid the stricken people.

INCENDARIES AT WORK.

In the Midst of the Excitement Several Fires Are Set by Fiends.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 4.—Smoke and dirt-begrimmed settlers of the forest have been straggling into Ashland all the morning with tales of losses of homes and everything on their farms. They are taken into homes and everything possible done for their comfort and relief. To add to the intensity of the scene at Washburn, incendiaries got out and commenced starting fires in different portions of the city. Five have been arrested. Three of them were caught in the act. When they were first arrested rumors of lynshing were prevalent, and a large number of deputies were sworn in and placed on guard in different parts of the city, with instructions to guard the docks in particular.

A straggler who walked in from Benoit this morning says that everything is gone there but the mill and lumber yard. Fires have passed on all sides, and there is no more danger of the inhabitants being burned. At Ashland Junction the passenger train got in the midst of the flames and it caused the greatest consternation among passengers, women and children screaming for dear life, and it was impossible to quiet them.

Cable and Mason, along the Omaha line, cannot be reached, but it is thought they are unharmed. The bridge at Bibon has been repaired, but the Omaha will not endeavor to start traffic again until all bridges are thoroughly repaired and tested; it will do transferring. The Central is again running on schedule time.

MILACA IS SAFE.

A Great Northern Train Ditched at Pokegama.

Milaca, Minn., Sept. 4.—The fire here was gotten under control this morning without doing any material damage to property in this village, but heavy losses are reported from the surrounding country. Many of the farmers have lost everything. The Mille Lacs Lumber company here lost 400,000 feet of logs and one of the dams on Rum river. The threatened danger at Bridgman is also over, as hundreds of men have been fighting flames. A special train from St. Paul has reached here. Another train is ahead of this one, about four miles, where the fire is raging. These trains will soon follow and get as near Hinckley as possible. No report can reach here from the latter place, as all communication is cut off. The engine, tender and baggage car of the St. Cloud local train went throug Pokegama bridge today. No one was injured. Wrecking crews are unable to reach the wreck.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.

C. D. O'Brien's Story.

Hon. C. D. O'Brien, of St. Paul, who was a passenger on the Duluth train describes his experience as follows:

"When we left Duluth at 1:55 it was very smoky so that we could not see across the bay to Superior. The wind was southwest and still rising. We saw some fire between Duluth and Thompson, but nothing to cause alarm. It grew smokier and smokier, however, until when we reached Barnum the sun went entirely out of sight, although the sky was cloudless. The train moved cautiously beyond here. At 3:16, fourteen minutes before we reached Hinckley, it became perfectly dark—as black as the blackest midnight. The lamps were lighted in the cars and there was absolutely no reflection of the light outside. I was then in the smoking room of the chair car. After fourteen minutes, as we approached Hinckley, we could see the tops of the trees dimly. We stopped, and as I looked down towards the front of the train I could see the sun was shining and supposed that we were then through the worst of it. Just then a crowd of people burst out of the woods on our left. They came towards the train, and as they reached the wire fence I could see that the men were dragging the women and children through it, tearing their clothes as they did so. They were all making a strange sound—a sort of moan. They scrambled up the banks to the track and were taken into the cars. By this time it had grown suffocatingly hot all about and we heard a heavy roar, and looking out on the right of the train, we saw that the flames were upon us, a mass of fire, moving, and Twisting Like a Cyclone.

I stepped back into the car and shut the door just as it struck the train. We began to move backward, and just as we moved every window in the car fell in with a crash. The men drew down the rubber blinds and those lasted about half a minute, and the women tore off the linen coverings from the seats, wet them and held them up. Meantime the train was getting up speed. It gave one lurch and I thought it was off the track, but it recovered and went on. By the time we had got up full speed we were out of the fire, but the train was in flames. We struck a gust of smoke that was cooler, and as both the front and rear of our car was on fire the only thing to do was to get out as quickly as posible. One side of the rear platform was still in.

"Some one shouted 'Stay in the car,' and some of the women went back and had to be taken out again. I saw that where we had gotten off the grass was short and seemed wet, so that it seemed unlikely that the fire would catch there. We all lay flat, with our faces to the ground. The line of fire was then 300 or 400 feet away, I thought. I crawled along on the ground to what seemed to be a sandy path or the bed of a stream, where we lay for a while. All this time the air was full of smoke this time the air was full of sparks and fire, and the women's dresses were catching fire all the time. The colored porter of our car stood with his back to the flames, using the fire extinguisher to put out the flames as they caught the clothing of the women and children. He was a brave man. Some one said that they had seen the gleam of water as the train had passed a point above where we then were, and I crawled upon my hands and knees till I saw that there was water there, and we got the women and children into it.

Capt. Gorman's Escape.

R. L. Gorman, president of the St. Paul board of public works, was a passenger on the train with his wife, and Mr. Gorman feels satisfied that a number of those on board must have perished.

"We had," he said, "about eighty passengers on the train, as near as I can judge, before we took on the refugees near Hinckley. I think we took on about fifty of these refugees, making the total number on board when the train stopped at Skunk lake 130. But when the rescuing party reached us there were not over fifty or sixty at the swamp. You can readily see that there could not have been very many when they were all taken out on two double hand cars.

"I know there were a number who started north along the track after getting off the train, for I and my wife started in that direction, and we could see a lot ahead of us. The wind blew such a shower of cinders over us that I concluded to head back for the opening. I did not know at the time that there was any water there, but thought we would be better off on the little opening. The colored porter, John Blair, was the first to tell us about the water, and he urged us to go to it. Mrs. Gorman was so overcome she could hardly reach it, and when she did she sank down exhausted. Such a terrible night as we spent there is beyond the power of man to describe.

"Short as was the time it took to run the train back it is a mystery how it got through, for the sea of flames and flying cinders through which we ran was simply appalling. It was just like being hurled through a roaring furnace. I am at a loss to understand how it was that the train was not run back sooner, for it had become so dark almost an hour before that the lamps had to be lighted in the coaches. It was as dark as it could be at midnight. I am satisfied the train would have continued on to Hinckley had it not been for the refugees, and probably every one aboard would have been burned to death or the whole train hurled through the bridge.

"Too much can not be said in praise of those who disregarded their own sufferings and applied themselves to the work of caring for others. [illegible] cially active, as was also Dr. Harry O'Brien, though the latter was very ill himself. It is to them principally that Mrs. E. N. Saunders and her five children owe their lives. Blair, the colored porter, also deserves great credit, as do the whole train crew, for the heroic interest taken in all the passengers."

SAVED A LITTLE GIRL.

Albert W. Speyer Badly Bured While Rescuing a Child.

George E. Schnabel, the St. Paul insurance man, was a passenger on the St. Paul & Duluth limited train which was burned; and while he escaped with a few small burns, the impression produced on his mind from the awful scenes he witnessed is exceedingly painful.

"There is one young man," said Mr. Schnabel yesterday, "whose bravery should not pass unnoticed. Albert W. Speyer of Duluth, a member of the firm of Alexander & Speyers, risked his life and sustained painful injuries in rescuing a little girl from the burning coaches. The child was alone from Duluth to Minneapolis, and was neglected in the wild rush of the passenger to leave the burning train and seek refuge in the swamp. Mr. Speyer heard the girl crying in the flaming car, and at the peril of his life ran back, threw his coat over her head and brought her to the swamp in safety. In doing this he was severely burned on the hands, ears, face and neck. It was a brave deed.

"While the train was running back from the Hinckley bridge to Skunk lake we saw many men, women and children making their way through the bush, and there is no doubt in my mind a large number of these poor people perished, as the flames swept down immediately the train had passed. In fact so great was the heat in the train that the windows of the cars were shattered, and I with several others pulled down the shades to prevent the sparks blowing in. We had to abandon this plan, however, for it became too hot and the wind was a perfect hurricane, carrying burning sparks with it in a cloud of fire. The engineer brought the train to a standstill I was not aware there was water near by, so I soaked my overcoat in the washbowl and throwing it over my head, went out on the track. There I saw Conductor Sullivan, and I walked back one-eighth of a mile with him. Then as the fire came closer I asked him where he was going. He said he was going for help. He pushed ahead, and that was the last I saw of him. I made sure he would perish. I stood on the track for half an hour, with the fire sweeping overhead and the air filled with smoke and sparks. Then I struggled back towards the train and remained till relief came."

HE TOOK STRYCHNINE

SENSATIONAL SUICIDE OF A ST. LOUIS MAN IN ST. PAUL.

Will L. Pitthan Takes Ten Grains of Strychnine Because Miss Kent Did Not Reciprocate His Affections.

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—"I have carried out my threat."

This was the message to a friend left by Will L. Pitthan of St. Louis, who committed suicide in his room at the Hotel Ryan last evening. Unrequited affection is the cause assigned for the act. After many weeks passed in St. Paul in the vain endeavor to win the love of Laura Kent, he finally realized the hopelessness of his suit and swallowed ten grains of strychnine, enough to kill twenty men. Three hours later he died in horrible convulsions, though Dr. Talbot Jones exhausted every means in his power to counteract the effects of the poison. The dose was too great. Letters left behind by Pitthan show that it was a deliberate case of suicide and Coroner Whitcomb will hold no inquest. Pitthan was a large, fine looking man twenty-five years of age. He was a druggist in St. Louis and came to the Northwest to visit last June. He spent part of the time at Prior Lake, but later came to St. Paul, and falling in love with Miss Kent, decided to remain all summer.

In his letters to his roommate, James Small, he explains that he "died for her sake," and "died thinking of her," and makes a pathetic appeal that she be notified of his death so that she may take one last look at him before he is taken home. The last time he saw Miss Kent was on Saturday night at the union depot when she took a train for Nashua, Minn., to visit an uncle. She was sent there by her parents in order to be free from Pitthan's unwelcome attentions. He was wildly infatuated with the young lady, and directed in his letters that a telegram be sent her informing her of his suicide, and that every possible effort be made to find her.

"I told her that I was not afraid to die," the letter read, "and at last I have carried out my threat."

Immediately below the sentence was a stain which was evidently made by a tear. Pitthan was undoubtedly much moved when he penned his farewell note.

GOES TO GRAY GABLES.

President Cleveland Lose No Time in Joining His Wife.

Washington, Aug. 29.—President Cleveland left Washington via the Pennsylvania railway at 7:30 this morning for New York, on his way to Gray Gables. His companions on the trip were Secretary Lamont, who goes to join his family at Bayview, L. I.; Private Secretary Thurber, who is bound for Marion, Mass., where his family are summering, and a gentleman whose face was not familiar to the railroad officials. The party arrived at the station a few minutes after 7 o'clock and proceeded at once to the private car of President Roberts, which was attached to the train. The president took a seat on the rear platform of the car, and with the other members of the party spent fifteen minutes in watching the arrival of other early travelers. There was a good sized crowd at the station when the president arrived there, most of whom were encampment visitors, waiting for trains to go home. Few knew that the president was expected and fewer still recognized him as they passed the coach.

HIS HEAD IN A BASKET.

Abbe Bruneau Is Guillotined at Lavalle, France.

Lavall, France, Aug. 30.—Abbe Bruneau was executed at 5 o'clock this morning. Bruneau was awake when the officers entered his cell to tell him it was time to prepare for the execution. When he was dressed the condemned man heard mass and received communion. He prayed the pardon of God and man for any faults he might have committed, and also asked that the clergy might pardon him for breaking his vows of chastity. He then informed the attendants that he was ready. He showed great coolness until he arrived at the foot of the scaffold, when his fortitude seemed to leave him. An enormous crowd was present and the people cheered when the criminal's head fell into the basket. He left a two-page letter in which he protested his innocence of the crimes with which he was charged. The order for the execution was not received until 5 o'clock last evening. When it became known to the people it caused general rejoicing.

The Czar Ill.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The health of the czar is causing general anxiety in Russia. There is no longer any doubt that his majesty is threatened with grave kidney troubles. It has been apparent for some time to those who have seen the czar in public that he is a sick man. He has grown thin, his complexion is pale and of a bad color, and he has the air of a man who is greatly fatigued.

Elliston Burned.

Helena, Mont., Aug 30.—The town of Elliston, twenty-eight miles west of Helena on the Northern Pacific, was wiped out by fire early this morning. The flames started in the livery stable, burning both ways on Main street, destroying about a dozen buildings. The only places left standing are the postoffice and railroad depot. Loss $20,000, insurance light.

Adjusting a Big Loss.

Ashland, Wis., Aug. 30.—Twelve insurance adjusters from different parts of the country are in Ashland this week adjusting the losses to John R. Davis' lumber plant at Phillips. John R. Davis, B. W. Davis, their Chicago attorney, and a party of six accountants are present.

Killed in California.

Stillwater, Minn., Aug. 30.—A telegram received here announces the killing of A. K. Shaw at Dunsmuir, Cal

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.? a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St, Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St, Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent,

C. A. Brink was doing business a Thief River Falls yesterday.

C. G. Rapp drove up to Thief River Falls, this morning on business.

Louis Gouler, of Crookston, was in town the first of the week on business.

W. C. Stranahan and Peter Dainard visited friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

S. M. Hoff drove down to Crookston last Thursday.

Oscar Olson came over from Fosston last Monday to visit his parents.

A. D. Wishard was shaking hands with friends here last Friday.

The first frost of the season occured yesterday morning.

Judge R. J. Montague, of Crookston, was in town a couple of hours today.

Deputy Sheriff Losey, of Crookston, was in town on business a short time last Friday.

Mrs. C. G. Rapp returned from Crookston last Friday.

E, H. Stranahan came up on last Friday's train and will remain a week hunting prairie chicken.

L. T. Berg, of Crookston, is in town this week looking after McCormick collections.

T. A. Wylie, of Thief River Falls, was in town today on his way to Red Lake Falls.

Miss Mary Kvande went down to Red Lake Falls last Monday, where she will remain a week visiting friends.

Charles Danielson, of Cannon Falls, came up last Friday to visit his sister Mrs. E. J. Holmes. He left for home today.

August Svenson is passing around the cigars on the arrival of a baby girl at his place this morning. Mother and child are doing well.

LATEST STYLES and lowest price in ladies and childrens cloaks. I will not be undersold.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr.
Crookston Minn.

The dry weather has been hard on the prairie chicken hunters and poor bags are being made this season. It is thought that many chickens have died for lack of water.

Gunstein Frick, the well known Norwegian poet and Frankie Stokes, the Aeolian harp player were in town several days this week hunting the festive prairie chicken.

WE LEAD in low prices and reliable goods. Call and get prices on "the latest" in fall and winter dress goods. Send for samples.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr.
Crookston Minn.

The social given in the M. E. Church by the young ladies of the village was very successful and was one of the most enjoyable of the season. They had a good attendance and all report having passed a very pleasant evening,

S. M. Dainard was threshing the first of the week and reports some good yields. He got 14 bushels of flax to the acre on a piece south of here. Flax is worth $1.10 here so the crop is a profitable one. He also reports 50 bushels of barley to the acre.

Praire fires have been burning in every direction the past week and considerable damage has been done. The country was never so dry and in many places the sod burns to a depth of six or eight inches.

D. L. Billings and Dr. G. A. Beck, of West Superior, Wis., are hunting chicken in this vicinity this week, Mr. Billings is the head of the Billings Hardware Co., the firm that E. H. Stranahan is traveling for.

The threshers are still at work pounding out no. 1 hard in a manner that makes farmers happy. Reports of heavy yields are numerous and we will have more wheat to sell than was expected.

F. H. Gambell the popular teacher in the Euclid schools, has returned from an extended visit in the old countries. While absent he visited Scotland, England, Ireland, France and some other countries, and took in points of interest in this country. The several months' vacation was thoroughly enjoyed by Mr, Gambell.—Crookston Times.

If the statement of the fiscal condition of the national treasury, before and since the beginning of the Cleveland administration, as published by the American Economist is true, it confirms the populist doctrine that a gold basis is robbery of the people; that sound national financiering demands the issue of gold, silver and paper money on equal terms as legal tender for the payment of all debts public and private, and the forbidding of contracts confining the payment of any debt with either. With such a system the national treasury could not be embarrassed by the cunning or dishonesty of millionaire money kings. The organs of plutocracy quote the American Economist's statistics in favor of an increase of the national debt by selling bonds for gold, an idiotic policy that should be abandoned at once. A national debt is a curse having no ligitimate place in advancing civilization, A nation has power to provide for its expences without borrowing.

The St. James Journal very pertinently remarked that it is a mighty narrow minded bigot who cannot find something to admire in an opponent in politics. The man who is honest in his political convictions is always a good citizen and it is doesn't matter much whether he is a democrat, populist or a republican. The man to whom it makes a differance is usually a candiddate for office, and we have noticed that about all they want is votes, regardless of where they come from. An independent, honest thinker in political matters is not a bigot and he usually has respect for the convictions of others. —St. Peter Herald.

Mathow Cornelius, for many years deputy auditor of this county, has handed in his resignation. Mr Cornelius has made one of the most efficient officials in the county, and has made a host of friends by his uniform kindness in looking after the wants of the patrons of that office. He is throughly posted on matters pertaining to the auditor's duties, and has held the position of deputy through several administrations, which fact is sufficient evidence of his worth and ability. Mr. Will Vannet has made deputy auditor He has been in the office for several years and is a young man of sterling integrity.—Crookston Times,

The Review of Reviews, published in London and New York pays the following tribute to our party and the income tax plank of our platform:

The populist platform adopted at Omaha on the 4th of July 1892 had expresly demanded an income tax. The adoption therefore by the Democrats of this Populist plank, dealing with a matter of such cardinal importance, may justly be called a mighty manifestation of the working of the populists leaven. So great a third party triumph as the acceptance by the dominant party of this income tax demand, is almost without a parallel. It lifts the populist party to a position of dignity and prestige that had not been previously accorded to it.

Frank Gravel and E. B. Swygart spent a couple of days here hunting, the first of the week. Mr. Gravel was deputy game warden for this district but sent in his resignation the first of the month. Said he: "I am going home to resign again. The way the chickens have acted this trip makes me tired and I don't believe they deserve any protection. Just think of all the time I have spent in their behalf and to have them act in this manner makes me excessively weary. I have done with them and henceforth they can take care of themselves."

Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin was visited by one of the most disastrous forest fires in the history of the country last Saturday and Sunday. several hundred people and millions of dollars worth of property were burned. The towns of Hinkley, Sandstone, Pokegama, Barronnette, Mission Creek, Miller and other small towns were completely wiped off the map.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

If you intend to ship your wheat on track this fall it will pay you to give me a call, Have had 30 years experiance shipping grain and can save you money if any one can,

O. H. Peters.

We are in receipt of H. P. Hall's new daily paper the St. Paul Morning Call, The paper is well made up, is bright and newsy and should succeed.

Things are quiet in political circles at present but it is but the lull before the storm and we may expect red hot times in a few weeks,

Hans Langseth and John Burkee, of Thief River Falls, were visiting friends here last Sunday.

Henry Norland was in town last Monday on his way to Crookston where he will start to work.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S, M, Dainard's.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's warehouse.

W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the village council held at the village hall on Monday August 9th 1894.

On petition it was resolved to build a side walk on the east side of block thirty-seven (37) village of St. Hilaire as follows to wit;

Commencing at the north east corner of lot twelve (12) of said block thence south along Broadway to the south east corner of lot one (1) of said block,

Said sidewalk to be five feet wide and to be built out of two inch pine plank with three (3) stringers under the same

Said sidewalk must be built within thirty (30) days after this notice, if not it will be advertised and let to the lowest bidder and charged to the lot or lots fronting or abutting said sidewalk,

The number of running feet of sidewalk to be built by owners in said block are as follows to wit:

Leonard Holmes, lot 1 and 2,	50 feet.
Unknown, lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7	125 feet.
E. M, Hoff, lot 8,	25 feet.
St. Hilaire Townsite Co., lot 9,	25 feet.
A. L. Patterson, lot 10,	25 feet.
A. J. Miller, lots 11 and 12,	50 feet.

Dated at St. Hilaire Minn., this 15th day of August 1894.

C. G. Rapp, Village President.
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder.

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school

The Normal department embraces:

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades,

[c] A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

[d] A kindergarten training course [at Winona. St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents, first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 31st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR.

Hamline (St. Paul) Sept. 10 to 15 1894

The Great Nortaern Railway will sell tickets for this occasion at one fare for the round trip, plus fifty cents for admission to fair grounds. Dates of sale Sept. 9th to 15th inclusive, final return limit Sept. 17th. For territorial limitation, tickets and full information apply to H. J, Freeman, agent at St. Hilaire, Minn,

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall' Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

Rain is badly needed at present as the country has not been so dry in years and plowing is almost impossible on clay lands at least.

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily			Daily
NO. 3 North and West			NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m	Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m	"	Minneapolis	9 55 am
1 35 a m		Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am	Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am	De	Crookston	Ar 4 00 pm
11 00 am	Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St, Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U, S Land Office at Crookston Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12647 for the S W ¼ Sec, 3 Twp. 152 R, 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law,

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

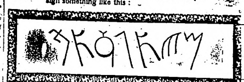
Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

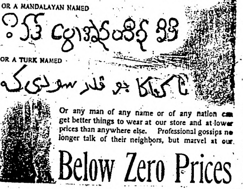
AN AMERICAN NAMED

JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED

生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED



OR A TURK NAMED

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. B. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

Not in Advance. $2 00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 5 1894.

WISCONSIN MOVING.

There's a Fair Chance That Bob Schilling Will Be Right "In It" This Fall.

Now that the party of corporation has named Bill Upham of Marshfield as its standard bearer and Boss Wall has viewed the act from a theater box and decided to give George W. Peck another trial it might be remarked that an event which took place on the great Independence day in this city is just now beginning to attract the attention it deserves.

Reference is made to the selection of a People's Party ticket, which at that date was laughed at and regarded by a majority of people as a joke and by some of the Populists themselves as a mere matter of form. But few can see farther than the ends of their noses in these times, and indeed it would be surprising if they had in this instance. Who would have believed a month ago that the People's Party had a ghost of a show in Wisconsin, the railroad ridden, trust tortured, monopoly muzzled, corporation cinched old Badger State?

This latest unpleasantness, the battle with Pullman, has had a farreaching effect. It has gone straight to the hearts of thinking men in the old parties, and they have determined to place this state out of reach of the men who have controlled its affairs for years and abused the power given them.

They argue that the party which indorses Grover Cleveland, the United States senate and the rest of the Democratic rottenness is not to be trusted in power in Wisconsin. Liberal Democrats by the hundreds left the party in this city and state when the Erie county hangman sent the federal troops to Chicago, and where did they go? Not to the Republican ranks. That would be out of the pancake griddle into the fire.

Robert Schilling has had a little platform of his own for about 20 years, and up to within a short time he has held it down with his own weight practically unassisted. But Schilling is a determined though conservative man, and he has at last been rewarded by the long looked for stampede from the old parties to positions by his side, and he has generously "moved over" and given up part of his space on his planks to thousands of men who have been his bitter opponents and detractors. There's a big crowd with him in Wisconsin, but he says there's room for many more, and they are all welcome, only he wants them, like the revivalist, to come now, this very minute, and be saved before the breakers strike and engulf them with the ancient and wornout hulks they have been sailing upon.

A locomotive engineer said today that there were 40,000 "railroad" votes in Wisconsin. Every one of them ought to be cast for Nicholas F. Lawler, People's Party nominee for railroad commissioner, and the rest of the ticket, and if half that number will go to the polls election day and do their duty Wisconsin will have a state officer who belongs to the American Railway union, a governor who is in hearty sympathy with their cause and other officials who will give railroads in Wisconsin their first lesson in obedience to the laws of the commonwealth.—Milwaukee Cor. Chicago Times.

WHERE ARE WE AT?

Now Is an Excellent Time For the American Citizen to Get His Bearings.

It might be well for us as a people to devote a few passing moments in ascertaining, if possible, "where we are at." During the campaign of 1892 the Republican party defended its record and attempted to justify its position, and on such presentation demanded further power from the people. The Democratic party denounced the Republican policy and promised to change it for the good of the country, and upon these promises and declarations asked for votes.

The Populists condemned the course of the Republican party, denied the sincerity of the Democratic party and denounced its promises as a brazen attempt to deceive. Upon the principle of drowning men catching at straws the people accepted the promises of Democracy and placed that party in power.

Since the inauguration of President Cleveland in March, 1893, there have been 11 months devoted to sessions of congress, with both branches absolutely in control of the Democratic party, and what has been accomplished? Absolutely nothing for the benefit of the people or in compliance with the pledges and promises made previous to the election of 1892. During this time a bankers' panic has raged with unequaled fury. Bankruptcy and ruin have been the rule, while all property values have been nearly eliminated. Silver as a money metal has been absolutely destroyed, and that, too, against the wishes of three-fourths of the people of the country. Interest bearing bonds have been issued by the secretary of the treasury in collusion with the money owners of the east and in strict violation of all law.

After a most disgraceful struggle for nine months over a tariff bill one has been evolved reeking with corruption so contemptuous and so vile, so far from conforming to campaign pledges, as to stand unequaled as the product of vicious and ignorant legislation. It stands as a monument of dishonor to any party and a disgrace to any people.

These are the fruits of the present administration, and by them the people are to judge of their condition. Absolutely helpless so far as present redress is concerned, the people of this country stand deceived by past promises, betrayed by present legislation and defied by all the powers that now control the government. Is it any wonder that plutocracy, drunk with the riot of wealth that legislation and administrative trickery have placed within their grasp, is fleeing surfeited with its plunder to Europe? Is it any wonder that the commanding general of the army is demanding larger forces? In the entire wretched and distressing conditions is not the greatest source of wonder to be found in the single fact that the people suffer such conditions to continue?—National Watchman.

POSTAGE STAMP FAD.

IT BEGAN AS A HARMLESS AMUSEMENT AND BECAME A MANIA.

Millions of Dollars Are Locked Up In Bits of Paper That Have No Real Value—Some of the Rare Specimens For Which Fabulous Prices Are Asked and Given.

The postage stamp mania is one of the most curious of human fads, remarks a New York writer. A collection of coins is at the most worth the weight of the metal. Not so a collection of stamps. The fashion may go out as it came in, and then the stamps will be only so much waste paper.

The fad broke out in 1861 in the form of a few sporadic cases among schoolboys and maiden ladies. It was not only a harmless fad, but in the case of the schoolboys it was even an educative one. It proved the easiest, the pleasantest and the most efficacious way of driving knowledge of geography into the adolescent mind.

But now that these first few sporadic attacks have developed into something alarmingly like an epidemic one begins to speculate whether the craze of the philatelist is not a distinct bar to human progress, inasmuch as it consumes a large amount of brain force and vital energy that might better be turned into other and more useful channels of activity.

In the United States alone there is an organization called the American Philatelic association, which numbers 1,000 members. But this represents only a small fraction of the philatelists actually in the country.

The greatest and most famous of living philatelists — considered merely from the philatelist point of view—is M. Philippe de Ferrari, a dignified, courteous and white haired old gentleman who lives in Paris. He is a son of the late Duchess de Galliera, who was also a passionate lover of stamps.

His collection is valued at $500,000. He has been known to pay $500 for an album which contained only a single stamp that he coveted. For more valuable collections he has never limited his expenditures.

Next to the Ferrari collection comes that of Baron Arthur de Rothschild, which is so valuable that its owner, with the true jealousy of the collector, reserves the pages containing his rarest treasures for the delectation only of himself and his most intimate friends.

Now, what constitutes the enormous value of these collections? It is not the number of the specimens. There are more than 6,000 different varieties of stamps now actually in existence. A certain number can be obtained at comparatively light expense.

But the rarer ones command large prices. Never mind whether the rarity was created by age or accident.

The MacMahon stamp in France is the blue rose, the unattainable ideal of the collector. When the marshal was president of France, his wife was anxious to see his image set in stamps.

Designs were accordingly prepared, but the postal commissioner rejected them and adopted another design. Nevertheless there is a legend that some of these MacMahon stamps got into circulation. If a single specimen ever turns up, it will be priceless.

Another lost pleiad is a postage stamp issued by the government of British Guiana in 1856. It has disappeared from the market, and specimens held in the hands of private collectors are valued at $250.

A set of four 1850 stamps also issued in British Guiana bring anywhere from $400 to $500, and a set of four 1852 Hawaiian stamps are valued at $1,500.

The 15 and 30 cent reunion stamps bring $500. The New Brunswick 5 cent stamp, with the head of O'Connell, is rarely parted with under $150.

Rare is also the black Canadian 12 penny stamp, valued at $125.

But the collector does not stop at legitimate issues of stamps. He gives fancy prices for varieties of shades, for perforations, errors and watermarks.

At a recent stamp exhibition in Vienna an enthusiastic collector named Giwelb displayed with pride the "error" of France—a stamp of 25 centimes printed in blue instead of black, the "error" of Afghanistan and a stamp with a missing ornament in a corner.

Dr. Mallmann of Vienna had even more wondrous delights to unfold, for he was the proud possessor of the two rare "errors" of the Cape of Good Hope, stamps of 1 penny and 4 pence respectively, which are blue instead of red and red instead of blue.

Such "errors" fetch a very high price, kept down only by the uneasiness of creating new "values" by wanting misprinting.

No article on philately could be complete without some notice of the 1,000,000 postage stamps myth. This still survives in vague and uncertain forms in the rural districts, where it is believed that some vast benefit, financial or other, will accrue to any one who collects 1,000,000 stamps and forwards them to the proper address. But the proper address is never known.

A Unique Prescription For the Liver.

A young clerk whose sedentary life and lack of exercise have left him with a sluggish liver and all the evil consequences thereof visited a well known physician recently and was advised to regulate his diet to the utmost plainness and to take horseback exercise daily. The young man frankly told the doctor that he could not afford to keep or to hire a horse. The doctor asked him where he was employed and was told that he was a clerk in a certain corporation which is housed in an enormous building on Broadway, and that his office was on the tenth floor.

Quoth the doctor: "That's just the thing. You don't need to hire a horse. Walk briskly down the 10 flights of stairs three times a day, and it will do your liver just as much good as if you were jolted on horseback during an hour's ride."

The gentleman's friends will probably appreciate after they have read this why he persists in walking down stairs at a good gait instead of taking the elevator. The doctor added that no exercise was more gently stimulating than walking down stairs and nothing more severe than walking up stairs.—New York Mail and Express.

A venerable Chinaman of Amoy has been engaged for 32 years in fashioning in miniature an elaborate pagoda of ivory and stone. It contains upward of 35,000 pieces, and when completed, which will be in about five years, will be sold for $500.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Governor	SIDNEY M. OWEN.
For Lieutenant Governor	E. E. LOMMEN.
For State Auditor	A. L. STROMBERG.
For Secretary of State	P. J. SEBERGER.
For State Treasurer	F. BORCHERT.
For Attorney General	J. A. KEYES.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court	C. H. JOHNSON.
For Chief Justice.	SUMNER LADD.
For Associate Justice	J. W WILLIS.
For Member of Congress	HALDOR E. BOEN.
For State Senator	P. M. RINGDAL.
For Members of the Legislature	J. D. KNUTESON. N. L. NELSON.
For County Auditor	S. J. LEE.
Fo. County Treasurer	JOHN GLEASON.
For Sheriff	J. T. BEAUDRY.
For Clerk of Court	ANDREW STEENERSON
For Register of Deeds	JOHN VIG.
For Probate Judge.	ALBERT WICKSTROM.
For County Attorney	C. M. BENSON.
For School Superintendent	L. E. GOSSMAN.
For County Surveyor	O. McCRILLIS.
For Coroner	O. L. HAMERY.
For County Commissioner 4th Dist.	JOHN DWYER. HENRY NORLAND

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 374 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter (NW ¼) and lots three (3) and four (4) of Section numbered three (3) in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four (44) containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894.

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 24 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Beason for abandoning his homestead entry no. 14129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

Lycoming's Early Judiciary.

"Fair-Play-Men" was the title giv a part of Lycoming county, ew densely populated and dotted w rosperous towns and cities. The rietary government, with a view rotecting the Indians from intrusio d forbidden the survey and sett ent of the region, but some hard tre d and hard handed Scotch-Irish pi ocers found their way into the forbi en territory, and being outside the i mediate jurisdiction of any properl constituted tribunal they chose three heir number to settle disputes and cal d them fair play men. The decision of this tribunal, especially as to bound aries, were enforced by the whole com munity and came in time even to be re spected by the courts. When a chie justice of Pennsylvania asked one of th first pioneers what were the features the fair play code, the pioneer is re ported to have answered that since hi honor's court had found its way int the region fair play had fled and law had taken its place.—Philadelphia Press.

As to Marriage.

Father—I understand you think of getting married?

Son—Yes, sir.

Father—Have you given the matter your calm consideration and deliberated thoroughly upon the gravity and importance of the step as well as upon the uncertainties and possibilities of the new relation?

Son—No, sir.

Father—You have not? And why have you not?

Son—Because, sir, I really want to get married.

Father—Um—er—ah—I guess you are right about it. Go ahead. It's the only way, I fancy.—Detroit Free Press.

Brought Her Repartee Along.

Just as the door of the city clerk's office was due to be closed for the day two young ladies called and stated that they were looking for a marriage license.

"This is not the place," explained the sober faced clerk. "The clerk of the court issues them at the courthouse, but you are too late to get down there before he goes home."

"Isn't that provoking?" remarked one of the maidens, with a pout equally provoking. "They told us that this was the place to get licenses."

"It is—dog licenses," the facetious clerk answered.

"The license is for me, not you, sir," answered the girl, and a deep hush fell over the city seal.—Minneapolis Journal.

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—o—DEALERS IN—o—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks al ways on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. Taking up Wear at Every Point. MATTED RIBS.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

T I CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

The World's Tribute to
Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
Highest Honors Awarded by the World's Columbian Exposition,
Chicago, 1893.

World's Fair Medal and Diploma awarded to
Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award was given on every claim, comprising superiority in leavening power, keeping properties, purity and excellence. This verdict has been given by the best jury ever assembled for such a purpose, backed by the recommendation of the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who made an elaborate examination and test of all the baking powders. This is pre-eminently the highest authority on such matters in America.

This verdict conclusively settles the question and proves that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is superior in every way to any other brand.

NOTE.—The Chief Chemist rejected the Alum baking powders, stating to the World's Fair jury that he considered them unwholesome.

Bedroom windows should never be entirely closed if the person occupying the room is strong.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The Boston Globe speaks of "a lady equestrienne." A lady equestrienne is a female woman who takes equestrian exercise on horseback.

A correspondent asks to know when gloves came in. Gloves came in when sparring exhibitions with the bare fists were forbidden by law.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children Teething.

Thibet, though nearly half as large as the United States, has only 4,000,000 inhabitants.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The telephone is about to be introduced into China, and the Chinese might as well make provision for additional insane asylums at once.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it

If there is anything that worries a man who wears patent-leather shoes, it is to have bootblacks try to convince him that he wants a shine.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

In a great many obituaries at this time of the year the following words could appropriately appear: "Departed this life by the ice-water route."

Don't Tread on Me,
Vibrates the rattle snake with his rattle. Sensible people take alarm at the chill which ushers in chills and fever. If they don't know they should, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the preventer and remedy. Nor should they forget that it remedies dyspepsia, liver complaints, nervousness and debility, and is a general tonic without equal.

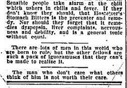
There are lots of men in this world who are born to rule; but the other fellows are such a pack of ignoramuses that they can't be made to realize it.

The man who don't care what others think of him is not worth their care.

FREE!
THIS KNIFE! Fine Steel. Keen as a razor. Good, strong handle.
Mailed free in exchange for 25 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee Wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine Premiums.
WOOLSON SPICE CO.,
450 Huron St., TOLEDO, O.

Caton College
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
$100 PAYS BOARD, TUITION AND BOOKS, for six months, in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, and English studies.

TRADE MARK
LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.
They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.



Davis' Cream Separator Churn, power hot water and feed cooker combined. Agents wanted. Send for circular. All sizes Hand Cream Separators.
Davis & Rankin B. & M. Co. Chicago.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup.
Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION.

Wonderful Indian Runners.

Nevertheless they show even then a remarkable endurance. An Indian has been known to carry a letter from Guazapares to Chihuahua and back again in five days, the distance being nearly eight hundred miles. In some parts where the Tarahumaris serve the Mexicans they are used to run in the wild horses, driving them into the corral; it may take them two or three days to do it, sleeping at night and living on a little pinole. They bring in the horses thoroughly exhausted, while they themselves are still fresh. They will outrun any horse if you give them time enough. They will pursue deer in the snow, or with dogs, in the rain, for days and days, until at last the animal is cornered and shot with arrows, or falls an easy prey from sheer exhaustion, its hoofs dropping off.—From "Tarahumari Life and Customs," by Dr. Carl Lumholtz, in the Scribner.

Suicidal.

Wife (reading newspaper)—According to the statistics I see that the number of marriages decreases, while the number of suicides is increasing.

Husband—That's easily explained.

"How so?"

"Men are beginning to prefer the less painful method of getting out of this world."

The year 1894 corresponds to the 1898th from the birth of Christ, to the year 7403 of the Byzantine era, to the year 5654-55 of the Jewish era (the latter year beginning at sunset on Sept. 30,) to the year 2647 since the foundation of Rome to the year 2554 of the Japanese and to the years 1311-12 of the Mohammedan era, the year 1312 of the era of the hegira having begun on the 5th inst.

One of the finest bridges in Europe is now being constructed across the Danube at Cernavoda, Roumania, by French engineers. It has a length of 2,400 feet, divided into five bays. Its height is 103 feet to the roadway and its highest point is 123 feet above high water. It is of steel and is supported on thirty piers.

KNOWLEDGE

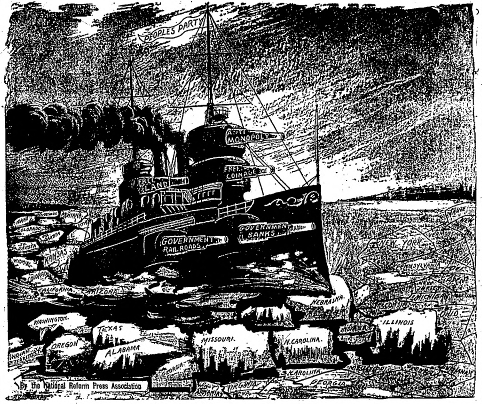
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

MARRIAGE PAPER with 1,000 "personal" ads., lists of rare books, novelties, etc., mailed free. GUNNEL'S MONTHLY, Toledo, Ohio.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS



By the National Reform Press Association

BREAKING THE ICE.

AMONG THE RECORDS.

HOW THEY VOTED ON THE EXTENSION OF NATIONAL BANK CHARTERS.

The Power of the Banks Over the Currency and Over the Business of the Country.

No question before the American people is equal in importance to the money question, and no phase of the money question is of equal importance to that relating to the power to issue it. The constitution of the United States gives congress the power to "coin money and regulate the value thereof." To coin means to create, and the Supreme court of the United States has said that congress has the power to issue or create paper money, and to make it a legal tender in the payment of debts. In 1840 the democratic party declared that "congress had no right to charter a United States bank." They further declared that "such an institution was dangerous to the liberties of the people and calculated to place the business of the country within the control of a concentrated money power and above the laws and the will of the people." That plank was reaffirmed in every platform up to 1860. Since that time both parties have espoused the cause of the banks of issue. Jefferson said that "banks were more dangerous than standing armies." At another time, in a letter to Mr. Eppes, he said, "bank paper must be suppressed and the circulating medium restored to the people to whom it belongs." John C. Calhoun said, "The bank is a union of the government and the money power—a union far more dangerous than church and state." Henry Clay said, "I conceive the establishment of a national bank dangerous to the safety and welfare of this republic." Thos. H. Benton said: "Government ought not to delegate this power (issuing money) if it could. It is too great a power to be trusted to any banking company whatever, or to any authority but the highest and most responsible government." In two of Andrew Jackson's messages he opposed it with all the intensity of his nature. In his farewell address he said:

"The result of the ill-advised legislation, which established this great monopoly, was to concentrate the whole moneyed power of the Union, with its boundless means of corruption, and its numerous dependents, under the direction and command of one acknowledged head; thus organizing this particular interest as one body, and securing to it unity and concert of action, throughout the United States, and enabling it to bring forward, upon any occasion, its entire and undivided strength to support or defeat any measure of the government. In the hands of this formidable power, thus perfectly organized, was also placed unlimited dominion over the amount of the circulating medium, giving it the power to regulate the value of property and the fruits of labor, in every quarter of the Union; and to bestow prosperity or bring ruin upon any city or section of the country, as might best comport with its own interest or policy."

No principle in political economy is better established than that the volume of money regulates its value as compared with commodities. In other words the volume of money in circulation fixes prices. Then the power that controls the volume of money also controls prices of commodities. For this very reason, says Daniel Webster: "Congress was given control over the currency." The establishment of the National bank was a surrender of that power. The bankers have used it to their own advantage and against the people. The system of national banks, is a nutshell is, the people collectively as a government loaning money to the bankers at 1 per cent and borrowing it back at 10 and 12 per cent. The banker gets interest on what he owes and the people pay interest on what is coming to them. No one doubts the stability of the bank notes, because they are backed up by the government—the people. They are based upon the wealth and credit of the nation. But why the people should loan them to the banker at 1 per cent and borrow them back at 10 and 13 per cent, is something that nobody but the banker can explain, and he says "it is business, you know." Many a democratic speaker has pledged the party to repeal this system, but we find when they have the chance they walk in the footsteps of the republicans and are really in favor of granting the banks still further privileges—Mr. Voorhees introducing a measure to that effect. When the bill came up to extend the charter for twenty years longer, July 12, 1892, the vote was as follows:

In the Senate.
FOR EXTENDING THE CHARTERS.
Republicans........................28
Democrats...........................6
Total..............................34
AGAINST EXTENSION.
Democrats..........................11
Republicans.........................2
Total..............................13

In the House
FOR EXTENDING THE CHARTERS.
Republicans.......................103
Democrats..........................42
Total.............................145
AGAINST EXTENSION.
Republicans.........................3
Democrats..........................56
Greenbackers........................8
Total..............................67

This was a very light vote. Seventy-eight democrats dodged the vote. Had they come up and voted as they had talked and promised the bill would have been defeated. The democrats have made no effort in the present congress to secure the abolition of these banks or of the system. Their promises have all fallen to the ground.

FUSION.

The Shelby, Neb., Sun, disposes of the fusion question as follows:

"No fusion.
Fusion is suicide.
Fusion is cowardice.
Fusion is damnation."

That's right, brother, stick to it. If there isn't anything in this fight but offices the Populists had better get out of it. That is what the republicans and democrats are fighting for. There is no fusion without compromise of principle. Nominate straight tickets and if the minority party don't want to vote for it let them join the other old party. Them's our sentiments. W. S. MORGAN.

Cleveland and Sugar.

The enormous importation of sugar at New York has excited a sugar discussion. Experts estimate the protection to the trust in the senate bill, exclusive of the 1-10 cent on refined sugar from bounty-paying countries, at 35¼ cents a hundred pounds. This rate they say will be authorized to levy upon 1,600,000 tons a year, which will amount to nearly $12,000,000. This enormous sum Mr. Cleveland proposes to give to the sugar trust in recognition of its liberality to his party's campaign fund.

LEADING journals already concede to the Populists a balance of power strong enough to dictate the next senator from Illinois, and that balance from Chicago alone. The country is largely anti-monopoly and will see to it that Chicago does not corner all the third party legislators.—Chicago Searchlight.

LOCAL POLITICS.

If It Does Not Agree With the Platform and Action of the National Party It Is a Fraud.

The effort is being made in the west and south to deceive the people again on the silver question. Although the national platform contained a plank declaring for free silver on an international basis, which means an increased ratio and the consent of Great Britain, that declaration was misconstrued in the campaign of 1892, and nearly every southern and western democratic congressman, and many republican congressmen, were elected on the strength of their declarations in favor of free silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, and without awaiting the action of any other government. Everybody knows the result. A majority of both parties voted against free silver. Both candidates for President in 1892 were opposed to free silver. This is the record and it can't be wiped out. This means that the government of the United States has practically gone out of the business of "coining money and regulating the value thereof," and has turned that prerogative over to the bankers. It means that the whole business of this country is now placed in the hands of perhaps fifty bankers and brokers who can contract or expand the currency at will. Who can produce a panic whenever they desire and force the government to issue bonds at their bidding. In some of the southern states the democrats have incorporated a 16 to 1 silver plank in their platform. In California the republicans have done the same thing. If this is not for the purpose of deceiving the people, why is it? With eighty majority in the house the democrats were unable to pass a free silver measure. No sane man claims for an instant that the majority will be able to increase that majority. On the other hand it is more than likely that it will be reduced. If the democratic party, then, could not give us free silver with eighty majority, how can we hope to have it from a house with a reduced majority. The facts are plain. The democratic party is opposed to free silver. That is, a majority of their leaders are. If the western and southern democrats are sincere in their declarations for free silver let them cut loose from a party that is responsible for its defeat. What can the minority expect to do against the majority when it is known that the majority is and will be assisted by the republicans. If the southern democrats are in favor of free silver let them show themselves to be so by attaching themselves to a free silver party. No one expects free silver at the hands of the republicans. Their record is against that party with more force than the democratic party. Only fifteen out of one hundred and twenty-eight votes were cast favored free silver. The adoption of a free silver plank in the state platform, as has been done by the republicans of Arkansas and the republicans of California, is a fraud, a delusion and a snare. These men know that so far as its influence in national affairs will extend it amounts to nothing. It is simply a case of a promise of the tail to wag the dog. It is put there to catch votes. It is not the policy of the national parties nor will it ever be put into effect by them. Again we say if they are in earnest with regard to free silver, let them join a free silver party—the People's party.

KELLY JOINS THE POPULISTS.

A Prominent Indiana Democrat Formally Announces His Change of Faith.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dispatch: The report that Freeman Kelly, one of the foremost democrats in northern Indiana, has joined the Populists is confirmed. Mr. Kelly was a candidate for congress in his district several years ago, and was defeated by John H. Baker, now United States district judge, by forty votes. Kelly served two terms in the legislature. In an interview Mr. Kelly says:

"I have left the democratic party and shall never return to it. The democrats have lied to me long enough. The party has made promises year after year and has failed to keep them. It has been captured by the gold bugs in the east, and the great west, which is suffering for the want of money with which to do business, need never expect any assistance from it. I have left the party because it has not been true to its principles on the money question. I have joined the Populists because that party represents my views on the money question. We need more money with which to do business. The circulation per capita has steadily decreased until there is not enough money with which to carry on the business of the country. The people can not expect relief from either of the old parties. Neither can get away from the power of Wall street. The latest cry is for an international monetary conference. Why should we go into an international conference while we are starving here at home for want of money? Let's look after our own affairs first; let's give the country money on which to do business and the cry of hard times will soon pass away."

Industrial Peace.

As the Australasian democracy comes into its political inheritance it may be expected to insist on industrial peace, for the simple reason that it has so much to suffer through industrial war. As peace without arbitration means surrender, arbitration will be demanded. The general election in New Zealand has insured the passing of a compulsory arbitration act within the next six months, and I venture to think that New Zealand is in this likely to be but a step ahead of the continental colonies. To those of us who think this experiment inevitable, it seems of more moment to study the methods of making it than to attend to primitive outcries against socialistic interference with the liberty of the subject. Madame Roland's ejaculation, "O liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!" is echoed by many a student of our industrial system. Least of all will the liberty to submit or to be beaten be valued in a country where the democracy has to reckon with the female vote. Women workers must of necessity arbitrate or yield; fight they can not. Expecting as I do in the near future the establishment of industrial arbitration throughout Australasia, I must own to a feeling of pride that this great and noble experiment in the cause of law and order will be the special work of the much dreaded democracy. For I hope and believe the labor party will mark its coming into power by providing legal means to gain industrial justice by orderly and judicial arrangement, instead of trial by combat, and will begin its reign by what is in truth a message of peace.

HOW SILLY!

Congress accepted the senate bill and then turned round and passed bills to put coal, iron and sugar on the free list. This is like voting against the only silver law we had in order to clear the deck for free silver. It will end about the same. The house was either bought, bulldozed or scared into their support of the senate bill with all its monstrosities. It was simply a confession of weakness that is wholly inexcusable. If the sugar trust and a few senators are going to dominate legislation what is the use to have a house? It is silly now for the house to send bills to the senate to undo the mistake it has made. Those bills have been voted on separately in the senate and defeated. It is a clear case of dishonesty or incompetency.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
Make you weak and weary, unfit for work, indisposed to exertion. They show that your nerve strength is gone and that your nervous system needs building up. The surest remedy is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, creates an appetite and gives sound, refreshing sleep. Get Hood's and only Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25c.

A Near-Sighted Citizen.

Citizen (excitedly)—Officer, there is a dance hall open around the corner. I heard the music. And on Sunday night, too!

Policeman—You must be near-sighted. You can see by the bills at the front of the house that it ain't a dance hall. It's a sacred concert.—New York Weekly.

Two men at work on an iron ship at the Norfolk Navy yard were killed by electricity recently, though there was no visible lightning flash. The ship acted as a condenser and conductor and poured the current through the men, who were standing in water.

A Cook Book Free.
"Table and Kitchen" is the title of a new cook book published by the Price Baking Powder company, Chicago. Just at this time it will be sent free if you write a postal mentioning this paper. The book has been tried by ourselves and is one of the very best of its kind. Besides containing over 400 receipts for all kinds of pastry and home cookery, there are many hints for the table and kitchen, showing how to set a table, how to enter the dining room, etc.; a hundred and one hints in every branch of the culinary art. Cookery of the very finest and richest as well as of the most economical and home like, is provided for. Remember "Table and Kitchen" will be sent, postage prepaid, to any lady sending her address (name, town and State) plainly given. A copy in German or Scandinavian will be sent if desired. Postal card is as good as letter. Address Price Baking Powder Co., Chicago, Ill.

Both.

It is difficult to rebuff a person who can adapt himself to any circumstances. A man who applied for a position as teacher in a public school, was informed that there was no vacancy. He was not in the lest discomfited.

"What did you say it is your schools ain't provided with?" he asked.

"There is no vacancy."

"No vacancy!" he exclaimed, with an engaging smile, "Jes' so! Exactly! I comprehend. Well, you see I never did teach in a school that had a vacancy. In the country, you know, the schools don't have 'em. I'd jest exactly as soon undertake the school without one. Fact is, I shouldn't have no use for one, if only the salary's paid reg'lar."

This tale should have as a companion piece another about a musician who thus answered an advertisement issued by a colored school:

"Gentlemen: I noticed your advertisement for organist and music-teacher either white or colored. Having been both for several years, I wish to offer my services."

LIBERAL PREMIUMS

To Club Raisers on the Campaign Offer—The Weekly Pioneer Press.

The Weekly Pioneer Press expects to double its circulation before election. They are willing to pay for it.

Read carefully: To each of the three persons sending them the largest list of new subscribers to the Weekly Pioneer Press for 10 cents from now until after election they will present, free of charge, a complete set of the Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica, in ten volumes; 2,000 illustrations, 90 full-page maps, new and complete, valued at $50 per set.

A $75 sewing machine free: To the lady sending the largest club will be sent free, freight prepaid, an elegant five-drawer sewing machine, complete—nickel-plated attachments, automatic bobbin winder, oak finish, etc. No better or handsomer machine made.

Every person sending a list of twenty or more names will receive free a handsome cloth-bound book—their choice of 300 titles.

The list of club raisers and the number they have to their credit will be published every week in the Weekly Pioneer Press, so every one can tell just where he stands.

It will be easy. Think of it! Only 10 cents for the Weekly Pioneer Press until after election. Every one will give you 10 cents for a great family paper nearly three months. Tell your friends you are working for a Prize. They will help you.

Send in your names every week so the papers can be sent promptly. You will receive credit for them just the same as if they were all sent at once. Send 10 cents for every name. Two cent stamps accepted. Any number of samples for distribution sent free of charge on request. Address all letters to

WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS,
St. Paul, Minn.

Unless than you think more than you talk, perhaps it would be just as well not to talk much.

The Farmer's Bank.
His best bank is a fine meadow, a big potato patch, a forty in World's Fair winter wheat, and twenty acres in monster rye. The best meadow is made by sowing Salzer's extra grass mixtures THIS FALL. It yields from 3 to 5 tons magnificent hay per acre. The Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, who are the largest farm and vegetable seed growers in the world, will send you a package of new wheat and rye, and catalogue upon receipt of 4 cents postage. w Fortune never changes men. It only brings out what is already in them.

MADE LIFE A BURDEN.
MISS G. F. CRAWFORD, of Limestone, Me., writes: "For years I suffered monthly from periodic pains which at times were so acute as to render life a burden. I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I used seven bottles in as many months and derived so much benefit from it and the home-treatment recommended in his Treatise on Diseases of Women that I wish every woman throughout our land, suffering in the same way, may be induced to give your medicines and treatment a fair trial."
MISS CRAWFORD.
"Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, invigorating tonic and a soothing and strengthening nervine, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor. For every "female complaint," it is the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't cure, you have your money back.

Minn. Hist. Society

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1894. NUMBER 6.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PASTWEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

A division for the testing of road-building materials may be established in the interior department.

Labor Commissioner Wright, says the investigation of the strike was successful, and believes it will result in great good.

The secretary of the treasury is in a dilemma as to the enforcement of the free alcohol schedule of the new tariff law.

Personal Mention.

Senator Jacob Cantor of New York and Miss Lole Fuller, the dancer, are engaged to be married.

Rev. [illegible] Haskell, a Methodist minister, died at Greencastle, Ind., from a stroke of paralysis, aged 59 years.

Rev. P. Sward of Rock Island, Ill., president of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana synod, has been decorated by King Oscar of Sweden.

Sara Bernhardt is expected to make a tour through Scandinavia during September and part of October.

Roswell Bills, prominent in political and business circles of Peoria, Ill., where he had resided since 1849, is dead.

Gen. O. O. Howard will reside at Burlington, Vt., after his retirement from the army, and is having a house built overlooking Lake Champlain.

It is authoritatively announced that Cardinal Gibbons will visit Europe during the fall. He will visit Rome and remain abroad some months.

Mrs. L. C. Wade, widow of the president of the Mexican Central railway, has bought a handsome house in Ingersoll's Grove, Springfield, Mass., where she will live.

Baron Harden Hickey, who has purchased the Island of Trinidad, near Rio Janeiro, and proclaimed himself King James I., is an ex-newspaper man, having once been managing editor of a French newspaper called Le Triboulet.

It was the boast of the late John Arkins, of the Rocky Mountain News, that he went through the war without raising above the rank of corporal. He was a member of the Fifth Minnesota, of which Archbishop Ireland was chaplain.

Col. William E. Bundy, the new commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans, is a nephew of ex-Gov. Foraker, a grandson of ex-Congressman Bundy, of the Tenth Ohio district, and the son of a soldier who died of his wounds received in the war. His wife is the daughter of John P. Leedom, ex-sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives.

Unfortunate Events.

The buildings at Pimlico park, Baltimore, burned. Loss $40,000.

Martin Gorman of Chicago was killed by the cars at Whiting, Ind.

Levi McKinney, night watchman at the Jack Oak mine, Albia, Ia., was killed by the cars at that city.

The residence of Thomas Herman at Wichita, Kas., was destroyed by lightning and two children were killed.

Thomas Carter and an unknown boy were killed by the wrecking of an excursion train at Camden, Pa.

While attempting to swim across East River in New York on a wager, F. W. Markoe was drowned.

Mrs. J. McPete, her two children and a nephew were caught in a water spout near Perry, Ok., and drowned.

Frank Couver, aged 7, while playing in Lebanon, Ind., fell through a warehouse hatchway and was killed.

William Perkins, aged 13, was killed at Illiopolis, Ill., by the kick of a horse.

Miss Lulu Lemon, while boat riding with companions at Goshen, Ind., fell out of the boat and was drowned.

In a collision of trolley cars at Darby, Pa., fifteen persons were injured, some of them seriously.

Mrs. Thomas McEnery and her child were run down on a bridge and killed by a train near Fulton, Ill.

Fred Davis was drowned in Rock river, near Dixon, Ill., by his boat capsizing. Two companions were saved.

Miss Marion Glendenning and Kittie Keutze, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., were drowned in Oyster River.

Joseph Hanna was killed at Brunswick, near Mexico, Mo., by the westbound passenger train while crossing the track.

While scuffling on the footboard of an engine at Danville, Ill., W. C. Langdon and W. Lee fell off and were fatally injured.

The steamer Bon Voyage took fire while going down the St. Lawrence. Her passengers were panic stricken, but were safely landed.

At Burbank, Ohio, the Methodist church, twelve dwelling-houses and five barns were destroyed. Aid was sent from West Salem.

While trying to cross a stream at a point near Guthrie, Ok., in a buggy the occupants, Mrs. John McPhee, her two children and Miss Mabel Hill, were thrown into the water and drowned.

George Johnson was killed in a mine at Duquoin, Ill., by the explosion of a powder can in which a pistol had been placed and connected with the cock.

Criminal Doings.

Mrs. George Huntley committed suicide at Holland, Mich., by shooting.

Constable John Cratsley was fatally shot by burglars at Warren, Ohio.

James Coulson, aged 60, of Webster City, Iowa, killed himself by shooting.

Police Sergt. Nicholas Sheehan was shot dead at Cleveland, Ohio, by two burglars.

During a quarrel over a woman Joe Smith shot and killed Walter Mitchell at Red Cros, Ind.

A plot by the Hatfield-McCoy gang to escape from the Kentucky penitentiary has been discovered.

Two prisoners escaped from the jail at Hillsdale, Mich., by cutting through a twenty-inch wall.

Mrs. Kate Clemmer, wife of Dr. Ferd. Clemmer, committed suicide at Indianapolis Ind., by taking poison.

John Stime and family, nine persons, were poisoned by arsenic which had been placed in their well at Hartford City, Ind.

Gus. Cornell. alias Jones, Bill McComb and Bill Clemons were arrested at New Albany, Ind., on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

Two mounted highwaymen have been creating a reign of terror in Omaha, Neb., by robbing people found out after dark.

Ex-Mayor Knight charges members of the council of Kankakee, Ill., with being corrupt, and an investigation is likely.

Dr. W. H. Houghland of Mexico, Mo., was killed by the brother of a girl with whom he had been keeping company.

It is now believed the negro lynching, near Millington, Tenn., was the fruit of a conspiracy and several arrests have been made.

John W. Haskett, a merchant at Stranghus near Greencastle, Ind., postmaster under the Harrison administration, committed suicide by shooting.

Three young men have been arrested in Seneca Falls, N. Y., charged with having destroyed property worth $200,000 by fire.

J. W. Witt, a prominent politician at Decatur, Tex., was shot dead at Henrietta, Tex., by S. Simonson of Sherman. Witt had boasted of his relations with Simonson's sister.

Six prominent men arrested at Sedan, Kan., for the murder in 1890 of John S. Frazer, a stock dealer, have been set free. A convict, who was the state's leading witness, refused to testify.

George B. Cartwright, bookkeeper for the High Brewing company at Cleveland, Ohio, has fled with a young woman and a considerable amount of money belonging to his employer. Cartwright is about forty years old. It is said that he has a wife and child in Boston.

Foreign Gossip.

Advices from China indicate that the war party is now in power and a vigorous policy is to be pursued.

Emperor William unveiled a monument at Konigsberg in memory of Emperor William I.

Seven persons were shot in Hayti for connection with a conspiracy to murder a daughter of Hippolyte.

The funeral of Agnes Wabnitz, the socialistic leader, was made the occasion for a great demonstration by Berlin socialists.

Spain has canceled the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba, to take effect when the United States applies the new tariff.

Prince Bismarck's health is thought to be jeopardized by the anxiety over the condition of his wife, who has been ill for several weeks. He is much depressed.

Sweden will soon add a fourth big ironclad to its navy. It will then have four large warships of modern type and a great number of torpedo boats and monitors, and its navy may be considered a very formidable foe to encounter in the Baltic.

The American legation in Stockholm which for five years has been situated in the most beautiful residential part of the city, will soon be removed to the Adelstam house, near the National museum, where Minister Ferguson has rented a magnificent suite of rooms.

Advices received from Cape Juby, opposite the island of Fuerteventura, on the Sahara coast, say that a band of Kobyleshas have attacked an English brig while the latter was landing a cargo at the English factory at Cape Juby. The cargo of the brig was plundered by the Kobyles, who wounded several of the English employes of the factory. The latter took refuge on the brig.

General.

Gov. Waite is nominated by the Colorado Populists.

Indians in the Canadian Northwest threaten an uprising.

Senator Jones of Nevada, formally withdraws from the Republican party and joins the Populists.

Dr. F. A. Cook's arctic expedition from New York is obliged to return its ship sinking.

Democrats elected their entire state ticket in Arkansas. James P. Clark for governor, has from 15,000 to 20,000 majority.

Indianapolis street railway men have purchased the property and franchises of the electric line at Youngstown, Ohio.

The national irrigation convention opened at Denver with about 200 delegates in attendance. Several foreign countries are represented.

The assignee of the Order of Tonti of Philadelphia reports having $1,000,000 worth of mortgages for distribution.

The annual convention of the United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit, association is in session in Cincinnati.

Henry Irving, the English actor, cabled $500 to the mayor of New York to be used for relief of forest fire sufferers.

George W. Fithian, Democratic candidate for congress in the Nineteenth Illinois district, has challenged his Republican opponent to a joint debate.

A panther was killed at the ranch of Henry Sengstacken, on South slough, Coos bay, Oregon, which measured over seven feet in length. The animal had succeeded in killing three calves and one hog before he was killed.

The employes of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company have united in a petition to the United States District Judge Bellinger to restrain Receiver McNeal from putting into effect his revised schedule of wages.

The Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Kansas, "Sid" Cooke, is temporarily out of politics, and the cause is one that may injure his prospects among the horny-handed voters of Kansas farms. It is a broken leg, caused by too violent play at lawn tennis.

A PINE CITY PANIC

RESIDENTS AFRAID OF ANOTHER FIERY VISITATION.

The Near Approach of Forest Fires Causes the Greatest Alarm—Memorial Services Held—An Address to the People of the State.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 10.—Yesterday was an eventful one in Pine City. All day long a murky haze hung over the village like a pall, which up to noon filled the people with anxious, nervous unrest. About noon a strong west gale set in, driving before it smoke, dust and cinders from the burning forests, entirely shutting out the sunlight, leaving only a cold, threatening glare on the portentious clouds. The people here strongly anticipated another Hinckley horror, and notwithstanding the fact that cool heads and calculating minds tried to reassure, the anxiety and excitement rose to fever heat. The special train from St. Paul, having the officials of the St. Paul & Duluth, ran past the town as far as Brown's Hills on its way to Hinckley, and came back and sidetracked here for the purpose of rendering all the assistance in their power should necessity require. Supt. Plough ordered a long freight train coupled up and to stand in readiness to take an active part in relief should the fire break out. However, about 4 o'clock the wind abated somewhat and the trains which had hitherto been held at different points along the line to await coming events, were ordered to move, and with clearing skies and the reassuring resumption of business the people were calmed. There is no mistake but the changed meterological conditions are such as to render the whole atmosphere a veritable tinder box, ready to explode with a spark. The woes already upon us are enough to pall the stoutest heart, and the anxious anticipation of further affliction keeps nervous excitement at an intense pitch. Memorial services were held last night

An Appeal Issued.

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—The state relief commission has issued an address to the people of Minnesota, in which it tells of the work of relief thus far carried on. The address concludes as follows:

"The fire sufferers may be classed as follows:

"First—Single men who need only an outfit of clothing and perhaps a little money to enable them to look for work.

"Second — Small farmers, most of whom have bought forty to 120 acres of land on contract, on which they have paid a small amount. Most of these people want to go back on the land. There are probably 150 of these farmers.

"Third—Villagers of Hinckley and Sandstone. Some of these people want to return at once; others may have to seek new homes if the industries at those places are not resumed.

"Fourth—Widows with small children who ought to locate in the smaller towns of the state.

"The sufferers by this fire are an excellent class of people, and they represent fairly the people of the state. Their requests are moderate, but the commission finds that a very large amount of money, building material and supplies will be needed to provide seed and food for the stock.

"While contributions of material are acceptable, the commission would remind the people of the state that money is the most portable and useful contribution possible. A large proportion of the people are farmers. They must be fitted out with houses, farming implements and supplies until they can raise a crop, and this will require a large amount of money. We appeal therefore, to all towns and municipalities to give to the extent of their ability. The commission wishes to acknowledge the magnificent liberality of the contributions already reported, and it will endeavor to use every dollar entrusted to it to the best possible purpose.

"Cash contributions should be sent direct to Kenneth Clark, treasurer, St. Paul. Those having supplies will notify him and he will send instructions as to shipment. The commission has designated its secretary, H. H. Hart, to represent it in a general execution of the work. Communications not relating to contributions should be addressed to H. H. Hart, Pine City. The commission will have representatives at Hinckley, Pine City and Duluth.

"C. A. Pillsbury, Knute Nelson, Kenneth Clark, C. H. Graves, M. G. Norton, H. H. Hart, Commissioners.

"Country papers please copy."

Around Rainy Lake.

Rainy River P. O., Sept. 1.—By Courier via Duluth.—The woods are all on fire from Rainy river to ten miles this side of Sault Rapids. At the Ghassy river road the fire jumped into the Canadian side and is doing an immense amount of damage to standing pine in that vicinity. Seven families have lost their lives, amounting in all to probably twenty or twenty-five persons. Among the known dead are Mrs. Gamsbeys and five children.

Station Sacked.

Constantinople, Sept. 10.—The railroad station at Kayit, on the Anatolat railroad, has been sacked by a band of twenty brigands, who plundered the office, taking 300 pounds belonging to the builders of the road and the laborers employed upon it.

For Congress.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 10.—Dr. J. L. Trexlor of Koutztown was nominated for congress to-day by the Democrats of the Ninth district.

Fire at Webster, S. D.

Webster, S. D., Sept. 10.—Fire destroyed the livery barn of J. C. Bush early this morning. Eight horses were burned, and the harnesses and carriages are a total loss. The insurance is $1,000, and the loss twice that.

Fatal Accident at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 10.—Anthony Lawrence, Jr., an employe of the Four Lakes Electric company, was almost instantly killed while at work in the power house.

FIRES ARE DYING OUT.

No Further Damage is Feared in Minnesota.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 11.—The forest fires that threatened Mora, Barnum and other towns yesterday are dying out, having destroyed almost all inflammable material in this section of the state. Three skulls were found today near Snake river, west of Hinckley.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of business men and persons from out of town interested in the welfare of the village was held to-day.

The Hinckley Building association was formed, with Daniel McLaren as president, R. C. Saunders secretary and Orville C. Cox, Dr. D. W. Cowan and H. D. Davis directors. They are to co-operate with H. H. Hart, of the state relief committee. Great interest was displayed, and some determination and energy which has characterized business men since their almost unsurmountable loss, was manifested at the meeting, which was held on the ruins of the old town hall. J. T. Mannix of Minneapolis addressed the assemblage and made a most encouraging and patriotic speech. Judge J. C. Nethaway of Stillwater, who has been a tireless worker since the dissster, spoke to the people. Before the gentleman was through speaking tears were in the listeners' eyes, but when he had finished their spirits were cheered and encouraged. Mayor Webster, Coroner Cowan and Treasurer McLaren, of the school board, also spoke.

Building will begin on a systematic basis and carried forward with a vim. The committee will register and render every assistance to parties who intend to rebuild. H. H. Hart will assume charge to-morrow. Three hundred people are being fed. A postoffice has been established in Hinckley relief corps headquarters. A building is going up for the postmaster. B. C. Bartlett's railroad hotel and five other buildings have been begun.

FOOD ADULTERATION.

America Should Compel Branding of Manufactured Articles.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The question of adulteration of food and drugs in this country is discussed in detail in the report of Special Agent Alexander J. Wedderburn, of the agricultural department. After referring to the fact that the public idea of adulteration of food is in many cases very much exaggerated, the report says:

"The attention of foreigners has been drawn to the fact that greater or less adulteration exists among us. As a result, foreign competitors of our manufactures of food products have used the fact to their own advantage.

"America to-day occupies the unenviable position of being one of the very few countries that fail to require by law the proper branding of their manufactured food and drugs. Whether such requirements would accomplish the desired result is unknown, but the evil would be mitigated by wholesome legislation. This belief is sustained by the results of the food laws of England and other foreign countries, as well as of the various states. The concurrent testimony of state officials charged with the enforcement of state and local laws is that a national law is necessary to secure proper enforcement of state laws."

ELECTION IN MAINE.

The Republican Ticket Elected by an Increased Majority.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 11.—It has been a good day for Republicans and correspondingly one for the Democrats, but the result was not altogether unforeseen. To rain and general apathy is due the light vote, and though the Democrats admit defeat, they do not show a symptom of discouragement. The Prohibitionists and Populists are not largely in evidence so far as returns indicate. A heavy rain put a quietus upon the telegraph and telephone wires, but returns have been received by the Associated Press from over 100 cities and towns, and these indicate that the state has re-elected Gov. Cleaves (Rep.) over Charles F. Johnson (Dem.) by a majority that will exceed 37,000, the largest in the history of the party. The Republicans have carried every county in the state, and it is estimated that the legislature will have a working Republican majority of 125, which insures the reelection of Senator William P. Frye. Thomas B. Reed was re-elected to congress by a plurality of about 10,000. Nelson Dingley, Seth H. Milligan and H. Boutelle are also re-elected to congress by majorities ranging from 6,000 to 9,000.

UNCLE SAM AFTER 'EM.

Mississippi State Officials Will Be Arrested.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 11.—Warrants were to-day sworn out for the arrest of the following state officers of Mississippi: J. M. Stone, governor; W. W. Stone, auditor, and J. J. Evans, state treasurer. William J. Burns, a special agent of the secret service bureau at Washington, who has been here for the past two months working on the special warrant case, made affidavits before Commissioner L. B. Mosley charging them with violating section 5430 of the Revised Statutes of the United States in issuing the $200,000 of Mississippi special warrants charged to be in the similitude of United States currency. The warrant was placed in the hands of United States Marshal J. McNealy. Auditor Stone appeared before the commissioner and entered his personal recognizance of $1,000 for his appearance at the November term of the federal court, waiving examination. The warrants have not been served on Gov. Stone, who was officially engaged, nor on State Treasurer Evans, who is out of the city. They will be served on the governor to-morrow.

Found Gambling.

Louisville, Sept. 11.—A special from Owensboro says: A sensation was created here this morning by an early raid made on a gambling game in progress in the rear of the Planters' house. Three officers raided the room and found Hon. Lige Sebree of Henderson, Republican candidate for congress; John Shackelford, Ernest Burch, A. Sparks, Theodore Washburn and John Walters, all well known men. Sebree and Burch pleaded guilty in the city court and were fined. All the other cases were continued to Friday.

RATES ARE REDUCED

BY ORDER OF THE MINNESOTA RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The Steenerson Case Is Decided and Freight Rates for Grain on the Great Northern Are Reduced—The Road May Appeal.

St. Paul Aug. 11—The state railroad and warehouse commission yesterday decided the famous Steenerson rate case, an appeal to the commission to order reduced freight rates on grain on the Great Northern railway, on the ground that the present charges are unreasonable. The commission finds that the first three allegations of fact in the plaintiff's complaints are true, and orders put into effect a distance tariff of rates, which make material reductions in the present charges. The order of the commission is as follows:

"Before the Railroad and Warehouse Commission of the State of Minnesota.

"Elias Steenerson against the Great Northern Railway Company.

"In the above entitled case we find the following facts:

"First—That all the allegations of fact contained in paragraphs one, two, and three of plaintiff's complaint are true.

"Second—That the rates on grain, viz: Wheat, oats, barley, rye and corn and mill products of such grains as showed by schedule "A," hereto annexed and hereby made a part of these findings, are reasonable rates for the transportation of said articles over the defendant's lines of road in the State of Minnesota, and that any greater rate is unreasonable.

"It is therefore ordered: That the tariff rates and charges on the above mentioned articles be reduced and fixed at the rates shown in said schedule 'A.'

"Dated at St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8 1894.

"By order of the commission,

"—A. K. Tiesburg, Secretary."

Schedule "A."

"Reasonable maximum rates on grain, viz: Wheat, oats, barley, rye and corn, and the mill products of such grains, as fixed by the railroad and warehouse commission of the State of Minnesota:

Distance, Miles—	Rate in Cents Per 100 Pounds.
5 miles and under	4.00
10 miles and over 5	4.25
15 miles and over 10	4.50
20 miles and over 15	5.00
25 miles and over 20	5.50
30 miles and over 25	6.00
35 miles and over 30	6.50
40 miles and over 35	7.00
45 miles and over 40	7.20
50 miles and over 45	7.40
55 miles and over 50	7.60
60 miles and over 55	7.80
65 miles and over 60	8.00
70 miles and over 65	8.20
75 miles and over 70	8.40
80 miles and over 75	8.60
85 miles and over 80	3.80
90 miles and over 85	9.00
95 miles and over 90	9.20
100 miles and over 95	9.40
105 miles and over 100	9.60
110 miles and over 105	9.80
115 miles and over 110	10.00
120 miles and over 115	10.20
125 miles and over 120	10.40
130 miles and over 125	10.60
135 miles and over 130	10.80
140 miles and over 135	11.00
145 miles and over 140	11.20
150 miles and over 145	11.40
155 miles and over 150	11.60
160 miles and over 155	11.80
165 miles and over 160	12.00
170 miles and over 165	12.10
175 miles and over 170	12.20
180 miles and over 175	12.30
185 miles and over 180	12.40
190 miles and over 185	12.50
195 miles and over 190	12.60
200 miles and over 195	12.70
205 miles and over 200	12.80
210 miles and over 205	12.90
215 miles and over 210	13.00
220 miles and over 215	13.10
225 miles and ove 220	13.20
230 miles and over 225	13.30
235 miles and over 230	13.40
240 miles and over 235	13.50
245 miles and over 240	13.60
250 miles and over 245	13.70
255 miles and over 250	13.80
260 miles and over 255	13.90
265 miles and over 260	14.00
270 miles and over 265	14.10
275 miles and over 270	14.20
280 miles and over 275	14.30
285 miles and over 280	14.40
290 miles and over 285	14.50
295 miles and over 290	14.60
300 miles and over 295	14.70
305 miles and over 300	14.80
310 miles and over 305	14.90
315 miles and over 310	15.00
320 miles and over 315	15.10
325 miles and over 320	15.20
330 miles and over 325	15.30
335 miles and over 330	15.40
340 miles and over 335	15.50
345 miles and over 340	15.60
350 miles and over 345	15.70
355 miles and over 350	15.80
360 miles and over 355	15.90
365 miles and over 360	16.00
370 miles and over 365	16.10
375 miles and over 370	16.20
380 miles and over 375	16.30
385 miles and over 380	16.40
390 miles and over 385	16.50
395 miles and over 390	16.60
400 miles and over 395	16.70

The railroad will probably carry the case to the United States supreme court.

SCORES ARE KILLED.

Terrible Accident to a French Express Train Near Apilly.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The disaster to the Paris and Cologne express train at Apilly, between Noyon and Chauney, yesterday was more serious than was at first supposed. The first estimates placed the number of persons killed at ten, with twenty injured. It is now stated that from forty to sixty were killed or injured. Twelve dead bodies have already been taken from the wreck. The minister of public works, M. Barthou, and a number of railway officials have gone to the scene of the accident. It is definitely stated that the accident was due to the slow shunting of a freight train at Apilly. The engineer of the express saw the cars on the line and reversed his engine. The shock of the collision was borne by three front cars, which sustained the brunt of the damage.

Shot by a Miner.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 11.—City Marshal Donaldson was fatally shot and M. E. Tobias, clerk for the Star Coal company, was seriously wounded today by John Urich, a miner. Urich's cow had been placed in the pound and Mrs. Urich attempted to batter down the gates and release the animal. The officer and Tobias interfered, and as they were leading the woman to jail her husband emptied his revolver at them, two shots taking effect. Urich escaped a posse of fifty men who started in pursuit.

ST. PAUL IN THE LEAD.

She is Hot After the G. A. R. Encampment.

Pittsburg, Sept. 11.—The Minnesota delegates, accompanied by representatives of various commercial organizations of St. Paul, arrived in Pittsburg this morning, opened headquarters at once and began an active campaign in an effort to secure the next encampment for St. Paul, with every prospect of success. Louisville is the only other candidate for the honor, but from a casual canvas it is thought that St. Paul is in the lead.

The parade of naval veterans took place this morning. Over 1,000 men, under the command of Rear Admiral J. B. Osborne, were in line. The old salts were cheered all along the line of march, which extended through the principal down town streets, along Fifth avenue and Smithfield street and over the Allegheny. In the parade were carried many historic relics of naval warfare, among them the torn and stained banner which floated over the good old Kearsarge when she added luster to the American standard on the high seas. The formation took place at 8 o'clock. Miss Carrie Lowe, daughter of Gen. A. L. Lowe of Fort Worth, Tex., was in the parade, carrying the colors of the Dupont Naval Association of Texas. She is a guest of Admiral Osborne, having stopped off here on her way to New York. She was the lone representative of the Lone Star State in the parade of the salts, and her appearance elicited unbounded enthusiasm. Commandant W. S. Buckland was in command of the armed camps, which presented a martial front. The First Ohio regiment, Sons of Veterans, occupied the right of line, together with the armed camps. The column was reviewed by the national officers from a stand on Cedar avenue, Allegheny.

Miss Daisy Title, the mascot of the naval veterans, who arrived yesterday from Cincinnati, was in the parade. She was dressed in regulation sailor uniform and marched beside Admiral Osborn, acting as his messenger. Miss Title has been the mascot of the organization since its inception, and is a general favorite among the tars. She will to-morrow occupy a place of honor in the Grand Army parade. The naval veterans went into their annual convention to-day. Thirty-four associations were represented. Commander-in-Chief J. G. B. Adams, of the Grand Army, arrived this morning from the East on the headquarters train together with his staff. He was escorted to the Monongahela house by a detail of national guardsmen and a band of music. Upon his arrival at the hotel the national headquarters were formally opened and there was a rush of visitors. Gov. Pattison is here. All the state headquarters have been opened, and the veterans are as enthusiastic over their hospitable reception as are the people of the city over their visitors.

Arrangements are perfected for tomorrow's big parade of veterans, when 90,000 men are to be in line. Fully 50,000 visitors are now in the city and more are coming on every train.

DALTON DEVASTATED.

An Ohio Village Almost Completely Wiped Out by Fire.

Cleveland, Sept. 11.—A special from Massillon, Ohio, says: The little village of Dalton, located nine miles north of here, was almost totally destroyed by fire early this morning. The fire originated in a stable, and, while the direct cause of its origin is unknown, it is presumed that it was prompted by tramps taking quarters there for the night. The entire loss is estimated at $200,000, the heaviest losers being the Royal Insurance company. The postoffice and its entire contents was included in the flames. Canton, Massillon and Orrville fire departments were hastily summoned, but their presence was of no avail, as sufficient water could not be procured to do any good. The citizens are frantic with grief over the loss of their business blocks and residences, and homeless women and children are seen on every corner crying bitterly. All the telegraph wires were burned down, and the only communication with the outside world is by train.

Japan Puts Up.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 11.—The Northern Pacific liner Sikh, from Yokohama, brings interesting advices of the war in the orient. The reason given by the commander of the Japanese warship Nenawai Kan, when asked why he fired upon the Kow Shing, seeing she was flying the British flag, is now given for the first time, and is certainly pertinent: "Because she was sailing under false colors; was carrying Chinese troops and had been sold to the Chinese government and fully paid for." Notwithstanding this explanation, the same paper which gives it publicity announces that the sum of $750,000 has been agreed to by the Japanese government as reparation for the sinking of Capt. Galworthy's vessel.

Switchmen Confer.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—A number of switchmen from different parts of the country are in conference to-day considering a plan to reorganize the Switchmens' Benevolent association as a branch of the Knights of Labor.

Poison in Cake.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 11.—News has just reached here that a number of persons were poisoned at a wedding supper in Scott county, Virginia. Investigation revealed that the wedding cake contained rough on rats.

Had Lots of Fun.

Paris, Sept. 11.—Max Lebaudy, the eccentric millionaire, gave a bull fight in an arena upon his property at Maison Lafitte to-day to which a hundred members of the aristocracy were invited. Several Spanish bulls were procured and three professional bull fighters were seriously hurt.

His Own Destruction.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 11.—Hurley jail was gutted by fire yesterday. Prisoner Tom Gerd started it in his cell and was burned to a crisp.

WILL BE HANGED

ST. PAUL WILL HAVE A DOUBLE EXECUTION OCT. 19.

Gov. Nelson Signs the Death Warrants of Charles Ermisch and Otto Milhausen, the Murderers of William Lindhoff.

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—On Friday, Oct. 19, between the hours of midnight and sunrise, Otto Milhausen and Charles Ermisch, the murderers of William Lindhoff, will be hanged by the neck until dead in the court house square in Ramsey county.

Gov. Nelson has affixed his signature to the death warrants of the two murderers and sent to Sheriff Chapel of Ramsey county two communications, exactly alike, with the exception of the names, commanding the hanging. The letter commanding the hanging of Ermisch is as follows:

"State of Minnesota, Executive Department. Knute Nelson, Governor of the State of Minnesota, to Charles E. Chapel, Sheriff of the County of Ramsey, in the State of Minnesota, Sends Greeting:

"Whereas, in a certain criminal action in the district court of the Second judicial district of the State of Minnesota, held in and for the county of Ramsey in said state, said cause being entitled, 'The State of Minnesota, plaintiff, vs. Otto Milhausen and Charles Ermisch, defendants,' a copy of the record of which said cause is hereto annexed, judgment on the 29th day of June, A. D. 1894, rendered and sentence pronounced upon said defendant, Charles Ermisch, in said case, to wit:

"'It is considered and adjudged by the court that you, the said Charles Ermisch, are convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, as charged in said indictment.

"'And it is further considered and adjudged by the court that as a punishment for said crime of murder in the first degree, of which you have been convicted, you, the said Charles Ermisch, be taken hence to the common jail of Ramsey county, and there confined, and that thereafter and after the lapse of a period of three calendar months from this day, and at a time to be fixed by the governor of the State of Minnesota, and designated by this warrant, you, the said Charles Ermisch, be taken to the place of execution selected by the sheriff of said county, within said county of Ramsey, and there hanged by the neck until you are dead.'

"Now, therefore, you are hereby commanded and required to cause execution of the aforesaid judgment and sentence of the law to be done upon the said Charles Ermisch, upon Friday, the nineteenth (19th) day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, before the hour of sunrise on said day above named, at a place in said county of Ramsey to be selected by you, conformably with the provisions of section three (3) of an act entitled 'An act providing the mode of inflicting the punishment of death, the manner in which the same shall be carried into effect, and declaring a violation of any of the provisions of this act to be a misdemeanor.' Approved April 24, A. D. 1889.

"Given under my hand and the great seal of the State of Minnesota, at the capitol in the city of St. Paul, this eighth (8th) day of September, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four.

(Great Seal.) "—Knute Nelson,
"Governor of Minnesota."

"Attest: F. P. Brown, Secretary of State."

Gov. Nelson did not sign the papers until late Saturday afternoon, being extremely busy after his absence in the fire district. An immense amount of outside pressure has been brought to bear on the governor in this matter, but he has decided that in view of the fact that the men had a full and fair trial, and that one of the murderers at least had made a violent effort to escape from jail, he could not reasonably be asked to assume the responsibility of commuting the sentence.

Gov. McKinley on the Tariff.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 10.—The greatest audience ever gathered in Dorchester county at a political meeting assembled in the town to listen to Gov. McKinley of Ohio. Long before the time advertised for the opening of the meeting the hall was filled to suffocation. Every seat was occupied and hundreds were obliged to stand, and at least a thousand were turned away. Fully 2,500 people heard the speech, which was received with manifestations of approval showing that even in this quiet campaign interest in national affairs is strong in Eastern Maine. After making his speech in the city hall, Gov. McKinley addressed an overflow meeting at Y. M. C. A. hall. At the city hall meeting Congressman Boutelle presided and made a speech.

A Younger in Trouble.

St. Louis, Sept. 10.—James A. Younger, twenty-three years old, was to-day taken to Kansas City to answer a charge of rifling the mails. He is a member of the Younger family which years ago attracted notoriety in Missouri, Texas, Iowa, Minnesota and other states by holding up trains, robbing banks and murdering every one who attempted to interfere with them. The four Younger boys, the leaders of the gang, are his cousins. He was arrested at Bowling Green, Ky., by Postoffice Inspector Paul Williams of St. Louis. His crime was committed in Slater, Mo., on March 20. The affair was kept quiet for Younger has plenty of friends in the interior of Missouri, and an attempt to rescue him is feared.

A Strange Fatality.

Viroqua, Wis., Sept. 10.—Ben Hull of Viola was shot and instantly killed at that village last evening. He was aboard a lumber raft that was passing over the mill dam when the jar of the descent caused the discharge of his gun.

A Big Deficit.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—There is a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 in the revenues of the dominion for the fiscal year ending June 30 last.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arr've Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7.05 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.0 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible] ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars [illegible] ining Cars attached.

For Rates, Maps, Time Tables or [illegible] al information, apply to Agent Northern P. R. at Crookston Minn., or

Chas. S. Fee,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or maure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

Elias, Steenerson of Crookston was doing business here last Thursday,

Dan Pattecson is building a small barn in the rear of his dwelling.

Peter Paradis went down to Red Lake Falls last Monday to see his best girl.

The high winds the past week have greatly interfered with treshing.

S. M. Hoff started his threshing out the first of the week. Christ Hall being the engineer.

C. G. Rapp went down to Crookston yesterday on the stage.

W. W. Fegan, the genial Great Northern freight agent, was in town several hours today,

S. M. Dainard and W. C. Stranahan leave to-day for McIntosh to take in the fair at that place which commences to-morrow.

It looks as if rain was impossible as it has tried several times the last week but failed. It is drier now than at any time in the past ten years.

C. G Rapp left for Faribault to day with the deaf and dumb girl of Sever Ness' to place her in the asylum there. He will visit the fair before he returnes.

LATEST STYLES and lowest prize in ladies and childrens cloaks. I will not be undersold.
New York Store, A. Chabot propr.
Crookston Minn.

About twenty of our citizers were out fightibing fire south of here this afternoon. They suceeded in putting it out after a hard fight. The wind was blowing gale and the town would have been in danger if prompt work had not been done.

WE LEAD in low prices and reliable goods. Call and get prices on "the latest" in fall and winter dress goods. Send for samples.
New York Store, A. Chabot propr
Crooksten Minn.

Word was resieved from Thief River Falls this afternoon that the majority of the citizens of that place were having a hard fight with praire firs, and fears were entertained that it would enter the town.

The Crookston tribune last week gave the Populists of this district permision took from Henry Norland for county commissioner. Editor Holston states that he had an interview with Mr. Norland and was convinced that he was an honest man. In behalf of the peoples party voters of the 4th district we thank Mr, Holston for putting the great seal of his approval upon Mr, Norland. We would have been compelled to elect Mr. Norland without Mr. Holston's approval which would, of course, have been very bad but now all is serene and lovely.

The anouncement of the suden death from heart disease of Mrs. Alfred Dainard last Friday morning was a great surprise and shock to her many friends. She had gone to bed the evening before in apparrent good health and in the morning it was found that she had been dead for several hours. Mrs. Dainard leaves a husband and eight children who mourn the lose of a faithful wife and a kind and indulgent mother. The funeral took place Saturday afterhoon, Rev. Willett preaching the funeral sermon, Messrs. Rapp, Hoff. Johnson, Aimer, Sorsoleil and Patterson being the pall bearers. The church was filled with friends and relatives and a large procession followed the remains to her last resting place in the Swedish cemetary across the river.

Charles Pinkerton Brink the man who caught the bold bad robber of Patterson's pants a few weeks ago has aspirations to become a great detective like his illustrious namesake, He has done several clever things lately. He succeeded in finding a cow in Ole Freeman's garden and has found out where the flies go in the winter time, and expects in a short time to tell what became of McGinty and who struck Billy Patterson. He is an indefatigable worker and is bound to succeed if hard work will do it. He is now spending all his time in his chosen vocation and every spare moment is spent catching fleas from the numerous dogs in town just to keep his hand in, Truly such zeal and enterprise will make "Pinkey" as his friends delight in calling him, one of the celebrated sleuth hounds of the future,

A. C. Schmidt of Crookston with a party of hunters was here last Thursday night, They had been hunting in Marshall County with fair luck.

The ladies of the village will give a social in the Norwegian Church Friday evening for benefit of the Hinkley fire sufferers. Every one should attend and contribute all they can afford to this worthy cause. Nearly every town in the state have already sent contributions and St. Hilaire should not be behind in the charitable work. In the name of charity let all take a hand and send a good sized purse.

That this is a Populist year is evidenced by the manner in which thousands are deserting the old party hacks and hustling for seats on the Populist band wagon. It shows that the people have for many months been studying out the conditions surrounding them and the result of the election this year will stagger the boses of the old parties. The people are getting tired of bending the knee to plutocracy and paying tribute to greedy monopolist. They are onto the Republican hypocrites, and Democratic demagoges. They have been lied to long enough. Now then let the Populist put up good honest men, of principle and you will win. Don't be afraid of nominating your men and making for them the fight that becomes the honest and earnest vanguard of a just cause in its winning campaign. —Detroit Free Pres.

Washington Sept. 6.—A treasury expert estimates that the profits of the sugar trust for the past year amounted to 285½ per cent of the money actually invested in the trust,

The profits amounts in dollars according to this expert to over $28,000,000.

In view of such a profit the story that a certain United States Senator received, in cash, $1,000,000, on condition of protecting the trust, does not seem so absurd. It is pretty well known however, that just before the sugar legislature began this session he was extremely hard up, and that when the passage of the senate scedule became a surety, he was in greater affluence,

Apropos of the trust's profits it is interesting to learn that no working capital was paid in: but that $10,000,000 had been borrowed for running the corporation. The first dividend was paid in 1891, and amounted to 74 per cent In 1892 the dividend was equal to 150 per cent. In 1893 the dividend was 165 per cent.—Journal.

One of the drawbacks to farming in the Red River Valley is the long winter and you may think it strange that I should propose dairying as a relief from them, We all know that time passes rapidly just in proportion as we are pleasantly and profitably occupied. In the Red River Valley there are five consecutive month during which the exclusive wheat raiser has little to do but provide for his comfort and that of his horses. During these months there is continued expense, but no income. To an energetic man such conditions make the time seem long, no matter where he may live; but let him go into a warm stable filled with cows and well supplied with feed and water, and he will find exercise suitable for the coldest weather Any well-read farmer can find genuine enjoyment caring for his stock, and watching the development of the yong ones, especially if he finds them paying well for his care. When a farmer sees a couple loads of manur going out every day to enrich his land, when his cows are converting one-half cent feed into 30 cents butter for him, and he can take in $25 or $30 every week, the winters do not seem half so long. I know that all this implies work, but I know also that there is no excellency without great labor .—Rev. S, Currie, Euclid, in Farm, Stock and Home.

Polk county is at present conducted under a special act of the legislature, and as a consequence the salaries are lower than any of the counties that are conducted under the general law. The sheriff gets 7½ cents per mile for summons etc., and if the same work was done in a county governed by the general laws he would receive 10 cents for the same work. The register of deeds gets $1,500 per year in this county and turns over about that amount to the county over and above his salery. In a county governed by the general laws he would get all the fees that come into the office—making an average county pay about $2,500 in salery to the register of deeds. The county auditor gets a salery of $1,500 in this county under the special law. In the other counties the salery is fixed by the property valuation. Taking the valuation as it now is the three proposed new counties would pay their auditor a salary of $1,200 to $1,500 per year. The great cry of county divisionists is that the expenses would be less in a smaller county. In these three offices the expense for each of these new counties would be almost as much as in the present county of Polk. This is accounted for by the special law governing this county and the general law under which the new counties would have to be governed. Voters can readily see that the stories of low saleries are all bosh.—Crookston Times.

Notice to Farmers.
You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall& Johnson's ware house. W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the village council held at the village hall on Monday August 9th 1894.

On petition it was resolved to build a side walk on the east side of block thirty-seven (37) village of St. Hilaire as follows to wit:

Commencing at the north east corner of lot twelve (12) of said block thence south along Broadway to the south east corner of lot one (1) of said block,

Said sidewalk to be five feet wide and to be built out of two inch pine plank with three (3) stringers under the same

Said sidewalk must be built within thirty (30) days after this notice, if not it will be advertised and let to the lowest bidder and charged to the lot or lots fronting or abutting said sidewalk.

The number of running feet of sidewalk to be built by owners in said block are as follows to wit:

Leonard Holmes lot 1 and 2,	50 feet.
Unknown, lots 3, 4 5. 6 and 7	125 feet.
E. M, Hoff, lot 8.	25 feet.
St. Hilaire Townsite Co., lot 9,	25 feet.
A. L. Patterson, lot 10,	25 feet.
A. J. Miller, lots 11 and 12,	50 feet.

Dated at St. Hilaire Minn., this 15th day of August 1894.

C. G. Rapp, Village President,
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder.

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school

The Normal department embraces:

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades,

(c) A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

(d) A kindergarten training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents, first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $1 per week, The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 21st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Brightest Light Is that of the Sun and the best lighted train between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH WESTERN LIMITED.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the travelling public admits every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR.
Hamline (St. Paul) Sept. 10 to 15 1894

The Great Northern Railway will sell tickets for this occasion at one fare for the round trip, plus fifty cents for admission to fair grounds. Dates of sale Sept. 9th to 15th inclusive, final return limit Sept. 17th. For territorial limitation, tickets and full information apply to H. J, Freeman, agent at St. Hilaire, Minn,

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.
W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton, Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

If you intend to ship your wheat on track this fall it will pay you to give me a call, Have had 30 years experience shipping grain and can save you money if any one can,
O. H. Peters.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S, M, Dainard's.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,
Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.
First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.
LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily NO. 3 North and West		Daily NO. 4 South and East
7 15 p m	Depart......St. Paul......Arrives	10 50 am
5 30 p m	" ....Minneapolis........	9 55 am
1 25 a m	...........Barnesville...........	1 40 am
7 25 am	Ar ......Crookston......De	10 10 pm

ST HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am	De.........Crookston.........Ar	6 00 pm
11 00 am	Ar......St. Hilaire......De	4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points,

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz:

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avelson A. G. Ammundson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.
Security Trust Co., mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney.

LOW RATE EXCURSIONS.

For the occasions and on the dates below given, the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip excursion tickets as follows:

National Educational Association, Ashbury Park, N. J., July 10 to 13, 1894, Dates of sale July 6 and 7.

Annual Meeting United Societies of Christian Endeavor, Cleveland, Ohio July 11 to 15. Dates of sale July 8 and 9.

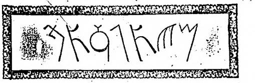
Annual Meeting Baptists Young Peoples Union, Toronto, Ont., July 19 to 22. Dates of sale, July 16 and 17.

Annual Encampment G. A. R. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept 8 to 10. Dates of sale Sept 5 and 6.

For rates and full information apply to H. J. Freeman, agent Great Northern Railway at St. Hilaire Minn., or F. I. Whitney, Gen. Pass. & Tkt Agt. St. Paul, Minn.

J. F. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :



Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.
AT
E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

A MAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED

OR A TURK NAMED

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 12 1894

SILVER AND GOLD.

THE FALSE ALARMS SOUNDED BY THE ENEMIES OF SILVER.

Some Statistics Which Are Not Dry, but Will Be Appreciated by the Student of the Money Question and All Inquiring Voters—Supply of the Two Metals.

The enemies of silver have sounded a false alarm and are making strenuous efforts to convince the people that the overproduction of silver is the cause of its depreciation, while in fact it is the discrimination against this metal and legislation and combinations in favor of gold that brought about the depreciation.

Silver is spoken of as a commodity, as if gold is not as much a commodity as silver. Both fluctuate and have commercial values and will continue to do so to the end, according to the demand and supply of each metal and according to the combinations and discriminations for the one and against the other.

If gold mines should be as abundant as coal mines and gold could be handled as easily as coal, how long would it hold its place in the markets?

Foreign coins, whether gold or silver, though intrinsically as good and pure as ours, are not as good in this country. Their purchasing power is less. Neither has our coin the same purchasing power when circulated in foreign countries. Natives of the several countries prefer the coin of their own government to that coined by other nations, though the intrinsic value be the same. Take a $20 goldpiece, put it under a blacksmith's hammer and in the furnace, change its shape and appearance and attempt to exchange it for $20 in silver or paper. Who will cover it? One jeweler said he would give $15 for it, another $18. None of it is lost. Intrinsically it is worth as much as ever. We see, therefore, that Uncle Sam's name and stamp make it a standard, fix its value and prevent its fluctuation.

Let us go back to 1873, prior to the demonetization of silver. The bullion value of a silver dollar was $1.016. In each dollar are 371.25 grains of pure silver. At that time, though a silver dollar contained 371.25 grains of pure silver, it could purchase only 369.77 grains of pure silver. Silver was too high in the market to make into dollars. Three hundred and sixty-nine and seventy-seven hundredths grains of the pure metal uncoined was equal to 371.25 grains of the same quality, plus the alloy, after coinage, and silver could not be coined except at a loss to the government. It is evident that the authors of silver legislation saw that some legislation was necessary to depreciate silver in order that its bullion value might be less than its money value.

Prior to this, under the act of 1837, silver was a legal tender. In 1873 congress passed a law that the silver coins of "the United States shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for any amount not exceeding $5 in any one payment."

This was a deathblow to silver, and it began to depreciate at once and has continued to do so to the present time. In 1880 the bullion value of a silver dollar was worth only $0.712 against $1.016 in 1873, and the coined dollar purchased 512.78 grains pure silver then against 369.77 grains in 1873. It is cheaper now than ever and cannot appreciate as long as we have the single gold standard. The monometallists would have us believe that the overproduction of silver is the sole cause of its depreciation. According to official statistics of 1892, the production of silver in the United States since the discovery of gold in California is estimated at $1,072,721,865, while the production of gold for the same period is $1,870,345,000. So the production of gold in the United States since 1849 exceeds the production of silver by $797,623,435.

In 1873 and in 1878 the production of gold exceeded the production of silver. But it is answered that the production of silver in the world is so much greater than that of gold that the former necessarily depreciated. If statistics can be relied on, the total gold production of the world for 500 years (1380 to 1880) is estimated at $7,240,000,000 and silver for the same period at $7,435,000,000, making $195,000,000 more silver than gold—a little over 13 cents per capita of the present population of the earth. Divide 13 cents by 500 years, and you'll get the per capita per year, showing the prodigious (?) production of silver over gold. It is too infinitesimal for calculation. So the argument that the overproduction of silver is the cause of its depreciation falls to the ground. Passing from the estimated value of the world's production of gold and silver to the gold and silver money of the world, we find $3,632,035,000 of the former and $3,968,700,000 of the latter, making $335,765,000 more silver in circulation than gold, or, reduced to its last analysis, 22 cents more silver money in the world per capita than gold. This certainly must cut a very small figure.

In 1892 19 nations, with a population of 212,237,433, used the double standard—gold and silver; 11 nations, with a population of 726,023,486, used silver alone, and 14 nations, with a population of 165,633,204, used the gold standard. These facts show that it is discrimination and legislation against silver that placed it in its present status. The present law discriminates against silver when it says that silver dollars "shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract." The exception should be wiped out. All exceptions, limitations and restrictions against silver depreciate it and enhance the value of gold.

If we would establish and preserve the parity of the metals and give the country a sound, safe and stable currency, let gold and silver be coined on the same terms and make both metals a legal tender for all debts and dues, pri-

A POPULIST GOVERNOR.

Extract From an Address Delivered by L. D. Lewelling at Kansas City, Kan.

"This is a time for retrospection. Two years ago the farmers of Kansas raised a large crop and got fair prices for it. Today many of them are bankrupt. They have been unable to pay the usurious interest exacted by their creditors, and today more than 43 per cent of their farms have passed into the hands of landlords by the foreclosure of mortgages. All this is wrong. It is to be charged to the present financial condition of the country, and that in turn must be attributed to the policies of the two old parties.

"So long as they are honest, frugal and industrious the government should guarantee to subjects the power to eat, drink and clothe themselves. If some of you are poorly fed and poorly clad, it is because some one else has more than his share. I would rather be without civilization than be the subject of a government that could not guarantee to its citizens equal rights to all and special privileges to none. That may be anarchy, but if it is put it in your pipe and smoke it.

"Individual rights have been lost sight of in property rights. Men ought to rise above the old law of the survival of the strongest. The average increase of wealth in the United States is less than 3 per cent annually. Less than 3 per cent, and yet the farmers of Kansas are paying 6, 8, 10 and 12 per cent interest. Where are they coming to? No doubt you've all heard the problem about the frog in the well, and how long it would take him to climb out if he went four feet during the day and fell back five at night. This was propounded to a little chap one time. After covering his slate and working for several days, for he was a persevering little rascal, he at last went to his teacher and said that if he had more slates he thought in about three days he could figure out that frog in sheol. That's just the condition of the country exactly. A little more of the present policy, and we'll get there where the frog was bound.

"The Populist party is the friend of the workingman, and I had rather have inscribed upon my tomb that I was the friend of the workingman than to sit upon a throne surrounded by the princes and potentates of the earth.

"When the mines in Colorado were shut down just after the passage of the Sherman law repeal, 30,000 men in Colorado were thrown out of employment. They drifted eastward, and 5,000 of them met on the lake shore in Chicago and cried for work and bread were kicked out by the police.

"'O liberty, what crimes have been committed in thy name!' What can the poor man do? Can he lie down on the street and sleep? No, for there is a law against it. Can he rest in a box car? No, for that would be trespassing. Can he beg for bread from door to door? No; there is a law against it.

"We are going to organize a great antipoverty society, and I want you to help us. It is the Populist party. Like the man of Nazareth, labor is being crucified between two thieves, the two old parties, but it is the heads of the parties and not the rank and file. I am a Democrat—a Jeffersonian Democrat—because I believe in the grand old principles which he represented, and I am a Republican, too—an Abe Lincoln Republican—for the same reason. But when the president has seen fit to station armed troops in various states and call for recruits I believe that the liberties of the American people are already gone, but they have not discovered it."

Missouri Falling Into Line.

There will in all probability be three full tickets nominated in every one of the 114 counties of Missouri before the summer ends—Democratic, Republican and Populist. In many parts of the state the Populists are active and aggressive, and, judging from the number of counties in which they have up to date put out full tickets, it is almost certain that word has been passed along the line to unfurl the banner in each and every one of them and fight to a finish, refusing all compromises and coalition.

All this renders the political complexion of Missouri's next house a thing of uncertainty. The last house stood 93 Democrats and 43 Republicans, with never a man of the third party, or Populists' party. Old politicians predict that the Democratic majority will be cut down and the party to gain will be the Populist. What the gain will amount to will depend entirely upon the per cent of disaffection in the ranks of the dominant party, and that no man is prepared at this date to reduce to figures.

Up to date the Populists have put out full county tickets in 86 counties, the Republicans in 38, and the Democrats have nominated in 55. The Prohibitionists and Independents are not worth considering as affecting results. In congressional matters the Populists are particularly active, having nominated up to date in seven districts to the Democrats' six and to the Republicans' two. In senatorial matters the Democrats are in advance with nominations, having made eight to the Republicans' three and the Populists' two.—St. Louis Republic.

Read and Ponder.

The debt of the United States at the close of the war was in round numbers about $2,000,000,000. The people have paid something near this amount since in interest and of principal, and yet it would take more corn, wheat, oats, cotton and tobacco to pay the debt due by the government of the United States now than it would have required 30 years ago to have paid the entire debt. This is caused mainly by the reduction of prices of these commodities due to the contraction of the currency during this 25 or 30 years.—Cotton Plant.

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which was carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."—London Truth.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Governor	SIDNEY M. OWEN.
For Lieutenant Governor	E. E. LOMMEN.
For State Auditor	A. L. STROMBERG.
For Secretary of State	P. J. SEBERGER.
For State Treasurer	P. BORCHERT.
For Attorney General	J. A. KEYES.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court	C. H. JOHNSON.
For Chief Justice	SUMNER LADD.
For Associate Justice	J. W. WILLIS.
For Member of Congress	HALDOR E. BOEN.
For State Senator	P. M. RINGDAL.
For Members of the Legislature	J. D. KNUTESON. N. L. NELSON. S. J. LEE.
For County Auditor	JOHN GLEASON.
For County Treasurer	J. T. BEAUDRY.
For Sheriff	ANDREW STEENERSON
For Clerk of Court	JOHN VIG.
For Register of Deeds	ALBERT WICKSTROM.
For Probate Judge.	C. M. BENSON.
For County Attorney	L. E. GOSSMAN.
For School Superintendent	O. McCRILLIS.
For County Surveyor	O. L. HAMERY.
For Coroner	JOHN DWYER.
For County Commissioner 4th Dist.	HENRY NORLAND

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricke J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed; and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. July 24 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Besson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 11129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. Sept. 6 1894

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on October 2: 1894. viz:

Frans Freiholtz HD 15368 for Lots 2, 3 and 4 Sec. 1 Tp 152 R 42.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

John E. Olson, Sam E. Olson, Nils Evenson James N. Evenson all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn,

HUGH THOMPSON Register

PUBLICATIONS.

OF THE
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
ST. PAUL MINN.

The General Passenger Office of the Great Northern Railway will be pleased to forward to applicants any or all of the publications named below on receipt of the amount of postage named after each. It Should be understood that these books, maps and pamphlets were prepared at considerable and are worth in each case many times the postage. They will prove of much interest to persons who contemplate a trip to any part of the Northwest or who desire the information all intelligent people should possess concerning a vast resourceful, important and growing part of the United States. Several of these publications have been supplied in quantities to public schools at the request of superintendents and teachers, on account of the instructive and useful information they contain

BOOK FOLDER.—SEND 2 CENTS FOR POSTAGE.

This publication contains complete time cards, a series of train route maps, a large map of the country, a table giving first and second-class passenger rates, and, freight tariff on settlers goods from St. Paul to all points on the line; a table showing tributary points reached by steamer or stage; through car service and connections; important baggage and ticket regulations, and much interesting descriptive matter. In short it is a handy volume of ready reference for passengers about local and through service on the Great Northern to all parts of the Northwest and the Pacific Coast.

MAP FOLDER.—SENT FREE.

This contains the regular time scedules; a large map of the country west of Chicago and St. Louis; baggage and ticket regulations; and other information of value to travelers!

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR. DEALER IN FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS. STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

7

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

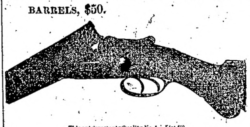
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY. CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

T U CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER'S SUPPLIES MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS. BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY 25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY ST.

That Tired Feeling

Is due to an impoverished condition of the blood. It should be overcome without delay, and the best way to accomplish this result is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will purify and vitalize the blood, give strength and appetite and produce sweet and refreshing sleep. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, and only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure nausea and biliousness.

The Book Required.

Mr. Bondstock (tenderly)—Do you think you could learn to love me?

Miss Wurkum (shyly)—I might if you gave me lessons from the right book.

Mr. Bondstock—What book shall I teach you from?

Miss Wurkum—Your pocketbook.

Needed Then.

Nurse—Shall you call again to-day, doctor?

Dr. Druggem—No; I don't think it is necessary. The patient is liable to remain in his present condition for days. But if there is any change for the better, send for me at once.

Fine Pictures Free.

Here's good news for any of our readers who are pinched by hard times. The Woolson Spice company of Toledo, Ohio, are giving away many fine pictures to drinkers of Lion coffee in exchange for large lion heads cut from Lion coffee wrappers. Besides pictures they also mail valuable books, a knife, game, etc. It surely pays to drink Lion coffee, which is by far the finest sold for the price, and has a beautiful picture and card in every one-pound package. If you haven't an Illustrated Premium List, ask your grocer for a copy, or send your name and address to the firm above named.

The Usual Answer.

Dora—Men may not think so, but nowadays there are a great many girls who have no intention of ever marrying.

George—Oh, I know it. I've proposed to a dozen of them.—New York Weekly.

A Sure Sign.

Mrs. Rounder—You had been drinking pretty heavily when you came in last night.

Mr. Rounder—How do you know?

Mrs. Rounder—You tried to light your cigar at the reflection of your nose in the pier-glass.

The Voice of the People

Proclaims one fact as true, namely, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters effects a cure whenever it is persistently used for the ailments to which it is adapted. Among these are malarial and dyspeptic ailments, rheumatism, nervous and kidney complaints, constipation and biliousness. A tablespoonful three times a day is about the average.

"Everything comes to him who weighs," said the grocer as he dumped a shovelful of sand in the sugar bin.

Karl's Clover Root Tea.

The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

No wonder the amateur photographer is intoxicated with his art. He is always "taking something."

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price 75c.

A waitress may not know how to deal a pack of cards, but she can raise the duce by dropping the tray.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs.

Talking of the summer girl's bathing dress, if it costs so little how is it it comes so high?

SEVERE EXPOSURE

Often results in colds, fevers, rheumatism, neuralgia and kindred derangements. We do not "catch cold" if we are in good condition. If the liver is active, and the system in consequence doing its duty, we live in full health and enjoy life "rain or shine." To break up a cold there's nothing so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They keep the whole system regulated in a perfectly natural way. If we do not feel happy, if we worry and grumble, if we are morbid, if the days seem dreary and long, if the weather is bad, if things go awry, it is the liver which is at fault. It is generally "torpid." A common sense way is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. We generally eat too much, take insufficient exercise, by means of which our tissue-changes become indolent and incomplete. Be comfortable—you are comfortable when well. You'll be well when you have taken "Pleasant Pellets."

No Constipation follows their use. Put up sealed in glass—always fresh and reliable.

MAILED FREE

to any Farmer or Farmer's Wife

"UP TO DATE DAIRYING"

containing full instruction how to secure Higher Grade Products, make

MORE BUTTER that will bring BETTER PRICE

and with Less Labor get More Money

Reviewing and explaining in a practical manner . . .

THE NORMANDY (FRENCH) SYSTEM,
DANISH DAIRY SYSTEM AND
ELGIN SEPARATOR SYSTEM

which have brought prosperity and ease to the dairy farmer.

Write for this Valuable Information. Mailed FREE on application. Kindly send address of neighboring farmers who own cows. Address R. LESPINASSE,

Ex. Sec'y Columbian & Illinois Dairy Associations. 246 W. LAKE ST. CHICAGO

Small Cost and Quick Returns!

If you want to buy or sell anything, or to exchange something, or to borrow money, in fact, if you desire to accomplish anything, put an advertisement in the

WANT COLUMNS
OF THE
PIONEER PRESS.

The cost is One Cent a Word each insertion. Remit the amount, with your advertisement, to the

PIONEER PRESS CO.
St. Paul, Minn.

Caton Colleges

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

$100 PAYS BOARD, TUITION AND BOOKS for six months, in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, and English studies

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

HOW FARMERS SHOULD LIVE

According to a Newspaper Published at Gov. Nelson's Home.

A Pleasant Picture.

Alexandria Post-News: Congressman Boen would have the government issue a billion of dollars on paper and pend it on public improvements, railroads, etc. The mechanism of Mr. Boen's head evidently needs no oil, what it needs is a brake. Even Coxey's imagination stopped with an expenditure of $500,000,000, but Boen's financial mill knows no such limit. What is a beggarly $500,000,000 to him? He would "create" that much before breakfast and divide it among the boys for gum. Mr. Cincinnatus Boen should come home, return to his plow for a year or so, dig a few acres of potatoes, hoe a little corn, hustle the cows and pigs, get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and bring in the kindlings at night with a lantern and learn over the lesson that you can't make something out of nothing.

Let the farmers of Minnesota study the concluding words of this article. They throw a flood of light upon the feeling of the old party newspapers towards the farmers.

In sending Boen back to his farm,—Cincinnatus Boen—(Cincinnatus was a Roman farmer who left his plough and saved his country),—he is told, by the Post-News, how he is to live:—and he is, as Cincinnatus Boen, mark you, a type of all the agriculturists; and he is to live according to the rules of his class. Here it is: He is to "dig a few acres of potatoes, hoe a little corn, hustle the cows and pigs, get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and bring in the kindling wood with a lantern."

This is to say he is to work from before daylight until long after sun-set. And for what? To support the usurers, and the railroads, and the manufacturers, and the merchants, and the millers, and the machine men, and the elevator ring; and the state government and the national government and the county government, and the township government and the schools, and everything else in all this broad land. This is a big job and no wonder he has to begin his work at 4 o'clock in the morning and end it by lantern light; and then devour his hurried supper and tumble into bed; and up at 4 o'clock the next day; and so on week after week, month after month, year after year, until he dies; and then the preacher, the coffin maker, the lawyer and the judge of probate, will each take a bite out of the little he has left; and he goes up to God, to ask him,—why he put him into such a devilish tread-mill as that, and kept him there from the cradle to the grave?

Now does the editor of the Alexandria Post-News get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and hustle around until he has to carry a lantern to bring in the kindlings. No; he sleeps sweetly, between his warm covers: and when he wakes, long after sunrise, he chuckles to think that that fool farmer, and hundreds more fool-farmers just like him, have been, for hours, at work, digging potatoes and hoeing corn and "hustling the cows and pigs" from before day-light till long after sunset; and working like God-forsaken, galley-slaves; and that out of their potatoes and corn and cows and pigs and sweat and toil they will come cheerfully, joyfully, and bring him a share of their money, so that he may write articles to show them that they are just the jolliest, happiest, best-fed, best-clothed set of enlightened American citizens that ever danced jigs to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

Isn't it pretty? And a great many of those chaps, that get up at 4 o'clock, and bring in the kindlings with a lantern, will go out and vote to perpetuate their condition until the end of their lives. They sort of admit that they are not made of the same choice porcelain as the lawyer, and the merchant, and the editor, and the preacher, and the miller, and the machine man; but are moulded out of a coarser kind of cheap clay; and that they ought to be happy to work like slaves that others may dawdle and snore and feast and enjoy themselves. Christ said, "there are vessels of honor and vessels of dishonor," and the old-party farmers are tickled to death to think that Christ referred to them when he spoke of the latter class. They are the nameless utensils into which the injustice of the ages has been poured, and which feel happy to hold it!

Now there are lots of farmers in Douglas county who will be really proud to scrape together enough, out of their little earnings, to keep the editor of that Post-News alive for another year, by subcribing for his choice sheet; so that he can assign them to their proper lot in life,—four o'clock and the lantern and all the rest of it.

And he says that the Cincinnatii of Douglas county will learn that they can't make something out of nothing. Well, this may be true. But nature came as near to it when she created the editor of the Post-News as it was possible to come, without performing an absolute miracle. And now if the 4 o'clock farmers will only keep him alive everything may be happy yet.

Oh, brother farmers! Why should you be the pariahs of society? To be told by editorial whipper-snappers, who live off you, that your lives must be lives of ceaseless toil and suffering! And to sneer at your calling, and mock the name of the grand old Roman—the matchless commander of men, to whom all the city thingumbobs fled in their hour of mortal terror, before the conquering Æqui and Volsci. Do these men not remember that there was a time, in the grand old days, before this age of sharks and sharpers and usurers, when the title "farmer" conveyed the highest honor. Was not Washington a farmer, and Jefferson, and Madison, and Patrick Henry, and Andrew Jackson, and Henry Clay, and Daniel Webster, and all the rest of the brightest luminaries of our glorious past? On what kind of evil days have we fallen when the word "farmer" is a term of contempt? In every other country but this the land-owner is the gentleman,—the aristocrat. Here he is a serf, who is to work for sixteen hours out of the twenty-four, to maintain an army of skalewags and plunderers; and then be mocked and insulted by them.

When will the farmers get their eyes open and demand their share of the blessings of life?

Will the time come when the owners of the farms will not have to rise at 4 o'clock in the morning, and bring in the kindlings by lantern-light; but the fellows who live off them will have to do the liveliest kind of hustlings to get enough of the farmer's bread to maintain life? Why should not those, who annually add one hundred million dollars to the wealth of the state, have a chance to enjoy the good things of this life,—quiet slumber, the luxuries of civilization, travel, domestic happiness, books, newspapers, and that long twilight evening of pleasant existence which comes to those who have not been overworked? Why should the fellows who produce nothing, smoke their cigars and read novels, with their heels cocked up in the air; and tell the farmers to rise at 4 o'clock and hustle with the cows and pigs? Why are most of the oyster and fruit cans found around the back yards of the men who don't add a dollar in the year to the real wealth of the commonwealth, but are mere parasites on the body politic?

I tell you, brethren, all this thing needs reconstruction, and the People's party, with your help, will do the reconstructing. I. D.

A NEW MOVE.

Sueing Congressmen for Damages Caused by Their False Promises.

A dispatch from Indianapolis says that William Stanley, a farmer of Pendleton, Ind., is preparing to sue Congressman Bynum of Indiana for $1,500. During the last presidential campaign Stanley heard Mr. Bynum deliver a speech, in which he said that if the Democratic ticket was successful wheat would be worth $1.25 per bushel. Stanley went home and sowed wheat extensively and raised a crop of 2,000 bushels. This he declares he has been compelled to sell at different prices between 45 and 50 cents per bushel. He will sue the congressman for the difference between what he realized and what he would have received had the congressman's assertions, on the strength of which he was led to sow so much wheat, been verified. Stanley was formerly a Democrat, but is now a Populist.—Exchange.

That's a pretty good idea.

If a man gets a pair of boots, or a suit of clothes, by false representations, we send him to prison.

If another man gets a place, worth about $12,000, by sheer falsehoods and lying promises, why should he not, if he does not go to prison, at least pay for the damages done the community?

How would it do for the farmers of Minnesota to begin suits against Tawney, McCleary, Hall, Kiefer, Fletcher and Baldwin? Didn't they tell the peole, on a hundred rostrums, that if they sent them to Congress there should be good times? And are they not getting ready to make some more promises of the same kind? Is it fair, for ingenious fellows like these, to get $72,000, between them, by making a sham battle over the Tariff and humbugging the people by promises that they know are false? And now they are after another $72,000. I. D.

A FALSE PRETENCE.

Their Great Cry.

Senator Washburn said his health is good and he is in condition to make the campaign for re-election which he has had in contemplation.

"The excessive heat in Washington this summer has left me a little tired," he said, "and I may go away for a little rest, but I shall be on hand to make a vigorous campaign through the state. The prospects for complete success were never better. The country has had a dose of Democratic rule, and I take it the people are pretty well convinced that no such hard times has ever existed under Republican supremacy."—Pioneer-Press.

This is the great cry on which the Republicans expect to carry the country:—"The crisis came while the Democrats were in power, therefore the Democrats produced it."

You might just as well say:—the great drought came while Knute Nelson was governor of Minnesota; therefore it was Knute who burnt up the crops."

The country was ruined before Grover Cleveland took his seat in March 1892. Nine million mortgages had been recorded between 1880 and 1890. Nine per cent of the people owned 71 per cent of the property of the whole country. And all these conditions were created while the Republicans had complete control of the country. The first thing poor old Grover did was to call an extra session, at once, to repeal a law passed by the Republican party, and which he thought caused all the trouble. He was mistaken. It was the result of another Republican law, passed in 1873, demonetizing silver; and that is still in force and the ruin of the people still continues.

Does Washburn think the people of Minnesota are going to be fooled by any such stuff as that? Even Republican-Plutocratic rule has not emasculated them to that point of intelligence. I. D.

ARBITRATION.

From the Representative.

The following article was contributed by President John Bascom, of Williams college, to the Kingdom, a weekly paper, published in Minneapolis. It is a significant fact that almost if not quite all the leading educators of the land take a similar position:

The great need of workmen, in their contests with capital, is a legal footing, a legal method of redress. It is a maxim of law that where there is a right there is a remedy. Hence, where there is no remedy, there is no acknowledged legal right, and the ready inference is that there is no moral right. The transformation urgently called for is the turning of the workman's moral claim into a legal one. It is the absence of a legal remedy that gives occasion to violence. There is no redress except through violence, and violence, as in all revolutions, justifies itself by the necessity of the case.

Is there a moral right which ought to be turned into a legal one? Is there a moral right which can be turned into a legal one? When business was greatly sub-divided, and almost exclusively in the hands of individuals, the employer and the employe stood on much more equal terms than now. If either was dissatisfied, there were many directions in which to turn. There was thus no great hardship in the doctrine that each man was at liberty, and must be left at liberty to make his own terms of labor. There were numerous and independent possibilities of contract which made this liberty a real and approximately equal one. The growth of civilization, and of law uniting itself to new demands, has wholly altered this relation, while it finds us still clinging to the principle which accompanied it. Business is largely, in many occupations almost exclusively, in the hands of great corporations that control villages and even cities in an absolute way. Not to secure the favor of such a corporation is to be cast off from the means of subsistence in a given community; it is to be sent adrift in search of food.

The elements of personal responsibility, personal preference and personal sympathy have disappeared in these corporations. Their managers are impersonal representatives of exacting claims. There is no dealing man with man. A neighbor's good will affords no refuge from the hard hand of an agent.

These corporations have, under law, obtained an economic, social and even municipal control by which they can settle with a word where a man shall live, and at times, whether he shall have any open opportunity for a livelihood. Mr. Frick, at Homestead, Mr. Pullman at the Pullman works, have as much power in determining the welfare of their employes as fell to a lord of the middle ages. Under a principle once sound but no longer of unlimited application, they exercise this control in the most arbitrary fashion, and invoke the entire judicial and military power of the community to sustain them in it. The workmen have no legal means of resistance; the community, nothing to say as to the inner rightfulness of the strife in which it finds itself involved.

Corporations tend to fall into the hands of men of great executive force, whose stubborn wills yield to nothing. It is preposterous in a free state that large communities should thus come under the unchecked and disastrous domination of one man.

A change of circumstances brings with it new social claims. The civil law, having itself destroyed the balance between the employer and employe, ought to restore it. There is here a moral right which may well become a legal right.

Can it become a legal right? The obvious answer is, enforced arbitration. The community through its judicial officers should be made a party, first hand, to a contention that concerns society deeply and widely. But the response comes: "The awards of arbitration can not be enforced. We can not compel one man to work for another, nor one man to employ another." Very well. We can lay one man open to legal claims for not working for another, or for not giving occupation to another. We do things constantly in law equivalent to this. We subject men to damage for actions which we do not undertake to guide.

Let each of the two parties have a right to summon the other into court. Make it impossible for a Pullman to say, "There is nothing to arbitrate." Assume, as we have a right to assume, that the award of arbitration will be a just one. Leave it as the undeniable ground of a legal claim. If either party suffers from the refusal of the other to comply with it lay him open to damages. Let it be impossible for the agent of a corporation to dismiss a thousand men, impoverish a thousand families, and leave the injurious results to fall wholly on others. Let the consequences of actions follow those who commit them.

Under this form of arbitration, trade unions should have a legal, corporate life over against the legal, corporate life of those with whom they have to deal. Any losses which a trade union may wantonly inflict should fall upon its funds. The two parties would thus stand before the entire community—the proper judge in the premises—and have each a legal method of action.

Williamstown, Mass.

Burke After Them.

From the Representative.

The courts have decided that where any railroad company has leased its lines of road for a long term of years such act is an abandonment of its business and a suit will lie by the state to annul their charters.

John H. Burke, the Nemesis of the Guaranty Loan and other frauds, has taken the matter up with his usual vigor and has already commenced agitation in fourteen or fifteen states—having secured the publication of articles in California and other dailies; beside writing to a number of state officials;—notably Illinois. He finds 119 roads so leased in Pennsylvania alone and nine or more in this state.

Mr. Burke has secured the adoption of the resolution demanding such forfeiture by the A. R. U. of this city, K. of L., State Assembly, Tenth ward and Ninth ward Populist clubs, and as a result it is said the railroad have declined to allow the use of their grounds for K. of L. picnics. The following adopted by the Ninth ward club is substantially as adopted by all.

Whereas, It has been decided in 30, Minn., 246, that all railroad companies that have leased their lines of road for a long term of years forfeit their franchises and,

Whereas, It has been stated that nine or more railway companies in this state have so leased their lines, therefore be it

Resolved, That we call on the governor and attorney general of this state to cause suits to be instituted to forfeit the charters of all such companies.

Resolved, That a copy hereof be forwarded to the governor and attorney general of this state.

At the Ninth ward meeting the following was also adopted:

Resolved, That we call on the state and United State grand jury to obey the law and indict all directors of the Guaranty Loan Company as well as other banking concerns whose stockholders or directors have been swindled by reason of the fraud or neglect of such directors.

Also the following which is substantially the same as adopted by the Tenth ward club.

Whereas, It has been stated that Knute Nelson, D. M. Clough and M. D. Kenyon have knowingly failed to perform the duties devolving upon them by law, therefore be it

Resolved, That we call on the next legislature of this state to investigate said charges and if the evidence warrants to cause impeachment or criminal proceedings to be commenced against said parties.

STATE FUNDS.

From the Representative.

The monthly statement of Treasurer Bobleter is out for August. It shows that the state has over $2,000,000 in cash on hand, most of which is in the vaults of bankers, or more correctly speaking, is loaned out to the people to whom it belongs, at from 8 to 24 per cent interest, while the state receives 3 per cent. The share of the Bank of New Ulm is a trifle over $30,000. If that bank loans the money at 8 per cent its profit on the transaction is $1,800. If it loans the money at 10 per cent its profit is $2,520. Pretty good thing for the bank, eh? Well, we should say so.

A TERRIBLE SHOWING.

Pullman Palaces.

"Away back in the days of slavery I never witnessed such squalor and destitution among the blacks down South as exists today in parts of Pullman. I came away with the thought most impressed on my mind that such a town has no place within the United States of America; that if it could be swept into the lake and leave only the bare ground to show the site the people of this country would be greatly the richer."

So spoke President Struckman of the county board yesterday. With Commissioners Allen, Cool, and Kuntsman he had just returned from a visit to Pullman, where the county officials had been investigating the condition of Pullman's former employes.—Chicago Times.

And this is the man for whom United States Attorney Olney, decided that one of his sleeping cars was a necessary part of a mail train. For whom Cleveland invaded Illinois with the federal army, against the protest of the governor of the state and the mayor of the city of Chicago, and in direct violation of the constitution of the United States. This is the man who brought the whole nation to the brink of civil war, cost scores of lives, and was defended by nearly every daily paper in the United States. I. D.

JOHN I. BLAIR.

From the Representative.

John I. Blair, the great railway magnate of Blairstown, N. J., is said to be on his deathbed at the age of 92. His wealth is estimated at about $50,000,000. These facts, taken in conjunction, make Mr. Blair an object of interest to the public, hence the daily papers have been publishing his biography in anticipation of his decease. The St. Paul Globe of Sunday before last devoted several columns of space to the dying multi-millionaire, from which the following extract is taken:

"The greater part of his vast fortune was made by railroad building in Iowa. His general plan was to organize a company to build a road through an undeveloped section. Then he would persuade the people living along the proposed line to issue county and city bonds sufficient to pay for the building of the road, the work being invariably done by a construction company, which was John I. Blair in another form. Bonds would be issued for this, and stock equal in amount to the bonds turned over to his company, which was also himself. The settling up of the country opened by the road, never failed to make the stock valuable, and in the end the shrewd New Jersey shopkeeper became a many times millionaire. At one period of his career Mr. Blair owned and controlled more miles of railroad than any other man, Vanderbilt not excepted."

Recollect, now, that the article from which the above is taken was not written for political effect. It was intended to be a truthful account of Mr. Blair's life and of his rise in the world to the possession of immense wealth. Note the way in which he made his money. When he built a railroad through a certain district he persuaded the people along the route to pay for it; then he let the construction of the road to himself without competition and, no doubt, at highly profitable figures. That is about what the average man would do, is it not, if he had the opportunity? "Bonds would be issued for this, and stock, equal in amount to the bonds turned over to his company, which was also himself." The consequence of his procedure was that the road, when completed, would represent a bonded and stock indebtedness of twice its actual cost, figured on an extravagant price for the work. Then the interest has to be kept up on these stock and bonds. The interest charge is, of course, more than twice what it should be, and more than twice what it would have been had the road been built on strictly honest business principles. What is the consequence of this state of affairs? Why, the road has to charge its patrons a very much higher rate for its services than would have been necessary under the other plan. This is the way in which railroad stock is watered. The patrons of the roads are charged rates which enable the roads to pay interest, not only on the original cost of them but millions of dollars which were never invested in them. A fair illustration would be for you to loan your neighbor, say, $500, taking his note therefor; then double the amount of the note and make him pay you interest on the whole amount. This latter would be a forgery, and if you are caught at it you will be punished by the law. The other is a smart business transaction which enables John I. Blair and many others just like him, to acquire a vast fortune which is of no use to the owner and a positive detriment to society.

What right has John I. Blair, or any other man, to an immense fortune acquired in this dishonest manner? Every dollar unjustly acquired by any man makes some other man a dollar poorer. The possession of immense wealth carries with it the power to acquire more in a rapidly increasing ratio. The inevitable result of this state of affairs will be that at the end of a long term of years the wealth of the world will be in the possession of a few and the rest of mankind will be little, if any, better than slaves.

There are two methods of escape from this condition of affairs. One is a change in the system of government by which these things can no longer be done; a stiff income tax which will be a bar to the possession of an immense and useless fortune. In other words, a system of government which will result in the redistribution of wealth on an equitable basis; the righting of the accumulated wrongs of a century. The other is through blood.

The first of these plans is the one favored by the People's Party and other social and political reformers. The last one is favored by the anarchists and they are aided, indirectly, by the plutocrats themselves, who fail to see that the methods of the People's party are law-abiding and peaceful. The People's party, as today organized, is the party which is endeavoring by lawful and peaceful methods to save the country from anarchy and its results. The policy of the plutocratic parties tends in the opposite direction. It is for you, voter of Minnesota, to say which policy shall prevail in this state.

Plainly Stated.

Morehead News (Rep.): With the two metals on an equality at a fixed ratio, both being legal tender and receivable for all kinds of public charges, for discharge of debt and payment of all obligations of whatever kind or nature, and exchangeable for each other, if any other country wanted one of the metals enough to offer a premium for it, who would it harm if it should get it? No one in this country certainly would part with his gold without full consideration, whatever was paid for it, it would remain in the country. We can not understand how free coinage of both metals would contract the currency as is so persistently claimed. If one metal should go out of the country to another that fact would have the tendency to equalize the value of money in the country to which it went. The essential point is that silver having all the attributes and functions that any money can have, the motive which impels men to secure and cling to gold would pass away. The volume of metallic money in the world would be increased, which would carry with it untold blessings.

MONEY AND TARIFF.

The Unlimited Coinage of Silver a Necessity.

From the Representative.

The principle upon which the money question should rest is, that all mints should be open for the coinage of all bullion brought to it, the owner of the bullion paying the expense of the coinage and taking back the coin in the same metal as he brought to the mint. This is the principle found in Elliot's Debates on the Constitution and the debates in congress upon the first coinage act. The constitutional provision that congress shall have the power to coin money, to regulate the value thereof, was based upon this principle, and the government has no right or power to prevent the operation of this principle, because the power to coin money carries with it the power to coin that money out of the metals used for that coinage at the time this provision was adopted, which were silver and gold, and any limitation of the incident of this power is an infringement of the constitution and dishonest.

The repeal of the Sherman law without placing a coinage law on this principle in its stead, was equally dishonest, because the evil alleged against this law was that the certificates issued upon the bullion silver, being payable in gold or silver, the receiver or owner of the certificate always took the gold, which resulted in depleting the treasury of its gold reserve. This being the disease, the remedy should have been to make the certificates payable in the coin upon which they were based, and against which they were issued, and not to destroy the coinage of this metal. The evil came from the option to exchange the certificates for gold, and the remedy should have been to abrogate the option.

Besides, the Sherman law was inherently vicious and dishonest, because the government has no right to purchase bullion; its duty is limited by the constitution to coining money.

The principle upon which a tariff should rest is that there should be a tariff on undeveloped industry or products and not on developed industries and products, and whether or not an industry or product is developed or undeveloped is a fact, ascertainable among other ways by the fact whether or not the home industry can compete with the foreign industry of the same kind.

The principle that all governments should levy upon imports the expense of such goverment instead of levying internal taxes, is conceded by all parties and by all governments, and in levying this expense upon imports the rule above stated is the only true one.

If the industry or product is not developed, then in proportion as it is developed, in that proportion will the wealth of the country and employment of the people increase.

If the industry or product is developed and can compete with the foreign industry or products then any tariff or protection of such industry or product is robbery, because the compelling of a price beyond the competing price in the home of the foreign industry is a robbery of that excess. For instance, if the selling price without the tariff of a manufactured product is five dollars and the tariff two dollars the selling price would be seven dollars. Now if that article can be sold in England or in the home of the foreign product for five dollars or can be sold in this country as cheap and as good as the foreign article, then the tariff is taking from the purchaser two dollars without any consideration, which is stealing. To sell the article in a foreign market chaeper than to our own people cannot be justified, and yet this is the condition, not only before the McKinley bill, but under it and under the Wilson bill. The persons who made or concocted these tariff laws either did not know the principle in tariff legislation or acted dishonestly.

The only reason upon which a tariff or protection can be justified is that imposts—a tax on imports—is the best way of supporting a government and that by levying such imposts on undeveloped industries—that is, upon products which would compete with an undeveloped industry—such taxation would increase the wealth of the nation and the means of employment for its people.

As an abstract principle of right and justice, every individual has the right to buy when and where he pleases, and in the cheapest market, and any limitation of this right is only justifiable on the ground of public policy and the power to levy imposts.

The doctrine of a tariff for revenue only is not true or honest, because it does not discriminate between developed and undeveloped industries but if it went further and held that in the levying of a tariff for revenue only that tariff should be laid upon products which would compete with our undeveloped industries and this would be, as to these, a protective tariff, and that upon all products with which we can compete with the world no imposts should be levied. The present Democratic doctrine is wrong, and the writer tried to have it properly framed in the platform of 1876, when the party first announced this departure from its theretofore reliable doctrines. The Republican doctrine of protection is wrong for the same reasons. Nothing should be protected which does not need protection, and an article does not need protection when it can compete with the world. The trouble or the failure to get the correct principles enacted into laws is that the politicians are dishonest. In congress there are two classes, to wit: No bodies and politicians for revenue only, the latter always running the job.

St. Paul, Aug. 28. JNO. F. KELLY.

DEPOSIT OF STATE FUNDS.

Banks in Which the Money of Minnesota Is Stored Away.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 1.—The funds of the state, shown by Treasurer Bobleter's statement for August to be $2,515,923.25, are deposited in the various banks of the state in sums as follows:

Merchants National Bank, St. Paul	$239,948.40
Bank of Minnesota, St. Paul	230,455.74
National German American Bank, St. Paul	65,255.20
Germania Bank, St. Paul	145,155.18
St. Paul National Bank, St. Paul	65,242.79
Scandinavian American Bank, St. Paul	30,165.65
Union Bank, St. Paul	44,946.51
Seven Corners Bank, St. Paul	10,022.20
Commercial Bank, St. Paul	36,387.60
First National Bank, St. Paul	10,723.61
Capital Bank, St. Paul	40,834.11
Bank of North St. Paul, St. Paul	8,774.80
Bank of Minneapolis, Minneapolis	47,533.55
Security Bank of Minnesota, Minneapolis	75,254.67
State Bank, Minneapolis	75,445.46
State Bank, of Minneapolis	75,445.76
Swedish-American National Bank, of Minneapolis	78,281.02
Northern Trust Company, Minneapolis	41,654.00
Washington Bank, Minneapolis	66,250.79
First National Bank, Minneapolis	91,297.48
Union National Bank, Minneapolis	30,775.11
Metropolitan Bank, Minneapolis	47,839.35
Columbia National Bank, Minneapolis	77,358.58
Bank of New England, Minneapolis	31,203.25
Irish-American Bank, Minneapolis	43,106.53
Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank, Minneapolis	25,218.93
St. Anthony Falls Bank, Minneapolis	35,543.25
American Exchange Bank, Minneapolis	20,552.61
German-American Bank, Minneapolis	35,780.11
Scandia Bank, Minneapolis	22,478.27
City Bank, Minneapolis	63,143.75
Metropolitan Trust Company, Minneapolis	10,824.63
Flour City National Bank, Minneapolis	15,000.00
National Bank of Commerce, Minneapolis	20,000.00
Bank of Ada, Ada	8,841.17
State Bank of Anoka, Anoka	2,283.03
Citizens' Bank of Appleton, Appleton	7,922.00
Austin National Bank, Austin	10,063.16
Citizens' National Bank, Austin	9,151.13
First National Bank, Alexandria	3,027.02
First National Bank, Breckinridge	2,448.82
Renville County Bank, Bird Island	7,911.04
First National Bank, Brainerd	4,031.35
Scandia Bank, Crookston	5,444.21
First National Bank, Detroit	3,720.75
State Bank, Duluth	33,355.27
Iron Exchange Bank, Duluth	8,033.71
Security Bank, Duluth	16,215.82
Bank of Elbow Lake, Elbow Lake	5,012.29
Martin County Bank, Fairmont	15,000.00
Citizens' National Bank, Fergus Falls	11,326.58
Granite Falls Bank, Granite Falls	9,304.37
Yellow Medicine County Bank, Granite Falls	12,530.23
First National Bank, Glencoe	2,297.27
State Bank of Hector, Hector	4,616.62
State Bank of Jackson, Jackson	10,435.91
Scott County Bank, Jordan	3,910.47
Citizens' State Bank, Kenyon	5,237.09
First National Bank, Little Falls	16,741.82
First National Bank, Luverne	12,016.83
Security Bank, Luverne	9,800.34
Bank of Litchfield, Litchfield	8,150.60
Meeker County Bank, Litchfield	6,469.01
Bank of Long Prairie, Long Prairie	8,001.81
Lac qui Parle County Bank, Madison	2,063.13
Farmers' State Bank, Madison	3,529.93
National Citizens' Bank, Mankato	7,505.05
First National Bank, Mankato	7,479.27
Lyon County Bank, Marshall	6,532.46
First National Bank, Moorhead	12,727.24
First National Bank, Morris	18,902.45
Brown County Bank, New Ulm	34,634.25
Farmers' National Bank, Owatonna	17,512.11
Pipestone County Bank, Pipestone	5,714.62
Citizens' Bank of Princeton, Princeton	2,166.15
Citizens' Bank of Redwood Falls, Redwood Falls	6,842.53
Renville State Bank, Renville	2,033.75
Security Bank, Renville	6,166.45
Merchants' National Bank, St. Cloud	12,591.93
First National Bank, St. Cloud	17,162.96
German-American National Bank, St. Cloud	2,504.93
Bank of Sleepy Eye, Sleepy Eye	5,899.70
First National Bank, Sauk Center	2,467.07
Citizens' Bank, Waseca	8,346.01
Bank of Willmar, Willmar	17,763.12
Kandiyohi County Bank, Willmar	11,265.01
German-American Bank, Winona	20,491.06
Second National Bank, Winona	7,447.80
Bank of Worthington, Worthington	11,113.87
Cash in vault	8.50
Total	$2,515,923.25

Notice.

The Populists of the Sixth congressional district will assemble at St. Cloud, Sept. 12, to put in nomination a candidate for congress. A large attendance is expected.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Permitted to Refer.

Cholly Chumpleigh—What do you think? Some people asked me yesterday if we were engaged.

Miss Coldeal—Indeed! What did you tell them?

Cholley Chumleigh—I referred them to you. Was that right?

Miss Coldeal—Quite right. I never dismiss anybody without a reference.

His Professional Method.

Spencer—That little Nagleigh girl is a changed being since she married the pugilist.

Ferguson—You don't mean to say that he thrashes her?

Spencer—No; he just talks.

On the Contrary.

Interrogo—Does your wife believe in striking the word male from the constitution?

Findesiecle—Great Scott, no! She has added it to hers. She smokes, rides a bicycle and plays poker.

A Mean Trick.

Museum Manager—What's all that disturbance in the lecture hall?

Lecturer—The Armless Wonder has stolen the Fasting Girl's lunch.

We can't save much by employing electricity to do our work, because of the consequent increase in current expense.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."

Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

The money that is the root of all evil is the money that is another's pocket.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.

The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Rest too often recuperates a fellow that it makes him too lazy to get to work.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Sore defeat is in store for the candidate who goes around shaking with two fingers.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast," but there is more spring in the legs when a man sits down on a tack.

OH, MY HEAD

Could be cured by Strong's Headache Killer. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample, or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

When a man "feels his oats," it is not always evidence of his being a stable character.

She Soon Got Tired.

Henpeck—How do you cure a woman of dabbling in woman's right?

Uptodate—By letting her have them.

SECURE AN AGENCY!

THIRTY DAYS' CREDIT.

No Capital Required.

We Send By Mail Postage Paid.

You Don't Risk a Cent!

All Our Agents Are Making Money Selling Our Beautiful

Art Specialties!

Teachers, Students, Clergymen, Farmers, Farmers' Sons, Ladies, Girls and Boys

Will find our Splendid Art Specialties standard, salable at sight and of the best character, and our dealings prompt, honorable and liberal. You can take up the business for two or three months or only give it your time one month, and if you have only a few hours per day one day in the week, you can employ every spare hour and make it all pay.

We Trust You. We send all pictures prepaid to your home. You can return back all pictures in good order not sold. This is the most liberal offer ever made. ... are the handsomest and finest selling art works ever placed in the hands of agents. You can secure without expense an honorable, legitimate and very profitable business. If you wish to become an agent for us fill out the following agreement and return it to us, and we will at once send you six samples of the pictures without your sending us one cent in advance. Most agents retail these pictures at 50 CENTS EACH, thus getting a large profit on their first order. Address

GREAT WESTERN SUPPLY HOUSE.
1107 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Fill out blank below and mail it to us and we will at once send you six oil pictures.

—CUT THIS OFF.—

AGREEMENT WITH GREAT WESTERN SUPPLY HOUSE.

GENTLEMEN:—Please send by mail, securely packed, and all charges prepaid, 6 New Easel Selling Oil Pictures, all different subjects (full 13x21 inches in size), which I agree to sell if I can and remit the sum of One Dollar, or return those unsold, and return postage paid, within thirty days from the time they are received by me.

My Name..........

My Address..........

MARLIN Model 1889

Made in 22-32, 38-40 and 44-40 calibres. The lightest, simplest and strongest repeater on the market. Take Down ... REPEATING RIFLES. The most practical rifles for rough usage. Write for catalogue to The Marlin Fire Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., U.S.A.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.

$14 Buys our 2 drawer walnut or oak Improved High Arm Singer sewing machine finely finished, nickel plated, adapted to light and heavy work; guaranteed for 10 Years; with Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle and a complete set of Steel Attachments; shipped any where on 30 Day's Trial. No money required in advance. 75,000 now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded machine and attachments. Buy from factory and save dealer's and agent's profits. FREE Cut This Out and send to-day for machine or large free catalogue, testimonials and Glimpses of the World's Fair. OXFORD MFG. CO. 342 Wabash Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES CATARRH

PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

MARRIAGE PAPER with 1,000 "personal" ads. ... free. GUNNEL'S MONTHLY, Toledo, Ohio.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

S. W. N. U. No. 37—1894.

Minnesota Historical Society

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1894. NUMBER 7.

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Personal Mention.

Serah Lewellen, aged 70, and Miss Lizzie Truitt, aged 50, were married at Muncie, Ind.

Rudyard Kipling is said to have been jilted by six London girls in succession before he wooed and won his American wife.

The remains of Rev. Charles S. H. Dunn, D. D., who died in London, Eng., have been brought to Bloomington, Ill., for burial.

The engagement of Miss Grace Roosevelt, daughter of John A. Roosevelt, to Appleton Clarke of New York is announced. Miss Roosevelt held the lawn tennis championship of America for two years.

Sig. Schiaparelli, the eminent astronomer, has declared that the extraordinary brightness of Mars is no new phenomenon. It is, in his opinion, caused by the reflection of sunlight from the clouds of the planet.

Prof. Henry Morse Stevens of Cambridge, England, has been chosen professor of modern European history at Cornell and has accepted. It is said that his acceptance is largely influenced by a desire to use the President White library at Cornell which offers exceptional advantages in his specialty, the history of the French revolution.

Cleveland is one of the eight presidents who never attended college, the others being Washington, Jackson, Van Buren, Taylor, Fillmore, Lincoln and Johnson. The other fifteen, including Grant, who was a West Pointer, were all college-bred men. It is a curious fact, however, that neither Yale, Dartmouth nor Columbia has furnished one.

Oliver Wendell Holmes has not hesitated to express his pride in the fact that the year of his birth gave to the world four of its greatest men—Tennyson, Darwin and Gladstone in England, and Abraham Lincoln in this country. And when his own name was added to the list the doctor modestly added: "Oh, I sneaked in, as it were."

Unfortunate Events.

Ten icehouses burned at Hamilton, Ohio, with a loss of $30,000.

Charles Bush, aged 20, was killed by lightning at Kalmazoo, Mich.

Wind destroyed thousands of bushels of peaches at St. Joseph, Mo.

The German church at Plum Grové, Ill., was destroyed by lightning.

Nelson Woods was killed by a dynamite explosion at Knoxville, Tenn.

Lafayette Peck of Roadhouse, Ill., was killed by lightning while visiting in the country.

Mrs. Jacob Smith and son was killed by a bolt of lightning at Whitehall, Mich.

Christian Schall, a farmer, living near Alliance, Ohio, was killed in a runaway accident.

Mrs. Eliza M. Steers, of Anne, Ill., fell downstairs and received injuries from which she died.

Alfred Strong, 8 years old, was run over and killed by a trolley car at Brooklyn, N. Y.

W. B. Gilman, the Wabash fireman injured in the wreck at Saunemin, Ill., Friday has died.

John Ingalls was killed by a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway train near New Hampton, Ia.

Steve Sullivan, an ex-pugilist of Chicago, fell under the train at Dwight, Ill., and lost an arm.

While a crowd at Nashville, Tenn., was watching a rope walker, a sidewalk fell and a score of persons were injured.

Oscar Johnson, living near Sycamore, Ill., 17 years of age, died of lockjaw. He had fallen piercing his thigh with the tines of a fork.

A Vandalia freight train was wrecked near Peoria, Ill., by running into a herd of cattle, and Engineer J. C. Williams was killed.

Frank Martell, a wealthy stock ranch owner at Greenwood county, Kas., was drowned in the Neosho river, near Burlington, Kas.

D. W. Bishop, of New York, who inherited the bulk of the late Catherine Wolfe's fortune, had a narrow escape from being drowned at Manhattan beach while bathing.

W. S. Knapp, an old citizen of Mason City, Iowa, was instantly killed by a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train while attempting to cross the track with a team.

By the explosion of a gasoline stove at Winfield, Ill., Miss Regina Kopp, domestic in the family of the Rev. J. Weiderhold, received burns from which she died. The loss on the house is about $3,000.

Lightning struck the Monmouth while the steamer was enroute from the Atlantic highlands to New York city. Capt. Martin was slightly injured and the passengers were greatly alarmed for a few minutes.

Criminal Doings.

George Kunzel, 61 shot and killed himself at Clinton, Ia. He has three children living in Chicago.

A. A. McComb, was arrested at Jeffersonville, Ind., for passing counterfeit coin.

Harry G. Cleveland, formerly a clerk in the Akron, Ohio, postoffice, has been arrested, charged with forgery.

The men who lynched six negroes in Tennessee are detected and will be arrested, it is promised.

William J. Sigsbee committed suicide at Quincy, Ill., after being married two weeks.

Charles Stevens, a young man living near Warren, Ind., was arrested and taken to Tennessee to answer a murder charge.

A neat but unsuccessful attempt was made to swindle Rush Culver, receiver of the United States land office at Marquette, Mich., out of $424.

The body of James Mooney of Pike county, Ill., was found in the river near there. He had been murdered presumably for his money. There is no clew to the murderer.

Joseph Grace in the county jail at Jeffersonville, Ind., on a charge of criminally assaulting his 12-year old daughter Florence, attempted suicide with a pocket knife.

Thirty-four men are to be tried at Pekin, Ill., for taking part in the attack on Little's coal mine June 6, in which two men were killed and the mine destroyed by fire.

Dr. H. S. Humphrey has been held to trial at Lansing, Mich., $1,000 bail, on a charge of manslaughter preferred by Julia Cosgrave of Nashville, Tenn. The case grows out of an alleged criminal operation.

Clarence W. Clark, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and next in rank to Chief Arthur, is lying at the point of death at Philadelphia from a pistol wound inflicted by his divorced wife.

During the celebration of mass in a Catholic church at Bucharest a lunatic who brandished a long knife rushed up to the altar and tried to murder the priest. He was seized and disarmed before he could do any harm.

A stage was held up seven miles south of Congress, Ariz., by two masked highwaymen. Six passengers were in the coach. They were relieved of all their valuables, the bandits securing $500.

Cattlemen swooped down upon three sheep camps on the mesa west of Parachute, Col., shot and dangerously wounded a herder named Carl Brown, drove off the other herders and ran the sheep over the cliffs along Roan Creek.

Bert Swigley and his sons, with Harvey Terrill, a young man, were digging potatoes near Wabash, Ind. Terrill lagged behind, and Jake Swigley, aged 14, struck him a sharp blow on the head with the sharp edge of a potato digger. Terrill is unconscious, and the doctors fear he will not recover.

Foreign Gossip.

Turkish brigands sacked the Antelia railroad station at Kayit.

Baron Erlanger, the German banker, died at Genoa, Italy.

Investigation shows that the cholera is spread by the pilgrims to Mecca, which is a nursery for the disease.

Muley Mohammed, the eldest son of the late sultan of Morocco, has been proclaimed emperor by the rebel tribes of the South.

There is a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 in the revenues of the Dominion of Canada for the fiscal year ending June 30 last.

The Paris L'Autorite says that the emperor of Germany is trying to organize a conference of the powers with view of bringing about a general disarmament.

Nicaragua's president promptly complies with a demand by the United States government that exiled Americans be returned to Bluefields and given a fair trial.

An official dispatch from Pretoria, capital of the Transvaal republic, South Africa, says that the chief leader of the insurgent Kaffirs, after continued fighting, has surrendered to the Boer commanders.

The Republic of Columbia has presented Nicaragua with a second protest, claiming sovereignty over the Mosquito reservation under old Spanish titles. It is reported that President Nunez is to go to Bogota in order to calm the rising troubles there.

The Paris Republique Francaise says it regards the reports that it is the intention of the Japanese to attack Shanghai has proof that Great Britain is seeking a pretext to intervene in the war between China and Japan. But this, the paper adds, the United States, France and Russia will not permit.

A dispatch to the London Times from Berlin says that an article recently published in the Vienna Politiche Correspondebz advocating a dual control by Great Britain and Germany over Samoa, has attracted great attention in Berlin. The dispatch adds that the proposal is unfavorably received and it is firmly insisted that only a German protectorate is possible.

The London Times publishes a long letter from Lord Brassey warmly supporting the project of establishing a Canadian mail route to Australia. Lord Brassey says that such a route is earnestly to be desired, and that no hesitation should be shown if the earl of Jersey, who was Great Britain's representative at the recent colonial conference in Ottawa, recommends that the proposed Canadian service (mail and cable) to Australia should be subsidized.

Otherwise.

Hogan refuses to testify in the Debs trial, and is excused.

Jackson refuses to follow Corbett's example and sign for a fight at Sioux City.

Mr. Debs goes to the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen to work for the defeat of Grand Master Sargent.

New York stockholders will ask a receiver for the Colorado Irrigation company, whose affairs are said to be honey-combed with fraud.

The annual report of the Rio Grande road make a good comparative showing. Net earnings for the year decreased $1,532,069.

A child of Ben Thornton, a colored detective of Indianapolis, was refused admission to a public school, and the board of education has been appealed to.

Col. William B. Haynes has declined the nomination for congressman from the Thirteenth Ohio district tendered him by the Democratic convention held at Sandusky, Sept. 4.

Ex-Gov. Zulick of Arizona has written a letter to the president, vigorously protesting against the return to Arizona of Geronimo and his Apaches, now prisoners at Mount Vernon barracks, Ala.

W. C. Sawyer, bicyclist, at Springfield, Mass., made an unpaced mile in 2:07 1-5, beating the world's record.

Capt. Frietsch of Milwaukee arrived safely at Queenstown, having crossed the Atlantic alone in his little schooner Nina.

The New York constitutional convention in committee of the whole has adopted a resolution changing the term of governor and lieutenant governor from three years, as at present, to two years, and providing that in all cases the state engineer shall be a practical civil engineer.

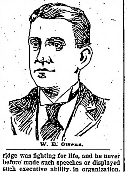
BRECKINRIDGE LOSES

THE CONTEST IN THE ASHLAND DISTRICT IS DECIDED.

Congressman Breckinridge Is Defeated at the Primaries by Mr. Owens—The Credit for the Result Is Given the Ladies.

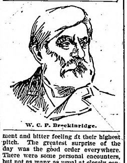
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18. — W. Owens has defeated W. C. P. Breckinridge and E. E. Settle for the Democratic nomination for congress from the Seventh, better known as the Ashland, district.

For months the district has been agitated in the most bitter personal manner. It was not a political, not a factional fight; it was a moral contest for months and months, and during the last few days it became intensely personal; so much so that the nomination was not the only issue. Col. Breckinridge was fighting for life, and he never before made such speeches or displayed such executive ability in organization. He marshaled every man he could command, but he could not command the women. They had no votes, but they were the controlling element in the fight. At the Owens headquarters they say in their rejoicing, "The ladies did it."



W. E. Owens.

The ladies could not get ward workers to their prayer meetings or other meetings, but their organization of committees of one generally got promises at home out of voters, who needed no watching on entering the booths. With the saloons closed, the women praying and the best influences all aroused, there was a quiet election with excitement and bitter feeling at their highest pitch. The greatest surprise of the day was the good order everywhere. There were some personal encounters, but not as many as usual at closely contested elections. There was, however, great precaution to prevent trouble. Old friends and neighbors have been having their inning, and they wanted only the voting now. If the Breckinridge men had enforced their challenge strictly, as they had expected, there would have been trouble. So closely had the canvassing and polling been done, that the challengers knew how almost all the Democrats stood, and they could have prevented many from voting. It was generally understood that the Republican managers favored Breckinridge, and they thought in the event of his nomination their candidate would not be hopeless. Very few Republicans, however, voted.



W. C. P. Breckinridge.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—There is nothing definite in the way of returns. The Owens men claim the election of Owens by 410 plurality, while the Breckinridge men claim his plurality is only 169. It is believed by many well posted Owens men that Breckinridge will contest the election, but he declines to talk for publication. The official count will be held to-morrow, and as a majority of the election committee favors Breckinridge it is expected that advantage will be taken of every contested vote to seat the colonel.

PEARY'S PARTY.

The Arctic Explorers Arrive at St. Johns, N. F.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 18.—The steamer Falcon, Capt. Henry Bartlett, has returned here, bringing back the whole personnel of the Peary expedition of last year except Lieut. Peary, Hugh Lee, a companion, and Matthew Penson, a colored servant, all of whom remain at Bowdoin Bay for another year, hoping to accomplish the work of the expedition which is still left unfinished. The first incident of note was the birth of Mrs. Peary's baby, on Sept. 12, 1893, a month after the Falcon left last year. During October last fearful storms swept over Falcon harbor, smashing the naphtha launch and washing away large quantities of oil intended for lighting and heating purposes. The various scientific observations were most successful. They were taken by Mr. Baldwin.

Lynch Suspects Jailed.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Frank H. Berry of Rosemark, Frank Tucker, W. C. Thompson and Jim Walker of Kerryville, were jailed to-day under indictment for alleged complicity in the lynching of six negroes near Millington on the night of Aug. 31.

Shot While Hunting.

Jackson, Minn., Sept. 18.—A sixteen-year-old son of Hon. Alex Fiddes was accidentally shot while hunting, and is not expected to live.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Peculiar Experiance of a Missouri Horse Thief.

Yankton, S. D., Sept. 18. — W. H. Leonard, alias W. H. Johnson, was in Yankton to-day. Leonard enjoys the unusual distinction of having been under sentence of death for murder alleged to have been committed in Kansas while he was in jail in Yankton for horse stealing. Leonard was born in Clay county, Mo., the birthplace of the James and Younger brothers, and when eighteen years of age fell in love with a farmer's daughter. He had no means and the girl refused to marry him until he could provide her a home. To do this he stole a horse and buggy and sold it, but before the wedding could be effected he was arrested, tried and sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the Iowa penitentiary. He served his time and removed to Elk Point, this state. In April, 1883, he came to Yankton, hired a livery team and drove to Creighton, Neb. From there he started West. He tried to sell the team, and was finally brought back to Yankton and indicted for horse stealing. He was in jail here from April to November, 1883, when he was released on his own recognizance. From Yankton he went to Missouri, stole a horse, was again convicted and sentenced to five years in the Jefferson City penitentiary.

Here began the strangest part of his career. In the Jefferson City penitentiary he became acquainted with many noted criminals, one of whom disclosed to him the details of a railroad robbery on the Santa Fe road, near Garden City, Kan., in July, 1883, in which one man was killed and two or three wounded. Leonard thought he could use this information to secure his release from prison, and he devoted himself to rehearsing the details of the robbery as described by his fellow convict until he could describe the incidents connected therewith as readily as though he had actually participated in the robbery. He then made a statement of pretended confession, in which he implicated himself in the robbery, but declared he had no hand in the killing of the express messenger. As anticipated, he was taken to Garden City and indicted for murder. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to hang. One man testified that Leonard was the man who shot him, and others testified that Leonard was the man who did the killing. His protestations of innocense and affidavits from Yankton declaring that at the time the Santa Fe train was held up and robbed Leonard was an inmate of the Yankton county jail were in vain. Gov. Humphreys of Kansas and the railroad company wanted Leonard hanged, and the jailer in whose charge he was at Yankton was sent for to identify him, if possible. When Henry Bradley, the jailer, arrived at the penitentiary he found 900 convicts drawn up in line. Out of this number he had no difficulty in placing his hand on his old prisoner. This delayed the execution of the sentence still further, and when Gov. Lewelling was elected he became convinced of Leonard's innocence and pardoned him, after he had been for seven years under the sentence of death for a crime that he did not commit. Leonard is but thirty-four years of age now, and says that hereafter he will avoid criminal pursuits and settle down to honest life.

FOR CONGRESS.

Fourth District Populists Nominate F. H. Clarke.

St. Paul, Sept. 18—The Populists of the Fourth district met here Saturday night and nominated F. H. Clarke of Ramsey county for congress. An attempt was made to endorse Darragh, the Democratic candidate, but this failed. The platform in part is as follows:

"We believe that the Democratic and Republican parties have abandoned the basic principles of their faiths, and are no longer the parties of Jefferson and Lincoln, but are the pliant tools of corporations and trusts.

"We believe that the salvation of our country demands radical changes; that the government should issue its own money, direct to the people, without the intervention of banks; that silver should be remonetized and free coinage adopted; that the people should be allowed to vote directly for their presidents and senators and upon all important laws; that the contract system of constructing public works should be abolished and all workmen be employed by the government and paid directly from the treasury; that the government should own and control all public utilities; should take possession of and run the Union Pacific railroad at once, and should purchase at a fair value all desirable railroads as soon as practicable and operate the same.

"We believe that the government of this country ought to be a government of the people, for the people and by the people, as it was originally intended, but it has been treated by the men who are at its head as a thing apart from and above the people, an oligarchy run by a plutocracy, and that through its corrupt workings and class legislation it has made the people of this republic a nation of beggars, tenants and slaves.

"We pledge ourselves, if permitted to gain control of our government, to restore it to the people and make it responsive to the public will."

Political Testament.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The Gaulois says that the Comte d'Haussenville has in his possession and will shortly publish the political testament of the Comte d'Paris, head of the royal house of France, who died a few days ago at Stowe House, England.

Verdict of Guilty.

Hastings, Minn., Sept. 18.—The jury in the case of John Ivan, for the killing of Policeman Albert Jacobson on the evening of July 10, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree.

Cholera at Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 18.—Capt. W. R. Bridgeman, of the United States man-of-war Baltimore, died here of Asiatic fever, not cholera, contracted recently in China.

THE BOYS IN BLUE

CONVENTION OF THE G. A. R. AT INDIANAPOLIS

Louisville Will Have the Honor of Entertaining the Next Encampment—Commander in Chief Adams Reads His Annual Address.

Pittsburg, Sept. 12.—The great parade of veterans has occurred, and now the business portion of the encampment begins. The fight over the election of commander-in-chief is warm, but it is nothing compared to the struggle for the honor of entertaining the next encampment. St. Paul and Louisville were the only candidates, but Kansas City has entered the race, which makes the contest more exciting. Kansas City, however, is not seriously considered, and the actual fight is between St. Paul and Louisville, with the odds still in favor of the Minnesota city. If Louisville wins it will be because Kansas City entered the race.

Forty thousand men who fought to save the Union marched through the streets of Pittsburg and Allegheny. The old familiar war tunes, to which they and their comrades rushed to victory or to death, filled the air and echoed back from the surrounding hills. The music made their hearts beat as in the stirring times thirty years ago, and brought the flush of patriotism and courage to their cheeks. But, while they stepped out boldly and bravely, they could not straighten their bent forms nor conceal their gray hairs and furrowed cheeks. They carried no heavy rifles with glittering bayonets, but aided their aged limbs with walking canes, while here and there in the line of blue came a comrade on crutches. They marched no more beneath the yawning muzzles of frowning cannon, but passed battery after battery of bright eyes, while their fair enemy waived white handkerchiefs and applauded with shrill, sweet voices.

On every street corner and vacant lot rose tier after tier of human faces, and as the veterans passed cheer after cheer greeted them. Every window along the route, the fire escapes and roof tops were crowded, while the sidewalks were packed solidly from the building line to the wire ropes stretched along the curbs. The parade started from historic Monongahela house, on the banks of the river from which it takes its name.

First came Company A, Second battalion naval reserves, N. G. P., guard of honor to Commander-in-Chief Adams. Then followed the departments of the G. A. R. in the following order: Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maine, California, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, Vermont, Potomanc, Virginia and North Carolina; Maryland, Nebraska, Michigan, Iowa, Colorado and Wyoming; Kansas, Delaware, Minnesota, Missouri, Oregon, Kentucky, West Virginia, South Dakota, Washington and Alaska; Arkansas, New Mexico, Utah, Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi; Florida; Montana, Texas, Idaho, Arizona, Georgia, Alabama, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The decorations of the two cities were most lavish. It was stated by men who attended many previous encampments that, while individual displays may have been excelled in other cities, they had never seen decorations on such a generous and general scale. Hardly a dwelling, no matter how poor, nor how far from the route of the parade, but at least had a flag, and usually a display of bunting as well, while the business houses in every part of the cities made a gorgeous showing.

This was not the only manner in which the gratitude, pride and patriotism of the citizens were displayed. They gave more certain evidence by the manner in which they turned out to greet the old soldiers. It is impossible to form any accurate estimate of the spectators. Every available inch along the route was packed. Every side street was jammed full of people for a hundred yards, and the housetops for blocks away were hidden by masses of enthusiastic applauders.

A rough estimate is that between 500,000 and 600,000 people saw the parade.

Goes to Louisville.

Pittsburg, Sept. 13.—The delegates to the national encampment of the G. A. R. got down to a solid business basis. While 200,000 persons have left the city since the last soldier passed in review, there are still 200,000 strangers in the town, the majority of whom will stay until Saturday and Sunday, while some will remain even longer. The national encampment opened this morning in the new Grand opera house. The commander-in-chief and delegates were welcomed on behalf of the citizens' executive board by Chairman Daniel C. Ripley, and also by William Hamilton, chairman of the committee on invitations. Gov. Pattison welcomed them on behalf of the state, while Mayor McKenna of Pittsburg and Mayor Kennedy of Allegheny performed the same pleasant duty on behalf of their respective cities.

The serious business of the encampment proper then began. The election for commander-in-chief will not be held until to-morrow. Since the withdrawal of Judge Charles D. Long of Michigan the opinion is rapidly growing that Col. I. N. Walker of Indiana will secure the coveted honor.

A careful canvass by the St. Paul committee convinced them that they had about one third of the encampment safe for St. Paul and were gaining rapidly when the question was unexpectedly sprung twenty four hours in advance of accustomed period. The case of St. Paul was ably presented by Col. Jas. H. Davidson, Judge Rae of Minneapolis and the department commander of Wisconsin. Upon a viva voce vote the sentiment was so manifestly favorable to Louisville that St. Paul decided not to waste time by demanding a vote by departments. Col. Davidson moved to make the selection of Louisville unanimous, at the same time presenting the claims of St. Paul for 1896. This was received with universal manifestations of approval and enough pledges were at once voluntarily tendered to make the selection practically certain. The St. Paul committee will remain until close of encampment working for 1896, and have already secured quarters for 1895 at Louisville.

Commander-in-Chief Adams called the delegates to order. The credentials of the delegates had been examined, and the annual reports of the national officers were taken up and read.

Commander Adams opened his address by congratulating Pittsburg on its loyalty now, as well as during the days of the war; citing its liberality in caring for the soldiers from the West on their way to the front, as Philadelphia had done for those from the Eastern states.

He then referred to the fact that four months' confinement in a hospital had prevented him from fully attending to his duties, but having received the order in such excellent condition from his predecessor, and being so ably assisted by his comrades, the order had not suffered by reason of his disability.

The membership of the order, he said, is as follows:

One year ago there were in good standing 397,223. There have been gained during the year, by muster-in, 16,752; by transfer, 6,354; by reinstatement, 14,036; by reinstatement from delinquent reports, 2,510. Total gain, 39,661. Aggregate, 436,884.

There have been lost: By death, 7,283; by honorable discharge, 1,756; by transfer, 7,132; by suspension, 34,805; by dishonorable discharge, 154; by delinquent reports, 16,071.

Number remaining in good standing, June 30, 1894, 369,083. To which he added:

"These figures show that the G. A. R. has reached the beginning of the end, and each succeeding year will show a gradual decrease in our membership. The long continued depression in business has caused many suspensions, and these, we hope, to regain when prosperity returns, but it will be impossible for us to recruit our ranks as fast as our members are mustered out by death."

Lawler is Chosen.

Pittsburg, Sept. 14.—The feature of the encampment, and the hottest and closest contest ever known in the Grand Army, was the fight for the position of commander-in-chief. The contestants were Col. Thomas G. Lawler of Rockford, Ill., and I. N. Walker of Indianapolis. Electioneering of a most vigorous character has been going on all week, and last night and this morning the friends of both candidates claimed a victory by a good margin. The closeness of the result was a surprise to both victor and defeated. It took forty-five minutes to cast and count the ballot of 649 delegates. Then Commander Adams announced that the vote stood: Lawler, 330; Walker, 319; the Illinois man winning by the narrow margin of eleven votes. As soon as the election was announced, peals of applause rang through the opera house. When some semblance of quiet was restored Col. Walker withdrew his name and the election of Col. Lawler was made unanimous.

In a brief speech the new commander-in-chief thanked his supporters, and said he would work to the utmost for the advancement of that grand organization—the G. A. R. Nevins post, of Rockford, Ill., in honor of the election of Col. Lawler, fired a salute of twenty-one guns on the river bank.

Col. Lawler was born in England on April 7, 1844. When a child he was taken to Illinois and educated in the public schools of Rockford. At the age of seventeen he enlisted as a private in Company E, Nineteenth Illinois Volunteer infantry. He saw much hard fighting. He commanded his company for two months during the Atlanta campaign, and was elected captain by the company and placed upon the roll of honor by Maj. Gen. Rosecrans, of the Army of the Cumberland. Col. Lawler organized the Rockford Rifles in 1876, and was elected colonel and commanded the Seventh regiment, I. N. G., for some years, when he resigned. He was postmaster at Rockford under the Hayes and Garfield administrations, and is in the lumber and coal business. Col. Lawler post, of Rockford, for twenty-six consecutive years. He has also served as a member of the council of adminstration, and junior and senior vice commander.

The first business when the convention met was the nominations for national officers. Maj. A. P. Burchfield, of this city, was nominated for senior vice commander-in-chief, and as there was no opposition, was elected unanimously. For junior vice commander, Corporal Tanner proposed Philip S. Biglin. When Charles H. Shute was put forward in nomination for the same position by the present department commander of Louisiana. Mr. Biglin withdrew and Charles Shute was elected junior vice without a ballot.

The next election was that for surgeon general, Comrade O. O. Weeks, of Marion, Ohio, was without opposition and was unanimously elected.

Chaplin T. H. Haggerty of St. Louis, was elected, unanimously, chaplain-in-chief, his only opponent, Comrade Southard of Maine, withdrawing before a ballot was taken.

The Daughters of Veterans elected the following national officers: President, Mrs. Ellen N. Walker, Worcester, Mass.; senior vice president, Miss Anna Schmidt, St. Louis; junior vice president, Miss Gladys Foster, Kansas; chaplain, Miss Lena Stevens, Massillon, Ohio; treasurer, Miss Ida J. Allen, Newtonville, Mass.; inspector, Miss Addie York, Summerville, Mass.; installing officer, Miss Anna Roberts, Connellsville, Ind.; trustees, Anna Moore, New York; Minnie Trescott, Ohio; Nellie King, Ohio; Cora Pike, Massachusetts, and R. Evelyn, Monroe, Ohio.

Fraud Is Claimed.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—A sensational bill for a receiver for the Chicago Nickel works has been filed, charging J. McGregor Adams, the well known capitalist and vice president of the company, with fraudulently aiding the stock holders to dispose of their stock.

Washed Out by Floods.

San Diego, Tex., Sept. 14.—Three hundred feet of track on the Mexican National, west of Benavides, and 400 feet west of Rialtos, have been washed away by the floods. All trains are tied up.

Vacancies in the Senate.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Gov. Peck has issued writs of election to fill the vacancies in the senate caused by the resignations of Sam Smead of Fond du Lac, and J. W. Murphy of Milwaukee.

ROBERT J. A WONDER

THE KING OF THE TURF AGAIN LOWERS THE RECORD.

In a Trial Against Time at Terre Haute He Goes a Mile in 2:01 1-2, Which Lowers His Record by an Even Second.

Terre Haute, Sept 16—World's record went glimmering over the Terre Haute track to-day. Robert J., 2:01 1-2. Geers was up behind Robert J. and at the second trial the word was given him. The clip was so fast that the pacemaker fell back, the first quarter being done in 30 3-4 seconds. Up the hill he went at even a faster gait and was at the half in 1:03-4. Down the third quarter the unbeaten gelding came like a whirlwind; 29 1-2 seconds marked his time for that quarter, and he was at the three-quarters pole in 1:30 1-4. The gelding came true and strong, never for a moment wavering under the terrific trial, and a moment later Geers landed Robert J. under the wire in 2:01 1-2. Pandemonium broke loose. Men shouted themselves hoarse, tossing hats and canes into the air; women set aside dignity and waved handkerchiefs and parasols to the melody of the more resonant applause. There were cheers for horse, for driver and for the owner, Mr. Hamlin, and Geers was lifted from the sulky and carried up the stretch on the shoulders of admiring friends.

THE LAST DAY.

Close of the 28th National Encampment of the G. A. R.

Pittsburg, Sept. 16.—The 28th national encampment of the G. A. R. and all the attendant cermonies and festivities are over. The woman's relief corps installed its officers this morning, but the work of the other organizations was completed last night. The last number on the official programme was completed to-day, when the officers and delgates, with their ladies, were given a boat excursion, which took in the armor plate mills at Homestead.

For Purchasing Slaves.

Cairo, Sept. 16.—The finding of the court in the case of the persons charged with purchasing slave girls was published to-day. It shows that Wacyf Pasha, a retired general of the Egyptian army was not convicted as was reported yesterday, but was acquitted. Abdel Hamid was convicted and sentenced to six months imprisonment. In the case of the dealers and brokers in slave girls who were tried by the same court there were convictions in each case, the prisoners being sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment at hard labor. The Sirdar has signified his approval of the court's action in the case of the men condemned and has confirmed the sentences. He has not confirmed the finding of the court, however, in the cases of those acquitted.

Remains Suspended.

Boston, Sept. 16.—At to-day's session of National Underwriters' association a resolution was offered to annul the sentence passed on Newton Briggs of Wisconsin, at the Buffalo convention, two years ago, when he was expelled and disqualified from again making application for membership. It was charged that he had used his influence with the state officers of Wisconsin to prevent certain companies from gaining a foothold in the state. A long and exciting discussion followed, during which an affadavit of the attorney general of Wisconsin was read stating that the charges against Briggs wer untrue. Mr. Briggs, however, was severely criticized and the matter was indefinitely postponed.

Condition of Trade.

New York, Sept. 16.—Bradstreet's says: All the features of improvement in general trade reported a week ago are retained and from a number of the more important business centers still further gains are reported. Commercial travelers from Baltimore are making their second trip to the South and regard the business prospects as exceptionally bright. At various northwestern centers colder weather has stimulated the sales in dry goods, clothing and shoes. Woolen dress goods are not sold as actively in previous weeks, jobbers not carrying supplies beyond what the public are likely to take before Jan. 1.

New Mexico Populists.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 16.—The territorial Populist convention nominated T. B. Mills of Las Vegas, for delegate to congress. The platform recommends the election of president, United States senators, United States marshals and postmasters by direct vote of the people; the abolition of national banks, the establishment of postal saving banks, liberal pensions and the Swiss system refreendum.

An Eruption Threatened.

Guadalajara, Mex., Sept. 16.—An eruption of Colima volcano, situated on the Pacific coast south of this city is threatened and the inhabitants of the district at the base of the mountain and adjoining valley are in a state of excitement. An eruption at this time would prove a heavy loss to crops and great damage to other property.

Child's Terrible Death.

Alexandria, Sept. 16.—Al. Curtiss of Hudson, lost his five-year-old child by a terrible accident. The father was hauling sand and the child was to have a ride. They drove along until they struck a rough road, when the child fell off and the wheel passed directly over it, crushing and killing it instantly.

Couldn't Pass on One Track.

Minneapolis, Sept. 16.—A disastrous collision occurred this morning at 10:15 on the Snelling avenue electric line. The accident took place on the overhead crossing of the Great Northern right of way, and a south-bound car in charge of Motorman Henry Steen, telescoped a north-bound car for a distance of six feet. Steen was badly cut about the lower part of the body, and N. S. Gordon of Austin, and young Percy Ketcham, of Merriam Park, passengers on the north-bound car, were badly hurt.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:08 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8 [illegible] a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible]ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston [illegible]inn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible]n or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

---

25 cents!

A New Subscriber

Can get the

SPECTATO R

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

C. G. Rapp returned from his St. Paul trip today.

O. H. Peters is doing business at Red Lake Falls this week.

M. E. Bjerk made a short trip to Crookston last Friday.

Fred Eikhoff spent last Sunday at Crookston visiting friends.

Cashier Garceau, of Red Lake Falls is doing business in town to day.

Peter Paradis was sojourning at Crookston the first of the week.

R. B. Vining of Thief River Falls was in town between trains today.

Mrs. L. K. Kolstad is visiting friends at Thief River Falls this week.

Miss. Minnie Olson went over to Fosston last Monday to make her brother a visit.

Editor Gallen of Thief River Falls was in town Monday on his way to Crookston.

Mrs. Al. Searegent of Crookston was visiting her sister Mrs. Wash Adams last week.

J. D. Marshall was up from Red Lake Falls last Friday looking over the business prospects.

Frank E. Hunt the prominent Red Lake Falls Merchant was a visitor here last Sunday.

We have been having some cold weather the past week it freezing quite hard a couple of nights.

M. Williams of Wadena, came up on to day's train and will visit old friends for a few days.

Mrs. E. M. Hoff left on today's train for Thief River Falls where she will visit relatives a couple of days.

Mr. Albert Gunnis of Grand Forks was here several days last week visiting his sister Mrs. R. H. Aimer.

Mrs. J. E. Burkee of Thief River Falls was visiting her sister Mrs. E. M. Hoff a couple of days last week.

Capt. Eberhard of the steamer Viking, passed through here last Monday on his way to Crookston on business.

E. G. Holmes informs us that he will pay the highest cash price for potatoes and solicits shipments from the farmers

We are indebted to John Sorsoleil for a couple of fine musk mellons from his garden. Mr. Sorsoleil has been very successful in his gardening.

S. M. Dainard and W. C. Stranahan from attending the Mc Intosh fair last Sunday. Mr. Dainard's running horse took second money, in the free for all running race.

The village school will open a week from next Monday. The board has hired Miss. Harriet Felton of Minneapolis as principal and Miss Mary Kyle as primary teacher.

A large crowd attended the charity social in the Norwegian Lutheran church last Friday evening. About $25 was realized and a very pleasant evening was passed by those particepating.

W. A. Hammond who for several years past has been one of the editors of the Polk County Journal, has purchased the Crookston Tribune of A. R. Holston and will run it as a Republican paper.

"Ole" Freeman is looking and feeling much better lately. That gloomy air of responsibility which he has worn all summer, is fast disappearing. The cause is easy—the garden season is over and "Ole" watches the cows no longer.

Col. Breakenridge has been defeated for renomination to congress in Kentucky by a man named Owen. Next November we will send our Knute to, go down and shake hands with "Willie" as by that time he too will have been badly beaten by a man named Owen.

Minnesota Democrats have convened and nominated a fine state ticket. It is headed by General Becker who has for years been one of the state railroad commissioners. He is a man who is very popular, with the solid vote of all railroad presidents and directors unless it is deemed necessary to throw the votes to Knute to save him from defeat. As he is one of Knute Nelsons appointes he will of course work in his interest and will probably get his old place again.

County politics has already commenced to get all the attention needed by the different candidates. The fairs and picnics have all been well attended by the would-be office holders, and if any voter has not been told of all the good points each one of them has, it is certainly not the fault of the candidates. The voter simply would not listen.—Crookston Times.

The Republican and Democratic newspapers are trying to convey the impression that the Peoples party is losing ground and will not do much in the coming campaign. Their labored efforts show plainly the drift of affairs. The populists are gaining every hour from all classes of people except the capitalists. The movement has heretofore been confined to the farmer but this year the vast army of laboring men all over the country are doing yeoman service for the cause of reform. Watch for the victoris for our banner in November.

Some one should send word to Senator Davis, of Minnesota, that the reservation timber is on fire, and will no doubt be ruined to a great extent. If it is all burned up the bill to open the lands for settlement will not have to be pushed through the senate by Mr. Davis, Maj. Baldwin, always alive to the best interests of the state, secured the passage of the bill in the house but Mr. Davis refused to support it in the senate at the last session. Year after year millions of feet of valuable timber is destroyed on the government lands. Mr. Davis' refusal to support that measure would lead one to believe that he was closely allied with the timber ring, so famous in the state of Minnesota. Mr. Davis has four years to serve yet, but some of the voters in the Northwest may still be alive at that time and they will make it warm for him should he come up for re-election.—Crookston Times.

The Nelson county agitators mean business. The commissioners have given bonds for $20,000 to furnish the necessary county offices free of cost for five years. The chances for some of the other aspiring towns in the county to become county seats would have been much better if they had followed Fosston's example in this matter.—Crookston Times.

This would be an excellent plan for the people who are booming Red Lake county to adopt. If the citizens of Red Lake Falls, who are working so hard for county division will come to the front and give good security that they will build us a court house as a bonus for making that town the county seat it would be an argument worth considering. The proposed county would start in heavily in debt and county buildings would be a heavy expense. Come, gentlemen, let us hear from you.

Some trusts may spring into existence without protective laws, all trusts will thrive best under protection and some could not exist except for protection. To this last class belongs the sugar trust. It was organized under the McKinley law and by the time the democrats got ready to amend or as they promised, wipe out the protective tariff laws, the trust had grown so strong that it simply dictated to congress what protection it wanted—and got it. This was not the only trust that was fostered by the Mc Kinley tariff and neither is it the only one that is permitted to exits by the present democratic tariff law. Neither of the old parties dare strike trusts a blow—they will flourish under one as well as the other. If you wish to destroy these vampires vote with the peoples party which is not under any obligations to the trusts.—Noman County Herald.

We call upon every People's party man in the state to stand by the ticket —first, last and all the time. Not by the candidate for governor alone, but by all the ticket. It is nearly as important to elect Mr. Lommen lieutenant-governor, as it is to elect Mr. Owen. The lieutenant governor has to appoint all the committees of the senate, and upon the organization of those committees largely depends the legislation of the session. So with Mr. Borchert, the state treasurer. Things are all wrong with that office. Millions of dollars of unnecessary taxation are wrung from the people and stored in the banks and loaned back to the people who paid it at high rates of interest. The state auditor's office is as important as that of governor. All the vast pine and mineral and swamp lands are in his hands, and we know immense frauds have been perpetrated during the past 30 years. Elect Mr. Stromberg and this thing will be stopped. And Mr. Keyes as attorney general, is of the utmost importance. He will be the right hand of the governor and state auditor in prosecuting the timber thieves. Neither is the office of secretary of state unimportant. Do your utmost for Mr. Seborger. Judge Willis' election is a foregone conclusion; so take off your coats and do your best for Summer Ladd for chief justice—an able man. And the clerk of the court you must not forget—C. H. Johnson, of Pipestone. For one and all do your utmost.—I. D. in Representative.

MINNESOTA STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At

WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school.

The Normal department embraces:-

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

(d) A kindergarten training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents, first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead for same accommodations $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 1st; at Mankato August 30th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall Northern flour. Best flour for the less' money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S. M. Dainard's.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

If you intend to ship your wheat on track this fall it will pay you to give me a call. Have had 30 years expriance shipping grain and can save you money if any one can,

O. H. Peters.

WE LEAD in low prices and reliable goods. Call and get prices on "the latest" in fall and winter dress goods. Send for samples.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr
Crookston Minn

LATEST STYLES and lowest prices in ladies and childrens cloaks. I will not be undersold.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr
Crookston Minn.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's warehouse.

W. A. Sorsoleil, Agent

The McIntosh divisionists say the reason they want to get set off is to get rid of Mike Kirsch. That's just the reason why we want them to stay in. If Mike can bulldose thirty thousand people what will he do with a quarter of that number?—Fertile Journal.

At the republican legislative convention at Crookston last week B. Sampson of Crookston, was nominated for state senator and P. S. Ware and J. J. Rood and John Wright, of Norman county for the legislature.

The White Slave

In slavery times a millionaire could have purchased 1,000 slaves for $1,000 each. Where is the millionaire of to-day who would invest his millions in white slaves at $1,000 each? Not one. Should he do this he would have to feed them, clothe them, care for them when they were sick and provide them with work. Every laboring man who died would be a loss of $1,000 to his owner. But under the conditions of this country in which for thirty years the Republican party has legislated for the "laboring man" we can have all the slaves we want for the mere asking. Yes, more, a million slaves are marching from place to place begging for the menial service performed by the black slave in his time and can't even get his bread to say nothing about his clothes and medicine and were he to die he would not be buried by "the masters" but by the public. The black slave would make his way to the north and gain his freedom but where can the white slave flee for his freedom? What star of hope can he look to and say, some day I'll be free? None. The white slave must free himself. The black slave was lashed with a whip in the hands of his master the white slave of today is fined for "contempt of court" and thrown into prison. The black slave when trying to escape from bondage was pursued by redmouthed bloodhounds: The white slave of today is pursued by drunken marshalls with Winchester rifles. The black slave had to keep in his place; the white slave has "to keep off the grass." One is tweedledum, the other is tweedledee.—Snohomish Democrat.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 4 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m "	Minneapolis	9 55 am.
4 35 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De [illegible] 50 pm

ST HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDA WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0[illegible] a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.1[illegible] pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.0[illegible] pm.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. June 5 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston, Minn on July 12 1894 viz:

Lars A. Carlson Hd 12617 for the S W ¼ Sec. 3 Twp. 152 R. 44.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land viz;

Swan Anderson, of Wylie John Jacobson, Paul Avels[illegible]n A. G. Ammondson, of St. Hilaire all of Polk minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of October 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 15th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee,
R. J. Montague, attorney.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton. Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 by the traveling public admit every day that the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this:

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.

AT

E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH

OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而

OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]

OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING.
H. E. IVES, Propr.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance, $1.50.
Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year.
Entered at The PostOffice at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter
WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 26 1894.

HINES AND WATSON.

THE CHAMPIONS OF THE PEOPLE SHAKING UP GEORGIA.

Received by Large and Enthusiastic Audiences—The Truth, Fearlessly Stated, Cutting Away the Props of the Goldbug Democracy In the "Solid South."

The Atlanta Constitution, organ of a mongrel Democracy, which knows it has been betrayed, yet lacks the courage to make a straightout fight, reports a meeting at Cartersville which was addressed by Judge J. K. Hines and Tom Watson, Populist candidate for governor and congress respectively:

Judge Hines jumped into the middle of a financial discussion and said:

"Where are the Democrats on the silver question? Do they know? Does anybody know? They have straddled it and are now engaged in a discussion of the merit and meaning of the word 'parity.' The state Democratic platform declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the proper parity. What is the proper parity? About this nothing is said, and the great platform is thus made wide enough to take in anybody that wants to get on it.

"Let's try to analyze the position of the Democrats on free silver. Congressman Livingston in the Fifth congressional district is standing on a Populist platform—on a district platform which declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, a case of thunder stealing open and flagrant. In the Tenth district Hon. J. C. C. Black is standing on the Populist platform at the same ratio.

"On the other hand, we see Congressman Turner advocating as a starter merely the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1, and Cabaniss of the Sixth, who was a goldbug. The Atlanta Journal is on the platform as a goldbug organ. The Atlanta Constitution is on the platform as a free silver advocate. Where are the Democrats?

"The Democratic platform is big enough and broad enough and can be construed enough ways to make room for Tom Reed, Sherman, McKinley, Republican and Democrat, protectionists and free traders. If you want free coinage at 16 to 1, you can get on it. If you want a single gold standard, you can get on it. If you want protection, you can get on it. If you want free trade, you can get on it.

"The contraction of the currency has caused it. In one year's time the Democrats have landed you where the Republicans did not dare to put you in 30 years. The greenback string to the national purse was cut off, then the national bank issue string, and then the free coinage of silver.

"And hard times will continue, for every cent of gold coined now will go to Europe. The less money we have the greater the purchasing power becomes until it can safely be said that if there were just one silver dollar left in the world it could purchase everything else. Look at the facts. Cotton is cheaper now than it has ever been before in the history of the United States except once. The price of wheat, too, is lower than ever before.

"They say that the silver dollar is a dishonest dollar. I deny this, my countrymen. If it is a dishonest dollar, who made it so? Won't the silver dollar go as far as any dollar of any sort?

"There was talk about an international agreement, but in this what can there be? If this government has got to the point where it can't furnish its own people with a currency, then we are no longer a self governed people. Will England ever agree to the free coinage of silver? Never, my countrymen, for England is a creditor country, and the rest of the nations owe her money."

Judge Hines then took up the plank calling for the government ownership of railroads and declared that it was the strongest plank of the Populist platform.

Hardly had the applause that followed Judge Hines' efforts subsided before Dr. Riddle was on his feet and introducing Hon. Thomas E. Watson. He spoke hardly 20 words, when the applause became tumultuous, and Mr. Watson advanced to the front and stood bowing. He thanked the crowd for the reception and compared it to the Democratic meetings and at once launched into his speech.

He indulged in a very exhaustive review of Populist doctrines and then began his speech more in detail. In regard to the currency he said:

"The most prosperous time this country has ever seen was in 1860, when the people had $50 per capita—when there was paper money, silver money, gold money in plenty. Here is a plain proposition: If this state of the currency made good times then, it will make good times now. I admit that there is such a thing as too much money, and there is certainly such a thing as too little, but there is a difference between the pangs of hunger and the pains of gluttony. These pangs have been felt by the people.

"They say that there was never a time before now when the purchasing power was so great. That's the trouble. The other man's got the dollar.

"What have the Democrats done? They've passed a tariff bill that Cleveland himself is ashamed of and which he refused to sign. This brings on another fight in the Democratic ranks. Congress says that it was a Democratic measure, and as such Cleveland should have signed it. Cleveland declared in a letter to Wilson that the present tariff law, then a bill, represented perfidy and party dishonor."

After speaking for some time on various other lines Mr. Watson finally addressed himself directly to the negroes in the audience. Of these there were probably 200.

He declared to them that the Populists did not advocate social equality, but simply wanted to give the negro his political rights. He stated in terms most positive that the Populists would not barter for the negro vote, but would like to have it.

SIMPSON'S VIEWS.

Honest Jerry Tells a Chicago Newspaper What He Thinks of Politics.

Congressman Simpson reached the Grand Pacific yesterday on his way from Washington to his home at Medicine Lodge, Kan. Mr. Simpson has been a victim of rheumatism for several months past and moves on crutches. He is accompanied by his wife.

"The Times," he said, "is doing a good work for humanity, and the people owe it to themselves to see that its success shall be unbounded. Its great ability and courageous advocacy of the rights of the masses deserve all praise from every lover of honest government and just institutions. Its course and earnestness are one of the hopeful and cheering signs of the day.

"My information is that Kansas is not only safe for the Populist party, but that we will carry the state easily. What is known as the 'stalwart Democracy' there is running a side issue called a state ticket. These stalwarts are mostly politicians who either hold or expect office, and their movements are giving the people but little concern. The railroad strikes, the Coxey movement and the industrial upheaval generally have set the laboring masses to thinking. The producing elements, who naturally belong to our ranks, have heretofore let the other fellows do their thinking for them. They are now beginning to think for themselves, and although their circle of thought may be somewhat narrow it will widen and produce grand results. There has been a little handful of us in congress during the last two sessions advocating labor's rights and justice and manliness in the administration of government. We have not been able to do much, but it looks as if we would have more help in the next congress. There will not then be a big Democratic majority—indeed I doubt much if any party will have a majority. I hope and expect that we will hold the balance of power. We can bar the road against trusts and plutocratic rascality.

"The money question, which includes the rehabilitation of silver, is the all absorbing one in Kansas and the west. Tariff takes a second place, and the recent action of the house in regard to that issue has greatly injured the Democratic party. That party promised a tariff bill that would relieve the people, and they enacted a measure that is almost as bad as the McKinley bill.

"The shameful condition of the country and the masses of the people today is the result of Republican policy for more than a generation of building up trusts and specially favored classes. The tariff bill is less to the liking of the Republicans than they wish to acknowledge. They expected either a free trade measure or none at all. But the bill as passed is so very near McKinley's that they can't find much reason or excuse for criticising it.

"Cleveland is not even the man he was when inaugurated. His first bad break was in calling an extra session to ruinously legislate on silver. His next was in sending troops here to Chicago to be used by the corporations and railroad magnates. It was one of the most dangerous steps ever taken by any officer of the government in its whole history. His next big mistake was his shilly shally policy on the tariff. First he was standing by the senate, and next he flung his weight over on the side of the house, and then when the bill passed, despite his protest, he sat down like a spoiled and sulky child and refused to sign."

Mr. Simpson expects to be re-elected to congress and regards his chances in that direction as better now than ever before. He fears, however, that his health will not permit him to make much of a canvass.—Chicago Times.

Looking Ahead.

It is quite probable that the Populists will send more representatives to the next house than have been figured out, but it is impossible to tell from which party the seats will be taken. In the south the Democrats suffer from the Populists, but in the northwestern states the Republicans are the losers when the Populists win.

The Populists constitute the unknown factor, linking the congressional election of next November to the presidential election of 1896. If they should continue to grow, they may get enough electoral votes in 1896 to throw the election of the next president into the house, and in that case the political complexion of the Fifty-fourth congress will become a matter of great importance. The constitution provides that if no person should have a majority of the votes of the whole number of electors "then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president the house of representatives shall choose immediately by ballot the president, but in choosing a president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote, * * * and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Here's the Situation.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times thus reads one of the lessons of the strike: "If one thing is made clear by the strike, it is that the corporations have the government in complete hand. Right now the money control of the United States government is absolutely perfect. It dominates its courts and dictates their processes. It commands the bayonets of the army. Its lackey is the national department of justice, and Olney is its footman. It destroys our money. It builds our tax laws and bleeds us at its will. It issues bonds to itself and holds the national treasury in the hollow of its hand. That is an outline drawing of money as is has fortified itself in the high places of government. As for congress, which should correct these abuses and protect people in their rights, what is it? A weak, scampering, chattering, cowardly contrivance, lucky in its own shaken estimation to live."

Right Doing.

Right doing is a very simple thing, but right doing is not always an easy thing. A straight line is the shortest line possible between any two given points, yet as a practical matter it would be easier to draw a dozen crooked lines than one straight one in offhand drawing. All of us can see the way of right living, but who of us can walk in that way without wavering?

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Governor
For Lieutenant Governor	SIDNEY M. OWEN.
For State Auditor	E. E. LOMMEN.
For Secretary of State	A. L. STROMBERG.
For State Treasurer	P. J. SEBERGER.
For Attorney General	F. BORCHERT.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court	J. A. KEYES.
For Chief Justice	C. H. JOHNSON.
For Associate Justice	SUMNER LADD.
For Member of Congress	J. W. WILLIS.
For State Senator	HALDOR E. BOEN.
For Members of the Legislature	P. M. RINGDAL. J. P. KNUTESON. N. L. NELSON. S. J. LEE.
For County Auditor	JOHN GLEASON.
For County Treasurer	J. T. BEAUDRY.
For Sheriff	ANDREW STEENERSON
For Clerk of Court	JOHN VIG.
For Register of Deeds	ALBERT WICKSTROM.
For Probate Judge.	C. M. BENSON.
For County Attorney	L. E. GOSSMAN
For School Superintendent	O. McGILLIS.
For County Surveyor	O. L. HAMERY.
For Coroner	JOHN DWYER.
For County Commissioner 4th Dist	HENRY NORLAND

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893 and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1896, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee, and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars principal and interest; and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one half of the North west quarter (NW ¼) and lots three (3) and one (1) of Section numbered three (3) in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two (152) of Range numbered forty-four (44) containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Date, February 20 A. D. 1894

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

U.S Land Office
Crookston Minn. July 24 1894.

Complaint having been entered at this office by John Norman against Adolor Besson for abandoning his homestead entry no. 1129 dated March 13 1891 upon the NE ¼ Sec 15 Tp 151 R. 43 in Polk county Minn. with a view to the cancellation of said entry the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of Sept 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

HUGH THOMPSON Register.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. Sept. 6 1894

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn, on October 2 1894. viz:

Frans Freiholtz HD [illegible] for Lots 2, 3 and 4 Sec. 4 Tp 152 R 42.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

John E. Olson, Sam E. Olson M's Evenson James N. Evenson all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn,

HUGH THOMPSON Register

PUBLICATIONS,

OF THE
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
ST. PAUL MINN.

The General Passenger Office of the Great Northern Railway will be pleased to forward to applicants any or all of the publications named below on receipt of the amount of postage named after each. It should be understood that these books, maps and pamphlets were prepared at considerable and are worth in each case many times the postage. They will prove of much interest to persons who contemplate a trip to any part of the Northwest or who desire the information all intelligent people should possess concerning a vast resourceful, important and growing part of the United States. Several of these publications have been supplied in quantities to public schools at the request of superintendents and teachers, on account of the instructive and useful information they contain

BOOK FOLDER.—SEND 2 CENTS FOR POSTAGE.

This publication contains complete time cards, a series of train route maps, a large map of the country, a table giving first and second-class passenger rates, and freight tariff on settlers goods from St. Paul to all points on the line; a table showing tributary points reached by steamer or stage; through car service and connections; important baggage and ticket regulations, and much interesting descriptive matter. In short it is a handy volume of ready reference for passengers about local and through service on the Great Northern to all parts of the Northwest and the Pacific Coast.

MAP FOLDER.—SENT FREE.

This contains the regular time scedules; large map of the country west of Chicago and St. Louis; baggage and ticket regulations; and other information of value to travelers!

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD
E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.
A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.
S. M. Dainard, Manager.
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

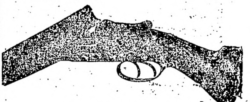
E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
WILL ALWAYS PAY THE
HIGHEST MARKET PRICES
FOR
All kinds of
CATTLE.
Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.
Ground Feed for Sale
S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

Reserved For
THE
ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.
DEALER IN
FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY
TOBACCO AND CIGARS.
STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS
Lunch Counter
Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON
DEALER IN
pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.
Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.
Barbershop in connection
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New
Ithaca Hammerless Gun
BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200
BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $50.
SELF-COMPENSATING, MATTED RIBS.
Taking up Wear at Every Point.
An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only the improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS AT LO
EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.
T CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
Heavy and Shelf
HARDWARE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
HUNTER'S SUPPLIES
MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS.
BINDING TWINE
Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.
NEW GOODS NEW PRICES
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

THE
SPECTATOR
UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY
25 CENTS.
THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE
NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES
If you want to save money do your trading with
HALL BROS
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Groceries
Notions.
BROADWAY ST.

America Leads the World

Purity
Strength
Excellence

The Crowning Glory of the Age.

Man's enterprise culminated at the World's Columbian Exposition. The memory of it will be a marvel for all time. The fame there acquired will live for years. The manufacturers of appreciate the award to them of highest honors at the Exposition. The significance of the compliment, the splendid character of the indorsement, cannot be underrated. It stamps Dr. Price's as without a peer among the baking powders. The jury of awards, an exceptionally intelligent body, was headed by the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture. They found Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder strongest in leavening power, perfect in purity, and of uniform excellence.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

"Foremost Baking Powder in all the World."

Bobby's Bad Box.

Mrs. Suburb—Bobby, I wish you would weed this flower bed.

Bobby (whimpering)—If I sit here in the hot sun, a-pullin' weeds, I'll get all sunburned, and my skin will be so sore I can't sleep.

Mrs. Suburb—That's easily remedied. After you get through with the flower bed you may pull all the plantain weeds out of the lawn and bring them to me. Plantain leaves are good for sunburn.—Good News.

Karl's Clover Root Tea.
The great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures [illegible]

How to get inside information—Use a stomach pump.

Hageman's [illegible] with Glycerine.
Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, [illegible] New Haven, Ct.

Money which is "coming to you" does not always arrive.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The flounder is a fish that requires plenty of seasoning, and even then is flat.

Hall's Catarrh Cure
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The only way it pays a person to be his own lawyer is to keep his own counsel.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

In the bright lexicon of speculation there is nothing so uncertain as a sure thing.

Home Again!

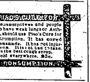
After a brief absence the cheerful visitor, dyspepsia, returns again. Our traditional mother-in-law is nothing to it. To prevent repeated visits use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Also seek the aid of this comprehensive remedy for malaria, liver and kidney trouble, debility and nervousness. Question those who have been troubled with these and kindred ailments. They will testify in behalf of the Bitters.

Mrs. Mormon of Missouri recently gave birth to three boys and a girl. Why so much girl?

What availeth it if a girl wear white kid slippers and nobody sees them?—Oil City Blizzard.

FREE!

THIS KNIFE! Fine Steel. Keen as a razor. Good, strong handle.
Mailed free in exchange for 25 Large Lion Heads cut from Lion Coffee Wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine Premiums.
WOOLSON SPICE CO.,
450 Huron St., TOLEDO, O.



Davis International Cream Separator, Hand or Power. Every farmer that has cows should have one. It saves half the labor, makes one-third more butter. Separator Butter brings one-third more money. Send for circulars.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. Co.
AGENTS WANTED. Chicago, Ill.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso

The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn: they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.
They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

MARRIAGE PAPER with 1,000 "personal" ads., lists of rare books, novelties, etc., mailed free. GUNNEL'S MONTHLY, Toledo, Ohio.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION.

W. N. U. No. 38—1894.

HINDOO CHILD MARRIAGES.

A Brahmin's Daughter Must Marry Very Early or Her Reputation Suffers.

The Brahmin has to get his daughter married before she attains puberty. This custom has crept into religion. The Hindoo religion strictly forbids single life for woman or man; especially must the woman be married. Hence ther are no old maids in India. Sometimes one may meet an old, "cranky," bachelor, who has remained unmarried because he was too poor to marry, or because his character was not good; but even these are seldom found except in the lower classes. If a man is not married at the latest by his twenty-fifth year his reputation suffers. It is believed that those who have a son go to heaven, when the son, after the death of his parents, performs the spiritual rites. However this may be, whether they go to heaven or not, this severe rule tends to a strict cultivation of home life.

Owing to this rule, if a Brahmin's daughter attains puberty before marriage the father is disgraced; he loses his caste and no one will marry the girl. Thus when a poor man has more than one daughter it is a misfortune for him. The Hindoo father himself has to find out a suitable husband for his daughter, so he goes to a gentleman who has a son. He first makes inquiries about the family, the property, the health the education of the boy. Then he asks the father of the boy to marry his son to his daughter. The father of the boy asks for dowry, and the amount of this is fixed according to the means of the man who asks for it and not of the man who gives it; that is to say, if the father of the boy is very rich he asks thousands of dollars. Hence the Hindoo father of a girl has to spend much for the marriage of his daughter, for he always wishes to see her married into a rich family.—Forum.

Clergymen's Marriages.

Marriages seem a great failure in the case of curates. One of them writes of the sad lot of his class as follows: "When vicars in charge of fashionable suburban parishes insist on having only young and unmarried curates it may, in the opinion of mere worldly men, be very nice for girls, but is it very good for the church? Why do married vicars invariably advertise for unmarried curates? Are their own marriages all failures? My case is a common one. I am a curate and want work. But I am too old, being no less than thirty-seven years of age, and I am married, so, of course, must stand aside. That I have enough income to live on, is lucky for me, but does not alter my case. My father served as a curate nearly all his life, and I thought I might at least be permitted to do the same; but the action of the bishops in ordaining men wholesale during the last twenty-five years has enabled the majority of vicars to reject all who, like myself, are old, or married, and so we are left in the sad position of your humble servant, who signs himself OUT OF WORK."
—London Telegraph.

THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA

by Columbus brought enlightenment to the world. New fields of enlightenment in this century are in the lines of science. The triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death. TUMORS, Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the perils of cutting operations. PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife. STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting. STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N.Y.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES
CATARRH
PRICE 50 CENTS, ALL DRUGGISTS

POLITICAL HASH.

SERVED HOT AND COLD TO SUIT OUR READERS.

What Is Being Said and Done Here, There and Everywhere.

The Populist have always charged that the leaders of both old parties were controlled by the money power of the country, and that upon matters affecting the interests of banks, corporations and trusts the representatives of those parties would be found voting together. Since the democratic party has had control of affairs the truthfulness of these charges has been demonstrated. On the question for the demonetization of silver a majority of both parties voted to strike down silver. The democratic party has fostered the interests of trusts the same as the republican party. It has acceeded to the demands of bankers as did the republican party. It has sided with railroad corporations as did the republican party. In Oregon the democrats voted with the republicans against the Populists, and in Alabama the strong republican counties (negroes) gave the democratic candidate for governor the largest majority.

And now comes the chairman of the republican state committee of Wisconsin who explains the whole situation and lets the political cat out of the bag. He says:

"The present unsettled social and economic conditions make it necessary that the Populists should be driven out of public life. The Populists are a dangerous menace to law and order and good government. * * * I had rather see a decent democrat in the house than an indecent Populist, and so far as their principles are concerned they are all indecent however agreeable may be their personality.

"On the great vital questions where the honor and dignity of the American people are concerned we will always find the democrats voting with the republicans for the common good. The democrats have the same feeling so far as the republicans are concerned. They dislike our financial and economic systems, but they know we are sound on all the great questions of the day. So far as I can control it there will be no alliance between the republicans and the Populists in the hope of defeating the democrats. From what I hear the gentlemen who are managing the democratic congressional campaign entertain the same aversion to those unholy alliances, and I am glad of it. If this program is faithfully carried out by both sides we shall soon see the last of a Populistic representation in the house."

* * *

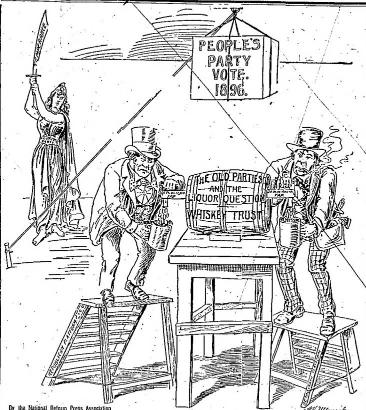
The country is wondering now what the democrats made their Chicago platform for. While their declaration on the silver question was a straddle, it was interpreted in the west and south to mean the repeal of the Sherman law with a law providing for free coinage. Instead of that the party demonetized free silver. The platform declared explicitly in favor of repealing the state bank tax. When the question came up the party voted it down. The platform declared in favor of local self government. That principle was never so ruthlessly violated as when Cleveland sent United States troops to Chicago against the protests of both the mayor of the city and the governor of the state. The platform declares its hostility to trusts, yet it is known to all that the party conceded to the exactions of the sugar, coal, iron and other trusts in the formation of the tariff bill.

The platform declared its devotion to the interests of the people, yet their petitions have been ignored and the demands of corporations and banks been acceeded to as they never were before in the history of the country. With professions of economy still ringing in the ears of the people they have voted themselves extra pay in the way of mileage and clerk hire that ought to shame the devil. The cries of the workingmen have gone unheeded. The distressed condition of the country has been ignored. It seemed to have been the sole object of the present congress to look after and foster the interests of Wall street, the trusts and corporations. If the people do not repudiate the action of this congress, then indeed are we nearing that stage of paralysis that foreshadows a nation of aristocrats on the one hand and venal slaves on the other.

* * *

In a constitutional convention recently held in Albany, New York, J. J. T. Brooks, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad company appealed to that body to embody a provision in the constitution prohibiting public officials from receiving passes from railroad companies. He claimed that he was unnecessarily annoyed by by requests for passes for representatives, senators and even Judges of the Supreme Court and their friends, and, if he did not comply the interests of the company were jeopardized by the introduction of hostile bills by the parties refused. He asked for a "constitutional provision on this subject, and one broad enough to make it a misdemeanor for any person elected or appointed to any position in the service of the public to ask or receive for himself or any other person free transportation."

Here is another "straw" which shows that the railroad companies are obliged to look to the government for protection from that very corruption which is urged as one of the obstacles in the way of government ownership. The fact is that whenever a railroad corporation becomes so corrupt, or the object of abuse by public officials or its own officers as to be unable to sustain itself, the only alternative is to resort to the government to aid and assist in purifying its management.



By the National Reform Press Association

DEMOCRATIC PRAYER

No. XII.

Most adorable and ever to be reverenced Grover: Thou who art always great, whether trampling tadpoles on Hog Island, catching bass at Buzzard's Bay, or making congress tremble in its boots at Washington. We come to thee once more to thank thee for all thou hast done for our party and for the people. Our most esteemed political father, thou doest all things well, and we are willing that thou shalt be glorified therein.

If congress is stubborn, thou takest it by the nape of the neck and the seat of the pants and shaketh it until its free silver teeth rattle in its head. That is right. Make them squirm. Did they not vote for thee? Did they not nominate thee? Did they not stump the country and advise everybody to vote for thee? Verily they did. Now, most adorable Cleveland, make 'em toe the mark. Make 'em pass resolutions praising thy administration. Hold their noses to the political grindstone while the Populists and the republicans ride on their backs. Give 'em the gold cure until they puke up every "time honored principle" they ever knew. Take their shaggy locks in the right and left hand of thy wrath and bump their heads together until they promise to kiss thy big toe. Most worthy master, we commend to thy especial care the southern congressmen who advised everybody to vote for thee, who swore by Adam's off ox that thou wast the right stuff, who shared the swag, and now are trying to repudiate thee and profane thy great name. Our worshipful master, don't let them do it. Drive 'em away from thy pie counter. Follow them home and defeat their renomination. Sit down on them with the importance of thy political weight. Mash the everlastin' stuffin out of them forever and forever. As to us poor common people who voted for thee, take no thought whatsoever.

Thou knowest our uprisings and our downsittings. Thou canst tell it by the patch on our pants.

It is glory enough for us to see thee rule with an iron rod. We are but the mud sills of society. Put thy feet on us and mash us into the earth.

We fear thy name and thy mighty power.

We shall never ask thee for anything that will bring displeasure to thy fatness.

Coxey and Browne tried that and, lo! they did languish in jail.

They rose up in the morning and went forth with a banner the size of a Columbian postage stamp.

They bearded the lion in his den.

They stepped on the grass.

They offended thy fatness and the servants of thy fatness.

And the servants of thy fatness swooped down upon them and gathered them in.

They smote them hip and thigh.

So be it, most gracious master, in all thine enemies.

What business has a poor man to want that which he has not?

If he is not satisfied let him get off the earth.

There are too many of them here anyhow.

We thank thee, most gracious master, that they are being starved out and shot and killed.

It will make more room for thy fatness.

Now take us into thy care. Put us in the seat of thy pants and sit down on us whensoever thou wilt. Tie us in a knot and throw us to the dogs, but we will continue to praise thy name forever and forever.—Amen.

The fight between the tweedle-de and tweedle-dum tariff parties has ended for the present. It is now in order for the liars to come home and speak for the free silver they would not vote for.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

The silver question is very simple. This question of ratios and dollars of the same intrinsic value is one of Wall and Lombard street's modern inventions. There is not enough gold and silver mined in the world each year to furnish money sufficient to keep pace with the increase of population and business. There is not gold and silver enough in the United States to do this if not one dollar went abroad. Now how can we check the fall in the price on anything? Why, by increasing the demand, of course. But when we strike silver down as money we don't increase the demand for it, but decrease it. If we want to increase that demand we want to increase its uses. In other words let governments say to every man who has silver, I will coin it into dollars of 412½ grains each free of charge and silver at once is placed on a parity with gold. No man can show that as long as this or any other government had free coinage of silver that it was not worth as much as gold. Suppose that the government should say to the mine owners I will pay $10 a ton for hard coal and $5 for soft coal. Don't you know that everybody else would have to pay that price as long as the government continued to buy? Free coinage means that legal and the commercial value of the silver dollar shall be the same. And this will be true so long as the product of silver does not amount to more than we need to coin each year for money to keep pace with the business of the country. It is true that the mine owners will profit by this, but not more so than will the wheat and cotton growers, and other producers in the land. Besides this objection can be urged with equal propriety against gold, because free coinage increases the value of gold. If the government should make those prices on hard and soft coal does any one suppose that those prices would change—thus changing the 'ratio? That is, would it be likely that soft coal would only bring $3 while hard coal would bring $11?

No Pinkerton, marshal, militiaman or any one else has been convicted for the hundreds of murders they have committed while in the service of corporations. Women and children have been killed in their homes and yards, women and men have been killed walking the streets, bombs have been thrown into their houses while the family were asleep and women and children killed by them, and in no instance save one has ever one of them been arrested and tried, and in the case tried the corporations defended the accused who were acquitted because they could not be identified as the ones who did the murder. These murders were committed by men in the service of millionaires, who are democrats and republicans, and who give thousands to the campaign funds of both old parties. Will some of their party speakers tell the people why none of these murderers have been punished? Why is not Cal Brice Carnegie, Vanderbilts, Goulds, Sage, Frick and others as much guilty of murder when they hire men, arm them, and men, women and children are killed by them, as Parsons, the anarchist, was who was hung for approving of a crime not knowing it was to be done and not being present when it was committed. Have the rich corporations or individual the right to kill and slay any more than the poor worker? If both kill had ought not both be punished? Where does the Pinkerton company get their authority to hire and arm men to fight for corporations—uniform them and number them so that even their names are lost? When one of them is arrested, as many of his comrades as are necessary are on hand to swear he is innocent. They are assassins, hired to kill—and to kill without fear of punishment.

Americans, to this condition has the old parties who are owned by the corporations brought you. How long will you support parties who allow bands of assassins in times of trouble to kill at will? Vote them out!

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." Who is it that is plundering this country and bringing distress and mourning unto "countless thousands?"

Is it the poor wage-worker?

Is it the sun-tanned farmer?

Is it the miner delving in the earth for crusts of bread?

Is it the merchant who stares bankruptcy in the face?

Is it the manufacturer whose unsold products rises up to curse him?

No, it is none of these. Then, who is it?

It is the purse proud bankers, the money sharks of the world who preying upon their kind eat as it were the flesh of men. They have erected a golden calf as a god for the American people and for the world. They compel all mankind to fall down and worship it. They have made the gold they control the blood of the nation, and vampire like have sucked that blood from every man who earns his living in the sweat of his brow. They have locked up their gold and withheld the wages of the reapers of the field by fraud. They are living in wanton pleasure on the earth. They are condemning the part. They are heaping treasure together for the last days.

These money kings are the sharks of the earth. They are the men who are making the people—the countless thousands mourn. They are the men who are in control of the government. They are the men who can and do defy, and dare the congress of the people to perform their promises. They are the men who ask and get gold bonds. They are the men who draw the blood bought gold of the poor from the treasury. They are the men who with ghoulish glee in Wall street pit dance on the grave of American liberty. They are the men who make the people mourn.

Come out of the old parties who feed these vampires of h—l. Oh, ye people! Give your strength to the cause of God, the cause of home, the cause of wife and children, of everything that is faithful and honest, and drives the thieves and hounds of h—l back to the satan who has sent them forth to destroy the workers of earth. Be manly, be honest—"ye are brethren."

"Am I my brother's keeper?" spake Cain, but his excuse was overruled, and despairing, he cried, "My punishment is greater than I can bear." The plutocrats of to-day say to their brothers of earth, "Say! we are not your keepers. You be d—d," and as God rules the nation their punishment is coming.

Voters should remember that gold will leave this country as long as cotton is below eight cents per pound and wheat below $1 per bushel. The money exploiters will, under old party management keep the United States treasury busy selling gold bonds to get gold for them as long as they hold power.

Gen. Warner makes the assertion that there are more daily papers in this country owned by foreigners than there are in England. At this rate England will be making our school books, and George the Third will take the place of George Washington.

Men who produce all wealth have a right to what they create, and all laws, customs or means that deprive them of the use of the products of their labor must be abolished before before full justice is done to the laborer.

It's Hood's that Cures

The combination, proportion and process by which Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared are peculiar to itself. Its record of cures is unequalled.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Its sales are the largest in the world. The testimonials received by its proprietors by the hundred, telling the story that Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures are unparalleled in the history of medicine, and they are solid facts.

Hood's Pills cure Constipation, Indigestion.

A Safe Knife.

Customer—This penknife you sold me is so soft that the blade is dull before I get through sharpening a pencil.

Street Vender—Yah. Dat is zo ven you gomes to sharpening de point against your thumb you von't cut yourzelfs.—New York Weekly.

He Read the Papers.

Sunday School Teacher—Now, who can tell me what kind of a sling it was with which David overcome Goliath?

Tommy Traddles—Please, ma'am, it was a gin sling, with "knock-out" drops in it.

Easily Relieved.

He—Do you think that marriage is a failure?

She (a prospective bride)—No. Hardly a failure. Just a temporary embarrassment.

RAISE HOGS.

A Little Advice to the Farmers of Minnesota and North Dakota.

History is always repeating itself. The individual who is wise enough to profit by experience is one that meets with the greatest success in his undertakings. In the year 1891 the corn crop throughout the West and Southwest was practically a failure. What was the result? The farmers generally sold off all their hogs, big and little, fat and thin, stock sows and blooded boars, everything was rushed madly onto the market, creating an over supply at the time, and depreciating the price of hogs to 3 cents live weight. At the time Carl Judson, ex-secretary of the state agricultural society, attempted to stop the wild stampede to sell the immature and seed hogs by calling the attention of the farmers of the Northwest, through the public press, to the fact that hogs could be thoroughly and profitably fattened on wheat barley and rye, and that the wild rush to sell off the stock hogs would result in a hog famine that would put hog prices far above any commodity of the farm. Mr. Judson's prophecy was fulfilled to the letter. As soon as the immature hogs were sold the market advanced until the high tide was reached at South St. Paul in February, 1893, when live hogs sold at $8.25 per cwt. Hogs have been high ever since, and are selling at this time at from $4.90 to $5.50 per cwt. Had the farmers of Minnesota heeded Mr. Judson's warning it would have been millions of dollars in their pockets, but, alas, they paid no more attention to it than to the wind, and when hogs had advanced to $8.25 they were buying pork for home use and rushing about insanely to purchase, at exorbitant prices, stock hogs to make a new beginning. Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri are the great hog raising states. In these states the corn crop is a dismal failure, and the farmers are selling off and disposing of all their hogs, brood sows and boars, and for the reason that they have no wheat and barley to substitute for corn, but our Minnesota farmers, if they have as much sense as the Almighty gives to geese, will take advantage of the situation and have hogs in abundance for the market next year when the hog producing states are short and prices high. The farmers of Minnesota and the Dakotas have a market outlet at South St. Paul for more hogs than they can produce. Even now the pork packers are purchasing hogs at St. Jo, Mo., to keep their large packing houses busy.

As a further proof of the situation in the great hog-raising states, we print the following from the Chicago Evening Journal of the 20th inst.:

"A farmer near McCallsburg, Iowa, knocked about seventy-five hogs in the head because he had nothing to feed them. This is the first year in the history of Story county that the corn crop was a failure. The past two weeks has practically settled the corn question this year, it being estimated that the yield will not be one-half of former years."—From Pioneer Press August 24.

Having a "steady" keeps a girl at home as close evenings as if she was married and had a baby.—Atchison Globe.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

ARCHIBALD
Business College
16 FIFTH STREET SO., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
The best is the cheapest. Cheap tuition means cheap instruction. Attend the best. We furnish first-class instruction in Bookkeeping, Actual Business and Office Practice, Com. Law, Arithmetic, Grammar, Correspondence, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, and English branches. Address
A. R. ARCHIBALD, Principal.

Minn. Hist. Society

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1894. NUMBER 8.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

A HUGE FRAUD.

A REDUCTION OF RAILROAD RATES.

"A Good Enough Morgan Till After Election."

Nearly a year ago Elias Steenerson, of Crookston, made application to the Minnesota Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, for a reduction of grain rates from that city to the terminal points,—Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. Instead of proceeding at once to hear and determine the application the Board permitted the matter to be postponed until last spring; and the other day, two months before the election, just as we expected, the Board instead of granting the 33 per cent reduction asked for made one of 15 per cent; and the Republican papers are now ringing with appeals to the farmers to stand by Governor Nelson and the G. O. P. for having cut down the freight rates; while the Democrats are claiming that Geo. L. Becker, of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, their candidate for governor, is the man who is entitled to the chief credit. The fact is it is "all in the family.", Gov. Nelson holds the appointing power under which Mr. Becker is railroad commissioner; Gov. Nelson is to be credited with having made Becker, and Becker is to be credited with having made the reductions. As Iago says: "Whether he kill Cassio or Cassio him either way makes my gain." Both parties will whoop it up and try to head off the Populists. If Mr. Becker is elected governor he is all right. But if he is not, (and he will not receive 20,000 votes,) but his candidacy saves Nelson, then he will keep his $3,000 a year place as Railroad Commissioner for six years longer. It is a regular game of "Tickle me, Tommy, and I'll tickle you."

But, says some one, no matter about that:—the farmers get 15 per cent reduction in wheat rates anyhow. Do they? Go, verdant brethren, to the depot, and ask if there is any such reduction; and the agent will tell you "not a penny." "Well," you ask, "what's the matter?" "Why," says the agent, "the railroads have thirty days in which to appeal." "What then?" you ask. "Why, the railroads have given notice that they will appeal. They will litigate it for a year or two in the Minnesota courts and then carry it to Washington, to the Supreme Court of the United States, and there it will hang along for three or four years more." "But," says the innocent G. O. P. farmer, "the railroads will obey the law in the meantime." "Not a bit of it," says the agent. "they never do." "They hire their attornies by the year and it costs them nothing to litigate, and that 15 per cent will amount to millions of dollars: Five years from now there may be a decision." "But," says the farmer." I will probably be dead by that time and my children paupers." "That's what we expect," says the agent. "But what is the alleged reduction of 15 per cent made for, if it amounts to nothing?" asks the farmer. "Why," replies the candid agent," it is only intended for use during the election. It is like Hodge's razors that were never made to shave, but to sell. It will beat the Populists. Knute will be re-elected governor and he will re-appoint Becker. That's all there is to it. And a very pretty game it is."

In Africa some of the natives worship the Devil. They take a huge wicker basket and put in it, one lonesome banana; and set it by the road side; and they write on the basket,—'Good Devil, this is for you. It is full of bananas.' They think they will fool the Devil by the apparent size of the gift, and that he wont look inside. The farmers of Minnesota are not expected to look inside their gift-basket.

The Republican orators will shriek: "See, what Knute has done for the farmers:—15 per cent reduction in grain rates!"

The next night along come the Democratic orators and they cry out: "See, what Becker has done for you God-forsaken farmers:—15 per cent reduction in freight rates!"

About fifty years ago there was a great Anti-Mason excitement in this country. A political party was formed to fight the Masons:—Wm. Henry Seward and Thurlow Weed were at the head of it: it subsequently graduated into the Republican party. A man named Morgan, who had been a Mason, came out with an expose of Masonry. Soon after he disappeared. The Anti-Masons said he had been murdered by that society. It was very important to find his body. A search was made everywhere without avail. Finally the corpse of a drowned man was found on a river bank. "It is Morgan! It is Morgan!" cried the Anti-Masons. Crowds rushed to identify the body. One man said to Thurlow Weed:—"Mr. Weed, this can't be Morgan; Morgan was red-haired and this man is black-haired." "No matter," said Weed, "he is a good enough Morgan till after election!" And the phrase passed into a proverb.

And this 15 per cent reduction is "a good enough Morgan till after election."

In the first place all our railroads are interstate roads; they do not begin and end in the state, but run through it. The Great Northern can refuse to take any wheat for Minneapolis or Duluth, but may make all its shipments to West Superior, Wisconsin. Then Congress, not the State, will have sole jurisdiction. In the next place those commissioners were appealed to to reduce rates from Crookston, and Crookston alone, to certain points. They proceeded to reduce rates to and from all other points in the state, on the Great Northern line! The United States Supreme Court held in the celebrated "Milk case" that rates could only be reduced by a Court, in a judicial proceeding. Who ever heard of a court, when John Smith sued John Brown for $100, proceeding to give judgment against John Brown not only for $100 in favor of John Smith, but in favor of Peter Jones for $500; and Bill Jenkins for $1000; and Timothy Holahan for $2,000, etc., etc. When this thing reaches the United States Court, about five years from now, it will be laughed out of the judicial precincts as an absurdity.

If Mr. Becker and the other Railroad Commissioners, and Gov. Nelson, really meant to help the farmers why was not this appeal decided when first made, nearly a year ago, and decided as to Crookston alone? Then other points could have followed suit. No; the whole thing was kept back until just before election: and then a case was made up that will not hold water for five minutes in the United States Court.

Long before this 15 per cent matter is reached in Washington the Populists will have carried the United States, and the people will own the Great Northern and all the other roads; and transportation rates will have been reduced, not 15 per cent but 75 per cent; and railroad travel will be one cent per mile instead of three cents, and the people will laugh with happiness.

But, says one, think of the debt the United States would have to incur if they bought up the railroads! What of it, if the thing that causes the debt is able to pay the debt? In Australia the people paid for the railroads, out of their earnings, in ten years; and in the meantime they raised the wages of the employes and cut down the rates tremendously; and still had enough left to nearly pay all the expenses of government; and there the people now travel one thousand miles for $5; while here we pay $30!!

Don't be coaxed away from the People's Party, brethern, by any such "tubs thrown to the whale;" by any such subtle devices that sound pretty but amount to nothing; by any such Dead Sea apples, beautiful to the sight but ashes to the taste.

The Omaha Platform is the only hope of the people of the United States. You have had enough of old-fashioned, old-party trickeries. They have brought you to your present wretched condition.

Stand by the People's Party, and let Governor Knute and his deputy Democratic candidate, Becker, play concerts on the same string of the same old fiddle to the end of the campaign. They understand each other and the people understand them both.

I. D.

GOVERNOR WAITE.

And His Critics.

We shall watch the Populist organs in Minnesota and other states to see to what extent they indorse and approve the renomination of Gov. Waite. The indorsement or repudiation of Waite might almost be made a test of loyalty to the republic and to American institutions—for his official course has been calculated so far as his power and influence extends, to break down and destroy the fundamental principles on which our institutions rest. If the Minnesota Populists indorse him the public will easily know where to place them. By so doing they will show themselves to be of the party of turbulence and riot. —Minneapolis Tribune.

You will not have to watch the REPRESENTATIVE very long to find out that it rejoices in the renomination of Gov. Waite and prays for his re-election. He is a grand old man.

What has he done wrong? The courts have sustained him in every case and in every particular. He has been shamefully persecuted and misrepresented.

He appointed a new matron at the state prison. A scamp wrote a letter to the former matron asking her to find him a concubine. The letter was addressed simply to "the Matron of the State Prison.". The matron opened it, as it was her duty to do. The disgraceful letter was passed around. Among others it was shown to Gov. Waite. His enemies thought they could make some political capital against him and they had the governor arrested for violating the United States mails! When the case came up the Court at once discharged him. And yet the Republican papers, in the interval, blackguarded him from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Some months since he tried to remove certain police officials for playing into the hands of the gamblers. The officials resisted; got out guns and cannon and inaugurated civil war. The Republicans assisted the rioters, and filled the newspapers of the country with shameful lies. The governor's life was threatened. He appealed to the courts; they declared the governor was right and the officials had to go out.

Then there was a great strike in the coal mines. The United States interfered through its courts. A thousand deputy marshals were hired at $5 per day. The miners entreched themselves. The governor called out the militia; forced a compromise between the mine-owners and the miners; got his troops between the contending forces; but although the whole controversy was at an end the deputes insisted on attacking the miners in their camp, and it was only by the greatest efforts that the militia could drive them back. Again they threatened the governor's life. They caught the Adjutant General of the State and tarred and feathered him and nearly killed him.

Why this old man has done nobly. Why should the Tribune abuse him? And when he said that rather than see the liberties of this country destroyed he would ride in blood to his horse's bridle, he simply said what every patriot will echo. It was only a figurative expression of the sentiment of the men of 1776, when they pledged "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors" to the defence of the Declaration of Independence.

God bless Governor Waite. We wish we had 70,000,000 people in the United States that felt just as he does.

I. D.

File Certificates.

From the Representative.

Secretaries of People's party conventions in this state should not fail to file the proper certificates, as the Winston election law provides. They should familiarize themselves with the provisions of that law and faithfully comply with them. The enemy is prepared to take advantage of any and all mistakes of this kind. Look up the law and comply with its provisions. To fail to do this is liable to involve secretaries in serious difficulty and defeat candidates who might otherwise be elected.

NOT SO MUCH AFTER ALL.

A Billion Dollars More Currency.

The old party papers are raising a great uproar over Congressman Boen's proposition that the national government issue a billion dollars of greenbacks. A billion dollars!! They split their throats howling and laughing.

Hold on, you senseless old idiots. Did you ever figure up how much additional currency, per capita, that would give us. Divide it up and it gives just $14.20 for each man, woman and child. Add that to the $4.97 which we now have of actual circulation and it gives us $19.10 against $40, or $50 per capita in France. Why shouldn't we have as much as France? Can any one tell?

Minnesota had according to the last census about a million and a quarter people. If they get their share of the billion greenbacks it would amount to $17,750,000. The annual interest on our real estate mortgages, at 10 per cent, is $19,774,598; so that if we got our share of the billion dollars it wouldn't come within two million dollars of paying the interest on our real estate mortgages! To say nothing of the principal of those mortgages $197,745,980!! To say nothing of all the chattel mortgages; all the floating debt; all the meat bills and bread bills and clothing bills, and fuel bills and everything else!!

So you see Brother Boen is not such a lunatic after all. I. D.

THE MONEY-POWER.

How It Obtains Its Tools in Our Ranks.

I think there is a move being made by the hand of monopoly in Ohio to deceive and divide the labor vote. A labor leader—a coal miner—seems to be the instrument. Those who toil can tell by the advice or counsel of such men. If they do not demand the public ownership of land, coal, railroads, telegraphs, and money issues, they are traitors to those who labor, for if these things are to be left in the hands of monopolists, no relief can ever come to those who toil. They will always be at the mercy of the owners. Monopolists pay big money to labor leaders who can deceive their followers.—The Coming Nation.

This is one of the great dangers which confront us. Men are poor; they are weak; the tempter approaches them; they fall. Then they go into the meetings of their people, and by a show of excessive zeal, by loud-mouthed howlings of superlative virtue, they direct action in such way that the enemies of the people remain in power. The good people have got to discriminate between froth and facts. You cannot judge a man by his words; you must look back at his history. Cultivate habits of cool observation, and stick by those whom you have confidence in, and don't be carried off your feet by a cyclone of sound and fury signifying nothing.

Keep a sharp eye on the new converts. Some of them are saints, many of them are sinners. Push the good ones to the front and keep the bad ones in the rear. There is a great rush now to get on to the band wagon, as the procession is about to start; and all kinds of men will clamber in. There are some who are an honor to us; there are some who are a source of danger to us. Not every man who says, Lord! Lord! is of us. I. D.

A Stupid Fellow.

Hills Crescent: Some time ago the Minneapolis Tribune was asked to give five reasons why it is a Republican. The third reason given was:

Third, because it is the party of honest money.

To this Donnelly replies through the REPRESENTATIVE:

"Yes, honest money which obliges the borrower to pay twice as much as he received; which closes the mints and the mines: shuts up the factories, ruins the farmer and enriches plutocracy."

A little further down the column Donnelly attempts to give, as he says, "five true reasons why the Tribune is Republican."

Reason three is as follows:

"3. Because it has made the mine owner and the manfacturer rich at the expense of the farmers."

For the benefit of ourselves and others who cannot see through your logic (?), Donnelly, will you please state how the "mine owners and manufacturers have been made rich at the the expense of the farmers" when according to your statement the "mines have been closed" and the "factories shut up?" If closing up the mines and factories made the rich mine owners and manufacturers rich, what is the matter with closing the farms and the other business places of the country and making millionaires out of their owners?"

Now here is a smart Aleck.

He knew perfectly well, from the association of "mints and mines" that the first mines referred to were those of silver.

And he ought to know, if he knows enough to run a job printing office, that the tariff enriched the owners of coal mines.

And cannot this donkey understand that the manufacturers who were enriched by the tariff have been impoverished by the demonetization of silver and the universal ruin it has produced?

The trouble is with the Hill's Crescent,—(lunatics are especially identified with the moon); that our readers are generally intelligent Populists. We will have to publish an especial edition; with explanatory foot-notes, for the benefit of republican country editors, who fall below the average mental standard of humanity. I. D.

A Difference.

From the Representative.

In North Dakota the railways are assessed, for the purposes of taxation, at $2,500 per mile. When the railway commission of that state, the other day, undertook to reduce freight rates, the managers testified that the roads are worth $27,000 per mile!

Now, think of it! The railroads are assessed at less than 10 per cent of their valuation! Compare this with the assessed valuation of your farm or homestead. In Minneapolis the average is said to be 60 per cent. Taking into consideration the immense depreciation in real estate values in this city during the past three or four years, it is probable that the average is nearer 75 per cent; on farms it is more than this, or, at any rate, it is not less.

These are figures easily understood. The railways get off with an assessed valuation of less than 10 per cent while the real estate owners have to make up the difference.

Vote the People's party ticket and thus secure the selection of state boards of equalization which will right this outrage. There will be no hardship in paying the expenses of government when taxes are equitably levied.

JUDGE WILLIS.

John H. Ives Vigorously Defends Him.

To the Editor of the Globe.

In view of the fact that the implicable hostility of the Pioneer Press to Judge Willis may not be known to all the readers of the Press, it impresses me as being a duty to make a correct statement of the Pennington-Hare contest case commented upon in an editorial of that paper in this morning's issue, lest injustice be done.

To get a fair appreciation of this case it is well to first understand that Mr. Hare had been declared elected to the office of alderman by three plurality. It is well next to understand that this result was not declared by any Democratic election boards; but the result was declared by election judges appointed by a Republican council where in many instances Republicans were commissioned to duty in the guise of Populist judges. In view of the strict, narrow and unyielding partisan spirit evinced by the Republicans in this city in the last few months it ought to be pretty easy to guess whether a Democrat would get much advantage on a canvass of the returns.

Judge Willis, however, declared Mr. Hare elected upon those same ballots by a plurality of one only and in so doing excluded two votes which I then claimed and still claim should have been counted for Mr. Hare, and had they been so counted Mr. Hare would have received upon the face of the returns the same plurality the judges of election gave him.

It was unnecessary for Judge Willis to decide upon the ballots upon which the voters had written their names or the Italian votes refused, as these decisions were in favor of Mr. Hare and Mr. Hare had already been decided elected by a recount of the ballots. An issue had been raised upon these questions, however, and my supposition is that Judge Willis supposed that it would be the proper thing to meet the issue rather than evade it.

Mr. Wheelock, speaking of the action of the judge in excluding three ballots for Pennington and one for Hare upon which the voters had written their names, upon the ground that the voter had divulged his ballot (a position which the editor seems to concede), says:

"This is probably the first time the doctrine was ever laid down in this free country that a voter could not tell for whom he voted if he chose to do so. The law gives him the right of secrecy in voting if he chooses to avail himself of its safeguards, but there is no law which prevents him from voluntarily telling for whom he voted."

Mr. Wheelock has evidently never read section 105 of chapter 4 of the Laws of 1893 (our present election law), which reads as follows:

"Sec. 105. No voter shall divulge to any one within the polling place the name of any candidate for whom he intends to vote or has voted. Nor shall he ask for or receive the assistance of any person within the polling place in the preparation of his ballot, except as provided for persons under physical disability, are who are unable to read the English language.

"If any elector, after having marked his ballot, shows it to any one, except as herein provided, the judges of election shall refuse to receive or place in the ballot box such showing was clearly intentional no other ballot shall be delivered to such elector." With references to the twelve Italian voters whose votes Judge Willis decided ought to be counted, one would think to read the article that these men never went near the polls and were incapable of having an intention to vote. The fact is the evidence showed that these men (who are conceded to have been legal voters) went three times that day to the polls to vote, and were each time denied the right to vote. If there is any doubt in the mind of Mr. Wheelock as to show how these men intended to vote there does not appear to have been any doubt on the part of the adherents of the different parties on that day, for the evidence shows that all the Republican challengers and partisans were attempting to prevent them from voting on that day, and all the Democratic adherents were attempting to have their rights to vote respected, and in the afternoon there was a wordy battle lasting about two hours at the polls between legal advisers of both parties. The evidence also shows that in the morning when the first two of the twelve went up to vote, some partisan (in violation of law) asked one of them how he intended to vote, and he said "Straight Democrat," and then commenced the opposition to their voting, which continued the whole day. The counsel for the contestant also pressed one of the first witnesses for his reason for wanting to vote the Democratic ticket, and the witness stated that one of his reasons was that when the Democrats were in power they had got work here and had had none since the Republicans came in power, and they thought it was for their interest to vote the Democratic ticket, and the answer seemed so reasonable that that line of inquiry was never further pursued.

The fact is that the intention of these men to vote the Democratic ticket was as clear as it is possible to prove the intention of illiterate men who are not well informed on current events and are unacquainted with the names of party candidates. You cannot deny the right of any man to vote because he is not personally acquainted with any of the candidates or does not even know their names. You could not deny the right of an educated man to vote for that reason and the constitution makes no distinction in the degree of intelligence or education of a voter. So long as our constitution exists in its present form it is not only the right but a sacred duty of every county to see that this right is guaranteed and preserved to the most lowly and uneducated. The time has never yet arrived when any great party in this country has dared to stand upon the proposition that a man's right to vote must depend upon the degree of his intelligence and education, and while that constitution stands as it is, the right to vote of an uneducated, illiterate and unread man is just as sacred under the sun of a free government as the right of the scholar or philosopher.

Mr. Wheelock also says that there is no legal authority for counting votes not actually cast. Without tiring Mr. Wheelock with citation I would refer him to section 523, of Crary on Elections, wherein the author says:

"In order that a vote not cast shall be counted as if cast, it must appear that a legal voter offered to vote a particular ballot, and that he was prevented from doing so by fraud, violence or an erroneous ruling of the election officers," and also 6 Am. and Eng. Encyc. of Law, p. 433, to same affect.

There are authorities also on the other side of this question; but I doubt the propriety of berating a judge and calling him worse than knave every time he decides a question which has two sides.

JOHN H. IVES.

Still Robbing.

From the Representative.

The REPRESENTATIVE calls attention to an article from the St. Paul Call, elsewhere published, in regard to a recent sale of school lands. There has been no denial as yet of the statements set forth in this article. The REPRESENTATIVE, therefore, feels justified in assuming that they are true. What a record of infamy! How lost to a sense of honesty must men be who will deliberately conspire to rob the school fund! Yet that this has been done is unquestionably true. While the robberies have amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars, a small sum, comparatively, has been paid back into the state treasury by the convicted thieves. That there is an immense sum yet due from these malefactors is beyond question. Mr. Dunn, the Republican candidate for state auditor, admitted as much in an interview published in the papers a few days since. The question that should present itself to the people of this state is how to recover this sum and punish the thieves. The way to do this is to elect the People's party state ticket and a People's party legislature. If this is done the results in the way of uncovering frauds in the state auditor's office will be such as will astound the people of Minnesota.

Judge Willis.

From the Representative.

Especial attention is called to the defense of Judge Willis by John H. Ives, a leading Democrat of Ramsey county, which appears in another column. The plutocratic press is not in favor of the elevation of Judge Willis to the supreme bench. His decisions on the district court bench have not suited these unselfish guardians of the public welfare, hence these tears. They made substantially the same objections to Judge Canty; yet, so far as the REPRESENTATIVE has been able to observe, the decisions of Mr. Canty have been uniformly on the side of the common people and against the corporations, which have assumed to run things judicial and political in this state for, lo these many years.

Judge Willis is an able lawyer. He is a just and an upright judge. His elevation to the bench of the supreme court of this state will mean much for the people of this state. The Democratic party honored itself in nominating him. The people of the state will honor themselves in electing him, as they will surely do.

The Outlook.

From the Representative.

Advices from many portions of the state indicate that the People's party is moving forward to a certain and complete victory in the campaign now pending. The REPRESENTATIVE says to the party everywhere, not to be discouraged. Do not believe the lying reports of the old party organs. Victory is certain if every member of the party does his duty. The disagreements of the past few days have served only to cement the party more strongly together. Everywhere the best nominations for the legislature are being made by our friends. The ranks are rapidly closing up. All that is needed in order to win a complete and substantial victory is for every member of the People's party to do his duty and his whole duty from now until the polls are closed. Our friends, if they will do this, will be surprised at the overwhelming character of their victory.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Failures in the United States From 1864 to 1893 Were:

Year.	Number.	Liabilities.
1864	495	$ 8,579,000
1865	530	17,625,000
1866	632	47,333,000
1867	2,780	96,666,000
1868	2,608	63,694,000
1869	2,799	75,054,000
1870	3,551	88,242,000
1871	2,915	85,252,000
1872	4,069	121,056,000
1873	5,183	228,499,000
1874	5,830	155,239,000
1875	7,740	201,000,000
1876	9,092	191,117,000
1877	8,872	190,669,400
1878	10,478	234,383,132
1879	6,658	98,149,053
1880	4,735	65,752,000
1881	5,582	81,155,932
1882	6,738	102,000,000
1883	12,266	277,321,846
1884	15,876	422,657,241
1885	11,211	267,340,264
1886	12,292	229,288,238
1887	12,043	323,121,888
1888	13,348	247,659,956
1889	13,277	247,639,956
1890	14,126	248,484,973
1891	17,873	337,227,433
1892	14,061	321,236,119
1893	200,000	3,000,000,000

Bradstreet places the failures for 1893 as follows.

		Liabilities.
Commercial	14,860	$ 331,352,000
Banks	641	210,930,000
Railroad—Miles	25,375	1,842,492,000
Total		$2,384,774,000

Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, who will succeed Butler in the senate, is so phenomenally ugly that his face is actually attractive. He is a man of large stature, standing six feet or more, with great shoulders, a large head, and a thick, red neck. His features are coarse and irregular, his mouth large, his teeth are repulsive, and he has only one eye, having lost the other when a lad. Ten years ago he had never seen a railroad, or a bank, or a hotel, and it was not until the Farmers' Alliance developed his somewhat extraordinary abilities that he, was ever 13 miles from home.

A HUNDRED KILLED.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S STORM CAUSED TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

The Death List Numbers at Least Sixty and It Is Almost Certain That a Hundred People Lost Their Lives, While Hundreds of Others Were Injured—The Loss of Property Is Enormous.

St. Paul, Sept. 25—The cyclone which swept over Northwestern Iowa Friday night caused the loss of at least sixty lives and the death list will no doubt reach a hundred. A large number of people were injured, some fatally, while the destruction of property was enormous.

Owing to the fact that telegraphic communication has been shut off by fallen wires in the vicinity of the sections through which the storm has passed, full details cannot be ascertained, but that the loss of life is appalling and the number of fatally and less fatally injured will go into the hundreds is certain. It was a veritable cyclone, fierce and terrific. The lightning flashes were frequent and blinding, while the peals of thunder were deafening and fear-inspiring. The storm seems to have traveled from southwest to northeast. It appears that it gathered its forces south of Emmettsburg, then crossed the Iowa & Dakota division of the Milwaukee road east of Emmettsburg. It is next heard of north of Wesley, then in Lincoln township, and crossed the Iowa & Minnesota division a mile north of Grafton, thence speeding straight north to Le Roy and Spring Valley, Minn. Osage also fearfully felt its terrific force. At Emmettsburg the amphitheater at the fair grounds was wrecked, also one residence. Several are reported injured here.

Four miles north of Wesley great destruction was wrought. The Milwaukee railroad wires have been in a sadly disarranged condition, and up to last night could not be worked at Emmettsburg. There are two miles of wire down between Emmettsburg and Whittemore, and all along the path of the storm the telegraphic service has been completely wrecked. At Cylinder the whole family of Alexander Goldman, consisting of himself, wife and two children, were killed. About ten other people are injured. Six dwellings are demolished and a large number of outbuildings. Report says there were nine killed in the vicinity of Cylinder and Emmettsburg.

The little town of Cylinder, twenty miles west of Algona, on the Milwaukee road, it is reported was literally swept from the face of the earth. About twenty-five miles north of that place lived the Goldman family, who were all killed. The town of Whittemore was unharmed, but Robert Steveson, four miles north, was killed and his wife probably fatally injured. Eighteen people who sought shelter in the house on the Durant place were more or less hurt, and one woman will probably die. They were going home from the county fair at this place, which had a big day Friday.

A little further on fourteen others were huddled into the Bergetmair house. Here Carl Barrych was badly hurt and his wife was probably fatally injured. The wife and children of Fred Pompe, in Fenton township, were in the house, which was completely wrecked, but they were covered up by the falling walls and not one of them was hurt. The horse barn was completely blown away except the floor and mangers. Five horses tied to the mangers were left standing on the floor unharmed. G. W. Beavers, three miles north of Algona, had just got home from the fair. He got into the house with his wife and two children and an adopted boy, and was just getting down the cellar when the cyclone struck the house and demolished it completely. The whole family were covered with the ruins which were blown about four rods into the road. Beavers had the baby in his arms, and with it he made his way north to the house of Christian Dau, his father-in-law, for help. His wife was just dying when he returned, and his little girl gasped "Papa, papa;" and expired. The wreck here was complete, nothing remaining of the handsome house and barn. The sight at Myron Schenck's was even a more Complete Picture of Desolation.

Two immense barns and the house were made into kindling wood. His wife and child were carried 100 feet, and when found were under a heavy oaken beam. Both were unconscious. Horace Schenck, Myron's father, was covered up with a pile of lumber. He had a severe scalp wound, was hurt in the back and otherwise injured. His condition is serious, and as he is seventy-three years old, his recovery is questionable. This was one of the old places, and was surrounded by a large grove and orchard. The trees are all broken down. The kitchen clock was in a wreck with a sewing machine, and the hands pointed to 8:10. A willow hedge running north and south, near the Schenck homestead was piled full of household goods, mattresses, bedding and milk cans carried there from Beaver's place, a mile west. The Joe Thompson house was gutted and the walls were in a swaying condition. His barns went to pieces and five horses were buried in the debris. It took until 3 o'clock next morning to dig them out, but all were recovered from the ruins, without injury.

East of the river, in Plum Creek township, the house of George Holman was carried thirty rods and dropped with such force as to wreck it. In it were Holman and wife and six children. One of the children was killed outright and four were injured. Mr. Holman was seriously hurt. An old man named Dingaman, a mile north of Holman's was killed, and seven more were killed northeast of this place, including a man and wife, names not known, William Sweeper and two children and an infant of Clausden's. Orders are coming in to our undertakers for coffins. A relief committee has already been organized, but there is apparently no actual destitution. The country swept is a farming section, with great barns filled to the rafters with hay. The packed condition of the barns saved the stock. A report just received from Wesley, twelve miles east, says that there were thirteen dead bodies north of there. Seven of these are included in the foregoing report.

Reports are constantly being received of lives lost in Emmett, Kossuth, Cerro Gordo, Mitchell and Howard counties, Iowa, and Mower, Fillmore and Winona counties, Minn.

In Southern Minnesota.

Three people were killed at Le Roy, and the whole eastern part of the town is badly damaged. A fire about the same time destroyed a hotel and three stores. Spring Valley suffers heavy losses, and three are killed and others fatally injured. A farmer from Beaver township reports a young girl killed there, and says a vast amount of damage has been done to the northeast of Le Roy. Many farms are laid in ruins and there has been considerable loss of life in places which cannot be reached by railroad. Reports of fatalities are arriving almost hourly, but no names or actual losses can be ascertained. A messenger from Spring Valley reports five killed and fifteen badly injured at that place, but he can give no names. He says the cyclone destroyed a vast amount of property and laid waste many farm buildings and machinery therein. Considerable live stock was destroyed at Le Roy. The streets are choked with ruins, and the desolation is well nigh supreme.

Definite advices from Spring Valley, just received, shows but four dead there, as follows: H. H. King, of King & Hole, machinists; and Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, old people, and Mrs. Rose and one little child. There are twenty injured, but not fatally. The damage in the aggregate will reach $35,000. Nineteen residences, seventeen barns and one business house were destroyed. Previous reports were exaggerated. The business portion was uninjured.

Close figuring over last advices put the total loss at Le Roy at $100,000, and it will probably go over that.

The little village of Burr Oak, about four miles northeast of Osage, Iowa, was totally demolished by the cyclone. The killed are John Perry, Mrs. John Perry, Mrs. Pat Larogan and an old lady, name unknown and the two Perry children. The storm did not leave an outbuilding at Burr Oak. It is strange all the inhabitants were not killed. Thirteen farm houses in the vicinity were totally demolished, and even fences and stumps of trees were blown away and uprooted. At Osage there was a severe hail storm and considerable wind. A play was being presented at the theater, and a wild stampede of the audience resulted in severe injury to many. In the vicinity of Burr Oak a wagon was picked up and hurled into the top of a tree, where it still remains. Farm buildings were strewn over the prairie for a distance of several miles, and the damage will mount up into the thousands. It is said great distress prevails all along the path of the cyclone.

JAY GOULD'S DAUGHTER.

Child by His First Wife Will Sue for a Portion of the Estate.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 25.—The eldest daughter of Jay Gould is the wife of a humble employe of the Union Pacific Coal company, residing at Rock Springs, Wyo. At least such is the claim of Mrs. B. F. Pierce. Mrs. Pierce says that her mother, Jay Gould's first wife, from whom it is claimed he was never divorced, is still living at Rouse's Point, Clinton county, N. Y. According to her story, Gould met his first wife, Miss Sarah Ann Brown, at the little town where the woman now resides, and May 16, 1853, the couple were married in New York city by Rev. J. Hanna, a Methodist minister. The couple did not live happily together, and before a year of married life Mrs. Gould left her husband and returned to Rouse's Point, assuming her maiden name. She has lived there in obscurity all these years, but she claims that neither she nor Mr. Gould ever received a divorce. A daughter was born Feb. 15, 1854, to Mrs. Gould, and she is the present Mrs. Pierce. Failing to secure what they believe to be their legal rights Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have determined to resort to the courts. They have employed able counsel, and expect to begin suit as soon as they have collected their evidence. They have secured the marriage certificate of Jay Gould and Sarah Ann Brown.

Five Colored Men Drowned.

Pomeroy, Ohio, Sept. 25.—By the capsizing of a boat in the Ohio river to-day David Nutter, Robert Thompson, Daniel Harrigan, Ment Chester and Ernest Thomas were drowned; all colored and single. They were residents of Middleport. Three other occupants of the boat were rescued.

Stricken With Appoplexy.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 25.—Street Commissioner Charles Werner was stricken with apoplexy last night. His life is despaired of.

Rebels Retreating.

Lima, Peru, Sept. 25.—The government has advices that the rebels in the north are retreating. The financial situation grows worse daily.

Earthquake in Greece.

Athens, Sept. 25. — An earthquake was felt this morning in Zante and Patras.

Fire and Water in Court.

Faulkton, S. D., Sept. 25. — Fire caught in the court house, but was extinguished after doing considerable damage. The building was flooded but none of the records were damaged.

Lon Merritt Wins.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 25.—The verdict of the jury in the case of Leonidas Merritt against the Mesaba road, when opened this morning, was found to be $12,530 for the plaintiff.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.12 p. m.	7:35 a m
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	8.5 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshal

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE.

W. A. Sorsoleil
Manage

---

25 cents!

A New Subscriber
Can get the

SPECTATOR

from now until December 1st, 1894, for

25 cents

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Hilaire Townsite Co. will prosecute any person who hereafter haul any rubbage or manure on any land belonging to said company in the village of St. Hilaire.

April 25th 1894

St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
H. E. Ives, agent.

BREVITIES.

Miss Daisy Fargo of Crookston was in town today.

George Ossman is in town this week buying hides and wool.

Michael Jeffers' of Gervais was in town today on business.

Peter Paradis was doing business at Red Lake Falls last Monday.

E. M. Hoff was doing business at Thief River Falls last Monday.

The train was a couple of hours late last Monday. The delay was on the Main line.

S. G. Lee general collector of the Osborne Co., is doing business in the village this week.

Threshing is nearly finished and by another week most of the rigs will be laid up for the season.

Miss Bertha Peterson and Amelia Sorum of Thief River Falls visited friends here yesterday.

Special agent Hayes of the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance company was in town last Monday.

Messrs. Wyer and Garceau of the Bank of Red Lake Falls were doing business in town yesterday.

Miss Florence Wallin of Thief River Falls was visiting friends in town several days the first of the week.

A couple of tobacco salesmen missed the train here last Monday and were compelled to drive to Crookston.

Miss. Mary Bramsness returned to day from Grand Forks and will visit with her parents for some time.

The village school will comence next Monday and parnts should see that their children attend from the start.

S. M. Dainard leaves to day for the Fertile fair. He will take with him several heads of stock for exhibition.

Hon. Marcus Johnson of Johnson & Marshall was in town last Monday looking over his busines interests here.

E. J. Holmes informs us that he will pay the highest cash price for potatoes and solicits shipments from the farmers.

A crew of painters came up on last Fridays train and have given the St Anthony & Dakota elevator a coat of paint.

County division schemers are making things lively these days. At present it looks as if the Nelson county proposition would be the only one to cary.

S. M. Dainard, O. F. Post and R. H Aimer drove over to Dugdale last Thursday taking the train there for Fosston. Where they attended the fair returning the same day.

The Republicans are smart to say the least. It is claimed, and by the way this is a very dry season, that their candidate for congess in this district is by long odds the greenest object in the district.

We were favored for the first time in several weeks, last Saturday, with a good drenching rain. It was, an excellent thing for the country as plowing was almost inpossible more rain how ever is needed.

Hans Langseth and Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls were in town Monday on their way to Crookston. Mr. Langseth has attached the stomer Viking and the case will be tried in the District court this week.

There is some talk that Mr. Stromberg the populist nominee for state Auditor will withdraw in favor of Auditor Bierman. We have been creditably informed that this is nothing but a falsehood. The populists have nothing to do with such men as Mr. Bierman, and if he succeeds in inducing our candidate to withdraw it will only result in the election of his opponent.

Every day bring new supporters for S. M. Owen the populist candidate for governor. The unholy alliance between the railroads, Knute Nelson and candidate Becker is working in a way not calculate upon. The average voter sees in it only a scheme to perpetuate the railroad, pine ring, wheat ring rule by electing Knute Nelson. For once give corporations trusts and railroads a black eye and deliver our state to the people by voting for and electing S. M. Owen govonor and you will do a deed you will never regret.

PAYING A POLITICAL DEBT

Gen. Becker has resigned position as railroad commissioner and will make an active canvass for govenor. It would not look just right, you know, for one of Gov. Nelson's employes to be opposing(?) him in the gubernatorial race. His place will not be filled, however and if by their combined efforts Gov. Nelson is again successful, Gen. Becker will be found once more holding down his job as railroadcommissioner. But, although their plan of pooling issues was cunningly conceived and is being splendidly carried out, grave doubts are already afflicting the minds of both democratic and republican leaders as to its success. The idea of Gen. Becker's nomination was undoubtedly to hold the democratic vote from going to Owen and thus insuring Gov. Nelson's re-election. But the mistake was made in selecting Gen. Becker, and in this Mr. Doran and these who are in the scheme with him failed to act with accustomed shrewdness Gen. Becker is the only democratic the state who was indebted to Gov. Nelson for an appointment. It is but natural to suppose the general appreciates the favor and would lose no opportunity of repaying it. By becoming the democratic candidate and, as far as possible keeping the democrats in line he is taking the most effective means of doing so. But the effort to deceive the democratic voters is altogether too gauzy. The Senigambian in the wood pile is in plain sight and the rank and file of the party will refuse to permit them selves or the party to be used to pay political debts to Gov. Nelson. The only way to resent it is to vote for Owen and this is what will be done. THE TIMES makes the prediction now that Mr. Owen will get more democratic votes at the coming election than Mr. Becker.—Crookston Times.

The average farmer or shipper of grain was gratly surprised a couple of weeks ago to learn that the Minnesota Railroad Commissioners had ordered a general reduction of grain rates in the state averaging about 15per cent. Governor Nelson recieved an immense amount of flattery from the Republican press for having appointed so honist a commission and on the heels of this General Becker one of the commissioners was nominated by the Democrats for Governor and the Democratic press had another innings at howling about the great good Becker had done for the poor farmer. It was a happy occasion all around and every body felt good even the farmer. But now the true facts come out and if we have reduction it will be so far in the misty future few will live to see it. The Railroads have thirty days in which to appeal. It will go to the Minnesota supreme court and then some more courts finaly to the U. S. Supreme court. This will take not less than five years, and in the meantime we will pay the old rates. Beautiful scheme. If it succeed Nelson will be reelected governor and Becker will be reappointed railroad commisioner. Truely the people are suckers and a soft snap is well worth scheming for in these hard times.

In a recent interview with a Chicago Herald reporter Gen. Baker is quoted as saying that should the election in this state occur at present Mr. Owen would be elected. Right you are genera and when the election occurs before the ides of November Mr. Owen will be the man still. Gen. Becker is put up to keep in line the old mossbacks, but the rank and file of the Democrats of this state are true men who have long since grown weary of being whipped into line every time the party whip is cracked, and especially do they object now when that is done to benefit Gov. Nelson; as is certainly the case in the nomination of Gen. Becker. The masses are determined that there shall be a chance this year. They demand that the books be opened and that the pine land, and wheat combines, and railroad rings of this state shall be exposed to the gaze of the public and rotteness and corruption therein existing be thoroughly ventilated. Come, honest voter, will there be any particular change should Becker fill Nelson's shoes? It's the same old gang but with a different leader with either in the gubernatorial chair. —Mankato Journal.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, when his party refused to declare for free silver took his stand with the Populists. Senators Teller and Wolcott of Colorado and Dubois, of Idaho, declare they will do the same thing. With these eminent men will come the bulk of the Republican party of the west. In the south' prominent democrats, who are pronounced for free silver are likewise seeing the hopeless of expecting their party to give the country free silver, and are joining the Populist party. Every circumstance points to the fact that there is eventually to be but two parties—the party of the people, and the money party. The great mass of the people can not longer be kept divided on the false issue of tariff, but will rally together under the banner of the only party that proposes a practical, reasonable remedy for existing conditions; while opposed to them will be the upholders of goldbugism—those whose avarise, greed and blind party prejudice prompt them to vote for the perpetuation of a system that is robbing the toilers for the benefit of the capitalists.

MINNESOTA
STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

At
WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the training department or model school.

The Normal department embraces:

(a) An elementary course for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course for teachers who have completed the required academic work elsewhere.

(d) A kindergarten training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board furnished room, light and heat at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead furnishes accommodations at $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers' certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona August 1st; at Mankato August 29th; at St. Cloud August 28th; at Moorhead September 4th.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
JOSEPH CARHART St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Try a sack of Johnson & Marshall' Northern flour. Best flour for the least money ever sold in the Northwest.

W. A. Sorsoleil, agent.

Three dollars per ton cash paid for hay at S. M. Dainard's.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

If you intend to ship your wheat on track this fall it will pay you to give me a call. Have had 30 years experiance shipping grain and can save you money if any one can,

O. H. Peters.

WE LEAD in low prices and reliable goods. Call and get prices on "the latest" in fall and winter dress goods. Send for samples.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr
Crookston Minn.

LATEST STYLES and lowest prize in ladies and childrens cloaks. I will not be undersold.

New York Store, A. Chabot propr
Crookston Minn.

J. L. Johnson wishes to announce that he has received a full line of wall paper which he will sell at hard time prices.

Notice to Farmers.

You can exchange wheat for flour and feed at Marshall & Johnson's ware house.

W. A, Sorsoleil, Agent

John Murphy' of Laclede County, Kansas, was recently convicted of the theft of one bushl of potatoes which he claimed he stole to keep his beloved ones from pershing and sent to the pen for five years. A short time previous, in the same state, four bank wreckers wer found guilty of stealing over a hundred thousand dollars and were sentenced to the state prison for two or three and one-half years. In accordance with the above construction of the law and justice, potatoes in that state are worth about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a bushel.—Prison Mirror.

Editor Rosewater and the other Nebraska Republicans who are bolting Majors are too finicky for their party The absurdity of refusing support to Majors, who is only a common railroad tool and whose greatist crime was to forge some documents in a congressional contest. for which Tom Reed, as chairman of the elections committee, recommended his prosecution, is apparent when we recall that the Iowa Republicans nominated and elected Jackson govenor, who was disbarred from practice in the pension office for trying to bleed an old soldier out of $500 under the pretense that he wanted it to corrupt officers of the pension bureau with. Such little things as these are regarded as qualification for office in that party nowadays.

And now the republicans in this part of the country are rejoicing because the sugar planters of Louisiana are reported as having declared that they prefer to belong to a party that will give them a bounty on their sugar and have no use for, the democratic party that took it away. It is the old story. The sugar planters were not as clamorous for a bounty before they got a taste of it but now they hate to give it up. Such is protection. The masses are taxed to benefit the few and the few hate to surrender their special privileges.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

TIME TABLE.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3		NO 4
North and West		South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 10 30 am
8 20 p m	Minneapolis	9 55 am
4 25 a m	Barnesville	1 40 am
7 25 am Ar	Crookston	De 10 50 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 4 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. Sept. 6 1894

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on October 24 1894, viz:

Frans Freiheit HD 15008 for Lots 2, 3 and 4 Sec. 4 Tp 152 R 42.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

John E. Olson, Sam E. Olson, Nils Evenson James N. Evenson all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn.

HUGH THOMPSON Register

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand and seventeen dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank Straka and Mary his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 14th day of October 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 17th day of October 1892 at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages on page 207 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-eight in township one hundred and fifty-three of range forty-eight in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 18th day of August 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 2nd A. D. 1894.

Security Trust Co., mortgagee.
B. J. Montague, attorney.

Largest Body Of fresh water in the World is Lake Superior and it is best reached from Minneapolis and St. Paul by THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Longest River In the World is the Mississippi but the shortest line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago is THE NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Crookedest River In United States is the Missouri and the best line between Minneapolis, St. Paul and all Missouri River Cities from Sioux City to Kansas City inclusive is the NORTHWESTERN LINE.

Over 62 Million People live in the United States and many of these are daily delighted with the service of the Northwestern Line between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago.

Prairie Schooners Used to be the best mode of conveyance overland between Minneapolis St. Paul and Chicago. Today the best conveyance is the NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED.

Hay wanted at $3.00 cash per ton. Inquire of S. M. Dainard.

NORTH DAKOTA Was admitted as a state in 1889 but the traveling public admits ever day that the best line between Minneapolis, St Paul and Chicago is the NORTH-WESTERN LINE.

When the Phenician had a bargain to offer his customers he hired a painter to get him up a sign something like this :

Such a sign would be unnecessary over our door. Everybody knows from experience that here

BARGAINS BEGIN
BUT NEVER END

It comes just as natural for us to have bargains as it is for customers to hunt them. Close and careful buying—that's all. Come and see how we can make

Dollars Do Double Duty

You will find careful, attentive service and goods that will please your taste as well as your pocketbook.

E. M. HOFF.

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY.

AT

E. J. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mower at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

AN AMERICAN NAMED
JOHN SMITH
OR A CHINAMAN NAMED
生永子其獨世以而
OR A MANDALAYAN NAMED
[illegible]
OR A TURK NAMED
[illegible]

Or any man of any name or of any nation can get better things to wear at our store and at lower prices than anywhere else. Professional gossips no longer talk of their neighbors, but marvel at our

Below Zero Prices

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance. $1.50.

Not in Advance. $2.00 Per Year.

Entered at The Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 26 1894.

PENCE IN CHICAGO.

A SPEECH THAT WAS TOO SHORT, THOUGH IT OCCUPIED TWO HOURS.

Interesting Topics Discussed by the Colorado Populist Congressman—Once He Was Bunkoed In Chicago—Praise For Eugene V. Debs.

Lafe Pence of Colorado, congressman, humorist and general all around advocate of the masses, told 1,000 persons in West Twelfth Street Turner hall about Populists, who they were, why they were such, what they had done and what they intended to do. He received a welcome seldom accorded to any speaker, and had his address consumed six hours instead of two his audience would not have diminished in size or enthusiasm.

In introducing Congressman Pence Chairman W. H. Harney said: "The distinguished gentleman I shall introduce to you tonight comes from the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, representing a constituency as free and independent as the eagle that makes its home in the crags and rocks overlooking the valleys and plains below. He is peerless and patriotic, and his eloquence has been a rapier inflicting mortal wounds in the bodies of the two old political parties. The diadem being fashioned from the jewels of human integrity to crown Columbia in the new emancipation will have no diamond in it shimmering purer and brighter in the sunlight of human liberty than Lafe Pence."

It was several minutes before Mr. Pence could speak, so great was the applause. He said in substance:

"I don't think I deserve all that your chairman has said about me, but the stenographer will take it down, I suppose, and my wife will see it. She will believe it. I spoke once before in Chicago at the Sunset club, I think, just about the time, you know, when good times were going to begin. Lyman Gage and Mr. O'Dell were there and spoke. They were leading financial men, I understand, and were at the head of two banks that had not gone under. Those men inspired me—they did really. They inspired a good many more people. I believe they were inspired themselves. They told me that if the purchasing clause of the Sherman law was repealed everlasting happiness would be our lot. Gentlemen, and ladies, too, I want to admit right now that that was the first time I was ever bunkoed in Chicago. [Applause.]

"Since then I have met men who were working the other side of the street and was worked in the same way in Washington.

"I speak to you tonight as a Populist. I am not able, like a Republican, to claim my political ideas from my father's grandfather and his great-grandfather, and, like a Democrat, say that he heard his grandfather say he voted for Jackson three times in one day. I come to you with the principles that established the liberty of this land. [Applause.]

"If Andrew Jackson were alive, I think he would be a Populist. If Abraham Lincoln were alive, I know he would be a Populist. What weaned us from the two old parties? Changes of notion of right and wrong? No. Because these parties were good and fair before elections and bad and unfair afterward. I was born and raised a Democrat. Blown in the bottle, so to speak, warranted not to fade, all wool and a yard wide. I was lied to just as long as I could stand it, and I entered a protest.

"This city ought to be the best community on earth for men to show themselves by their votes. Here is an example: Mr. Gresham, that friend of a certain dusky queen, held office under Harrison and voted for Cleveland. He and I came very near belonging to the same party. He broke into the Democratic ranks just as I broke out. There should be in this city a spirit of political independence. There is some, and I am sure there will be more. The Populists will cut a large figure before many weeks pass, and the southern and western producers will yet win a victory for the masses. Massachusetts has more wealth today than Iowa, Illinois, Alabama, Colorado and North Carolina. That doesn't seem right, does it? No. It is all on account of the monetary system and the plan to make the dollar of the creditor greater from year to year. The fault is not with the producers. It is not a fault in the production of wealth, but in the distribution of it. [Applause.] Think of it. We are the richest nation on earth, and the evidence of our labor is in the vaults of every foreign country. The masses want the dollars of our fathers coined and put in circulation. If they had been, the long years of depression and falling prices could never have overtaken this fair land.

"I was in hopes that I would meet that great man here tonight. I wanted to take him by the hand and express to him my earnest admiration. I refer to Eugene V. Debs. [Tremendous applause.] I think he could well afford to go to jail if he could open the eyes of the people. What better service could a man render to his fellow citizens than has Eugene Debs?

"Two years ago Mr. Debs told me that government ownership of the railroads and telegraph companies was the only thing that would settle the difficulty. I did not believe it then. I do now. But, then, when the Populists of 1893 advocated an income tax, people laughed at us and called us anarchists. It is but a short time ago that every Democratic newspaper and every Democrat came out for an income tax.

"The income tax which has been added to the tariff bill was due to the efforts of the Populist congressmen. If the party never elects another public officer, it will have earned the bread they have eaten by the securing of an income tax."—Chicago Times.

vate and public, without exception, and make all contracts for the payment of debts in violation of this law null and void, that every debtor may discharge his obligations in any money issued by our government. The purchasing and debt paying power of every dollar, whether gold, silver or paper, should at all times be equal. An international agreement fixing the ratio of gold and silver and maintaining and preserving the parity of the metals, however much desired, is a hope too uncertain for its realization and too far in the distance for the greatest nation on earth to wait for or depend on. Nothing will more rapidly and more certainly enhance the value of silver than to make it as a standard money metal the equal of gold. This seems to be what the masses want and what, sooner or later, they intend to have.—W. C. Davis.

REVERSED LESSONS.

Ease With Which the Goldbug Editors Face About In Their Reasoning (?).

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, having received information that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle have placed the United States mints in motion to coin a small portion of the silver seigniorage, makes the remarkable statement that "under the policy of the government to maintain the parity of the metals it is as incumbent on the treasury to redeem silver certificates in gold as it is to redeem 'coin' notes in gold."

Western people find it very discouraging to learn financial lessons from the east and then have the lessons reversed at the very moment when they have been received and accepted as fact.

Only a few short months ago the statesmen of the west and south suggested that if the treasury should redeem a few silver certificates in gold it would tend to place silver somewhat nearer gold in commercial estimation, but the eastern press cried out with a loud voice that such certificates were not only not redeemable in gold, but ought not to be redeemed at all, because they were subject to reissue, and hence redemption would not help silver.

They even went further and actually proved that to redeem silver certificates in gold would be to make an uncalled for and inexcusable demand upon the gold reserve, which was then trembling upon the verge of $100,000,000—whereas it is now down below $60,000,000, and yet the world is still going round—and that the consequent damage to the financial credit of the government and to our bond interests would be almost irreparable.

They also produced a copy of a silver certificate and called western attention to the reading upon the note, especially declaring that "this certifies that there has been deposited in the treasury of the United States one silver dollar, payable to bearer on demand," and that by no stretch of the imagination could this be construed into authorizing the treasury to redeem it with a gold dollar, even under a question of maintaining the parity.

And now the Springfield Republican faces about and squarely says that a silver certificate is equally redeemable with a coin note in gold. Why, in the midst of the artificial fright over the reduction of the gold reserve there was even a claim that the coin note itself was by right redeemable only in silver, and that the government never intended the gold reserve for any other purpose than that of meeting its bonded indebtedness.

Why this sudden appreciation of the silver certificate? It is because the situation has changed. The new issue of bonds has been amply stowed away, and it is now to the eastern as well as to the western and southern interest to have silver increased in value. Six months ago the bottom would have dropped out of New York and Boston if the treasury had gone to redeeming silver certificates in gold—at least they led us to so infer. Now a silver certificate is just as good as a coin note. But it imposes upon the ignorant west and south an obligation to learn its financial lessons over again.—St. Louis Republic.

Uneasy In Illinois.

In the counties of the state where the Alliance men were successful in the last election the Populists are reported to be active. They have caused a good deal of uneasiness in the old party ranks, the leaders realizing that a few votes may hold the balance of power in the election of United States senator, as was the case when General Palmer was elected. Populists are to hold a mass meeting in Chicago at an early date to open the campaign in Cook county in the hope of securing some of the members from Chicago as a result of the labor troubles and the affiliation of the industrial classes with the movement among the agriculturists.

The Republicans pretend not to be disturbed by this indication of sentiment, but admit solicitude about the attitude of their own party as to the nomination of candidates. Until recently it was generally supposed that a number of the old members would be returned to the house, and so confident were some of them that they began figuring on the prospect for the speakership.—Chicago Record.

Labor and the People's Party.

John McBride, president of the United Mine Workers, said the other day: "I would not be surprised to see before the next presidential election a political union between the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations and the People's Party that would lead to success. While there are extremes on both sides the two forces have much in common and are capable of planning a platform satisfactory to all."

The Colonel Joins the Populists.

George S. Rathbun, a colonel in the Confederate army and for 50 years a prominent Democrat in Lexington and this city, has announced that he is a member of the Populist party.—Springfield (Mo.) Special.

Honest Sailors Needed.

The Republicans held power for 30 years, ran the country in the ground and were kicked out for incompetence and corruption. The Democrats were given full power and completed the ruin by following in the footsteps of their predecessors. The absolute necessity of a new deal and a new party is too plain for argument. Unless the piratical crew is thrown overboard and honest sailors given charge the ship of state will be completely wrecked on the breakers of Cape trust.—Nonconformist.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Governor	SIDNEY M. OWEN.
For Lieutenant Governor	E. E. LOMMEN.
For State Auditor	A. L. STROMBERG.
For Secretary of State	P. J. SEBERGER.
For State Treasurer	F. BORCHERT.
For Attorney General	J. A. KEYES.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court	C. H. JOHNSON.
For Chief Justice	SUMNER LADD.
For Associate Justice	J. W. WILLIS.
For Member of Congress	HALDOR E. BOEN.
For State Senator	P. M. RINGDAL.
For Members of the Legislature	J. B. KNUTESON. N. L. NELSON. S. J. LEE.
For County Auditor	JOHN GLEASON.
For County Treasurer	J. T. BEAUDRY.
For Sheriff	ANDREW STEENERSON
For Clerk of Court	JOHN VIG.
For Register of Deeds	ALBERT WICKSTROM.
For Probate Judge.	C. M. BENSON.
For County Attorney	L. E. GOSSMAN.
For School Superintendent	O. McCRILLIS.
For County Surveyor	O. L. HAMERY.
For Coroner.	JOHN DWYER.
For County Commissioner 4th Dist.	HENRY NORLAND

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fifteen and 75-100 dollars the interest which became due on the first day of December A. D. 1893 which is claimed to be due and is due and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John A. Lundbeck and Hendricka J. Lundbeck his wife, mortgagors, to J. E. Luce, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of June A. D. 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the first day of June A. D. 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 59 of mortgages, on page 574 thereof, which said mortgage was executed to secure that certain promissory note for three hundred and fifty dollars, dated June 1st 1893 with interest annually from date thereof at 9 per cent, and due June 1st 1898, and signed by said mortgagors as makers and delivered and payable to the order of said mortgagee and the said mortgagee by reason of the said default in the payment of said interest has elected and hereby elects to use his option as provided in said mortgage and he hereby declares that the whole sum of money which is secured by said mortgage is now due and payable and there is claimed to be due and payable and unpaid at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of three hundred and seventy-three and 75-100 dollars, principal and interest; and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage viz: The south one-half (S ½) of the North west quarter [NW ¼] and lots three [3] and four [4] of Section numbered three [3] in Township numbered one hundred and fifty-two [152] of Range numbered forty-four [44] containing one hundred and sixty acres according to the government survey thereof in Polk county and state of Minnesota with hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt interest and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on Saturday the 7th day of June A. D. 1894 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20 A. D. 1894

J. E. Luce
mortgagee.

John McLean
Attorney for Mortgagee
Crookston Minn.

PUBLICATIONS.

OF THE
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
ST. PAUL MINN.

The General Passenger Office of the Great Northern Railway will be pleased to forward to applicants any or all of the publications named below on receipt of the amount of postage named after each. It should be understood that these books, maps and pamphlets were prepared at considerable and are worth in each case many times the postage. They will prove of much interest to persons who contemplate a trip to any part of the Northwest or who desire the information all intelligent people should possess concerning a vast resourceful, important and growing part of the United States. Several of these publications have been supplied in quantities to public schools at the request of superintendents and teachers, on account of the instructive and useful information they contain

BOOK FOLDER.—SEND 2 CENTS FOR POSTAGE.

This publication contains complete time cards, a series of train route maps, a large map of the country, a table giving first and second-class passenger rates, and freight tariff on settlers goods from St. Paul to all points on the line; a table showing tributary points reached by steamer or stage; through car service and connections; important baggage and ticket regulations, and much interesting descriptive matter. in short it is a handy volume of ready reference for passengers about local and through service on the Great Northern to all parts of the Northwest and the Pacific Coast.

MAP FOLDER.—SENT FREE.

This contains the regular time schedules; a large map of the country west of Chicago and St. Louis; baggage and ticket regulations; and other information of value to travelers!

ATLAS OF THE NORTHWEST. send 25 cen for postage.

Contains complete maps of the United States, Minnesota, the two Dakotas, Montana Idaho and Washington, showing Post offices to June 1, 1894 with every important geographical and topographical feature brought down to date, and printed in the highest style of the map makers art. Interesting, descriptive, historical, and statistical information appears with each map.

LARGE WALL MAP. —Send 25 cents for postage.

this is a map of the country west of Chicago and St. Louis, mounted on rollers; 31x46 inch complete in every particular from latest surveys; gives most detail of the Northwest both above and below the international boundary line from the Great Lakes to Puget Sound; elegantly printed and useful in every office and school; has been asked for by teachers in all parts of the Northwest, and copies are now hanging in the public schools of towns and cities.

VALLEY, PLAIN AND PEAK from Midland Lakes to Western Ocean Sound 10 cents for postage

This attractive publication contains nearly 100 Northwestern views, singly and in groups etched from photographs ornamentally embellished and accompanied by descriptive matter and characteristic initials beautifully printed in colors altogether forming one of most elegant books of the kind ever issued. It is equal to art books which sell for a dollar or more and contain very much less general information and beauty.

For any of the above publications or information about rates or routes to the North west or Pacific Coast address.

F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A.
St. Paul, Minn.

mention this paper

E. T. SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats,

Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200.

BARRELS, $50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only all improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not, and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST GUNS FOR ANY MONEY! CLOSE and HARD SHOOTING GUNS

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

Pure Manilla at 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS NEW PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

BROADWAY S

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A New Use for Photography.

In order to soften the heart of an offended lover an Austrian maiden has had herself photographed in a coffin, dressed in grave clothes. So far from the device being successful, it has driven her young man out of his mind; and, indeed, it strikes one that she might have rendered herself more attractive.

This is not, however, always the object of a photograph. There is a story of a young gentleman who distorted his features so horribly while his portrait was being taken that he frightened the operator.

"You are not a criminal," he remonstrated, "compelled to be photographed by the police, and anxious to avoid identification, are you?"

"No," said the other, "but I want to get off my engagement with Mary Ann. I've told her I am still hers if she wishes it, but I've had a railway accident which has rather blemished me."

"Very good; when she gets this you will be a free man," said the photographer.

Belated Contradiction, From His Highness.

"Better late than never," is a good proverb, but like, other proverbs, it has exceptions. I doubt whether it applies to the Prince of Wales' contradiction of the stories of the alleged clandestine marriage of the Duke of York. Twelve or fifteen months ago these reports were so far current in London that their existence cannot have been unknown to the parties most concerned in them. If an authoritative contradiction was ever called for, the time for it was immediately prior to the duke's marriage. If it was deemed unnecessary then, how can it have become necessary now? Such tales die a natural death when left to themselves. —London Truth.

If you will notice, it is only pretty women at the theater who remove their hats.

Karl's Clover Root Tea,
The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures Constipation. 25c., 50c., $1.

Some of us have to live a long while to find out that we don't know much.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

To live only for what we can see is proof that we are short-sighted.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is taken internally. Price 75c.

The spirits that move the world are not the kind that come out of a bottle.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The shortest cut to wealth is through the lane of contentment.

OH, MY HEAD
Could be cured by STRONG'S HEADACHE KILLER. It relieves in twenty minutes, and contains no poison. For sale by druggists; or send your name or postal for free sample; or 25c for a full box to Goodrich & Jennings, Anoka, Minn.

Writer's colic is a most dangerous disorder. It runs naturally into starvation.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

"This is a pretty good daze work," said the dentist as he administered gas.

The Modern Beauty
Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs.

Politeness that does not begin at home is almost all vanity and deceit.

Cures That Faith Won't Effect.
Are brought about by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among American family remedies. Rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, liver complaint, malaria and nervous complaints succumb to this reliable remedy. It does its benign work thoroughly, and those who use it reap a fruitful harvest of health. Physicians of the first standing commend it.

Cuts a queer figure—the Chinese idol carver.

PICTURE FREE
WE WILL MAIL POSTPAID a fine Panel Picture, entitled "MEDITATION" in exchange for 18 Large Lion Heads, cut from Lion Coffee wrappers, and a 2-cent stamp to pay postage. Write for list of our other fine premiums, including books, a knife, game, etc.
WOOLSON SPICE CO., 450 Huron St., TOLEDO, OHIO.

MAILED FREE
to any Farmer or Farmer's Wife
"UP TO DATE DAIRYING"
containing full instruction how to secure Higher Grade Products, make
MORE BUTTER that will bring BETTER PRICE
and with Less Labor get More Money
Reviewing and explaining in a practical manner...
THE NORMANDY (FRENCH) SYSTEM,
DANISH DAIRY SYSTEM AND
ELGIN SEPARATOR SYSTEM
which have brought prosperity and ease to the dairy farmer.
Write for this Valuable Information. Mailed FREE on application. Kindly send address of neighboring farmers who own cows. Address R. LESPINASSE,
Ex. Sec'y Columbian & Illinois Dairy Associations.
246 W. LAKE ST. CHICAGO

ARCHIBALD
Business College
16 FIFTH STREET SO., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
The best is the cheapest. Cheap tuition means cheap instruction. Attend the best. We furnish first-class instruction in Bookkeeping, Actual Business and Office Practice, Com. Law, Arithmetic, Grammar, Correspondence, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting and English branches. Address
A. R. ARCHIBALD, Principal.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

N. W. N. U. No. 30—1894.

SPIRIT OF REFORM.

Wit, Humor and Pathos as Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

If you should mistake the devil for a gentleman and nominate him for an office, don't do like the old parties and vote for him because he is on the ticket. This should be an age of progression.—Nonconformist.

The craven coward who allows himself to be led to the polls by a few county bosses and whipped into voting against his own interests merits nothing better than the lot of a slave, but his family is to be pitied for the life they must lead which the husband and father sanctions by his ballot.—Missouri World.

